VOL. XI, NO. 41 IOWA PARK, WICHITA COUNTY, TEXAS 76367 THURSDAY, JUNE 19, 1980

Man shot to death Monday afternoon

A 46-year-old Iowa Park man died Monday afternoon after the first of two shootings in the city in a 10-hour period. The other individual, reportedly an attempted suicide, survived.

James Leon Harrington Jr. was pronounced dead at the scene, 1002 East Cash, by a local physician, Dr. Erwin Soell.

Police were notified approximately 5:25 p.m. by Park Clinic, to which a telephone call for help had been made by the victim's wife.

Officer Bill Hamilton was the first to arrive, and found Harrington lying blood-covered kitchen floor.

Four other people were in the home at the time. They were Mrs. Harrington, her two sons, and her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Martin. They told Officer Hamilton the dead man had entered the house through the outside kitchen door, from the back yard, bleeding from the mouth and nose, and fell to the floor.

Upon his arrival at the house, Chief Charles Whittingstall contacted his radio dispatcher and had all off-duty officers to report to assist in the investigation.

Harrington had been working in the yard that afternoon, cutting weeds and unwanted iris leaves and hauling them to the rear of the place where they were dumped.

Officers followed traces of blood through the back yard to where Harrington had been dumping the cuttings. There, between two sheds, the trail of blood ended, possibly indicating he first began bleeding at that point.

Police combed the overgrown neighborhood for any signs which might indicate someone had shot a gun at Harrington, because no weapon was found at or around the end of the trail of blood.

None of the occupants of the home, nor any of the neighbors, could remember hearing a gunshot, Whittingstall said.

Tracing the possible route, some 35 steps, Harrington took from the rear of the house, blood splatters increased in frequency.

The kitchen floor was covered in blood, some of which was standing in pools and other areas smeared.

Dr. Soell said, after a preliminary look at the body, that it appeared a small calibre bullet had entered Harrington's right cheek. He said it was possible that the bullet had punctured the main artery, causing him to hemorrhage to death.

An autopsy was ordered Tuesday morning in Wichita Falls, but its start was delayed until 1 p.m. Whittingstall said he was hopeful that the bullet could be found still in the body, which would be important to his investigation.

Officers searched the neighborhood, and also the Martin house, until 10 p.m. Monday, and resumed their search Tuesday morning.

Harrington was released April 23 from the state prison at Huntsville after serving a three-year term. According to one source, he had been charged with theft over $200 four different times in 1976.

Woman's wounds self-inflicted

An Iowa Park woman was in the intensive care unit of Wichita General Hospital Tuesday afternoon after a reported attempt to take her life.

Neena M. Lucas, 28, was treated for two small calibre shots in her abdomen in the hospital, where she was taken by ambulance.

Police received a telephone call at 3:21 a.m. Tuesday, and found Mrs. Lucas, her husband and other members of the family in the home at 300 W. Pecan.

Mrs. Lucas was an unsuccessful candidate in the school trustee election in April.

Aldermen delay action on mobile home ordinance

The Iowa Park city council considered an ordinance concerning mobile homes during Monday's called meeting, but deferred final action until sections are rewritten.

Going through the proposed ordinance a paragraph at a time, aldermen found only one section with which they could not agree and instructed City Administrator Steve Morath to rework it for action at the next meeting, which is not scheduled until July.

Members disagreed with a requirement that all mobile homes should have a storage building made of fireproof materials, but did agree with a sentence which stated "No storage of any material will be permitted underneath the mobile home."

One section requires mobile homes to be completely underskirted with masonry, porcelainized steel, baked enamel steel or other material equal in fire resistance, durability and appearance.

Another requires all mobile homes to meet requirements set by the state, which mainly deals with tie-downs.

The fourth paragraph deals with a requirement that mobile homes in the city, but not in mobile home parks, must be owned by the same person who owns the land on which it is located.

"If a mobile home or trailer is located outside of an approved and conforming mobile home park, then the lot and mobile home or trailer must be owned by the same person as evidenced by certificate of title and deed, respectively," it states.

Mayor Johnny Crawford said the section encourages home-owner pride and discourages unapproved mobile home parks.

If the ordinance is approved, those affected will have two years in which to comply with the provisions.

NEW POLICEMAN

Aldermen were to consider hiring of two candidates for the police department, but one name was withdrawn from consideration at the candidate's request.

Hired was Johnny M. Robertson, currently a resident of Wichita Falls, who worked as a policeman at Muenster in 1978 and 1979.

The department reportedly remains one policeman short of authorized strength.

Leader is printed early this week

Though this issue of the Leader carries the regular Thursday date of June 19, it was printed Tuesday afternoon.

The early publication date was necessary to permit most of the staff to attend the 100th anniversary meeting of the Texas Press Association in Houston this weekend.

Aldermen reviewed a plat for a housing development to be located between Gordon Lake and Pacific Street. The plat has already been approved by the Planning and Zoning Commission and does not require action from the council.

Kenneth Beall met with the council to hear any comments on the proposed plat. He had met several months earlier with council members to explain his development plans, which include two-family houses, built like duplexes but to be sold to the individual families.

Beall said he hopes to begin construction of his first units in early July.

Duncan Spruiell asked if the city would consider laying a larger water line south of town along FM 368 so he could have more adequate water pressure. He suggested the city would continue to grow in that direction and the need for a line larger than the three-quarter inch line there now would be needed.

Spruiell, whose home is outside the city limits, near Coleman Road, said his neighbors were not interested in joining with him to lay a larger line.

Crawford explained that the city's policy requires lines outside the city to be laid by the customer. To improve water pressure to the Spruiell home, Crawford offered two alternatives: petition to come into the city so the city could provide the improved line; or have the work done and maintain ownership of the line himself, at the estimated cost of $800.

Spruiell said he would probably do the latter, since he did not believe his neighbors would be interested in petitioning to be annexed into the city.

OTHER BUSINESS

Aldermen heard a report that the Jaycees were sponsoring a carnival at the old fairgrounds this week, but took no action because they did not know of any permits required for carnivals, though such requirements had been discussed a few years earlier and no action was ever taken to write an ordinance on the subject.

Council members confirmed Crawford's appointment of Bob Cole to replace Harold Cowley on the Traffic Safety Council, and the reappointment of Bob Birk, Rip Smith and L.W. Teel to the same group, as well as Virgil Woodfin and Barbara Padgett to the parks board.

Members approved acceptance of the highest of two bids, $150 from John Stevenson, for a 1967 pickup the city had advertised to be sold.

Because of public notice and time requirements for the changing of zoning, aldermen took no official action on a request from Dr. Carter Pirkle to re-zone the northwest

Five businesses join Chamber

Five businesses have recently joined the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, as a result of a membership drive, it was announced at Monday's monthly meeting of the board of directors.

Linda Merrick, a member of the drive's committee, told directors Woodbriar Apartments, Sonic Drive In, Jim's Market, Cable TV, Barbour Insurance and Micro-Systems Bureau were the new members.

Mrs. Margarette Wilson, owner of Micro-Systems which is a new business in the Kamay community, explained the workings of her microfilming firm. She has five employees for the growing business which serves customers from Hereford to Irving, she said.

Crazy Day retail promotion has tentatively been set for July 26, Helen Rich, Chamber president, said.

Prizes, food, fun at street dance Saturday

The third annual street dance sponsored by the Iowa Park Fire Department will be staged Saturday evening in the 100 block of West Park, in front of State National Bank.

This will be the first time the street dance has been held on Park Street, having been on Cash Street the other times.

To begin at 8 p.m., music will be provided by the Ozan River Band. Three cash prizes will be awarded: $10 for the ugliest baby picture; $10 for the most decorated cowboy hat; and $20 to the best dance couple.

Two concession stands will be operating for the convenience of dancers and viewers. One will be operated by the Iowa Park Girls' Softball League.

The MuleSkinners will begin serving chili, hot dogs, brisket sandwiches and tea at 7 p.m. and continue until 7:30.

There will be no admission charged and the public is encouraged to participate.

ONE WAY - The 100 block of West Cash Street became a one-way avenue Friday when city workers completed painting parking stripes and erecting signs. The change apparently is not widely known, as several vehicles are seen each day traveling east on the one-block street.

Sadberry, Gideon wedding held here Friday evening

Miss Catherine Lucille Sadberry became the bride of Mark James Gideon in double-ring nuptials performed Friday evening in Faith Baptist Church by Rev. Ken Cole. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Addie D. Sadberry of Iowa Park and Lee Sadberry of Holliday, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Carol Gideon of Hayward, Calif.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Richard Elliott of Cisco. Her formal wedding gown of white heirloom lace over taffeta was characterized by summer delicacy. It was designed with a high neckline and empire waist, both trimmed in lace daisies, butterfly sleeves, and A-line skirt with smart back fullness.

A border of the lace daisies headed by a band of narrow satin ribbon circled the skirt at floor level.

For her jewelry and the "something old" bridal tradition, she wore an heirloom pearl necklace presented to her by the groom's mother.

The bride's illusion veil was neatly trimmed with border and insets of embroidered lace and floated to chapel length from a lace bandeau cap. She carried a cascade of white carnations, daisies and baby's breath on her mother's white Bible which was the "something borrowed" and completed her costume by observing other bridal traditions.

The bride and groom recited their matrimonial vows at an altar illuminated by white candles burning in pyramid candelabra bedecked in leather greenery and blue ribbons in the center of the nuptial space. On either side were tapers uprising from seven-branched candelabra decorated with leather and emerald. Also in the setting were two arrangements of blue carnations, white spider mums and baby's breath supported by white wrought-iron and crystal stands, and the white satin pillow where the couple knelt for prayer.

When the mothers of the couple entered the sanctuary they were carrying lighted candles representing the two separate families. They placed them in the unity candelabrum in the lower altar and the couple used them later to light the center candle representing the start of a new family.

Mrs. Julian Woodall, pianist, and Butch Sadberry, brother of the bride, the vocalist, provided the musical setting for the wedding. Mrs. Woodall played "A Time for Us", "You Light Up My Life" and "Nadia's Theme" while guests were assembling. She accompanied the vocalist who sang "If" preceding the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt for prayer. The pianist played the wedding marches regarded with favor both by brides in the past and in contemporary times.

Miss Cindy Martin of Holliday, the maid of honor, wore a floor-length powder blue polyester gown featuring a scoop neck, chiffon split-sleeves and cape, and she carried a nosegay of white carnations and baby's breath.

Miss Renee Sadberry and Miss Deidre Sadberry, sisters of the bride, attended as bridesmaids and also lighted the candles. Their long floral print powder blue angel satin dresses were defined with stylish butterfly sleeves and hemline flounces. Their nosegays were duplicates of the one carried by the maid of honor.

Participating in the wedding as flower girl was Bobbie Jo Elliott of Cisco, cousin of the bride. The bodice of her powder blue frock was overlaid with white ruffled lace, and the white basket that she carried was filled with blue silk rose petals.

The groom's attendants, all from Holliday, wore powder blue jackets with white shirts and contrasting blue trousers for their wedding attire. The groom wore a powder blue tuxedo, white shirt trimmed in blue and a white carnation centered with a daisy boutonniere.

Jack Monroe served as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Charlie Wilson and Dustin Bridges.

The bride was graduated from Holliday High School and the groom was graduated from James Logan High School in Union City, Calif. They are at home in Blum, Texas, where he is employed by Glover Pipe Supply following a short wedding trip to Runaway Bay. The bride traveled in a spring green pantsuit.

The wedding reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church where the bride's colors of blue and white were favored in the scheme of decorations.

The bride's table was covered with a tiered white lace and tulle cloth draped at the corners with blue silk bows over blue linen. The imposing centerpiece was an Antoinette brass, crystal and marble candelabra complemented with the bride's bouquet. The table extremities were marked with the column-separated three-tiered cake enriched with blue frosting hearts and flowers and topped with blue satin pearl-rimmed wedding bells, and the crystal punch service. The blue napkins bearing the names of the bride and groom and their wedding date further emphasized the chosen colors.

The groom's table, laid with chocolate brown lace over beige linen, held the chocolate cake decorated in blue hearts and flowers to match the bride's cake, silver candlesticks holding blue and brown candles, and the silver coffee service.

The registry table in the church foyer was appointed with a white lace cover over blue, a blue candle in a crystal hurricane lamp decorated with blue silk flowers, a picture of the bride and blue satin rice roses. Miss Karri Sadberry presided at the bride's book.

Assisting with the reception were Mmes. Fred Godby, Michael Dunn, Ray Kinder and Linda Bridges.

The groom was host for an informal rehearsal dinner.

Mrs. Leona Elliott of Saginaw, grandmother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Glover of Blum, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Elliott and family of Cisco were among the out-of-town guests.

Wood, Wilson vows read recently in Oklahoma

The altar of Erin Springs Baptist Church at Lindsay, Okla. was centered with an archway garnished with white carnations for the June 7 afternoon wedding of Miss Mary Frances Wood and Ivan Leslie Wilson. Complementary additions to the setting were seven-branched silver candelabra holding pink candles, and two arrangements of pink and white gladioli.

The family pews were designated with pink dotted swiss bows, and other church pews were marked with pink satin bows.

Mrs. William Pool, pianist, and Miss Kristi Wood, flutist, furnished accompaniment for "Longer", a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Randy Morgan, who also sang "The Wedding Song" a cappella. The pianist played the wedding marches for the bridal party to walk to the altar and to exit from the church following the ceremony.

Steve Bracken, minister of the Church of Christ at Duncan, Okla., officiated the double-ring exchange of wedding vows by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. Wood of Lindsay, Okla. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin E. Wilson of Iowa Park.

The bride, who was escorted by her father and given in marriage by both parents, was lovely in a gown of white organza over taffeta enriched with reem-broidered lace. The delicate ornamentation accented the sweetheart neckline of the high-rise bodice and closed cuffs of the long sheer sleeves. The flowing A-line skirt extended in a chapel train.

The bride wore a complimentary white picture hat graced with a band of the reem-broidered lace and satin streamers, and carried a colonial bouquet consisting of pink rosebuds and gypsophila.

In observing bridal traditions, she carried two handkerchiefs for "something old", a pink dimity one that had belonged to her late grandmother, and a white silk heirloom square that was originally carried by the groom's late great-grandmother. She selected her matron of honor's diamond earrings for "something borrowed". In her shoe, she wore a penny, and a touch of blue was added to the bridal attire with the traditional garter.

Mrs. Randy Morgan of Elk City, Okla., the matron of honor, wore a floor-length gown of pink organza over taffeta designed with double ruffled sleeves, set-in waist where cascades of ruffles formed in the back to add skirt interest. She wore a wide-brimmed picture hat accented with satin ribbons and streamers and carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds and baby's breath.

Miss Beth Wood of Iowa Park, the bride's niece, who lighted the candles, wore a gown and hat duplicating those worn by Mrs. Morgan and wore a rosebud wristlet.

Randal Wilson of Iowa Park attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Joe Wood of Iowa Park and Al Abston of Wichita Falls, cousin of the groom.

The bride was graduated from Lindsay, Okla. High School and received a B.S. degree in elementary education from the University of Science and Arts at Chickasha, Okla. She is a member of the City View School faculty. The groom, who works for Robintech, Inc., was graduated from Iowa Park High School. They are at home in Wichita Falls following a short wedding trip to Oklahoma City.

The reception following the wedding was given by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Miss Kristi Wood of Iowa Park, niece of the bride, presided at the bride's book. Miss Johanna Wood of Lindsay and Mrs. Rusty Slate of Oklahoma City, cousins of the bride, served refreshments to the guests. John Wood, nephew of the bride, and Kerry Wilson, brother of the groom, both from Iowa Park, handed out the white net rice bags tied with pink ribbons.

Refreshments were served from two round tables covered with pink satin and appointed with silver candelabra holding pink candles and pink carnations. The snowy three tiers of the wedding cake were draped with pink scalloped ribbon trim and pink rosebuds added a refreshing and decorative touch. The silk wedding bells chosen for the top ornament suggested the chimes of a blissful wedding.

Mothers of the bride and groom wore corsages of pink rosebuds and baby's breath with their street-length dresses. Mrs. Wood wore a turquoise polyester dress with soft gathers from the neckline and long sleeves. Mrs. Wilson was attired in a long-sleeved aqua polyester dress tucked at the shoulders.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bride's parents at their home.

Protect inheritance

By Betsey H. Jansen

We all need a special place where we can sit back and dream and listen to the sounds of nature's music. The singing of the birds and the windsong in the trees and grasses is soothing and gratifying. With the world in the condition it is now, everyone needs to find time away from stress and strain, from noise and tension. Most important of all, our youth has a great need to be coaxed away from the television sets and stereos and into the open air.

Your Soil Conservation Service (SCS) was established originally to aid the farmer in his battle with raising crops for our food but at the same time maintaining the soil for future use. But the SCS was not satisfied to stop there. It is also helping to assist teacher with out-door classrooms and conservation education. SCS also likes to aid and encourage youth leaders and organizations in promoting interest in nature and its many benefits. Your Wichita Soil and Water Conservation District sponsors each year, various conservation contests and school slide shows and discussions to wake an interest and an awareness in our youth of the importance of maintaining and improving our natural resources that the Lord gave us so many decades ago.

It is the duty of the responsible adult to volunteer their help and interest to help provide all youth the opportunity to expand their knowledge of the marvelous world of nature and its many benefits and enjoyments. The closer our youth can come to the marvelous splendor of our out-of-doors and its soothing effects on the mind and body, the less apt they are to turn to and become involved in drugs, alcohol and the other undesirable effects of our modern society. With parents, organizations and churches providing leadership and encouragement, our youth may discover a world many of us could possibly have long forgotten.

Your local SCS office in Iowa Park can help you with your conservation problems. But we are also interested in creating an interest in our youth so that the legacy of maintaining and improving our land and its resources may continue to carry on. Please let us always remember that the Lord is not making any more land, only people.

Pick the fuels electricity can be made from:

- coal
- natural gas
- oil
- uranium
- all of the above

"All of the above" is right. But these days two of those fuels—coal and uranium—cost less and are more plentiful than the others.

For many years we built plants to use natural gas and some oil to generate all our electricity. And we still have to use a lot of those fuels. But for over 10 years, we've been building plants that use lignite coal. Today, almost half of your electricity is made at lignite plants. And now, we're building a plant to make electricity with uranium.

That's good. Because at the end of this year our biggest contract for low-cost natural gas expires. The new gas and oil we'll have to buy will be much more expensive.

This means the cost of electricity will go up. But it won't be as high as it would have been if Texas Electric hadn't planned ahead. Our use of lignite coal and our planned use of uranium are ways we're helping minimize the increases in your electric bills.

By conserving, you can help save on your bills. To learn effective conservation measures, attend one of our free Operation Tighten-Up workshops. Call us for information on a workshop in your neighborhood.

Aldermen agreed to hold a called meeting July 7 when the Planning and Zoning Commission could act at its earliest date under the city ordinance. Dr. Pirkle had asked that the change be made by July 1, but Morath told aldermen the ordinance would not permit such action without due public notice and hearings.

Councilmen closed the meeting to the public to hold an executive session with the city attorney, but took no action other than to convene the meeting once the session ended.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

I've never heard of a lobby group being referred to as a charitable organization before, but I have now.

I ran across a story in this week's issue of The Wichitan, campus newspaper for Midwestern State Univ., which tells of "a new lobbying organization whose goal is to upgrade the quality of history education in all levels of education.

Written by Kathy Brott-Franks, an Iowa Parkan, the reporter quotes Barry Powers, MSU professor of history, as saying this is a pilot program that the American History Association is watching for possible action across the nation.

The Texas group secured a corporate charter which will permit it to collect money as a charitable organization and use the money to lobby for stronger history curriculum, and not have to pay any taxes on what it collects.

"Our first attack will be on high schools because they effect all students," Powers is quoted as saying.

"A lot of eyes are on us. The AHA is watching us and supporting us as well as other disciplines with national associations will follow suit," Powers said.

Good grief! Does this mean that if someone wants public schools to improve its efforts in penmanship that they are going to have to incorporate as a charitable organization?

Has it become such a problem to impress the desires of the public upon those connected with public education that such lengths must be taken?

Whatever happened to local determination by local school faculty and board of trustees?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir, It has been brought to our attention that Kidwell Elementary will no longer have a music teacher.

As a parent and taxpayer I protest this action. Music is a very important aspect of a child's education. The children enjoy and benefit greatly from music education and to deprive them of this is unfair. Elementary exposure to music provides an introduction for future band members in junior high and high school. There does not seem to be an excuse for this action due to all the money the school district will be saving from closing Valley View.

Thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Peeler managed to get Sammy Baugh to come to our practices a couple of times in 1945 to demonstrate his passing and punting skills to us.

That is one of the highlights of my high school days.

I'll never forget the velocity with which he could throw a football, compared to what we were used to, and those 70 and 80 yard punts had us all a little awe struck. He was quite a man to us.

Sincerely yours, Clyde Bonner Hereford, Tex.

EDITORS NOTE: A check with Harold Cowley, superintendent of schools, indicated there is no plan for a full-time music teacher at Kidwell, where kindergarten, first and second grades will be located this year. Rather, he said, a music teacher will be shared with Bradford Elementary, where the third, fourth and fifth grades will be. Though a schedule for the teacher has not yet been determined, Cowley said probably most of the teacher's time will be spent at the Bradford campus than at Kidwell, because most music emphasis is placed in those upper grades.)

Dear Bob, I always enjoy your column "As I See It." But I especially enjoyed it this week about Sammy Baugh. I played football at Sweetwater High School and we were kinda noted as a passing team. Our coach

All five Valley View 4-H club participants in the 1980 Fashion Review held recently in Iowa Park received blue ribbons on their clothing projects. They were Sheri Cravens, Keva Gunter, Lisa Hodges, Christy Cravens and Derise Dowell.

Mistress of ceremonies was Kim Williams, Valley View Club and council member. Clothing leader is Judy Webb and club leader is Doris McKenzie.

Special awards won in the junior division were "Best Record Book" and "Rookie Award" by Keva Gunter and junior overall winner by Christy Cravens.

With fruit and vegetable supplies starting to increase, it's time to start thinking about preserving foods.

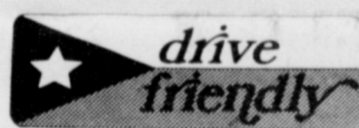

Young people nine to 19 can get in on the home canning boom by participating in 4-H projects and activities supervised by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and supported by Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, points out Jackie Hopkins, Wichita County 4-H Program Coordinator for the Extension Service.

A food preservation workshop will be held Thursday, June 26, for 4-H club members, and any interested youth and adults. The workshop will be held at the Texas Electric Reddy Room in Burkburnett from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Economy is one of the big reasons for the growing popularity of preserving foods at home. With rising prices of fresh produce at the supermarket, home canners realize the biggest savings when they grow their own vegetables and fruits, or purchase them in season at reasonable cost from roadside markets or local farmers.

4-H'ers learn-by-doing to stretch the family food dollar by canning and freezing home grown and locally grown produce. At the same time, they learn basic scientific principles necessary for safe handling of foods before, during and after processing. And they increase their consumption of fruits and vegetables - an important nutritional plus.

4-H members can check costs of home preserved against commercially processed foods by keeping accurate records of what they spend to preserve just one food item purchased at the grocery store.

Deason, Gould nuptials are exchanged Friday

Miss Rhonda Deason and Argie Keith Gould were united in marriage Friday evening in a lawn wedding held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Argie Gould in Iowa Park. Rev. Larry Washburn, pastor of the Iowa Park Baptist Chapel, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Deason of Wichita Falls.

Given in marriage by the groom's father, the bride wore a white sleeveless Qiana gown designed with a square neckline, a soft waistline bow in front and a fingertip toga cape. Her bouquet was formed of pink, white and blue carnations and baby's breath.

the groom, attended the bride and wore a white peasant-style street-length cotton dress.

MRS. ARGIE KEITH GOULD

The groom wore a grey pin striped vested suit and a white carnation accented with baby's breath for his boutonniere. He was attended by his brother, Allen Gould.

The bride was graduated from Burkburnett High School and is employed at K-Mart in Wichita Falls. The groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School and works for Gebron Oil Co. in Wichita Falls.

The wedding reception was held in the home of the groom's parents.

The reception tables were covered with white lace and decorated with bouquets of spring flowers. The two-tiered white wedding cake was trimmed with pastel frosting roses and deep scroll work.

Mrs. Ralph Tanner of Oklahoma City and Miss Wendy Deason, sister of the bride, served refreshments to the guests.

The Living Word

In the midst of this period of chaotic change in the moral realm, modern man, whether he is young or old, needs to know essentially two things. First, he needs to know the eternal teachings of God. Then, in the second place, he needs to know the utter ruin that waits at the end of the road of sexual permissiveness and license. Let us notice the teachings of God's word - teachings that were given by an infinitely loving heavenly Father, not out of any desire to restrict or curb the enjoyment of man's life, but rather out of the desire to protect man from destruction and to enhance his enjoyment of living.

At the very beginning of the Old Testament the basic plan of God concerning marriage was laid down in Genesis 2:23, 24. God's initial plan was one man for one woman for life. The seriousness with which the sanctity of the home was considered is seen in the ten commandments, where the seventh commandment reads, "Thou shalt not commit adultery." Christ paid respect to the commandment in the Sermon on the Mount, Matthew 5:27-32. Christ's law concerning marriage and divorce sounds to many modern ears frightfully old-fashioned, but it is still God's will and is as binding today as it was nineteen centuries ago.

The restrictions on morality are consistent throughout the New Testament, as a careful reading of the following scriptures will indicate: Matthew 5:8; Philippians 4:8; 1 Timothy 5:22; II Timothy 2:22; Galatians 5:19-21; Jude 17-19.

Instead of the sensual, let us turn our lives and our influence in the direction of that which is pure and wholesome. May we use our God-given senses in the manner in which they were intended to be used. May we not disparage or neglect the physical, may we know and enjoy the beauties and satisfactions of the physical world about us, but may we never allow our lives to become hedonistic and sensual. May our lives center upon that which is eternal, that which is spiritual. To this end may we have the attitude of heart expressed by the psalmist David, Psalms 19:7-11.

In his letter to the Philippians Paul said, "Have this mind in you, which was also in Christ Jesus." The mind of the sensualist is not that of Christ. The penitent believer who confesses Christ and is baptised in His name, as a new-born babe. A pure life and noble ideals mark His progress from earth to heaven. Is the direction of your life heading toward Heaven or Hell?

Don't use microwave for home canning

Never use home-canning "short cuts," such as a microwave oven which can explode jars or leave food unsafe to eat, advises Barbara Cornelius, Wichita County Extension Agent.

Use either a water bath canner or a pressure canner for home canning, and know the difference between the two. Water bath canners will safely preserve high acid foods, such as tomatoes, fruits and pickles. These foods need only reach boiling point temperature for safe processing. On the other hand, pressure canners are a "must" for low-acid foods, meats and poultry.

Low-acid foods include all vegetables, except tomatoes. Pressure canners are necessary for low-acid foods, because these foods must reach temperatures about 212 degrees (boiling point of water) for safety.

Pressure canners process these foods safely when their temperature reach 240 degrees, the temperature required to kill any botulism toxin-producing organisms which can thrive on low-acid foods if not destroyed in processing. In addition, both water bath canners and pressure canners will equalize the pressure inside and outside jars during processing, to prevent explosion.

Microwave ovens cannot equalize pressure, so explosion likely will occur. Also, microwave ovens produce an uneven heat transfer, so jar centers probably do not reach a temperature high enough to sterilize food.

As a second safety step, heat all home-canned food on the stove top before eating: 10 minutes for pints of food; 15 minutes for quarts.

That will kill any botulism toxin that may have formed because of improper canning methods.

Do not use a microwave for heating home-canned foods, either. Research has not determined the time length necessary to kill botulism toxin in microwave ovens.

Cook of the Week

In this time of inflation, money-saving recipes strike a responsive chord with both novice and experienced cooks. Many times helpful hints come from the young homemakers who realize that economy is really tight.

Sheri (Mrs. Pat) Kennedy is sharing three money-saving recipes with us this week, one of these is Bob's Barbecue Sauce. She appreciates the fact that sauces impart new tastes, as well as enhance the flavors of the foods with which they are used. Someone has said that to have a way with sauces is a sure way to take the monotony out of mealtime.

Barbecuing meats is one of the most popular ways to prepare it with many people in the 20th century, but it was also popular with the early settlers who were taught the methods of barbecue cooking by the Indians. The settlers passed the art down from one generation to the next and today many favorite foods from all parts of the country are barbecued. From Western grilled steaks to New England barbecued seafoods, regional favorites boast their mouth-watering smoky flavor. Henry Ford made barbecuing even more popular by inventing the charcoal briquet.

Sheri was graduated from Iowa park High School and worked for North Texas Federal Savings & Loan for several years. She is now a Tupperware manager. Her husband, Pat, works for Cyrovac. She is a member of Christ the King Catholic Church, and one of her hobbies is ceramics.

Pat and Sheri have two children, Patric, five years of age, and Sarah, two years of age.

Iowa Parkans on honor roll

More than 5,000 students at Texas Tech University in Lubbock qualified for the deans' honor rolls during the spring semester.

Among them were six from Iowa Park, including: Carla K. Cole, 1503 Rita Lane; Jon C. Hale, 1609 Yuuca; Kathryn J. Johnson, 505 W. Clara; Michael L. Nipper, North Johnson Road; Carrie S. Raines, Route 2; and Terrie L. Rice, 10 Surrey.

To qualify for the dean's honor list, a student must make at least a 3.0 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

Dunlap graduates Tarleton State

Gary D. Dunlap, a 1976 graduate of Iowa Park High School, received a B.S. degree in agricultural education from Tarleton State University at Stephenville in May. He has accepted a position as ag teacher with the Pecos schools for the coming year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dunlap on Wellington Lane.

City purchases pickup, raises policeman's pay

Holliday city council accepted a bid from Murphy Brothers Chevrolet for a 1980 half-ton pickup and raised Holliday policeman Larry Spencer's salary to $900 per month, in major action taken Monday night.

The bid from Murphy Brothers Chevrolet was lowest at $5,168. Other bids opened were Bates-Barrios $5,246.96, Ralph Morgan Dodge $5,678.30, and Shaw Ford $5,654.45.

When asked by council members who would drive the pickup, mayor Tom Hall said, "I will drive it most of the time, but it will also be used by other city workers, including those at the new sewer plant."

The pickup now being used by sewer plant workers, a 1972 Chevrolet, was said to be badly in need of repairs, and councilman Fred Daume moved to have repairs done as soon as possible.

After meeting in executive session for approximately 30 minutes during the beginning of Monday's meeting, councilmen voted to raise Spencer's salary from $750 to $900 per month. Spencer was hired in February after Don Pennington left the city because of conflicts with the city administration.

In other business, the sewer use ordinance was discussed and tabled until the next meeting, the ceramic club discussed condition of the community center, and councilman Jimmy Willis motioned for all Holliday women to wear dresses during the county's centennial celebration.

The sewer use ordinance, tabled since May, was again tabled until the city engineer returns from a trip and is present at the next meeting. City secretary Laverne Slatton remarked that the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sent a letter to the city recently, stating that all monies towards the new sewer plant will be deferred until the ordinance is passed.

Three members of the ceramic club met with the council to report on the conditions of the community center. The women explained that the center, used extensively in the past for club meetings and family reunions, is being used less now because of the delapidating conditions of the building.

The women cited no air conditioning, a faulty bathroom, warped boards on the floor, and lack of clean-up maintenance as the major problems, and asked that the city take action to upgrade its conditions. Councilman John Goforth motioned to form a committee headed by council members Daume and Willis to check into the situation, and report their findings at the next council meeting.

Councilman Willis offered a proclamation stating that all Holliday women wear dresses during the county's 100th anniversary celebration, seen as a continuing effort to assert the city's position as residents of Archer County. All council members, except Daume and Leon Addison, are sporting facial hair in compliance with the anniversary proclamations. Only Goforth sported a beard before the proclamation was put in effect.

Archer's centennial celebration

Centennial spirits are running high in Archer County. Preparations are underway for the county's 100th birthday celebration scheduled for June 29-July 6. Top hats, southern belle dresses, sleeve garters, and beards of all styles and color are only a few of the many centennial symbols already appearing around the county.

April 17th started the festivities with the "Centennial Belles and Brothers of Brush" hosting a kick-off party where a centennial dress code was set in the form of proclamations signed by mayors of the county. The Brothers of Brush organization required all men "of the age when shaving is feasible," to refrain from shaving until the end of the Celebration Week.

The more feminine organization, the Centennial Belles, proclaimed that only those women of their organization be allowed to wear any form of makeup or jewelry. This being in memory of their pioneer great-grandmothers.

Approximately 400 people turned out for the kick-off party to enjoy music by the Red River Blue Grass Band and a fashion show of 1880 apparel.

An old-time picnic held at the city park of Archer City, including a husband and wife calling contest, sackraces, wheel barrow races, cow chip throwing, and other contests were enjoyed by the county citizens May 4th.

"A Trail of Golden Memories," a pageant consisting of a cast of 312 people will be presented at the rodeo grounds in Archer City, June 30 -

July 5. The production will be professionally staged on a 200 foot setting that will feature special lighting and sound effects.

Recipes dated as early as the Civil War days have been gathered and compiled into a centennial cookbook. These recipes range from icebox cookies to wetback tacos, roasted armadillo, and sprouted wheat. Recently a tasting spree was held where all recipe contributors were asked to bring a dish of the food which they had turned in. Sales of the cookbook are now underway.

Every show must have a star, and the star of the centennial will be the Centennial First Lady, who will reign over the week-long celebration. Contestants in the contest are being sponsored by various clubs and organizations in the county. First lady nominees will manage the advance ticket sales to the historical pageant for their sponsoring organization or club. The club or organization representing the contestants who sell the most tickets will be awarded prizes during the celebration.

Centennial headquarters were featured in a grand opening May 20th in Archer City. The headquarters will serve as an information center and also will have centennial costumes available.

HHS cheerleaders attend clinic

Holliday High School cheerleaders for the 1980-81 school year have been selected by the student body.

They are: Carla Lear, Kristi Lucy and Rhonda Talley, seniors; Carla Cottrell, junior; Debbie Long, sophomore; and Kristi Williams and Terri Davis, freshmen. Carla Lear was chosen head cheerleader.

The squad recently attended a clinic at Hirschi High School in Wichita Falls, where they received three superior and two excellent ribbons. The girls were also awarded a spirit stick, to be used at future pep rallies.

A rummage sale will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the high school gym to raise money for their uniforms. The girls will also have a bake sale Thursday on the sidewalk beside White's Auto store. Both sales will begin at 8 a.m., and the rummage sale will close at 6 p.m.

Oilfield job seminar today

The North Texas Oil and Gas Association will sponsor a job seminar today for persons interested in learning about opportunities for working in oilfield jobs.

According to Dr. Tom Haywood, executive vice president of NTOGA, "At a time when other industries are letting people go, the oil and gas industry is booming. There are many good career opportunities available right now."

Haywood also said the industry is interested in recruiting those who may have worked previously in the oil patch as well as inexperienced persons seriously considering a fulltime career.

The program will be presented by a representative of the Association of Oilwell Servicing Contractors and a drilling contractor. However, persons interested in any phase of oilfield work are invited. A representative of the Texas Employment Commission will be present to coordinate applications.

The seminar will be free of charge. It will be at 7:30 this evening in room 216 of the Wichita Falls Activities Center.

Bible school slated

Faith Tabernacle will hold a Bible school for all ages Monday through Friday of next week, according to Reverend Stewart.

Nursery through sixth grade will meet from 9 to 11 a.m., and grades seven through 12 and adults will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Family reunion set

A reunion of the James, Polk, Mathews families will be held June 29 at Wacker Park in Pauls Valley, Okla., according to Mrs. Marie Chandler of Tulsa.

Summer drivers should prepare

Motorists should prepare themselves for summer driving, according to Major C.W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

With summer approaching, many people are planning vacations, and Bell warns that accidents are the quickest way to spoil a trip. "Summer driving is different because the motorist is trying to get away from it all, and this means getting into an unfamiliar environment," he said.

Bell continued, "For the urban driver, the expressway can become a bore, lulling the unwary into highway inattention. Drivers who normally drive on quiet country roads can panic in the confusion of the multi-lane mix of car and pedestrian city traffic."

ATTENTION MATURE TEXANS MEDICARE PEOPLE
Have your supplement insurance policy rates increased lately? Do you only have 20% coverage of what Medicare approves on doctor charges and you pay the rest?
You can have 100% coverage. We are proud of our American Retirement policy that pays 100%. Yes, it even pays the overcharges on the doctor bills that Medicare doesn't allow.
We only know of one other company that pays 100% and they have had several price increases in the last few months. Even the hospital entrance fee went up $20.00 this year. We DID NOT raise the premium on our policyholders who took out our 100% coverage policy last year. We even write the 100% coverage plus $70 or $100 cash per week while in the hospital.
