Proposed shopping center gets good early response

A proposed new shopping center for Iowa Park advanced one step toward realization Monday night when the Planning and Zoning Commission put its stamp of approval on the project.

Frank Mihalopoulos, representing Percy/Christon Inc. of Dallas, appeared before the commission to request the proposed site be changed in zoning which would permit commercial business.

The proposed site is 11.04 acres at the southeast corner of Pacific and Expressway. It would front the access road and Pacific, extending to Gordon Lake, and is approximately one and a half blocks in depth north and south.

Mihalopoulos told the commission no tenants had yet been contracted, because zoning for the proposed site must first accommodate a shopping center before contacts are made.

The investment building firm has put together similar centers in Dallas, Fort Worth, Plano, Garland and Denton, he said. Format for centers is to have concrete parking, lighting and landscaping, with adequate parking for businesses located there.

He told commissioners his firm had two or three businesses he felt would be "very interested" in locating here, and others would follow once they had committed. A blend of national and regional chain stores could be supplemented by local businesses wanting to upgrade their buildings and locations.

The number of firms in the center would vary from six to 10, depending on the size buildings needed, Mihalopoulos said.

Planning and Zoning members said that since there were no objections voiced during the meeting by local residents, and because they felt the project would be good for the community, they would recommend the change in zoning be made by the city council.

No objections were made during public hearings on proposed sites for mobile homes, either. Commission members approved locating mobile homes at 401 E. Lafayette, 506 S. Wall and 409 S. Alcott.

Members also said they would recommend to the city council that paving requirements be waived for a home to be built at 500 Coleman, at the corner of Pacific, until a later date.

Contractor Greg Frazier told the commission that paving of the street would be impractical until more of the street's lots are developed by more construction.

Trustee meet expected to be brief

The school board's regular monthly meeting Tuesday night is not expected to last very long, but no indication has been made as to Monday's city council meeting length.

Supt. Harold Cowley said only five items would be on his agenda, other than regular monthly reports made by various school departments.

No agenda was available for the city's meeting because Steve Morath, city administrator, took a couple days vacation this week and was not available at press time.

Meeting agendas will be posted for both meetings Friday.

On the trustees' agenda will be the appointment of a textbook committee; consider a fund-raising project and trip for the high school choir; safety guards at Kidwell; physical education building for Bradford; and discuss the status of the new high school gymnasium.

Cowley said Bob Cole, principal at Kidwell, is expected to request street crossing guards be recruited at his campus. Student safety patrol is not practical there, because of the age of the youngsters in grades kindergarten through second.

School personnel traveled to Oklahoma City recently to look at several physical education structures constructed of pre-stressed concrete, which has been considered for a PE building at Bradford. Besides cost of construction, such a building could also be used as a storm shelter, it has been pointed out in earlier meetings. Trustees are to meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

City aldermen will begin their meeting Monday at 7 p.m.

Stolen auto is recovered

An automobile reportedly stolen here Sunday night was recovered abandoned Tuesday evening at Bay Saint Louis, Miss., according to Iowa Park Police.

A 1974 Pontiac Trans Am belonging to Deryl James was reported Monday morning as having been taken from his garage at 411 S. Yosemite. At the same time, several hundreds of dollars worth of equipment was also taken.

Also taken were four air wrenches, a roller cam and a four-barrel carburetor, James reported. No signs of forced entry into the garage were found.

While patrolling Monday of last week, police found the west door of the new high school gymnasium unlocked at 5:52 a.m. Inside, a door to the old gymnasium was found pried open, and a chain cut. Officers could find no one in the building nor anything missing.

Library nets $700

The Iowa Park Library was benefitted by $700 as result of the 23 Study Club's sidewalk arts and crafts show and auction Saturday at the Whoop-T-Do.

Successful bidders at the auction were Dr. Jim Edwards, Doris McKenzie, Dr. Earl Watson, Mitch Miller, Bill Steger, Pat Harris and Mrs. David Parkey.

Donors of the auctioned items were Jack Stevens, Billie Railsback, Skeet Eddins, Jo Ann Johnston, Martha Dudley, Helen Reed, Tommie Smith,

Menu changed for Kidwell

Slight changes in the menu for Kidwell Elementary students' lunches are now being made from those planned for the other classrooms.

Because students from kindergarten through the second grade do not like the spicier foods which are normally on the menus, changes are being initiated this week and will be continued, Bill Steger, director of food services, announced.

The changes are the result of a meeting of food service personnel and faculty members.

During the meeting, it was pointed out that the younger students didn't like bacon in baked beans, so when baked beans are on the regular menu, pinto beans will be substituted at the Kidwell lunchroom. Steger gave several other instances where the changes are made.

The Iowa Park school menu is published in the Leader under the sponsorship of Barbour Insurance, and the separate menu for Kidwell will be added to the regular weekly feature.

Local woman finds family after 42 years separation

By OLIVE BLALOCK

Some has said, "He who cherishes a beautiful dream in his heart will someday realize it."

Martha Jean (Mrs. Norman) Russell is one Iowa Parkan who would attest to the truth of that statement because of a lifelong dream of hers that was realized this summer. However, she would say, "If God can get glory out of the dream being realized it will come to pass even if it takes years and years."

Her dream was to find out if she had brothers and sisters and to be reunited with them. Empowered by the Spirit, she was moved to take action starting in August of this year, and within three weeks "the miracle had happened." Because of her faith and undaunted efforts, her life and the lives of a sister and two brothers have been blessed by their being brought together for the first time in 42 years.

The story began on June 12, 1938, when Martha Jean and the three older children were taken to an orphanage in another state by their father, who was unable to take care of them after the death of their mother in the fall of 1937. On July 6 of that same year, she was taken out of the orphanage for adoption by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jensen of Wewoka, Okla.

Her brothers and sisters remained in the orphanage until they were grown.

When she was about seven or eight years of age she was told that she had been adopted, but from then on it was a closed subject until she became of age and she was told what her last name had been before adoption.

When Martha Jean's adopted mother died in 1976, she found the adoption papers from the orphanage. Her desire to know if she had any blood kin relatives was rekindled, but finding out seemed to be an unsurmountable task to undertake because she hardly knew how and where to start; but she continued to cherish the beautiful dream in her heart. In August 1980, she realized that without efforts there can be no results, so she was stirred to action.

Her first step to accomplish the object upon which her heart was set was to make contact with the orphanage where she spent a few weeks in 1938, even though she felt that she might be fighting against circumstances. To her surprise, the lady with whom she talked was not indifferent as she had feared. Instead, she told Mrs. Russell to call back within an hour. When she called the second time, she learned that she had two brothers and a sister who had lived there until they were of age. They had attended school at the orphanage, and the brothers went into town to attend high school.

This marked the beginning of telephone calls and letters. The next telephone call was made to the high school where the brothers attended, and she learned that the Naval Training Center in San Diego, Calif. had written for one of the boy's transcript grades. Following this lead, she wrote to the training center from which she received a certain number and was told to call the Veterans Administration office in Waco. The office instructed her to write a letter to the VA office and told her that it would be forwarded to military records in St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Russell said at this point her dream was beginning to possess her, so she just "turned it over to the Lord." Within a few days, she heard from the VA office that her brother was not drawing benefits so they did not have a current address. She was advised to write another letter and send it directly to military records. Between the letters, she contacted Social Security.

What happened to the letter that she wrote to military records? It went to her brother's mother-in-law in Kansas, and she mailed it to him in Iowa Park upon receiving it. Since that time, both brothers, W.C. Boaz II of Prairie Village, Kansas, who is senior vice president and corporate officer of the United Missouri Bank of Kansas City, and Wm. (Dub) Boaz, who is supervisor of the post office at Malakoff, Texas, have visited Mr. and Mrs. Russell and daughter, Kendra. She has talked with her sister, Mrs. May Bell Call of Lakeview, Ore., twice, and she and her husband are planning a visit to Iowa Park within the near future.

Through the contact and reunion with her brothers, Mrs. Russell has learned that they had yearned to know the whereabouts of their baby sister through the years. In fact, the brother at Malakoff had tried 30 years to find her. Is it any wonder that Mrs. Russell considers it nothing short of a miracle that she located him, her other brother and sister within three weeks?

Mrs. Russell was graduated from Wewoka, Okla. High School and attended beauty school. Her husband is retired from the Air Force. She is a member of the First Assembly of God Church in Wichita Falls. In addition to Kendra of the home, the other children are Larry Banks of Austin, Penny Brumley of Woodward, Okla., and William Banks of Farmers Branch; and there are three grandchildren.

Cook of the Week

A recipe for Quick Dinner Rolls shared by Mrs. George Maxwell this week aroused interest in bread, which is older than written history. The method of baking it has changed drastically, however.

Thousands of years ago, man first crunched on wild seed that pleased him. After the last ice age, man began to supplement his diet with roots, nuts and tubers because he could not depend solely on animals as they were fast disappearing. By staying in one place longer, he could harvest the wild grasses and ultimately plant the seeds and cultivate more grain. He eventually found that he could grind the seeds and produce a kind of meal. The intelligent cave women mixed water with it, slapped in on a hot rock and had unleavened bread.

All of this eventually led to planting, harvesting and grinding the different kinds of grain. Since wheat was ground into flour, the tantalizing fragrance of hot biscuits and yeast breads has floated through many civilizations, and in the 20th century nothing whets the appetite more than the odor of hot rolls wafting through the air. Mrs. Maxwell's recipe for them is easy and not too time consuming and will probably appeal to the busy housewife.

The Maxwells moved to Iowa Park after their home was destroyed in Wichita Falls during the April 10, 1979 tornado. He is retired from the Air Force and civil service at Sheppard AFB.

Coy Maxwell was graduated from Munday High School and Draughton's Business College. She worked at Sheppard AFB hospital for 11 1/2

The Maxwells are members of the Primitive Baptist Church in Wichita Falls. They have one daughter, Jean of the home, who works for the City of Wichita Falls.

The Living Word

There is no question but that astrology has been around for a long time. The basic practices of astrology were developed by the Chaldeans in ancient Babylonia. The Chaldean astrologers looked on the planets as gods. They noticed how these planets moved about the fixed stars. They concluded that so much movement meant great power. They then believed that these planet-gods were powerful enough to influence human affairs. Out of astrology, there later came the science of astronomy--the study of the nature and behavior of the heavenly bodies. The Chaldeans also noticed that some groups of stars, or constellations, resembled the outlines of certain animals, persons, or things. They marked off a zone of the sky that included twelve of these constellations, which became known as the zodiac or "circle of animals." The Chaldeans saw the zodiac as a belt which encircled the earth. Moving around the zodiac were Aries the Ram, Taurus the Bull, Gemini the Twins, Cancer the Crab, Leo the Lion, Virgo the Virgin, Libra the Scales, Scorpio the Scorpion, Sagittarius the Archer, Capricorn the Sea-Goat, Aquarius the Water Bearer, and Pisces the Fish. Through the zodiac, the sun, the moon, and the planets seem to move from east to west. All of this serves as the foundation out of which modern astrologists have developed almost unbelievably elaborate systems and out of which they give advice and direction to millions of people today.

When one looks at this elaborate system he cannot but feel a parallel to the elaborate system of mythological gods envisioned by the ancient Greeks. This view of astrology is borne out by the clear-cut and extensive rejection which one finds in the Scriptures. "Hear ye the word which Jehovah. Learn NOT the way of the nations, and be not dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the nations are dismayed at them" Jeremiah 10:1,2. Also notice Isaiah 47:12-15 and Daniel 2:27, 28.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Had there been any doubts about whom I was going to support for president, they would have all been swept away during the past couple of weeks.

Jimmy Carter has written some new paragraphs in the book for political mud slinging.

I thought Edward Kennedy had gone to extensive lengths to get elected, but Carter has exceeded even him. Every American should be embarrassed, realizing that the man sitting in our nation's top position would stoop to such low depths in order to keep his job.

On at least two instances, one of them occurring Tuesday, television has covered a Carter speech in which he said the people have a choice of peace and war, civil turmoil and other situations almost like life and death, depending on whether he is elected or someone else.

I pointed out the talks were covered by television, because the portions of film shown on the screen eliminates any possibility he was quoted out of context.

If Carter knows something the rest of us don't, then he should spell it out. Thus far, nothing about Reagan or even Anderson has been brought out which would support such statements.

Carter is good about saying one thing in one place, and contradicting it in another. Ask any farmer about Carter's 1976 campaign promises to agriculture. They'll tell you.

Possibly Carter is not alone in attempting to mislead the American public, but only he can be held responsible.

Take, for instance, the news exposed recently about a covering which can be put on war planes which makes them impossible to be detected by radar. We've had it four years, but someone "leaked" the news, right here at election time. Makes the Georgia peanut look good to the voters, doesn't it?

Now there's a new angle on getting public support which has been advanced by James Roberts, Andrews County News publisher.

Roberts poses the interesting proposition that Carter plans a dramatic rescue of American hostages in Iran, right at election time.

His basis for the proposition is the story which came out of Brownfield recently about the six military men who got lost near that community while on a training mission. Their objective was to travel nine miles from one point to another without being detected. The story was discovered by Lynn Brisendine, publisher of the Brownfield News and later by Associated Press and Time magazine.

While Brisendine was trying to learn their identity and mission, his photograph was threatened by a man thought to be a sheriff's deputy "your boss will hang" if the pictures are printed in the paper.

Well, the picture and the story were printed in the News. And now, through further study of the photograph, the man who made the threat has been identified not as a deputy, but as an Iranian.

A staff worker for Cong. Kent Hance who assisted in trying to find out the identity of the military men and their mission learned the project was not a local activity. "It's definitely tied into the Joint Chiefs of Staff," stated Don Richards, former publisher of the Azle News.

Roberts summed up his column Sunday with the question: "Aw-w-w, President Jimmy Carter wouldn't order a military operation in Iran just before election. . . or would he?"

I certainly wouldn't think a man seeking the office of president would do such a thing. But I don't consider Carter much of a man, anymore.

Iowa Parkan is recognized

An Iowa Park resident joined the ranks of the "Quarter Century Club" of Texas Electric Service Co. at a banquet in Wichita Falls last week.

D.J. Davis, 902 W. Cornelia, qualified for membership as he has completed 25 years employment with the utility company.

In his speech at the banquet, TESCO president Bill Marquart lambasted inflation, operating and construction costs, federal regulations and rising fuel costs for higher rates for electricity.

"All these things have increased what it costs us to provide good service to our customers," Marquart said, adding the company can't do much about inflation and wastefulness of the federal bureaucracy.

"We at TESCO, like all citizens, can only work through the political process to try to change the government policies that created these problems," he said.

Mrs. Smith delivers address

A stirring address by Mrs. China B. Smith, president of the 23 Study Club, was the highlight of the first meeting of the 1980-81 club year Thursday, when members assembled at the home of Mrs. Rollins Woodall for a breakfast to inaugurate activities. Mrs. Homer Blalock was co-hostess.

Using her theme for the year, "Evolve, Emerge, Evaluate," for a topic, Mrs. Smith challenged members to press forward toward attaining greater goals during the club year. She gave a brief glimpse of how the picture of the clubwoman had changed since the General Federation of Women's Clubs was formed 90 years ago, emphasizing that in spite of change she had been constant in evolving, emerging and evaluating through the years.

In evaluating the work of the 23

Study Club on the local, district, state and national level since it was organized 57 years ago, she said that the accomplishments had been outstanding. Mrs. Smith is immediate past president of the Travel Club in Wichita Falls, that organized the 23 Study Club in 1923. She gave special recognition to Mmes. Sam Hill, C.E. Birk and L.E. Brooks for 40 years of service to the club. She closed her address by reading an original poem "Evolve, Emerge, Evaluate."

The president conducted a candlelight initiation ceremony for Mrs. Sam Hunter, a new club member, and presented her with a chrysanthemum corsage in the shades of purple and gold, the club colors. Mrs. Bill Bates and Mrs. Charlie Lee, other new members who were unable to be present, will be initiated at a later date.

For the art number, Mrs. Joe Singer sang "Unity in Diversity" with taped orchestration.

During the business, Mrs. Earl Watson, who is on the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs Community Improvement Project committee, encouraged the club to become involved in some phase of the state project. As state chairman of the Outstanding Club Program, she stressed the urgency of submitting a program to Santa Rosa District for competition, which, if judged a first place winner, will be entered in state competition.

Mrs. Birk distributed yearbooks. Mrs. Fred Widmoyer offered the invocation before the meal.

Steers outrace Hawks in 21-39 offense show

Hawk fans were treated to the biggest offensive show of the season Friday night, giving the homecoming celebrators something to cheer about time and again.

The Mean Green completely dominated the statistics, out-gaining the visiting Steers of Fort Worth North Side in every department. Tailbacks Troy Linthicum and Jim Smith both amassed more than 100 yards rushing.

Iowa Park outgained North Side 437-399 in total offensive yards.

But there was one big problem. The Steers came out on top of the score, 39-21.

The big difference in the game was two plays by North Side that did not start from the line of scrimmage, and a couple of penalties against Iowa Park that cost probable scores.

The first of the two big plays by the Steers was a 90-yard kickoff return by Steer quarterback Tony Kellum, coming after the Hawks had evened the score at 7-7 late in the first period.

The second was topping on the cake for the visitors, when John Rockmore returned a pass interception from two yards deep in his end zone for a 102-yard touchdown, coming with only 39 seconds remaining in the game.

Right after North Side had taken the lead 25-21 late in the third quarter, the Hawks drove from their own 20 to the Steer 24. The drive included a gamble by Iowa Park when the Hawks picked up a first down after needing half a yard on fourth down at their own 44.

Once they reached the visitors' 24, Smith made enough for a first down, but a 15-yard holding penalty was called and the Hawks just couldn't make it up.

Robin Combs gave the Hawks their second scoring opportunity in the final period when he covered a Steer fumble on the 50 yard line.

Down 21-32, the Hawks marched steadily to the Steer five, and fullback Mike Ray made it into the end zone... but a five-yard penalty for off sides nullified the play. And then on the next play they were called for being in motion and the ball was placed on the 15. Two plays later came the big interception runback for the touchdown.

Linthicum had his biggest offensive game of the season, rushing 17 times with the ball for 163 yards, including a 48-yarder, and then a 69-yard touchdown.

Smith gained 134 yards on 21 carries, and also scored on a 34-yard run.

Wingback Robert Hastings raced for 62 yards on six carries, and he had a 10-yard touchdown after carrying for a 45-yarder the first time he got hold of the ball.

The speed of the Steer backs which had been pointed out in advance of the game was apparent during play, but the coaches admitted they had not realized how big and strong North Side's linemen were.

Each team committed two turnovers. North Side intercepted two Tim Smith passes. Joel Rains covered the other Steer fumble beside Combs.

Ray connected on all three of his extra point kick attempts.

The first quarter had the capacity home crowd to its feet, when four touchdowns were scored within a span of 6:40 seconds, ending with Iowa Park leading 14-13. Iowa Park still held a 21-19 edge when the teams went to the dressing rooms for the halftime.
