Record number local voters agree on candidates, issues

Iowa Park area voters turned out in record numbers for Tuesday's general election, and they went right down the line in all the candidate races with the rest of their Wichita County cousins.

Area voters missed in agreeing with the rest of the county on only two issues, constitutional amendment numbers two and three.

Locally, the biggest news is that Iowa Park retains its representation on the county court. Gordon Griffith handily defeated Republican Cecil Hart for the Precinct 3 commissioner's seat, being vacated by retiring Buck Voyles.

Nationally, local voters at precincts 32, 33, 34, 35 and 60 gave an overall approval of Ronald Reagan as president, going along not only with the rest of the county, but with the rest of the state and nation.

Three of those polls, however, missed on the presidential voting.

Precinct 32 voted for Reagan 1,116-704, and precinct 33 barely gave him a nod, 355-351. But Jimmy Carter won in precinct 34, 78-72; precinct 35, 33-32; and precinct 60, 96-85.

Reagan won the five-box area, 1,660-1,262, while he took Wichita County, 22,880-17,657.

As in the past voting precinct 32 had the largest turnout of voters in the county with a record 1,903 ballots being cast. That was 346 more than the 1,557 at Burkburnett's precinct 27.

Likewise, the 731 voters who turned out at precinct 33 was an all-time record, according to Mrs. D.O. James, who has been an official of that poll for a number of years.

There were 156 votes cast at Valley View, 67 at Kadane Corner and 191 at Wichita Valley Community House, giving the area a total of 3,048 ballots cast. The total for the county was 42,225, about 1,000 less than predicted by Jerry Padgett, county clerk.

Griffith won in all 13 boxes where Precinct 3 commissioner voting was held. In the two area boxes, Pct. 32 and 33, he was a 1,815-730 victor. And for his overall area, he won 5,611-3,169.

There were 799 who voted straight Democratic Party ticket in the five boxes, while 471 voted straight Republican and 14 Libertarian. Most of the straight ticket voting went on in box 32, where 422 went Democratic, 291 Republican and 12 Libertarian. In box 33, 247 went Democratic and 120 Republican.

Jack Hightower won all five boxes, as well as the county, in his bid for re-election as U.S. Representative. He out-pollled Ron Slover 1,830-1,171 in the five boxes, thanks mainly to the 1,108 votes he received in box 32, where Slover got 774 votes. He carried precinct 33, 465-251; precinct 34, 88-62; precinct 35, 42-23; precinct 60, 127-61; and Wichita County 25,067-16,246.

Miles Graham won all the boxes in this area, defeating Elton Winton 1,994-893, while carrying the county 25,695-13,962 in the race for county tax assessor-collector.

The two boxes where voting was held for Precinct 1 commissioner both went for eventual winner, re-electing Dod Wiley. He received 139-70 approval in boxes 34 and 35.

In the only real race in the county, where voting was close, Keith Nelson defeated Larry Lambert for judge of the 78th district court. Nelson won, 1,529-1,398 in the five area boxes, and 21,334-19,026 in the county.

By winning, Nelson is said to be the first Republican elected in Wichita County for a local office. He was appointed to fulfill an unexpired term and was seeking his first election to the post.

Charles Finnell, running unopposed for re-election as state representative, received 2,253 votes in the five area boxes.

AMENDMENTS

Three constitutional amendment proposals failed in the five area boxes, but only one of them failed throughout the county.

Amendment number five, which would have granted the governor power to exercise fiscal control over

Hawk-Husky battle could decide district

Down, but not out, the Iowa Park Hawks still have a chance to share, or even win, the Dist. 3-AAAA football title.

Though they will be the underdogs tomorrow night when the Hawks kick off against the Hirschi Huskies at 8 p.m. Friday in Wichita Falls Memorial Stadium, a good, four-quarter game by the Mean Green could vault them back into the thick of the loop title hunt.

A win over the Huskies and then a closeout victory against Burkburnett would give the Hawks at least a share in the district championship.

Hirschi will play Mineral Wells in the final game of the regular season, Iowa Park hosts Burkburnett and Vernon goes to Graham.

A victory over Hirschi would set up a rematch between Iowa Park and Burkburnett. The Bulldogs edged the Hawks 14-7 in the third game of the season, but the Hawks have improved considerably since then and figure to even the score in the season finale.

Hirschi has earned its best record in the school's history thus far this season, and is now ranked fifth in the state by the Associated Press. Never before have the Huskies played their first eight games in a season without a loss.

And though the Hawks enter the important contest with a modest 3-4-1 season and 2-1 district record, they have proven in games such as against Graham, that when they execute well and maintain that execution throughout four full quarters, they are capable of beating anybody.

Iowa Park and Hirschi are known for their exciting and close games. In the past 12 meetings, only five of them have had a point spread of more than 10 points. Two were 3-0 field goal defensive battles.

Hirschi has taken the upper hand over the Hawks by winning their past five games, and stands 7-5 since 1968. Not since 1974 have the Hawks come out on top.

That last Mean Green victory was decided with 21 seconds remaining in the game on a 27-yard field goal. The 3-0 win came on the toe of Daryl Frazier, who is now an assistant coach at Iowa Park Junior High.

But close games between the two are common. Hirschi won in 1976 by a similar 3-0 score. The Hawks edged Hirschi 16-15 in 1968, and they held off a rally to win 21-14 by shaking loose the ball from a Husky runner at the Hawk two yard line with less than a minute to go in the game. The tackle was applied by Jim Clapp, who is assistant coach at Iowa Park High School.

Hirschi edged the Hawks 21-20 in 1973. And the Huskies have won the last five outings, 14-7, 3-0, 28-7, 31-14 and 21-9.

City, school meetings scheduled next week

City aldermen will consider amending their sewer rate schedule Monday, and school trustees will consider offering adult vocational courses when they meet Tuesday.

The council will open its business at 7 p.m. in council chambers and trustees at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building.

Council members have discussed using January, February and March water bills to establish the year's individual patron charge for sewer.

Members generally agreed with Bud Adams, who proposed the change, that if sewer rates are to be linked to the amount of water consumed by a patron, sewer charges should not be high in those months when yard watering is taking place.

Adams pointed out a patron's use of sewer facilities could be established by basing water consumption during months when outside watering was not being done.

Aldermen are to hear from G.W. Milner in relation to a front setback waiver of a home at 103 Emerald.

They will also receive and consider bids for the purchase of a truck and pickup, and also for demolition of the old sewer plant.

A resolution will be proposed in which the city may adopt a citizen participation plan for small cities community block grant program, according to Steve Morath, city administrator.

Supt. Harold Cowley said a full outline will hopefully be ready for presentation to trustees for adult courses which could be taught locally by existing faculty members in the vocational department.

Trustees are also to hear reports from each campus principal, as well as the vocation department.

Also on Tuesday's agenda will be the appearance of architect Don Daugherty, on a new physical education building for the Bradford campus; discussion of hospitalization insurance, which will be up for renewal in February; and a report on new health requirements for student shot records.

Building permits take big jump

Plans to construct three new homes in Iowa Park were the reason building permits were $100,000 higher in October than they were in September.

According to building permit figures issued by the city hall, permits were issued for $147,354 during October, as compared with $47,150 for September.

Permits issued during the month included:

- Ernest R. Manry, 410 S. Alcott, mobile home, $20,000;
- Jerry Matthews, 503 W. Magnolia, addition, $600;
- Rip Smith, 1602 Yucca, new residence, $45,000;
- Arvil Hatfield, 126 Wood Circle, addition, $1,100;
- Greg Frazier, 501 Coleman, new residence, $39,000;
- Phil McClendon, 102 E. Magnolia, demolition, $4;
- Johnny Huff, 203 W. Diamond, addition, $5,000;
- Jack Blagg, 410 E. Jefferson, alteration, $5,600;
- B.W. Koonce, 1513 Rita Lane, addition, $750;
- Howard Fleshman, 1500 Douglas, conversion, $300;
- Rowland & Dudley, 1324 Sunset, new residence, $30,000.

CLIMATIC MOMENT of the Hawk Band performance Tuesday in the University Interscholastic League marching contest is when the American flag is raised high. The scene brought a standing ovation from the audience, and helped achieve a Division I rating for the marching organization. The Junior High Band received a Div. II rating.

Cancer speaker's topic

Dr. Robert Delizio, Wichita Falls oncologist, and Paulette Koncelik, education coordinator for the American Cancer Society, were featured speakers for the Tuesday morning meeting of the United Methodist Women.

Dr. Delizio spoke on the subject of mastectomies. He pointed out that statistics show that one out of fourteen women in the U.S. develop cancer of the breast, and for that reason, it is wise to be able to recognize early signs of the disease so that proper treatment may begin.

He stated that a sure way to diagnose the presence of cancer is by a biopsy, after which surgery may follow. He described the methods of post-surgery treatment, radiotherapy and chemotherapy and answered questions from the audience during his talk.

The American Cancer Society education coordinator, who holds a master's degree in psychology, told how professionally-trained volunteers try to help women who have had mastectomies adjust to the situation. She said that the degree of trauma in a patient depends upon her ethnic, cultural and religious background.

Eight pledges in ceremony

The pledge pin ceremony honoring eight pledges of Epsilon Eta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha was conducted during the Tuesday evening meeting of the sorority by Mrs. Roy Johnson, president, and Mrs. Jean Proulx and Mrs. Jim Spears, rush captains.

Receiving their pins were Mmes. Don Decker, Larry Motl, Larry Whitaker, Dwayne McKee, Jerry Hopkins, Steve Turner, Don Womble and David Lewis.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Barry Spruiell, and the co-hostesses were Mrs. Proulx and Mrs. Spears.

Seventeen members and eight pledges were in attendance.

and that the support of family and friends was of great importance in making her feel that she is the same person as before the surgery.

The speaker stated that many patients had a feeling of guilt and the volunteer workers tried to help them overcome that feeling and find the best way for each one to compensate for the change in her physical body and her mental reaction.

Mrs. Don Owens introduced the speakers.

Mrs. Gene Owens, president, conducted the business session following the talks. Mrs. L.A. Thurlo, general chairman of the bazaar held Saturday reported on its success. Mrs. Don Beals, chairman of Christian Social Involvement, requested members to bring contributions of food to the general meeting Nov. 18 for distribution to needy families. At that meeting, the annual pledge service will take place under the direction of Mrs. James Owens.

IOWA PARKANS turned out by the droves for Tuesday's general election to establish new records. In voting precinct 32, there were 1,903 ballots cast;

'Ole' time' recipes with a microwave

Keep those "ole' time" favorite recipes for microwave cooking suggests Barbara Cornelius, Wichita County Extension Agent.

Many foods adapt easily and taste like they were cooked conventional. Some guidelines will help in converting recipes to microwave cooking. Select a similar microwave recipe with approximately the same amount of ingredients - meat, cheese, vegetables - for comparison.

Reduce the amount of liquid by one-fourth. Add more liquid during cooking if necessary. Reduce seasoning slightly, especially strong flavorings such as garlic, oregano or bay leaf. It is much safer to add more later than to have seasonings overpower the flavor. Reduce the amount of fat by one-half.

Use the dish size, covering instructions, microwave techniques and timing recommended in the microwave recipes used for comparison. If not following a microwave recipe for comparison, reduce cooking time to one-fourth of the original recipe. Cook longer if necessary. On the other hand, there are a few recipes not suited to microwave cooking. Do not attempt to deep fry in the microwave-this eliminates the preparation of fried chicken or steak, hash browns or French fries.

Foods that normally form a crust, such as popovers, pancakes, pizza and double crust pies, will not work because they either become soggy on the bottom or simply do not form a crust.

Dried beans, rice and pasta need time to absorb moisture and the speed of the microwave cooking does not allow sufficient time for this to occur.

Yeast bread recipes will not convert from conventional recipes.

However, all of these foods will reheat in a microwave oven.

Epsilon Eta has 2nd rush party

"Visiting the Imperial Palace" was the theme of the second rush party held for pledges of Epsilon Eta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha and their husbands Saturday evening at Charlie's Barn. Mrs. Jean Proulx and Mrs. Jim Spears, rush captains, were hostesses for the affair.

Committee chairmen working with the rush captains were Mmes. Richard Hicks, invitations; Phil

McDonald, name tags; Paul Tigrett, favors; Robert Needham, decorations; Lloyd Brister, entertainment; and Bill Hrcirik, refreshments.

Forty-two members, pledges and husbands, dressed in western attire, attended the party. Hot dogs and hamburgers were served and horse shoe throwing and iron skillet pitch provided diversion during the evening.

Texans approve of wiretapping

Four out of every five Texans surveyed in the latest Texas Crime Poll feel that Texas Department of Public Safety investigators should be allowed to use wiretapping in drug investigations.

A total of 1341 Texans from 173 counties throughout the state participated in the latest poll conducted by the Criminal Justice Center at Sam Houston State University.

Survey participants were asked if Texas Department of Public Safety investigators, under the supervision of a judge, should be allowed to use electronic surveillance methods such as wiretapping to investigate suspected drug dealers.

Eighty-one percent of the respondents said that they should be able to use electronic surveillance under these conditions, and only 17 percent of the respondents said that they should not be able to do so.

A following question asked participants for preferences on who should supervise such practices, if allowed.

Approximately one-half selected Texas Supreme Court Judges (48 percent), while 30 percent selected county judges and 23 percent selected Texas Appeal Court judges.

Dr. Victor Strecher, dean and director of the Criminal Justice Center, said the poll response indicates to him the public's concern for the enforcement of drug laws as well as their increasing understanding of the difficulty of such enforcement by ordinary police practices.

"Law enforcement personnel are interested for the most part in large scale drug operations—manufacture, transport, processing and distribution," said Strecher.

"To get information on this type of activity without electronic surveillance, you have to get someone inside the organization, and most of them are so tight they're like the old organized crime groups."

The alternative, said Strecher, is to get a judge's approval, based on reasonable cause, to use wiretapping or long distance microphone bugs.

"That, I think, is a reasonable kind of an operation," said Strecher.

In another section of the Crime Poll, participants were asked if they felt the courts do a good job, are too easy, or too harsh. Over three-fourths (78 percent) said the courts are too easy. Only one percent said they are too harsh, and 18 percent said they are doing a good job.

Another question concerning bond procedures came the closest to any in the entire survey to achieving agreement among participants. Asked if a person out of jail on bond for a felony offense is arrested for another felony, should he or she be allowed to bond out of jail for the second offense, a near-unanimous 96 percent said "no."

"I couldn't agree more," said Strecher. "People literally steal to make bond. If there is reasonable cause to believe they have committed another serious offense, that should be sufficient to deny bond."

In response to other questions:

* 60 percent of the respondents feel that they may be the victim of a crime during the next year;

* 25 percent said they would be afraid to walk alone within one block of their home at night and 57 percent said there is an area within one mile of their home where they would be afraid to walk alone at night;

* 76 percent have placed at least one type of device in their home for purposes of security;

* 57 percent believe that the crime problem in their community has become worse over the previous three years and 56 percent expect it to become worse over the next three years;

* 72 percent said that one or more types of guns should be registered, while 46 percent said that all guns should be registered.

The Texas Crime Poll, Spring, 1980, was conducted by researchers Dr. Franklin P. Williams, III and Thomas R. Dull under the supervision of Dr. Raymond H.C. Teske, Jr., Survey Research Program director.

offense is 5-11, 165-pound Terry Ingram, who gave the Hawk defense fits last year and has already exceeded the 1,000-yard mark in eight games.

Ingram was allowed to play only the first quarter last week against Graham, but he picked up 55 yards while on the field. He was reportedly taken out to give an injured knee due rest.

Defensively, the Huskies are led by Craig Coheley (170-pound senior), Mike Edgin (230-pound junior), Bryon Simms (235-pound senior), Peter Barrera (160-pound senior) and Allen Smith (155-pound senior).

Hirschi has given up only 47 points for the season, 28 of which have been in its three district games.

The Huskies have posted wins over Lawton MacArthur, Wichita Falls High, Dallas Bishop Lynch, Dallas Jesuit, Rider (19-6), Vernon, Graham and Burkburnett.

Friday's loss by the Hawks may have taken the edge off the Hirschi preparation for tomorrow's game. If it has, and if the Hawks are ready to play four full quarters, the Mean Green is capable of upsetting the state-ranked Huskies, according to Coach Tommy Watkins.

The Head Hawk admitted Monday night, speaking to the Booster Club, that he would rather play Hirschi and Burkburnett rather than meet Vernon again, because of the speed and talent of the Lions.

"If we can get mentally strong, and them not, it could work in our favor," Watkins said.

expenditures of appropriated funds, was the only amendment which failed in all five boxes, 1,431-951, and in the county, 17,814-14,895.

Amendment number two, authorizing appeal of certain pre-trial rulings, failed in boxes 32 and 33, and in the overall area, 1,212-1,119, but was passed by county voters, 17,044-14,924.

Also amendment number three failed in the area, 1,184-1,153, but was passed in the county, 18,416-13,603.

Counts from over the state and nation were not available at press time for any of the elections.

As I See It...

By BOB HAMILTON

It would be easy to discuss the results of Tuesday's election, the reasons why people voted against the liberal establishment, the reason why so many people turned out at the polls both locally and over the nation, and the reason why Carter publicly conceded the election so early.

It would be so easy, I could take up a page or more in this edition.

But, rather than rehash what has been said and written by the national and area news media, I'll concentrate more on the local scene. If you've never been to the county clerk's office on a general election night, it's something to behold.

Frankly, I had never gone over on an election night. Partly it is because I choose not to get in the way with those who are extremely busy and I have a few more hours in which to do my work than they. And, also, there are usually conflicts with my schedule on election nights.

I really didn't know what to expect when I went up to the second floor area where Iowa Parkan Jerry Padgett is the head honcho. All I expected was a few reporters and counting officials, and the election poll judges who brought in their ballot boxes.

But, instead, I felt like an outsider with the circus atmosphere that I found.

First, there was a lot of food on tables. It was obvious to me that this was for the workers. But, instead, it appeared the freeloaders made their evening meal out of the spread.

I was uncomfortable also because two of the largest areas in the county clerk's office had been taken over by the two Wichita Falls television stations, for their live broadcasts. And then all the radio stations had areas marked off where they were going to operate.

I've never known of any portion of an official government building being taken over by newspaper people, so when I'm around other media people who assume they can, and do, I get very uncomfortable.

I wasn't too surprised to find all the candidates milling around in the office during the evening. It would seem natural that they would want to be where the counting is taking place, so they can get the word as early as possible on how they did.

But I was surprised by all the political party people who came in, and stayed, and stayed, and stayed. It was a visiting place for them.

But, thanks to the several Iowa Park people who were there, such as Buck Voyles and his wife, and Gordon Griffith and his family, I found some familiar surroundings.

And the reception and help of county judge Tom Bacus, and especially the way Padgett handled himself, I soon felt at home.

I certainly wouldn't want a steady diet of election nights in the clerk's office, but I guess I will be able to stand it one evening every four years. And I look forward to 1984, now.

Lions get momentum, win

"Momentum" is not a word the television sports commentators use just to have something to talk about.

When they lost their momentum late in Friday night's first quarter, the Hawks were never able to regain it, and they lost an important Dist. 3-AAAA contest to Vernon 21-7.

Entering the contest with an unblemished 2-0 conference record, the Hawks immediately took command of the visiting Lions. They held them to a minus two yards on the first series of downs and Vernon was forced to punt.

Not only did Vernon's punter get off a poor, 16-yard kick, but a covering Lion interfered with Jim Smith's reception and a 15-yard penalty took the Hawks to the Lion 33, for a two-yard net on the punt.

Five plays later, Iowa Park lit the scoreboard and took a 7-0 lead.

Coach Tommy Watkins alternated his tailbacks, with Smith going for seven yards on the carry; Troy Linthicum picked up four and a first; Smith rolled around right end 20 yards for another; Linthicum was held for no gain; and then fullback Mike Ray plunged over right guard two yards for the touchdown.

Ray's kick for the extra point sailed through the uprights with 9:24 remaining in the game.

Vernon lost four yards on its next possession, with two-yard loss tackles by Toby Smith and Roger Hamilton, and punted.

Again it looked like another touchdown for Iowa Park, as they marched from the Hawk 48 to the Vernon 12 in six plays. Robert Hastings picked up 25 yards on one of those carries.

But at the 12, and after Smith picked up five more yards to the seven, a holding penalty set the Hawks back to the 27, and they were unable to pick up a first down. Ray attempted a 36-yard field goal, but was short.

At the time of the penalty, the Hawks were leading by a score of 7-0; held a 5-0 advantage in first downs; and were leading in yards gained by 74 to a minus six.

But that was about it for Iowa Park from that point. Vernon scored twice in the second quarter and another early in the third, and held the Hawks not only out of scoring contention but kept them bottled up most of the rest of the evening.

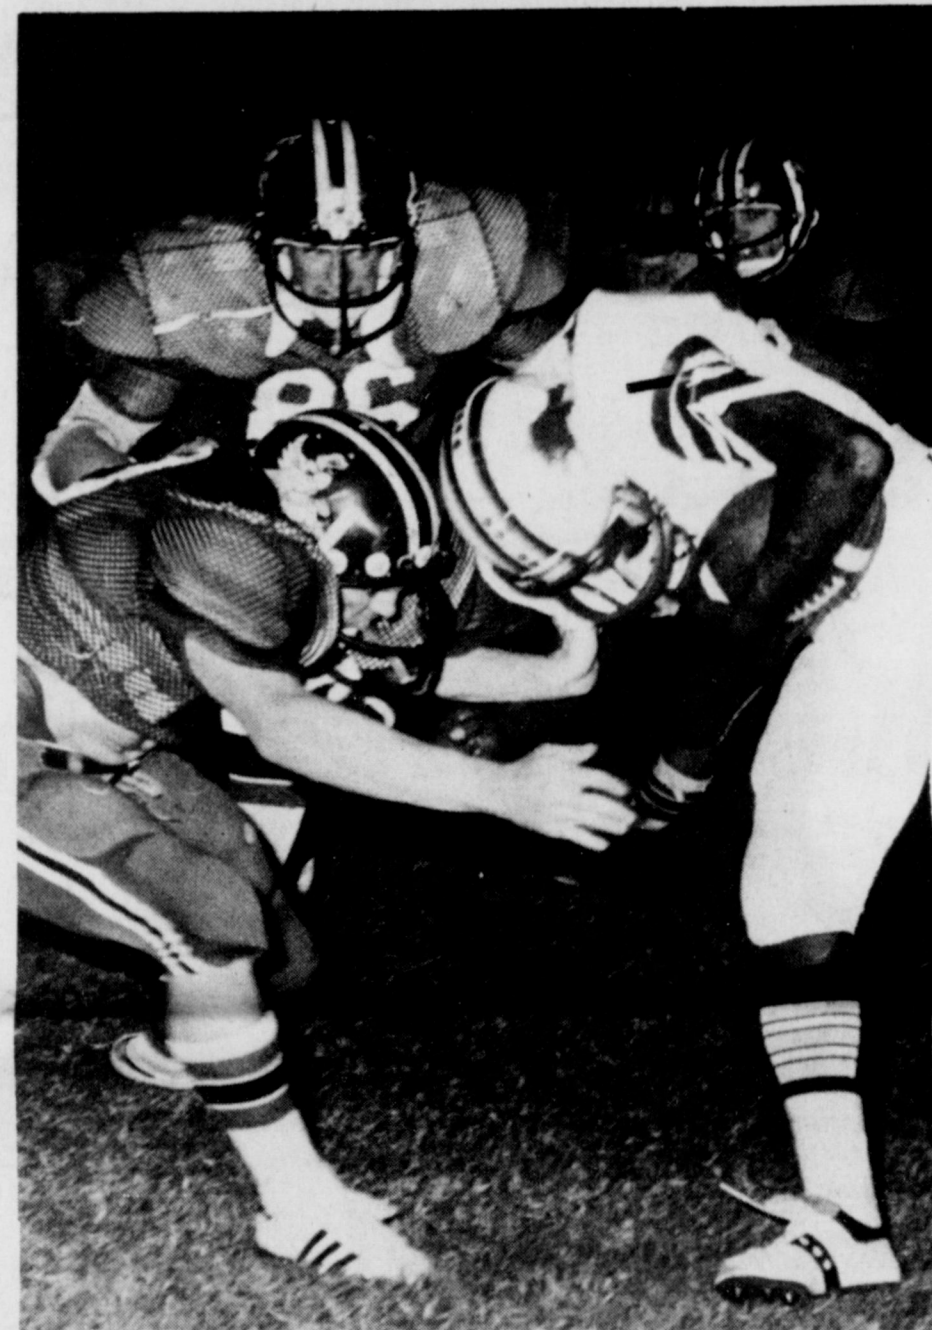

The tough Lion defense held the Hawks to 32 yards rushing in the second quarter and 12 in the third.

Even the flooding of penalty flags, 12 in all worth 125 yards, against Vernon worked in the favor of the frustrated Hawks. The Lions just wouldn't give up their "momentum".

Smith was held to 70 yards on 16 carries. It was just the third game this season he was kept from going over the 100 mark. And Linthicum, who went into the game averaging 6.9 yards per carry, was held to 34 yards on 13 attempts.

And when their running game was shut down, the Hawks went to their aerial game, which had been fairly successful this season. But neither Curtis Martin nor Tim Smith could find the range as the speedy Lion Secondary kept Hawk receivers covered most of the evening. Each quarterback connected for one attempt apiece, out of a total of 13 attempts on the night.
