

Hawks face closest foes in final contests

If you plan to see the two final games on the Hawk basketball season schedule, you might want to take along some nerve pills and sweat towels. They promise to be close contests.
The Hawks travel to Vernon

Friday. It was the Lions, you may recall, that took the Hawks into overtime here a couple of weeks ago, with Iowa Park coming out on the long end, 48-46.
But Tuesday's game in the Hawk gymnasium promises more of the same. Mineral Wells comes to town, and it required three overtime periods for the Hawks to win that one, 59-56, in the Ram Dome.

Iowa Park enters the final two games with a 1-2 second half record, after having won the first round of conference play undefeated. The Hawks, after defeating Burkburnett 55-46 here Friday and losing 45-36 Tuesday to Hirschi, hold a season record of 16-7.

Because they won the first half, they are assured of at least a playoff to determine which team will be named Dist. 3-AAAA champion and continue on into the state playoffs.
But, even with a 1-2 second half record, they could still be all without a playoff. If the teams cooperate and continue to play each other off.

Vernon shot down Minwells 62-59 Tuesday to give the Hawks a 2-1 second half record along with Hirschi.

However, should a playoff be required, the Hawks and other team would either decide the court for the big game, or to see which team's home gym should be used.

BURKBURNETT
True to their season, the Hawks fell behind against Burkburnett and trailed at the end of the first quarter.

But they came roaring back in the second quarter, outscoring the Bulldogs 20-12 to lead 26-24 at the halfway mark.

Though the visitors outscored the Hawks from the floor, Iowa Park won the game by outscoring Burk 19-8 at the foul line. In fact, 14 of Iowa Park's 16 points in the fourth quarter were charity tosses.

Center Steve Page led Hawk scoring with 15 points. Steve Smith and Mark Kirkham contributed 13 each.

HIRSCHI GAME

A five-minute dry spell in the third quarter, coupled with Hirschi's court quickness and confidence spelled loss for Iowa Park.

Page sank four unanswered points early in the third quarter to give the Hawks a 22-21 edge. But six consecutive times the Hawks took the ball down court and turned the ball over without taking a shot.

Hirschi scored seven unanswered points, until Bobby Bates scored with 58 seconds remaining in the period, to pull within 28-24. Page's last bucket had been with 6:04 remaining in the period.

A Page field goal narrowed the score to 36-33 with 2:28 left on the scoreboard clock. But then the Hawks had to start fouling in an effort to get the ball.

Three straight times, the Huskies sank the first free shot and missed the second, but each time the ball bounced beyond the Hawks and Hirschi got the ball back.

Smith and Page were high scorers for Iowa Park, with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Students plan project to raise heart funds

A new event designed to raise money for a worthy cause began here last year, and will more than double in participation this year.

Known as the Texas Jump Rope for Heart event, students of Bradford Elementary participated last year, and it was termed a very successful event.

Teams of students organize, and then jump ropes for a period of time and raise money from pledges based on the length of time they continue jumping.

Bradford again will be in the event this year, and that campus will be joined by students of the junior high.

The Bradford students, who raised $2,500 last year, will be jumping between noon and 3 p.m. Mar. 10 in the school cafeteria.

Johnna Adams, sponsor, said 40 students participated last year. She indicated 250 had expressed an interest in doing their thing this year.

Junior high students will be jumping between 9 a.m. and noon Mar. 7, according to Phil Corless, sponsor. Their teams, an estimated 20, will be in the street of 100 East Cash, but if bad weather hinders them they will move to the gymnasium.

Businesses and individuals will be contacted by students to sponsor their rope-jumping efforts. Those not contacted and wishing to make pledges can telephone 592-2016, Corless said.

Each student turning in pledges on time will earn a T-shirt, Corless said. And the winning team members will win warm-up suits provided their team earns at least $200. Individual students may also win windbreakers.

City council faces short agenda

The city council will have a short agenda for its meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, but a work session is planned after regular business is attended to, according to Steve Morath, administrator.

Aldermen will consider an ordinance for placement of traffic signs at various intersections; authorize final approval on the ground water storage construction; and consider a housing addition plat which had been put off at the last meeting.

In their work session, council members will see preliminary work drawings for the city hall renovation project.

Theft, vandalism cases are reported

One case of theft and one criminal mischief were reported during the past week to the Iowa Park Police Department.

Between 11:45 p.m. and 12:58 a.m. Friday night, someone reportedly took coin boxes from the towel racks at Davis Car Wash and then the coin box from the soft drink machine at Davis Laundry.

Charles Heddlesten, Sonic Drive In manager, said someone about five foot, eleven inches tall walked up to the north window of the business and threw a rock through it. He said he saw the incident from inside. Damage was estimated at $125.

Sunday afternoon, M.H. Teel said a BB pellet broke the glass of his patio door. A neighbor has agreed to pay for the $90 damage.

Hammonds files for re-election

Incumbent alderman George Hammonds filed Monday for the April 4 city elections.

Thus far, Hammonds is the only candidate for three openings on the city council. Terms of both Bill Gilmore and Bud Adams also expire this spring. Gilmore has not indicated whether he will seek re-election, but Adams has said he is calling it quits.

Two places on the school board will be voted on, but as yet no candidates have filed. Delbert Catlin and Jerald Brown are presently holding the two seats.

March 4 is the deadline for filing in either election. Absentee voting will begin Mar. 16 and end Mar. 31.

Chamber to reinstate ribbon ceremonies

Directors of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce voted Monday to reinstate a practice of ribbon-cutting ceremonies when new businesses open in the city.

Tommy Key, chairing his first meeting after being installed recently as president, said he felt the ribbon-cutting would help make new business owners feel more welcome to Iowa Park and help publicize the openings.

Directors will be expected to attend all ribbon cuttings, but attendance is open to all members of the Chamber, he said.

The ceremonies were a part of the Chamber's activities several years during the past decade, but were halted when participation waned.

Directors also voted to write a letter to the Library Board, offering the Chamber's support and assistance to build a new library building.

Key announced the purchase option on the Industrial Development Corporation land, between Park West Shopping Center and Shaw Motor, had been renewed recently. He said there was still good indication that a new business would open there in the future.

Philip Welch told of representing Key at a meeting of the County Industrial Commission Friday. He explained the Commission is composed of seven persons, the county judge, three from Wichita Falls Board of Commerce and Industry and one each from Iowa Park, Burkburnett and Electra.

The commission can sell tax-exempt bonds to help industry locate in the county, if the industry meets certain qualifications. Two applications were received, but no action was taken on either, Welch said.

Street decorations used by the Chamber during the Christmas season must be moved from the old Park Hotel, which is being levelled, Key said. Another place has been found for their storage, but volunteers will be expected to respond when Key calls to help in moving them.

Key asked that any suggestions on how the Chamber can better serve the community be given to him or at the organization's office.

CAROLYN FOWLER IS COMFORTED by her husband, Jerry, and friends after their mobile home at 1000 S. Wall caught fire shortly after 1 p.m. Thursday. According to firemen on the scene, the fire apparently originated and was confined to the back bedroom, next to the hot water heater.

WORKMEN BEGAN this week tearing out the insides of the old Park Hotel. A fence has been erected to protect citizens from being injured during demolition work, which is being carried out by Gilmore Inc. The property was donated to the city library by Mrs. W.F. George.

Galliton, Ellis wedding vows repeated Saturday

The altar decorations at Grace Baptist Church for the Saturday evening wedding of Miss Christy Renee Galliton and Robert Lee Ellis featured a white wrought iron arch entwined with boxwood and lilies of the valley backgrounded by a tall white standing basket filled with pink and burgundy carnations. On either side of the arch, burgundy candles burned in seven-branched candelabra and the setting was completed with tall palm plants placed on either side of the rostrum in the outer altar.

Miss Lachelle McKinley registered guests in the church foyer at a table skirted with pink net accented with pink and burgundy silk bows. The table held the bride's book and pink feather pen.

The musical setting was provided by Mrs. Larry Latimer, pianist, Mrs. Doug Markham of Wichita Falls, vocalist, and Randy Rinehart, organist. Mrs. Latimer played "A Time for Us" and "Colour My World" for prelude selections. The organist accompanied Mrs. Markham for her renditions of "Wedding Song" and "Theme from Ice Castles," and played the traditional marches.

Rev. Jimmy Jackson, pastor, directed the double-ring recitation of vows by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Galliton of Iowa Park and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Ellis of Wichita Falls.

The bride's father gave her in marriage for both parents. For her wedding, she chose a formal gown of white bridal satin enhanced with Chantilly lace. The bodice was attractively set off with a wedding ring collar of lace, a sheer yoke bordered with a ruffle of the delicate network of threads, and long sheer lace-trimmed sleeves that terminated in lace ruffles graced with satin bows. The full skirt that swirled to a chapel train was distinguished with an apron effect front layer outlined in the lace.

A Juliet cap of lace and pearls held the bride's fingertip illusion veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of burgundy and pink carnations and plumous fern. The bridal traditions that completed her costume included a lace handkerchief that belonged to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Clydra King of Hitchita, Okla. for "something old"; a lace-covered Bible loaned to her by Miss Lori Hutson for "something borrowed"; the garter chosen by many brides for "something blue"; and her wedding gown for "something new."

Mrs. Murphy Watson of Houston, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a long burgundy crepe gown with spaghetti straps topped with a matching fingertip lace cape. Miss Janet Latimer and Miss Vicki Daymude, the bridesmaids, wore long pink crepe dresses complemented with burgundy lace capes. Each wore a white picture hat with a burgundy band. Mrs. Watson carried long stem pink carnations touched with burgundy streamers, and the bridesmaids carried burgundy carnations tied with pink ribbons and streamers.

Miss Jessica Galliton, the bride's niece, was flower girl. She wore a pink crepe frock with a burgundy sash and baby's breath in her hair. She carried daisy petals in a white basket.

Rusty Galliton, nephew of the bride, the ring bearer, wore a burgundy tuxedo and pink shirt to match the attire of the groom's attendants and ushers. The groom wore a white tuxedo and his boutonniere consisted of burgundy carnations.

Steve Skelton was the groom's best man. Groomsman and ushers were Greg Ancell and Jerry Skelton, all of Wichita Falls.

Preceding the ceremony, candles were lighted by Mark McKinley and Miss Linda Latimer. He was dressed like the masculine participants and

Couple weds

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Surlis were married Feb. 12 at the Casa View United Methodist Church in Dallas. Rev. Wilfred Bailey, pastor, officiated. The bride is the former Robin Walsh.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Walsh of Iowa Park and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Surlis Jr. of Dallas.

The newlyweds are making their home in Dallas where both are employed by John's Jeans.

Two on Dean's List

Two Iowa Parkans were named to the Dean's List at Hardin-Simmons Univ. for achieving a grade point average of 3.75 for 12 semester hours.

They are Tanya Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Jones, 604 W. Cornelia, and Tim Adecock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Adecock, 605 W. Texas.

MRS. ROBERT LEE ELLIS

she wore an identical gown to the bridesmaids.

For the wedding, Mrs. Galliton, mother of the bride, wore a long gown designed with a light burgundy lace bodice and vest, sheer sleeves and pleated skirt. Mrs. Ellis, the groom's mother, wore a formal beige gown. Their corsages of pink and burgundy carnations put the finishing touch on their costumes.

The reception following the wedding was hosted by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall of the church. They were assisted by Mmes. Terry, Gary and Jerry Galliton, who served refreshments, and Mrs. Herman Daymude and Mrs. C.E. Hopkins, members of the houseparty.

The refreshment table claimed special attention in the setting. It was covered with a pink sheer cloth featuring a pink net skirt headed with burgundy ribbon trimmed with pink wedding bells and bows and centered with a burgundy bow holding simulated wedding rings.

The three-tiered wedding cake centered the table. The white confection depicted the bride's colors in pink and burgundy frosting roses clinging to pale green leaves. The intricate shell and dropwork designs, one set of filigree dividers and top ornament added interest to the cake. A bride and groom standing before a jewelled heart framed by smaller hearts intermixed with pink flowers entered the top tier to complete the picture. The cake was flanked by single burgundy candles burning in silver holders.

Other table appointments were a bouquet of pink and burgundy carnations, the crystal punch service rimmed in burgundy, napkins imprinted with names of the bride and groom and their wedding date.

The gift table was covered with pink linen accented with burgundy bows and centered with a bridal couple. Another table in the room held the rice bags in colors chosen for the wedding.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and works as a salesperson at Margo's in Wichita Falls. The groom was graduated from Wichita Falls High School and is a self-employed paint contractor. They will live in Wichita Falls.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Messrs. and Mmes. Leon Jones of Moore, Okla., Murphy Watson of Houston, Leonard Kirby of Checotah, Okla.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

You can look over the area and see what the petroleum industry is doing to help our economy. There are jobs open everywhere, construction of businesses and field equipment is common and things are healthy.

But no where will it be more apparent than in the city of Midland, out in the sandhills of West Texas.

I attended a meeting of the West

Texas Press Association there over the weekend, and, to say the least, the economy of Midland is invigorating and refreshing.

After having noted construction in every point of the city, I asked a friend of mine what their building permits ran last year.

He did one better, and got me the figures for the past three years. Slightly over a quarter of a billion dollars, thank you!

Home, apartments, townhouses, businesses, street projects, water and sewer lines, everywhere you looked, there was progress.

To those who don't take too kindly to big oil business, let me mention these aren't owned by the companies. Rather, they are made possible by the big oil companies, through jobs and salaries. And the nation will be better for it, wait and see. With higher prices for crude oil, more will be found and produced and our import requirements will be cut lower and lower.

The only problem a worker has out in that part of the country is trying to decide for whom he wants to work, and for how much.

A friend at the Midland newspaper told me he couldn't keep office help. He couldn't compete with the big companies for salaries, and as soon as it was learned he had a woman who could speak over the telephone and type with reasonable speed, she was hired away from him.

On second thought, I guess such progress does bring some problems, after all.

All our choices are getting harder, so...

let's be practical.

We Americans have always been sensible and practical people. We think about our choices. We look for our best values, whether in the supermarket or the corporate boardroom.

Today we're having to take a long, hard look at our energy options. Oil and gas are no longer cheap. We depend on foreign sources for half our oil, and that makes us vulnerable to foreign politics. How practical is it to rely heavily on those sources?

America has the world's largest domestic reserves of coal and uranium. At your electric company, we think it's sensible to use these cheaper and more plentiful fuels. We started building generating plants to use lignite coal more than 10 years ago, and we're building a nuclear-fueled plant today.

We still have to use gas to make about half your electricity. But as fast as we can afford to, we're building plants to use more abundant fuels.

Think about it. We believe you'll agree. It's the only practical way to go.

Consumption: Department of Energy, 1979

This comparison illustrates why Dr. John McKetta, former chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee, insists we must develop the domestic energy we have.

Parks, Roberts nuptial are recited here Saturday

The beauty of simplicity was emphasized and the romance of Valentine's Day felt in the impressive wedding ceremony performed Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church to unite Miss Debra Kay Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Doyle Parks of Iowa Park and Terry Edward Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Edward Roberts of Wichita Falls.

As the organ sounded the strains of the processional from Lohengrin by Wagner, the bride walked the aisle to the altar with her father for the exchange of nuptial vows officiated by Rev. Howell Farnsworth, pastor. She was presented in marriage for both parents by her father.

For the special day in her life, the bride chose a white polyester organza and cluny lace gown, worn over taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a wedding neckline of the lace, a sheer yoke adorned with a schiffli embroidered medallion and tiny pearls and edged with cluny lace ruffles and knife pleating. The sheer bishop sleeves with lace accents, lace and knife pleating at the waistline added charm to the gown.

The bouffant skirt fell from an empire waistline to a flounced hemline of deep organza tiers edged in the chosen lace which swept to the back in an attached chapel train.

The bride's double-tiered veil of imported English illusion edged in the delicate ornamentation was secured by a lace and seed pearl coil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white butterfly roses and gypsophila.

In keeping with traditions, she carried a handkerchief which belonged to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Charlie Raglin, for "something old"; wore pearl earrings loaned to her by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Byron B. Parks for "something borrowed". She added a garter for "something blue"; and a sixpence in her shoe for luck; and proudly wore her gown for "something new."

MRS. TERRY EDWARD ROBERTS

Arriving at the church for the wedding registered at a round table in a room covered with white lace over the crepe and appointed with a blue of red carnations, the bride's hand pink plume pen. Miss Deena Hefner directed signatures. Another in the entry held a gold candle supported by a tall gold candelstick and an arrangement of pink and roses.

Mrs. Biles, organist, presented a concert prelude music. Her selections included "Walk Hand in Hand with Me," "Whither Thou Goest," "O'fect Love," during the seating of mothers, "O Promise Me," "I Love Thee" and "Arioso."

Lee Well Austin provided the guitar accompaniment for his vocal number, "The Is Love," preceding the ceremony. Mrs. Bates accompanied Miss Ina Hefner who sang "Wedding Song" after the bride's father gave her in marriage. In addition to the processional, the organist played the traditional recessional offering.

Impressive beauty was characteristic of the decorations arranged for the wedding which were highlighted by a large gothic archway completely covered with baby's breath and flanking heart-shaped gold candelabra filled with glowing votive candles. Family pew markers were white wrought iron candlesticks enwrapped with huckleberry foliage topped with red votive canes in crystal cups.

Mrs. Billy Armstrong of Wichita Falls took part in the wedding as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Curt Simmons of Wichita Falls and Mrs.obby Phillips of Iowa Park. They wore identical red velvet gowns accented with scoop necks, red lace sleeves and ooped velvet sashes. They carried large silk nosegays of red and pink carnations.

Nalami Marie Roberts and Sean Edward Roberts, the groom's young daughter and son, served as flower girl and ring bearer, respectively. She wore a pink velvet pullover dress with high neckline trimmed in ruffles, raglan sleeves ruffled at the wrists. She carried pink and red carnations in a white basket. His attire matched that worn by the men who had part in the wedding, white tuxedos and white shirts with burgundy-trimmed ruffles.

The groom wore a more formal white tuxedo with tails and a boutonniere of burgundy carnations.

Rev. Michael Dean served as best man. Groomsmen were Dave Mungie and Charles Parks, brother of the bride, who also assisted Dave Mosky and Jim Sluder with duties of ushering.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Lisa Anderson and Miss Kim Hash carried the torches to light the candles for the service. They wore pink velvet dresses styled with natural waistlines, long sleeves with the elasticized wrists formed self-ruffles, long skirts gathered to the waistlines and white velvet sashes.

The postnuptial reception was given by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall. The bride and groom and their parents formed the receiving line where gowns worn by the couple's mothers provided interesting contrast to the white attire of the others. Mrs. Parks wore a long rose crepe dress designed with flared sleeves, boat neckline buttoned at the back, and a side, split skirt. Mrs. Edwards was attired in a long light blue double knit dress featuring a V-neck and set-in chiffon sleeves. They wore white carnation shoulder corsages.

The tables in the setting were covered in all-white cloths. The bride's table was draped with white lace over white crepe, and the groom's and rice bag tables were covered with lace-bordered sheer polyester over crepe.

The bride's table possessed special grace and charm accentuated by the "cake of cakes." The five-tiered white structure was divided by three sets of Grecian pillars and lavishly frosted with pink and red rose clusters, red lattice hearts and heavy scrollwork. The romantic top ornament was a bridal couple in their formal white satin wedding attire, the bride's gown featuring a long flowing lace skirt, backgrounded by a lace heart.

The dignified centerpiece was a five-branched silver candelabrum holding pink candles, pink carnations, white chrysanthemums and starburst poms. The other appointments were the crystal punch service, white napkins lettered with names of the bride and groom and their wedding date in red, and a silver tray filled with red and pink mints.

Miss Tammie Robertson, Mrs. Russell Yarbrough and Miss Carla Raglin of Odessa, cousin of the bride, presided at the table during the reception.

Mrs. Michael Dean and Mrs. Dave Mungie served at the groom's table which held a silver candelabrum holding red candles, the interlocking rings chocolate cake decorated with pink and red frosting roses, and the silver coffee service. Mrs. James Yarbrough and Mrs. Jerry Robertson were houseparty members.

The net rice bags carrying out the bride's colors were handed out by Miss Bobby Anderson.

Special wedding guests were Mrs. Vera Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Roberts of Wichita Falls, grandparents of the groom, Mrs. Charlie Raglin and Mrs. Byron B. Parks of Iowa Park, grandmothers of the bride.

Free enterprise speaker's topic

Wayne Watson, one of the four finalists in the Young Speakers for Free Enterprise contest held recently in San Antonio, was the program for the Amity Study Club Tuesday evening. He spoke on "America in the Free Enterprise System." He was introduced by Mrs. Leo Thames.

Cook of the Week

Modern American mealmakers, particularly those who work or go to school, are always on the lookout for nutritious food that is quick and easy to prepare and food that can be frozen. Mrs. Steve Montz, who has worked and gone to college, probably had those people and others who cook for just one or two in mind when she shared her recipes with us this week.

In reference to frozen foods, the 20th century cooks have Clarence Birdseye to thank for them because he taught the world about quick frozen foods. A scientist from Brooklyn, he was on an expedition to Labrador for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in 1914 when he learned something from the Eskimos. He noticed that fish caught in the ice froze stiff the instant they were exposed to air. When they were defrosted and cooked a week later they were still good, as good as if fresh caught. His discovery led to experiments that resulted in the abundance of frozen foods that are available today.

Mrs. Montz, the former Alice Sherwood, was graduated from Petrolia High School. In Dec. 1980, she received a B.S. degree in dental hygiene from Midwestern State University where she was on the Dean's List and named to Who's Who Among American College and University Students.

She is a member of the Wichita Falls District Dental Hygiene Society, American Dental Hygienists' Association, a trustee and public relations committee chairman of the Texas Dental Hygienists' Association. She was alternate delegate for the American Dental Hygienists' Association convention held in New Orleans recently.

Alice is now keeping books for her husband, a graduate of Tarleton State University, who is associated with the TexHoma Breeding Service, Inc. in helping dairy farmers to improve their herds. They attend Grace Church in Wichita Falls. Her hobbies are reading and latch hooking.

Hawkettes end season with 9-15 record

Iowa Park's Hawkettes wound up their basketball season Tuesday with a disappointing two-point loss to Hirschi's Lady Huskies.

But the loss came on the heels of a victory Friday over Burkburnett. The two games gave the Hawkettes a season record of 9-15, far ahead of pre-season predictions by most observers. Their hopes for a championship were hard hit with the exodus of JoAnn McClurg and Linda Rowell, who opted to complete their eligibility at Wichita Falls Rider.

Friday's game was won 53-48 at the foul line, where the Hawkettes connected on 19 of 29 free shots and Burk hit only 14 of 21. Burk had 17 field goals.

While some might think "hot cooking" had something to do with Burkburnett's number of personal fouls, that was not the case. The visitors drew 25 official whistles Friday, while in the first game between the two clubs at Burkburnett, they were called on 36 times.

Sophomore Lisa Yeakley led Hawkette scoring with 13 points, followed by Tammie Richardson, 12, and Jill Watts, 10.

Turnovers during the second half Tuesday spelled defeat for Iowa Park. The Hawkettes led until the last few seconds of the third period, but Hirschi surged ahead, 39-34, and held on from that point.

Iowa Park drew to within two points, 46-44, with 52 seconds left on the clock on Lindy Neely's free shots. But Hirschi scored another field goal 27 seconds later. Yeakley's two free shots pulled the team to within 48-46, but they came with nine seconds remaining and Hirschi stalled the balance of the clock.

Watts finished her high school career with 16 points and Yeakley had 11.

Hamill named city administrator

In a surprise move, Holliday city councilmen elevated waste water operator Jim Hamill to the position of city administrator, during the council's regular meeting Monday night.

The move came after a lengthy closed session, which aldermen called after receiving a letter of resignation from water superintendent Don Stewart.

Stewart cited personal conflicts as his reason for resigning, although close sources said Stewart was frustrated over the lack of communication between himself and mayor Tom Hall.

When councilmen re-opened the meeting after an hour's deliberation Hall informed those present the Stewart had decided to remain, and that Hamill was being considered for city administrator.

After establishing a tentative job description and setting his salary at $1,200 per month, aldermen voted unanimously to name Hamill the city's first full-time administrator.

Though a full description of Hamill's new position is incomplete, it was established that he will oversee all city operations including the office staff, street, sanitation and water employees.

In other business, councilmen set the date for the upcoming municipal elections, tabled action on signing a right-of-way contract with the Texas Highway Department, and purchased a high-band radio for Holliday's civil defense.

Councilmen called for April 4 as the date for municipal elections, with three positions on the council to be decided. The present terms of John Goforth, Jim Virdell and Jimmy Willis will expire with the positions to be filled in the election. So far, no one has filed for each of the three positions.

Mrs. C.Y. Gorman was named election judge for the municipal elections.

W.C. Snodgrass of the Texas Department met with councilmen to inform them of two current projects which eventually will expand US 82-277 to four lanes from "Kamay y" to Holliday, and the need for right-of-way contract.

The first project, according to Snodgrass, will be to clean out culverts and ditches along the highway. In approximately a year, the department will begin construction of a four-lane road to Holliday's city limits.

Councilmen were informed the city is being asked to join with the highway department in purchasing channel easements and utility adjustments from private property owners. According to Snodgrass, "That's good for the city, because in the case of private property, the state pays 90 percent of the easement adjustment, and the city 10 percent."

Councilmen moved to hold a called meeting in two weeks, Mar. 2, to inform the department of the city's position.

Donations will be accepted at the meeting to help purchase an additional high-frequency radio for the Holliday civil defense
