Residents oppose new business site

The first major land use dispute since Iowa Park adopted its zoning ordinance more than a decade ago has developed.

It concerns a building permit to construct a car wash on West Highway, between Singleton's and Third Street, and is being opposed by two residents across Alameda Street to the north.

The issue surfaced during Monday's meeting of the city council, when the two residents, Mrs. Kenneth Garrett and James Morris, asked to make a public appearance before the council.

Both said they opposed the erection of the car wash and cited numerous reasons.

They were told that the land was, and always had been since the city was zoned, designated for businesses, among which a car wash would be included, that the Planning and Zoning Commission had studied the proposal and approved it, and that a building permit had already been issued to construct it.

No action was taken by the council to rescind the permit during the meeting.

Tuesday, a crew was on the location setting up forms for construction, and the workers returned yesterday to continue their work.

Wednesday morning, Morris, an attorney, filed an appeal to the board of adjustments, as prescribed in the zoning ordinance. He listed six reasons for his appeal.

When asked, just before presstime, if the city would issue a notice to stop work until the appeal is heard, City Administrator Steve Morath said he would have to seek legal counsel with O.N. Newman, city attorney, but he felt a notice to the car wash developer, Cecil Longley, about the appeal action would probably be the only action the city can take.

After receiving a notice of appeal, according to the zoning ordinance, the city secretary is to notify the board of adjustments (which in this case is made up of the city council). The board is to fix a "reasonable" time for the appeal, giving 15 days public notice and notifying all parties concerned.

Unless a special meeting is called, the council is to meet June 22 for its next regular session and at that time the notice would be made and time of hearing the appeal would be set, Morath said.

Garrett and Morris listed six points in their notice of appeal for the hearing.

Garrett said that the zoning ordinance requires the city secretary to issue a zoning clearance permit before a building permit can be issued. They also claim that the zoning clearance permit violates due process rights, not giving notice or hearing for nearby landowners.

The land has been vacant for many years, one point was made, for use by Little League baseball teams, and no change in use can be made until a zoning clearance permit is issued. They also claimed that a zoning clearance permit should not be issued because the proposed use of the land would create a traffic hazard.

The two residents claim the proposed land use will create a noise and litter nuisance and, lastly, the proposed use of the land should conform to a section in the code requiring a screening fence around it.

Morath said the first five points were all technical and open to interpretation, but the fence issue might possibly be a valid point.

At one point in the discussion on Monday, Mayor Johnny Crawford said he sympathized with the residents, but he told those in the audience "It would have been much easier on the council had you taken action before development by coming before the council and asking for a zoning change.

When discussion on the topic became heated, Longley told the two complaining residents that if they would pay him the $46,000 he already had invested in the transaction, he would go elsewhere and build the facility.

Rural carrier said recovering

Mrs. Kenneth (Robbie) Watts remains in Dallas' Parkland Hospital intensive care unit following surgery for a ruptured blood vessel in her head.

Mrs. Watts was delivering mail Tuesday of last week on her rural route at the time she was stricken. She was transferred from Wichita General to the Dallas facility after tests indicated the type surgery that was required.

Surgery reportedly lasted 14 hours.

She was 2.9 miles north of the expressway on FM 369 when stricken. Her car coasted to a halt in a ditch and law officers were notified shortly after 1 p.m.

Trustees hire eight teachers

Iowa Park school trustees Tuesday night hired eight teachers after accepting six resignations and granting a leave of absence.

New personnel elected included: Allan Jon Andrews, high school choir; Debra Brandt, first grade; LaVelda Barrick, seventh grade English; George Collins, high school English; James Alan Ivy, high school assistant coach and boys PE; Terry Michael Johnston, sixth grade science; John L. Warnock, high school speech and English; and Beverly Gail Yeakley, already assigned.

Resignations accepted were from Janet Walker, Linda Lovelace, James Arnold, Judy Brown, Betty Cash and Denise Hambrick. Sandra Brown was granted a leave of absence.

Reports were made on this year's Texas Assessment of Basic Skills testing of the third, fifth and ninth grades, as well as the California Achievement Test.

Counselors Herman Escue and Coleen Roberts reported on the TABS testing, which was initiated last year by the state as a standard test to assess students' advancement in basic education. Started in the third and fifth grades, the third grade was added this year.

Although area and state school district reports on the TABS have not yet been released, Escue said in comparing the local scoring, he said he "basically felt the students did better than last year."

On the California Achievement Test, administered to the first, second, fourth, sixth and seventh grades, all tests indicated students were equal or well ahead of their expected levels.

Mrs. Roberts said the highest scoring was in the seventh grade, where the average score was 8.8, and the norm would have been 7.7. On their reading, language and math, the students scored the norm for ninth graders, her report indicated.

Results of the various standard tests are a basic subject of discussion at the meetings of the curriculum committee, Karl King told trustees, and areas where weaknesses are shown give the faculty members a place to place emphasis in classroom instruction.

King also provided numerous changes for the board's policy book, all of which were accepted after being read and explained. The changes affected both faculty and students.

Among the changes were:

- * a principal can require a physician's certification of illness when a teacher is absent fewer than five days;

- * sick leave will be earned on a basis of one-half day credit for each 18 days work, instead of a lump sum at the beginning of each year;

- * a ban against former local students doing their student teaching here was dropped;

- * substitute teacher pay was increased to $30 per day;

- * non-resident student transfers must be received in April for the upcoming school year;

- * Kindergarten through seventh grade students will not be allowed makeup credits. However, all other grade students can receive credit if they attend an approved school;

- * a list of diseases is not available, listing those which a student can continue attending class while undergoing treatment and others which require a physician's release before returning to the classroom.

At the recommendation of Bill Steger, trustees approved ordering a new bus for delivery during the 1981-82 school year. This will be the first bus purchase in two years, he pointed out.

Trustees approved cancelling of $1,885 in uncollectable taxes, mostly assessed to personal property, Steger pointed out.

Supt. Harold Cowley reported on progress of construction of the physical education building at Bradford and efforts to collect from a bonding company for unfinished work on the high school gym.

COMBINES ROLLING - As the clouds cleared, temperatures climbed and winds blew this week, some fields dried out enough for heavy combines to begin harvesting the wheat crop. Roy Johnson was cutting wheat Tuesday on the farm of his father, Neil, northwest of town. With continued good weather, and if enough custom combine crews remain in the area, most of the crop will be harvested in two weeks, according to observers.

Aldermen hear problems of south side flooding

Not all Monday night's meeting of the city council was devoted to complaints about a new car wash location on West Highway.

Council members also heard a request for help to prevent future flooding of homes in Garden Valley Addition, for improvements of a park area on the east side of Lake Gordon, hired a new tractor operator for the sanitary landfill, approved the final plat for the Wal-Mart Addition, changed an insurance program and approved purchase of an office machine.

Les Maple asked that the city cut a ditch along the north side of Garden Valley and east of Wall Street, to keep water from flooding his and neighboring homes.

Steve Morath, city administrator, was instructed to have the city engineer to make a study of the problem and make recommendations.

"The council does recognize the responsibility in the area, and we'll get on it," Crawford told Maple.

Larry Ware, representing the local soccer association, asked the city to develop the area where two soccer fields have been levelled on the east side of Lake Gordon. He proposed a new graveled road, offstreet parking and pavilion to be placed in the area of the fields.

Land near the old water plant, south of town, was offered for future soccer fields, and a member of the soccer group in the audience said they accepted. But Ware said his group had $2,000 invested in the fields they now have and didn't want to throw that away.

Crawford said there were many other park areas already developed which had a higher priority than developing the new area, but it would be considered at a later time.

Alderman Bud Thompson proposed that the soccer group work closely with the parks board to come up with an overall plan and list of priorities for the council to consider.

Aldermen approved purchase of a new copying machine for the city hall, at a cost of $2,995.

They also approved joining the Texas Municipal League's Worker's Compensation Joint Insurance Fund.

BOARD OF ADJUSTMENTS

After adjourning the regular council meeting, members sat as the city's board of adjustments and approved two of three requests for variances to the minimum front setback requirements.

They approved open carports be constructed at 1111 Cornelia and 906 West Highway.

Tips for the beginning gardener

As a newcomer to the backyard-farming scene usually finds out the first year, raising a productive garden requires the knowledge of a well-seasoned agriculturalist, the patience of a second grade school teacher, and the luck of a winner on his first trip to the race track.

Well, maybe not to those extremes, but veteran gardeners anywhere will tell you it has taken years of trial and error before being able to feel confident about any unforeseen problem that might arise, possibly destroying weeks and months of work.

Other information concerning gardens changes each season, and therefore has to be updated regularly for the public. Questions arising each year include: What to buy for a particular area? Or a particular season? How to Plant? How to mulch, water, fertilize, prune, weed, transplant, pot? How to recognize specific diseases and insects? And on and on.

Plant health is of great concern to every gardener. Information concerning the identification and control of various diseases and insect pests that may attack your plants changes with time, and not all of it is reassuring. Some of the fungicides and pesticides that have been confidently used by gardeners for many years are no longer considered acceptable. They have been too effective, killing too widely and indiscriminately, and disturbed the balance of nature. Some are dangerous to the gardener himself, either directly or indirectly.

Changes in chemical regulations and recommendations happen so rapidly it is almost virtually impossible to keep abreast of them. Therefore, what does a gardener do?

First of all, you can consult with a local nursery where, if staffed by a qualified nurseryman, they will be able to tell you what plant pests prevail in your locality and how to best get rid of them.

Second, you can contact your county extension agent, Don Decker, who has a staff of knowledgeable people and is adequately equipped to supply information to local gardening enthusiasts.

Third, you can visit the botanical garden, such as the one in Fort Worth, where there are people who can supply you with immediate information you are seeking. Fourth, periodicals and newspaper columns are being published daily with updated information you may use.

But in most cases, your county extension agent is your best bet. He is the one constantly in touch with developments in insect activity as well as research. His function is to be ready with the facts you need - specifically, what grows best in your locality, what pests or fungi are likely to attack it, and how best to control the attackers without endangering your life or health.

If you are a firm believer in the Zodiac, the "Ladies Birthday Almanac" may prove a treasure chest full of information on when and what to plant while utilizing the signs of the Zodiac.

John Hopkins, 410 E. Ruby, has referred to "Ladies Birthday Almanac" in 28 years of cotton farming as well as in his garden.

"He tried the "Farmer's Almanac" for a few years, but he went back to the "Ladies Birthday Almanac" and has used it ever since," remarked his wife, Earlee.

According to ancient astrologers, the relation of the "signs" was given as follows: The ram, head and face; the bull, neck; the twins, arms; the crab, breast; the lion, heart; the virgin, bowels; the balance, kidneys; the scorpion, loins; the archer, thighs; the goat, knees; the waterman, legs; the fish, feet.

The same type marks which stand for the signs of the Zodiac are used in scientific astronomy as conventional symbols for the twelve groups of

Johnson, Carender wedding held in Wichita Falls church

Miss Wendy Gay Johnson became the bride of Walter David Carender Saturday morning in a double-ring ceremony officiated by Lynn Rhodes at the 10th and Broad Church of Christ in Wichita Falls.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C.G. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Carender, all of Iowa Park.

A decorative setting for the wedding featured soft lighting from candles aflame in two fifteen-branched candelabra, a pair of tree candelabra and unity candelabra backdropped by a choir rail draped with leather leaf. The church pew for family members was decorated with white silk bows.

The wedding music was presented by an ensemble composed of Misses Lori Carender, sister of the groom, Lori Smith, Annette Terrell, Teresa Bunch, Jackie Grisham, Kristi Hudson, Tony Grisham and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hudson.

Their first selection was "How Great Thou Art," then they sang "The Rose" while mothers of the couple were ushered and seated. Their other offerings included "Hawaiian Wedding Song" for the professional, "The Wedding Song" while the bridal couple lighted the unity candle to symbolize their oneness, and "We Are One" for the recessional.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage for both parents by her father. A cascade of white silk daisies and carnations, blue silk anemones terminating in blue and white picot streamers was the bouquet chosen by the bride to provide interesting compliment to her lovely bridal gown of white organza and reembrodered Alencon lace worn over peau de soie.

The unforgettable splendor of the gown, made by her mother, was seen in the tasteful use of the lace on the high-waisted bodice with a Queen Anne neckline and the long tight sleeves. The long flowing skirt that formed a chapel train was accented with scattered lace motifs and a scalloped lace hemline. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to an organza Juliet cap appliqued with pearled-lace motifs.

Adding a bit of special sentiment to the gown, the bride carried a handmade lace handkerchief that had belonged to an old time friend of the family for "something old," and she wore her mother's pearl necklace for "something borrowed." Her wedding costume and garter provided the "something new" and "something blue" traditions.

Mrs. David Wahl, the matron of honor, and Miss Diana Smith, the bridesmaid, wore long blue organza gowns over taffeta. The spaghetti-strapped dresses were complemented with matching lace jackets made with long sleeves terminating in wide cuffs trimmed with self-covered buttons. The buttons added special interest to the back of the jackets. They carried inverted V-shaped bouquets consisting of white daisies, blue silk anemones and fresh gypsophila from which blue and white ribbons extended toward the floor.

Misses Julie and Jana Carender, twin sisters of the groom, carried the rings for the service on blue organza pillows in white net baskets trimmed with white lace and blue silk roses. They were clad in blue organza frocks styled with puffed sleeves, round necks, wide sashes accented with silk roses in the front and back.

Dave Disselhorst of San Diego, Calif. served as best man and Fred Pavlovic of El Paso, brother-in-law of the bride, was groomsman. Duties of ushering were assigned to J.R. Young and Don Fritz, both of Wichita Falls. The groom, his attendants and ushers wore baby blue tuxedos, the groom's identified with tails and a boutonniere of fresh white daisies. Fathers of the bride and groom wore brown tuxedos.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Johnson wore a long turquoise double knit gown fashioned with a high waist, pleated skirt and a matching chiffon cape that dipped in the back. Mrs. Carender chose a long pink crepe dress styled with three-quarter length sleeves and a matching lace cape. They wore white carnation corsages.

Following the service, wedding guests left the church and went to the Orchid Branch where the reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the VIP room. The tables arranged for the reception were covered with blue taffeta overlaid with blue lace.

The bride's cake, baked and decorated by her mother, was the focus of special attention on her table. The chaste simplicity of pure white in the three-tiered confection was pointed up by rich dimensional designs and cascades of sweetpeas in frosting, ceramic cupids and Grecian columns. The top was ornamented with a kissing bride and groom inside a white gazebo interlaced with blue silk sweetpeas.

The crystal punch service and white bridal napkins picturing a kissing bride and groom above "Wendy and David, June 6, 1981" completed the table decor. Mrs. Fred Pavlovic of El Paso, sister of the bride, and Miss Annette Nanez served at the table.

Miss Karen Farmer and Miss Tonya Holleman of Seagoville presided at the groom's table appointed with the interlocking rings chocolate cake, silver candelabrum accented with blue candles and blue silk roses and white doves, and the silver coffee service.

Mrs. Ruppert Beebe, sister of the bride, directed guests in signing the bride's book with a white plume pen at a table holding a white milk glass bud vase of blue and white carnations.

Mrs. Elsa Ann Farmer of Seagoville and Mrs. Barbara Ann Bunch of Grand Prairie were members of the house party.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents Friday evening at the Willow Creek Apartments party room.

The bride and groom were graduated from Iowa Park High School in 1979 and are students at Midwestern State University where she is studying to become a medical technician and he is majoring in marketing. He is employed as a caster at Howmet Turbine Components. They spent the weekend at lake Texhoma and are planning a longer wedding trip in August. The bride's traveling ensemble featured a floral print cotton polyester skirt, white gauze blouse and a matching print bolero.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Johnson of Perrin, grandparents of the bride; Messrs. and Mmes. Don Satterfield of Irving, Dave Lambert of Durant, Okla., John Pavolic of Yukon, Okla., Richard Florence of Austin; Mmes. Willie Lou Carender of Kingsburg, Calif. Freddie McAden and Lolloe McAden, both of Denison, Pete Rust of Lawton, Ola Cooper of Durant, Okla.; Misses Cindy and Tracy Hainline of Lawton, Okla., Ann and Teresa Beebe of Truscott.

MRS. WALTER DAVID CARENDER

Daron Wayne, a seven pound, ten ounce son was born to Mr. and Mrs. David Blackerby June 4th. Mrs. Blackerby is the former Darla Roberts.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Blackerby and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roberts of Iowa Park. Great-grandparents are J.H. Powell of Altus, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sharp of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Blackerby of Hutchins, Texas.

Ulsh, Holder vows exchanged

Blyth Lodge at the Wilds Christian Camp in Rosman, N.C. was the scene of the May 30th wedding to unite Miss Melissa Jane Ulsh and Wesley Alton Holder. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Ulsh of Mount Union, Pa. and Mr. and Mrs. C. Alton Holder of Taylors, S.C., formerly of Iowa Park.

The Rev. Thomas Farrell and the Rev. John Hardin Ulsh, brother of the bride, officiated the double-ring ceremony during which the bride and groom gave their own vows to each other, these being finalized when they lighted a single candle to symbolize that they had become one flesh in the sight of God.

The focal point for the wedding was an enormous two-story fireplace flanked by glass overlooking the beautiful mountainous terrain. The fireplace was filled with lothawee foliage gathered from the banks of the streams flowing by the lodge. On either side of the hearth were large informal arrangements of haze bridal roses, Peruvian lilies, dusty rose camelot lilies, rose pink and dusty rose freesia, twilight and dusk blue camellias, tiger and alba lilies, accented with eucalyptus and lothawee foliage and ferns grown in the area.

Flanking the arrangements were colonial globe candelstands entwined with the chosen foliage. Baskets of cinnamon and royal ferns gathered from the area were used on the twin pianos at either side of the fireplace. The kneeling bench entwined with smilax, fern and candlelight ribbon completed the setting.

Old-fashioned single globe stands decorated with foliage marked the places of honor for mothers of the bride and groom. The entrance to the lodge was a harbinger of the decorations on the inside.

Musicians for the wedding were Mrs. Faye Lopez and Mack Lynch, pianists, Steve Lopez and Miss Kay Horsh, vocalists. The male vocalist sang the "Lord's Prayer" while the mother of the bride was being seated. Miss Horsh presented "O Perfect Love" before the attendants began the processional, and sang "Our Lives Are Thine" preceding the recessional.

As the bride made her appearance, she stopped at the center of the balcony while the groom sang "I Love Thee" before she descended the staircase banked with pots of mountain laurel and fern.

The bride was a charming picture in a gown of candlelight organza enhanced with imported lace trim. The natural waist bodice featured a wedding ring neckline, epaulet-style shoulders with ruffles bordering a wide inset of the lace trimmed with self-covered buttons in front. The full skirt and chapel train terminated in a wide band of the fine lace to afford a full effect of its beauty. The neckline, wrists and edges of the gown were accented with pearls sewed on by hand by Miss Margaret Ulsh, sister of the bride.

The bride's three-tiered veil of illusion was appliqued with lace roses showered with pearls. She chose a Victorian bouquet of golden haze bridal roses, Peruvian lilies, camellias, starlight gypsophila and camellia foliage.

Mrs. Rick Stoner of Breward, N.C., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Sheryl Smith of Greenville, S.C., Miss Hilda Ross and Miss Angela Holder, sister of the groom, both of Taylors, S.C., were bridesmaids. They wore twilight blue polyester silk dresses designed with empire waistlines, split elbow length billow sleeves, graced with candlelight insets on the bodices and necklines.

Each attendant carried an Edwardian bouquet of Peruvian lilies, camellias and sweetheart roses in shades of blue complemented with starlight baby's breath and candlelight lace.

The groom was attired in a silver single-breasted peak lapel tuxedo with a satin inset lapel and a ruffled shirt trimmed in gray. His boutonniere was formed of a golden haze rose, baby's breath and camellia foliage.

Bruce Holder, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Steve Lopez, Mack Lynch and Chuck White, all of Rosman, N.C. Their attire matched that of the groom except for blue ruffled shirts.

The mother of the bride wore a street length dress of pale blue chiffon, and the groom's mother was attired in a lavender chiffon dress. Both wore golden haze bridal roses and baby's breath corsages.

The wedding reception was held in the glass-enclosed recreation parlor at the lodge.

Twin tables arranged for the bride's cake and punch service were overlaid with white lace and swagged with the lace caught up with wedding bells and bows. The tables were connected with an arched floor candelabra traced with camellia foliage and fern.

The bride's cake of three tiers was bedecked with blue roses and baby's breath between the layers that were raised with Grecian pillars, and the top ornament was created of an arch of blue roses, wedding bells and white doves. The cake was flanked by silver candle stands holding arrangements of twilight dusk camellia blossoms and roses.

The table where the punch and coffee were served was marked with the bride's bouquet on a silver candelabrum, the silver services and trays holding a variety of entrees.

The traditional chocolate groom's cake was served at a table laid with blue miramir over white satin.

The groom's parents gave the rehearsal dinner in the recreation parlor of the lodge. The tables and room were decorated with the flowers, foliage and globe candelabra emphasized in the wedding.

The bride and groom both hold degrees from Bob Jones University. She received an associate degree in business and is employed as a secretary at Stone Manufacturing Co. in Greenville, S.C. He was graduated from Iowa Park High School and received a B.S. degree in business management from the university. He is the tenor in the Wilds' Evangelistic Quartet of Rosman, N.C. After a wedding trip to Hilton Head, S.C., the couple will reside in Greenville.

Mrs. Lucile Garvin of Iowa Park and Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Holder of Wichita Falls, the groom's grand parents, attended the wedding. Others from out-of-town were Mrs. John Hall of Mt. Union, Pa. Mrs.

Leroy Wasson of Newark, Del., John Ulsh of Mt. Union, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Patrick of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Gibson of Greenville, Mrs. Beth Wyatt of Winston-Salem, N.C., Miss Debbie Yeutter and Jana Laier of Mt. Union.

Coffee fetes 23 Study Club

Members of the 23 Study Club were honored at a coffee Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. China B. Smith, president, who presented a meditation on "The Impossible Dream."

Mrs. Smith gave a report of the TFWC Convention held in Abilene stating that the emphasis was on Volunteers in Action, need for local hospitals in small towns, crime prevention, child abuse, shelters for domestic or family violence and Texas Heritage.

During the business, Mrs. Sam Hill and Mrs. Earle Denny served as tellers, and Mrs. D.O. James reported on the work of the program and yearbook committee.

Brunch featuring the theme "Bon Appetit" was served from a table covered with a linen tablecloth from the island Grand Cayman. The centerpiece was an arrangement of bronze and gold lilies in a silver container flanked by white candles glowing in silver holders. Mrs. C.E. Birk and Mrs. James presided at the punch and coffee services.

RIDS GARDENS OF BIRDS

and ran string across the length of her garden, attaching similar objects.

"I found an ad for plastic owls in a gardening magazine which were supposed to rid a garden of birds," said Mrs. Lovelace, "and I bought two of them. They worked so well, I wish now I would have ordered five."

In addition to the garden, Mrs. Lovelace has five apricot trees, one pear and one cherry tree.

Last summer, when the weather became the biggest problem for area gardeners, Mrs. Lovelace lined her chicken wire fence surrounding the yard with plastic, which she says kept the hot winds from directly hitting the plants.

When asked where she picked up her knowledge of gardening, Mrs. Lovelace replied, "I worked with my parents for several years on a ranch near Brownfield, and then for a number of years with my husband," adding that he gardened 42 years straight before passing away in 1976. "And when he passed on, I just kept going," she confirmed.

Before using the above tactics to rid herself of birds, Mrs. Lovelace claimed they ate her lettuce and carrots when they were just out of the ground, and even shelled some of her blackeyed peas. "Even when I was a child, I was always the one to see when vegetation was being eaten up," she said.

For those who wish to rid themselves of vegetable-loving birds, Mrs. Lovelace claims that anything that is colorful and can stand the weather will suffice.

Windfall tax change sought

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen urged members of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) at their 35th annual meeting to continue their efforts to pass legislation which would exempt the first 1,000 barrels a day from the windfall profit tax.

Bentsen told the group at the Fort Worth meeting, "We must push for this exemption for it places an unnecessary and unfair burden upon the oil industry when they can least afford it and when this country needs the energy to further reduce its dependence on foreign oil." Bentsen further stated, "I think you have a good chance of winning in the House, and if so, I think we will have an excellent chance to pass it in the Senate this year."

Texas Congressman Kent Hance, sponsor of the legislative proposal in the U.S. House of Representatives, also encouraged TIPRO members to push for passage of the legislation. Hance stated, "We have obtained 205

Sen. Bentsen has introduced legislation in the Senate, S.B. 85, and Congressman Hance in the House, H.R. 2451, which would exempt royalty owners and independent producers from the first 1,000 barrels per day of oil production from the windfall profit tax.

Other congressional leaders addressing the nearly 800 convention attendees were Sen. John East and Texas Congressman Phil Gramm, Bill Archer, Tom Loeffler, and Charles Stenholm.

TIPRO, an Austin-based organization, has been actively involved in the effort to gain support of legislation introduced in Washington by Sen. Bentsen and Cong. Hance which would reduce the burden of the windfall profit tax on the independent oil and gas producer and royalty owner.

Farm Bureau seeks repeal

Wichita County Farm Bureau president Fred Dwyer said his organization is supporting efforts in Congress to repeal the David-Bacon Act to save taxpayers close to $1-billion annually.

The law requires contractors on federal construction projects to pay the prevailing wage for similar work in the area. In administering the law, the Department of Labor has simply used the union wage scales as the prevailing wage, the farm leader said.

Loys Barbour of Iowa Park, chairman of the Wichita County Farm Bureau National Affairs Committee, is in charge of the organization's efforts on the matter, Dwyer said.

The county Farm Bureau president gave this example of how the Act is misused: if bulldozer operators in an area usually make $10 an hour, but union wage scales in the nearest big city are $15 an hour, then the Department of Labor requires federal contractors in the area to pay bulldozer operators $15 an hour.

The farm leader said the Act also creates an "inflationary rippling" effect.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Had I known, back during my education days when I was planning my life's vocation, about this period of specialization, I wouldn't have become a newspaperman.

I would be an attorney, specializing in bankruptcy cases. It appears all one has to do is hit one good case, and he can retire for life.

To heck with being an inventor, investor, banker, oil magnate or whatever. Just give me a law degree and let me be the receiver in a case like Bobby Johnson's elevators when they went bankrupt, and I'll spend the rest of my life on the golf course.

Now, I obviously don't know a blasted thing about an attorney's business... any more than most attorneys know mine. I'm sure there's a lot of thought and so forth goes on in such a case.

But James W. Dugger, receiver in the Johnson case, will draw a hefty little check of $197,304.17 during proceedings in the case.

John C. Ford, bankruptcy judge for the case, sent out notices about how much attorneys connected with the case would be paid the same day.

Eight attorneys, or firms, were on the list to receive $66,489, including Dugger's share. And they've already been paid $95,926.

The amazing thing about it all is, with all those high fees, the expenses listed to be paid were only $3,089.

So, that makes a grand total of $765,504 attorneys will receive in the case of Bobby Masele Johnson, et al.

Breaking down who is to receive what: Garrett and Settle, attorneys for the debtors, are to receive $170,000 after having received $17,000, and expenses are $446.71.

Attorneys for claimants and creditors are Perry Wesbrooks, $80,000 after having received $20,000, plus $43.25 in expenses; and Douthitt, Mitchell and Paul, $13,827.68 after having been paid $14,500, and no expenses.

Dugger named four firms as "attorneys for receiver" and they include: Gilbert and Colvin, $64,035, with $15,000 already collected, and no expenses; Theodore Mack, $140,250 after receiving $13,000, and $2,599.29 for expenses; Fillmore and Camp, $3,766.69 and no expenses; and Joseph R. Young, $307.50 and no expenses.

There's one very sad point about all this: out there, somewhere, there must be one or two attorneys who are really struggling to make ends meet... because they haven't yet gotten in on a good, big bankruptcy case.

Electricity's costing a lot more this summer.

Live warmer and help hold down your bills.

You may not feel quite comfortable at first when you set your thermostat at 80° or higher, but most people adjust very quickly to living warmer. At the same time, if you dress cooler and use a fan, you may not even notice the difference. But it will help hold down your electric bill.

Irrigation should be used as supplemental water source

By Don Decker
County Agent

Irrigation in the Wichita Valley is best used as a supplemental source of water rather than the major water source, according to Dr. Clve Gerard who appeared recently on the tour of the Iowa Park Experiment Station. Gerard is the soil chemist from the Research and Extension Center near Vernon.

Land preparation can be managed in such a manner so natural rainfall can provide adequate moisture for planting cotton in the irrigated valley as with dryland cotton in the area. He said, "Valley cotton growers will want to avoid ever using irrigation water to bring up a cotton crop. The salts in the irrigation water crusts the soil which discourages germination and seedling development even though larger cotton plants have good tolerance to salt." He recommended using natural rainfall to get the plants up and growing in the early stages.

The first irrigation is needed as the cotton plant begins to bloom. He suggested irrigating at 10 to 14 day intervals for 3 to 4 times during that critical stage of development of the cotton plant. The waterings can be timed to miss the major bollworm flights in late July and early August. Irrigation is then discontinued so the cotton plant can mature the boll crop early.

This system of irrigating cotton keeps the salts leached out of the soil profile yet provides critical moisture for a bumper cotton crop in the irrigated Wichita Valley. It also aims at the most profitable production.

A prairie dog reduction program by Marvin Klinkerman of Iowa Park has been successful. Klinkerman had lost about 50 to 70 acres of pasture land to prairie dogs and they were spreading rapidly to adjoining areas. His control program worked toward suppressing the prairie dogs.

Klinkerman says, "This program was a lot of work but I am well pleased with the benefits." He is diverting grazing from the pasture so the grasses can become reestablished in the prairie dog town.

When asked which peach herbicide he liked best, Jim Barger replied, "I don't know. All three of the preemerge herbicides worked so I can't say that one was better than the other." He went on to say, "If I could select only one peach herbicide, I would use paraquat because I can use it to control both annual and perennial grasses and weeds."

Barger applied Sencor, Goal, and Princop in different plots on April 8. There are preemerge chemicals which control weeds and grasses as they germinate. A single application is giving season-long control of annuals. Barger carried Virgil Woodfin, J.B. Young and myself on a tour of his orchard and we could not find a single annual weed in any of the plots. Repeated applications of paraquat was doing an excellent job as a postemerge application in keeping Johnsongrass and night shades "burned" down.

Cole, Aston nuptial vows exchanged Saturday

One of the loveliest weddings of the spring season was that held Saturday afternoon in First United Methodist Church when Miss Carla Kay Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Cole, became the bride of Peter Richard Aston, son of John Aston and Mrs. Shirley Short of Houston.

Some of the old familiar love songs, so long associated with weddings, and other meaningful songs that are fast becoming favorites, were sung and played for the musical background for the couple to plight their troth.

Mrs. Bill Shultz of Henrietta, organist, presented a concert of prelude selections, including "A Time for Us", "You Light Up My Life," "From This Day On," "Liebestraum," "Please Love Me Forever," "Beautiful Love," and "O Perfect Love."

She accompanied Miss Carrie Ryn Cole, sister of the bride, who sang "One Hand, One Heart" and "Ave Maria" before the couple pledged their double-ring vows under the direction of the Rev. Michael Jackson, pastor of the Elmwood Methodist Church in Dallas, then sang the "Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

Mrs. Shultz played the traditional processional by Wagner and Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" for the recessional.

The classic beauty of the open Bible and gold cross flanked by gold candles in gold holders on the altar table accentuated the hushed reverence for the ceremony. White candles aglow in seven-branched candelabra standing on either side of the table and in spiral candelabra at outer edges of the altar rail provided soft illumination. The candle holders were traced with boxwood greenery and pews were marked with white satin bows and greenery.

The radiant bride entered the sanctuary on the arm of her father who escorted her to the altar and presented her in marriage for both of her parents.

She wore a luxurious gown of white organza lavishly trimmed with Venise lace. The beauty of the natural waist bodice was enhanced with a high neck and sheer yoke underscored with deep lace appliques, and a ruffle flounce of the lace forming a V-shaped neckline and cap sleeves graced with lace appliques. Distinction in the full skirt touched generously with lace motifs was particularly expressed in a deep flounce of lace-trimmed tiny pleating forming a cathedral train.

The bride wore dainty lace gauntlets and a white picture frame hat covered with lace from which fingertip lengths of bridal illusion floated in the back. She carried a nosegay of fresh white miniature carnations and gypsophila to complete the picture.

For the very special "something new" tradition, she wore diamond ear rings, a gift from the groom. For "something old" she carried a white Bible that was given to her by her paternal grandparents when she was a baby. In the Bible was a lace handkerchief loaned to her by Mrs.

MRS. PETER RICHARD ASTON

Eunice Page, her maternal grandmother, for "something borrowed." She wore a blue garter and a sixpence in her shoe, both given to her by her aunt, Mrs. Kidy Kleinschmidt of Dallas to complete the rhyme.

Miss Carrie Ryn Cole, sister of the bride, the maid of honor, Miss Julie Cope of Wichita Falls and Miss Cathy Doebbler of Lubbock, the bridesmaids, were smartly dressed in the newest style to give individuality to their formal chiffon gowns in shades of mint green, peach and lilac. The gowns were designed with blouson bodices, draped necklines accented with split sleeves, and A-line skirts. The honor maid wore mint green, and the bridesmaids wore peach and lilac, respectively. Their accessories included matching silk hats accented with flowers and streamers in the back and nosegays of carnations and statice in spring colors.

The groom chose a black tuxedo for his wedding attire and male participants wore silver gray tuxedos, all wearing ascot ties.

Craig Paulos of Bryan served as best man, and groomsmen were Doug Landry of Houston and Randall Howes of Tye. Joel Carson and Keith Crow of Dallas were ushers.

For the wedding Mrs. Cole was attired in a seafoam green silk polyester gown with a pleated skirt and a matching chiffon cape that dipped in the back. Mrs. Short wore a blue-green Indian silk dress from Indonesia accented with 14-karat gold inlay. Each wore a japhet orchid to add the finishing touch to her gown.

The bride's parents honored the couple at a postnuptial reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The ultimate in beauty and dignity was achieved in the decor of the long refreshment table covered with white taffeta featuring a pleated skirt falling to the floor from beneath a drape of peach chiffon. The cake and silver punch service at table extremities were linked by sprengeri fern and baby's breath blossoms that trailed from a branched silver candelabra bedecked with the bridal attendants' nosegays in the center of the table, then extended around the top of the cloth above the apricot drapes.

The lavish tier cake was a fantasy of sugar bridal trumpets, roses, petunias, stephanotis and forget-me-nots in shades of the bridal attendants' dresses and spring colors completely covering the four tiers. Sugar pillars lifted the top tier adorned with two white satin pearl-rimmed bells and two white feathered doves to add a distinctly formal touch to the confection.

A crystal bell, a wedding gift to the couple from a friend, and the silver serving dishes further appointed the table where Miss Elise Kelley of Hamlin, Miss Carolyn Campbell of Corsicana and Mrs. Rocky Biggs of Duncanville presided.

The round table where guests registered was draped in the same fashion as the refreshment table. The appointments were an heirloom scene of a bride and groom, both dressed in hand-crocheted wedding regalia standing beneath an arch decorated with spring flowers and greenery, the book and white plume pen. Mrs. Terry Wirmel directed signatures of the guests.

As guests departed from the reception, they were handed mint green net rice bags from a white basket by Jeff Jackson.

The groom's father was host for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Boston Tea Party.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Aston left for a wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico, the bride traveling in an off-white polyester two-piece dress with a striking belt. They will establish residence in Dallas when they return.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and received a B.A. degree in interior design from Texas Tech University in May. The groom, who also holds a degree from Texas Tech, was graduated from Westchester High School in Houston and is employed as a systems engineer for S.E.D.C.O. Inc. in Dallas.

The special guests at the wedding were Mrs. Eunice Page of Iowa Park, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Vallery of Pasadena, Calif., grandparents of the groom.

Others attending from out-of-town were Mrs. H.K. Hann of Houston, Mrs. Kidy Kleinschmidt, Kevin Kleinschmidt and Lynn Geimon from Dallas, Mrs. Bill Shultz and Mrs. Don Rue from Henrietta.

Mrs. Hann was hostess for a luncheon honoring the bride and her attendants Friday at the Activities Center in Wichita Falls.

Marcus David, a six pound, seven ounce son, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Matthew May Jr. The new baby has one sister, Christy four years of age.

The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Toler of Iowa Park. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Maggie Walls, Mrs. Louise Yarbrough, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Toler of Iowa Park and Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Matthews of Wichita Falls.

FRANCIS BLOUNT and SCOTT HOUGHTON

Wedding date approaches

Mr. and Mrs. O.R. Blount of Gruver announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Francis Ruth, and Scott Kent Houghton, son of G.R. Houghton of Springfield, Mo. and Mrs. Joey Hollingsworth of Ward, Colo.

The couple will be married Sunday, June 21, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Smith in City View.

Miss Blount was graduated from Iowa Park High School and had her cosmetology license. The future groom is employed by E.W. Moran.

Shower fetes bride elect

A prenuptial courtesy extended to Miss Judy Bradley, bride-elect of Jimmy Don Brown Jr., recently was a miscellaneous shower given in the home of Mrs. Billy McDonald. Co-hostesses were Mmes. Kevin Smith, Roy Rose, Don Foster, Wayne Stewart, Michael Pruett, Mrs. Sue Madera and Leilani Van Huss.

Mrs. Jeannie Slabaugh of Austin was an out-of-town guest.

The wedding will be an event of Friday evening at First United Methodist Church.

Retirees need to have hobby

Riley Thompson gave the program for the Evening Lions Club Tuesday on the importance of hobbies, particularly to those who were retired or contemplating retirement.

He discussed one of his hobbies, that of clock making and explained some of the techniques of the art using some of his handiwork to explain the steps from the selection of the wood used to the finished product.

It was voted to hold the installation service at the Country House in Wichita Falls June 23. Wives of club members and sweethearts will be special guests.

Why gas is plentiful:

Two New Sources

There's enough natural gas in proven and existing reserves to heat America's homes and run its factories for many years. And now gas is flowing in enormous volumes from two new sources: the tight basins and the deep basins right here in Texas and Oklahoma. Experts believe each of these sources could double the nation's proven supply. And our pipeline system will let us deliver your share of this gas efficiently and economically. It's another reason to be glad you're served by the Lone Star system.

Gas. It's plentiful, efficient and right for the times.

Birk Circle meets

Mrs. Edna Lemond was hostess for the Tuesday morning meeting of the Lucy Birk Circle of the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. L. Shelton was the presiding officer.

"To the End of the Earth" was the title of the Bible lesson taught by Miss Titia Belle Blanks, who was assisted by Meses. Gale Lowrance, Lois Holloway, Norman Nettleton and C.E. Birk.

The discussions pointed to the Messiah who called the true Israel as those of the remnant and his purpose to call all who believed in God together, whether Jew or Gentile, that they might constitute together the Kingdom of God.

A salad luncheon followed the Bible study.

Lear, Ezzell wedding vows exchanged Friday

Miss Carla Renee Lear and James Bradley Ezzell were married at the First Baptist Church in Holliday Friday evening in an impressive double-ring ceremony performed by the groom's father.

The couple repeated their vows before an altar centered with a white wrought-iron arch entwined with boxwood and topped with white wedding bells and doves. Branched candelabra accented with yellow ribbon held the burning candles to illuminate the setting. Yellow silk bows decorated the church pews.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Lear and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ezzell of Holliday.

Miss Donna Ruth, pianist, furnished the wedding music playing "If," "Still," "Lady," and "Hands of Time" for prelude selections and the marches of tradition.

The bride's father presented her in marriage for both parents. She chose a formal gown of white organza for her wedding. The beauty of the gown was enhanced with reemboirdered Chantilly lace which edged the square neckline and formed the cuffs of the sheer bishop sleeves. The skirt was graced with five lace-trimmed tiers in the back that extended into a chapel train. Her waltz length veil trimmed in matching lace fell from a lace-covered headpiece.

The bride carried a nosegay of yellow sweetheart roses and white daisies accented with a lace background and matching silk streamers.

Her sentimental additions included wearing the first wedding ring of Mrs. E.W. Robinson of Olney, her maternal grandmother, and a "something borrowed" was the groom's mother's gold chain that had originally belonged to her great-grandmother. The "something new" tradition was a gold chain bracelet with a floating heart, and the garter was her choice for "something blue." She also wore the good luck penny in her shoe.

Miss Dorothy Ezzell, sister of the groom, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a yellow satin gown, with spaghetti straps overlaid with French rose lace and carried a smaller version of the bride's bouquet. The bridesmaids, dressed in long satin gowns set apart with wide lace collars that formed the sleeves and carrying nosegays like the maid of honor, were Miss Lisa Stubbs and Miss Lori Stubbs, cousins of the bride.

Brian Lear, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

The groom, ring bearer, and all male members of the wedding party wore gray ascot tuxedos with black and gray scarves instead of ties.

MRS. JAMES BRADLEY EZZELL

Bennie Ezzell served as best man for his brother, Kent Lemons of Altus, Okla. and Scott Reece of Wichita Falls were groomsmen. The ushers were Kevin Kunkel of Holliday and Wayne Conrady of Windthorst, cousins of the bride.

Mothers of the couple were both attired in formal yellow gowns complemented with matching short-sleeved jackets. Their corsages carrying out the bride's colors were formed of yellow daisies, baby's breath and yellow ribbons.

The bride's parents were hosts for the wedding reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church, and the groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at Old Town Steakhouse in Wichita Falls.

At the reception, the bride's table was draped with white lace over yellow silk. The bride's bouquet flanked by yellow candles aflame in double crystal holders was the center decoration and lent itself to the cake and crystal punch service at the extremities. Adding extra height to the three-tiered white cake trimmed with cascades of yellow frosting roses were two sets of dividers, and the top ornament featured the traditional bride and groom standing under an arch of flowers. Miss Lonnie Moore and Miss Nancy O'Neal served at the

The groom's table and bride's book table were also covered with white lace over yellow. Miss Brenda Flatt and Miss Lucretia Halencak served the groom's double-ring chocolate cake and coffee from a silver service at a table centered with the couple's wedding invitation imbedded in a yellow pillar candle. Napkins for both tables were yellow and lettered with names of the bride and groom and their wedding date.

Miss Flatt assisted with the registration of wedding guests at a table holding a heart-shaped crystal vase filled with yellow roses, the book and yellow feather pen.

The bride and groom took a short wedding trip to Oklahoma City and are now at home in the Raintree Apartments in Wichita Falls. Both were graduated from Holliday High School this spring and are employed at Ezzell Metal Products, Inc. where he is vice-president.

In high school, the bride was chosen Miss Holliday High School, girl most likely to succeed, the busiest, and class beauty for three years. She was a class officer three years, cheerleader three years and head cheerleader one year. She was chosen the Holliday Christmas Queen. She served as vice president of the National Honor Society and was a regional qualifier in U.I.L. prose reading for four years.

The groom was president of the senior class and Student Council. He played varsity football and participated in track and was voted Mr. Spring Sprots during his senior year.

Grandparents of the bride at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Robinson of Olney and Mr. and Mrs. O.M. Lear of Archer City, and the groom's grandparents in attendance were Mrs. Alice Ezzell of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Minnix of Wheeler.

School faculty changes

Resignations of two teachers were accepted and three positions were filled during Monday night's regular meeting of the Holliday school board.

Annette Reusch, high school English and journalism teacher, resigned to accept a position with Wichita Falls High School as head of the journalism department. English and Spanish teacher Patty Wade also submitted her resignation.

Trustees hired Bill Higgins as head basketball coach and any additional coaching duties pending assignment by athletic director Don Lucy. Salary was set at $4,000 above state base.

Higgins formerly taught in the Corsicana school district, acting as freshman coach and assistant football coach.

In addition to hiring Higgins, trustees hired Jim Bob Wallace to aid

Cal Gauden in the vocational agriculture department at Holliday High School. Wallace taught at West, Texas just south of Waco last year.

Trustees also hired Bob White to replace Patty Wade as high school English and Spanish teacher. White, a former teacher in the Holliday school system, resigned two years ago to continue his education.

In other business, trustees voted to advertise bids to paint the high school building and athletic complex, and agreed to attend a meeting at 7 p.m. June 18 to discuss with area administrators the possibility of utilizing drug-sniffing dogs to combat drug use in the schools.

Although no formal specifications were available at press time Wednesday for painting of the high school building and athletic complex, trustees did narrow the type of paint to be used to three brands; Cook, PPG Sun Hide, or Sherwin Williams A100.

Each bidder will submit two separate bids, one for labor only with the school furnishing the materials, and another bid for labor and material costs. Bids will be accepted until 12-midnight June 25.

Although trustees haven't decided whether or not to use drug-sniffing dogs in Holliday schools, they did agree to attend a meeting next Thursday at the Administration Building of the Wichita Falls Independent School District, where a Houston company will demonstrate tactics used to detect drugs including marijuana and alcohol in school lockers, desks, and cars parked in the school parking lot.

Riggs, Henderson wedding music provided by choir

Music for the wedding of Miss Kelly Dene Riggs and Robert Dale Henderson which took place Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church was provided by the Iowa Park High School A Cappella Choir and Mrs. Glenn Scheff, organist.

As guests assembled in the sanctuary for the wedding, Mrs. Scheff played "Just Joy of Man's Desiring," "O Perfect Love," and "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead us." Her other offerings included the traditional marches.

The choir sang "Annie's Song" and "For All We Know" and "Candle on the Water" preceding the ceremony, the last number being sung during the lighting of the candles. During the service, the group sang "Alleluia" and an offertory sang "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt on the prayer bench at the close of the service.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Joyce Dene Peace of Iowa Park and Emmett Ray Riggs of Oklahoma City, and the groom's parents are Mrs. Clarence Childers of Hudson, Fla. and Louis Arthur Henderson of Waldron, Mich.

During the ceremony officiated by the Rev. Howell Farnsworth, he offered a special prayer for Gary Lyles, cousin of the bride, who was hindered from performing the service because of injuries suffered in a recent accident.

For the wedding, the altar was impressively decorated with appointments that are so often preferred by brides to lend beauty and meaning to the wedding. The white wrought-iron standards that served as bases for the candles and flowers and frame for the kneeling bench stood out in the altar setting, featuring an arch votive candelabra traced with emerald in the center which served as a background for the prayer bench. The unity candlestick holding extra large white candles was placed to one side of the arch. Also in the setting were seven-branched candelabra, two arrangements of white carnations and gladioli mixed with jade and leather greenery raised by tall stands. Family pews were designated with silk bows and greenery.

The bride was presented in marriage by her father. Her white organza gown attractively and artistically trimmed with Chantilly lace was fashioned over peau de soie. The natural lace bodice covered in lace dotted with pearls featured a high neck, sheer yoke of pointed de sprille and long fitted sleeves cuffed in tiny pleated ruffles. A four-tier hem flounce of lace and tiny pleated ruffles added elegance to the full skirt.

Her veil of bridal illusion trimmed in lace drifted to fingertip length from a Juliet cap of lace and pearls. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of blue and white silk roses and lilies of the valley accented with pearl motifs.

Mrs. Perry Riggs of Clarkston, Wash., sister-in-law of the bride, participated in the wedding as matron of honor. She was attired in a light blue knit gown styled with tiers of lace and blue satin shoulder straps. She carried a nosegay of blue and white silk roses, lilies of the valley touched with pearls and back-grounded with white lace.

Bridesmaids wearing identical gowns and carrying the same nosegays were Mrs. David Hutson of Iowa Park, Mrs. Brad Riggs of Wichita Falls, the bride's sister-in-law, and Mrs. Rebecca Baker of Metamora, Mich., sister of the groom.

Tiffany Belle Henderson of Grissom AFB, Ind., daughter of the groom, carried rose petals in a white basket in her role as flower girl. She wore a long blue organza frock frilled with flounces, one covering the shoulders and the other at the hemline of the skirt.

The rings for the service were carried by Tommy Holland of Wichita Falls and he was dressed like the groom's attendants.

When the bride and groom met at the altar for the recitation of marriage vows, he was wearing an all-white tuxedo with tails. His attendants, attired in white tuxedos and variegated blue ruffled shirts were Rick Menefee of Pontiac, Mich., best man; Charles Strickland of Wichita Falls, Louis Arthur Henderson Jr. of Hudson, Fla. his brother, and Brad Riggs of Wichita Falls, the bride's brother, groomsmen. Ushers were Kris Ensey and Perry Riggs, another brother of the bride.

At appropriate times during the service, the bride showed her love for her mother and for the groom's mother by presenting them with long stemmed carnations.

The gown Mrs. Peace selected for the wedding was fashioned of cerise chiffon. In design, it was made with a natural waist bodice with spaghetti straps, a chiffon cape finished with a handkerchief-style hem. The A-line skirt featured an overlay in the styling of the cape. Mrs. Childers wore a yellow knit gown set apart with a matching chiffon cape. They wore carnation shoulder corsages.

The wedding reception given by the bride's mother was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. True to form, the center of special interest was the refreshment table covered with a heavenly blue satin cloth defined with a striking self-heading, which held the cake, a silver tray holding white carnations, blue silk roses and leather leaf, the silver punch service and bridal napkins.

The distinctive cake featured a base of four sentimental heart-shaped cakes, each centered with clusters of blue and white sugar flowers, for a positively lured cake of three layers strewn with the sugar blossoms of blue and white. The tiers were separated with sugar pillars and a cluster of the flowers provided the top ornamentation.

Mmes. Ray Prater, Walter Morse, Curtis Manley and Miss Tammie Fuller served refreshments to the guests during the reception.

The guests registered in the foyer of the church at a long table holding a tall gold candelabrum topped with a gold candle and banked with leather leaf and emerald, and a white milk glass bud vase filled with a white carnation. Mrs. Jerry Campbell of Bloomfield Hills, Mich. presided at the bride's book.

The groom was host for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Lakeside Village Clubhouse.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and has been employed by Vera's Interiors. The groom was graduated from Rochester, Mich. High School and Montana Technical School in Helena, Mont. He is employed by Adams Oil Field Supply Co. The couple will take a trip to California later. They will live in Wichita Falls.

Donations planned

Thirteen members of the Friendship class of First Baptist Church attended a meeting held Monday evening in the fellowship hall of the church. Mrs. A.A. Simmons and Mrs. E.T. Patterson were hostesses.

During the business conducted by Mrs. Elmer Singleton, vice president, it was voted to take articles of clothing and food to Faith City Mission for the June project. Mrs. James Parker was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Patterson brought a devotional program gleaming her thoughts from two articles, "Take Time to Smell the Flowers" and "A Family Garden."

Mrs. Ruth Hill directed the period of meditation and refreshments were served during the social hour.

Gasoline stolen

Approximately 10 gallons of gasoline were reportedly taken from an automobile parked overnight Tuesday at 429 N. Yosemite. Florence Bowman told police.

HOME AT LAST, and proud of it!
After two years of going to school on Real Estate education, from law to appraisals, I am happy to say I'm back on Cash Street with my new office now open to serve you, and help you with any need you might have in the buying or selling of property through a Real Estate Broker.

As a life-time resident of Iowa Park, I feel I know the market here and will be glad to help you in any way that I can. I will help you arrive at a fair market price for your property, place it in Multiple Listing if you desire, take the complete responsibility of locating both buyer and financing for you, and try to do this in the shortest time possible.

Try our service. I think you'll like it. Remember, a home priced too low is a poor sale. But a home priced too high is a no-sale.
