School budget increased, but rate lowered 6 cents

Iowa Park school trustees passed a budget for the coming year that included a quarter-million dollar increase over last year, but were able to do it with a six-cent rate decrease.

Meeting in a called session Tuesday evening, trustees gave their approving vote to a $3,239,048 budget for the 1978-79 school year.

They then set the tax rate at $1.74 per $100 value, down from the $1.80 used last year.

During a session on personnel, besides hiring several new people they approved reassignment of Richard Davis, head of the Vocational Agriculture department, to a newly created position.

The budget was higher than the $3,071,400 approved for 1977-78, and a marked increase over the 1976-77 budget of $2,644,239.

Though a deficit of slightly more than $10,000 was built into the new budget, the additional income was made up in state funds, plus some $4-million in new and increased local assessed valuation, which was set this year at $64,521,560.

Of the $1.74 rate, $1.45 will be designated for local maintenance and 29 cents for debt service.

The entire budget is not spent exclusively in Iowa Park schools, however. The local district was designated fiscal agent for the West Wichita Co-op, a special education program which includes the school districts of Electra, Holliday and Valley View, as well as Iowa Park. John Sibley is administrator.

The West Wichita portion of the budget is $405,659, of which the local district receives approximately 40 per cent.

Largest chunk of the budget is for payroll, $2,288,689, an increase of $103,518 over last year. Most of the increase came in instructional payroll, which includes workman's compensation, $71,537. Next largest increase under that category was salaries for plant maintenance and operation, $18,720.

Harold Cowley, who presented the budget in detail to the board, said plant maintenance and operation was increased $34,667, mostly estimating higher utility costs, to $224,147. He had included a $35,000 increase in that same category last year for higher utility rates. Maintenance was up 18 per cent.

Under supplies and materials, the budget was increased by $15,689, to $183,028, and the debt service budget was raised $6,435 to $194,828.

Decreases of $5,297 were pointed out in the category of "other operating expenses", $123,384, and $5,574 in capital outlay, to $131,803.

Local taxes are expected to generate $909,661. Of the carryover of $392,382 listed in the budget, $361,279 are in the general operating fund, with the balance in designated funds.

Cowley said the carryover is necessary to pay employee salaries in the fall until taxes and state money start being paid.

PERSONNEL

Two applicants had filed for the newly created position of placement officer, Supt. Faris Nowell told the board. One was Davis and the other Tom Venhaus.

Nowell said he recommended Davis because of his seniority and experience.

The placement officer, a federally funded position, is to assist students in obtaining employment, whether full or part time. He will also assist college students gain employment wherever they are to attend school, when possible.

In approving the hiring, the board stipulated that the position would be eliminated should its funding ever cease to come from an outside source, and Davis could have his Vocational Agriculture job back if he still desired it.

Two new teachers were hired, Claudine Peebles and Tommie Smith was re-hired as a first grade teacher. Jackie Denton was assigned to the junior high as coach and teacher, having worked the past two years at Valley View and coaching freshman sports at high school.

Carol Dickson was hired under the West Wichita Co-op program to teach at Bradford Elementary, and Shirley Bryant at Electra. Three teacher aides were hired under the Title I (math instruction) program. They were Sherri Pryor, Barbara Gerstner and Jan Needham.

In two other actions, trustees approved a request from the Student Council to hold a fund-raising project again this year, and trustees granted a $50 per month increase in car allowance for Supt. Nowell, from $150 to $200.

NEW STOP -- With the rerouting of FM 368, stop signs at the intersection of Alameda and Pacific were changed Tuesday afternoon by state highway department crews. Pacific [FM 368] now provides non-stop driving through the north part of town while vehicles approaching from either direction on Alameda are required to stop. Police have been guarding the new markings with a watchful eye in hopes of eliminating accidents due to the change.

City lifts restrictions on weekend water use

Residents are now able to water their yards and wash cars on weekends.

Mayor Johnny Crawford said this week that, with the local water treatment plant in operation, the recently-established policy of alternating days will be adequate to conserve on water.

Restrictions have been imposed for several months now, on a voluntary basis, against any outside watering on weekends.

Last week the policy of allowing residents to water on alternating days was set up. Residents with odd numbered homes can water on odd numbered calendar days.

Early sales leaders in contest reported

It didn't take long for the youngsters to get busy in the Iowa Park Leader's subscription sales campaign and contest.

Three youths took a commanding lead in the contests with their early reports. But when the first full week's efforts are turned in tomorrow, some changes could be in the making.

Contestants are to make their weekly reports on Fridays through the campaign, which will not end until 4 p.m. Aug. 25.

The early leader is James Riddlehuber, with 2,900 points. Close behind are John Burns, 1,675, and Sharon Baston, 1,525. Mrs. Clay Ellis has

Tuesday afternoon busy for fire, police people

Fires and traffic mishaps occurring domino-style kept Iowa Park police and volunteer firemen busy for a hectic hour Tuesday afternoon.

Each of the three separate emergency calls received between 3 and 4 p.m. Tuesday held the potential for more seriousness, however, quick action by police and firefighters minimized damages.

The first call came into police headquarters about 3 p.m. Tuesday. A large dump truck was stockpiling asphalt for state highway department use east of town on Old Iowa Park Road. When the truck's bed was raised it came into contact with a guy line running across the highway supporting utility poles.

A utility pole on the north side of the highway was jerked halfway to the ground, freeing a high voltage wire which began to dance on the ground causing a grass fire that was pushed north by high winds.

Volunteer firemen from Iowa Park and bystanders were able to extinguish the blaze before it reached several homes located a few hundred yards north of the highway.

Iowa Park police and passersby stopped traffic on the highway while Texas Electric Service Co. crews were dispatched to the scene to cut the power supply and make repairs. No one was injured.

Less than a mile farther east on Old Iowa Park Road a single truck mishap occurred, at least partly the result of the earlier accident.

A truck driver for Iowa Park Ready Mix was westbound on the highway when he heard that traffic was being stopped at the scene of the utility pole mishap.

The driver said he was negotiating a turn that would have rerouted him south on Rifle Range Road when the trailer of the dump truck he was driving overturned in a ditch at the intersection, spilling the load of gravel into the ditch. The trailer twisted over at the fifth wheel hitch, allowing the tractor to remain upright. The driver was not injured.

At 3:30 p.m. Tuesday the fire siren sounded again. An unknown type of fire at 1220 S. Wall was announced by the police radio dispatcher.

First on the scene was Police Chief Jim Voyles and Officer Claude Morrow. Smoke was coming from the interior of the home at 1220 S. Wall.

Using a portable fire extinguisher carried in the truck of the patrol car, Voyles and Morrow were able to douse a flaming gas kitchen range.

Occupants and pets inside the home reached safety outside the home without injury, however, Voyles and Morrow were almost overcome by gas and smoke encountered inside the home.

They quickly revived after taking oxygen carried on one of the two units of the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department that responded to the call.

In other police activity, officers investigated three reports of criminal mischief.

On Monday Estefania Aguilar reported the theft of a fuse box and keys from a mobile home at 405 E. Aldine.

Last Friday George L. Warner told police someone slashed the right rear tire of a van parked at 1019 Cornelia. Last Thursday Donna Walls reported someone had dumped soap into a water cooler of a mobile home at 616 W. Louisa. Soap and water damaged a couch, stereo and the home's living room carpet, according to police reports.

WRONG TURN -- DPS trooper interviews the driver of a truck that overturned Tuesday afternoon at the intersection of Old Iowa Park Road and Rifle Range Road. Driver of the dump truck carrying gravel was attempting a detour to avoid being held up at a roadblock farther down the highway where a downed power line ignited a grass fire.

ALMOST OVERCOME -- Iowa Park Police Officer Claude Morrow, left, breathes oxygen being administered by a volunteer Iowa Park fireman after he was almost overcome by gas and smoke at a house fire at 1220 S. Wall Tuesday afternoon. Morrow and Chief Jim Voyles manned the first emergency vehicle to respond to the call and both required oxygen after clearing the home of its occupants and pets after extinguishing a gas kitchen range fire. No one was injured.

Small world

Deryl Walls, who suffered the loss of a leg in an accident recently has been released from the hospital in Oklahoma City and flew to Washington Saturday with his mother, Mrs. Kay Clayton, and will visit her in Bremerton for a period of recuperation.

Dale Girard, former resident of Iowa Park and a pilot for Braniff Air Lines, piloted the plane to Seattle from Dallas. He called the Leader office Monday and said that he learned that they were both from Iowa Park when he was assisting with getting Deryl off the plane.

Deryl's address in Washington is 7400 Thasos Ave. N.E., Bremerton, Wash. 98310. He said that he would like to hear from all his friends.

MRS. RICHARD SAMUEL HICKS

Withrow-Hicks marriage is held here Saturday

The First Baptist Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding Saturday afternoon in which Miss Kathy Ann Withrow and Richard Samuel Hicks exchanged their matrimonial vows. The Rev. Kenneth Flowers, pastor, officiated the impressive double-ring nuptials.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Withrow of Burkburnett, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Hicks of Iowa Park.

The musical setting was provided by Mrs. Jim Medlinger, organist, and Mrs. Johnny Bernstein, soloist. The organist presented appropriate selections for prelude music which included "Walk Hand in Hand", "Whither Thou Goest" and "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us." She played the processional and recessional that have been preferred by brides for many years and accompanied Mrs. Bernstein for her solos, "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Wedding Song".

The altar space was centered with a brass arch swathed with daisies and English ivy flanked by white tapers shedding illumination in spiral candelabra. Two sunburst arrangements of white gladioli and daisies were the floral decorations in the setting, and the sacredness of the occasion was enhanced with the unity candelabrum brought into the spotlight when the couple lighted the taper to symbolize their union.

Escorted and presented in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a formal wedding gown of white satin organza and Venise lace. The lace lent distinction to the gown at the high ruffled neckline, sheer yoke, sheer full bishop sleeves with ruffled cuffs. Matching lace motifs adorned the slightly raised bodice and the skirt in panels that extended down the front. The lace motifs were repeated around the hemline of the chapel train. She wore a fingertip veil of matching lace held by a pearl tiara.

The bride carried a nosegay of split and full carnations, daisies, sonja roses and baby's breath. She completed her costume with the bridal traditions which included her late maternal great-grandmother's handkerchief for "something old"; Mrs. Johnny Fender's pearl earrings for "something borrowed"; the blue garter and sixpence in her shoe.

Miss Laura Fender participated in the wedding as maid of honor and Miss Lana Parker was bridesmaid.

They were attired in full length coral crepe back satin gowns accented with coral lace bodices dipping to V-necklines. Their nosegays consisted of coral carnations and daisies with cascading silk streamers.

The groom chose a solid white tuxedo for his wedding attire, and his attendants wore beige tuxedos.

Henry Sutton of Electra was best man and Mike Hicks of Archer City, the groom's brother, was groomsman.

Ushers and candlelighters were Steve Withrow, brother of the bride, and Steve Fisch.

For the wedding, Mrs. Withrow, mother of the bride, wore a formal gown of light beige double knit styled with a high waist bodice and butterfly sleeves trimmed in lace. Mrs. Hicks, mother of the groom, chose a gown of coral polyester crepe designed with a raised bodice and V-neckline topped with a matching sheer georgette capelet that extended to a deep V in both front and back. Both ladies wore shoulder corsages of coral carnations and daisies.

Ushered in as special wedding guests were Mrs. Edna Mae Mulig of De Ridder, La., the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Nannie Hicks of Poteet, grandmother of the groom, and Mrs. Lloyd Lowe, a special friend of the groom and his family.

Immediately after the service, guests departed for the Texas Electric Reddy Room for the reception given by the bride's parents.

The refreshment table was characterized by excellent grace and form. The attractive cloth featured white double knit with a white net gathered skirt that fell to the floor. Enhancing skirt interest was the gathered layer of illusion at the top which was caught up in swags centered with clusters of daisies. The unusual centerpiece was a flowing fountain topped with a floral arrangement.

The four-tiered wedding cake was lifted up beautifully with two sets of Grecian columns to show layers topped with bouquets of fresh daisies. Each tier was draped with chains of butter cream frosting daisies and showered with scattered coral daisies with darker centers.

Two large sugar bells formed the complimentary top ornament. Serving at the table were Miss Sharon Johnson of Wichita, Kansas, Mrs. Mike Hicks of Archer City, sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. Johnny Fender.

The bride's book table where Miss Alicia Hicks, sister of the groom, secured signatures of the guests, was covered with a cloth duplicating the mode of the one on the refreshment table. It held a bud vase of coral carnations and a white feather pen.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas, the newlyweds are at home in Iowa Park where they are both employed at Cryovac. The bride traveled in a two-piece maroon and tan floral voile dress and wore a corsage lifted from her bouquet. She was graduated from Burkburnett High School. The groom attended Iowa Park High School and was graduated from Aero Tech Institute at Wichita Falls.

Other out of town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Donley, Zephia, Treva and Mary Nell of Grandfield, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hicks of Godley, Mrs. Jack Henslerling, Sr. of Poteet, Mrs. Melvin Schupp and Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Miller and Diecy and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Miller, Jr., all of Charlotte, Texas.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Underwood's in Wichita Falls.

Those who will celebrate their birthdays in August are Eva Williams, Bertha Bradsher and Buddie McLemore.

Crochet flower demonstration set

Mrs. Seth Wehunt of Wichita Falls has volunteered her time to demonstrate how to make crocheted flowers at the Friendly Door August 10. Those interested in learning the art are requested to bring their crochet needles and baby yarn No. 3.

The blood pressure check will be held August 17 between 10 a.m. and 12 noon.

Volunteers for July at Friendly Door were Margaret Carter, Verona White, Loraine Jones, Willie Jones, Wanna Hunter and Pat

Bennett.

Kelly-Waldrop wedding nuptials recited Friday

MRS. SIDNEY RAY WALDROP

Miss Nancy Anne Kelley became the bride of Sidney Ray Waldrop in double-ring nuptials performed Friday evening in the Evangel Temple in Wichita Falls. The Rev. Jim Palmer, pastor of Floral Heights United Methodist Church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Doris Kelley and James Kelley of Wichita Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Lt. Col. (USMC Ret.) and Mrs. Ray Waldrop of Iowa Park.

The candlelight ceremony was read before a brass archway entwined with garlands of gypsophila flanked by tall white columns supporting arrangements of white gladioli, baby's breath and emerald fern. On either side of the flowers stood brass candle trees decked with baby's breath, each with twenty-eight uprising glowing tapers, and smaller columns holding urns of fern.

The bridal pathway was lighted by pew markers of tall hurricane lanterns tied with yellow daisies, poms and leather leaf.

A reading from "The Prophet", set to an original song written especially by Mark Hutchings for the bride to use at her wedding, was given by Joe Hoffman. Guitar and flute accompaniment was furnished by Mark Hutchings and Miss Penny Hutchings.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of candlelight silk chiffon featuring a bodice of reembodyered Alencon lace with a V neckline. The full bishop sleeves extended into soft ruffled cuffs held with wide bands of Alencon lace at the wrists. The full skirt swept into a chapel train.

The bride's tiered veil of candlelight illusion, made by her mother, cascaded the length of the train from a camelot cap of hand-clipped imported French Alencon lace highlighted with seed pearls. She carried a traditional teardrop bouquet of yellow roses centered with a cattleya orchid combined with stephanotis, baby's breath and English ivy.

Miss Gina Hutchings served the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Diana Russell and Miss Cindy Lee, and Miss Tracy Kelley of Lubbock was the junior bridesmaid. They wore floor length princess-style gowns graced with yellow chiffon chapel capes. They carried bouquets of yellow daisies, poms, baby's breath and leather leaf fern.

The frock worn by Miss Alterra Wilamon of Fort Worth, the flower girl, was a similar version of the attendants' gowns. She carried a basket of yellow daisies and baby's breath.

John Kelley of Lubbock carried the rings on a yellow satin pillow trimmed with lace and ribbons. He wore black trousers and a white jacket with ruffled shirt and a black tie.

Best man for the groom was Jimmy Murfield. Groomsman were Kevin Ketchersid, Kelly McCullough and Allen Forney. Ushering guests were Howard Lane and Wyatt Redden. The groom's formal attire was a brown tuxedo with chocolate velvet lapels and his attendants were dressed in pale yellow tuxedos.

The bride's parents gave the reception in the Clipper Room at Trade Winds Motor Hotel. The entertaining area was beautified with the bride's chosen colors and flowers.

The refreshment table was lighted by tall yellow tapers in silver candelabra which also held yellow daisies and poms.

The tall, columned, three-tiered wedding cake was elaborately decorated with yellow roses, tiny white doves and bells. The bride and groom cut the cake with his father's sword. A crystal punch service further appointed the table where Mrs. Aileen Hoffman, Mrs. Reba Hackney and Miss Lisa Aaron were reception assistants.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Jimmie Kelley and rice bags were distributed from silver trays.

The candlelight rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in the Daedalion Room of the Officers Club at Sheppard AFB.

The table where the betrothed couple sat was centered with a large arrangement of yellow silk daisies, baby's breath, greenery and tall yellow candles. Place cards for the guests were decorated with tiny gold bells.

The bridesmaids were entertained Thursday at a poolside party at the bride-elect's home where her colors were carried out in a casual theme.

Following the reception, the newlyweds departed for a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride traveling in a cream-colored three-piece pant suit complemented with an orchid corsage. They will be at home in Iowa Park.

A graduate of Rider High School where she was in VOE-OEA and ran track, the bride is employed by Radiology Associates of Wichita Falls. The groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School where he lettered in football three years and was an officer in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He is employed by Cryovac.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kelley of Vernon and Mrs. Lorene Sexton of Jacksboro, grandparents of the bride, Messrs. and Mrs. Richard Kelley of Lubbock, Billy Wilamon, Coy and Allan and Clyde Harrison, all of Fort Worth, Frank Sparks, Eldon Sparks and Dick Haskins, all of Davidson, Okla., Alvin Wright of Oklahoma City; Mrs. Reba Allen Hackney of Tyler, Miss Connie Redden and Ed Talamantes of San Antonio, and William R. Curtis of Amarillo.

Roy Smith to be speaker at alumni banquet

Roy B. Smith, a 1924 graduate of Iowa Park High School and a long-time teacher in the school system, will be the speaker for the annual Iowa Park High School Alumni banquet Sept. 23, according to an announcement by Harrel Sullivan, president of the organization, at a meeting Monday evening.

The president appointed chairmen of committees to be in charge of arrangements for the banquet and activities associated with the reunion. These included Mrs. Jim Medlinger, decorations; Allen Shewmake, food; Dewey Spruiell, parade entry; Bill Guthrie, registration at the football game Friday night; Eva Nell Cook refreshments; Josephine Patterson, invitations; Robert Wilcox, gifts for people who receive special recognition; Ruth Gard, tickets; Roberta Hill and Orvella Mayer, registration at the banquet; Olive Bialock, publicity; Danny Parkerson, entertainment.

The banquet will be served at the high school cafeteria and the cost will be $3.

Invitations will be mailed to out-of-town graduates and ex-students and early day graduates of Iowa Park High School who live in Iowa Park within the next few weeks, according to Mrs. Patterson.

The next meeting of the officers and committees chairmen will be held Sept. 5 to finalize plans.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

I thoroughly enjoyed my interview with Assistant Coach David Baugh and the research which resulted in the feature story in this week's edition about David's famed father, "Slingin' Sammy" Baugh.

It was one I had been looking toward for some 15 years, ever since I became aware of the outstanding defensive back on Texas Tech's Red Raider team was Sammy's son.

Baugh was long a hero of mine, even after my teenage years. He was one of the many reasons I was always proud to claim I was a Texan during my military days, among all those Yankees.

After I did the story, I was mentioning it over coffee with Leo Fields, former football coach now turned insurance agent. He came up with a story about Sammy I didn't remember.

First of all, you've got to understand that professional football rules haven't always been like we watch on the boob tube each Sunday afternoon. Quarterbacks haven't long had a rule which protects them from being hit by a big defensive lineman after throwing a pass or handing off to a running back.

Well, there was this one particular game when a particular lineman was out for Sammy's head, or arm, or leg, or body, or something. Anything to get him out of the game. He was killing them, as he most often did opposing teams.

Sammy, who was strong and wiry, but not big by any means, was having a tough time with the lineman. He was being chased all over the field, long after getting rid of the ball. And he had taken all he wanted.

So in the huddle, he told the offensive line in front of this particular lineman, to just let him come through. Don't touch him.

They did, and here came man mountain tackler, straight for slim Sam.

You've also got to understand that in those days, they didn't wear face guards.

And Slingin' Sammy, who could throw a football 60 yards or further, with accuracy, threw the ball ... three feet downfield ... striking the lineman's nose with a direct, head-on hit.

The lineman not only left the game, after they revived him, but didn't come back into the game. His nose was broken and eyes swollen shut.

He didn't mess with Slingin' Sammy Baugh anymore. And it served as a warning to play nice against the tough Texan, or you didn't play at all.

turned in 975 points, while the Brothers Stansbury, Jeff and Jerry, each have 675 points.

Participants earn 150 points for each new subscription sold, and 75 points for renewals. A bonus of 400 points is awarded for every 10 subscriptions sold.

Salespersons are issued point certificates, with which they can make purchases at Parkway TrueValue Hardware and Furniture.

But what each is really aiming for is a beautiful stereo set, which will be awarded to the salesperson with the most points at the end of the campaign. The runner up will receive a black and white Magnavox portable television set.

Participants are to pick up subscription blanks at the Leader office, 112 West Cash. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, except during the noon hour.

"It's gratifying to see these youngsters going from door to door selling subscriptions," commented Publisher Bob Hamilton. "There aren't many things kids under 16 years of age can do to earn what they want, with government restrictions. They need something to do in the summer to keep busy, and we think this will fit the bill."

When to cut alfalfa: seed or hay?

By DON D. DECKER
County Agent

Seed or hay - this was a decision Allen Kemple of Electra considered recently on his eight acres of alfalfa located north of Electra. When his crop was about 10 percent bloom, he was trying to decide whether to cut it for hay or leave it for a seed crop.

Emory Boring, Extension entomologist, and I examined the crop and decided it would probably make nearly 200 pounds of seed with employing the use of bees.

By using bees as a pollinator, he could double the yield to 400 pounds of seed per acre. At the current prices of alfalfa seed, Kemple decided seed harvest would be more profitable.

We recommended bee hives be placed on the field at the rate of two hives per acre. This would amount to sixteen hives for the entire field. Boring demonstrated to us on a flower why bees are so important to seed production. When the bee lands, it triggers the male part of the flower to spring out of its enclosure.

The green and dry seed can be harvested directly from the stalk. This requires drying in order to retain seed quality. Kemple is equipped to turn or dry the seed after harvest.

Two bandmen attend camp

Two Iowa Park students have returned home after attending the West Texas State University Music Camp at Canyon. Tim Adeock and Denny Anderson were among 1,200 students participating in the two-week session. Both students participated in percussion sectionals, advanced theory, choir, and band rehearsals. The final concert was presented on Friday.

Cook of the Week

Texas cooking has been liberally influenced by the cooking of many lands and Mexico ranks among the top influences. Mrs. Danny Skinner says that Mexican foods are her family's favorites, which is definitely reflected in her recipes for this week, even the sauce and dip recipes.

The world famous chef, Escoffier, said "Devote yourself to your sauce". Sauces for meat and game were such an important part of medieval feasts that every palace and wealthy home had a "sauceur" whose sole business it was to preside over that part of the menu.

Modern chefs classify sauces as pick-ups because they do indeed emphasize flavor, provide contrast and literally lift a dish up. They do not need to be complicated and tricky; they can be mild, hot, sweet, sour, and with a little imagination one can concoct a lot of great things to glorify fish, poultry, vegetables and desserts.

Frances Gibbs Skinner was graduated from Iowa Park High School and Bethania Hospital's School of Nursing for licensed vocational nurses. She has worked at Wood Convalescent Center for seven years. She is a member of First Christian Church, Order of Eastern Star Lodge and Volunteer Firemen's Ladies Auxiliary.

Her hobbies are bowling and crocheting. She is currently crocheting a variety of things including hats, gloves, scarves, toys, etc. for sale for Christmas gifts.

Frances and Danny Skinner, who is a civilian engineer at Sheppard AFB, have one son, Lewis, five years of age.

"Try 78° this summer. You'll save on your electric bill."

"For saving money on energy bills this summer, Texas Electric recommends a temperature setting of no lower than 78°. This may be higher than you're used to. But when it's 90° or more outside, you'll find that 78° is pretty comfortable after all.

There are a lot of other ways you can help cut down on the amount of electricity you use this summer. For our free tips booklet on ways to lower your bill, call Texas Electric, or request the booklet on the comment section of your electric bill.

And give 78° a try. We think you'll find it comfortable, and you'll sure notice the difference on your electric bill!"

Tennis tournament registration opens

Registration deadline for entering the Iowa Park Tennis Association's second summer tennis tournament is Aug. 9. Play will begin the 14th and continue through the 20th.

Each day of tournament play will begin at 6 p.m. Finals on the last day are to start at 1 p.m., with both the junior high and high school courts to be used.

Contestants can obtain entry forms from Phil Corless, 906 Cornelia, or by telephoning him at 592-2016.

Divisions planned include men's open, A & B; women's open, A, B & C; men's 35 and older singles and doubles; women's doubles; 18 and older boys and girls singles and mixed doubles, A & B.

A special division will be held for boys and girls 10 and under, 12 and under, 14 and under, in both singles and doubles. Play will be open to any boy or girl and they need not be a member of the association to play. Entry fee for singles is $3 and $6 for doubles.

Entry fees for all other events are $3.50 for singles and $6 for doubles, and must be paid by the last day of registration, either by mail or delivered to Walter Fowler, 1601 Yucca.

IPTA ACTIVITIES

Plans were made at the July meeting to participate in the Whoop-Do activities in September.

Tennis night play is scheduled each Tuesday and Thursday, starting at 6 p.m. Tennis night is for all players, regardless of membership.

Final preparations are being made to install lights at the high school courts. Help is needed to move the light poles for final painting and preparation for installation. Painting and moving of poles will be done Aug. 19, according to Corless.

Shoes, socks issuing set

All high school football players are to pick up their shoes and socks Wednesday, in preparation for two-a-day workouts slated to start Aug. 14, according to Head Hawk Tommy Watkins.

Varsity, junior varsity and freshman team candidates will begin workouts the 14th, observing 8:45 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. session starts. Players must have their physicals taken and ready to turn in before they can participate in a workout, Watkins said.

Junior high players will start working out the first day of school, Aug. 28.

Swim lessons to be offered

Swimming lessons will be given at the Bicentennial Swimming Pool starting Monday for two weeks between 11-12 a.m. Price will be $7.50 for pool fee.

Cathy Baston and Kathy Johnson will be the instructors.

Win tournament

Lou Ann Corless and Toni King teamed up to win the Wichita Falls City Tennis Tournament doubles title. They won the finals match 6-3, 6-2 in the 16 and under doubles competition.

NEW ASSISTANT COACH

Son of Sam (Baugh)

One of the new assistant football coaches at Iowa Park High has a name that rings a bell to anyone who has ever followed football very long: Baugh.

David Baugh is the son of "Slingin' Sammy" Baugh. Though his father is one of the most famous football players of all time, he says he's never felt pressure of having to live up to the name.

But it would be easy for the pressure to be there. After all, how many fathers are in the Football Hall of Fame; named the All Time All-America quarterback by the Football Writers Association of America; member of the Southwest Conference All Stars of the Half Century; All-Time All-Pro Team of the Southwest Conference, and no telling what else?

When David speaks of his father, one assumes the former great is a quiet man who has held the respect of his five children all their lives.

Sam is now semi-retired on his ranch near Rotan. He's playing golf at Sweetwater or Hamlin regularly. But he continues to be active in his ranching business, owning several sections of ranch land and leasing more.

The elder Baugh is a firm believer of the free enterprise system, according to David. What he wants most now is to be known as a good cattleman.

Oddly enough, Samuel Adrian Baugh didn't impress many people with his football playing at Sweetwater High. In fact, it was an assistant football coach at TCU, named Matty Bell, who's eye was attracted to the lanky high school youngster when the two played a semi-pro baseball game against each other in Abilene.

Bell didn't have scholarship aid to offer Baugh to play baseball for the Horn Frogs, so he started trying to convince his boss of the youth's "great coordination and wonderful agility and I said he looked like he could be a fine athlete for us."

Money was hard to come by, back in 1933. But the offer was finally made, for Baugh to attend TCU on a combination baseball, basketball and football scholarship. But he did a double switch.

He decided to attend the Univ. of Texas where he felt they had a stronger baseball program directed by Uncle Billy Disch. "I went down to Austin before school started," Sam recalled. "I stayed for two days. My scholarship at Texas was strictly for baseball. I couldn't play football."

Quoted in the 1969 edition of Texas Football magazine, Baugh continued "But I watched the football team work out and got the yearning to play. Uncle Billy had told me when I wanted to play football that he'd put me on a bus and send me to TCU. So I told him how I felt. He said, 'All right, took me down to the station, bought me a ticket and I went to TCU.'"

Texas lost a promising third baseman. And more.

While playing at the Fort Worth school, TCU pretty well ruled college football. But oddly enough, Baugh never played on a Southwest Conference championship team. He did do his college swan song in the Cotton Bowl in 1938, however. The Cotton Bowl was not tied up with the SWC until 1941, so his final collegiate victory was a win over Marquette in the big Dallas stadium.

"As much as any man, Baugh put Southwest Conference football into the big time," stated Roy Edwards in an article a few years ago.

INTO PROFESSIONALS

Slingin' Sammy turned professional after graduation from TCU. But unknown to many and forgotten by most others, he was a professional his first two years out of college in both football and baseball.

Prior to entering the football season with the Washington Redskins, his summers were with the Cardinal baseball team. And that was during the old "Gashouse Gang" days, when the Cards were wrecking everyone's records. But he turned strictly to football.

Probably Mel Hein, the great all-time center of the Giants, summed Baugh's professional career the best when he said: "Sam Baugh is the greatest all-around football player who ever lived. He ran, he passed, he was a quick-kick artist, he was a sure tackler in the secondary and one year, he led the league in interceptions."

Baugh spent 16 seasons with Washington. If he wasn't a leathery tightlip, he could drive you dizzy with records. He was the greatest punter of all time. One season he averaged more than 51 yards, and that was with the old blunt-nosed ball and without the bouncing surface of artificial grass of today. As a safety, he intercepted four passes in one game. He still holds eight major passing records. One season he completed 70 percent of his passes. One day, he hit 85.7 percent.

Both David and Watkins have confirmed that even after retirement Baugh could punt with the same accuracy he passed. He could send the ball downfield off his foot to a receiver 50 yards away, and the ball never rose more than six feet above the field's surface.

Following his retirement from playing, Sam went to Hardin-Simmons Univ. at Abilene as an assistant, later becoming head coach there. He then joined the New York Titans (now the Jets), was head coach of the Houston Oilers, then assisted Bobby Dodd at Tulsa Univ.; spent a couple years at Oklahoma State, and a year with the Detroit Lions, before returning home to stay.

For a few more years, he accepted speaking invitations all over the country, but has cut those out now.

EARLY IMPRESSION

As early as when he was eight, David remembers visiting his father in Washington during the season. He was allowed to catch the balls during field goal kicking practice.

Being around his professional father, and all athletes, led David to know what he wanted from college long before he attended. He wanted to coach.

Though Sam was among the greatest, and a professional coach, he was never able to help David develop his game. He never saw David play a down of high school or college football. His work was at the same time young David was playing, so he was never home during those months.

Sam did teach David the principals and techniques of kicking the ball, however, and David uses that to good advantage in his own coaching career in developing punters.

David played four years under his present boss. Watkins was an assistant coach at Rotan his freshman and sophomore years, taking over the head position after that. He started a few games at Rotan his freshman year, but was a regular at running back after that.

One of those games he started as a freshman was at quarterback, the week his older brother, Todd, was sidelined with an injury. He was kept at running back, however, because Todd was ahead of him, and his successor was Steve Herron. Both were all-state.

Todd went on to play football at Rice, and is now a practicing attorney at Billings, Montana. David's two younger brothers are Bruce, who attended A&M, North Texas and Texas U., is working in the welfare department in Austin; and Stephen, a Tech graduate, employed with an oil company in Midland.

COACH DAVID BAUGH
...points to famous father

Their only sister, Francis, is also a Tech grad, and is coaching in a Lubbock junior high school.

David dated his wife, Jean, through most of high school, and they were married his freshman year at Texas Tech. They have two sons, Brian, 15, a sophomore, and Brent, 13, in the eighth grade. They also have a two-year-old daughter, Kari.

There was a period when he wondered if he should be playing football. In the final high school game he was injured severely enough to require surgery to his knee. Then, on the opening kickoff of his first college game, his collar bone was broken.

But he stayed through four great years at Lubbock. And he was in good company, playing with the likes of Tom Wilson, quarterback who later was offensive coach of the Red Raiders, and Donny Anderson, later of professional fame.

Baugh was named to the Dallas Morning News' All Conference team.

He played in three post season bowl games: the Sun Bowl in 1964; Gater Bowl in 1965; and North-South Shrine Bowl, 1966.

David was never a large athlete. He weighed 165 in high school and stayed around 185 in college. He still carries his weight in the neighborhood of 180.

Following graduation he served as assistant coach at Lubbock Monterey, Levelland High, Ralls, and then joined Watkins at Andrews when he was setting up his new staff in 1972.

When asked if his father had set up his ranching operation with his player's salary, David laughed. "You wouldn't believe what they were payed in those days," he responded.

Sam once told him he felt guilty when he signed a contract to play an entire season for $8,000. He felt guilty because the next highest contract was held by the team's leading rusher, for $2,000.

But like father, like son. The Baughs have always been linked with winning teams. And that's what David's working for here ... to help Coach Watkins produce another winning tradition with the Iowa Park Hawks.

Burglars hit store's safe

For unknown reasons burglars abandoned their efforts last Thursday night to crack the safe at Holliday Foodworld.

Burglars gained entry to the supermarket by forcing open a back door.

The intruders rolled the safe which is on wheels to the back porch of the store, but apparently were scared away from the scene before they were able to burglarize the cash contents.

City agenda said heavy

Mayor Ben Ezzell expects the Holliday City Council to face a heavy agenda when it convenes in regular session at 7 p.m. Monday.

Tom Hall is scheduled to confront the council concerning windshield sticker permits for use of the municipal dump ground, and Hershel McDaniel is expected to discuss the Boys Club. Water service to a new home being built by Jack Ayres east of Holliday also is on the agenda for Monday night's council meeting.

Although they had not been formally placed on the agenda yesterday, there is a possibility the council also will be asked to discuss restructuring the municipal court system here and annexation of land into the city limits.
