School trustees hire personnel

School trustees Tuesday evening hired a new choir director and five other personnel, including one Iowa Park High graduate.

Janet Walker was named to replace Darrell Dick as head of both the high school and junior high choral departments. A spring graduate of Texas Christian Univ. and product of Sunray High School, this will be her first teaching position.

She succeeds Dick, long-time director who made the local program one of the best-known in North Central Texas, who resigned recently to accept a similar position at Duncanville.

Jerry Gholson was hired as a Vocational Agriculture instructor, replacing Richard Davis. Gholson, a 1973 Iowa Park High graduate, took his degree in agriculture at Tarleton

State Univ. and has taught at Lamar. Davis was recently reassigned to a newly-created position in the school system, where he will assist students in obtaining employment both during and after their schooling.

Jimmy Howell was named head of the Vocational Agriculture department. The third instructor is Dennis Brooks. Trustees increased Howell's annual salary $300.

Other personnel hired Tuesday were Patricia Chapman, Valley View music teacher; Karlene Eastman, Kidwell and Bradford music teacher; Sandra Mitchell, speech and history at high school; and Steve Parr, Valley View physical education and coach of freshman sports at high school. The board opened bids for bread, milk and ice cream to be used this year in the cafeterias. Low bids were accepted from American Bakery for breads, Preston Dairy for milk and Carnation Co. for ice cream.

Bill Steger, conveying a proposal from the Evening Lions Club, told trustees the civic organization was interested in assuming ownership of five lots east of the Masonic Lodge, on which they want to build a civic building, if various governments will forgive all past taxes, penalty and interests assessed against them.

Governments involved include the school, city, county, and state. Land involved would require considerable improvement before it could be used, Steger explained, which is the reason it has not been used and has so much back tax against it.

Trustees said they would agree to forgive what is owed against the property if other governments would, in order to get the property back on the rolls. They agreed such a structure would be an asset to the community.

The Lions Club is proposing to build a 1,600 square foot structure which could be used by all civic organizations for their meetings.

Trustees also signed the annuallyrequired agreement with the federal government to provide free and reduced lunches and breakfasts to those students who are financially eligible. Steger, responding to a trustee's question, said approximately 190 students receive free lunches and 90 reduced price meals.

During a session on amending the school policies, trustees approved a policy which provides for the school to pay a $500 reward to any person providing information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons involved in any acts of vandalism on school property.

Arnold hotly pursued for Leader sales leadership

A real race is developing in the Iowa Park Leader subscription sale campaign.

With two more weeks remaining in the event, Doug Arnold is leading with 6,375 points. He is being pressed by Kelli Moore, 4.800 and James Ridlehuber, 4,650. The pack gets real close among the next three: John Burns 2,575; Mrs. Clayton Ellis 2,425; and Vickie Lewis 2,350.

Still well in the race are: Sharon Baston 1,900; Jerry Stansbury 1,050; Jeff Stansbury and Jeff Brookshire, each with 675.

Other salespersons not yet reporting include Donnie and David Dietrichson, Sissy Harbuck, Carolyn Sidlauskas and Wayne Watson.

What they're competing for is the grand prize of a stereo set which features an AM/FM radio, threespeed turn table and a tape player which accepts both 8-track and cassette tapes.

Second prize is a portable black and white Magnavox television set.

Each contestant receives points for each subscription sold, 150 for a new sub and 75 for a renewal. Points are worth a penny each, and can be redeemed at Parkway TrueValue Hardware and Furniture. A selection of special items has been chosen which can be redeemed, each worth much more than redemption points.

The contest is now entering its third week, and will continue until 4 p.m. Aug. 25. Winners will be announced in the Aug. 31 issue.

Contestants are to report their sales each Friday, so tabulations can be reported in the following issue of the Leader.

Bates-Hill nuptials read in First Baptist Church

When all wedding guests had been seated, the ushers spread white silk roping across the pews near the aisles, then lifted it for guests to leave the sanctuary after the service.

The high caliber music for the wedding contributed to making the occasion a memorable one.

Roger Keyes of Marlin, an accomplished organist, presented a concert of compositions by Bach, Schumann and Liszt as guests assembled for the wedding. He provided accompaniment for selections by the soloists, heralded the approach of the wedding party with "Prelude in Classic Style" by Gordon Young and backgrounded their departure from the church with "Toccata" by Widor.

Mrs. Glenn Schell provided piano accompaniment.

Miss Jennifer Bernstein, the dimunitive flower girl, dressed in a frock similar to the gowns worn by the bride's attendants, scattered sonja rose petals from a dainty basket in the path of the bride as she walked to the altar on the arm of her father, who presented her for marriage for both parents. He then joined Mrs. Bates who was standing and heard the bridegroom thank them for giving their lovely daughter to him.

Tradition and beauty were artfully interwoven in the Victorian-style candlelight slipper satin and Chantilly lace gown worn by the bride. It was first worn by her mother at her wedding and then her sister chose it for her wedding.

bodice with a square neckline and a full skirt that extended into a very formal train. Ornamentation was elaborate designs of layered satin petal points accented with appliques of reembroidered lace showered with iridescent pearls. The trim extended over the shoulders and dipped to a point at the front midriff, and the same ornamentation drew attention to the front of the skirt above floor level.

The long sleeves terminating in points at the wrists were trimmed with pearls and lace and closed with self-covered buttons and loops. She wore slippers her dress.

The bride wore a ers, Vern Horsky and Glenn cathedral illusion veil of four tiers flowing from a Juliet cap of lace sculptured with pearls. She carried a formal bouquet fashioned of creamcolored roses, stephanotis and gypsophila with streamers scattered with pearls reaching those on the skirt of the gown.

Out of sentiment, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown for "something old", the penny that her sister wore in her wedding slipper for "something borrowed", pearl ear rings, a gift from the groom, for "something new" and the garter accessory liked above all others by brides for "something blue."

A matron of honor and three bridesmaids presented a charming picture in their peach-colored five o'clock crepe gowns accented with chiffon capes dipping to the waists in the back. Mrs. Hill was attired in a green chiffon gown belted with iridescents, topped with a matching cape. She wore a wristlet of green orchids.

The groom and masculine participants in the wedding wore cream-colored tuxedos with ruffled shirts, the groom's suit was distinguished with tails.

Jimmy Hill of Denton, brother of the groom, served as best man. Taking part as groomsmen were Jim Lovell of Dumas, Adron Ming of Dallas and Ken Hurst of Waco. Guests were ushered and seated by William Arthur Jones of Lewisville, Kenneth Bennett of Waco and Tim Son of Houston.

picture of sophisticated beauty. Draped with candlelight peau de soie, it was overlaid with antique lace caught up in swags centered with long lengths of pearls and gypsophilia.

The centerpiece was the four-tiered cake, an ethereal structure iced and decorated in peaches and cream. The confection set on four Grecian columns above a spraying fountain surrounded by china cherubs and greenery. Each tier was divided with filigree columns and lavishly trimmed with gum paste stephanotis, forget-me-nots and roses accented with pearls and tiny white doves. The luxurious finishing touch for the cake was a nosegay of gum paste flowers on the top tier.

Tall four-branched candelabra holding peach candles and cascades of sonja roses, baby's breath and peach gladioli flanked the cake. Colored mints, silver punch bowl, and dainty bridal napkins were other table decorations.

The groom's table laid with candlelight lace was centered with a four-branched silver candelabrum which held peach tapers and a bowl of cascading fresh fruit. The table held an assortment of sliced cheeses, fruits, nuts and sausage bread, and a silver punch bowl.

Coffee was served from a silver service at a separate table covered with candlelight lace.

Reception assistants were Misses Kris Lindenberger and Becky Meredith of Irving, Leigh Ann Dorsey of Waxahachie; Mmes. Johnny Bernstein and Clifford Bridwell. Houseparty members were Mmes. Joe Singer, Donald Hill, George Taylor, Glenn Schell, Keith Aulds and Vern Horsky.

Misses Christi Anderson of Lewisville and Kim Thompson of Dallas assumed duties of handing out rice bags that emphasized the bride's chosen colors from baskets decorated in the same theme.

The groom's mother was hostess for the rehearsal Downtown in Wichita Falls Friday evening. The engaged couple used the occasion to present their attendants with gifts.

The bride and groom kept their honeymoon destination a secret until they had left town. Her parents found a sealed envelope at home telling them that they were enroute to Orlanda, Fla. She traveled in a mint green pant suit complemented with a cream colored blouse and corsage of roses. They will live in Waco.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Baylor University this spring with B.M.E. degrees and are currently graduate assistants as they work toward masters degrees. Both belonged to the Wind Ensemble, University Orchestra and Waco Symphony Orchestra. She was named Most Outstanding Bandwoman of 1978 and was a member of Mu Phi Epsilon. Brott-Franks nuptials recited Saturday evening

At the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Fay D. Brott, a host of relatives and friends assembled at the First Christian Church Saturday evening to share in the marriage of their daughter, Kathryn Fay, to Charles Gordon Franks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Franks, Dr. Travis White of Wichita Falls directed the couple in the recitation of their double-ring nuptials.

Guests arriving at the church were presented programs of the wedding ceremony by Lewis Skinner, cousin of the bride. They entered the sanctuary to enjoy prenuptial music furnished by Kerry Johnston, organist, and Norman Flowers, vocalist.

The organist played a medley of selections by Herbert, Schumann, Wagner and Mendelssohn. He accompanied the vocalist for his selections, "What A Difference You've Made in My Life", "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer". the last one sung during the lighting of the unity candle by the couple to symbolize their marriage, both in a physical and far-reaching

The beauty of candlelight was the favoring factor in decorations arranged for the wedding ceremony performed in a setting lighted by candles exclusively.

A gold arch with gates covered in flowering huckleberry foliage dotted with white nasturtiums and poms centered the altar space. Cathedral candles stood tall in seven-branched white wrought-iron candelabra in the side background. A white wrought-iron prayer bench swathed with gypsophila and huckleberry foliage occupied a significant place in the setting and candles burning in spiral candelabra at the extremities of the space provided further illumination.

The outer altar was equally impressive in the decorative scheme with two white sunburst arrangements of white gladioli supported by tall white columns, heart-shaped votiwe candelabra and the unity candlestick completely covered with gypsophila accented with white wedding bells. Aisle pews were marked by white tapers encased in crystal globes uplifted by candlesticks

When the bride's father presented her in marriage for both parents, she wore a dainty formal gown of Chantilly lace. The natural waist bodice featured a Queen Anne neckline accented with ruffled accordion pleated lace showered with seed pearls, the trim repeated on the long fitted especially picturesque with panels featuring tiers of lace ruffles at the sides and in the back where they flowed into a cathedral train.

She chose a waltz length veil of bridal illusion that was caught to a cap of pearled lace. The bride carried a very formal cascade of carnations and complemented her costume with the sentimental accessories. These were the lace-edged handkerchief that her mother carried in her wedding for "something old," a gold cross set with a diamond, the "something borrowed" from Mrs. Adell Love of Ringgold, La., the all-time favorite touch of "blue, and the penny that her mother wore in her shoe at her wedding.'

Mrs. Danny Griffith of Ringgold, La., took part in the wedding as matron of honor. She wore a long lime sleeves. The skirt was green crepe gown imprinted with blue roses. The distinguishing features of the Empire waist were the low neckline and sleeves trimmed with matching sheer ruffles, and the waistline encircled with white lace threaded with narrow satin green ribbon. She wore a lime green ruffled bridal picture hat gypsophila and further banded with the sheer material in her dress that tied in a bow in the back. She carried a nosegay of blue and green carnations

> Miss Darla Brott of Garland wore a miniature version of the attendants' gowns and carried a blue basket filled with blue and green carnations as she fulfilled her role as flower girl in the wedding.

Wearing a white jacket trimmed in black and black trousers, Juddy Brott of Garland carried the rings on a heart-shaped lace-trimmed satin pillow.

The bridegroom wore a white tuxedo with tails. His attendants wore medium blue tuxedos with blue shirts trimmed in black lace.

Best man was Mike Nipper. Groomsmen were Gerald Franks Jr. and Kenneth Franks of Houston, brothers of the groom. Ushers were David Brott of Dallas, brother of the bride, and Kenny Kieren of Wichita Falls. Candlelighters were Keith Edwards and Mickey Miser.

Miss Darlene Mahler presided at the registry table laid with blue net over blue sheer polyester. The appointments were a tall white memory candle ringed with white silk flowers and leaves, filigree wedding bells and ribbons, the bride's book and white feather pen.

The bride's table was also draped to the floor with a specially designed blue net doth over polyester chiffon. The attractive centerpiece was an eight-branched white wrought - iron candelabra holding tall blue tapers uprising from a base of blue and white carnations, poms service and lovely bride's Behind the birds was a filigree heart framed with blue net and centered with silver wedding bells.

The crystal toasting glasses of the bride and groom and the bridal napkins were engraved with their names. Mrs. Dewey Conley and Mrs. Danny Skinner served at the bride's table.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor;

I am writing this letter in hopes it will make our school year a safer one for everyone.

School starts the end of this month and this means that the ever present danger for smaller children as well as motorists will be increased greatly.

Little children have a tendency to cross streets to and from school much like a flock of geese that crosses a road, when this happens they place themselves in a dangerous situation.

This danger comes from the number of vehicles that will be driven in the area and on the school grounds. We can make this a little safer for the smaller ones by doing three things. It may not necessarily stop any accidents from happening but it will cut down on the chances for them happening.

1. It has been learned that there are a number of vehicles being driven to school by unlicensed drivers; this is a violation of the Texas State

Air rifles take toll

Vandals armed with air rifles have taken their toll on Iowa Park residents and businesses this week.

Reports of criminal mischief with air guns that began surfacing last Saturday continued to be called into the police department as late as yesterday morning.

Among the incidents reported was the shooting of the windshield of a city trash truck parked at the city barn at 104 W. Texas.

Mrs. Florence Bowman of 414 Yosemite reported someone shot a storm door of her home, and a shot in the glass front window at Paul's Stop and Shop on Cash set off the store's burglar alarms Saturday night.

In all cases a pellet or BB gun was the apparent weapon used.

On Friday Billy Stewart of 605 E. Alameda told police someone had stolen two hubcaps from his parked vehicle.

To enforce this law there will be periodic checks for drivers license at the school on Highway 268 that runs in front of the school.

The small children walking to and from the school have no way to defend themselves against a moving vehicle bearing down on them, its up to us to make it as safe as possible for them, accidents will happen we cannot prevent them or stop them from happening but we can deter the causes by abiding by the laws and cut down on them. This takes every ones help, please make it as safe for them as can possibly be done. Thanks for them and the parents of the small

/s/ LARRY ZIMBELMAN Holliday Police Department As I See It....

Though the cable television referendum in Wichita Falls has absolutely nothing to do with Iowa Park, I felt one of the scare-tactic points brought out in an advertisement should be explained to local readers.

It has to do with a cable "leaking" and interfering with a neighbor's television who might not be on cable.

An ad in the Wichita Falls paper pointed out very strongly that it could, and probably would, happen. Two so-called experts living in Wichita Falls were the source of information, though doubtlessly neither had never worked for a cable company, nor in a town were cable tv was used.

It can't happen, according to Lynn Mullins, a representative of CATV Systems, which has received a franchise to serve Iowa Park, Burkburnett, and is currently installing or operating systems in neighboring Henrietta, Electra and Vernon.

Mullins was guest speaker Tuesday at the Noon Lions Club meeting. Though he was aware the franchise issue was being bitterly opposed in Wichita Falls, he was not familiar with opposition points being bought out, and fielded questions from his audience.

About the "bleeding" or radiation leak from a cable, he said the cable industry is heavily regulated by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), and standards of equipment would make it virtually impossible. If a leak or bleed should occur, the entire system would be shut down, once reported to the FCC, until it was corrected. All equipment must meet radiation leaking tests.

Additionally, the on-air channels, like 3, 6 and 7 we receive, are converted to other channels for the purpose of the cable system, and are not even on those channels when it arrives in the home by cable.

Mullins said he had lived in two different cities where cable systems were installed, and he had never heard of anything like bleeding. His comment was supported recently by several letters to the editor in the Times and Record News.

Asked who would be the major opponents to cable tv, Mullins commented that television stations who are affiliates with national networks normally dislike cable systems the most. This came as no surprise, and only confirmed my suspicions.

Mullins said his company expects at least 1,000 customers in Iowa Park. They have 603 subscribers in Electra, which exceeded their initial expecta-

CATV is to commence construction here in October, with a February completion date. They expect four or possibly more employees to be officed here, with an investment over $200,000.

I had no intention of commenting on the Wichita Falls situation, because it has nothing to do with our community. But since the big battle over there has raised so many questions, I felt they should be answered.

I can't leave the subject without wondering: will the Wichita Falls city council have to put up every franchise sought in that community before the people in a referendum from now on?

Politics in our neighboring community is a sad state of affairs.

Students may pick up their annual from 1-4 p.m. today at the school cafeteria, said Tommye Lofland, HHS student publications advisor.

City changes court, policies

Holliday City Council voted Monday night to restructure its municipal court system and ordered a ban on the use of city equipment and personnel on private property.

In a memorandum to city council members, Mayor Ben Ezzell proposed the changes in municipal court procedures "to help it operate more effectively and efficiently."

The two major changes in the municipal court system were the adoption of a uniform bond charge for various offenses and the establishment of 9:30 a.m. Tuesday for contested court cases to be heard each week at Holliday City Hall.

The mayor's proposal, which was accepted by councilmen, said, "The city secretary be allowed to receive bonds and fines in the absence of the city judge. These bonds and fines will be in accordance with the schedule set by the city council.

"In all citations not covered by the schedule, the judge will have to be present.

"Any person or party desiring a hearing on any complaint or citation will make the appropriate bond or bonds and a hearing date will be set on a regular scheduled court date, not to exceed a 14-day waiting period," Ezzell said.

Under the new system, a person receiving a citation will be required to post bond equivalent to the standard fine for the alleged offense within 10 days of when the citation was written.

If the accused person does not contest the case, he will simply forfeit the bond.

If the accused person wishes to fight the charge he can appear in municipal court on the Tuesday docket assigned.

Required to be present at the hearing will be City Judge Tom Hall, Police Officer Larry Zimbelman, City Sec. Evon Carter, the defendant and any other complaining party that might be involved.

Following the hearing, it will remain the judge's decision to find the accused person guilty or innocent. The judge will maintain his authority to set fines or dismiss cases.

Although it was not on the agenda, councilmen voted Monday night to adopt a policy banning the use of city personnel and city equipment on private property for private use without the consent of the Councilman Mike Parker made the successful motion on the new policy, reportedly instigated when city crews this week began hauling dirt to repair the driveway of a Holliday resident.

In other action Monday night the council endorsed a proposal to form a new Boys Club here.

Hershel McDaniel, president of Holliday Lions Club, made the presentation, explaining the civic group was helping organize the facility.

McDaniel said Holli-Tex Supply has loaned the use of an old cafe between it and Bob's Grocery to house the Boys Club. "It's going to be a while before we get it all working ... What we want to do is reach all youths who want to play some type of sport,"

McDaniel said. He asked the city to repair the alley for off-street parking and furnish the building with water, sewer and trash collection. Mc-Daniel said the effort was facing financial difficulties.

"I think it's a worthwhile cause," the mayor said, adding he could secure a $100 donation to get the organization off the ground. He did not disclose the source of the donation.

"I think it would be a good deal if it would help some of the youths," said Councilman Melvin Bills.

McDaniel said a board of directors had been chosen to begin work toward chartering the new facility.

Councilmen also discussed problems at the city dump, problems attendant Tom Hall described as persons not displaying permit stickers on their vehicle windshields and problems with out-of-town commercial trash haulers paying low rates.

Ezzell assigned aldermen Bills and Jim Virdell to work with him on a committee to study the problems, along with garbage collection rates for businesses.

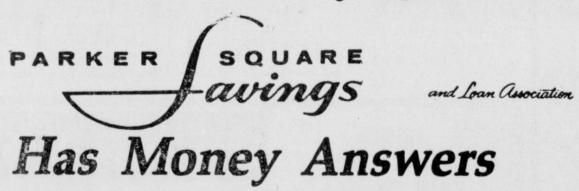

Councilmen approved the extension of a two-inch water line to service a new home built by Jack Ayres on FM 1954.

Miller-Lowder marriage ceremony held Wednesday and Reggie Lee Lowder were united in marriage Wednesday evening in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Joe Miller, in Wichita Falls.

The Rev. Dr. William R. Young, Sheppard AFB, was the officiant for the seven thirty o'clock ceremony. Vows were exchanged in a candlelight setting before the fireplace where spiral candelabra held the burning tapers. The hearth was marked with redwood planters filled with dracaena plants and the mantel held two small brass candelabra and antiques.

Music was provided by Mrs. Dink Dyer, organist, who played "You Light Up My Life", "Love Story" and "Colour My World". When presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a reembroidered Chantilly lace gown with accents of satin organza. Designed to be especially smart for a home wedding, the bodice detail emphasized a sabrina neckline that deepened to a scoop in the back, a two-layer ruffled collar of scalloped edged lace over a satin organza flare.

The natural waist was enhanced with a wide satin organza belt that ended in a bow with long streamers at the center back. The long unlined lace sleeves were caught with layered ruffles over the hands. The full A-line skirt claimed attention with a white satin hemline flounce headed with scalloped lace that drifted into a brush train.

The bride's elbow veil of illusion was held by a camelot cap of matching lace encrusted with pearls. She carried a teardrop bouquet consisting of white orchids, carnations, baby's breath and greenery.

Mrs. Casey Humphrey of Fort Worth served as matron of honor for her sister. She was attired in a rosebuds on a long stem. Charles Lowder of Holliday, brother of the groom, was his best man.

Miss Melissa Rhea Miller long cotton dress in navy and rust hues and carried three light orange silk

Now on a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev., the couple will live at 3404 West Campus Drive in Wichita Falls when they return. For her going away costume, the bride wore a beige knit street length dress designed with a cotton yoke featuring natural and brown tones.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Holliday High School. He received a BBA degree in accounting from Midwestern State University and she is a junior at the university.

Parents of the bride were

which held the bride's cake

The bride's three-tiered white cake was decorated in floral frosting flowers depicting shades of orange, yellow and blue. Three white satin wedding bells rimmed with seed pearls formed the complimentary top ornament for the lovely cake. Trays of assorted meats, cold cuts, a variety of dips and hors d' ouevres were served buffet style during the reception.

Hamburger is the answer to "What kind of meat will we eat today?" in many households throughout America because it can be made up into a variety of most delectable dishes if only a dash of imagination is used. Mushrooms and mushroom soup are two of the ingredients most frequently used in preparation of hamburger dishes.

Mushrooms have been popular with civilizations for many centuries. They were so important to the Romans two thousand years ago that they had a special pan for cooking them. They called mushrooms "bolet" and the cooking vessels were called Kickoff date for the annual United Way campaign is Sept. 20 with this year's goal again over the million dollar mark - at announced soon, Clymer $1,235,560.

According to campaign chairman Ray Clymer, the goal is an 11 percent increase over the $1,113,120 raised last year based on "an inflation adjustment of seven percent, a projected area population increase of 11/2 percent, and 21/2 percent planned for new and expanded agency services plus programming to meet unmet needs.

Seven businesses that served as pacesetters during last year's campaign were recognized by 1977 campaign chairman Dick Waggoner at a Tuesday morning meeting in the Texas Electric Reddy room in Wichita Falls.

"The work of these seven businesses provided a big push toward raising last year's goal," Waggoner said. Surgikos, Siemens - Allis, Levi - Strauss, Whites, Dillards, Lone Star Tool and PPG were worked in advance of the official campaign to "set the pace" for the remainder of the six-week-long drive.
