Aldermen agree on spending, but disagree on tax repeal

The city council unanimously approved the first step toward purchasing an expensive piece of equipment, but was not so unified when members gave up a source of income for the city treasury.

Aldermen were in complete agreement about the need of a new bulldozer for the sanitary landfill. But there was some disagreement when it came time to vote on repeal of the sales tax on utilities.

City Administrator Gene Britton, Mayor Johnny Crawford and Alderman Eldon Thompson proposed that the one-cent tax be retained, because the budget had already been adopted for the year.

However, C.A. Hicks and Johnny Lee both wanted taxes cut, and Bud Adams said he didn't like a sales tax of any sort, and they voted for repeal.

With Alderman Lita Watson absent, and Britton and Crawford having no vote, that left the final count 3-1 in favor of repeal.

Subject of repealing natural gas and electricity sales tax to residences came on the heels of action taken by the Legislature, in its recent special session. According to the state comptroller, action taken by municipalities prior to Sept. 10 will make the change effective for billing on or before Oct. 1.

State tax of four cents will also be cut on billing as of the same date.

Thompson argued that citizens were already getting the savings passed on by the state's tax repeal. He said a month's bill for $100 would only be effected by $1, for the city's part, and that would have little effect on an individual household.

But the effect on the city's income, since the year's budget was already adopted, would be significant, especially since the council earlier in the meeting had agreed to purchase a badly-needed tractor for the sanitation department.

Repeal of the one-cent tax on gas and electricity will cost the city approximately $8,276, Britton told the council.

Thompson pointed out that the loss almost equalled the expected annual cost of the new tractor.

BIDS SOUGHT

Though the council did not vote to purchase a bulldozer for the sanitation department, members did agree to advertise for bids on a new machine.

Estimated cost for a new D-5, 1978 model dozer is $64,000, for which the city had budgeted $8,800 this year. In the bidding, the city is specifying the purchase will be backed by the city's certificates of obligation, which is a financing agreement.

During a discussion about buying a used dozer, Alderman Hicks asked former mayor Arch Hughes his opinion, and Hughes said he would shop around for the best buy.

However, purchases by the city for items over $3,000 are required to be submitted for bids, according to law, Crawford pointed out. "This forbids us from shopping around," he said.

The council has long been aware a replacement dozer was needed, but they didn't know how soon it was coming.

Britton said some $1,100 had been spent on the machine in the past three weeks. "And we still don't have a good dozer." He said the machine has operated only five out of the past 15 normal working days.

The dozer has also been subjected to some serious vandalism, and some misuse, which prompted the council to agree that a portable shed must be constructed to house the dozer when it is not in use.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the council took the following action:

- * agreed to hire Ed Biggs of Biggs and Matthews Engineering to make recommendations on sewer line improvement;

- * took no action to change policy concerning leasing of the Senior League baseball field, or restricting nighttime use;

- * heard a report that no bids had been received for leasing grazing rights around Buffalo Lake and the waste treatment plant;

- * agreed to forgive all back taxes and penalties on property sought by the Evening Lions Club, which proposes to build a civic meeting place east of the Masonic Lodge;

- * and heard a report from the city administrator that the water treatment plant was producing very good water, but he recommended the odd-even watering policy be continued due to the low level of the lakes.

Football workouts begin

Enthusiasm is in the air once more. It's shared not only by the youngsters who have turned out for football at Iowa Park High, but by the adults who love the game and likewise turn out to watch practice sessions.

More than 100 athletes slipped into their shorts Monday morning and started the grueling two-a-day workouts in preparation for the 1978 season.

They will remain in shorts through today, but tomorrow morning they get into full pads for the first time. And training gets even more serious from that point on.

Hawk coaches have been satisfied overall with the attitude of the youngsters during their early season workouts. Players have been adapting to new drills, both offensive and defensive, than they've experienced before the change in coaching personnel.

Early in the week, teaching of techniques and physical conditioning were the word of the day.

"The kids have pushed themselves. They're not lazy, even though it's been real hot," commented Head Coach Tommy Watkins after Tuesday's second workout. And it has been hot, 102. A temperature most people prefer to leave on the outside while sitting under an air conditioner.

"We will have some good days and some bad days. But if they continue to improve, I think we will be pretty satisfied" with player accomplishment, Watkins said.

Asked about his impressions of the team candidates after only two days observations, Watkins said there is a glaring lack of depth, but some good quickness in some key areas.

Without experience in the quarterback position, Watkins said that position will be the slowest to come around. Not only is there a lack of varsity experience at the position, but the Hawks will be operating the Veer offense this season, and that's something they've had no experience at in any position.

Watkins said he's working with three players at the signal caller's position: Gary Blackerby, Mike Smith and Troy Linthicum.

When they put on the pads tomorrow, Watkins said his staff will have the players doing about the same things they've been working on all week, in order to adapt to the equipment.

The Hawks will scrimmage a little tomorrow afternoon, and Saturday morning the session will be entirely scrimmage. All morning sessions will start at 9, delaying the start from early in the week because of dew on the grass.

Watkins is keeping the varsity and junior varsity working together, and will continue the practice through the season, except on Wednesdays.

He explains he has the junior varsity on defense when the varsity is on offense, and switches around, thus keeping his players together. It also gives him a look at player improvement through the season.

Though he has 37 working on the varsity right now, he will not have a set number on the team.

"We won't keep anyone on the varsity if they're just sitting around. But if they're contributing, they'll be on a defensive or offensive team, or specialty team. They'll go back to the junior varsity if they're not contributing," stated the head coach.

The Head Hawk and his staff will get their first real look at their players under competitive conditions next week, when they travel to Electra for a scrimmage session.

Subscription contest leaders working hard

Going into the final week of the Leader's subscription sales campaign and contest, industrious Doug Arnold strengthened his hold on first place by upping his point total to 11,100.

Kellie Moore and James Ridelhuber remained in their respective second and third places, but the point spread was narrowed. Kelli has 7,000 and James 6,550.

Doug's claim on the Soundesign stereo set has not yet been cemented, however, as contestants have until Friday of next week to win first place in the contest.

But the salesperson who will take home the second place prize of a Magnavox television set is far from determined, also. Pushing from fourth place is John Burns, who held on to his position with 3,650 points.

Close on John's heels are Mrs. Clayton Ellis, 3,425, and Jerry Stansbury, who moved up two places with a total of 2,650. Vicky Lewis is well in the battle with 2,350, as is Sharon Baston, 1,975, and newcomer Tammy Yarbrough, who turned in 1,900 points worth of subscriptions in her first reporting.

Other point earners are Jeff Stansbury and Jeff Brookshire, with 675 each, and Carolyn Sidlauskas, 600 points.

Contestants earn 150 points for each new subscription they sell, and 75 points for each renewal. An additional 400-point bonus is given for every 10 subscriptions sold.

Besides competing for the stereo and television set, each contestant receives redeeming certificates for the number of points they turn in. The certificates are used as cash in making purchases at Parkway TrueValue Hardware and Furniture.

Faculty reports to work Tuesday

All Iowa Park school faculty members will report to work Tuesday morning to begin four days of in-service training in preparation for school opening Aug. 28, according to Supt. Faris Nowell.

New faculty members will be introduced at a luncheon at noon Tuesday, to be held in the high school cafeteria.

First holiday comes early, Sept. 4, Labor Day. The second break in school will come Oct. 23, when classes will not meet while faculty members hold their annual Texas State Teachers Association meeting at the high school building.

First lengthy holiday for students will be Thanksgiving, when classes will be dismissed Nov. 22 and not meet again until the 27th.

Christmas holidays begin Dec. 21, and classes will resume Jan. 2. Students will have an entire week for Easter, as classes will dismiss April 6 and not re-open until April 16.

The first quarter will end Nov. 17, second quarter Feb. 23, and, with two extra days counted in for inclement weather, the last day on the school calendar is May 28.

First semester for kindergarten students will end Jan. 12.

Steger to head UW drive here

Bill Steger, a long-time United Way volunteer, has been named to head the annual United Way campaign for Iowa Park. The official kickoff will be Sept. 20 for the six-week-long drive.

Ray Clymer, Chairman of the combined effort in Iowa Park, Burk Burnett and Wichita Falls to raise $1,235,560 for 33 agencies throughout the area, said, in announcing his appointment of Steger, "Bill believes in the United Way and knows it really works for our citizens. He has been a strong advocate in Iowa Park and we're very pleased to have him serve as Chairman for that area."

Tom Crane was announced as Vice-Chairman for a second term, co-ordinating all campaign activities including the kickoff, report meetings and victory dinner.

Bill Vincent, manager of Texas Electric Service Company in Burk Burnett, will serve as chairman for that community.

Farmers to share in sale of grain

Approximately 250 individuals will receive a portion of their claims against grain elevators operated by Robert "Bobby" Johnson, H.C. Johnson or Anita Johnson, according to the Texas attorney general's office.

Payment of the claims, mostly to persons in the Iowa Park and Wichita Falls area, resulted in an Aug. 8 decision handed down by federal bankruptcy Judge John C. Ford.

Claimants will share in the division of $525,000 in proceeds from the sale of grain found in Geronimo Elevator Company, one of the Johnson family facilities located in Wichita Falls.

Ford ordered that persons holding scale tickets or warehouse receipts for grain from any Johnson facility would be considered equally in division of the money, as requested by Atty. Gen. John Hill on behalf of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Fair market value in Wichita Falls and surrounding areas at the date the suit was filed was determined by Ford to be $2.44 per bushel for number two wheat, $1.63 per bushel for oats and $3.45 per hundredweight for milo.

Eligible claimants will receive 30 per cent of their prorated claims, less handling fees and storage charges.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Carla Cox of the attorney general's State and County Affairs Division, is representing the Department of Agriculture in the matter.

The Johnson family businesses were placed in involuntary bankruptcy following an investigation into their dealings in the wake of Bobby Johnson's disappearance.

He reportedly fell off a fishing boat and drowned Jan. 3, 1977, in the Gulf of Mexico near Port Aransas.

His brother, H.C. Johnson, was sentenced to 16 years in a federal penitentiary for falsifying grain warehouse records.

Weather Report

Weather reports are officially compiled for Iowa Park at the Texas Experiment Station, southeast of town.

Nature puts on show in area Tuesday night

Mother Nature put on a spectacular light show Tuesday night, bringing with it high winds and more than an inch of rain.

Rolling across the Red River in from the northwest, the electrical, wind and rain storm hit Iowa Park about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday.

No major damage was reported as a result of the storm; however, portions of Iowa Park and some surrounding rural areas were reportedly without electricity part of the night due to damaged power lines.

There were several reports of limbs being torn from trees by the high winds.

Despite the thunder and close proximity of lightning, rain brought by the storm was welcomed relief to farmers, ranchers and city dwellers alike.

Stock tanks and lakes are on the rise, and lawns are beginning to be revived after July's long dry spell.

Many wheat farmers had their fields plowed just in time to catch the moisture, and it's encouraging to ranchers needing green pastures for steer grazing.

The Texas Experiment Station, located southwest of town, reported 1.25 inches of rain while another weather observer north of town reported 1.60 inches.

Tuesday night's rainfall brings to 4.51 inches of rain the experiment station has collected this month, although Iowa Park remains more than two inches behind 1977 rainfall to date for the year.

Air gun vandals continue spree

Animals were the latest victims of air gun vandals whose ill deeds continued into a second week, according to Iowa Park police reports.

Last week police here received numerous reports of windows, doors and windshields being shot with pellet or BB guns.

Horsky-York wedding vows exchanged here Saturday

In marriage rites of solemnity and dignity performed Saturday evening Miss Cheryl Ann Horsky became the bride of Roger Lynn York.

The impressive ceremony took place in the First Baptist Church where the officiant for the double-ring service uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon J. Horsky and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred York was the Rev. Kenneth Flowers, pastor.

The altar setting was enhanced with an arch entwined with gypsophila centered with a peach silk bow and white bells and softly accented with white doves and peach silk bows at the sides. Flanking the arch were tall white tapers glowing in seven-branched candelabra swathed with the flowering greenery, and further illumination was provided by the candles in spiral candelabra at either side of the altar space. A brass kneeling bench with white cushions ornamented with gypsophila and an apricot satin bow emphasized the important place of prayer in a marriage.

The lower altar was impressively decorated with two handsome arrangements of peach gladioli, yellow carnations and leather leaf in Grecian urns supported by tall Grecian columns and the unity candelabrum entwined with gypsophila.

The attractive pew markers featured yellow satin bows centered with peach silk roses against a background of leather leaf and baby's breath.

As guests arrived for the wedding, they registered in the foyer at a round table covered with white pleated satin overlaid with white dotted swiss. The table held the couple's wedding invitation bordered in lilies of the valley and tiny wedding symbols picturing a kissing miniature bride and groom in a frame of gold, the lovely book and feathered pen. Miss Julia Popejoy presided at the table.

Wedding programs were distributed by Renee York and Chris York, sister and brother of the groom, who also lighted the candles for the service.

A pre-nuptial concert was presented by Mrs. Bill Bates, organist, and Mrs. Glenn Schell, pianist. They played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach, "Panis Angelicus" by Frank, "The Swan" by Saint-Saens, and "Andante Cantabile" by Tschaiowsky.

Mrs. Bates played "You Light Up My Life" during the lighting of the candles and "Annie's Song" when mothers were ushered and seated. She accompanied David Fowler and Norman Flowers for their vocal renditions. The former sang "Twelfth of Never" for a pre-nuptial selection and the latter sang "Sunrise, Sunset" after the bride's father had escorted her to the altar and presented in marriage and they were joined by the bride's mother and the groom's parents who put their blessings upon the marriage.

Mr. Flowers sang "The Wedding Prayer" while the couple knelt on the prayer bench following the exchange of their vows and Mr. Fowler sang "Sometimes" while they lighted the unity candle to symbolize that they were "no longer two but one."

The processional by Wagner and recessional by Mendelssohn were additional contributions by Mrs. Bates. Before leaving the sanctuary, the bride and groom presented long stemmed red roses to their mothers.

The bride was an exquisite picture in a flattering white organza gown over peau de soie detailed with rich Chantilly lace which lent itself beautifully in a covering for the sheer yoke adorned with pearls and a cameo design, and in elegant motifs on the skirt. Styled with a slightly raised bodice, high neckline, long fitted sleeves ruffled at the wrists, and a deep hem flounce billowing into a chapel train, the gown was tastefully accented with pearls.

The bride chose an elbow length blush veil of illusion caught to a satin crown embellished with lace appliques and pearls. Her bouquet was a dreamy creation of peach silk roses, yellow, white and peach silk cherry blossoms touched with fresh gypsophila and leather leaf in cascade style.

The bride's jewelry included a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift from the groom, for "something new", and her mother's diamond and pearl ring for "something borrowed". She completed bridal traditions by carrying an heirloom handkerchief that belonged to her late maternal great-grandmother for "something old", the long-time favorite garter for "something blue" and the sixpence in her shoe.

Miss Jennifer Bernstein, flower girl, and Shannon Bernstein, ring bearer entered the sanctuary just ahead of the bride and her father and preceded them to the altar. She wore a long peach frock fashioned for a little miss on the order of the attendants' gowns as she scattered peach rose petals from a dainty basket, and the ring bearer was attired in a brown suit with yellow shirt to carry the rings on a satin and lace pillow.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Dana Mikkelsen. A charming trio of bridesmaids consisted of Miss Karen Popelka of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Mrs. Kirk Schroeder sister of the bride, and Miss Diane Harney of Wichita Falls, her cousin.

All feminine attendants wore identical gowns of yellow sheer polyester designed with semi-cowl necks, pointed yokes of Chantilly lace that dipped to points in both front and back and sheer chiffon capelets covering the shoulders. They wore peach, white and yellow silk cherry blossoms and baby's breath caught to combs in their hair. They carried dainty hand bouquets in which three peach silk roses, leather leaf and gypsophila were accented with peach lace streamers overlaid with narrow yellow satin ribbon.

In keeping with the bride's white gown, the groom chose an all-white tuxedo and three small peach silk roses for his boutonniere. The best man, Keith Karstetter, and groomsman, Shane Kimbrew, Jim Stevens and Dan Williams wore beige tuxedos. The ushers, David Horsky, brother of the bride, Ray Harney, Dennis Fisher and Rick Kirkland, and fathers of the couple wore beige jackets and brown pants.

Mothers of the bride and groom selected their formal gowns in the same delicate colors emphasized in decorations, bouquets and costumes of the bridal attendants. Mrs. Horsky wore a light weight apricot polyester dress fashioned with mandarin neck, a smocked bodice adorned with rhinestones and a sheer capelet for the finishing touch. Mrs. York wore a yellow knit dress featuring a pleated bodice with a collar that draped over the shoulders and a yellow lace capelet. Both completed their costumes by wearing corsages formed of yellow and peach silk roses and cherry blossoms tied with lace and ribbon streamers.

The wedding reception given by the bride's parents was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table, groom's table and coffee table were draped with identical cloths to fit their shapes featuring floor-length peach batiste covered with white net overlaid on top with white lace caught up in swags centered with peach silk roses. The roses and yellow silk bows were scattered over the long skirts.

The bride's table presented beauty in a most gracious fashion with the four-tiered cake in the center capturing the romantic mood of the occasion. The snowy tiers were decorated with delicate frosting drop-work, garlands, shell borders and peach and yellow roses with pale green leaves. The top tier, raised by filigree pillars, was ornamented with some of the most popular wedding symbols. Upon an airy base held by a post adorned with white net fluffs were nestled two white satin bells studded with pearls from which lilies of the valley spilled. In front of the bells were two white doves holding a silver wedding band in their bills.

Table appointments were highlighted by delicate Fentonware pieces which were noted in birds in front of the cake, in a bowl encircled with peach silk roses and yellow daisies holding a pillar apricot candle at a table extremity, and in baskets filled with mints. The crystal punch service and bridal napkins completed the table decor. Mrs.

MRS. ROGER LYNN YORK

Kenneth Flowers, Mrs. David Blackerby and Miss Dee Lynn Smith served at the table.

Mrs. Donald Hill and Miss Linda Harney presided at the groom's table which held the chocolate cake bordered in peach icing, lettered with the names of the bride and groom and their wedding date in yellow. The silver lotus bowls holding mints and a wooden bowl filled with five yellow candles banked with yellow daisies and peach roses were additional appointments.

Mrs. Jack Railsback and Mrs. Keith Auld served coffee to guests during the reception.

Members of the house-party included Mmes. Glen Miller, James Adams, Buddy Henderson, Don Dietrichson, Clyde Patterson and Joe Singer.

The groom's parents were hosts for the dinner held at Underwood's in Wichita Falls in connection with the wedding rehearsal. They presented their gift to the couple, who gave their attendants appropriate gifts.

Cook of the Week

Mrs. Ronnie Singleton

Battling time and a budget seems a major headache for most working mothers when they make the transformation from daytime career to nighttime homemaker.

Debbie Singleton isn't any different in that respect, although her contribution to the family income is earned in an unusual way.

In March Mrs. Singleton became Iowa Park's first woman animal control officer.

Raised at Kamay, Mrs. Singleton and her husband Ronnie, who works at Wichita Falls State Hospital, have a 4-year-old son, Eddie Don.

"I love animals very dearly," Mrs. Singleton explained as one of her reasons for successfully applying for the municipal job.

Previously employed as a nurse in a convalescent home, she added, "I hate inside work."

"I love my work. I really do. If people would just keep their animals up," she said. She's been bitten and scratched by animals and chased by irate owners.

"The animals aren't bad, it's the people that are bad," she said, adding some people think of their pets as children. "But when they don't keep up with the (animal control) ordinance, I'm going to pick up their puppy dog."

"I've had terrible phone calls, nasty phone calls at home."

Mrs. Singleton said if she catches an animal and knows where it belongs, she'll return it to the owner with a warning.

"After I give them one chance, that's it," she said.

She urged anyone who spots a stray animal to contact her through the Iowa Park Police Department. When she responds to the call, she doesn't tell the owner who made the complaint.

For persons who no longer want their pets or don't have adequate facilities, Mrs. Singleton will work with them through the Wichita County Humane Society to find a good home.

In addition to dogs and cats "I catch racoons, goats, skunks and possums all the time," she said. "I had two baby skunks the other day."

She said she never kills animals. "The only thing I have is my tranquilizer gun."

Back to her recipes, she says they are "real fast."

Most were handed down through a grandmother, but easily accommodate today's hectic lifestyles.

School budget tops $1-million

Trustees heap praise on superintendent for preparation

Praising Supt. Ray Coe for a job well done, Holliday school board Monday night unanimously adopted its proposed 1978-79 budget with expenditures expected to total $1,016,724.

All three members of the board's finance committee—Durhyl Caussey, Joe Wells and Bob Martin—recommended approval of the budget, and each tossed a verbal bouquet Coe's direction for the work and time he had spent with them studying his projections.

"Overall, I'm pleased with the budget. I think it's a good budget," Caussey said, adding in the future he would like to see more trained teacher's aides and more money spent on audio-visual equipment for slow learners.

After a quick poll of the audience, Caussey requested school administrators supply a minimum of 25 copies of budgets in the future so that the public can study fiscal proposals during board consideration.

Several board members passed their copies of the budget among visitors at Monday night's meeting.

The proposed 1978-79 school budget calls for revenues totalling $1,296,448. Expenditures are anticipated at $1,016,724, leaving a contingency fund of $279,724.

The coming year's expenditures compare to $1,223,924 spent in 1977-78 fiscal year.

Almost half the coming year's budget, $428,700, will be directed toward instruction with teacher's salaries getting the bulk of $370,000.

Maintenance is budgeted for $134,150 with major portions going to lights $40,000, salaries $25,000, janitorial supplies $14,000, gas $12,000 and insurance $12,000.

The cost of administration is third in the overall budget. It is allocated $97,692 with salaries earmarked for $25,392, secretary and tax assessor $24,600 and consultants $12,500.

Debt service will eat up $87,610 with $15,000 being applied to the principal and $72,510 on interest.

Transportation is expected to cost the district $70,750 during the coming year with $18,500 going toward vehicles, $17,000 for gas and $14,000 for salaries.

Co-curricular is budgeted for $66,060 with $26,000 for the athletic deficit, $20,500 for salaries and $10,000 for the band deficit.

Principals are earmarked for $59,650 with salaries for principals and secretaries claiming the bulk at $54,000.

Construction costs for building and improvements total $43,612.

Library expenses are expected to total $28,500. In other action Monday night the board voted to hire four new teachers and placed into motion plans to dedicate the new high school auditorium to Erma Barton.

TEACHERS HIRED
Trustees voted to hire Kay Bess Chepley, social sciences; Annetta Reusch, English; Marilyn Whitfield, band; and Fred Laubenthal, junior high science.

The board accepted the resignations of Mary Denney, cafeteria, and Barbara Walsmith, English.

On Coe's recommendation, the board approved a 25-cent-per-hour salary increase for cafeteria and custodial workers and a $25-per-month pay hike for bus drivers.

The board voted to have Pat Holt, superintendent's secretary, to take meeting minutes for the elected secretary, trustee Terry Parnell. Trustees decided to pay Mrs. Holt $15 for taking minutes at regular board meetings, retroactive to the past three meetings where she performed the task.

ERMA BARTON MEMORIAL
Citing several requests, board president Tommy Mankins quizzed the board on what it thought about dedicating the new high school auditorium to the late Erma Barton, retired Holliday school teacher and civic leader who was killed recently in an automobile mishap.

"I think everyone of us knows what Erma Barton did for us," Mankins said. Mrs. Holt, who worked with Mrs. Barton and continues the project to purchase the community-funded piano and organ for the auditorium, said they had discussed the project shortly before Mrs. Barton's death.

"She said (to have a piano and organ at the school) had been a dream of her's since 1945," Mrs. Holt recalled.

"I think it would be a good gesture ... for as much as she's done for this school over the years," said trustee Jack Ayres.

The board asked Mrs. Holt to head a committee to plan services which will designate the facility with a plaque as the Erma Barton Auditorium.

EXECUTIVE SESSION
The board voted itself into executive session for about 10 minutes. The estimated 15 persons present left the meeting room after Mankins explained the board had received a letter from a Wichita Falls law firm.

When the meeting was reopened to the public Mankins explained the executive session dealt with transfer students. He said all transfers approved as of May 1 have been accepted and will be allowed to attend classes here.

Mankins said the board would continue to study the transfer situation. He said policy changes probably will be enacted in the spring to affect the 1979-80 school year. Board members indicated there should be no fear transfer students already attending Holliday classes would be required to go elsewhere.

In other business Monday night the board adopted Exhibit B plan for free and reduced price meals and discussed insurance for students and athletes.

PUBLIC NOTICE
The Board of Aldermen, City of Holliday, Texas, will act as the Board of Equalization concerning municipal ad valorem taxes when it meets at 7 p.m. Aug. 21, 1978, at the Holliday City Hall.

The school children of parents or guardians who become unemployed are eligible for free or reduced-price meals and free milk during the period of unemployment, provided that the loss of income causes the family income during the period of unemployment to be at or below the levels shown on the scale.

To apply at any time during the year for free meals and free milk or reduced-price meals for your children, complete the attached application and return it to the school. Within ten days of receiving your application, the school will let you know whether or not your children are eligible. In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If you have foster children living with you and wish to apply for such meals and milk for them, please notify us or indicate it on the application. All children are treated the same regardless of ability to pay. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin.

If we can be of any further assistance or if your family size or income changes during the year, please contact us. Sincerely,
Farris O. Nowell
Superintendent of Schools

Letters and applications will be distributed to students August 28, 1978. Prior to that date applications may be obtained at the Iowa Park School Tax Office, behind Kidwell Elementary School.

HOLLIDAY NEWS

Replacement of Denney confronts city

The Holliday City Council appears to be in for a long night of work Monday.

One of the items to confront the council at Monday's 7 p.m. meeting will be a decision on how to fill the vacancy caused by Alderman Eugene "Red" Denney's death.

Denney died Saturday in a Wichita Falls hospital. Re-elected to the council in April by a landslide victory, 20 months remain on Denney's tenure on the council.

According to the "Handbook for Mayors and Council Members in General Law Cities," the council has two options in filling the vacancy.

The council can appoint someone to serve until next April's regular elections, or a special election may be held to choose a successor.

"In cities and towns operating under the aldermanic form of government, if just one vacancy (whether in the office of the mayor or on the city council) occurs, it may be filled by appointment by the council, such appointee to serve until the next regular election, or filled by means of a special election called for the purpose ..." the handbook states.

Asked what avenue he would recommend the council take, Mayor Ben Ezzell said he would reserve discussion until Monday night's meeting.

Also at Monday night's meeting the council will act as municipal board of equalization concerning property taxes here.

This will be the time for citizens to confront the council with questions concerning their property taxes.

Don Talley, Holliday businessman, is scheduled to appear before the council concerning annexation of property into the city limits.

Two city employees, Elvin Hoover and Timmy Teafatiller, are on the council's agenda. Hoover wants to discuss animal traps, and Teafatiller is scheduled to discuss salary.

Primary grade registration slated here Monday, Tuesday

Kindergarten and elementary students new to the Holliday school district must register next Monday and Tuesday, said Dan Owen, Holliday elementary school principal.

Registration in Owen's office will be from 1-3 p.m. Monday and from 8:30 a.m.-3 p.m. Tuesday. "This will be for any student that was not enrolled in Holliday elementary, kindergarten through sixth grade, at the end of the past school year," Owen said.

Kindergarten students in the first semester group who previously enrolled do not have to pre-register, but must have all records up to date when they enroll on Aug. 28, Owen said.

"Any parent that cannot register their child on the

School personnel start work Monday

Although students have another week of vacation left, Holliday's administrative and faculty staff will officially begin their school year Monday.

Mrs. Jackson named association leader

Mrs. B.W. Jackson has been named president of the newly formed Holliday Arts and Crafts Association.

Primary goal of the new organization will be to promote the interest of the arts locally and to sponsor the Holliday Art Festival, an annual summer show instituted 25 years ago by the late Erma Barton.

Other officers in the new organization include Mrs. Alpha Holton, program chairman; Mrs. Vivian Campbell, workshop chairman; Mrs. Dee Cottrell, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Murl Moore, show chairman.

At their initial meeting last Friday, members met with Mrs. Cora Dell Miller, representing the Wichita Falls Art Association.

Other charter members to the Holliday Arts and Crafts Association are Mmes. Bobby Haney, Betty Blankenship and Linda Willis.

Top of Texas season nears

Annual kickoff supper Friday

Holliday gridiron enthusiasts will begin to cultivate their yearly case of Friday night fever when the Holliday Booster Club hosts its annual kickoff supper at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the school cafeteria.

Persons should bring food to accommodate members of their family attending. Tea and coffee will be furnished by the booster club.

Don Barton, club president, will lead the group this year along with vice president Sammy Lawson and secretary Norma Lawson.

All parents and friends of the team are invited to attend the supper, Mrs. Lawson said.

Head Eagle Don Lucy will be on hand to introduce members of the 1978 Big Red Machine and Eagle cheerleaders.

Memberships to the club will be available at the supper.

For couples, membership will be $7.50, and single memberships will be $5, Mrs. Lawson said.

Two-a-day workouts began Monday.

The Eagles will see their first action when Knox City travels to meet Holliday on home turf for a scrimmage Aug. 25.

Unlicensed drivers warned by police

Holliday Police Officer Larry Zimbelman said he plans a crackdown on unlicensed students driving cars to school when classes begin Aug. 28.

Zimbelman warned citations would be directed to the parents of unlicensed drivers.

"It has been learned that there are a number of vehicles being driven to school by unlicensed drivers. This is a violation of the Texas state highway laws and as such will warrant a citation.

"This citation will not be given to the students driving the vehicles, but to the parents for allowing an unauthorized person to operate a motor vehicle," Zimbelman said.

To enforce the law periodic checks for drivers license will be conducted at the school on FM 368, Zimbelman said.

Zimbelman warned two citations could be issued, one to the unlicensed driver and a second to the person who allows the unlicensed driver to operate the vehicle.

What's in a name?

Not everyday names for a hometown, but in the United States, such names are not all that unusual. As the U.S. was settled, most geographical names were chosen informally and on the spur of the moment, reports the current issue of National Wildlife magazine. Behind each of the three million geographical names in the U.S. lies a little part of the nation's history. European explorers, upon their arrival in the New World, adopted (or adapted) a wide assortment of Indian names. Thus, the Indian word "Mesconcing" (meaning "the long river"), became "Ouisconsin" for French explorers Marquette and Joliet. Years later, it became Wisconsin.

The National Wildlife Federation publication notes that while the early British colonists named most of their coastal settlements after their hometowns (Roxbury, Plymouth, Dorchester), this trend ended after the Revolutionary War, as communities were named for war heroes. Today, there are over 250 American towns named "Washington," reports the magazine.

Some of the nation's most imaginative names are a result of the 19th century frontier days. Cut and Shoot, Texas, was named after a community shootout over the shape of a new church steeple, explains National Wildlife, and Scratch Ankle, Alabama, was named because of the town's large population of biting flies. Settlers also favored animal names, especially birds. The eagle surpasses all other species as a place name source, followed closely by the swan, the goose and the duck.

With the rapid christening of towns, rivers, mountains, and the like, problems were bound to arise - duplication, confusion, misspellings. To deal with these, the U.S. Board of Geographical Names was formed in 1884. The Board soon established one ironclad rule: Whenever there is a conflict, the local name and spelling win out.

Today, the Board is still hard at work. Each year it reviews some 10,000 new names and suggested changes. In recent years for example the Board has allowed the residents of "Mole Hill," West Virginia to change their town's name to "Mountain."

Currently, the Board is involved in the controversy over a suggested name change for Alaska's Mount McKinley. Many would like to rename the mountain "Dinali," its original, centuries-old Indian name.

What about Peculiar, Missouri? National Wildlife magazine explains that a store owner, applying for a postal listing under the name "Excelsior," was turned down because the title was already claimed in Missouri. So the store owner wrote back saying that any name would do, as long as it was "different or peculiar." The rest is history.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

How can the people of Memphis, Tenn. ever again respect the law and the policemen of that community?

The policemen there have gone on strike. They were ordered by a court judge to return to work. But they refuse. They place themselves above the law. How, then, can they expect the citizens to respect them, the police, if they themselves fail to respect it?

A wire story yesterday quoted the Memphis AFL-CIO Labor Council president as saying he would call all his 60,000 union members on strike if the city did not settle, or in other words, give in to the police and fire department demands.

Who's running that town, the elected officials, or a union man?

And people wonder why I'm so much against unions!

If you've been watching stories from over the state the past year, you must have noticed how citizens of Mexican descent are claiming more and more about civil rights violations. I guess it started primarily in Houston where a young Mexican man was beaten and thrown into a waterway, admittedly by police. Similar instances have cropped up in Odessa, and several other places.

The federal government has even been called in to investigate the death of a young Mexican man at Perryton, shot after he allegedly had threatened a policeman with a knife, had escaped from them twice earlier in the evening, had reportedly previously escaped from at least two correctional centers, and had warned he would never again be captured alive.

With all this in mind, I couldn't help chuckle earlier this week while reading the Hereford Brand, a Panhandle newspaper.

Seems a man there was quoted as being extremely upset because the Deaf Smith County commissioners have overlooked him twice for juvenile probation officer.

He certainly didn't believe the fact he was a green-card carrying Mexican citizen should have anything to do with that. That green card gave him every right to work in the U.S., and in his opinion he was being discriminated against.

For those who were aware of the rules handed down by Coach Tommy Watkins during his earlier tenure here, you would have died laughing when the youngsters turned up for workouts Monday morning.

Tommy is a conventional conservative, when it comes to long hair and the like. Especially when it comes to his football players. He wants them to take pride in how they look, especially in uniform.

Well, the long hair, several of them shoulder-length, was to be expected, I guess.

But Coach Tommy's eyebrows shot up when two of the players walked in with full beards on their faces.

The beards and the long hair have until workout tomorrow morning. If they're not gone by then, they will vanish very soon.

Whimsey & Humor

Joe Riordan

If you have ever gotten mad at yourself because you "couldn't see the forest for the trees" -- relax, you have something in common with Father Paul Reinert, Chancellor of St. Louis University.

I met this well-known Jesuit priest when I enrolled in St. Louis University in 1945. He was Dean of Students at that time with the reputation of a scholar, administrator, strict disciplinarian, and a man with a sense of humor. Although he rose to the top position with the college, Father Reinert enjoys telling this story on himself.

After he had advanced to president of the university, he began a program to get all of the material in the Vatican Library at Rome on microfilm. This wealth of information was destined to become the basis of a new library in St. Louis which would be available to theologians and biblical scholars of all faiths.

But, the plan hit a snag. The collection needed the Hebrew manuscript of the Vatican Library and the cost of microfilming was estimated at $60,000. Father Reinert had $30,000 in his budget.

Then he remembered his friend, President Abram Sacher at Brandies University in Boston. President Sacher was a Jew and a successful money raiser among people of Jewish faith, so the Jesuit priest turned to him. After all, the money was to be spent for microfilming the Hebrew manuscript -- and the new library would be available to people of all religions.

The Brandies University president agreed to give the money-raising project a try. A few days later he called Father Reinert to tell him he had the $30,000. Father Reinert was pleased -- but amazed. He had expected fast action, but nothing so quickly.

"This is wonderful news," he told his Jewish friend, "but where in the world did you get it in such a short time?"

"It was easy," the Brandies University president said.

"I got it from Cardinal Cushing, the Catholic Archbishop of the Boston diocese."

EDITORIAL

Hazardous intersection

The Texas Highway Department recently completed its improvement work on FM 368 through Iowa Park, a part of which included making the route straight through from West Highway north past the expressway.

In eliminating the jog from Pacific to Yosemite, the Department made the route easier for drivers, but also confusing. Especially is it confusing to motorists who have driven in the city for many years.

Motorists traveling West on Alameda have had enough time spotting the standard, small stop sign on the corner. That is problem enough.

But motorists traveling north on FM 368, or Pacific, don't know if south-bound traffic is going to continue south, or make the old, ordinary left turn onto Alameda. There is no warning to southbounders that the route has been changed.

The Highway Department has been working on the project for over a year, yet there was less than half a day warning when the route would be changed. Certainly not enough advanced notice to our citizens. The change affected a route that had not been changed in almost half a century.

It will take time for driver habits to change. So in the meantime, don't take anything for granted. Approach the intersection of Pacific and Alameda with extreme caution, and proceed as if your life depended on it. Because it does.

Herbicide on grain sorghum produces varying results

By DON D. DECKER
County Agent

An evaluation of the herbicide demonstration on grain sorghum with Frank Wolfe indicates there is a tendency for some of the preemerge herbicides to leach into the sandy soil profile; herbicides can be used on sandy soil without serious crop damage; and never use 2, 4-D amine on grain sorghum unless it's a salvage operation.

Wolfe's demonstration included preemerge application immediately after planting with 1.25 pounds of Igran per acre, 1.25 pounds of Miloguard per acre, and 1 1/2 pounds of Mowdown per acre. A five inch rain fell soon after application and apparently leached the Igran and Mowdown into the soil profile giving poor weed and grass control. The Miloguard stayed on the soil surface, and it did a good job. This site is a sandy soil.

None of the treatments caused any significant crop damage. Igran was the chemical recommended on sandy soils, and it gave the poorest control. We were not the only ones having a problem with this chemical as Dale Lovelace, Extension agronomist, indicated Igran had given erratic performance over the Rolling Plains this year.

Only three acres each was treated with Miloguard and Mowdown because they were not recommended on sandy soils. This left about 64 acres treated with Igran with little to no weed control. Since the field was going to be planted to wheat this fall, we did not want to come back with a post emerge application of Aatrex.

The decision was to apply 1 1/2 pints of 2, 4-D amine to the field, which turned out to be wrong. The 2, 4-D destroyed the brace roots on the sorghum causing the crop severe injury. The drought prevented the sorghum plants from growing new brace roots.

If we go back to Frank Morton's demonstration in 1977, Miloguard performed the best just as it did this year. Based on two years experience, Miloguard is giving the best weed control under varying conditions with only minimal crop damage. Our experience shows the best rate for Miloguard is 1.25 pounds per acre on the sand, 1.5 pounds per acre on the sandy loams, and 2 pounds per acre on the tighter red soils in the county.
