Car wash in court

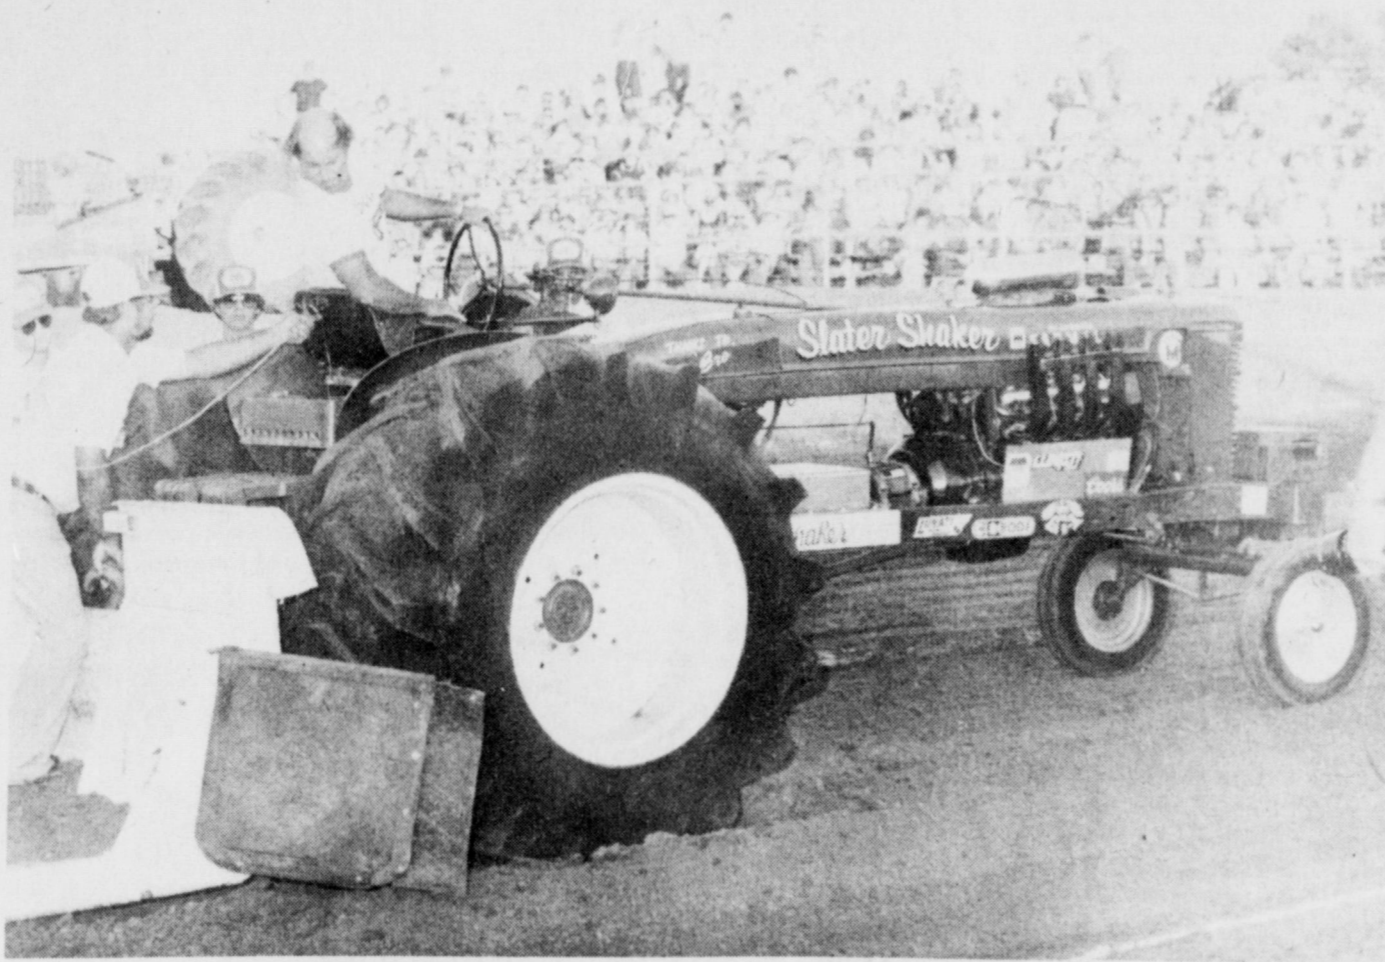

A hearing is to be held at 11:30 this morning in 89th District Court in Wichita Falls before Judge Temple Driver to decide whether the Iowa Park board of adjustments acted correctly at a meeting July 10 in granting variances from the building code to allow construction of a car wash on West Highway.

The board granted variances on setback requirements and on erecting a fence at that meeting, but a temporary restraining order was issued by Judge Driver, halting construction until today's hearing.

Judge Driver can approve, deny, reform or modify the board's action.

The restraining order not only prevents the business owners, Mike Longley, Gary D. Snow, Teddy G. Tomerlin and Ronny Lee Wilson, from construction, but even the purchasing of any equipment or materials until after the judge's ruling.

Petitioning for the restraining order were James Morris, Sue and Kenneth Garrett, who live on Alameda north from the site of the car wash.

IOWA PARKAN JIM BARBOUR waits to be disconnected from the big sled after his first pull Saturday night at the annual Wichita County Young Farmers tractor pull. Barbour, the only local entry, was a big hit with the crowd, which was an overflow capacity both evenings.

Resigning police officer critical of patrol cars

Iowa Park's city administration was criticized this week by a policeman who is resigning, for not providing patrol vehicles in good, workable repair.

Raymond Russell, who said today is his last day on the force, was not only critical, but pointed out that the city was without motorized police protection for a few hours Friday night when all three vehicles were out of commission.

Ironically, a story recently appearing in the Wichita Falls newspaper states some 15 units of that city's police patrol cars were rendered helpless with malfunctions.

The city has two primary patrol cars and one for backup purposes. Both the primary cars have in excess of 70,000 miles registered on them but, as Chief Charles Whittingstall pointed out, the mileage on the cars does not adequately register the hours the motors have been run.

Whittingstall explained that the primary vehicles are operated 24 hours a day and that the motors are running most of the time. Another problem with the upkeep is that seven officers are driving them, he said.

The maintenance of the vehicles is done by the city's mechanic, when they have one employed. He is to change the motor oil every 3,000 miles and keep them lubricated.

For major repairs, Whittingstall said a local independent mechanic is used for that work.

The resigning officer, Whittingstall and Steve Morath, city administrator, all agree that the department needs new vehicles. The chief said he will request purchase of two new units this fall. He said the cost of repairs and maintenance on the older units is far greater and the money could be applied to purchase of new cars.

The last new patrol car purchased was either in January of February of 1980. Purchase of a new replacement was proposed to the city council in

Five receive state degrees

Five members of the Iowa Park Future Farmers of America chapter received the coveted Lone Star Farmer degree last week as a highlight of the 53rd state FFA convention, held in Dallas.

They included Dana Hicks, retiring region president, Dale Anderson, Ross Cantrell, Kay Stevenson and Ronny Sawyer.

Voting delegates representing Iowa Park included Gina Duncan, chapter president, Billy Waschmann and Ben Jilgish.

Others attending were Wendy Hicks, state vice president, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hicks, and George Brandt, advisor.

Raymon Bynum, commissioner of education, was the keynote speaker.

In addition to the convention, retiring and new state vice presidents, including Wendy, arrived in Dallas two days early, to be feted by a breakfast sponsored by First City Bank, a tour of Braniff International's pilot training center and a luncheon hosted by National Motor Club.

Zoning top subject of Monday's meeting

Zoning will probably occupy most of the city council's time when it meets at 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers.

A number of changes will be proposed, following a 12-month study by the planning and zoning commission with Brown Hudson, planning consultant. The changes will primarily be centered around establishing mobile home districts, child care centers and carpools.

The planning and zoning commission recently held a public hearing concerning the proposed changes, but there were no comments offered from the public. If approved Monday, a public hearing will be held sometime next month by the council, prior to official approval.

A change in the zoning of the old fair grounds, which will be identified as lot one, block one, Wal-Mart Addition, will be proposed Monday. Now zoned as Automobile Commercial and Commercial Recreation (C-AR), aldermen will consider changing it to Convenience Commercial (C-C).

Prior to the council's meeting at 6 p.m., the planning and zoning commission will meet in the same room for a public hearing on the proposal.

Aldermen will also be asked to approve a parks and recreation study and capital improvements program study, which has been carried on during the past year by Hudson. The studies were financed by a federal grant through the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

A proposal to advertise for bids on two topics will be made.

According to Steve Morath, city administrator, aldermen will consider advertising for bids to construct a sub station for the fire department in the south part of the city, and for bids to demolish the old water pump station along side the Kamay Highway.

The city leaders have been discussing a sub station for the fire department several months, but at the last meeting, some aldermen and the mayor started taking a closer look at the idea and wanted to know if anyone would be available in that area to operate the equipment.

Chamber sets banquet date

The date and speaker were announced this week for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Phil Welch, first vice president, told directors Monday that Jan. 30 has been set for the banquet, and Ray Stone will be the speaker, with Bob Dawson serving as master of ceremonies.

Cook of the Week

The art of good cooking is not a thing of the past even though many cooks have less time to spend in the kitchen because of work and very busy schedules. In fact, many modern cooks seem to have a renewed interest in using recipes that have stood the test of time, those prepared by mother and grandmother and passed down from generation to generation.

One of Mrs. Glen Reaves favorite dessert recipes is Applesauce Cake, one that has truly stood the test of time and given to her by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Swan Reaves.

The favorite course at dinner with most Americans seems to be dessert, whether it be cake, pie, pudding or just cookies. Desserts must be one of Mrs. Reaves' specialties and people can get hungry just from reading her recipes, so we have chosen three cookie, two cake and her Pear Honey recipes to tempt our readers this week.

The former Shirley Mann, a native of Electra, started working at the Electra State Bank right after high school graduation and worked there for 25 years, commuting from Valley View and Iowa Park during those years. She has been associated with the State National Bank in Iowa Park for two years where she is presently bookkeeper and teller. She is a member of the American Banking Institute. She attends First United Methodist Church and her hobbies are sewing, crocheting and watching tv.

Mrs. Glen Reaves

Glen, who works for Cryovac, and Shirley have one daughter, Malinda, who was graduated from Iowa Park High School in the spring and plans to enter Midwestern State Univ. this fall.

Herbicide drift damaging cotton

By Don D. Decker
County Agent

Herbicide drift onto cotton is causing heavy damage to several fields in the area. Tom White in the Thornberry area may have as much as 500 acres of cotton affected by herbicide drift in varying degrees. Some of the cotton is affected badly enough to cause him to consider the possibility of plowing it up for wheat planting.

With the cost of putting in a cotton crop, it would be a tragedy to lose a crop to herbicide drift and to replant wheat. It is too early to evaluate the ultimate damage to his crop. Cotton has the amazing ability to recover from light damage. White can wait until the later part of August to determine more accurately the extent of the damage. He would still have time to get the land ready for wheat.

My experience with hormone herbicide damage is heavy yield losses occur where every cotton plant in a field area is affected by deformed terminal and leaf growth. When the damage is confined to scattered plants or spots, the cotton usually recovered with little-to-no yield loss.

Herbicide drift comes from brush and weed sprays. The ester forms can volatilize and drift for miles. Amine forms of weed killers do not volatilize, however, the wind can carry the spray particles long distances. There is a lot of misunderstanding about the amines not drifting. An inversion can occur with air temperatures causing the spray particles to rise and to be carried for considerable distances by the wind.

Once cotton has emerged in a community, it is advisable to discontinue weed and brush spraying. With the increased cotton acreage, there is cotton planted in nearly every community of the county.

The county field crops committee headed by Rex Wells will be considering the possibility of establishing a cut-off date for applying brush and weed killers next year. In the meantime, an urgent appeal goes out for producers to discontinue the use of brush and weed killers if located within 4 miles of cotton.

A cotton insect training meeting was held Monday at the ASCS Office building in Iowa Park as the Cotton Insect Scouting Program gets underway. This scouting program is getting started just in time to monitor the cotton as it reaches the fruiting stage. This is the time fleahoppers can cause heavy losses.

Leo Fletcher is the scout for the growers in the Iowa Park and Wichita Valley area. He is retired from Lone Star Gas Company and is a long time resident of the area.

Insect counts will be made in the growers fields weekly. A report of the findings is left with the producer. When damaging levels of insects develop, either Emory Boring, Extension Entomologist, or I will get with the grower on possible control measures.

The cost of this service is $2.50 per acre.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU TIPS

What about NOW accounts?

A new era in banking services began this year, when all commercial banks, mutual savings banks and savings and loans associations became authorized to offer Negotiable Order of Withdrawal (NOW) accounts. These are checking accounts that earn interest or, to look at it another way, savings accounts on which an individual can write checks.

Either way, the Better Business Bureau advises consumers to consider this option carefully. If they decide to open NOW accounts, they should comparison shop among the financial institutions, understand the details and choose the type of account that best fits their financial habits.

The opportunity to earn interest on checking may be an advantage to some consumers, while for others it might not. A lot will depend on whether a certain monthly balance is required and if there are any service charges.

Potential NOW account customers should analyze their own checking and depositing habits and then look closely at the accounts available to see which, if any, fit them best.

Good Questions To Ask

The mechanics of these accounts vary greatly. A careful examination of all the features offered by a NOW account is an important first step. Wise consumers should ask:

- * What if any, is the minimum balance requirement to earn interest?
 - * Is there a service charge each month; does it vary with the number of checks written or the minimum balance maintained?
 - * How many checks may be written without a service charge?
 - * If the account falls below a prescribed minimum balance, does the account stop earning interest?
- The highest interest allowed on

NOW accounts at federally-insured banks and S&Ls is 5-1/4%. Some states insured institutions may offer higher rates. Because of the strong competition, nearly all accounts offer the maximum percentage. Be sure to check on the way the interest is compounded. That can make quite a difference in the actual amount earned.

The effective annual interest rate is highest on an account where the interest is compounded on the average daily balance, and lowest when the interest is computed on the minimum monthly balance. For example, when the latter compounding method is used if a consumer had $1,000 in his or her account, but wrote a check for $900 late in the month, the interest for the whole month would only be calculated at $100.

Another factor is whether or not account-holders' checks are returned to them. Some institutions have eliminated the costly practice of mailing back cancelled checks to their customers. Instead, they store them and send out only a statement of transactions. Copies of checks can be obtained upon request, sometimes for free and sometimes for a fee.

Be sure to evaluate your need to receive cancelled checks for tax and record-keeping purposes. If it's not very great, money can be saved by choosing an account where the checks are not returned. Surveys show that those accounts generally have lower service charges.

Calculate On Past History

After collecting all of this information on a few institutions convenient to home or office, take calculator in hand and figure out the options.

Take at least six months' worth of past checking account statements and determine the interest that would have been earned and the service charge that would have been incurred. Would a NOW account over that time period have gained or lost money?

There are as many variables and choices for the consumer as there are NOW accounts. There is no one "best" account, because that depends on each account-holder's priorities and banking habits.

Patrol cars

October, but was denied. Morath said he felt the city should buy a new vehicle at least each year, rotating them every three years.

Having all patrol units out of commission at once is unusual, Whittingstall said. It has happened only once, Friday night, since the third, backup unit has been retained.

Other officers have complained not only about lack of maintenance of the vehicles, but that they are "just plain worn out."

Yesterday, shortly after noon, a patrol car was dispatched to meet an ambulance on the old Wichita Falls Road, and lead it to its appointed destination in the city.

The officer radioed the police dispatcher and requested another unit take his place because the engine of the initial vehicle kept stalling. The second unit was in location when the ambulance arrived at the city limits, but could not keep up with the ambulance so it could not lead the way.

Letter to the Editor

Mr. Steve Morath

City Manager

Subject Matter: Patrol Cars

Dear Sir:

Why is it that cities and towns smaller than Iowa Park can afford new Police cars each year and we cannot? It is unfortunate that when you come to work you cannot depend on the vehicles that we have to drive. When you need the cars for something they are either down or running improperly. I don't feel that this is fair to the people of Iowa Park that depend on us for protection.

An example of what I'm talking about occurred Friday night, July 17th. All three patrol cars were down at the same time. It just so happens that there were no calls for an officer. It was fortunate that Mr. Sargent from E&S Exxon was available to get one of the vehicles back on the road. During the time all vehicles were out of commission two on-duty officers had to sit in the office because they did not have a vehicle to drive.

Mr. Morath, let me put the question to you, do you feel it is fair to the people of this department, to the City of Iowa Park and to area law enforcement agencies that often require our assistance?

I am respectfully submitting my resignation with this letter and I want to take this time to thank you for letting me express my opinion concerning this matter.

Sincerely,
/s/ Raymond V. Russell

Iowa Park Firemen:
May I take this means of expressing my thanks to you, our volunteer firemen, who came so quickly in response to our need for help and worked so frantically in their efforts to save the life of my brother last Friday afternoon.

Although some doctors of today seem it unnecessary to come when called in a time of need by their patients, it is comforting to know that there are some yet, who give freely of their time and talents, without thought of recompense, to help others in their time of dire need.

Thank you and May God Bless You.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Billy Clayton, speaker of the house, is having a tough time getting a bill passed which would fund water projects in the state in the future.

He worked on it during the regular session, and is again while the legislature is in special session. But he has offered several proposals in the past.

I doubt there would be near as much resistance to the proposal had this state not enjoyed such heavy rains in May and June, filling about every water hole we have.

People don't think much about water, when there is plenty around. But Clayton comes from the high plains area, where almost all their water is pumped from underground, and the future of that source is in serious question. In fact, it's getting dry up there.

I don't know all the language of the legislation being proposed, but it would seem those elected officials should be able to look further than their noses, or the next election, to work out a plan of some kind.

There was a referendum held state-wide back in the 1960', and some curious results came from it. Voters in the Houston area, where water would seem plentiful, approved a financing plan to import water into Texas. Voters in Lubbock county, who are now looking for every drop that can be made available, voted the issue down. It failed across the state, as well.

I recall, during a hearing concerning importing water into the state, a government official saying it would cost too much money and the irrigation farmers wouldn't want to pay the price. A farmer stood up and said, "You don't know what you'll be willing to pay for water until you're out of it."

Water, to some people, is as plentiful as air, and should be as free. In Harold Hudson's column in the Perryton Herald recently, he quoted a man on some interesting water facts.

"For instance, the water bill for a typical breakfast of eggs, bacon, buttered toast and milk amounts to about 510 gallons of water," he said.

"Production requirements for other items in the daily diet include 2,600 gallons for a half pound steak, 16 gallons for three ounces of green beans, 61 gallons for an ear of corn, 26 gallons for eight ounces of grapefruit, 90 gallons for four ounces of cherries, 100 gallons for one pound of watermelon, 15 gallons for two ounces of wheat bread, 40 gallons for two ounces of dried beans, 65 gallons for eight ounces of milk and 410 gallons for four ounces of pork or eight ounces of chicken," he wrote.

An editorial in a recent edition of the Wichita Falls newspaper suggested that we stop watering our lawns and let them return to natural ground cover. While I don't subscribe to such drastic measures, there's no question that one day we might look to yard care practices which require little or no water.

Water isn't free, it's becoming more expensive every year. That's why I think the legislature should look down the road and come up with a financing plan to make water available in the future.

CORRECTION

The Iowa Park Leader, in its July 16 issue, incorrectly stated that George L. Teel has been indicted by the grand jury for "aggravated perjury." The indictment should have read "possession of controlled substance, marijuana, and possession with intent to deliver a controlled substance, amphetamines." The Leader regrets the error.

Live warmer and help hold down your bills.

You may not feel quite comfortable at first when you set your thermostat at 80° or higher, but most people adjust very quickly to living warmer. At the same time, if you dress cooler and use a fan, you may not even notice the difference. But it will help hold down your electric bill.

TF magazine predicts Hawks to finish fourth

With pre-season predictions signaling the pending start of high school football, 1981 style, Texas Football magazine has figured the Iowa Park Hawks to wind up in fourth place among Dist. 3-AAAA teams.

The annual publication, which hit the news stands last week, predicts Hirschi to retain its hold on the conference crown, but to be challenged by Mineral Wells and Burkburnett.

Graham is predicted to wind up behind the Hawks, and Vernon to wind up in the cellar.

"With four starters back on both offense and defense," says the magazine's article on the Hawks, "Iowa Park figures to be about as strong as last year's 4-5 squad. TBs Jim Smith and Chris Nethery will battle for the right to work behind QB Tim Smith and FBs Steve Stewart or Mark Weaver. TE Steve Harris, tackle Jerry Brixey (6-0, 225) and center Raymond Tyler return up front, and they'll be joined by guard Eric Russell, center Robin Combs and tackle Jon Dressler. SE Keith Mowery, flanker Barry Bleeker and WB Lynn Fulfer are capable receivers. Junior tackle Frank Johnson will lead the defensive assault, joined by LB Joel Rains."

Pre-season top 10 rated teams include, in order, Georgetown, Ennis, Rockwall, Gregory-Portland, Brownwood, Kerrville, Huntsville, Lubbock

Estacado, Waco Connally and Weatherford.

THE DRIVER of a pickup (left) sustained injuries when he failed to stop at the intersection of FM 369 and 367 late Sunday afternoon and rammed into the rear end of a sedan (above) which had stopped. None of the unidentified occupants was believed to be a resident of the Iowa Park area. Iowa Park volunteer firemen were called to wash down fuel which had spilled onto the intersection's pavement. Traffic was tied up more than 30 minutes while ambulance workers cared for the pickup driver.

So you're thinking of buying a home?

If you are in the market for a new house, consider carefully the amount of the down payment to be made. If you plan to buy a house and live there only a short time, you should make the smallest down payment possible. That will make your loan easier to assume for someone else buying the home when you sell. Even if the interest rate is escalated to the going rate at the time of the assumption, closing costs will be minimized.

On the other hand, if you plan to keep the home several years, consider a larger down payment to reduce the interest charged on the loan. The smaller your loan, the smaller will be the total amount you pay in interest.

These down payment suggestions are just general guidelines. Every individual's situation is unique. But always keep in mind that the more you put down, the lower will be the monthly payment. Conversely, the smaller the downpayment, the higher the monthly payments.

CHECK ON SYNDICATIONS
Syndications of real estate allow you to pool your money with that of other investors to buy property which may yield a handsome return.

Syndicated property, however, can be overpriced and the transaction structured with overly generous fees for the promoter. If that is the situation, there will be little profit for you and a good possibility of a loss. The integrity and track record of the syndicator are of paramount concern. Be sure to check those matters, as well as the property being purchased. Do not be pressured into a transaction.

You should invest only after you feel comfortable with the property, the people involved and the amount you stand to lose. Be wary of the salesperson who approaches you with a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity that you must agree to immediately. Do not hesitate to ask a lawyer, accountant and appraiser for suggestions.

SINGLE PERSONS BUY HOMES, TOO

If you live alone, you may wish to consider what an increasing number of singles are doing—buying a home. Singles have become a fast-growing segment of the housing market, mainly as the result of a big increase in the number of people in the prime homebuying ages. This factor is coupled with an increasing number of divorces, persons getting married later in life and people who just prefer to live alone. Also, the number of widows has been increasing in Texas by 10,000 per year, and they now number well over 500,000.

While singles as a whole are buying many types of housing, they seem to prefer townhouses and condominiums. These two forms of ownership are preferred because they offer many advantages of a single-family residence while minimizing the problems of exterior maintenance and yard work.

WHAT IS AN APPRAISAL?
Real estate values ultimately depend upon opinion—the opinion of a willing buyer and a willing seller. It is often useful to obtain the opinion of real estate values from a competent and disinterested third party. This is the role of an appraiser.

An appraisal is an opinion, or judgment, as to the value of a particular piece of property. An appraisal's accuracy depends upon the basic competence and integrity of the appraiser and the soundness and skill with which the data is collected and processed.

An appraisal report should permit the reader to follow the appraiser's reasoning and to concur in the conclusions reached. When transferring the ownership of property, a current appraisal report, preferably from a professional independent fee appraiser, can be quite useful.

BEST TIME TO SELL APPROACHES

Unlike stocks, bonds and commodities that can be sold on short notice, homes for sale require several weeks or months of market exposure. Here are some hints about when to sell.

You should consider listing your property in the winter or spring. This will allow you exposure time before the peak selling months of July, August and September. Of course, the best time to sell is when you have a willing buyer, but you need to allow plenty of time to sell.

Prices and numbers of homes sold in Texas increase in the summer—a seller's market. Winter is a buyer's market. However, it is generally in your best interest to buy or sell when you must rather than to wait for the "best" season. Investors and persons with flexible housing alternatives can more easily take advantage of seasonal changes in the market. THE REAL ESTATE CONSUMER is provided as a public service by this newspaper and the Texas Real Estate Research Center. Fleahopper control decision due now

By Don Decker
County Agent

The decision needs to be made now on whether to control fleahoppers in cotton planted after the first of June. Cotton this age is beginning the first week of fruiting which is the critical stage for being hit by fleahoppers. Squares about the size of a pin head are "blasted" by fleahoppers.

The good news is the tendency for fleahopper numbers to be declining. Counts were running very high about two weeks ago in the early planted cotton within the cotton scouting program. For example, Rex Wells had two fields where fleahoppers could be found in 50 percent of the terminals. However, the cotton was growing so fast, the fleahoppers could not damage enough squares to justify control measures. Cotton can lose up to 50 percent of the squares in the Rolling Plains before control can be justified. Close scouting is required to make the square loss determination.

Leo Fletcher, cotton scout, checked this cotton a week later finding fleahopper numbers had reduced to 20 percent. In the meantime, the cotton had set 4 to 6 squares per plant. This is about all the fruit cotton can hold.

If fleahopper damage is bad enough for control measures, low rates of either Dylox or Cygon is recommended. This will suppress the fleas without causing heavy damage to the beneficial insect population. These beneficials will be needed soon. The first and only major bollworm flight is expected on July 27-29. For this reason, a special cotton insect meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. Monday at the store in Valley View.

Wichita County producers can expect a letter during the week of July 27 from the Texas Department of Agriculture for the purpose of recertifying the private pesticide applicator license. This is important so don't misplace it. The application for renewal must be returned to the T.D.A. in order for a producer to keep his private applicator license in force. There is no cost - just return the renewal application.

IOWA PARK LEADER

Of course, you can continue paying 25 Cents each week at the Newsstands!

Wichita Falls. Parker is general chairman of the auction; Steger is chairman for the Iowa Park area.

Auction raises $152,125

The 13th annual Crippled Children's Livestock Auction held Saturday in Wichita Falls raised $152,125 for North Texas Rehabilitation Center. Cash donations were coming in daily and more are expected, Joe Parker, general chairman, said.

More than $160,000 is expected by Aug. 1, Parker said. Although the sale is considered very successful, the total raised is below the record setting $180,000 raised in 1980. Parker said it is not impossible that the final count will meet last year's total.

"We're hopeful, that like in the past, people will continue to respond with donations," he said.

Parker was especially appreciative of the chairmen and committee members who were involved in working on the auction—and the donors and buyers—as well as those who worked behind the scenes at Wichita Livestock Auction.

Hollis Dickey of Ringling, Okla., again was the auctioneer and the ranchers and farmers who donated the livestock—and in some cases bought also—were generous in contributing to helping both handicapped children and adults.

Bill Steger was chairman for Iowa Park, assisted by Ralph Harvey III. The MuleSkinners of Iowa Park furnished barbecue sandwiches for sale during the auction with proceeds going to the auction.

Haire, Mankins wedding held Saturday

Miss Judith Ann Haire became the bride of Mark Lester Mankins Saturday evening in a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Ricky Ketton in the Wayland Edwards Chapel of Southcrest Baptist Church in Lubbock. The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haire of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Mankins of Dundee.

The altar area featured a bridal arch of yellow and white day lilies and roses rising above a unity candelabrum flanked by fifteen-branched candelabra entwined with the same flowers.

Wedding musicians were Sue Clayton, pianist, Ruth Crenshaw, organist, David Wayne, violinist, and Ronda Haire of Waco, aunt of the bride, who sang "God, a Woman and a Man," "The Lord's Prayer," "The New 23rd Psalm," "He Has Chosen You for Me," "That's the Way" and "The Wedding Prayer." The congregation sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" while the bride and groom lighted the unity candle.

The bride wore a formal white organza and Chantilly lace gown designed by Mori Lee of New York. The beaded Chantilly lace bodice which rose to an empire waistline featured a Queen Anne neckline and lace bishop sleeves gathered to wide lace cuffs. The accordion pleated skirt fell to a full lace flounce accented with a large row of lace around the top that encircled the skirt at the hemline and extended into a chapel train. To complete her ensemble, the bride wore a silk illusion veil edged with Chantilly lace that cascaded to chapel length from a beaded caplet covered in the chosen lace. The headpiece was designed by Juliet.

The bride's bouquet was a sweeping cascade of silk flowers consisting of white day lilies and gladioli with yellow sweetheart roses, breeze and English ivy added to give a touch of color, and white bridal satin streamers chosen for the finishing touch.

MRS. MARK LESTER MANKINS

Miss Linda Haire, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss LaDonna Broadhurst, Mrs. D'Ann Toland and Mrs. Jana Selchow, cousin of the bride. They wore identical gowns of maize knit and chiffon. In design, the gowns featured criss-cross bodices with spaghetti straps and accordion pleated skirts that swept to floor length from empire waistlines. They wore matching chiffon capelets to complement the gowns. They carried bouquets of yellow day lilies, white breeze and brown orchids gathered to yellow satin ribbons.

Candles were lighted by Misses Leslie and Laurie Mankins, sisters of the groom. They were attired in soft yellow chiffon gowns printed with dainty tea roses in a deeper tone of yellow. Ruffles accented the bodices at the top and the skirts were trimmed with white lace and yellow ribbon at the hemlines. They wore yellow camellias in their hair.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails and a boutonniere of white day lilies and baby's breath.

Joel Mankins, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Bobby Hawley of Wichita Falls, Bennie Ezzell of Holliday and Jimmy Carter of Ft. Worth. They wore tan tuxedos trimmed with dark brown lapels and yellow day lilies for boutonnieres.

Ushers were Greg Haire, brother of the bride, Donald Young of Kamay, Mike Hewitt of Holliday, cousin of the groom, and Matt Hubbard of Eules, another cousin of the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Miss Nancy Williams of Ft. Worth registered guests. Serving at the bride's table were Miss Elisha Brandon and Mrs. Tammy Quisenberry of Lamesa. Refreshments were served at the groom's table by Miss Donna Ruth and Miss Patty Hewitt, cousin of the groom, both of Holliday, and Courtney Hubbard of Eules, the groom's cousin, distributed the rice bags.

Special guests attending the wedding were Mrs. C.A. Henry of Tahoka and Mrs. Lois Haire of O'Donnell, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs. Effie Lester of Holliday, the groom's grandmother.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents Friday evening at the Gridiron in Lubbock.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio and Austin, the couple will reside at 2409-A 48th St. in Lubbock. The groom is a student at Texas Tech Medical School and the bride is an elementary education major at Texas Tech Univ.

Holliday News

Campbell picks Eagles to return championship

With the start of Texas high schools' 1981 football season just around the corner, "a Holliday celebration is a definite possibility," according to Dave Campbell's 1981 edition Texas Football magazine.

Campbell bases his prediction of a district trophy for the Eagles on the return of six offensive and eight defensive regulars among 17 lettermen returning.

As far as predictions go, Campbell has been successful in keeping with the Eagles almost yearly, except for last year. But then, the possibility of injuries to a number of starters isn't considered when making predictions.

That is exactly what happened to the Eagles in 1980, when injuries to a number of key players was considered as a deciding factor in Holliday's three district losses. The Eagles finished the season 6-4, with their only non-district loss to District 9-AAA champion Jacksboro.

In addition to a predicted district championship for the Eagles, quarterback Joel Mankins was placed on an elite list of blue-chip senior talent, which Texas Football says is based on "confidential recommendations of top college scouts and key Texas high school coaches."

Other comments concerning the Eagles include "... (Linebacker) Joe Chase and (Tailback) Ray Looney are two time all-leaguers, and (Quarterback) Joel Mankins (6-2, 195) is a fine leader. In front of Mankins will be linemen Harold Parsons (6-0, 210), Clint Sissom, Mike Martin, Kevin Blankenship, Brian Cunningham, Steve Hill, Brad Hardin, Wayne McDaniel (6-0, 200), Morris Davis and Wade Sadberry. Backs Brad Harmon, Donnie Bridges, Jeff Belcher, Mike Parker, Eddie Flowers, Gil Gilbert and Mike Rathman are others with fine potential."

Female athletes need physicals

Prospective Lady Eagle athletes should pick up physical forms today, or Monday, Tuesday and Thursday of next week, according to Stephen McIlhane, coach of girls' volleyball, basketball and track.

Forms can be picked up at the fieldhouse from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

McIlhane, hired by Holliday trustees during their May meeting, coached girls' athletics for six years in Knox City, and, according to athletic director Don Lucy, comes very highly recommended.

According to McIlhane, volleyball practice will tentatively begin at 10 a.m. Monday, Aug. 10, at the high school gymnasium. Volleyball players should turn in their physicals at that time.

Auxillary meets in cool comfort

Although members of the Lake Kickapoo Volunteer Firemen's Auxillary have been holding meetings at the firehouse for some time, their most recent meeting proved to be a lot more comfortable.

They now have air conditioning.

A new air conditioner, purchased with proceeds from a recent garage sale, was installed before the meeting, providing the firemen with better comfort than experienced in previous meetings. During the meeting, in which president Sheryl Berend presided, it was decided to purchase necessary equipment with the remaining proceeds from the sale for the fire department.

In addition, members were reminded to make articles for the bazaar to be held Labor Day weekend.

CF Foundation names coordinator

Mrs. Debbie Caussey of Holliday has been named to coordinate the Breath of Life campaign for Cystic Fibrosis in Holliday, according to an announcement made by the North-East Texas Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Cystic Fibrosis, an incurable degenerative disease that affects the lungs and digestive system, is the number one genetic killer of children and young adults in this country.

For more information on the Breath of Life campaign, persons can contact Mrs. Caussey at 586-1577.

Rep. Finnell supports suit against windfall profit tax

State Rep. Charles Finnell recently stated he supports the lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of the Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax Act of 1980. The suit was filed by the Independent Petroleum Association of American et al on October 14, 1980.

The basis of the suit is the exemption of oil produced from wells north of the Arctic Circle or on the north side of the divide of the Alaskan-Aleutian Range and at least 75 miles from the trans-Alaska pipeline system.

The above mentioned lawsuit contends that the U.S. Constitution states that all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States and that, since the windfall profits tax is a temporary excise tax on produced, taxable, domestic crude oil, it should be uniformly applied. Without the uniformity of application, some areas (such as the State of Texas) pay a disappointment amount of taxes.

Rep. Finnell said "I am especially concerned that the windfall profit tax as it is currently written makes an unfair hardship on many of our elderly and retired people who otherwise subsist on social security." Over 650,000 Texans alone rely on their small royalty checks as a supplemental source of income to survive in these inflationary times. Three-fourth of those checks amount to less than $200 a month.

State Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday stated that the plan to allow independent oil producers and royalty owners to exempt from the 1980 tax the first 1,000 barrels of daily production was a fairly good alternative solution to the situation and that he would like to see this plan adopted.

Caussey named TSTA leader

Holliday school trustee Durhl Caussey has become president of District IX of the Texas State Teachers Association as of last week, according to TSTA representative Brad Ritter.

Caussey, of Holliday, previously taught at the Vernon ISD Drug Center for three years, at Memphis ISD for one year, Benjamin ISD one year, and is currently a teacher at Northwest Christian Elementary School for the past year.

He was graduated from Seymour High School, earning a bachelor of science and master of science in education from Abilene Christian Univ. He will receive his Ph.D. from North Texas State Univ. in December.

Caussey has been president-elect of TSTA for the past year and will succeed Irene Chittum of Burkburnett as district president.

His wife, Debbie, is a special education teacher in the Wichita Falls ISD. They have two children, Chad, six, and Erica Lee, three.

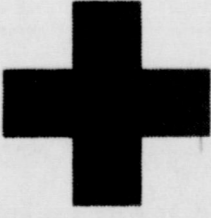

Ice cream social

The Lake Kickapoo Extension Homemaker's club and the Firemen's Association combined recently for their annual family ice cream social in the backyard of Monroe and Joan Kennedy's residence.

Cake and ice cream was served to members and visitors from Wichita Falls, Archer City, Holliday and Jewett.
