IOWA PARK, TEXAS

THAT'S NO LEAK - The City of Iowa Park, on the heels of a news story over the weekend out of Oklahoma, contracted Park Tank Truck to empty several loads of brine water on streets in the business district Monday. The salt quickly melted a coat of ice which had given drivers fits more than two weeks. With yesterday's heavy snowstorm, the timing was considered ideal, as motorists would have been rendered helpless by a snow-covered, two-inch sheet of packed ice.

Photography equipment stolen from high school

A theft at the high school, a case of mistaken identity and a municipal court docket heavy with running stop sign convictions kept Iowa Park police busy.

Last Friday police received a report from David Horsky that an estimated $497.95 worth of photography equipment had been stolen from the photography lab at the high school.

Among the equipment stolen was a 35mm camera and an extra lens, according to the police report.

Sunday officers discovered an apparent attempted burglary of a building at 119 W. Cash. Owned by Short Cook, police said nothing appeared to be missing.

Saturday police received a report from Michael Dozier, 1306 Edgehill, that he had lost a rifle valued at $85. He said it was lost from his vehicle somewhere between his home and Micheal D's Restaurant.

Several weeks ago police chief Jim Voyles said his department would begin a crackdown on persons running stop signs.

Since then the number of convictions in municipal court here for disobeying stop signs has climbed, reaching a peak during last Thursday's session when half the convictions were for the one offense.

From the total of 18 convictions, nine were for running stop signs and each carried a fine of $28.50, according to court records.

Police here are still scratching their heads over an incident that occurred New Year's Day.

During the early morning hours Jan. 1 an Iowa Park police officer found an abandoned car parked near the Top O Texas football field in the 900 block of West Magnolia. It was a light blue 1973 Plymouth and appeared to be broken down, according to the police report.

Police here had the Department of Public Safety run a license number check on the vehicle. DPS replied that the car with that license number was involved in a case being worked by the Fort Worth Police Department. DPS said that license tag number belonged on a car that was stolen from a Weatherford owner three days earlier.

Police here had the information double checked by the DPS and Wichita Falls Police Department. Both said the tags belonged on the stolen car, so the vehicle found by police here was impounded for further investigation.

Later in the afternoon Harry V. Hutchins of 1320 Edgehill Trail appeared at the police station inquiring into the impoundment of his car, the light blue Plymouth that had been left on Magnolia. He had the papers to prove he was the rightful owner.

Police here checked again with the Fort Worth Police Department, and it was discovered the car reported stolen was a 1954 red Plymouth.

Iowa Park police released the car to Hutchins, but they still don't know what caused the mix up.

Two sets of tags just alike could have been issued. The DPS computer could be wrong. Someone in the Fort Worth police organization could have mixed up the letters or numbers to the tag on the red car reported stolen.

Police here said Fort Worth police would notify them when they found the error, but officers hadn't heard anything new by Wednesday afternoon.

School finance bills concern to trustees

School leaders are casting a wary eye toward the state's capital as the Texas legislature gets underway this year. They're wondering if the legislators are willing to make up in state funds what their special session bill cost the districts in revenue, and what other tax bills will be passed in this meeting.

Iowa Park trustees were told Tuesday that the "tax relief" measure Texas voters approved last spring has cost the district $56,000, that more could be expected, and only the actions of the legislators in this session would indicate how finances will be affected for the coming year.

Tax assessor/collector Bill Steger said Iowa Park schools have lost $56,000 in funds off the homestead exemption bill, but added it would "hopefully be reimbursed" by the state.

The district stands to lose $153,000 more if the legislature approves a measure to change farm and ranch land taxing from "fair market value" to "land use value."

A $3,000 homestead exemption was voted on and approved by Texans last spring. This applies to all homeowners, Steger said.

But the $3,000 is in addition to the $3,000 already approved by the local school trustees for persons 65 years of age and older, affecting about eight percent of the homes on the local tax roll.

Where the state is supposed to reimburse the local district for the exemption given to all persons, it does not apply to those additional exemptions approved locally.

Other measures included in the tax relief bill have added a considerable workload to tax office personnel, which in turn will increase that department's expenses.

Steger said he could not yet estimate how many more people he would need in his office to comply with the new law.

He also pointed out that any changes upward in local taxes would require public notices, public meetings and considerable problems to political divisions which had not been experienced in the past.

SPECIAL MEETING

School trustees will hold a special meeting at 7:30 Monday night to consider two topics: an additional gymnasium at the high school; and consideration of purchasing land for future building trades class projects.

Trustees said they wanted to meet with an architect to discuss his ideas on design and cost of another gym, which is said to be the major need of the entire school system at the present.

Though the new gym could be used for additional basketball games, it would primarily aid the school by affording needed space for physical education classes. Some periods of PE classes are said to be crowding upwards to 100 students, male and female, in the lone high school gym during winter months.

This year's building trades class project consumes the balance of land purchased six years ago on West Texas and land for future project homes must be acquired for future years. Revenue from the sale of the homes makes the class completely independent financially of any tax funds.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business: * Trustees heard reports from counselors Coleen Roberts and Herman Escue;

* Instructed Harold Cowley to add the junior high stadium on the summer work program for maintenance and repair;

* Decided not to sell Valley View football field lights to an organization in Electra;

* Heard a report cost estimated between $41,600 and $43,000 will be required to eliminate a structural problem at the high school gymnasium, caused by a design error;

* Were told December's student participation at cafeterias was an all-time high of 83 percent; and unless costs take a downward turn, prices for meals will have to be increased by this time next year.

* Accepted resignations from two West Wichita Cooperative personnel, Nikki Phillips, high school resources teacher, and Nancy Ghoson, junior high teacher aide; and hired LaRae Collins and Anna Phillips, respectively, to replace them.

CITY HEARS PROPOSAL

New businesses may locate here

If the city council can work out certain sewer problems, Iowa Park may grow enough to include a major truck stop and restaurant facility, and possibly a motel.

The subject was proposed in a letter to the council when it met Monday, for the first time since early December.

Site of the proposed addition would be the northeast corner of Bell Road and Expressway 287. It would include a truck stop and Howard Johnson restaurant, and possibly a motel adjoining at a later date.

The letter was submitted by H.M. Nipper, a member of the Iowa Park Industrial Development Corp.

The investors proposed to install a six-inch sewer line south along Bell Road to Washington St., where a lift pump would carry the contents to existing lines.

It has long been the desire of the city to have a lift pump located in that area, to accommodate several houses which have never been served by city sewer lines because of the cost factor.

Alderman Bud Adams, commissioner of the water and sewer departments, pointed out a study should be made to determine if existing lines could handle the additional load.

He pointed out that a problem already exists at the Texowa and Pecan intersection, where sewage often bubbles out of a manhole during peak periods when the line cannot handle the load.

Council members immediately agreed that the situation should be fixed, at an estimated $10,000 expense, whether the truck stop proposal was approved or not.

Members of the council found no exceptions to the new facility being built and coming into the city; to a sewer line which would enhance service on the east side of the town; and to a proposal in the letter that no connections be made on the line unless the customer were brought into the city.

But further study was needed, as members expressed views, as to the size of the line, and the developer's desire to recoup installation costs "...plus a reasonable earned interest" from future connections.

No time was set for a work session on the proposal.

Alderman Adams pointed to a study made some three years ago by an engineer, in which an additional line to carry sewage from the east side of town to the treatment plant, plus lift pumps and other work, would cost an estimated $400,000. Overloaded transmission lines were noted in that study.

NEW BILLING SCHEDULE

The council approved a proposal made by City Administrator Steve Morath to change the present policy for sending out water bills.

All water customers receive their bills at the same time. Morath proposed that water bills be sent out three times a month.

Meter readers have the city divided into thirds, he explained. As it now stands, when the first third meters are read, that section's bills are not mailed until three weeks later, at the first of the month.

By changing the policy and sending out bills at the time they are read, bills would be more current, and the workload of receiving payments would be equally spread over the month, Morath said.

Citizens would still have a grace period in which to make their payments.

Change in billing date policy will require an amendment to the city's water ordinance, so it will be at least three weeks before the new policy is put into action.

PURCHASE CAR

The council approved purchase of a used automobile for the police department, representing a savings of several thousand dollars.

To replace a patrol car which was heavily damaged in an accident some months ago, aldermen approved an offer from Shaw Motor Co. for a 1976 Ford Grand Torino for $2,700.

The vehicle, equipped with "police package" equipment, has only 22,000 miles and was recommended by both Morath and Chief Jim Voyles.

Morath's recommendation not to accept a $500 bid on the wrecked patrol car was approved by the council, and it will be advertised for new bids. Only one bid was received.

Members did accept a $25 bid on a 1958 pickup, however, from John Stenken.

During a general discussion period, Mayor Johnny Crawford suggested the council consider not filling the vacant seat held by the late Eldon Thompson, until the regular April election, at which time, if allowed by state statutes, the unbalanced number of positions up for election might be corrected.

He was referring to the situation where every two years, three council positions and the mayor's position come up for vote, while on the off years only two council positions are elected.

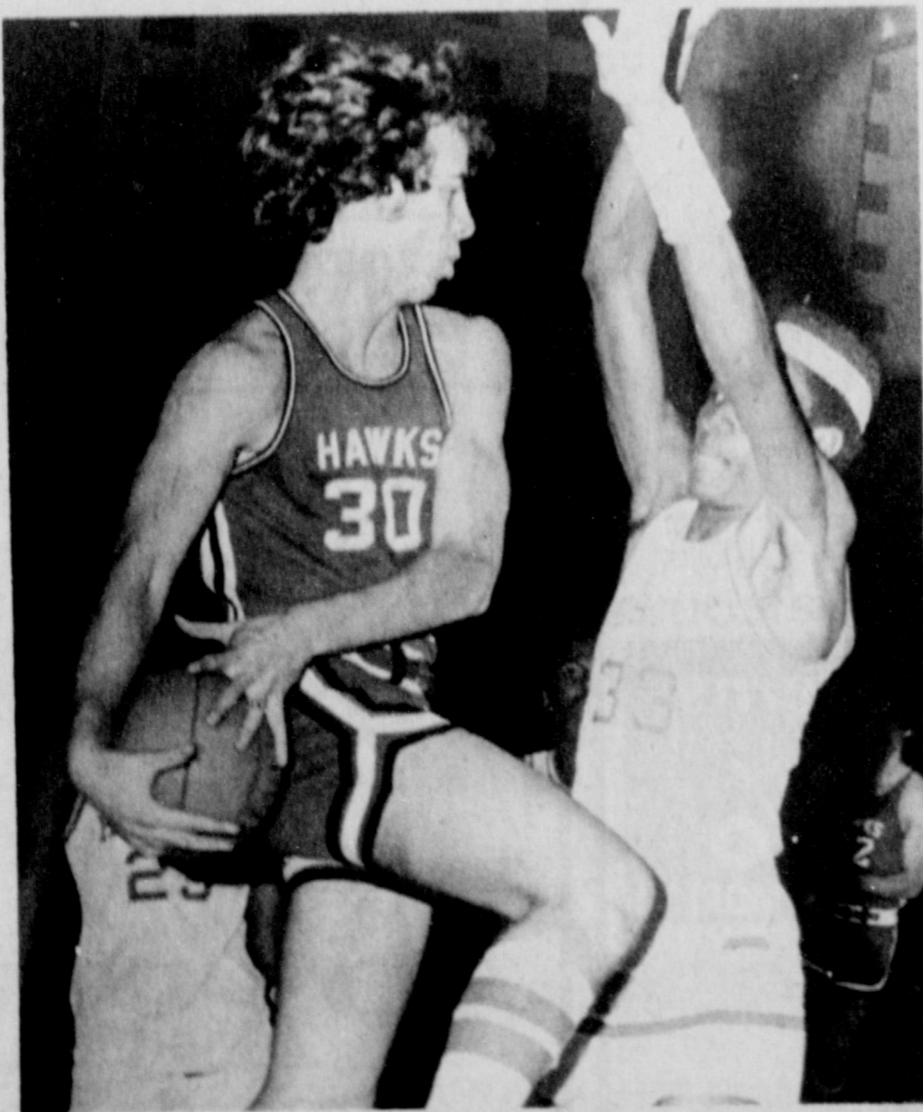

City Attorney O.N. Newman was asked to research the laws to see if such a change was permissible, which would allow Thompson's position to be voted on this year for a two-year period. He was elected last year.

Permit total falls short

Building permits almost took a run backwards during December, according to figures reported by the city hall.

After zooming to $1,622,955 during the first 11 months, permits dropped off to only $4,600 in the final period. That gave 1978 a total of $1,627,555, which fell short of the record $1,735,750 record for construction here established in 1962.

Permits issued during December included: James Perry, 102 E. Bank, storage, $1,500; James Swan, 707 W. Texas, storage, $3,100.

HARRY HUTCHINS and the rest of the Hawk basketball team got on the winning side of the column Tuesday night when they defeated Burk Burnett 52-50 for their first Dist. 4-AAA victory. More about the Hawks and the Hawkettes, who are unbeaten in conference play, is on page 9 of this issue.

National problems meeting topic

The theme for the 23 Study Club program Thursday afternoon was inspired by action the General Federation of Women's Clubs had taken in prodding current national problems. The two problems considered at the meeting were school busing and balancing the national budget.

Miss Ethyle Kidwell's topic was "Has Busing Been Effective?". She stated "the consensus of news magazines seems to support the conclusion that busing has not achieved its original purpose." She continued stating that busing had been in effect for 24 years at a cost of millions of dollars with very little effect on quality education. The well known educator concluded, "Quality education should be the concern of all parents."

"Balancing the Budget" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Travis Smith. She called attention to the fact the Federal government spends over a million dollars daily for a total indebtedness of seven and a half trillion dollars, and that 22 states had approved the calling of a constitutional convention for the purpose of balancing the budget.

In concluding Mrs. Smith observed "the president and Congress should stick their necks out and act decisively to balance the budget because our country cannot continue to spend like it has."

Mrs. T.M. Clark was leader for the program.

Mrs. James A. Sewell gave the history of the autoharp and a demonstration of the instrument for the arts number. She told that it was invented in 1883 by Charles Zimmerman who needed a special instrument to make use of his unique musical notation system. She said that even though the notation system did not become popular the autoharp has known several periods of popularity.

Mrs. E.F. Soell conducted the business.

The home of Mrs. C.A. Hicks was the setting for the meeting. Mrs. O.E. Lochridge was co-hostess.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cutwork embroidered cloth over red satin. The centerpiece was a bouquet of red carnations from which banners lettered with "Happy New Year 1979" extended onto the table.

Also present were Meses. Keith Aulds, Joe Singer, C.L. Metz, Earle Denny, Sam Hill, Rollins Woodall, D.O. James, C.E. Birk and Earl Watson.

Thompson-Johnson wedding held at Methodist Church

Simplicity and beauty were characteristic of decorations arranged for the double-ring ceremony at First United Methodist Church Saturday evening uniting Miss Vicki Diane Thompson and Phillip Wayne Johnson, two well known and popular members of the younger set. The Rev. Michael Jackson, pastor, directed the couple in recitation of their nuptial vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon W. Thompson Sr. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Roy Johnson.

The altar was tastefully decorated with fifteen-branched brass candelabra intertwined with emerald and leather leaf greenery accented with white satin bows, featuring tall white candles glowing to provide the only illumination. Twin arrangements of white gladioli, yellow mums and the chosen greenery atop brass stands on either side of the candelabra completed the dignified setting. The pews where mothers were seated were marked with white satin bows.

The prenuptial musical presentation was offered by Danny Biggs of Wichita Falls, organist, and Miss Carrie Cole, soloist. The organist played a medley of appropriate selections, including "Liebestraum," "At Dawning," "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," "Walk Hand in Hand," "I Love You Truly," and "Whither Thou Goest." He accompanied Miss Cole for her solo "Wedding Song," then played "Trumpet Voluntary" for the processional.

The soloist sang "May the Grace of Christ Our Savior" during the service which was concluded with prayer by the minister and the bride and groom and wedding guests repeating The Lord's Prayer in unison. The organist played Purcell's "Trumpet Tune" for the recessional.

Following a popular custom of paying respect to mothers of the couple, the bride presented them with long stem red roses during the service, to her mother during the processional and to the groom's mother during the recessional.

Escorted to the altar and presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown to complement her youthful beauty. Fashioned of white organza and Chantilly lace, the slightly raised bodice was distinguished with a high neckline and sheer cameo-detailed yoke trimmed in lace, pearls and a self-pleated ruffle, and long sheer sleeves cuffed in the pleated lace.

The full skirt that swept into a lace-edged chapel train was covered with the wide lace from the waistline to hemline in the back, then lifted at either side to form an inverted V below the front waistline. Her fingertip bridal illusion veil graced with lace drifted from a Juliet cap ornamented with the lace and pearls.

The colonial bridal bouquet consisted of white roses, ming fern, gypsophila and rhinestone hearts back-grounded by white lace. She further complemented her costume by wearing diamond earrings, a wedding gift from the groom, for "something new." She wore her late paternal grandmother's wedding band for "something old," a single strand of pearls that belonged to her sister, Mrs. Bob Cole, for "something borrowed," the traditional blue garter and lucky sixpence in her shoe.

Miss Debbie Cole of Plano, niece of the bride, participated in the wedding as maid of honor. Mrs. Jerry Spruiell and Miss Julie Davis were bridesmaids. They wore formal lush green velvet gowns trimmed in white lace. The empire-waisted dresses featured lace-accented scoop necklines and long sleeves and skirts with smart back fullness. Each young lady carried a lacy colonial bouquet of white miniature carnations, yellow sweetheart roses, baby's breath, ming fern with yellow and white satin streamers, adding the finishing touches.

The groom wore three yellow sweetheart roses combined with satin leaves for a boutonniere with his white tuxedo with black velvet collar and vest.

The best man, groomsmen and ushers were attired in green tuxedos with matching velvet collars and vests and light green shirts. Fathers of the couple wore black tuxedos trimmed in black velvet.

David Copeland of Wichita Falls took part in the wedding as best man. Steve Hines and Tommy Casey of Abilene were groomsmen and the ushers were Ken Johnson, brother of the groom, and Steve Sorey. For the wedding and reception given in the Fellowship Hall of the church by the bride's parents, her mother wore a predominantly blue floral Qiana gown with cowl neckline and long sleeves. The groom's mother selected a light green A-line Qiana gown topped with a matching chiffon cape. Each wore a white cymbidium orchid tipped in the color to harmonize with her gown.

Miss Sharon Lippe of Wichita Falls served at the lovely lace-covered and beaded bride's book, the handiwork of the groom's mother and maternal grandmother, Mrs. R.L. Good. The white satin-covered table that held the book was appointed with two yellow sweetheart roses in a white milk glass vase. Wedding guests registered with a silver pen engraved with PWJ, a gift to the groom from the bride.

The soft white satin cloth that covered the bride's table featured an overlay of lace on top and a floor length skirt that was enhanced with pleats at intervals around the edge of the table. The centerpiece was a four-branched silver candelabrum filled with white candles and centered with a bowl of white sweetheart roses, miniature yellow carnations, ming fern, baby's breath and white wedding bells.

The towering four-tiered pale yellow bride's cake was characterized by both beauty and sentiment, the latter seen in a miniature bride and groom, used by the bride's sister and her brother at their weddings, standing on the third tier between tall Grecian columns supporting the top tier completely covered with frosting roses. Cascades of pale yellow roses with contrasting vari-colored green leaves on each tier put the finishing touches on the confection to produce a picture long to be remembered.

Fitting into the decor of the bride's table were the crystal and silver services and the white bridal napkins engraved with "Phil and Vicki." Miss Karen Andersen and Mrs. Terry Davis presided at the table.

The groom's table was covered with a full length textured green linen cloth. An appointment of special interest was the groom's great-grandfather's Bible printed in 1856 with scripture translations in both Swedish and English. Votive candelabrum decorated with greenery and grapes, the round chocolate cake frosted with medium yellow rosebuds, avocado leaves and circular vines and the silver coffee service were other appointments.

Mrs. Bob Cole and Miss Lisa Cole served at the groom's table, then Miss Cole, niece of the bride, assisted Miss Jana Thompson, another niece, in distributing the green and white net rice bags to guests from silver trays.

Mrs. Otis Gay, pianist, provided music during the reception.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening in the Bounty Room at Trade Winds. The table where the bridal party sat was centered with a long arrangement of yellow carnations, yellow sweetheart roses, leather leaf and white wedding bells.

During the evening, the bride presented jade earrings to her attendants.

Following a short wedding trip, the newlyweds are at home at 418 Fran Lane in Wichita Falls. Her going away costume was complemented with a corsage of white sweetheart roses, ming fern and rhinestone hearts.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Iowa Park High School. She was a member of A Cappella Choir for three years, Hawk Band. She has held numerous offices in Methodist Youth Fellowship and is former youth choir director of First United Methodist Church. She will receive a B.S.E. degree from Midwestern State University in May. At the university, she is a member of the choir, and vice president of the Speech and Hearing Association. She is also a University Honor Roll student.

The groom was graduated from MSU in December with a B.B.A. degree. He is employed by Texas Band and Trust Co. as head of the loan department. In high school, he was a member of the football team. A Cappella Choir and was in vocational agriculture.

Child abuse is program

Mrs. Barry Mahler gave an informative program on "Child Abuse" for the meeting of Epsilon Eta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Thursday evening.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Spears and Mrs. Charles Dudley was the co-hostess. Mrs. Mahler stated that at one time there were very few laws to protect children from abuse, but now, following an example set by the state of New York in 1963 on reporting child abuse, all 50 states have laws to protect children.

She described the four types of abuse: physical, sexual, neglect and emotional. She said that most child abuses come from parents that had been abused, and most of the time given when parents are distressed.

"Child abuse is not limited to the lower class of people; it also includes the middle and upper classes," she stated. As she stressed the need to be aware of child abuse and to report it, Mrs. Barry reminded her listeners that it is now up to a $500 fine or 90 days in jail for one to know of a case of child abuse and not report it. She said that one could make a toll free call, 1-800-252-5400 or dial the Child Abuse number in the telephone directory to report such cases.

Following the program, a surprise stork shower was held for Mrs. Paul Tigrett.

Others attending were Mmes. Carlton Hicks, Richard Hicks, Phil McDonald, Marty Maxwell, Allen Gilstrap, R.B. Faulkner, Larry Hall, Tom Compton, Kennie Jones, Terry Hayley, Dalton Bleeker, Bud Mercer and Roy Johnson.

Cook of the Week

president of Lambda Gamma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

C.R. and Aquilla have two sons, Greg Allen age five, and Clay Adam, two and a half years old. He is a cable splicer for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

FILLING
 1 cup chopped pecans
 1-8 oz. pkg. of cream cheese, softened
 1 1/2 t vanilla
 1 lb. confectioners sugar
 Beat cheese until soft and fluffy. Add sugar and beat until blended. Add vanilla and pecans. Use the mixture to "fill" between layers and to frost the top. Garnish with pecans.

LEMONADE PIE
 1-6 oz. can frozen lemonade, thawed
 (Limeade is also good.)
 1 can Eagle Brand milk
 Drop of food coloring
 1 large carton Cool-Whip, thawed
 Mix lemonade and Eagle Brand, then fold in Cool-Whip. Pour into graham cracker crust and chill.

PUMPKIN BREAD
 3 1/2 cups sifted flour
 2 1/2 cups sugar
 2 t baking soda
 1 1/2 t salt
 1 t ground cinnamon
 1 t ground nutmeg
 2 cups pureed, cooked, or canned pumpkin
 1 cup corn oil
 2/3 cup water
 4 eggs
 Grease and flour 2 (9x5x3 inch) loaf pans. Stir together in large bowl first six ingredients.
 Stir together pumpkin, oil and water. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition.
 Make well in center of flour mixture. Add pumpkin mixture and stir until flour is moistened. Pour into pans and bake at 350° about an hour. For best flavor, wrap in foil and store overnight.

TACO SALAD
 1 bell pepper, chopped
 1 bag of Taco-flavored Doritos
 1/2 large head of lettuce
 1 large tomato
 8 oz. sharp Cheddar cheese, grated
 1 can red kidney beans
 1 lb. hamburger
 1 envelope onion soup mix
 1 bottle Catalina salad dressing
 Brown hamburger and drain grease. Add onion soup mix and mix well; set aside.
 Break up lettuce and add slices of tomato. Drain kidney beans and rinse with water; add to lettuce. Then add bell pepper and cheese. Toss with Doritos, sprinkle with hamburger mixture. Pour dressing over and serve.

BAKED BEANS
 1 large can Pork & Beans
 2 t Worcestershire sauce
 1 onion, chopped
 3 slices bacon, chopped
 1 cup brown sugar
 2 T mustard
 About 1/2 cup Velveeta cheese
 Mix all ingredients. Bake in 300° oven for almost an hour or until onion is done and cheese is melted, or Cook in saucepan over low heat until onion is done and cheese is melted.

SPICED CARROT CAKE
 With
CREAM CHEESE FILLING
 2 cups all-purpose flour
 2 t ground cinnamon
 2 t baking powder
 1 t salt
 2 cups sugar
 1 cup salad oil
 4 eggs
 2 cups shredded raw carrots
 1 cup chopped pecans
 1/2 cup raisins
 Sift together flour, cinnamon, baking powder and salt in the large bowl of an electric mixer. Beat sugar and oil for 2 minutes. Beat in eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add flour mixture, beating just until blended. Mix in carrots, pecans and raisins. Pour into two 9-inch layer pans that have been greased and floured. Bake at 350° for 35 minutes or until it tests done.

CHOCOLATE OATMEAL COOKIES
 [No Bake]
 Cream together:
 3/4 cup soft butter or margarine
 Add:
 3 T cocoa
 1 T water
 1/2 t vanilla
 Blend well, then add:
 2 cups uncooked oats. Shape into balls and roll in powdered sugar.

We are heading down the Welfare

th Quoting

State road, and the fundamental fallacy lies in the attempt to do good at somebody else's expense, states Friedman. Nobody spends somebody else's money as carefully as he spends his own. That is why trying to do good at someone else's expense leads to financial crisis.

If you are going to do good at someone else's expense, you have to take the money away from him, and that leads to loss of freedom. In going from 10 percent of national income being spent by government (federal, state and local) in 1929 to 40 percent or more today, we have maintained a large element of individual liberty. But, there is a tipping point. Chile, a poor country, tipped over at 40 percent; wealthier Britain appears on the verge of tipping over at 60 percent.

Friedman claims the base of our problem is the failure to recognize the distinction between the "political market" on the one hand, and the economic market on the other. The political system has a "marketplace" but it employs a different kind of mechanism. In the political market, all decisions have to be yes or no. The result is that there is often very little relation between what you vote for and what you get.

Suppose the question at issue is whether neckties should be red or green? If that is decided by a political mechanism, and 51 percent vote for red neckties, then 100 percent of the people get red ties. In the economic market, the same vote of the people would result in 51 percent of the people wearing red ties and 49 percent having green ties. Everybody gets what he votes for.

Paradoxically, the economic market is a more effective means for achieving political democracy than is a political market, says Friedman. If you are paying out of someone else's pocket, you don't have much incentive to examine the issue. If a special interest group lobbies for a measure that would add 50 cents to our tax bill in a year, we don't bother about opposing it.

Friedman said this is the fundamental defect of the political system ... special interests have a great incentive to promote their own interests at the expense of the general public. Each of us separately tries to use the government mechanism to get special benefits.

The costs are diffused, more programs are passed, leading to greater expansion of government and, ultimately, to even greater control over the individual.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

According to one women's fashion publication, this summer we can look for two extremes -- the "Clean-Cut All-American Look" and the "Sexy, Barer-Than-Ever Look."

Fashions, especially women's, never cease to amaze .... and frustrate and confound me.

People are always wondering what next season's fashions are going to be. They're easy to forecast. One way is to look back at fashion publications 35 years earlier. The other is to see what fashions the minorities are wearing. You'll hit the forecast correctly on one or both points.

Designers appear bent on having our women revert to the World War II designs now. The "Retro" look, they call it. This is made comical, when the designer attempts to dress up the 1944 style with a touch of Disco.

These designers come up with some beauts for fashion names, too.

Take for instance the one called the "French Bustier." That's pronounced boos-tee-ay, meaning a figure-molding, bra-like bodice.

And what I said about watching the clothes the minorities are wearing to forecast future styles is a fact.

The hippies can be credited with the big splurge of denim Americans have been wearing in high fashion the past few years.

Designers saw them being worn on campuses, along the streets and highways, and in the mountains. Why did the hippies wear Levis and other denim wear? Easy, they were the cheapest and longest-wearing clothes you could buy .... back then.

Remember those sharp-pointed toes on men's shoes in the late 1960s? You couldn't buy a man's shoe without the pointed toe, right?

Well I saw them on the feet of the itinerant farm workers on Saturday nights in the early part of that decade.

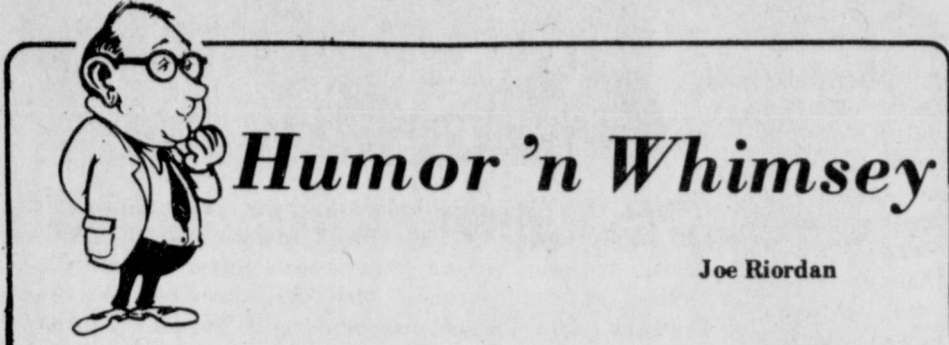

Men's clothing styles don't change as rapidly as do women's however. That figures. Men don't have the money to spend on clothes their female counterparts have. Our clothes are expected to last a while longer. Like 10 or more years.

I'm convinced you can look for fewer women in slacks the next few years, than we've had the past couple. It's time for another big change.

Why would I come up with that? Easy, they, the designers, are trying to reintroduce women to dresses by designing outfits with pant legs and a dress over the outside.

Reminds me of the outfits little school girls used to wear on cold winter days at school. There's nothing like a gingham dress over a pair of jeans.

With the world's economic situation, designers are surely going to pull out a couple of styles they haven't used in more than 35 years: basic bear skin and fig leaves.

Humor 'n Whimsey

Joe Riordan

There's an old wife's tale that beefsteak is a good cure for a black eye.

Don't believe it. I just took the steak off my eye and put it on the grill. It will probably do more good there than where it was. I plan to have a sandwich later.

But, of course, you don't care about my eating habits. You're more interested in how I acquired the shiner now dimming my left peeper.

It is the Lifetime Helpmate's fault. Once again, she decided we should go country and western dancing. C&W dancing is my second favorite pastime.

My first favorite is hitting my thumb with a hammer -- it feels so good when I stop.

But, off we went to the Silver Saddle Saloon and Dance Hall. Nyek Nostryl and the Nasty Nyte Ryders were playing. The music was loud -- as usual. When the guy with the amplified guitar hit the first cord -- my watch crystal shattered and fell on the table. The evening went down hill from then on.

The couples on the floor danced so close together I thought someone had perfected a technique to wire navels together. I haven't seen two people, of the opposite sex, hold each other that close since the sheriff stopped the showing of the stag movies at the Annual Game Dinner and Evening of Social Improvement, sponsored by the Muskrat's Lodge.

When the band played, "My Father Isn't a Married Man, So You Know What That Makes Me" -- the Lifetime Helpmate decided we should dance. I stepped on the floor and bumped into the biggest cowboy I have ever seen. He was twice the size of "Bad, Bad LeRoy Brown," and looked as if he grew one more inch he'd just fork. His high roller was screwed on his head. "Watch it, Bub," he growled.

Before I could apologize -- the Lifetime Helpmate told him to remove his hat and mind his manners. That is when his fist, about the size of a left-over Christmas cookie, sailed into my eye.

The Lifetime Helpmate is upset about the entire affair. In fact, she just told me that the next time we go country and western dancing -- she wouldn't say anything to anyone about manners or hats worn on the dance floor.

I am not sure when the next time will be -- but I am prepared for it. I plan to wear the darkest sun glasses I can find and carry a white cane.

Estimated tax installment due

Taxpayers making estimated tax payments on their 1978 income must pay the fourth installment by Monday, January 15. The tax installment should be paid using declaration-voucher 4 from the Form 1040-ES package, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Taxpayers whose anticipated income during 1978 has changed may have to file an amended declaration. Space appears in the estimated tax package to compute an amended estimate, the IRS said.

For more detailed information, taxpayers can obtain IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," available free from local IRS offices. Supplies of the Form 1040-ES package are also available from these offices.

Cattle growth stimulate demonstration is slated

By DON D. DECKER
County Agent
Weather permitting, we'll get our growth stimulant demonstration out this week on the wheat field cattle of Ray Arthur in the Friberg Cooper Community. The purpose of the trial is to measure the added gain of the steers implanted behind the ear with Ralgro. We are expecting an eight to ten percent increase.
Dr. Whitney Rounds,

Extension beef specialist, is assisting with this demonstration. One hundred steers are being implanted with Ralgro. We are being careful to place the pellets under the skin about one inch from the base of the ear. Care is exercised not to crush the pellets nor to inject them into the cartilage or a blood vessel.
Another 20 steers will be used as a control with no implants. Arthur has all of his steers ear tagged. As the steers are implanted, we record their number, description, and weight.

When the cattle come off the wheat, we'll weigh them again individually. The implanted cattle will be compared to the control steers giving the number of added pounds and the percent of weight increase.
Actually, we could do the same thing with group weights; however, larger scale facilities are not available. We think the individual weights may offer some advantage analyzing the results of this demonstration.

The Ralgro provides growth response from about 100 days. At the end of that time, the animals can be reimplanted by a feedyard and still get the same growth response.

The 1978 agricultural census has been mailed to all producers large and small. Farmers and ranchers are requested to complete the census questionnaire and return it to the Census Bureau by Feb. 15.

The census information is used by agricultural producers, agribusiness, industry, and public agencies in many important decisions. The last agricultural census was conducted in 1974. Since that time, many significant changes have occurred in agricultural prices and production patterns. These changes affect individual, as well as overall agricultural decisions.

Information provided in the agricultural census is confidential. The information can be used only for statistical purposes. Individual reports cannot be used for purposes of taxation, investigation, or regulation. Even the copies in an individual's file are immune from legal process.

*****
The 1979 Farmer's Tax Guides are in my office. These are available at the office, or I'll mail copies upon request. Dan Flippin of Electra has already requested his copy.
Information in the guide is helpful to both those who complete their own tax return, as well as producers who have their return prepared by a tax accountant. The return can be only as complete as the information provided to the person preparing the form.

Spraying for lice control on the first warm day is a good investment in time and money for cattle producers according to Emory Boring, Extension entomologist.
All of the regular livestock sprays will control lice.

The open road: 1932

In the summer of 1932 Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Eason of Waco took a vacation trip to Yellowstone National Park. Their Ford two-door sedan, less than a year old, had 17,486 miles on the odometer when they left home. En route they kept a careful journal not only of expenses and mileage, but also of road conditions, unusual occurrences and highlights of the trip.

From this journal today's reader can sample some of the flavor of travel in Texas and the West at that time, and can even learn a few hints about how to spend a night at one of the new-fangled tourist courts that were beginning to appear across the country.

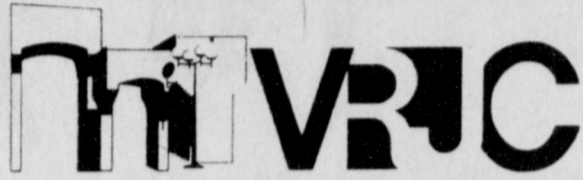

Carbon, turning west at Eastland, and on through Cisco, finding Baird quite a pretty little place, with scenic drives both into it and out; and then through Abilene and Sweetwater. There was but little traffic on the roads.

ring, Midland, Odessa and Barstow; and then to Pecos, where we had intended to spend our first night out, but it being only 4:20 we decided it was too early to stop and would be cooler on the move, though there were plenty of nice looking cottages there. At Pecos we turned north-west onto a lonely highway, which we afterward left at Malaga (New Mexico) to go across to the Carlsbad Caverns.

conveniences, but most of the cottages have a cook stove and breakfast nook as they rent them for regular apartments when the tourist season is over.

of their customers. "The total cost of this fourteen-day trip was $124.27, which included every penny we spent on the whole journey, including car expense, meals, lodging and all other expenses. This was an average of $8.87 a day."

Having been told that Black River Village was a pleasant place at which to stay all night, we stopped there at about sundown. This cross road was a mere trail, and we thought we were lost several times before reaching there. This village is a tourist cottage camp, the duplex cottages being new and built of stucco and some distance from each other, and located on the banks of the Black River, and being on the nearest route to the Caverns. Here we got a lovely apartment ($2.50) with all conveniences, including kitchenette, breakfast nook, frigidaire, etc., in fact everything any one could need, it being completely furnished.

"We went to bed early, having traveled 533 miles that day. And did we sleep! We did not know a thing until the sun awoke us the next morning.

"And now a word about tourist camp cottages; we found plenty of them all along the way; if we stopped at one and did not like the looks of it we went on to another; we were usually able to find nice, clean ones, with the conveniences. We took our meals at restaurants after the first day, so we were not interested in the cooking and eating

ANNOUNCEMENT

HERE, AT PARK PHARMACY, we have recently installed a modern Taxco Record System, to make available to you, at any time, a complete record of your original Prescriptions and Prescription refills for each year or for any given period.

Under this System your individual record of your Prescriptions will be so maintained as to qualify for Income Tax deduction, Insurance Requirements or for any other purpose under which you may need or desire such a record.

For instance, if you were to lose or misplace your Prescription and had no record of its original Prescription number with which to obtain a refill—it would be instantly available to you under your individual record.

Or, your Doctor may wish to review the medication you have had over a previous period of time; this, too, will be instantly available to him from your personal file.

A copy of your complete record will be available to you at any time or at the end of each year and your record for each succeeding year will become a permanent part of your personal file.

THERE IS NO CHARGE FOR THIS SERVICE — just a request from you to fill out the information below at your convenience and your file will be set up immediately.

For the price of a little can of varnish, you can restore an old friendship by Long Distance.

If one of your old friends doesn't live here anymore, a Long Distance call can keep a friendship bright. A ten minute chat with someone who's fifteen hundred miles away costs less than a small can of varnish. About $2.50 plus tax, dialed One-Plus, 5 p.m. to 11 p.m., Sunday-Friday. Not very much to keep the life in a friendship. Isn't there someone you'd like to call right now... just to keep in touch?

"If we decided today we needed another power plant, these kids would be in college before it could be ready."

"Most people are surprised to learn how long it takes to build an electric generating plant. It takes about eight years to locate and purchase the right site, order equipment, plan and build a lignite-fueled power plant, obtain approvals from all regulatory agencies, and then test the plant's operation carefully. It takes even longer for a nuclear-fueled plant — 10 to 12 years.

Right now, because of the shortage and high cost of natural gas, Texas Electric is building new plants that run on lignite coal and one which will use nuclear fuel.

These plants are very expensive. But we must build them so that when the need is there tomorrow, the electricity will be there too."

Varsities sweep pair from Burk

A sweep by Iowa Park's varsity basketball teams Tuesday over Burkburnett extended the Hawkette season record to 14-2 and 2-0 in district play, while the Hawks finally got on the winning side of the Dist. 4-AAA ledger 1-2.

The Hawkettes have now won both their conference games by identical three-point margins, 41-38 over Burkburnett and Friday night 40-37 over Hirschi.

Trailing 21-15 at the half, Iowa Park outscored the Burk girls 17-6 in the third quarter, and then fought off a savage rally by the hosts of the win.

Jo Ann McClurg, playing with a bruised big toe, led scoring with 14 points, but was closely followed by Tammy Richardson's 13.

McClurg hit her season average of 20 points in the Hirschi game, when the Hawkettes built a 22-15 halftime lead and again had to fight off a Hirschi rally. Jill Watts canned 14 in that contest.

Hirschi won the girls' JV game by a narrow 16-15 margin.

The Huskies just had too much Kelly Edwards in Friday's contest, as they bested the hosting Hawks 81-49. Edwards, who is averaging 28 points per outing to lead all Wichita Falls roundballers so far in the season, canned 34 points and didn't play all the game.

Hirschi jumped to a 28-12 first quarter lead but the Hawks outscored the visitors 15-12 in the second period. The Huskies felt their oats in the second half, however, and out-pointed the Hawks 39-18 to coast to the win.

Jim Richardson was high for the Hawks with 17 and Randall Griffith had 11.

Tuesday's 52-50 cliffhanger over Burkburnett in Bulldog gymnasium was the first win for the Hawks since the Midwestern tournament during the holidays.

The teams were evenly matched in the first half, each scoring 14 points in the first quarter and 12 in the second. Burk went ahead by two points at the end of the third, but the Hawks outscored the Dogs 14-10 in the final stanza to win their first conference game in three starts.

Richardson and Harry Hutchins each canned 14 points to lead Hawk scoring. Burk came out on the top of the JV game by a scant

$2-51 margin.

VERNON HERE

Vernon will be in Hawk gym Friday for a triple header, which is to begin at 5 p.m. with a boys' junior varsity game.

Tuesday the Hawk varsity and JV travel to Lawton to play McArthur, and the following Friday Graham plays here.

No team changes in 1979 schedule

The 1979 Hawk football schedule has no changes from the teams played during the past season, according to a schedule released this week by Head Coach Tommy Watkins.

District 4-AAA teams are in the same, and the non-conference teams are also unchanged.

The Hawks will open the season Sept. 7 at Bowie, then host Decatur and travel to Dallas to play Bishop Lynch Sept. 21.

The Sept. 28 game against Jacksboro has already been designated as Iowa Park High homecoming.

Following the Jacksboro game, the Hawks will meet, in order, Mineral Wells, Graham, Hirschi, Weatherford, Burkburnett and then Vernon Nov. 16. Open date will be Nov. 2.

Games on the Junior Varsity schedule are Rider, Decatur, Bowie, Childress, Mineral Wells, Graham, Hirschi, Wichita High, Burkburnett and Vernon.

Two vocalists to audition

Scott Fowler and Meri Lynne McIlroy have been selected to audition for All-State Choir Saturday at the University of Texas in Arlington. If chosen, they will participate in the State Choir in conjunction with the Texas Music Educators meeting at Fort Worth Feb. 8, 9, and 10.

Janet Walker, high school choir director, will accompany the two students to Arlington. They have already had a series of four auditions to be eligible to compete, and the director stated that the competition Saturday would be difficult.

Administration contracts delayed

Tax relief legislation may force school revaluation

After almost an hour in executive session Monday night Holliday school trustees voted to postpone action on contracts for administrators.

Trustees also heard a report from tax assessor-collector Louis Hodge who said a revaluation of property in the school district may be necessary to make up money lost by legislative tax relief measures.

CONTRACTS

Trustees voted themselves

behind closed doors Monday night to discuss contracts for school administrators Ray Coe, superintendent; Bill Crabbs, high school principal; and Dan Owen, elementary principal and acting superintendent.

On a motion by Dr. Joe Wells, the board unanimously voted to table action on the contracts.

Coe, who suffered a heart attack in October, is due to undergo more tests later this month or in early February, it was reported.

Trustees indicated they would await the outcome of the results of the tests before voting on the contracts at their February meeting.

PROPERTY TAXES

During his report on tax law changes, Hodge said, "The only way we will be able to make up our losses will be to revalue."

He said the tax relief amendment approved by Texans in November was a wolf in disguise and may result in higher taxes for local property owners.

The homestead exemption law included in the tax relief amendment became effective Jan. 1, Hodge said. Other exemptions for agricultural productivity and for persons 65 and older are anticipated to receive easy legislative approval, Hodge maintained.

Although the full impact of the proposals will not be clear until later in the legislative session, Hodge said the Holliday school district stands a chance of losing $123,500 in tax revenue - about 10 percent of its budget.

He said losses caused by the changes probably will be reimbursed by the state for the first year. After that the burden may slip over the local district's shoulders.

If it is left up to the local districts to make up the lost revenue, Hodge said the district here would be forced to revalue property in order to boost its operating revenue.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business Monday night the board designated Holliday, Dundee, Bowman and Lakeside as the sites for ballot boxes in the April school board elections.

Contributions being sought to aid family

Contributions are being collected by the First United Methodist Church in Holliday to aid the Richard McBride family whose home and possessions were destroyed in an early morning fire Saturday.

Money, household items and clothes are needed for Mr. and Mrs. McBride and their two teenage daughters.

Contributions may be made by contacting the First United Methodist Church here at 586-1164 or 586-1758. Mr. and Mrs. McBride and their two daughters were at home when the fire erupted, but they were able to salvage only a few clothes.

Holliday Volunteer Fire Department was hampered in its efforts to extinguish the fire because of frozen water lines.

The McBrides have been living with another daughter in Iowa Park.

Holliday City Council Monday night held a public hearing on and passed an ordinance authorizing the issuance of revenue bonds to help finance renovation of the city water distribution system.

The ordinance calls for the issuance of $170,000 in revenue bonds and repayment of the project in 30 years beginning in 1981.

Ernest Andrews, city engineer, met with the council concerning the project designed to replace deteriorated water lines and purchase a larger water tower anticipated to provide better water pressure, cleaner water and better insurance rates for homeowners with regard to fire protection.

Haggerty Plumbing Co. was awarded a $2,028,100 contract to replace a sewer line in the alley of Block 22.

Councilmen also discussed opening the alley between South Bois D' Arc and South Cedar in Block 62.

Bob O'Neal approached the council concerning street repairs.

Snoopy's Hickory Inn was awarded the contract to cater a meeting of the West Texas Utilities Association which the City of Holliday will host Feb. 18

LADY EAGLES EDGE OUT MILLSAP ...Tommy Lavender surrounded by Millsap players

Council passes ordinance to finance water system

HOLLIDAY NEWS

Varsities split Millsap games

In two suspense-filled games Tuesday night Holliday traded wins with Millsap leaving both varsity teams with 2-2 District 13-A records.

Millsap defeated the Eagles 57-52 after the contest was forced into overtime.

Coach Ralph Klinkerman's red birds held a 32-18 lead at the half, but when the final buzzer sounded it was all tied 50-50.

A stingy Millsap defense and several fouls helped Millsap drop seven points into the bucket to Holliday's two overtime points to take the game.

Mark Wells was highpoint for Holliday with 10. Barry Lawson put in nine while Kent Lemons, Kirk Styles and Greg Dillard each had eight.

The girls contest also went down to the wire with the Lady Eagles edging out Millsap 43-42.

Coach Cotton Davis' gals and Millsap stayed knotted throughout the entire contest. By the end of the first quarter Millsap held a slight 11-10 lead, but by the half the Lady Eagles were ahead 24-20. The end of the third period saw Holliday ahead 35-32.

Mindy Lowder was highpoint for Holliday with 13, trailed by Tommy Lavender with eight.

Holliday's varsity teams are scheduled to go on the road Friday for a 6:30 p.m. Friday tipoff in Nocona.

Next Tuesday the Eagles will be back on the home court as they host Chico in two district matches.

School calendar changed to make up for day lost

By redesigning its calendar Holliday school officials said they would be able to make up the classroom day lost Monday without adding an extra day to the 1978-79 school year.

School was cancelled here Monday due to icy road conditions.

Dan Owen, acting school superintendent, said Monday had been designated as a teacher workday. Teachers were required to report for work Monday, but students were not.

To alleviate the problem of a lost classroom day, Feb. 28, which previously had been earmarked as a teacher workday, has been changed to a regular school day.

"That way we'll be back even with the calendar," Owen said.

The change was an attempt to avoid a situation similar to what happened last year when bad weather caused the cancellation of some winter classes which resulted in Holliday students having to report to the school house on a spring Saturday to make up the lost time.

Despite the bad weather Owen said absenteeism in Holliday classrooms was surprisingly low. He said overall absenteeism was about 12 percent. Owen said he didn't think it would have a substantial effect on Holliday's average daily attendance records.

VJRC offers adult courses

Vernon Regional Junior College school of continuing education will begin offering three adult courses later in January.

Courses being offered include Basic Bookkeeping I, Beginning Shorthand and Beginning Typing II.

Bookkeeping and shorthand courses will be offered on Thursday nights, beginning Jan. 25 from 6:30-9:30 p.m. The courses will conclude May 3, and there will be a $5 registration fee.

The typing course will be taught on Tuesday nights, beginning Jan. 23 from 6:30-9:30 p.m. The course will end May 3.

The courses will utilize facilities at Holliday High School.

News

If you like well prepared food and are interested in how to better prepare your own meals, be sure to attend the District 4-H Food Show Jan. 27, at Sikes Center in Wichita Falls, according to Thelma Wirges, District Extension Agent.

Winners from the district's 21 counties will be competing in both junior and senior divisions. Competitors will be judged on their ability to prepare breads and desserts, main dishes, side dishes and snacks and beverages.

Foods used in the classes are taken from the basic four-food groups necessary to good human nutrition, Miss Wirges says.

Morrison Milling Co., Denton, is the sponsor of the Food Show Program.

Show competitors will be judged on the quality of their recipes, preparation of a day's menu, capability of food displaying and knowledge of human nutrition. Each of the four classes will have two adult judges.

Food prepared for the show will be on display to the show winners at 2:00 p.m. in the Dillard Court, Wirges says.

Senior winners, one from each class, will represent their home counties and the district at the State Food Show at College Station before the State 4-H Roundup, in June, Miss Wirges says.

Drivers education course starting

The classroom phase of a new driver education class at Holliday High School will begin Tuesday, said Bill Lee, instructor.

The driving phase will be offered next school year, Lee said.

With no cost to the student, it is being offered to students in grades 9-12 who will be 15 by Jan. 15.

Lee said there was a good possibility that driver education also will be offered this summer, although a fee will be charged for taking the summer course.
