PARK GREENE-DR. B.F. WATSON
310 W. ALAMEDA
IOWA PARK, TEXAS

HOT POTATOES - Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department personnel were called to the expressway just east of Pacific late Tuesday afternoon to extinguish a fire inside a refrigerated truck. Russet potatoes packed in cardboard boxes were enroute from Colorado to East Texas when smoke was noticed pouring from the truck's vent. Cause of the blaze wasn't known.

OLD RIVALRY

Hawks host Burkburnett tomorrow night

When Iowa Park's Hawks play host tomorrow night to the Bulldogs of Burkburnett, the only thing predictable is that there'll be a football game played.

Both teams will line up at 8 p.m. with winless records on the line, as the Hawks lost to Breckenridge and Trimble Tech, while the Bulldogs lost to Gainesville and Duncan.

The game will have no effect on the Dist. 3-AAAA standings, because it is not a conference game. In an effort to cut down on expensive travel, and still get good competition and good crowds, the two schools signed a two-year pact last year to play twice each season. The conference game won't be played until the final game of the schedule, Nov. 13.

Burk edged Iowa Park in the non-conference game last year, 14-7. But when the long-time rivals met in the final game of 1980, it was host Iowa Park, 18-0. That was Iowa Park's first victory over Burk since 1970.

There are still a lot of question marks, when coach David Baugh is deciding who will play where tomorrow. Three of his key players were injured in last week's battle with the Fort Worth school.

Starting tailback Jim Smith, who was hurt on the first play of the fourth period, is doubtful. He re-injured a knee, and as of yesterday morning, he couldn't bend it or run. That's a major loss, considering he's the team's leading carrier with 201 yards on 20 carries this year, and finished last year just short of 900 yards.

Chris Nethery was moved from alternating tailback last week to the starting fullback post. It was apparently a good move, because the big senior carried six times for 61 yards before leaving the game midway in the second period with an injured knee.

Nethery is "touch and go," according to Baugh, but may start tomorrow. Baugh quoted Nethery's physician, that there was no apparent damage. He was to be given an opportunity yesterday afternoon to run in practice.

Linebacker and alternating fullback Mac Weaver received a small fracture to his left wrist. No cast was put on the arm, and the doctor said he could play if the injury is well protected. Weaver also handles the punting chores for the Hawks.

Baugh has called up from the junior varsity Bobby Kenyon, a 160-pound junior, to fill the fullback position if needed. And Lynn Fulfer is already working out at the slot.

Jerry Fairchild has been the third tailback on the team, and was moved up to the number two slot when Nethery moved to fullback. But he has missed two days practice this week, due to illness.

So Baugh will also be looking at sophomore Greg Untalon, Kevin Parker, Fairchild and Nethery at possible starters at the tailback position, which receives most of the handoffs in the "I" formation play book.

Burkburnett has scored only three points, while giving up 30, in its first two games. "They've been playing some tough people," Baugh points out.

In the Bulldogs' season opener, they met powerhouse Gainesville in the rain. They lost 14-0, setting up both touchdowns on fumbles at the 'Dog 10 yard line. They haven't scored a touchdown since their game before Iowa Park last November, including both scrimmages.

Burk led 3-0 at the halftime against Duncan last week, but the Oklahoma team came out throwing in the second half and finally won, 16-3.

The Bulldogs are large, especially in the line. Baugh said they have a very good defense, and could possibly develop into one of the stronger teams in the district before the year's end.

Money major city topic

Money was the major topic of discussion during Monday's meeting of the Iowa Park city council.

Talk centered around how much federal revenue sharing money would be available and how it might be spent, and explaining to citizens how the city's tax revenue would be increased by 13.47 percent without a tax increase.

Mr. and Mrs. Dutch George were the first to approach the council, while the agenda topic was "public hearing on proposed uses of revenue sharing funds." They represented the library board.

Though they asked for no specific amount, they said whatever portion of the budget could be made available for construction of a new library would be appreciated and needed.

Mrs. George reminded the council it had already allocated $5,000 for the library to expend on architect fees. She said that money could be used, with whatever else the city could provide, for other expenses on the library, because they were not going to hire an architect.

During a discussion of the proposed library building, there arose a question whether it could be built on the site where the old hotel building has stood.

Determined to construct a 6,000 square foot structure, as recommended by the state library board, there is concern the building and adequate parking can be situated on the 75x130 foot lot.

Mrs. George said she felt half the library construction costs will be donated by a foundation which has implied interest, but the balance must be raised through the city and local contributions.

With an anticipated $60,000 in revenue sharing due during the year and a carryover of $32,000, a budget of $92,000 is being studied. Tentative expenditures from that fund include $36,000 for a backhoe, $30,000 for street improvements and $20,000 for city hall renovation.

Two citizens asked about a tax increase, having read a notice in last week's Leader.

It was explained that the 13.47 percent in tax revenue would be realized through increased taxable properties in the city, and some reappraisals, but that there was actually no tax increase in general.

Mayor Johnny Crawford said the $1.05 rate per $100 valuation at 100 percent market value was the same effective rate as the $1.75 per $100 valuation at 60 percent market value which was assessed last year.

Those who will be paying higher taxes this year have already been notified of their reappraisals, he told the audience.

Andy Arrington asked the council for consideration after his permit to locate a mobile home at 615 W. Louisa was rejected recently by the Planning and Zoning Commission. But he was told that he had no recourse.

according to city ordinance.

Arrington claimed to have approving comments from 33 neighbors, and pointed out that he had expended a lot of money and work to get utilities and open a street to his mobile home park.

It was pointed out, however, that the location he proposed to place another mobile home was outside the designated park area which had been approved earlier and permitted to continue operation under a grandfather clause in the zoning ordinance.

OTHER BUSINESS

Aldermen approved purchase of a new police patrol car from Shaw Motor Co., which submitted a bid of $8,997. The other dealership in the city did not offer a bid.

Also approved was a five-year contract for the city to do grave-digging for Tanner-Aulds Funeral Home at Highland Cemetery.

Following a public hearing session which was closed to the public, no action nor discussion was taken on a topic of purchasing a service station to be used as a city vehicle garage.

Music and live performances will be given throughout the day by the Red River Revue.

Viewers will have the opportunity to vote for the people's choice in the arts and crafts display, which this year is expected to be the largest ever held here.

Theft reports run in pairs

Thefts were running in pairs during the past week.

Police received a report of tool thefts from neighbors living on Emma.

Randy Heidrich, 1308 Emma, told police someone removed a 24x12 metal tool box, with tools, from the back of his pickup approximately 4 a.m. Monday. The loss was set at $400.

Heidrich's next-door neighbor, Blaine Kidwell, a resident of 1306, said tools valued at $585 were removed from his box mounted on his pickup at approximately the same hour.

According to police, Billy James filed a complaint that identical equipment was taken from two different trucks parked at his garage on South Wall, sometime between Sept. 4 and 9. Taken were welders, tools and electric grinders, with a total value of $4168.

Josh Goddard told police Tuesday that someone had cut the screen and entered his house at 122 Westview, through a window. Taken were $80 in $20 bills, a jar full of pennies, estimated value of $4, and a $30 turquoise necklace with medallion.

VISITING FIREMEN from departments all over North Texas were in Iowa Park Sunday for a meeting and competition. Some 250 firemen and their wives watched events on Wall Street. Archer City's department almost swept competition: 6-man hookup - Archer City, Crowell, Electra; 2-man hookup - Archer City, Holiday, West Wichita; men's water polo - Archer City, Burkburnett, Electra; 6-woman hookup - Archer City, Cameron Gardens, Windthorst; 2-woman hookup - Archer City, Holiday, Windthorst; women's polo - Crowell, Cameron Gardens and Windthorst. Iowa Park, as host, did not compete.

Tennant, Horton vows pledged Saturday evening

The beauty of simplicity was the favoring factor in altar decorations arranged for the solemn recitation of the marriage pledge by Miss Martha Jan Tennant and Bennie Joe Horton which took place Saturday evening at Faith Baptist Church.

The setting was lighted by candles aglow in seven-branched candelabra entwined with fresh jade accented with pink silk bows and lilac accents. Tall white flower stands holding urns of fresh fern and the unity candlestick decorated in similar fashion to the candelabra were impressive in the decorative pattern.

Rev. Frank Ashby, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Kamay, officiated the double-ring six o'clock ceremony to unite the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.L. Tennant, Jr. of Electra and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Horton of Iowa Park.

Guests arriving at the church registered in the foyer before entering the sanctuary to enjoy pre-nuptial music provided by Mrs. Larry Tennant, sister-in-law of the bride, pianist, and Robin Fox, vocalist. Mrs. Tennant played "Theme from Love Story" and "Quenten's Theme" and accompanied the vocalist for his renditions of "Theme from The Rose" and "Theme from Ice Castles" before the ceremony and "The Wedding Song" during the lighting of the unity candle by the bride and groom. The pianist included the traditional processional and recessional compositions by Wagner and Mendelssohn in her offerings.

The table where guests signed the wedding book gave the first glimpse of the eye catching pink and lilac color combination that was emphasized in the wedding and reception. The cloth was a modified copy of the one created for the bride's table at the reception. The focal points of interest were an attractive white cart filled with dried lilacs and pink silk roses, and a plaque embroidered with the names of the bride and groom and their wedding date, handwork of the bride, the pink feather pen and book.

MRS. BENNIE JOE HORTON

The bride's father escorted her to the altar and presented her in marriage for both parents. She was exquisite in her white silk organza gown that reflected the latest in wedding fashion for bridal gowns this season. The slightly raised bodice was sculpted with Chantilly lace and fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline sparkling with pearls, sheer lace bishop-style sleeves cuffed in lace. A lace apron effect and hemline flounce that formed a chapel length train lent dignified accent to the full skirt.

The bride's headdress was a charming Juliet lace cap touched with pearls atop a waltz length lace-trimmed illusion veil. To complete the picture, she carried a silk bouquet centered with a white orchid encircled with white freesias, pteris, forget-me-nots, miniature pink roses, and seed pearls with trailing white and pink silk streamers attached to a white silk folding fan.

In keeping with bridal traditions, she wore a diamond necklace, a gift from the groom for "something new" and diamond earrings that belonged to Mrs. Dennis Sorey for "something borrowed." She attached her late grandmother's necklace and earrings to her costume for the special "something old"; added a garter for "something blue" and wore a penny dated the year of her birth in her shoe.

Enhancing the sentiment of the occasion, the bride paused by her mother on her way to the altar to present her with a long stemmed silk rose and remembered her new mother-in-law in the same way as she and the groom exited from the church.

Two matrons of honor, Mrs. Paul Bartow of Kamay and Mrs. Don Hammonds of Wichita Falls, and a flower girl, Miss Lydia Brubaker of Abilene, the groom's niece, walked the path to the altar preceding the bride.

The attendants wore modish formal gowns of pink floral organza designed with raised bodices accented with sheer capes and full skirts featuring nostalgic bustles in the back. They carried long stemmed pink silk roses.

The flower girl was attired in a pink organza frock styled with a raised bodice, scoop neck outlined in a ruffle, and a full skirt draped at the sides with ruffles trimmed in satin bows. She carried carnations, daisies, forget-me-nots in the bride's colors in a white basket.

Jim Bob Horton of Wichita Falls, nephew of the groom, the ring bearer, was attired like fathers of the couple in a gray tuxedo with full jacket and vest, white shirt and gray bow tie. He carried the rings on a lace-trimmed white pillow made by the bride and accented with embroidered flowers, doves, names of the bridal couple and their wedding date in pink and lilac.

When the groom met his bride at the altar, he was wearing an all-white tuxedo with waist jacket, tails, cummerbund, bow tie and a fresh pink sweetheart rose backgrounded with baby's breath for a boutonniere.

Lee McClelland of Wichita Falls, the best man, and Blaine Horton, brother of the groom, who served as groomsmen, wore gray tuxedos with waist jackets, tails, white shirts, cummerbunds and gray bow ties.

Ushers were Morris Dillard of Kamay, Dennis Fisher and Larry Tennant, brother of the bride, both of Wichita Falls.

Following the wedding, guests went to the couple's country home for an outdoor garden reception. The patio was richly illuminated with hurricane lamps tied with pink bows.

The grace and elegance of the bride's table was noticeable from every point in the setting. Artistically draped with white Chantilly lace over pink satin, the lace was caught up in swags centered with lilac-accented pink satin bows and bells at the top.

The centerpiece, a five-tiered hurricane light banked with pink and lilac silk roses, pink gladioli and white carnations, was one of the most pleasing table appointments. Others that completed the decor were the cake, crystal punch service, lilac napkins imprinted with names of the bride and groom and their wedding date in silver, and wedding bell-shaped mints.

One of the happiest memories of the couple's wedding day will no doubt be the cutting of their beautiful cake, a four-tiered structure meticulously decorated with trailing lilac roses and pink lilies of the valley and wonderfully detailed patterns of frosting that combined admirably with two sets of lacy columns. The luxurious finishing on top featured a flower-massed arch above white doves resting on wedding bells glamorized with a gleaming look of white satin accented with glowing seed pearls outlining the rims.

The groom's table was laid with lilac satin and appointed with a silver epergne holding pineapple and other fruit tidbits and leather leaf, two silver carafes in matching trays and an assortment of finger foods.

Reception assistants were Mmes. Matt Horn, Brad Costello, Terry Wirmel and Larry Tennant.

Mothers of the bride and groom complemented their long dresses with white silk carnations accented with sheer-toned pink and lilac ribbons. Mrs. Tennant wore a white polyester strapped dress overlaid with a pink floral jacket. Mrs. Horton was attired in a medium blue Qiana dress styled with a V-neck, long sheer sleeves and accordion pleated skirt.

The newlyweds are spending their honeymoon in Las Vegas, Nev. and will live on Route Two when they return. As they left the reception, they were showered with rice contained in the pink and lilac net bags that were handed out during the reception. For travel, the new Mrs. Horton selected a white street-length dotted swiss dress set off with a ruffled tie collar.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Iowa Park High School. She attended Midwestern State University and is presently employed as a bookkeeper for Sooner Pipe & Supply at Kamay. He is a student at MSU and works for Cyrovac.

Mr. and Mrs. A.W. Marchbanks of Kamay and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Horton of St. Louis, Mo., grandparents of the couple, were special guests.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Capper Hall. She was attired in a formal-length gown of white wedding lace fashioned with a fitted bodice and demure scooped

Cook of the Week

Mrs. C.S. (Marjorie) Ketchersid discovered and tried "Shake 'N Make", a mix for oven fried chicken or other meats recently that really made a hit with her family when she used it with chicken. When she was asked to be Cook of the Week, she selected it as the first recipe to share with our readers.

Her recipe for Chinese-style green beans makes use of the quick-cooking method of Oriental cuisine called stir-frying. Cooking vegetables by this method seals in the flavor and original color and preserves their crispness and nutrients. The Chinese have based their eating habits and food preparation for centuries on good nutrition with little or no waste of food. Perhaps a knowledge of Chinese cooking could minimize the current concerns over health and economy.

Mrs. Ketchersid was graduated from Vernon High School and took her training to become a licensed vocational nurse in that city. She worked in several doctors offices and as a supervisor of a nursing home in Dallas. She has also served as an LVN supervisor of Girling Health Care in Wichita Falls. Her hobbies are to painting and reading.

The Ketchersids have lived in Iowa Park seven years. He works for Siemens-Allis in Wichita Falls. They are members of the Faith Village Church of Christ in Wichita Falls. Their children are Kevin, a high school graduate who works for Cryovac, Rowland, a senior, and Jana, a sophomore at Iowa Park High School.

SHAKE 'N MAKE

(Oven frying mix for chicken)

- 2 cups unseasoned packaged bread crumbs
- 2 envelopes (or tps.) instant chicken broth
- 2 tps. paprika
- 1 tsp. poultry seasoning
- 1 tsp. onion powder
- 1 tsp. leaf oregano, crumbled
- 1 tsp. leaf rosemary, crumbled
- 1 tsp. celery salt
- 1/4 tsp. coarse-grind pepper
- 1/4 tsp. garlic powder (optional)

Combine bread crumbs, chicken broth, paprika, poultry seasoning, onion powder, oregano, rosemary, celery salt, pepper and garlic powder in a tightly covered moisture-proof container; stir until well mixed. Use about 1 T of the mixture per serving of cut-up chicken parts; moisten chicken in tomato juice before shaking with crumb mixture.

Mrs. C.S. Ketchersid

HOW TO OVEN-FRY

For each cut-up chicken, put 3 or 4 T of seasoned bread crumbs in a large heavy brown paper grocery bag. Wash chicken in cold water and trim away all fat. Leave chicken moist (or pat pieces dry, then moisten with tomato juice, skim milk, white wine, lemon juice or other fruit juice; chicken should be just damp, not wet). Put all the chicken pieces in a bag at once. Fold over the top of bag tightly and shake. Arrange chicken pieces on a rack, skin-side up and allow to dry 15 or 20 minutes while oven preheats at 450 degrees.

Spray a shallow nonstick roasting pan or cookie sheet liberally with cooking spray (or wipe lightly with vegetable oil). Arrange the chicken pieces skin-side down, not touching.

Place the pan on the bottom rack of the very hot oven and bake, undisturbed, 15 minutes or until skin is crisp and golden. Turn chicken pieces skin-side up with kitchen tongs. Return pan to the oven, placing it on middle rack, and continue to bake, uncovered, 20 minutes or until tender.

CHINESE STYLE GREEN BEANS

Heat 1 crushed garlic clove and 1 teaspoon minced fresh ginger in salad oil until garlic is golden. Stir fry in about 1 pound French-cut fresh or thawed frozen green beans, 1/2 cup toasted walnut pieces and soy sauce and pepper until the beans are tender but still green and crunchy.

If desired, sprinkle on some instant chicken broth or crumbled bouillon cube for fuller flavor. Bean sprouts, shredded cabbage and other leafy green vegetables are perfect this way.

SPAGHETTI CASSEROLE

- 1 pkg. spaghetti, cooked
 - 2 lbs. ground meat, browned
 - 1 large green pepper, chopped
 - Heart of celery, chopped
 - 1 large onion, chopped
 - Salt-pepper to taste
 - 1 #2 can tomatoes
 - 2 cans tomato soup
- Mix all together and place in casserole dish. Grate 1/4 lb. Cheddar cheese over top. Cook covered 45 minutes at 320 degrees.

LETTUCE SALAD

Cover bottom of 9x11 inch dish with bite-size pieces of lettuce. Add one layer of sliced red onions, 1 cup diced celery, 1 pkg. frozen peas, cooked and cooled. Top with another layer of lettuce. Spread about 1 1/2 cups real mayonnaise over top. Sprinkle with 1/2 lb. crisp bacon, crumbled, and quite a bit of Parmesan cheese. Cover tightly. Refrigerate at least 6 hours.

POTATOES AND SOUR CREAM CASSEROLE

- 2 lbs. frozen hash brown potatoes (no onions)
 - 1 can cream of chicken soup
 - 4 ozs. sharp Cheddar cheese
 - 1/2 cup chopped onions
 - 1 carton sour cream
 - 1/2 cup melted oleo
 - 1/2 t black pepper
 - 1 t salt
- Mix above ingredients and press into sheath pan and cover with 1 1/2 cups Post Toasties mixed with 1/2 cup melted oleo. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Where can our teenagers go and what can they do on non-school nights?

That's a question which has been asked, and no apparent acceptable answer has ever been provided.

The manager of the Mini Mart appeared before the city council Monday to ask for help in controlling teenagers at the business during the evening. She claimed she got little or no help from the police department.

She said the kids gang up in her parking lot doing all sorts of things, and none of them good. They take up all the parking space, and driveway as well; they drink beer and whiskey openly; they smoke dope openly; they play their radios so loud it hurts the ears; they harass the customers, especially women alone; and they are openly defiant that the police will not do anything to them.

That's her claim, and I suspect some of it is true. But in talking with some of the younger crowd, with the police, and looking at the situation personally, it's not the complete picture.

The Mini Mart owners knew full well they were going to have a load of teenagers at the place during the evenings, even before they opened for business. In fact, they encouraged it by providing space for electronic games in the building.

No town this size will not have a meeting of the teenagers after all the other businesses have closed; selling soft drinks and candy; located within a block of the high school campus. You just won't find it any other way.

This is not to say that there aren't problems out there. Yes, there are some who stand around in the parking lot and drink beer, and possibly partake in more. I believe we're talking about a very, very small group. And some of them aren't teenagers anymore, either.

Night gathering places for our younger people is, and always has been, a problem. They've been run off from the shopping center. They've been prohibited from parking in parking lots of other businesses, because they make so much a mess it becomes expensive to clean up after them.

The First Baptist Church provided, for a while, a place for youths to gather after football games and blow off steam. But that isn't going now. I thought the Recreational Activities Center might be the solution. But the kids, as a whole, have rejected it for anything other than special parties and events.

So, they're going to gather at the Mini Mart, or at one of the lakes, or someone's parking lot, or maybe even run over to Wichita Falls where they can get their heads bashed in on Kemp.

I don't know the solution to the plight of Mini Mart management, but I do know city taxes cannot be devoted in any part to providing full-time night police at the business, to control the crowd.

Members of the city council pledged to work out some solution to the business' problems, but frankly I doubt they can be effective. State and federal officials, with the help of a breed called judges, long ago tied the hands of law officers in this kind of case.

I think the solution must come from the leadership of our youngsters. And if they can't come up with answers, there may not be any.

Letter to the Editor

Open letter to Maryanne Gilmore:

I wish to commend you for your letters to the people of Iowa Park and to the Mayor and Mr. Morath. I, for one, feel that you have expressed yourself sincerely, honestly and the way the situation really is. We came to Iowa Park in 1966 and I don't believe I have ever contacted Mr. Gilmore to help me out of a situation, but have heard it said by many people "if you need something done call Bill Gilmore."

In the 15 years that we have resided in Iowa Park we have had four occasions to have a confrontation with the law enforcement, and strangely enough not once were we in the right.

I am not acquainted with Pat Hannah of our law enforcement, but have been told many good things about her and her job performance. I wish to express my appreciation to her for the assistance she gave my brother and his family on one occasion. I personally feel that we need more like her.

Maryanne, I know you are speaking of many other situations other than these types that I have encountered, and I would hope that Bill would continue to help people when he can and I certainly would hope anyone asking Bill to help them out would stand by him - but we need it from someone.

Thank you, sincerely the University of Texas, quite interesting since it concerns the issue of discrimination. The fraternities and sororities of UT have announced they will pull out of the Cactus, the school yearbook, because of a requirement by the university that organizations represented in the annual sign pledges of nondiscrimination. This means that the Greeks will be required to agree not to discriminate in their membership on the basis of race, creed or national origin. The presidents of sororities belonging to the Panhellenic Council voted unanimously not to sign the pledge and have been joined by the fraternities. Both groups plan to put out their own fraternity and sorority yearbooks.

The refusal to sign this pledge is creating controversy in two churches which have let the Panhellenic Council use their facilities. The University Presbyterian Church refused to let them use their fellowship hall and the University United Methodist Church plans to close the doors to the fraternities and sororities. We suppose these two churches are not engaging in discrimination according to their standards, but it appears that they are. Members of the fraternities and sororities, right or wrong, cling to the belief that it is their right to invite whoever they choose for membership and reserve the right to exclude whoever they choose. Membership in any fraternal organization is by invitation only and we can see their point. You don't have to be a member of a minority group or have different religion to be turned down by a fraternity or sorority and a lot of white Protestant kids have been rejected.

Nuclear energy's safe, and we need it . . .

let's let it work for us.

This Room Is Equipped With Edison Electric Light.

Do not attempt to light with match. Simply turn key on wall by the door.

The use of Electricity for lighting is in no way harmful to health, nor does it affect the soundness of sleep.

When electric lights first replaced gas lamps in some hotels, guests had to be reassured that Mr. Edison's newfangled invention was safe.

We Americans have always been determined and resourceful people—determined to build a better life for ourselves, and resourceful in controlling the hazards involved. From the Mayflower to the Columbia space shuttle, that's the way we've been—cautious, but not easily scared.

Every new technology we've developed has been frightening to some: steamships, automobiles, even the cotton gin, and electricity itself.

Some people still think of nuclear power that way. They're afraid that using one of our most plentiful and inexpensive energy resources involves uncontrollable hazards and unacceptable risks. In fact, it does not.

We're already using nuclear fuel equivalent to about 1.2

million barrels of imported oil daily to generate electricity. In 24 years of commercial nuclear operation, there has never been a nuclear-related injury to any member of the public. That's a record few if any industries have ever matched. It demonstrates clearly that generating electricity with nuclear fuel is at least as safe as doing it any other way.

We routinely accept other risks that are many times more dangerous, because we have become accustomed to them. Just being 30 pounds overweight is at least a 450-times-bigger risk than generating all our electricity with nuclear fuel.

At your electric company, we need to use nuclear fuel to help generate the electricity you use. We're convinced the risk is acceptable. Nuclear energy is essential, if future generations are to enjoy as good a life as we do now.

Life Expectancy Reductions	Days Off Your Life
Activity or Risk
Cigarette smoking (1 pack a day)	1,600
Being 30 pounds overweight	900
One diet drink per day (saccharin)	2
All-nuclear electricity	0.04-2*
*Government scientists estimate 0.04, nuclear critics estimate 2.
