DR. EARL WATSON
520 W. CLARA
IOWA PARK, TEXAS

◆ News in brief ◆

Hobby show Saturday at the RAC

Hobbies of all types will be on display from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday at the Iowa Park Recreational Activities Center.

Hobbyists have been invited to display what they have. No fee will be charged for displaying, nor will a fee be assessed for the public to view the displays.

Voting will be held for a "people's choice" award.

Food will be served by the Iowa Park MuleSkinners.

Drug abuse program set Tuesday

A community-wide program on drug abuse will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Iowa Park High School auditorium.

Jointly sponsored by Kidwell and Bradford Parent-Teacher Associations, Shirley Crawford will be guest speaker. She is a member of the governor's committee on Texas' War on Drugs.

Both parents and children are encouraged by the P-TAs to attend the meeting.

Baseball auxiliary organizing

An auxiliary is being organized to benefit the Little League Baseball program in Iowa Park.

The women's organization will sponsor events such as bake sales to help finance improvements at the ball fields and facilities.

The first meeting will be at 5 p.m. Sunday at the Iowa Park Recreational Activities Center. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Connie Denton, 592-2476, or Patty Mayfield, 592-2407.

Absentee voting starts slowly

Absentee voting for the April 3 city and school elections has started off slowly, according to officials.

One vote has been cast at the city hall, and three absentee ballots have been requested by mail.

In the school election, no absentee votes have been cast.

Apartment financing sought

A proposed apartment complex in Iowa Park is on this evening's meeting agenda of the Nortex Regional Planning Commission, which will meet at McBride Seafood and Steak in Wichita Falls.

The group is to hear a recommendation from the housing advisory committee whether to approve an application to the Farmers Home Administration for financial assistance.

Contractor Bill Swan is proposing a 48-unit apartment complex on Johnson Road, between Magnolia St.

All such projects requesting federal financing assistance is first cleared by regional planning commissions before forwarding them to the government for consideration.

Three other apartment complexes are also on this evening's agenda. Two, a 54-unit and a 60-unit, are proposed at Vernon and a 54-unit for Electra.

Iowa Park city council recently approved a zoning change for the location here. The property is already owned by Swan.

Naked driver knocks out tv

Several homes in the east part of town were without electricity and cable television Saturday night.

The reason was that two naked teenagers struck a pole in the 400 block of Magnolia with their car.

Chief Charlie Whittingstall said when he arrived at the scene, two male teenagers, neither with as much as a hat on the head, were standing in the rain by their car.

"I couldn't even find a stitch of clothing in their car," said the chief, who explained he took the pair to city jail.

One was treated for a shoulder injury, and they were then turned over to Wichita County authorities.

Sometime Monday evening, a vandal inflicted some $600 in damages to a welding pickup owned by L.S. Whismand.

According to the report filed at police station, someone raised the pickup hood, cutting the water hose, power steering hose and plug wires, and in two places cut the acetylene and oxygen hose. The pickup was parked at 200 E. Poe.

Proposed ordinance permits mobile homes

City aldermen will consider an ordinance Monday night which would re-zone the residential areas, providing for mobile homes.

The meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

The ordinance has been in the working more than a year by the Planning and Zoning Commission. It was presented last fall, but council members returned it to the commission until maps were completed and included.

One zone provides for single-family and duplexes; one allows single family, duplexes and multi-family units, and would allow mobile homes if approved by the board of adjustments.

The third zone allows for all housing and multi-family units, and mobile homes without board of adjustments action.

Another ordinance to be considered would provide for the city to establish a self-insurance fund, to cover all vehicles owned by the city.

Other items on Monday's agenda include:

- * discussion of proposed paving of West Coleman between Pacific and First Street.
- * appointment of a new police officer.
- * authorization for closing West Cash April 3, when the MuleSkinners plan open house and a public feed.
- * discuss paving West Texas Street.

Their garden is 'trashy,' but productive

By KEVIN HAMILTON

"If someone ever comes up with a workable method of making money from all the trash we bury daily, let me know," Leader editor-publisher Bob Hamilton said in his Mar. 4 "As I See It" column.

Bright and early that Thursday morning, with the ink still drying on the printed edition, Mrs. Merrill Moser, Coleman Park Rd., called with some suggestions. After interviewing Mrs. Moser and her husband William, the Leader found she not only preaches a good sermon on recycling waste, but does an excellent job of practicing the methods, too.

The answer is organic gardening. And collecting recyclable materials for money.

And building additions to their home with used lumber.

And the list goes on.

The Mosers have a motto for their handiwork, "The earth works," which has multiple meanings to them, all of which are positive and productive steps in bettering one's environment.

On the east side of the Moser home, William has completed the framework for an addition, utilizing lumber from a home down the road which was recently demolished.

Near the driveway sets a 55-gallon drum filled with aluminum cans. Some of the cans come from their home, others the result of treks along farm market roads and highways.

And, in the back, the Mosers have on display evidence of their gardening abilities; organic gardening, that is. And, ironically, it is in the garden where most of the "trash" is utilized.

The word "organic" is popular these days, but the general public is still confused as to what it actually means. The confusion stems from an association with "organic" as it is applied to chemistry. In chemistry, "organic" signifies any substance containing carbon molecules. Therefore, rubber tires, DDT and even the desk in your livingroom is chemically "organic."

But what the Mosers are referring to when they say "organic" is in reference to living things -- or organic materials such as plant residues, animal wastes and plain garbage.

This year, for the first time, the Mosers have started a "compost heap," a bin filled with layers of animal waste, leaves and grass, and soil. "Organic matter and pulverized rocks are the two substances which nature combined to form soil in the first place, and it's through these two substances that you as an organic gardener will work to maintain and improve soil naturally," according to organic gardening expert J.I. Rodale.

According to Rodale, of which the Mosers are disciples, compost is the beautiful substance which gives fertility to soil, productivity to plants, and health to man.

A great amount of research has been done of composting methods in the last decade, resulting in the 14-day method, sheet composting, anaerobic methods and other variations. The foundation, however, is the original Indore method, which the Mosers use.

Developed by the father of organic methods, Sir Albert Howard, the Indore method allows the decomposition to take place more quickly and completely. Starting with a five or six-inch layer of green matter, then a two-inch layer of manure (blood meal, bone meal, sewage sludge or other nitrogen-rich material), and a layer of rich earth, ground limestone and phosphate rock. This simple formula produces a rich, crumbly compost, high in nutrient value and valuable as a soil structure builder.

Further research has shown a heap five to 10 feet wide, and five feet high, is ideal.

The Mosers also practice the method of increased decomposition through aeration, by building the compost bin inches above the ground on stilts, allowing air to filter through the heap easier. In addition, Mrs. Moser sprays the layers occasionally with water to speed the decomposition process. The result is an enriched fertilizer, free of chemicals, and an excellent way of returning the mineral content to the soil.

"People who use chemicals in gardening are only using the soil to stand the plants up, while organic gardeners are returning something," says Mr. Moser. And no, there is no odor.

Another excellent idea utilizes old newspapers (be careful not to use paper with ink other than black, for it contains lead) to control your weed problems and add mulch to the earth.

"spreading the news."

Building frames 4x4 in length, Moser planted cantaloupe at each corner, then spread newspapers around the outer edges of the frames at a distance of 15 to 20 feet. The result was a bushel of cantaloupes per plant, and absolutely no weed problem. "The vines were unrestricted in growth, and we had no problem with weeds or other vegetation inhibiting the growth of the plants," said Mrs. Moser.

"The main problem is, so many people throw so much away, then go to a store to buy wood chips or cow manure for fertilizer," remarked Mrs. Moser. "Whenever we saw bags of leaves or tree clippings setting in a yard, we approached the owner, who more often than not was glad to get rid of them," she continued.

Another method of recycling trash is to build a trench in your backyard, then throw vegetable clippings and other refuse, then cover with a thin layer of soil. "There is no odor, and the result is an excellent fertilizer," Moser said.

"Before we learned the methods of organic gardening, we never had crops like we do now," commented Moser. "It is a real challenge, but we really enjoy doing it."

In addition to the newspapers, one can make mulch by using leaves, sawdust, hay, grass clippings and other natural matter, according to Moser.

The Mosers are members of a newly-created organic gardening club, and they say there is always room for more. In addition, they are members of a health food cooperative which purchases food at a discount rate. "Anyone who is the least bit interested can call me, and I will be glad to tell them all I know," said Mrs. Moser. Her number is 592-9000.

There is a steadily growing number of gardeners and farmers working to restore the organic quality of the soil. The ironic bit is, most of their methods include the utilization of what many refer to only as "garbage."

Catlin, Taylor nuptials are exchanged here Friday

At the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Catlin, a large host of relatives and friends assembled at the Church of God Friday evening to witness the recitation of marriage vows by their daughter, Tami and Ronnie M. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor and the late Joyce Taylor. Rev. W.F. Williams, pastor, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Judy Roberts secured the signatures of wedding guests as they entered the church foyer. The registry table was covered with a white satin cloth overlaid with white lace accented with garlands and lavender silk bows at the top. A votive two-branched crystal candelabra holding an arrangement of silk poppies, statice and primroses in shades of lavender and purple and the lavender feather pen suggested the colors that would be emphasized in wedding and reception decorations.

The altar decorations enhanced the dignity and solemnity of the occasion. In the upper altar, the couple exchanged their vows before a fifteen-branched votive brass candelabra and flanking heart-shaped votive candelabra lavishly trimmed and interwoven with white mums, snapdragons, lavender and purple mums, roses, lilacs and leatherleaf accented with lavender silk bows.

In the lower altar, brass stands held white urns filled with the chosen silk flowers and greenery and church pews were marked with votive candles snuggled in flowers, net and ribbons in the chosen colors.

Mrs. Bob Fox, organist, and Robin Fox, vocalist, presented the wedding music. For prelude numbers, Mrs. Fox played "Somewhere, My Love," "Whither Thou Goest," "Love Turned Me Around," "I Love You Truly," "Love That Blooms Eternally," and "The Bond of Love." She accompanied the vocalist for his renditions of "There Is Love" and "Love Me Tender," played "Midsummer's Night Dream" for the processional and "The Bridal Chorus" for the recessional.

Escorted to the altar by her father who presented her in marriage for her parents, the bride was an attractive picture in a formal gown of white organza lavishly trimmed in Venice lace and schiffli embroidery. A deep flounce of the embroidery bordered the sheer yoke of English net below a high neck of lace on the slightly raised bodice. The long sheer bishop-style sleeves were accented with Venice lace appliques.

MRS. RONNIE M. TAYLOR

Special interest in the accordion pleated skirt was achieved in wide rows of lace covering both front and back and a deep hem flounce that formed a chapel length train.

She chose a Juliet cap of lace to secure her waltz length veil of bridal illusion with pencil edging. A perfect complement for the bride's wedding gown was her silk cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and gypsophila with lavender and white silk streamers adding a further touch of beauty.

Mrs. Sammy Bates had the role as matron of honor in the wedding, and Mrs. Randy Catlin, the bride's sister-in-law, was bridesmaid. They were attired in identical lavender polyester gowns designed in soft flowing lines featuring split chiffon double V necklines and tie belts at the waistlines. Their nosegays of white and lavender silk tea roses and baby's breath were completed with white and lavender silk streamers.

Brandi Catlin, the bride's niece, and Dino Bates, cousin of the groom, flower girl and ring bearer, walked ahead of the bride and her father to the altar. She wore a lavender silk frock frilled with ruffles and bows and styled with puff sleeves and a waistline sash. The white basket she carried contained a nosegay of white and lavender roses and baby's breath. His attire matched that worn by the groom and he carried the rings on a white satin heart-shaped pillow trimmed in lace.

The groom wore a lavender silk rosebud arranged with baby's breath for a boutonniere with his white tuxedo and white ruffled shirt. The best man, groomsman and ushers wore gray ascot tuxedos and lavender shirts. Fathers of the couple wore gray tuxedos and white pleated shirts.

Donnie Taylor attended his brother as best man, and Randy Catlin, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Ushers and candlelighters were Sammy Bates, uncle of the groom, and Berry Phillips.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception hosted by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Mrs. Milburn Bates, grandmother of the groom, headed the receiving line. The bride's mother, who stood in the line, wore a gray street-length dress set off with yoke and sleeves embroidered with matching Venice lace, and an accordion pleated skirt. Her corsage consisted of lavender and white silk roses.

The lavender and purple shadings and combinations that were so beautifully executed in the church decorations gave elaborate accent to decorations and appointments in the Fellowship Hall where the bride's parents hosted the wedding reception.

The bride's cake table presented a literal "dream come true" look. It was covered with rich Chantilly lace over white satin featuring drapes caught up with nosegays in the chosen colors.

The special beauty of the table was stressed in the centerpiece, a white cake of four tiers raised by tall white columns about a fountain splashing with lavender and purple effects.

Staircases descended from the top tier ornamented with a silk nosegay along the sides of the layers decorated with cascades of hand moulded frosting flowers to smaller cakes flanking the fountain.

Sprays of green silk smilax extended along the table to the extremities holding handsome bouquets of silk carnations, roses, hibiscus, stephanotis and lilies of the valley in lavender, purple and white colors accented with seed pearls.

The groom's table was covered to the floor with an orchid taffeta cloth featuring a skirt pleated with pearls. It held the double-ring chocolate cake decorated with flowers to match the color of the cloth, a silver epergne holding a floral arrangement identical to the ones on the bride's table, and the silver coffee service.

The cover on the punch and hors d'oeuvres table duplicated the one on the bride's cake table. The appointments were a silver punch service, lavender napkins engraved with names of the bride and groom and their wedding date in purple.

During the reception, Mrs. Bill Hodges and Mrs. Steve Porter, cousins of the bride, served at the bride's table, and Mrs. Sonny Bates, aunt of the groom, and Miss Jill Watts presided at the groom's table.

The rice rosebuds were passed out by Brandi Catlin, the bride's niece, Lisa and Stephanie Bates, cousins of the groom.

Special wedding guests were Mrs. Verna Barbour, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Catlin, Mrs. Grady Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Bates and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Taylor.

Following a wedding trip to Quartz Mountain Lodge, the newlyweds are at home on Farm Road 368. Both were graduated from Iowa Park High School. She attended Midwestern State University and is employed by Barbour Trucking Co. He was an outstanding football player in high school and is presently employed at Cryovac.

The rehearsal dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor at Underwood's Cafeteria on the eve of the wedding.

Shower fetes bride elect

A pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Lisa Watson, bride-elect of Steve White, was a reception and miscellaneous shower given Saturday afternoon by sixteen close friends of the honoree and her family.

The affair took place in the Fellowship Hall of First Christian Church where decorations followed the peach, yellow and orchid combination chosen by Miss Watson for her wedding April 4. The same colors were emphasized in the silk corsages presented to her and her mother, Mrs. Earl Watson.

Hostesses were Meses. William Andersen, T.M. Clark, Johnny Cole, Dewey Conley, John Barbour, W.C. Franklin, Sammy Henderson, Faye McAllister, Joe McDonald, Richard Lehman, Rollin Roberts, Pauline Steele, Dale Thompson, Wylie Williams, Rollin Woodall and Miss Carey Roberts.

A picture of special beauty in the setting was the white net-covered refreshment table where the delicate colors played an important part in the eye appeal of the floral centerpiece flanked by peach candles burning in rose-shaped ceramic holders. The refreshments served by Miss Elaine Cole and Miss Roberts and the napkins repeated the soft colors.

The table in front of the fireplace where Miss Watson sat with her mother, Mrs. Carl Watson, her sister-in-law, and Mrs. Matt Horn to open her gifts was covered with white linen bordered with wide white eyelet and backgrounded by two tall floral arrangements on the hearth.

The long table which held the lovely collection of gifts was also covered with white linen, and the registry table was laid with white embroidery cutwork. A fascinating part of decorations on each table was a bouquet consisting of flowers in peach, yellow and orchid colors.

TERRIE RICE

Announce engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Rice are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Terrie Lynn, and Randy D. Holder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Holder of Wichita Falls.

Miss Rice was graduated from Midland Lee High School at Midland. She attended Texas Tech University where she was on the Dean's Honor Roll and she was co-editor of Red Letter and on the yearbook staff. She is a senior at Midwestern State University and will receive a B.S. degree in social work in the health field in May. She is a Little Sister of Tau Kappa Epsilon at the University and works for Trico Industries in Wichita Falls.

The groom-elect was graduated from Midway High School and works for Trico Industries in Graham.

The wedding will be an event of June 5 at First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Reaves concludes study

Mrs. S.B. Reaves concluded the study of "Challenge of the Cities," a home mission book, Monday night in a meeting in of the Night WMU in the home of Mrs. J.C. Roby.

The city that was highlighted in the study was Miami, Fla., a city in transition with a polyglot people, and Mrs. Reaves emphasized how Southern Baptists were having to make transition to cope with the condition. She gave examples of churches which had met the transition and were continuing to flourish and of others which had failed and were dying.

Mrs. Bill Curry conducted the missionary birthday calendar for the day.

Virgin, Pickett wedding vows solemnized Friday

MRS. SHAWN WILSON ELLESS

Kardos-Elless wedding held

Katherine Leslee Kardos and Shawn Wilson Elless were married Saturday in Christ United Presbyterian Church in Wichita Falls. Rev. Bennie Compton officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Kardos of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. T.A. Elless, Iowa Park Road.

Honor attendants were Susan Temblador, Cindy Ensey and Larry Merrill. Bridesmaids were Diana Milliner and Judy Csia. Groomsmen and ushers were Robert Schreiber, Jimmy Murfield, Tom Kardos, Jack Phillips and Mike Crittenden. Kim Temblador was flower girl.

The bride's parents were hosts for the reception at Gateway Inn. The groom's parents gave the rehearsal dinner at the Officers' Club at Sheppard Air Force Base.

The bride was graduated from Rider High School and attends Midwestern State University. She is employed by Kames Laboratories. The groom, a graduate of Iowa Park High School, is employed by Cryovac Division of W.R. Grace Co.

After a trip to Acapulco, Mexico, the couple will live in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Jamison heads CF drive at Kamay

Mrs. J.A. Jamison has been named chairperson of the Spring Special Event in Kamay for the Cystic Fibrosis. The announcement was made by the North-East Texas Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Cystic fibrosis is an inherited and degenerative disease that attacks the lungs and the digestive system by producing a thick glue-like mucus that impairs normal breathing and digestion. An average of five children are born with cystic fibrosis every day.

That is why the Spring Special Event Campaign has three parts: broadened public education, improved medical treatment, and research to find a control for the disease.

Mr. and Mrs. David Allan Pickett, who were married Friday evening at First Baptist Church, are now on a honeymoon ski trip to Breckenridge, Colo. They will establish residence in Wichita Falls when they return.

The bride, the former Miss Margaret Jeanette Virgin, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Stewart and the late Earl Virgin Jr. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Pickett of Jacksboro.

For the exchange of double-ring vows directed by Rev. Howell Farnsworth, the couple stood in an altar nuptial space before an archway covered with gypsophilia greenery and white blossoms. The ornamentation was repeated on two heart-shaped candelabra that held the glowing candles.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom lighted the unity candle that centered a three-branched candlestick in the outer altar, then presented their mothers with long stemmed red roses before leaving the sanctuary. Corsages of pastel spring flowers were worn by the mothers for the finishing touch of their gowns. Mrs. Stewart wore a long red Qiana dress with a gold belt for accent, and Mrs. Pickett wore a long beige and blue print crepe gown with a matching shawl.

The musical setting for the wedding was furnished by Mrs. Michael Sargent, organist, and Miss Jane Dickey, vocalist. The former presented the prelude selections and marches and accompanied the latter for her solos "Endless Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's stepfather, who escorted her to the altar, answered the minister's question "Who giveth this woman in marriage?" With "Her mother and I."

The bride's formal gown, a picture of sheer beauty, was fashioned of white chiffon and point d' esprit lace richly adorned with silk Venise lace seen in appliques that outlined the modified Queen Anne neckline of the natural waist bodice and the full bishop sleeves cuffed with point d' esprit. The splendor of the gown was further noted in multiple tiers of point d' esprit that formed the full skirt which fell into a graceful chapel train.

For her headpiece, she chose a chapel veil of bridal illusion with a blusher attached to a camelot cap of lace. The bridal bouquet of white roses was completed with cascading blue and yellow satin ribbons.

Observing traditions, the bride wore Miss Annette Whitaker's diamond drop necklace for "something old" and "something borrowed," the "something blue" garter; her dress for "something new", and the sixpence in her wedding slipper for good luck.

The bridal attendants wore long blue nylon dresses. In design, they featured spaghetti straps and yellow and green floral print-blue chiffon shawls. They carried yellow and blue carnations and baby's breath with matching silk streamers.

The quartet of attendants included Miss Jane Dickey as maid of honor, Miss Lisa Dietrichson, Mrs. Rowdy Davis of Iowa Park and Miss Suzanne Hathaway of Wichita Falls bridesmaids.

Rachel Denise Ivey of Graham, the bride's niece, was flower girl and carried a basket of spring flowers. She wore a cream-colored lace dress with matching leotards and shoes.

James Neal Pickett of Jacksboro, the groom's nephew, carried the rings for the service on a beige silk pillow. His attire matched that of Jeff Gregg of Wichita Falls, the best man, Rickey Myers of Lubbock, Bubba Moody and Garry Robertson of Wichita Falls, groomsmen, who wore bamboo beige tuxedos, matching accessories and yellow carnations and baby's breath boutonnières.

Ushers were Wayne Pickett of Lewisville and James Pickett of Jacksboro, brothers of the groom, Jim Virgin and John Virgin of Iowa Park, brothers of the bride. The ushers and fathers of the couple wore bamboo beige tuxedos with contrasting accessories and boutonnières like the ones worn by the male attendants.

The groom wore an ivory tuxedo with a ruffled shirt, bow tie, matching sash and three white sweetheart roses with baby's breath in his boutonniere.

The bride and groom are both students at Midwestern State Univ., where she is a sophomore and he is a senior and a member of Phi Sigma Kappa. She was graduated from Iowa Park High School and is employed at Penney's. He was graduated from Jacksboro High School, attended Abilene Christian Univ. and works at the Wichita Falls State Hospital.

The bride's parents gave the wedding reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church, and the groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at Old Town Steak House.

At the reception, guests signed the wedding book at a table that held a bud vase filled with flowers in the bride's colors, and crystal bowls holding the white net rice bags tied with blue ribbons.

The refreshment tables were covered with white polyester lace bordered cloths. The irresistible attraction of the bride's table was the three-tiered cake, a highly ornate creation completely covered with frosting roses, petunias, carnations, daisies, sweetpeas, forget-me-nots and stephanotis in shades of blue and yellow with green leaves. A set of sugar pillars raised the top tier which repeated the florid ornamentation in a bouquet of the frosting flowers.

The table also held a centerpiece of spring flowers, the crystal punch service and blue napkins brightened with names of the bride and groom and their wedding date in gold. Mrs. Don Fields and Mrs. Pete Shook served at the table during the reception.

The groom's table, where Mrs. James Pickett and Mrs. Wayne Pickett served refreshments, held a four-branched silver candelabra with blue candles, "Good Luck" chocolate horseshoe-shaped cake and silver coffee service.

Before the couple departed on their wedding trip, the bride changed from her wedding gown into a dark green pants suit worn with a harmonizing blouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Virgin Sr. of Kellyville, Okla. and Mr. and Mrs. J.K. Porter of Grant, Okla., grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. O.L. Pickett of Jacksboro, the groom's grandmother, were special wedding guests.

Holmes returns to Middle East

Iowa Parkan Dwan Holmes is returning to the Middle East. This time to Saudi Arabia.

He has been appointed telephone engineering manager for Saudi Arabian Post, Telephone and Telegraph, with responsibilities in Jeddah, that nation's largest city. He will head an engineering group to up-date the city's communications over a 10-year projected program.

Holmes held a similar responsibility in Oman, where for five years he served as national telephone manager and as a communications project manager in Pakistan, Sudan, Oman and Saudi Arabia.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Well, I guess if I'm going to continue in the weather forecasting business, I'm going to have to refine my techniques.

You may recall, back late last fall, I predicted this to be a "long, hard winter."

Well, it was. But not here. They've been setting records for low temperatures and snowfall all over the northern part of the United States, but that wasn't the case here.

Some real bad weather was headed our way on a couple of occasions. But thanks to the jet stream, they were both carried to the south of here, producing record snowfall measurements, ice and all kinds of bad things.

But not here.

Eventhough we've burned two cords of firewood, this has been a fairly mild winter by about any standard. The only big snowfalls we had were melted within 24 hours.

I'm talking like winter is over, and for all practical purposes it is. Eventhough we almost always have a cold norther within 10 days of Easter, which comes April 11 this year, we are apparently out of the winter season.

Now watch it come a wooly booger.

I say winter is over because the mesquite trees are budding. And they very seldom are surprised by Mother Nature.

Of course, I should mention last spring was an exception. The mesquites were surprised for about the first time since I've been watching them.

The weather we've had the past week or so has certainly been spring-like. In fact, some of the temperatures have been so high, I'm beginning to wonder about how hot this summer will be.

The national news has already covered the first flood story of the season, brought about by rains and melting snows up north. This will be the first of many, and you can count on that.

According to one snowfall report published a few weeks ago, the snow area covers more of the northern states, and deeper depths, than has occurred in many years. When that stuff starts melting, and the spring rains join the melting, you are going to see a lot of flooding coverage.

For an old boy who missed his winter prediction as far as I did, you've got to admit it takes a lot of gall to predict floods. Huh?

Letter to the Editor

Sir: We would like to take this opportunity to express our deepest appreciation to all who were involved with getting our son Paul Jr. to Wichita General Hospital Tuesday March 2. The quick response time of the Iowa Park police and E.M.T.'s deserves a special thank you. Paul Jr. is now out of the hospital and doing well. However, as long as this apnea condition persists it is comforting to know that help is close by. Citizens of Iowa Park should be glad to know that they can count on the police and E.M.T.'s in times of crisis. Again, to those concerned, thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Guyette Sr. & family

let's see why.

When this lignite-fueled plant was built in 1971-72, it cost $125 per kilowatt of generating capacity. Because of inflation and new regulations, this figure was up to $460 on a unit completed in 1981, and will climb to more than $1,000 in a few more years.

We Americans have always liked getting our money's worth on whatever we buy, and electricity is no exception. None of us like what's happened to our bills over the past 10 years.

The typical residential customer uses about 25% more electricity than 10 years ago, even with conservation.

But there's a bigger difference than that in our bills, and it's because the actual cost per kilowatt hour is now about 2 1/2 times what it was that same 10 years ago.

Before 1970, kilowatt hour costs had been moving downward.

In those days we were building low cost plants to run on cheap fuel. But in the '70s, fuel stopped being cheap and the cost of building all power plants skyrocketed.

From 1971 to 1981, the price of natural gas went to 10 times what it had been, and the end's not in sight. That's why the plants your electric company has built and must build to meet customer needs use less expensive fuels like lignite coal and uranium.

The increasing cost of these plants, however, reflects the effects of inflation and new regulations. A million-kilowatt lignite-fueled generating plant which cost $125 million in 1971 would cost more than eight times as much (more than one billion dollars) if we started building it this year!

We don't like the way the price of electricity has gone up any more than you do. We do think it's important for you to know why it's gone up.

CATHY LYNN THOMAS

Couple sets July date

Mrs. Joanne Kaspar of Burkburnett and Jerry Thomas of Boerne are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Cathy Lynn, to Kevin Robert Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hamilton of Iowa Park.

Miss Thomas was graduated from Burkburnett High School in 1976, where she was twirler for the Bulldog Band. She attended Midwestern State Univ. and majored in business administration. She was a member of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority. She is employed by Colortyme in Wichita Falls.

Hamilton was graduated from Iowa Park High School in 1977, where he participated in varsity football, baseball, track and golf. He attended Midwestern State Univ. He is a reporter for the Iowa Park Leader.

The couple plan to marry July 30 in the home of the prospective bride's mother.

ABOUT TOWN

Dr. Earl Watson has completed continuing education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. The Academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice. The requirements call for members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years.

Mediterranean cruise described

Mrs. China B. Smith presented an interesting program on the Helios Cruise, a three-continent cruise that she and her husband took last fall, for the meeting of the Iowa Park Garden Club Friday morning.

The tourists made the cruise on the ship Stella Solaris that started at Athens, Greece with the first stop being in Sicily, Italy, then on to the beautiful village of Torormina. They visited the huge coliseum where the Christians were thrown to the lions during years of Roman Rule.

In Rome, they saw the place where the pope speaks to the people and a beautiful cathedral with its exquisite art work. In Monaco, they were impressed with the cleanliness, sea and beaches.

Mrs. Smith said that Barcelona, Spain was the most cosmopolitan place that they visited. She described the statue of Columbus in the town square and told how the town did not consider Columbus a hero for a long time but finally did and built a statue.

Other places that the Iowa Parkans found of special interest were Casa Blanca, Canary Islands, and Grand Kamin where so many of the beautiful clothes were made. The Smiths brought back souvenirs from every port they visited.

Mrs. Smith modeled a gorgeous green chartreuse green caftan heavily embroidered with gold threads, and Mmes. Vernon Gilbert, Thurman Reitz, W.A. George and Frank Harlin modeled some of the other ornately embroidered cotton clothes that she returned home with.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Smith. Co-hostesses were Mmes. George, Gilbert and Harlin.

Mrs. Charlie Lee read the thought for the day, "A Recipe for a Good Garden" from the book Ginger Snaps.

Mrs. George was in charge of business. She reported that the iron sign had been made for the Yard of the Month. A committee will select the best yard and the sign will be placed in that yard for a month.

Club views film

Sgt. Alton Yeakley, who is with the license and weight division of the Texas Department of Public Safety, showed a film on self-protection for women, for the Amity Club Tuesday evening. He was introduced by Mrs. Leo Thames.

Mrs. Lee Hale used a poem "The Stick-Together Families" by Edgar A. Guest for the meditation.

During the business directed by Mrs. Don Rice, Mrs. Joe Howard Williamson named committee chairmen for the book review luncheon in May, and said that Mrs. Lovell Baker of Dallas would be the book review artist for the occasion.

Chairmen named were Mmes. Earnie Reusch, media coverage; Robert McIlroy, advertising; Steve Montz, tickets; Larry Watts, food; Jerry Denton, reservations; Joe Vickers, decorations; Don Rice, chairs and tables; James Edwards, receiving tables; Lee Hale public address system; Phil Welch, high school seniors.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Watts and Mrs. Rice was co-hostess.

Plaster art is program

Mrs. Don Womble gave a program on plaster art for the Epsilon Eta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha meeting Tuesday evening. She was presented by Mrs. Larry Whitaker, educational director.

Mrs. Womble showed how to paint, seal or stain objects that can be purchased at a reasonable price and noted that they are less expensive than ceramics due to no firing being needed. She showed several items at various stages of finishing, and a finished article, a large limb with two owls perched thereon.

During the business conducted by Mrs. Jimmy Spears, Mrs. David Parkey reported a successful work-day at Pace Park Sunday and also that the city park committee had mowed the area.

Mrs. Steve Turner, chairman of arrangements for the District Six meeting which will be held in Iowa Park April 4, reported that special guests at the meeting would include Mrs. Pat Bomar of Denton, president and several other state officers, and Mrs. Greg Clary of Houston, a former resident of Iowa Park, who will conduct the installation ceremony for 1982-83 district six officers.

Mrs. Turner requested all chapter members to be at the MuleSkinners' Bldg. at 5:30 p.m. April 3 to set up for the early meeting April 4.

Mrs. D.W. Mercer, service chairman, named the committee to provide cup cakes and homemade ice cream for residents at Heritage Manor today.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Bill Hrcirik in whose home the meeting was held were Mrs. Pat Watkins and Miss Paula Beall.

TOPS Club holds installation banquet

The TOPS Club held the annual awards banquet and installation of officers Monday night at Bonanza Steak House in Wichita Falls. Mrs. Gene Young was mistress of ceremonies and the banquet theme was "Over the Rainbow." Mrs. J.C. Helms offered the invocation and Mrs. Randy Heidrich gave the benediction.

Recipients of the various awards included Mrs. Ronald Rainsberg, whose name was selected to be placed on a permanent plaque of the club for outstanding service during the year. She also shared honors with Mrs. Roland Putman as the most deserving club members. Mrs. Richard Lunney was given recognition for having lost the most weight during the year.

Mrs. M.L. Towns installed officers to serve during 1982-83. Mrs. Pauline Steele, who was re-elected leader, was installed to fill that position. Serving with her will be Mmes. C.O. Dodd, co-leader; Richard Lunney, treasurer; Roland Putman, secretary; and J.C. Helms, weight recorder.

The club presented Mrs. Steele with a gift of appreciation and she gave each officer who had served with her a gift of appreciation.

For entertainment, Mrs. Towns and Mrs. Putman gave a skit "Can You Top This?"

Eighteen members and one guest, Mrs. F.L. McCoy attended the banquet. Mrs. Helms received the door prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ming announce the birth of a six pound 14 ounce daughter, Cayce Denise, born March 6. She has a sister, Tami 11, two brothers, Brett 8 and Marc 5. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. F.L. Costello of Iowa Park and Mr. and Mrs. F.F. Ming of Grafrod.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank each and everyone of you for trying to save our dear loved one's life.

Everyone's thoughtfulness, prayers, flowers, cards and food will be cherished in our hearts. You will never know how much it means to us to have good friends and neighbors being with us in the time of our grief and sorrow.

Again thank you from the bottom of our hearts for everything.

Cook of the Week

A good way to break into the day is to start it with a good breakfast, and to a lot of people that means hot biscuits, plenty of butter and syrup. Hot quick breads in their delightful forms help tell the story of civilization.

No one knows who made the first loaf of bread (or biscuit) during the dawn of civilization, but it is believed that it was unleavened bread baked by the sun. Today, yeast breads with their warm yeasty fragrance can add zip to any meals, and particularly to budget meals.

Yeast is a living plant. Bread-makers in the ancient world used "barm," the thick scum on top of fermenting wine for leavening. During World War II, research workers learned how to remove water from yeast and active dry yeast was the result. Now it is easy to pick up at the grocery store, and there is more than one way to make good yeast bread. One of the short-cut ways could well be the Angel Biscuits that add zip not only to breakfast but to all meals. Mrs. Mark Raby shares her recipe for the bread today.

Mrs. Raby, the former Pat Billingsley, was graduated from Holliday High School and attended Midwestern State University. She is presently a teachers aide at Kidwell Elementary School working in the resource room. She has worked as a teachers aide at Bradford Elementary School and in Wichita Falls. She also does private tutoring in her home after work hours, and she has taught summer school.

She and her husband, who works for Beall Auto, attend the Missionary Baptist Church. They have one son, Steven three years of age. Her hobbies are sewing, cooking, and tutoring children.

ANGEL BISCUITS

5 cups flour
1/4 cup sugar
3 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
1 cup shortening
1 cake or pkg. dry yeast
2 Tbsps. warm water
2 cups buttermilk

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and soda. Cut in shortening until meal like. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Combine yeast with buttermilk. Pour buttermilk mixture into flour mixture and knead. Roll out. Cut and bake 10 minutes at 400 degrees.

WHOPPER SPICE CAKE

1 1/4 cups flour
3/4 cup sugar
3/4 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. cloves
3/4 tsp. salt
3/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup softened butter or margarine
3/4 cup buttermilk
Chopped nuts
2 eggs
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup Whopper's malted milk candy

Mrs. Mark Raby

Sift dry ingredients together, then add brown sugar, softened margarine and buttermilk. Beat mixture for 2 minutes until well blended. Add 2 eggs and beat thoroughly again.

Fold chopped nuts, raisins and crushed candy into the batter. Pour into a greased 9-inch square pan or ring pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 40-45 minutes. Cool and frost with white butter icing.

WHITE BUTTER ICING

2 cups sifted confectioners sugar
1/4 cup softened margarine
2 Tbsps. cream
1 tsp. vanilla
Measure sifted confectioners sugar into bowl. Cream with butter until creamy, then add additional ingredients.

ICE CREAM SANDWICHES

1/2 cup corn syrup
1/2 cup peanut butter
4 cups Kellogg's Rice Krispies
1 pint ice cream, cut into 6 slices
In medium size mixing bowl, stir together corn syrup and peanut butter. Add Rice Krispies cereal. Stir until well coated.

Press mixture evenly in buttered 13x9x2 pan. Place in freezer or coldest part of refrigerator until firm.

Cut cereal mixture into 12 3-inch squares. Sandwich each slice of ice cream between 2 squares. Freeze until firm. Cut each large sandwich in half and wrap individually in foil. Store in freezer.

BURNT SUGAR CAKE

Melt 1 cup sugar over low heat in heavy skillet; add 1/2 cup boiling water. Put 1/4 cup mixture in cup, add enough water to make a cup. Reserve the rest for icing.

Cream:
2/3 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar, add 3 eggs
Mix together:
2 1/2 cups flour
3 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt

Add dry mixture alternately with liquid to shortening, sugar and egg mixture. Beat until smooth. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

ICING

Melt 1 stick oleo in the burnt sugar mixture (1/2 cup) If there is not 1/2 cup of burnt sugar mixture, add enough Pet milk to measure 1/2 cup. Add 1 box confectioners sugar and 1 tsp. vanilla. Beat until smooth and spread on cake.

CHOCOLATE PIE

1 1/4 cups sugar
1/2 cup flour
3 heaping T. cocoa
2 cups water
3 eggs, separated
Dash of salt
1/2 stick butter
1 tsp. vanilla
1 9-inch baked pie shell

Mix sugar, flour and cocoa; add enough of the water to make a paste. Beat in egg yolks well. Heat remaining water with butter and salt until butter is melted; add to first mixture and cook until thick. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Cool and pour into baked pie shell.

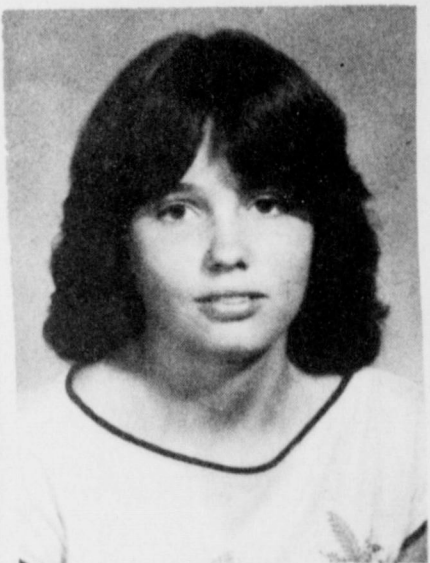

Make a meringue with the egg whites, beaten until stiff, 6 T sugar, 1 tsp. vanilla and 1/4 tsp. cream of tartar. Spread on pie and brown in hot oven.

Mrs. Chauncey Weiler continued the global concerns study for 26 members of United Methodist Women in their meeting Tuesday morning.

Quoting the author of the study "Must Walls Divide?" by Dr. James Will, she said that the image of life in Europe which is divided, restricted and protected by the walls of prejudice, politics, egotism contrast strongly with the openness of our American existence. She further stated that the good news is that the walls which have been erected in politics, ethnic and egotism conflicts are being eroded and breached by the remarkable resilience of the Christian community in Europe.

Mrs. Weiler continued by remarking that Christians are finding that walls are penetrable and the penetration of the walls must be the task of Christians all working together. She said that the recent formation of councils such as World Council of Churches has been of tremendous importance to this ecumenical movement, and concluded with "It is our mission as Christians to work and pray for the human fulfillment which God intended for all people."

JANICE BLACK

Janice Black is recognized

The Opti-Mrs. Club has named Janice Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Black, the Iowa Park Junior High School Student-of-the-Month. She is one of the outstanding history students.

She is a photographer on the annual staff and in homemaking this year, and she was a safety patrol member when she was in the fourth grade. She has been an "A" honor roll student two years.

The honors she has received in school thus far included Valentine Queen for North Side Girls Club when she was in the fourth grade; fourth place conservation poster winner in the sixth grade, and the scholastic achievement award when she was a seventh grader.

In sports, Janice played softball three years and participated in track relays in the fourth grade. In sixth grade, she participated in Little Dribblers.

Her hobbies are working on computers, skating, reading, photography, basketball, fishing and swimming.

Looking ahead, she would like to attend Midwestern State Univ. when she finishes high school and major in computer science to become a computer programmer.

Hawks turn back 'bad news' title

Just when everyone was beginning to call them the "bad news" Hawks, Iowa Park's football team won its first game of the season.

After dropping their season opener 43-10 to Hildale, which is beginning its season this year in its high school, the Hawks lost 11-7 Thursday to Hildale and 20-0 to Lawton Dickinson.

But Monday, Iowa Park got on the winning side of the ledger with a 24-0 victory over Elsie.

Iowa Park and Hildale (2-0) look to split this afternoon at Hildale Field, first which is slated at 4 p.m.

MANAGER STEVE... Iowa Park... former Hildale coach who later served on staff at Texas Tech and Texas A&M, will be the guest speaker for the Iowa Park High School... tickets are on sale at the high school principal's office, 20 each, and will not be sold at the door. Proceeds for purchasing tickets is tomorrow.

Seventh grader clocked at 5:20 in mile run

Although Iowa Park teams didn't run too well in the standings at Friday's annual Iowa Park Junior High Relays, two individuals established new meet records.

Seventh grader Rust Hale ran a lot of eyebrows when his stunning 5:20.7 clocking was announced in the mile event.

And eighth grader Greg Curtis broke both jumping records, 9' 1 in the high jump, 19' 6 in the long jump.

All three local teams placed third. There were seven teams in the seventh and eighth grade divisions, and 25 in the sixth grade division.

Seventh grade division final standings were: Vernon, 111; Zurich, 104; Kirby, 98; Burk Burnett, 88; Clancy, 81; Iowa Park, 81; and Hildale, 51.

Seventh grade standings were: Vernon, 111; Zurich, 104; Kirby, 98; Burk Burnett, 88; Clancy, 81; Iowa Park, 81; and Hildale, 51.

Local youth resembles Hummel figurine

Hummel collector Diane Flom, 70, of Manchester, Conn., waited patiently for years in hopes of finding a young girl who resembled the meticulously hand-painted models.

And the girl she found certainly won the approval of the judges, placing in the top 26 out of 4,000 entries in the national Hummel look-alike contest recently.

"Bonnie was a natural," remarked Mrs. Flom.

BONNIE PANCOAST

Hummel figurines and photographs which look so easy as if made.

Mrs. Flom and her son carefully chose a figurine and then they asked the child to make him or her look as much like it as possible.

Bonnie Pancoast, 11, of 401 S. 17th St., was dressed in the costume of the "Weary Wanderer."

The commercial artist found the youngest child who the family lived in Manchester, Mr. Pancoast works with Hummel, and was transferred last year to Wichita Falls. They have since had their child, victory.

Persons from around the world have collected Hummels for years, and the price of the precious figurines range from $10 to $20,000.

The idea in posing a child as a Hummel figurine is to get to wear the colors and the pose of the figurine as the child.

"She said if she does it again, she has discovered some things probably overlooked in entering Bonnie, and to making sure her apron was the exact same distance from the bottom of her skirt as the one on the figurine. Or making sure the basket of flowers she carried the exact distance from the bottom of her apron to her arm."
