DR. EARL WATSON
520 W. CLARA
IOWA PARK, TEXAS

NO FATALITIES resulted in a spectacular accident just west of town on U.S. 287 about 9:30 p.m. Saturday. The Jartran rental unit was parked on the shoulder, with its lights on, but the driver was elsewhere. The pickup, reportedly driven by a woman from Electra, struck the corner of the trailer. It apparently became airborne when it hit the trailer wheel, because tire tracks are visible on the side of the van, commencing at the corner and continuing midway up the side. The pickup rolled once and came to rest, facing the direction from which it came. Because of a rollbar, the driver was apparently not seriously injured. Names of both drivers was not available from the Department of Public Safety, which investigated the accident. City policeman Pat Hannah and volunteer firemen directed traffic until the roadway was cleared and until the DPS officer arrived.

City's re-zoning proposal is tabled again

An ordinance which proposed to revise the present city zoning ordinance was tabled during Monday night's meeting of the city council. The package, which has been undergoing study and revision more than a year by the planning and zoning commission, and which was sent back to the commission by the council some four months ago to await inclusion of a map, just raised too many questions. At least, that's what one of the council members, Bud Thompson, said.

So consideration of the ordinance was postponed until the April 12 meeting in order that Brown Hudson, consultant who has worked with the commission on the drafting, could be present to answer Thompson's questions.

One member of the commission said there had been no changes in the ordinance since it was considered last fall by the council. He said it was returned only because maps of the zoning were not included, but they were in the package now.

A third zone has been created by the ordinance which, if approved, designates areas in the city where mobile homes could be located without having first to receive permission from the city's board of adjustments. Another area would permit mobile homes after permission was granted, and a third area would not permit them to locate.

Existing mobile homes would come under a "grandfather" clause.

Low bid to sandblast and paint either interiors or exteriors of the city's three elevated water tanks was accepted. Engineers specified which tanks will be painted inside or outside, as needed.

The cost of the project is $71,000, of which $51,000 will be paid by federal revenue sharing money and the balance from the sewer improvement fund (bonds sold for the sewer construction project which were never used).

No action was taken on the subject of paving the 500 block of West Coleman.

Aldermen were told the owners of the south side of the street were ready to enter into a program of having the street paved and guttered, with the city financing the project over a 60-month period at 15 percent interest.

However, the Missionary Baptist Church owns the north side and the members, according to Rev. Larry Washburn, pastor, are not willing to enter into such an agreement at this time. Washburn explained the bonding his congregation is undergoing to construct the church has not figured in the additional cost.

The council had earlier granted a variance to the church from paving

Coleman. Aldermen were told of a deed restriction on the church's property which, if the congregation did not participate in the paving, could result in the land being returned to Mr. and Mrs. Eldon H. Manes, or heirs, who donated it.

The subject was tabled. On a request to have the paving tied into the curbing in the 700 block of West Texas, it was discussed that the cost be borne by the property owners on the south side. An engineer is to study the paving's condition and estimate the cost of the project.

If approved, the city would possibly offer the same financing plan to the property owners as was proposed on the Coleman Street project.

In other business, the council took the following action:

- * approved a self-insurance policy for all motorized vehicles;
- * re-appointed Dr. Earl Watson as city health officer.
- * approved closing of West Cash Street from 7 a.m. to midnight April 3 for an activity sponsored by the Iowa

Thefts, vandalism are reported

Two thefts, one solved and the other unsolved, and one case of criminal mischief were reported during the past week to the Iowa Park Police Department.

The unsolved theft reportedly took place the morning of Mar. 12 at the junior high school.

Mrs. Frances Ressor said a silver Artley flute, in black leather case, was taken from a student locker. The instrument, serial number 521170, was valued at $399.

Sue Williams, owner of Soap beauty shop, told police someone took 40 towels she had been washing at Davis Laundry Thursday. The towels, valued at $130, were found on her home porch the next afternoon.

Two tires, valued at $225, were ruined when punctured Sunday night. Don Barge said one tire on each of his automobiles was ruined. They were parked at his home at 900 W. Cornelia.

Barge is offering a $100 reward for information leading to the vandal or vandals.

BEAUTIFUL QUILTS that will be given away April 3 during the fourth annual Friendly Door Easter Bazaar are shown by Mmes. Walter Scott, T.C. Scott and Elmer Singleton. The bazaar will have baked goods, plants, home-canned goods, arts and crafts, odds and ends for sale at 100 W. Cash from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

TUESDAY DEADLINE

Four absentee ballots cast in city election

Interest apparently will be centered on two alderman positions in the April 3 city and school elections, if absentee voting is any indication.

Four absentee ballots had been cast by noon yesterday, but none had been turned in at the school administration building, where trustee absentee balloting is held.

Tuesday afternoon is the deadline for absentee voting.

Seven candidates are running for two alderman positions in the election. They include George Hammonds, Ken Thornton, Johnny Coker, Herman Rains, Walter M. Berbee, John Kight and Bud Thompson. Charlie Lee, who is completing the first of his two-year term as alderman, is running unopposed for mayor. If he is elected, the council will appoint someone to fill his unexpired term.

Only four candidates are in the running for the three school board seats. They include Virginia Klinkerman, Ray Hicks, Roy Boutwell and Martha Dudley.

Absentee voting in the city election is being held at the city hall.

Candidates in both elections are elected at-large.

Singer, George wedding held Saturday afternoon

A wedding keyed by family intimacy with only relatives and close friends attending, a dream that the bride had cherished for years, became a reality Saturday afternoon when Miss Teri Lyn Singer and Michael Lee George plighted their troth in the chapel of First Baptist Church.

Rev. Howell Farnsworth, pastor, directed the double-ring exchange of vows by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Singer of Iowa Park and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.L. "Pat" George of Wichita Falls.

The stained glass window in the chapel was lighted to become the focal point of altar decorations and provide soft illumination in the room. On either side of the window stood antique fern stands holding large clear hurricane globes with single dusty blue candles aglow inside. The globes were encircled with fresh leather leaf and English ivy centered with dainty candlelight lace fans accented with tiny dusty blue and terra cotta silk wedding flowers and touches of net. Four urns of palm greenery formed the background.

The piano was decorated with a hurricane globe, candle, fan and greenery, and chapel pews were marked with large white satin bows.

When the bride was escorted to the altar by her father who presented her in marriage for her parents, she was wearing an exquisite candlelight silk net gown of Victorian styling enhanced with elaborate lace effects. The high rise bodice was outlined with narrow satin ribbon and fashioned with a high neck of hand crocheted Irish lace and an embossed silk Chantilly lace shoulder shawl ruffle. Pearl button trim at the back of the bodice and on the cuffs of the long sleeves, a wide hemline flounce accentuated the nostalgic appeal of the gown, and the bride wore a rose pink cameo purchased in Italy at her throat to complete the picture.

For her headpiece, she wore a wreath of silk candlelight forget me nots, lilies of the valley and gypsophila with matching lace and picot ribbon streamers tied in love knots. She carried an antique wooden fan covered with a candlelight lace circlet holding an antique crocheted wedding handkerchief and a corsage of white silk roses, orchids and lilies of the valley graced with lace and ribbon streamers.

The fan and handkerchief were bride's "something old" tradition. Her mother loaned her a garter for "something borrowed" and "something blue"; her dress was "something new" and the groom gave her a 1982 penny to slip in her shoe for good luck.

In keeping with the Victorian theme, Mrs. Bill Bates, pianist, played "Tara's Theme" for the bride and her father to walk to the altar. For the prelude selections, she played "To A Wild Rose," "Walk Hand in Hand," "Whither Thou Goest" and "Twelfth of Never." She gave a muted interpretation of "Clair de Lune" during the ceremony and concluded her offerings with the traditional recessional.

Miss Eyvonne Ortiz of Littleton, Colo. served as maid of honor. She was attired in a formal dusty blue crepe gown designed with a belted natural waistline. The stand-up collar and cuffs of the long sleeves were trimmed with lace tatting. She carried a candlelight lace fan with an attached bouquet of silk terra cotta lilies, blue cymbidium orchids, candlelight lace and picot ribbon streamers.

The groom wore a boutonniere from the bride's bouquet with his gray ascot tuxedo. He was attended by his brother, Joe George of Wichita Falls, as best man. Ushers were Tony Singer of Shreveport, La. brother of the bride, and Dennis George of Wichita Falls, brother of the groom. The best man, ushers, and fathers of the bridal couple were attired like the groom.

Mothers of the couple wore silk corsages formed of dusty blue lilies and terra cotta forget me nots with their wedding gowns. Mrs. Singer wore a long grape silk Qiana gown styled with blouson bodice, draped ruffle at the lace neckline and long sleeves. Mrs. George wore a multi-print blue chiffon gown accented with a matching cape with handkerchief points.

The richness, splendor and ornate creations of the Victorian age were achieved in decorations and appointments for the reception held later in the afternoon when a host of the newlyweds' friends were invited. The bride's parents hosted the reception.

Mrs. Eddie Worthy directed the guest registration at a small antique table laid with an heirloom lace doily. Appointments lending themselves to the theme were a small brass hurricane candlestick, a pair of china blue birds, a lace fan trimmed with dusty blue and terra cotta silk flowers, and a satin glass bowl filled with the couple's candlelight wedding scrolls tied with blue ribbons.

The refreshment tables and smaller tables in the setting were pictures of Victorian elegance. The table that held the ornate cake which will always be a vivid part of the bridal couple's wedding day memories was impressive from every perspective. It was draped to the floor with candlelight silk pongee and overlaid with a crocheted cloth that belonged to Mrs. Bee Nichols, the bride's maternal grandmother. The dusty blue candles burning in hurricane globes and lace fans were repeated in the table decor.

The four-tiered white cake with one set of sugar posts was elaborately decorated with drop garlands, narrow winding cascades of frosting petunias, bridal trumpets, roses, forget me nots and stephanotis in shades of dusty blue and terra cotta. The top ornament was a bouquet of the same flowers centered with a small lace fan duplicating the others that were favored in decorations. The cake was served by Mrs. Monty Cook, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Tony Singer, sister-in-law of the bride.

The table that held the gold-based crystal punch bowl and silver coffee service was covered with antique candlelight lace over satin. The centerpiece was an arrangement of blue and terra cotta lilies, roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath surrounded by leather leaf. The dainty lace fans again had an important part in the decorative scheme which was completed with the candlelight napkins bearing the names of the bride and groom.

Other points of interest in the setting were several antique and wrought iron tables holding heirloom candelabra, palms, fans, floral arrangements in treasured family bowls and vases, and memorabilia of yesteryear. One of the tables was appointed with a miniature oil derrick symbolic of the groom's work.

Donna Wood, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Johnny Bernstein, Mrs. Dane Ridenour served punch and coffee to the guests. Houseparty members were Mmes. Jerry Gholson, Roger York, Alton Hunter, Wayne Williams, Jack Railsback, Bill Curry, Stan Hoye and Vern Horsky.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Old Town Steak House.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School. She attended Baylor University, received a degree from Midwestern State University and has been employed by Dr. J.C. Parmer, D.D.S. in Vernon. The groom, a graduate of Rider High School, attended MSU and is employed by Dresser Atlas at Beaumont where the couple will live following a short wedding trip. Special wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bee Nichols of Arlington, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Alta Stanford, grandmother of the groom. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Stanford and Phyllis, Mrs. Clyde Wood, Donna Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wood of Fort Worth, Dr. and Mrs. J.C. Parmer, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin James of Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. Dusty McCord of Archer City.

Study club program features entertainers

Following a custom of long standing, members of the 23 Study Club honored their friends at guest day Thursday afternoon with high caliber entertainment when several outstanding artists of Iowa Park were presented in a musical and dramatic program.

The sanctuary of First United Methodist Church was the scene of the program which was followed by a social hour in the Fellowship Hall. Miss Ethyle Kidwell was leader for the afternoon. Guests were welcomed by Mrs. China B. Smith, club president.

Mrs. C.L. Metz contributed an appropriate meditation to set the stage for the arts program on "This Is the Day the Lord Hath Made."

Artists who performed were vocalists Bill Bates and Vern Horsky, organist Don Owens and drama student Cindy Flanagan.

During the social hour, refreshments were served from a table covered with crisp white linen and centered with a crystal pitcher holding a bouquet of fresh japonica blossoms flanked by two-branched silver candelabra holding candles in the shades of the flowers. The color was repeated in the tea napkins and punch.

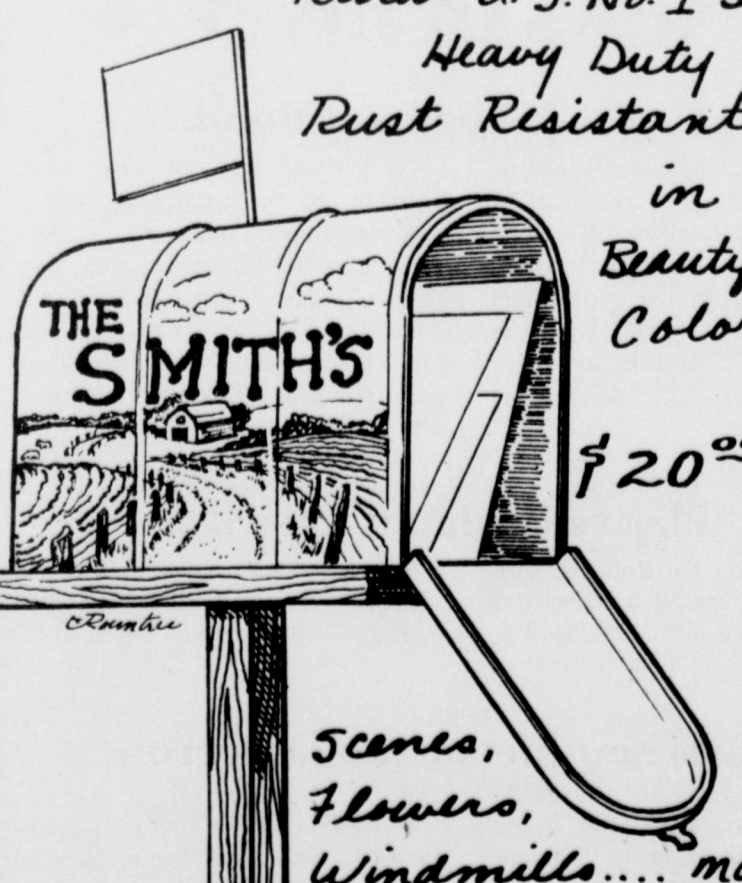

The decorating committee was composed of Mmes. Bates, Earle Denny and Sam Hunter. Mrs. Keith Aulds and Erwin F. Soell were chairmen of the food committee.

Announce engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gambol of Tell announce the engagement of their daughter, Terri, and Randy Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hughes of Iowa Park. An afternoon wedding has been planned for June 5 at Calvary Baptist Church in Childress.

Miss Gambol was graduated from Childress High School in 1980 and is employed at Associated Respiratory Rehabilitation Management Services, Inc. in Childress. The future groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School in 1976 and is employed as a signalman for Burlington-Northern. They will reside in Childress after their marriage.

Scholarship for Adcock

Timothy Adcock recently received the Jesse H. Jones Scholarship given at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

Adcock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Adcock of 605 West Texas in Iowa Park, Texas. He is a sophomore majoring in Accounting at HSU.

The scholarship is given to young men and women of outstanding ability who maintain a 3.0 G.P.A.

In a double-ring ceremony performed Saturday evening in Lover's Lane United Methodist Church in Dallas, Miss Reesa Robinson became the bride of Kenneth Wayne Parker. Rev. Wayne Dunson, a former pastor of Iowa Park First United Methodist Church, now serving as associate pastor of Elmwood United Methodist Church in Dallas, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill G. Robinson of Iowa Park, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayward D. Parker of Dallas.

The wedding vows were exchanged at an altar illuminated by candles uprising from branched candelabra. Urns of Boston fern were used at altar extremities and arrangements of daisies and gladioli in shades of peach and yellow were the floral appointments. The colors were seen again in the ribbons and flowers that marked the church pews.

The church organist presented a program of prelude selections and played the wedding marches.

Royal radiance characterized the bride's wedding gown of glowing candlelight bridal satin agleam with luxurious pearl embroidery and reembodyered Alencon lace. The gown was fashioned with a natural waist and fitted bodice, slender silk organza sleeves showered with lace appliques and pearls extending to deep satin insets above the wrists. Lavish use of the exquisite lace and pearls added beauty to the skirt and deeply banded hemline that drifted into a graceful chapel train.

A matching satin camelot cap held the bride's illusion veil that cascaded over the back of the gown to beyond the train's length, giving added distinction. For the floral complement to her gown, she carried a ring of baby's breath accented with peach stephanotis and roses, yellow daisies and forget me nots. Attached to the ring was a lovely handkerchief that belonged to her sister, Rexa Winger.

The bride was presented for marriage by her parents, her father who accompanied her to the altar answering for them.

Mrs. Rexa Winger of Dallas was her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Vanessa Cleveland and Miss Latitia Lynch, both of Dallas, and Miss Shannon Young of Wichita Falls. They were smartly dressed in the newest style that gave individuality to their appearance. Their peach crepe gowns featured blouson bodices, softly draped skirts and matching sheer capelets. They wore headbands of yellow forsythia and carried nosegays of peach roses, yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Tiffany Watson, dressed similarly to the bridal attendants, was flower girl, and Jason Fuller of Richardson, dressed like the groom and masculine participants in the wedding, was ring bearer.

The groom wore a silver Cheyenne tuxedo, a white shirt stitched in black and silver and a silver western tie.

The best man was Barry Bureson of Dallas. Groomsmen were A.R. Sachtleben of Garland, Steve Nall of Snyder and Gary Cooper of Dallas. Ushers were Ken Lynch and John Nicholson, both of Dallas.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Robinson wore a long light blue gown patterned with a blouson bodice, raglan sleeves and full skirt. Mrs. Parker wore a light green chiffon shirtwaist dress with long sleeves and skirt. Their corsages were formed with peach and yellow daisies and matching ribbons.

The bride and groom were honored at a reception given in the church parlor by the bride's parents following the wedding. They were assisted by Karen Irpino, who presided at the guest book, Mrs. Tim Sharp and Mrs. David Fuller of Dallas and Mrs. Rick Moran of Fairview.

Guests thrilled over the beauty of the bride's table covered with white polyester satin featuring a gathered floor length skirt. Peach silk bows amid the gathers in front added refreshing color accent. The graceful appointments included seven glass candlesticks ringed with silk flowers in the bride's colors holding peach candles. The silver punch bowl and cake flanked the candlesticks, and the silver trays filled with mints, peach-colored napkins lettered with names of the bride and groom gave further bits of interest to the table decor.

The towering white cake of four tiers and two sets of columns was decorated with peach frosting hearts on the sides and fresh daisies flowing over the second and third tiers. The refreshingly different top ornament is a free-lance court reporter. He was graduated from W.S. Samuell High School, attended Henderson Junior College and is a union pipefitter.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at Celebration Restaurant.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Messrs. and Mmes. Rex Nall of Snyder, Floyd Haggard of Archer City, Jess Haralson of Nocona, Kenneth Garrett of Iowa Park; Mmes. Patricia Smith, Norma Young, Kevin Wright, all from Iowa Park; Dick Boyd of Seymour, Imogene Nall of Brownfield, Danny Hamm and Brandy, Ray Gibson of Wichita Falls; Miss Denise White and Miss Shannon Young of Wichita Falls; Steve Nall of Lubbock, and John Pier of Wichita Falls.

A few basic requirements of the youth registering are: 1) the dog must have its rabies shots, and 2) the dog is controllable by the youth.

In this 12-week course, which will meet once a week on Thursday nights, the students will also receive training in dog care as well as obedience. Areas in dog care to be covered will be dog nutrition, health, and grooming, which will be taught by local veterinarians.

Youth completing the course will be eligible to compete in the Wichita County 4-H Dog Show on June 5.

4-H FUND RAISER SUCCESSFUL

Wichita County 4-H Clubs raised over $1,200 profit on popcorn sales.

David Holland of Iowa Park 4-H was the top salesperson in the county. The club with top sales was the Horse Club. Top club sellers include: Freda Ragland, Shooting sports; Michelle Morrow, Southwestern; Carol and Robert McAllister, Electra; Elisa Murphy, City View; Dawna Kellogg, Horse; and Ricky Haley, Friberg Cooper.

The money raised will go to further 4-H program activities in Wichita County. Some of these activities include the annual achievement banquet, activities during National 4-H Week, summer camp and other special activities throughout the 4-H year.

NEW 4-H CLUB IN ELECTRA

On Mar. 18 another 4-H club was formed at Dinsmore Elementary School in Electra. The club will meet again at 7 p.m., April 1, at the First Christian Church in Electra to elect officers, select a club name and choose a regular meeting time.

This first meeting was just an introduction of the 4-H program to the youth. The new 4-H members, Josh McKinney, Suzanne Richardson, Travis Box, Trisha Shelnut, Hardy Shelnut and Carla Campbell, are all excited about their new 4-H club.

Letter to the Editor

Mr. Hamilton:

I wish to express my thanks to the PTA leaders who were responsible for bringing the Texas War on Drugs representative to our city. The program was very informative, challenging, and very well presented.

I must also express my disgust at the gross apathy on the part of so many parents, teachers, school administrators, law enforcement personnel, and other leaders in our city. I saw three people that I recognized as being representative of our entire school system staff, and the entire attendance numbered less than 100 people, with many of these being children and young people. (I hope those children and young people present did not get the impression that the drug problem must not be so big a deal since no more of their teachers, Sunday school teachers, pastors, nor parents seemed to be so concerned about it.) Was it really impossible for the people in places of responsibility and influence to be in attendance, or is there really that much lack of concern on the part of so many? I realize that many parents saw no real importance in attending, for after all, drugs could never affect their children -- those things always happen to someone else.

Again, thanks to the thoughtful, capable PTA leaders who made this program possible. Thanks to those few people of our city who at least appear concerned for the future of our children and city.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Times and Record News columnist Glenn Shelton must have been searching his soul and looking into a mirror when he wrote yesterday's column, in which he stated men were more vain than women.

"Unquestionably" he said. Shelton implied that a woman dresses for one person only: her man. While a man dresses for himself.

Of course, he used the hairstyle change of the young men wanting to emulate the Beatles. But he said "no woman is as fussy about her hair as are the young men of today."

The Wichitan made the common mistake of classing all by the actions of some.

Some of our young men may be that way. But as the father of four daughters and one son, I can tell you that there was no competition: the girls were way ahead in minutes before the mirror.

But while the Beatles influenced the hair styles of males, let me point out that hair styles of women are influenced much more often. Mainly the influence comes from a movie star, but an ice skater recently made a big hit for the beauty salons.

To say that a woman dresses solely for her man is just so much bunk. I can assure you that her man may play a big part in what she chooses for her wardrobe, but she dresses primarily for the other woman.

No woman would be caught dead wearing a dress some other woman plans to have on at a party. That sort of thing was left behind when she wore a pep squad uniform.

Women are known to travel for miles, picking out some small, exclusive shop, to find something to wear that no one in her hometown owns, or has even seen.

Seldom will a woman wear a dress more than two years. That is certainly important if styles are changed. It's rare you see a skirt three inches above the knee today, huh?

Well, men are still wearing those same suits they bought when the women's hems were three inches above the knee. Does that sound like vanity?

Of course men are known for buying new ties. Some who wear them, that is.

Ever noticed how few ties are worn by Iowa Park men? Does that sound like vanity?

Shelton often hits the nail on the head when he really puts his heart in his daily column.

But this time, he's either dead wrong, been nipping too much wine, or trying to start an argument.

Men are certainly not more vain than women. Most of us, anyway.

QUESTIONING PROCEDURES

Woody to challenge board on state level

Was it a public hearing for an administrator under the provisions of the newly-enacted Senate Bill 341, or was it just an informal meeting between a school board and administrator?

For the first 30 minutes of last Thursday's special called meeting of the Holliday school board, it was apparently a public hearing.

But board president T.H. Mankins offered another explanation for the gathering of band director Tom Woody, Texas State Teachers Association uni-serve director Don Dorsett and approximately 20 assembled guests.

"As a closing statement, I want you to know we have formed no opinions, and give Mr. Woody best wishes on a good year next year," Mankins said. "However, no decision will be made on your (Woody) contract until the spring of 1983," he added.

The meeting was called at the request of Woody and Dorsett after trustees failed to act on the director's contract during the board's February meeting. Contracts for all other administrators were extended through the 1983-84 school year.

Under the provisions of SB 341, a school employee is entitled to a public hearing if his or her contract is not extended, and without explanation. The meeting can be held in an open or closed session, depending on the employee's preference. SB 341 was passed by the last session of the Texas Legislature, in an attempt to provide a uniform procedure for employee evaluation as well as hiring and firing.

Woody, whose contract extends through the 1982-83 school year, told the board their apparent lack of action on his contract was a signal to him they would not extend his contract at any time. Waiting until 1983 would be too late, Dorsett told the delegation, because Woody would have "no confidence" in his position, "and he will start looking around. Too many opportunities are available to him in this area," remarked Dorsett. "I don't think you know how good a band director you have here, or how hard they are to come by."

After learning the meeting would be an informal one and not a public hearing under the provisions of SB 341, Dorsett informed the board their actions would be appealed to the commissioner of education.

"I feel he is entitled to a hearing under SB 341," said Dorsett. "And I think the board is violating the open letter of the law."

Dorsett further added the appeal would be based on "the procedural violations of the board tonight."

Woody, reading a prepared statement which board members received a copy, said he was:

* Unprepared for questions last year during contract renewal discussion, about attending band club activities, including concession stands during athletic events;

* always felt he had rectified his job description;

* felt he was wrongly judged as "arrogant," citing his inexperience in meeting with school boards; and,

* wanted his contract renewed for the 1983-84 school year at that time.

"I feel there have been some misunderstandings between us, and I want the problems rectified and to have you renew my contract," he said.

Woody also told the board he felt he had worked well with band parents in the past, and that he had been wrongly criticized for his handling of the U.I.L. state marching contest. Woody further added he was criticized for obtaining an unlisted phone number, saying he had received harrasing phone calls from parents and students alike. "I only did it to protect my family," Woody said. "I am sure some of you have suffered harassment over the phone."

In addition to meeting with Woody, the board accepted a bid from Armored Roofing for $10,405 to repair the gym roof. The bid calls for Armored to scrape gravel from the existing roof, mop four layers of fibreglas felts and top coat with a fibrated floor coating. They will also install new guards for the roof perimeter, and use new galvanized gravel.

Sports banquet speaker told

Holliday High School athletic director Don Lucy has lined up an entertaining speaker who also happens to be a college president for the annual Holliday All-Sports Banquet on April 27.

Don Newbury, president of Western Texas College of Snyder, has a number of years experience on the speaker circuit, and should be a familiar face to seasoned Eagle fans.

"We had him once before, and the crowd was very receptive at that time," Lucy stated.

A graduate of Early High School (Brownwood) and a PhD degree from North Texas State University, Newbury taught for a number of years in the communications departments at Howard Payne University, Sul Ross, and Tarrant County Junior College.

He and his wife, Brenda, have three daughters, Julie Anna, Jana Dawn, and Jeanie Carol.

Larger schools dominate meet

The Holliday High School Invitation Track Meet, held Friday and Saturday, was run in one division for the first time in the meet's history, pitting Class AA school with Class AAA competition.

Kevin Blankenship was the only Eagle to place in the top three, in any event.

Class AAA schools dominated the meet, with Henrietta winning both the boys and girls divisions.

Blankenship placed third in the boys 110-meter hurdles with a clocking of 15.5, four-tenths of a second behind the first place hurdler.

Not only was the competition stiff at the track meet, but some Eagle and Lady Eagle thinclads were participating in other athletic events, weakening Holliday team chances of performing up to their potential.

Here are the meet's results.

Eight absentee ballots cast in April 3 races

Absentee voting continues until Tuesday afternoon for the April 3rd city and school elections at Holliday, but voters are maintaining a consistent trend of light turnouts in absentee, with but three case at city hall and five at the Holliday tax office.

Any one wishing to vote absentee can do so at the city hall from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., and at the school superintendent's office from 8 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Running in the city race for re-election are mayor James Cook (unopposed), Fred Daume, Jr., and Leon Addison. Daume is being challenged by former councilman Mike Parker, while Addison will face two candidates, Leo Chappell and Clarence Hoover, Jr.

In the school's at large race, incumbents Larry Finnell and board president T.H. Mankins will face Rev. Larry Lilley, Bob Martin, Carl Nichols and Melvin Bills.

In the only unexpired term race, Gene Harmon will vie for one more year on the board against Clay Lindley.

Trustee Jack Ayres is the only one not choosing to run for another term.

The Holliday Eagles' tennis team continue to burn up the courts, winning overwhelmingly their own tournament over the weekend, and the Olney All-Girl tournament Monday.

And, after participating in the district tennis meeting Tuesday, coach Bill Higgins says his team will be the one to beat with the girls' district meet set for Monday and Tuesday at Midwestern State University.

As a result of that meeting, Higgins brought home a list of the seeded players in both the girls and boys district meets, and it is nothing less than impressive.

Two-time district "A" girls singles champ Susan Parker will go into the tournament seeded first. In addition, the "A" girls doubles team of Carla Cottrell and Melissa Parish is ranked first, along with "A" boys singles Mike Parker, and the "A" boys doubles team of Todd Stevens and Brad Lawson.

Holliday easily won its own tournament over the weekend, but not without some stiff competition from teams within District 13-AA and Olney.

"For the most part, it was our district competition, with the exception of Millsap and Chico," Higgins said. "Boyd doesn't have a tennis program."

The Parkers won both boys and girls "A" singles, while Cottrell-Parish and Lawson-Stevens won the "A" doubles. Lawson-Stevens won in the finals over another Holliday entry, Kevin and Kurt Lilley.

Guy Gilmore beat fellow Eagle Robert Rasmussen for the boys "B" singles title, while two other Holliday entries fought for the boys "B" doubles, with the team of Pat Parker and Kelly Carver beating out Steve Snider and Pat O'Brien.

Sandy Brown and Laura Lowder of Holliday won the girls "B" doubles, while Dena Fenoglio of Nocona prevented a complete Holliday sweep by winning the girls "B" singles.

In Olney Monday, Parker won the girls "A" singles and Parish the girls "B" singles, while the "A" girls double team of Cheryl Lowder and Tammy Stevens won over another Holliday entry, Sandy Brown and Laura Lowder. According to Higgins, the finals in the girls' district meet will most likely be held Tuesday morning on MSU's tennis courts located on the southside of the campus.

Holliday is favored to take tennis title

Couple sets June date

An early June wedding date has been selected by Miss Lucy Ysidra Smith and William L. Mathews, according to the young lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. China B. Smith, who made the announcement Saturday afternoon at a beautifully-appointed reception given to honor the couple's engagement. The prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Mathews of Kansas City, Missouri.

Miss Smith was graduated from Texas Tech Univ. and is currently employed as land secretary for Ponexco Co. of Houston. Her fiancé, who was graduated from the University of Missouri at Columbus, is employed as customer engineer for Control Data Corporation at Houston.

The wedding is planned for June 5 at Bellaire United Methodist Church in Houston.

Lovely blends of peach and

periwinkle, colors chosen by the bride-elect for her wedding, were noted in the artistic decorations for the reception and in corsages for members of the houseparty.

The refreshment table possessed special beauty and charm. Covered with white polyester satin featuring a pleated skirt that fell to the floor from beneath a top ruffle, the centerpiece was a refreshing bouquet of fresh white daisies, purple Dutch iris, peach roses and carnations, baby's breath arranged in a crystal bowl, a wedding gift of the future bride's parents.

The peach and periwinkle colors stood out beautifully in the white cake squares decorated with exquisite frosting roses with realistically curled petals arranged on a tiered crystal tray and the punch served from a fine crystal service. The napkins engraved with the betrothed couple's names carried out the pleasing color combination.

Mrs. C.E. Birk greeted guests who called between two and four o'clock and Mrs. Gale Lowrance secured their signatures at a round table covered with gold satin overlaid with gold net and appointed with a bud vase of carnations in the chosen shades.

Other reception assistants were Mes. Chauncey Weiler, Harold White, Richard Hicks, Larry Gregg and Homer Blalock. Mrs. Otis Gay, pianist, provided a musical background for the function.

Miss Hattie D. Wells of Wellington, sister of Mrs. Smith, was a special guest.

Cook of the Week

Most cooks are agreed that it isn't easy to keep family meals from getting in a rut and that they have to have a "trick or treat" or two up their sleeve to revive lagging appetites or even have to disguise foods to get the family to eat them.

Some vegetables, particularly those of the greens family, do not have taste or eye appeal and have to be disguised. In earlier days, grandmothers who never heard of vitamins knew that greens were good for their families so they gathered wild greens and planted seed of many more.

Spinach is a member of the greens family that people either like or dislike, and for those in the latter group it would be hard to disguise or glamorize the leafy vegetable so that they would relish it. Mrs. Glen Collins, the cook for this week, admits that she never liked spinach until she found the casserole recipe for it that she shares with us today.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins are really newcomers to Iowa Park, having moved here from Joplin, Mo. about three weeks ago. They have united with First Baptist Church. He is employed as a welder by Adams Oil Field Supply Co. in Holliday. They have two children at home, Stephen a ninth grade student, and Rachel a fourth grade student. They have two married daughters in Joplin, Mo., another married daughter in Ft. Knox, Ky., six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Emilie Collins' hobbies are sewing, horses, embroidery and needlepoint.

Mrs. Glen Collins

1 tsp. salt
Pepper

Cook and drain spinach. Brown hamburger, onion and garlic, drain. Mix all ingredients in a 9x12 oblong pan. Sprinkle cheese on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

CORN BREAD

1 cup flour
1 cup corn meal
1/4 cup sugar
Salt
2 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
1 or 2 eggs
1 or 2 cups milk
Vinegar
2 Tbsps. cooking oil

Sift together first six ingredients, add eggs and mix well. Add enough vinegar to milk to clabber. Add enough milk to corn meal mixture until consistency is a little thick. Heat cooking oil or shortening in 425 degree oven until bubbling. Pour oil in corn meal mixture and combine. Bake 20-25 minutes or until brown.

7-LAYER SALAD

1 pkg. frozen peas, cooked and drained
Lettuce, chopped
Bacon (lean strips may be used) fried
Bell pepper, chopped
Eggs, boiled
Grated cheese
Green onions, chopped
1 cup Miracle Whip
1 T sugar
Combine Miracle Whip, sugar and milk

Layer lettuce, peas, green onions, bell pepper, eggs, bacon and grated cheese. Pour the Miracle Whip mixture over layered salad and let set 24 hours.

QUICK AND EASY SPAGHETTI

1 lb. hamburger
2 cans tomato sauce
Salt, pepper, oregano, garlic, onion, green pepper to taste
1 can mushrooms
Catsup, 1/4 to 1/2 cup

Saute onion, garlic, bell pepper and mushrooms in one T of butter. When all are wilted, add hamburger and brown until done. Add tomato sauce, water, salt, pepper, oregano and catsup. Simmer until thick, about 15-30 minutes.

May be used with cooked macaroni, rice or spaghetti. If rice is used it may be cooked in the same sauce.

BUTTERMILK CAKE

1 cup butter
3 cups sugar
1 cup buttermilk
5 eggs, separated
1/2 tsp. soda
3 cups flour
1 tsp. vanilla

Cream together the butter and sugar; add egg yolks that have been beaten well. Dissolve soda in buttermilk and flour, add alternately with flour to above mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff, then carefully fold into batter along with vanilla.

Bake in angel food or bundt pan at 300 degrees for 1 1/2 hours. Serve with fresh strawberries or other fresh fruits.

Salad supper fetes teachers

The regular Kidwell P.T.A. meeting Tuesday night was preceded by a salad supper given in appreciation of the teachers in the home of Mrs. David Padgett.

The regular meeting was opened with a meditation by Rev. Jimmy Johnson, pastor of Grace Baptist Church. Mrs. Jimmy Kasperek Jr. presided during the business and presented each teacher with a P.T.A. mug of appreciation, then gave a plaque to Bob Cole, principal.

Mrs. Robert Goodknight, membership chairman, announced that there were presently 306 paid members of the association and that Mrs. Martin's first grade room won the February award for the most in attendance.

The program was presented by the kindergarten classes of Mes. Eckelkamp, Roberts, Whitis, and Thompson, the music teacher on "The People in Our Neighborhood."

FFA News

Nine judging teams from the Iowa Park Chapter of Future Farmers of America will participate in tomorrow's Tarleton State University Invitational Contest in Stephenville.

"It will be one of the toughest contests we will make this year," said one FFA advisor.

The judging teams will consist of one for land, and two teams each for livestock, poultry, horticulture and dairy.

Jacksboro chapter Future Farmers of American land judging team led an 18-team field Monday in the local land judging contest, sponsored by the Agricultural Soil Conservation Service.

Archer City placed second, and Electra third in the team competition. Individual honors went to Luette McMahan, Electra; Mike Counts, Jacksboro; and, Tom Fowler, Jacksboro.

Jacksboro's team scored 632 out of a possible 840. "The competition was real stiff for an early contest," said one advisor.

The land judging site this year was on North Preston Rd., owned by Bert Williamson. Preliminary reports placed Iowa Park in fifth or sixth position.

The Iowa Park FFA land judging team will travel to Henrietta Monday for the district land judging contest. The livestock judging team will be in Abilene the same day for a contest there.

The Eyes Of Texans

JAMES EDWARDS Optometrist

DO WE REALLY NEED TWO EYES?

While it is nice to have the benefit of two functional eyes, we can do almost as well with only one. That is, if two good eyes equal 100% vision then one eye would represent about 80% vision not 50%. One of the advantages of binocular vision is possession of Steropsis or "3D" vision which you can't have with only one eye, [depth perception yes, steropsis no]. 3D vision is really not essential unless you are a brain surgeon or the like. But you don't really need it for driving a car or even flying a plane. One of the main advantages of being two-eyed is that you have peripheral vision on both sides. Even a person with bad central vision or a "lazy eye" possesses good side vision in his bad eye. A person with "tunnel vision" can have 20/20 vision in each eye but have a hard time in getting around [because peripheral vision tells the central vision where to look].

The bottom line is that while one eye is almost as good as two eyes, having no eyes is a real tragedy so the main asset of having two eyes is that you have a "spare." or to put it another way, take good care of your eyes, ask the man who owns one!

Sefcik, Birk winners in Boomtown Relays

Not only was Lisa Sefcik Iowa Park's only double winner in last weekend's Boomtown Relays at Burkburnett, but she established one new record.

The premier female competitor of the area in the hurdles and triple jump, Sefcik set a new meet standard in the hurdles with a 15.89 clocking. Her 31-8 1/2 triple jump won the blue ribbon, but it was two feet short of her season best.

Lee Birk was the only other Iowa Park winner. He won the high jump by clearing 6-0, but Marc Klinkerman placed second at the same height.

The Hawk mile relay team failed to place, but turned in its best clocking of the season with a 3:38. The sprint relay qualified for the finals and had its fastest time, also, 44.8, but failed to place.

Other Hawk placings included: High hurdles, Russ Hayley, 2nd, 15.38; Klinkerman, 4th.

Discus - Robin Combs, 3rd, 138-2; Stewart, 6th.

Shot put - Steve Stewart, 3rd, 47-10 3/4.

Other Hawkettes earning points included:

3200 meter run - Lisa Yeakley, 4th, 13:31.15; Jan Hale, 5th, 13:40.

1600 Meter run - Yeakley, 4th; Hale, 5th.

Discus - Shelly Untalon, 5th, 97 1/2 10 1/2.

Shot put - Untalon, 6th, 33-8 1/2.

The Hawkettes will compete in a meet tomorrow at Vernon, but the Hawks are not scheduled for a meet this weekend.
