IOWA PARK, TEXAS

IOWA PARKANS, young and old, appeared to enjoy themselves Friday when the Carson and Barnes 5-Ring Circus came to town. Their attention was captured by the acts taking place simultaneously in all five rings, and during the parades of the acts and animals. One highlight of the matinee performance was the entrance atop elephants by Phil Welch, right, chamber of commerce president, Bob Cole, elementary principal and Charlie Lee, mayor. While enroute to the huge tent's entrance, families were treated to a free viewing of a virtual zoo. The circus was sponsored by the Iowa Park Rotary Club and most of the organization's commission for ticket sales will be turned over to the Tom Burnett Memorial Library fund.

Entertainment will be almost continuous from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on a stage by Danny Parkerson and his crew.

Area voters agree on most candidates

Iowa Parkans voting Saturday in the Democratic party primary went pretty well down the line with the others in Wichita county and over the state. They favored Bentsen for senator, White for governor, and Richards for state treasurer, but disagreed with the others by edging toward Hannah for attorney general over Sherman, Snelson over Mauro for land commissioner and Brown for agriculture commissioner. As usual, precinct 32 had the largest turnout of any box in the county with 286, even though it was a light showing for voters. Nine percent of the county's voters turned in ballots in the seven polls of the Leader's area of coverage. Ninety-four votes were cast in precinct 33, 33 in precinct 34, 35 in precinct 44, 34 in precinct 53, 109 in precinct 59 and 62 in precinct 60, accounting for 653 of the county's 7,078 votes cast in the primary. The land commissioners' race was the closest in the seven precincts, with Snelson receiving 202 votes and Mauro 191. It was almost as close in the agriculture commissioner's race, where Brown received 315 votes to Hightower's 286. The rest of the state's voters went for Hightower over the incumbent. Area voters favored Hannah for attorney general, giving him 194 votes to 174 for Sherman and 171 to Mattox. Sherman led the county with 2,191 and Mattox had 1,981 and Hannah 1,861. REPUBLICAN VOTING Voting in the Republican party primary was extremely light in the six boxes of the Leader's area of coverage. Only 69 votes out of 7,078 ballots in the county were in those six boxes. In every case, the area's Republicans agreed with the rest of the county on candidates, especially Cornelison gets probation, fine Ed Cornelison of Holliday was given a deferred adjudication probation and fined after pleading nolo contendere Tuesday before 97th District Court judge Frank Douthitt. He was charged with theft of crude oil valued over $200 and less than $10,000, a second-degree felony. Cornelison was indicted by an Archer County grand jury at the same time as J.W. Boren of Iowa Park, whose trial ended with a hung jury. Douthitt fined Cornelison $1,500 to be paid to Archer County at the rate of $25 per month. In addition he was ordered to pay a court cost fee of $95. Maximum sentence for a second-degree felony is two to 10 years in prison and a fine up to $5,000. Violation of a deferred adjudication probation would allow the judge to levy a sentence at a later date.

on the candidate for governor. Only three votes were cast for Clements' opponent. Local voters favored Collins over Mengden, 43-20, in the closest race in the county. Voting in the referendum issues was not as unified as it was for the candidates, however. The initiative and referendum issue had the most problems, approved by three boxes but failing in one and a tie in the other. Four boxes approved the pari-mutuel betting issue and one box (with five voting) failed. To abolish the blue law issue was disapproved by the same box, precinct 44, but passed in the others. Four boxes approved the DWI repeat jail terms issue, none opposed it but there was a tie in one box, precinct 53. All five boxes voted against an issue to ban private handguns. Finnell winner Holliday's Charles Finnell, victor in Saturday's race for the Democratic nomination in House District 80, has announced complete and final returns in the race. The returns, according to Finnell's tabulations, revealed that he received 9,828 votes to 6,331 for challenger Bill Glassford, Henrietta newspaper publisher. In Wichita County, the voting percentage was 73 percent in favor of Finnell.

Head, Roberts wedding held Saturday in Fort Worth

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Michael Roberts, who were married Saturday evening in the Midtown Church of Christ in Fort Worth, are on a honeymoon Caribbean Cruise where they will visit Nassau, San Juan and St. Thomas. They will live in Fort Worth when they return.

Mrs. Roberts, the former Miss Melissa Head, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal W. Head of Fort Worth. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin C. Roberts and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. T.M. Clark, all of Iowa Park.

MRS. RICHARD MICHAEL ROBERTS

Bless You and Keep You," following prayer during the ceremony, and concluded with "Bless This House" for the recessional.

Wyatt Sawyer, involvement minister of the Midtown Church of Christ, was the officiant for the ceremony performed in an impressively decorated nuptial space. Soft illumination was provided by votive and cathedral candles burning in brass double ring and fan candelabra trimmed with wedding greenery. A brass archway centering the space, brass side posts holding arrangements of fresh pink and white gladioli and mums, and the brass three-light Trinity holding chace candles completed the setting. The couple lighted the center candle in the candlestick to symbolize their oneness after they had been pronounced man and wife. Church pews were marked with bows accented with fresh flowers and greenery.

The Midtown Singers provided the wedding music. While guests were being seated, they sang "Sunrise, Sunset" and "For All We Know." For the processional, they sang "Faithful and True," presented "The Lord

The bride's father escorted her to the altar and presented her for marriage. She wore an exquisite formal white silk organza gown over taffeta, a creation of Alfred Angelo. The tight bodice was distinguished with a sheer capelet overlay featuring a wedding ring neckline of reembrodered Venise lace that extended onto the overlay. The lace was repeated in a scalloped border of the small cape that covered the shoulders and on the hemline of the full skirt and chapel train. She wore Venise lace gauntlets to complement her gown.

She wore a Mademoiselle hat covered with Venise lace featuring a back pushed up with a large white bow to which white tulle knee length streamers were attached. She carried a cascade of white gardenias, white and pink roses and gypsophila. The bride's sentimental accessories included her grandmother's wedding ring for "something old"; her mother's handkerchief for "something borrowed", the "something blue" garter, and a good luck penny dated the year that her parents were married.

Miss Tammy Dossey, the maid of honor, wore a pink taffeta gown designed with an off the shoulders fitted bodice, front and back sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves and flared skirt. She carried a nosegay of pink and gigi pink carnations, a few pink roses and pink baby's breath held by a white lace holder.

Ken Roberts, the groom's brother, took part in the wedding as best man. Ushers were Neal F. Head, the bride's brother, Bill Moss and Ron Moss, cousins of the groom. The groom wore a black Pierre Cardin tuxedo and a boutonniere formed of a white rose, baby's breath and leaf. The best man and ushers wore black tuxedos, white pleated shirts and their boutonnieres consisted of stephanotis, leaf and baby's breath.

Mothers of the bridal couple added grace to their formal gowns by wearing corsages of white gardenias and roses. Mrs. Head was attired in a dusty blue gown patterned with a V-neck in the front and back of the bodice and a four-tiered accordion pleated skirt. Mrs. Roberts wore a long maroon polyester knit dress designed with a softly bloused self-lined bodice, a rounded lace yoke neckline and split sleeves. The full pleated skirt fell from a self-covered waistline belt.

Following the wedding, the bride's parents hosted a reception for a large number of guests in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Guests were impressed with the remarkable beauty of the bride's table which was accentuated with a 14x20 colored portrait of the bride spotlighted on a table nearby. The bride's table was covered with a skirted white organza cloth over pink satin and appointed with a four-branched candelabra accented with glowing candles and a bouquet of fresh flowers in shades of pink, the four-tiered white cake with three sets of dividers trimmed with pink roses and a bride and groom top ornament, the silver and crystal services, bridal napkins imprinted with "Melissa and Mike, May 1, 1982."

The groom's table was laid with a skirted ivory linen cloth. It held the chocolate cake iced in chocolate and trimmed with pink and ivory flowers with green leaves, and silver coffee service.

The guest book table was covered like the bride's table. Guests signed the book with a plume pen under the direction of Miss Sara Beth Watson.

Other tables in the room were a buffet foods table and quartet tables arranged for guests to sit while they ate their refreshments.

The attendants for the bride's table were Miss Martha Hollis, Mrs. Jeff Moore and Mrs. Bill Booth. Presiding at the groom's table were his three sisters, Mrs. Kyle Stoddard of Fort Worth, Miss Patricia Roberts and Miss Carey Dale Roberts of Iowa Park.

The bride was graduated from Haltom High School. She received an associate of arts degree from Tarrant County Junior College and a B.A. degree in business administration from Texas Wesleyan College. She is a bookkeeper for American Mfg. Co. of Texas.

The groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School. He received a degree in business from Texas Christian University and is employed by Morrison Supply Co.

The groom's parents were hosts for the Friday evening rehearsal dinner at Vance Godbey.

Special wedding guests were Mrs. T.M. Clark of Iowa Park, grandmother of the groom, and Mrs. Lydia Head of Fort Worth, grandmother of the bride. Included in the out-of-town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Mark Roberts and Mrs. M.G. Cook of Birmingham, Ala.

NTSU President Alfred F. Hurley formally recognized the honorees including students named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges and outstanding undergraduate and graduate students in various departments.

Miss Sandy Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ray Clark of Iowa Park, and Racy Dawkins Jr., son of Racy Dawkins and Naomi Dawkins of Wichita Falls, were united in marriage Friday evening in a double ring wedding service with her brother, Timmy Ray Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ray Clark and his betrothed, Miss Joanne Susan Langford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jenkins of Wichita Falls.

The officiant for the ceremony which took place in the Dawkins home, Route 5, Wichita Falls, was Rev. Don Sewell, an Assembly of God minister. The couples stood before a candelabra archway trimmed with boxwood greenery, white doves and wedding bells to recite their vows. The path to the nuptial space was outlined with blue and white silk bows on chairs where guests were seated.

Music was furnished by Shirline McLendon, pianist, and Rodney Holley, vocalist, who sang "Author of Love" before the ceremony and "We've Only Just Begun" at the close. The pianist played accompaniment for the solos and the traditional wedding processional.

Each bride was escorted by her father who gave her in marriage for her parents.

Blackerby excluded

The name of Darla Roberts Blackerby was omitted from a release by Midwestern State Univ. of the Iowa Park and Holliday students who were honored recently at the annual Women's Recognition Banquet held at Clark Student Center. She was nominated as the Outstanding Junior Woman.

She is the wife of David Blackerby and the daughter of Mrs. Frank Roberts and the late Mr. Roberts.

MRS. RACY DAWKINS JR. and MRS. TIMMY RAY CLARK

For her headpiece, she wore a white Victorian hat trimmed with satin lace bows and long illusion. She carried long stemmed white gladioli tied with blue ribbons from which she removed the groom's boutonniere and pinned it on him at the altar.

Observing bridal traditions, she wore her father's first wedding band for "something old"; her mother's crucifix for "something borrowed"; her gown and garter for "something new" and "something blue". For good luck, she slipped a 1817 penny taken from the groom's coin collection in her wedding slipper.

Miss Langford chose a formal gown of white organza designed with a cluny lace bib outlined with Venise lace and alternating rows of lace on the bodice. The long full sleeves were banded with ruffled lace cuffs and the bell-shaped skirt extended into a short train.

She wore a Victorian hat of Venise lace and illusion and carried long stemmed white gladioli accented with bridesmaid. They were attired in blue organza gowns designed with ruffled necklines, short sleeves, high waistlines and hemline flounces that were caught in the back to create bustle effects. They carried single blue carnations.

Brandi Swanson and Heather Langford took part in the service as flower girls. The first was attired in a long blue organza frock duplicating the style of the bridal attendants' gowns, and the latter wore a long white lace dress made with puffed sleeves, a blue bow that fell in streamers at the front waistline, and a tiered skirt. They carried white baskets filled with blue carnations and white daisies.

Cooper Boylan Jr., the ring bearer, was dressed like the best man, Keith Dawkins and groomsman, Stan Nefruegge, in a baby blue tuxedo. The grooms wore white tuxedos with tails.

Duties of ushering the mothers were assumed by the grooms. Timmy Ray Clark ushered Mrs. Langford; Racy Dawkins Jr. ushered his mother; and both ushered Mrs. Clark.

At appropriate times during the service, the brides presented their mothers and the grooms' mothers with long stemmed red roses. Mrs. Dawkins wore a long turquoise satin gown made with a V neck and long fitted sleeves. Mrs. Jenkins wore a street length beige border print dress, and Mrs. Clark chose a long pale pink sheer gown imprinted with dark pink flowers styled with a high ruffled neck and long sleeves.

The couples were honored at a reception following the wedding. The refreshment table was covered with blue net accented with drapes held with bows at the top. The brides' bouquets were used for the floral centerpiece, and the cakes and crystal punch service were table appointments.

Two cakes, one for each bridal couple, arranged in a refreshingly different style, captured attention of guests. The cakes were lifted on either side of a large white sheet cake bordered with blue frosting garlands by two sets of Grecian pillars that surrounded cluster of roses. Both cakes were decorated with blue roses clinging to pale green leaves, one was topped with white doves and the other with white wedding bells. Refreshments were served by Tracy Fletcher, Ralane Amburn and Mrs. Delisa Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark departed from the reception for a wedding trip to the Bahamas. She was graduated from Rider High School and works for Sizzling Steak House. He was graduated from Iowa Park High School, attended Texas State Technical Institute at Waco where he received an associate bachelor of science degree. He is self-employed. The couple will live in Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawkins chose Las Vegas, Nev. for their honeymoon destination, and they, too, will live in Wichita Falls. She was graduated from Holliday High School and Aladdin Beauty College. He was graduated from Petrolia High School and works for Custom Marble Shop.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by parents of the couples at the Dawkins home.

Special guests who witnessed the recitation of marriage lines by their grandchildren were Mrs. Nellie Tiberghien of Wichita Falls, grandmother of the new Mrs. Timmy Clark, and Mrs. Lois Fincher of Archer City, grandmother of the new Mrs. Racy Dawkins Jr. and Timmy Ray Clark.

Letters to the Editor

I have a few words to say about people and the little league baseball organization. What is the matter with some of these parents! They are climbing all over the coaches about their decision to take their child out of the game and putting in another player. They have a reason for doing so. There is no coach with such a personal vendetta against a player or their parents that he would take it out on the child. The first reaction a parent has when their child is "pulled" is they don't like little Johnny or Johnny's mom & dad. How wrong can they be? After all these coaches practice and work with these kids on their own free time. They aren't getting paid one red cent. a lot of them don't even have kids on the team. So you know that they like what they are doing and working with kids or they wouldn't do it. The decision a coach makes is based on what he feels is best for the entire team. Not for one individual. So if your child doesn't play the complete game "don't get upset". I have a 8 yr. old who is playing his first year in minor league baseball. He plays a couple of innings and then is replaced by another player. Believe it or not I don't come unglued at the seams because he isn't playing. Next year he will be more experienced and will play more. Every year he plays, the better he plays, the more he stays in the game. A lot of teams have 3, 4 or even 5 extra players. So they have to take kids out to let other ones play. I guess if they had just 9 kids on the teams everyone would be happy. At least the parents would. There would be a lot of unhappy little boys & girls at sign up time that didn't get to play because there were too many kids.

So I take my hat off to the league officers, the coaches, the assistant coaches and their families. They are taking time away from their families to spend it with our kids. Yours & mine.

So back off parents. Give the coaches some breathing room. If you don't like how the game is being played, shut up and put up your time and talents and maybe you can see that the pasture is not always greener on the other side.

Thank you
Sue Gholson

Worth Quoting

We're ashamed of the national media profession.

We've not seen such lopsided, slanted, biased reporting since George Wallace of Alabama decided to make a run for the presidency.

Watch the six o'clock news, pick up any news magazine or a daily newspaper and the items come at you fast and furious over how the federal budget cuts are doing us all under.

Monday's Lubbock Avalanche-Journal provides a case in point.

On page two, an eight-column headline read: "Pediatricians Link Malnutrition in Children to Budget Cuts" and the story beneath read:

"Several Boston pediatricians say some children began suffering from malnutrition after they were cut from federal food programs and predict that other youngsters will face a similar fate if Congress passes President Reagan's next round of budget cuts."

You have to read deep down in the story to come up with this item: "They concede that a problem existed before Reagan took office. . ."

Same newspaper, page three: A story is headlined: "Budget Cuts Blacken PBS Stations" and the lead states: "Viewers who turn to one of Connecticut's five public television stations on Saturday mornings can see the effects of federal budget cuts: a blank screen."

Same newspaper same page: "Reagan Ax Wounds Legal Aid for Poor" and the story reads: "When 60-year-old Rita Williams of Worcester, Mass. had a problem with her rent last year, she got help from Central Massachusetts Legal Services. When she wanted help with another problem this year, she was turned away because of a backlog of cases caused by federal budget cuts."

Same newspaper, same page: "Pain of Budget Cuts Beginning to Hit Home" and the story beneath details the news that in Massachusetts there are 14,000 fewer recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

Counseling services for 120 pregnant teenagers in Kentucky have been eliminated, Alabama day care centers have room for 8,500 children instead of the 11,000 they cared for last year, a school district in California had to raise the price of school lunches from 65c to $1 because of federal budget cuts.

Our argument is that the effect of budget cuts should be balanced with news from the other side of the ledger.

We haven't read a story that the taxpayer only has 62 more days to go before he stops working for Uncle Sam and starts working for his family - it takes the first five months of the year of his labor to pay his tax bill.

We haven't read a story that it's only 99 more days until the tax bite on the working man drops by 10 percent and the economy receives a boost from $4 billion more in spendable income.

We haven't read a story that inflation has dropped in less than a year from 14-plus percent down to the current 6 1/2.

We haven't read a story about experts predicting a 12-14 percent interest rate by summer, that the recession is currently bottoming out, unemployment will peak at 8 1/2 percent and the economy will start surging upward at mid-year.

It seems to us that some mention should be made of the fact that at long last some consideration is being given to the heavy burden of taxation carried on the backs of wage earners and salaried workers.

When a fellow works from January until May 26 each year for the government, somehow or another the fact that lunches had to be raised from 65c to $1 in a California school district just doesn't seem all that important.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Carpetbagging is alive and well today, but those Damn Yankees don't have to invade our area to do their dirty work. They just get elected to congress.

I had heard of the pending legislation to add a new tax onto the crude oil industry and knew a delegation of men from this area had flown to Washington last week to testify and work against it.

But not until yesterday's article in the Wichita Falls newspaper had I heard any details.

It makes me boiling mad! Who ever heard of one very small fraction of a nation's population being called upon to suffer the brunt of that nation's financial problems?

In case you missed the story, a 200-member coalition from the northeast and midwest, chaired by Rep. Bob Edgar, D-Pa., is calling for a $17-billion in new tax on crude oil. It would call for 75 percent of the tax to be used to reduce the federal deficit and 25 percent to form an "Energy and Economic Development Trust Fund."

That would be in addition to the present and unjust windfall profit tax which in 1981 claimed $3.1-billion, according to the Internal Revenue Service. Figures for 1982 are not yet available.

Since there are probably 1,000 union workers in the states making up the coalition to every one working in the crude oil production industry, why not tax them $1 a day to do the same thing? That would cure the problems a lot faster!

If I read the thinking of those Yankees correctly (I doubt anyone could do that, including those people themselves), they figure they can tax something as necessary as oil and the product will still be bought. People just live on petroleum products.

But they're not thinking about the investment that must be made in oil production. They doubtfully know the cost of anything, now that they've passed their own, self-serving tax-free living standards in the nation's capitol.

There were a lot of calls for oil producers to shut down their wells in protest, back when the windfall profits tax was approved. I can bet you money that will happen if this new tax is applied to crude oil.

There is no question that investors will be few and far between who will be willing to take a venture on drilling a well if the tax is approved. Investors like to get something back for their money, and after they've taken the risk of plunging on a dry hole and it produces, they sure want some return.

Federal records show that most of the states in the coalition receive more federal dollars than is contributed by those states to the treasury.

I suggest the northeast and midwest is the place to levy the taxes these Damn Yankee congressmen want!

Start average billing before you start your air conditioner.

Electricity is costing more this year mainly because the fuels to make it cost more.

Our Average Billing Plan can help, because it "averages out" your electric bills. You still pay for all the electricity you use, and your payments will still vary from month to month. But in high-use months you pay for less electricity than you use, and in low-use months you pay for more than you use.

Many customers find this helps ease the impact of high summer air conditioning bills. Our average billing plan is available to both residential customers and churches.

Police department gets grant

Holiday city council accepted law enforcement grant from Nortex Regional Planning Commission during a short meeting Monday night in the Holiday Community Center, with the city now able to purchase additional equipment for the one-man police force.

Council agreed to match 25-percent of approximately $4,480 in grants from Nortex, culminating a two-month joint effort by police chief Lomax Campbell and city administrator Jim Hamill to upgrade the department.

During the council's last regular meeting, April 19, Campbell told aldermen his request to Nortex had been reviewed, with the commission informing Campbell of the items he listed which could or could not be funded by them.

One item the group no longer funds is additional police officers, through the CETA program. According to Campbell, Nortex officials explained that budget cutbacks led to the elimination of funding for personnel.

In other business, council rejected a proposal from TESCO, agreed to purchase new tires for the police car, and appointed two members of the council on the committee to nominate a local resident for Older Texan Recognition Day.

After meeting with TESCO district manager Jack Redding, aldermen voted to reject a "Fuel Cost Factor Tariff Schedule", after voting last December to suspend action for 120 days.

The tariff schedule is a proposed system to provide towns serviced by TESCO with updated information on their rates. Aldermen mainly objected to the high costs in providing the service, which consumers themselves would have to finance.

All cities serviced by TESCO will vote whether to accept or reject the proposal, and Redding told the council its action would be appealed in front of the Public Utilities Commission.

Aldermen agreed to purchase four new Monarch steel-belted radial tires with a road hazard guarantee.

And, mayor James Cook named himself and alderman Leon Addison to head a committee to choose a local resident as Older Texan of the Year nominee. The two will work with other committee members, not yet named, to nominate a senior citizen for the honor. Holiday pioneer Bill Stegall received the nomination last year.

Delinquent tax collections up

Holiday mayor James Cook said Monday 50 percent of delinquent taxes have been collected so far by the city, by far the best percentage recorded in recent years.

"This amounts to between 85-90 percent total collections in current tax payments," he said. "We want to thank those who responded to their delinquent notices," he said.

Tracksters place third in qualifiers' meet

Holiday High School's regional qualifiers in boys' track placed third in last Thursday's area warmup meet, held at the Bridgeport High School track.

Eight Eagles participated in the meet, designed to give tracksters practice with top competition before the regional meet in Stephenville tomorrow and Saturday.

Mike A. Parker and Brad Hardin fared the best, placing second in the long jump and pole vault, respectively. Parker also placed third behind Hardin in the vault, with Hardin missing less at 11-6. Parker's second-place jump was 20-10.

Kevin Blankenship placed third in the 110-meter high hurdles, and fifth in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles. His 15.3 clocking in the highs was two-tenths of a second off his best time this year.

Harold Parsons placed fourth in the shot put with a heave of 43-3, while the sprint relay team (Bruce Bynum, Blankenship, Mike Rathman and Parker) placed sixth with a time of 46.19.

HHS reunion June 12-13

Plans are now underway for Holiday High School's second biennial "school wide" reunion June 12-13, with a special emphasis this year on the graduation classes from 1940-1951, according to Wilma Nitschke, coordinator.

Mrs. Nitschke said that an effort has been made to reach graduates from 1940-1951 by mail, however, she emphasized that everyone connected with the school system in any way is welcome to attend.

The two-day affair will commence Saturday, June 12, in the Holiday High School cafeteria, where the MuleSkinners of Iowa Park will cater the first of two meals for the day. The MuleSkinners will also serve supper at 5:30 that afternoon.

A country and western dance is scheduled that evening from 8 til midnight at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Turtle Creek Rd. in Wichita Falls. Persons attending may furnish their own beverages.

Sunday morning will be reserved for visitation at the cafeteria, beginning at 10.

Total cost for the reunion is $12.50 per person. Reservations can be made by mailing a check or money order payable to Holiday High School Reunion Fund to Wilma Nitschke, 4308 Hurson Lane, Wichita Falls, 76302. Deadline for reservations is June 1.

Dear Friends,

It has been my honor to serve as your Congressman for almost eight years now. Before that, I served for twelve years in the Texas House and Senate. I am grateful for your continued support and for the faith you've shown in re-electing me as your advocate in Washington.

This year, I again need your help to continue our effort to provide you competent, personalized representation. With your help, I want to continue the fight to cut runaway government spending, balance the budget, rebuild our national defense and restore the economy to health. As a member of the House Appropriations Committee, I am in a unique position to translate your concerns into action.

I've traveled continually throughout our huge district and know many of you and your families at home and at work, and spoken to your organizations. I've fought hard to find solutions for your problems. And I've spoken for you in the halls of Congress and throughout the large, impersonal federal bureaucracy.

We've accomplished a great deal together. There is still much to be done. We must reduce the federal deficit and balance the budget to lower interest rates and provide a stable, productive economy. We must strengthen the pillars that support the basic economy of the 13th Congressional District: agriculture, energy and small business. That means we must restore the profitability to farming and ranching and we must eliminate the excessive federal tax bite for the petroleum industry. We must strengthen our defense so that no hostile nation can threaten the precious freedom we've won at so great a cost. And we must continue the fight to make government the Servant, not the Master, of our people.

The key issues in the November election are these:

1. Who has the personal experience, the knowledge of the district, and the legislative ability to fight and win your battles in Congress?
2. Who has the kind of respect and influence with the leaders of both parties in Washington and Austin that ensures your voice is heard?
3. Who has a proven record of legislative and personal accomplishment that will benefit the people of the 13th District of Texas?

We face difficult times, both as individuals and as a Nation. We do not expect to find any easy answers to the problems of our economy, or to the troubling domestic and foreign issues we face. But I believe our greatest days are yet to come. The dream of liberty that America represents must continue—will continue—and I am dedicated to representing the people of the 13th District in every forum and at every opportunity in order to perpetuate that dream.

My pledge to you is simple: Honest, tireless service. Competence. An Open Door. Solid, responsible, respected representation.

As we open our campaign, I know that I will be talking to many of you in the coming days. I will also be listening. I ask for your continued faith, support and vote in the November election.

Sincerely,

Jack Hightower

KMA has produced three booms

There was never a movie made about it, nor books written, but the oil discoveries in the southwest part of Wichita County played, and continue to play, a major part in the economy of this area.

Actually, there were three boom periods in the area of Kamay and Kadane Corner: 1917, 1937 and 1942.

An oil company was formed by J.A. Kemp, H.M. and S.J. Munger and Reese Allen. The latter was the only man who had worked in the oil business.

They brought in the first well in the gunitite formation, approximately 1,800-1,900 feet which brought on the first boom, though minor, according to George Kadane. The discovery was in scattered, small pools that "didn't create any excitement," when compared with the boom to come 20 years later.

The initials of the partners, Kemp, Munger and Allen, was used to name the field, "KMA," and later the name of the town Kamay.

Estimations of as many as 2,000 people converged on the area to drill, service and produce the shallow wells. But no major companies were interested in the area.

In the 1930-31 period, the oil business was in a slump. The Great Depression was at its peak and oil was cheap. It was reasoned that in order to make any money from oil, greater production was needed than what the shallow pools were producing.

In order to get that kind of activity, it was felt that deeper production was needed. That's when a group of Wichita Falls businessmen formed the "Deep Oil Development Company." They sold stock to the public, and it was well received.

The group leased the Munger Ranch and encountered a formation now known as woolitic limestone formation, about 3,800 feet deep.

"Drilling to about 3,800 feet, it looked good," George Kadane recalls. "We went deeper to test, reported slight showings in the Ellenberger, 700-800 feet lower, but went on to slightly deeper than 5,000 feet.

"We decided to stop and complete the well at 3,800 feet. It made a commercial well, not sensational, but prompted more drilling.

"Early in 1947, we became interested in exploratory work in that area. We had geophysical survey work done with a magnetometer that indicated presence of pretty good size production sand in the Kadane Corner area," Kadane said. He, his two brothers and father had by then formed their own drilling company.

The Mangold family owned a 6,000-acre ranch west and southwest of Kadane Corner. There had been three or four tests drilled there by promoters, but none resulted in commercial production. The tests were on the southwest edge of the field.

Owning several businesses in Dallas, the Mangold family was also hit hard by the depression and was in dire need of money oil could produce. They were offering a lease to anyone who would drill tests on the land to a 4,000-foot depth.

Armed with the knowledge of the earlier survey, the Kadanes negotiated with the Mangolds, and also the Kemp estate which adjoined the Mangold, on the east side of Highway 25. Additionally, a lease was negotiated for part of the Bradley ranch, north of the river.

The Mangold No. 1 was drilled and came in a big well. It tested 2,048 barrels flowing per day. Completion of the well was Nov. 11, 1937, on Armistice Day.

"It triggered a real, old-fashioned boom," Kadane recalled. Almost immediately, drilling rigs began moving into the area at a rate estimated at a dozen per day. The discovery happened at a time when drillers in Oklahoma were needing a place to work, as activity in that area had slowed to a snail's pace.

About 2,000 wells were drilled over some 65,000 acres, from Rocky Point south to Mankins.

Kamay grew so fast, it became a virtual sea of tents and at one time was called Camp City. Tents and sheds were erected along the road from Kadane Corner east through what is now Kamay, as far as the curve in the road 1.5 miles beyond.

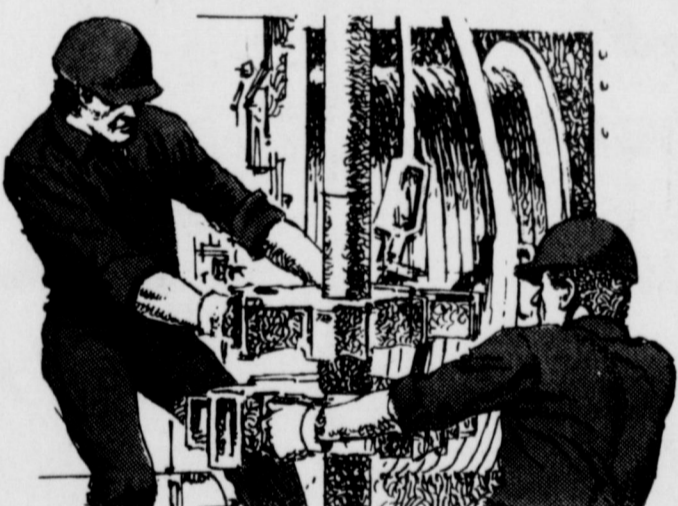

Estimates of the number of people living in that area reached as high as 10,000 at one point.

The third boom came in 1942, during World War II, when production demands were great because of the war effort. A firm called Tain-McGaha was exploring for the Ellenberger west of Mangold Ranch of Griffin land and opened up another commercial area of production.

Producers had been twinning the other wells, but with steel and other materials in short supply, production was limited to one well per 40 acres. For that reason, the newly-found 7,000-acre area was held to between 140 and 150 wells, all completed in the Ellenberger sands.

Although the term boom hasn't been used in recent years around Kamay and Kadane Corner, oil production is in full swing in the area, due to increased prices. New wells are being drilled, old wells being re-opened and flooding to assist production is common.

IRS Tax Tips

DUTCH TREAT PAYMENT BEST FOR TAX BILLS

When two different federal tax payments are made at the same time, separate checks or money orders should be used, the Internal Revenue Service says.

An error in crediting one or both payments is possible if two payments are combined, especially if different tax forms are involved.

Taxpayers should write their social security numbers (employer identification number for business taxes), form number and year involved on every check or money order sent to the IRS. This simple procedure ensures the proper crediting to their account, in case the check is separated from the form, according to the IRS.

Checks should be made payable to the "Internal Revenue Service." Cash should never be mailed to the IRS, the tax agency advises.

State's production in 1981 was 929-million barrels

The 10th consecutive year of production at the maximum efficient recovery rate in nearly all of Texas' oil and gas fields pushed the state's output of crude oil and condensate last year to nearly 929-million barrels.

The total of 929,710,351 barrels included more than 879-million barrels of crude oil. Figures compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association also indicate that more than 32-million barrels of condensate were produced.

Texas' drilling boom, spawned by crude oil price decontrol, continued last year. Figures from the Railroad Commission's Oil & Gas Division show 24,998 new holes drilled in the state last year, an 18.1-percent increase from the 1980 total of 20,490 wells. Oil completions stood at 15,627, up 21.2-percent from 1980, while drilling applications jumped 17.8-percent between 1980 and 1981. A total of 47,940 applications were received last year, compared to 39,442 in 1980.

Last year's crude oil and condensate production total was 31.6-million barrels below the 1980 figure, a decrease of 3.3-percent. It marked the ninth consecutive year of a downward trend since Texas' output peaked at near 1.3-billion barrels in 1972. However, 1981 production from the nation's No. 1 petroleum producing province pushed the all-time cumulative total since 1866 to more than 46.6-billion barrels of crude oil and condensate.

Avery Rush, Jr., of Amarillo, chairman of the Dallas-based Association, noted that although the production decline continued last year, the 1981 decrease reflected a slowing in the rate of decline. It was the lowest percentage drop in the past five years.

"It is very encouraging to see that the unprecedented drilling activity of the past two years is beginning to have a positive effect on Texas production," Rush said. "Only by increasing our reserves can we eventually turn around our production decline. And the only way to increase reserves is by drilling," Rush said.

Wichita County, which has had recorded production since 1910, last year produced 5,735,541 barrels of crude oil and condensate at the rate of 15,714 barrels per day. Production in 1981 boosted the county's production total through the end of the year to 744,803,674 barrels.

Production was first recorded in 1911 in Archer County. The 1981 production total was 3,744,040 barrels averaging 10, 258 per day. Total recorded production for Archer County is 436,182,691 barrels.

Just as in 1980, 21 counties in 1981 produced more than 10-million barrels of crude oil. The following listing shows 1981 production figures for the state's five top producing counties, all with production in excess of 42-million barrels.

Gaines became the state's top producing county, with Yoakum, the 1980 leader, dropping into second place. Ector, which had held third place for six consecutive years, dropped to fourth behind Pecos, fourth last year. Gregg retained the fifth place spot it held in 1980.

Harris, which was No. 19 last year, was the only county to leave the top 21. It was replaced by Lee, which, as indicated above, also ranked No. 19 this year.

Gregg, the first Texas county to produce more than two-billion barrels of crude oil and condensate in the history of recorded production, remains the all-time leader with a cumulative total through 1981 of 2,773,159,932 barrels. Ector, through the end of last year, had produced 2,351,571,490 barrels, while Andrews also joined the ranks of two-billion barrel producers with 2,015,569,194 barrels.

scheduled for spudding by Burk Royalty of Wichita Falls. It will be designated as the No. 1 Dockery "B," with drillsite in a 220-acre lease in the H&TCRR Survey, four miles southeast of Vernon.

After producing for 65 years, one of the wells in the historic old Wilbarger County Regular Field is being plugged and abandoned by its operator, Mobile Producing Inc. of Houston. The well is designated as the No. 5 Frances Sumack. It was completed in March of 1917 at a drillsite three miles northwest of Electra.

Since its discovery in 1915, the Wilbarger County Regular Field has produced over 166,000,000 barrels of crude oil. Last year's production was 1,002,000 barrels.

The operator has 205 acres leased, with drillsite in Clay County's Wood County School Land Survey, three miles south-southeast of Buffalo Springs.

The well will produce from an interval 5,665 to 5,680 feet into the wellbore. Total drilling depth was 6,558 feet.

Location has been staked four miles southeast of Vernon for a developmental well in Wilbarger County Regular Field. The venture is designated as the No. 1 Schappa, with Burk Royalty Co. of Wichita Falls as operator. Uniform planting date for cotton is May 20

By Don D. Decker
County Agent

The Wichita County uniform cotton planting date has been set for May 20 by the county field crops committee, Rex Wells, chairman. All cotton growers are asked to plant after May 20 in order to get natural control of the overwintering boll weevil.

This uniform planting concept was devised by Emory Boring, Extension area entomologist at Vernon. He pushed the idea with growers, agribusiness men, and agricultural workers. Boring convinced everyone the idea would work, and it has had phenomenal success. In all my years with agriculture, I have never observed a program which has reached its goal as well as the uniform planting date. Boll weevils in the Rolling Plains have been kept completely suppressed by all producers planting together. Growers have cooperated with this effort better than any I have seen.

control program for the entire community. Every grower is needed to make this program work.

The members of the county field crops committee who studied the planting conditions this year and established the planting date include: Rex Wells, Fred Dwyer, Loys Barbour, James Brockriede, Cecil Javis, W.H. McAlister, Larry McAlister, Freddie Daume, Dan Glass, Ralph Harvey, Clarence Mahler, Otto Malone and Johnny Mitchell.

Loys Barbour, Johnny Allred, Ed Spragins and Fred Dwyer. Last year was a very light insect year and no spraying was required. It is just as important for growers to know when not to spray as to know when insect damage is occurring.

The scouting program not only gives the grower weekly insect counts but it also provides a count on number of squares per foot or row and the number of bolls. This information can be used by the grower to determine the progress and condition of the crop. Special effort will be made this year to insure that growers actually receive the weekly reports.

The cotton insect scouting relieves a grower of the need to be crawling up and down the cotton rows looking for insects when they have other pressing tasks. It enables the grower to know the insect situation along with the fruiting development of the cotton for a nominal cost.

The deadline to sign up for scouting is May 20.

The uniform planting program is simple which makes it so workable. It simply involves planting late enough for all of the overwintering weevils to die off before the cotton has any squares available for egg laying.

Cotton planting after May 20 will not have squares for weevil egg laying until July 1. By that time, the overwintering weevil population has died without propagating themselves. Overwintering weevils emerge from May 25 to June 5. They can survive for about 14 to 21 days. Die off occurs before there any squares for egg laying.

The success of this program is dependent on the cooperation of all growers. One early planted field can raise enough weevils for the whole country. Four hundred acres was early planted last year in one of the counties southwest of Wichita. This one field played havoc with the weevil

The cotton scouting program is being continued for the 1982 cotton crop, and growers are being enrolled now. The total cost of the weekly insect inspections amounts to $1.50 an acre on dryland and $2 an acre for irrigated cotton. Approximately 1,500 acres is needed to justify the employment of a cotton field scout.

Growers can sign up for the scouting program with Ralph Harvey at Texoma Agricultural Products in Iowa Park. Checks are made payable to the Wichita County Cotton Insect Program. The fields to be scouted should be plotted on a map in Harvey's office.

A cotton scout was employed last year for 1,300 acres in the Iowa Park area. Growers paid $2.50 an acre, however, the cost amounted to actually $1.05 per acre. Over half of the original cost was refunded to the participating growers. Those in the cotton scouting program last year included: Rex Wells, Freddie Daume,

4-H FASHION SHOW

The 1982 Wichita County 4-H Fashion Show was held Saturday at Iowa Park. Thirty-three 4-H'ers modeled garments they made in clothing projects.

"Set Sail in Style" was the theme of the show and 4-H'ers modeled fashions that emphasized the nautical theme.

The following 4-H'ers will represent Wichita County at the District Fashion Show to be held in Abilene on July 27:

Junior Cynthia Mitchess - Friberg-Cooper 4-H Club.

Intermediate Becky Whitaker - Iowa Park 4-H Club.

Seniors:
- Active Sportswear - Scott Boren - Horse Club.

- Daytime Non-Tailored - Levada Davis - Horse Club.

- Specialty - Jeff Fuhman - Horse Club.

Special Awards

Rookie of the Year - Robin Agnew - Horse Club.

Top Intermediate - Becky Whitaker - Iowa Park 4-H Club.

Top Senior - Jeff Fuhman - Horse Club.

Prizes were provided by Cloth World, Merle Norman Cosmetics and Peg's Fabric Closet.

The 4-H Fashion Show is an educational feature of the 4-H Clothing Program. It places emphasis on selecting, construction, accessorizing and modeling a garment or garments that compliment the member's wardrobe. The objectives of the Fashion Show Program are for 4-H youth to exhibit skills in clothing construction, fashion interpretation, good grooming and modeling.

End of the year's activities on the county and local level were discussed during the Monday night meeting of the Iowa Park 4-H Club. A dance has been planned for the county and a party for the local club.

Members were reminded that their record books for the year should be filled out and turned in to Jim's Market and informed to contact Terry Taylor if they did not have all the things needed to complete their records.

The Valley View 4-H Club meeting was held Monday in the home of Dr. John Webb. Christy Cravens presided and Connie Cravens led the pledge and motto.

Mrs. Christy McKenzie presented ribbons to the judging team, and Judy Webb handed out T shirts to members who had completed record books. Donna Hodges gave ribbons to the project show contestants. Fashion show plans were discussed during the business.

For the program, Cheryl Ruggs gave a method demonstration. Refreshments were served by Jamie Lehman.
