Superintendent contract renewed by trustees

School trustees Tuesday night extended Supt. Harold Cowley's contract for another year, assured a Valley View graduate the old school clock would not wind up in the hands of a collector, approved some student trips and heard a tax report.

Board members required less than 10 minutes in executive session to evaluate the work of Cowley. Following the closed meeting, trustees unanimously extended his contract for the 1983-84 school year. There was no mention of a salary

Jack Jeter expressed concern of a clock used at the Valley View school some 45 years, saying he didn't want to see it wind up in the hands of an antique salesman.

As he spoke, Cowley pointed to the same clock which had been mounted on the wall of the board's meeting room. It had replaced an electric time piece and was clicking as it had more than 50 years.

"I'm glad you think enough of it to keep it," Jeter said. "I had a lot of work in it. That clock will be 55 years old this year."

Jeter explained he was one of six who graduated the school in 1928. Committed to purchase the clock for $198, he and his classmates had accumulated only $98 through projects.

He said he arranged with his teachers his senior year to do his school work at night, and he hired out as an oil field hand for $3 a day and paid off the balance of the purchase price himself.

Jeter agreed to provide the names of his classmates and the school will have them inscribed on a plaque to be mounted on the clock.

Trustees approved three trips for the track team this spring: Stephenville Mar. 12, Boswell Mar. 26 and Weatherford Apr. 16. None are school's limit to travel without board permission.

Also approved is a trip within the next three weeks for art and Spanish students to attend the El Greco showing at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts.

Bill Steger, tax assessor/collector, told the board tax collections were about 15 percent less at the end of December than normal, primarily because two area lending institutions had not paid from escrow accounts established by home owners financing with them.

He listed United Savings and Burkburnett Savings as not having paid the taxes, amounting to some Escrow funds is money collected by lending institutions in advance in order to pay taxes on property being financed. Contributions to the fund are included in monthly payments.

Early payments are often made to earn discounts. Taxes not paid by February subject homeowners to suit, according to state law.

"Iowa Park won't make it on the 'must-see' list for tourists, but if you ever end up here, you'll feel right at home.

"It's a nice little town with some buildings that look as if they belong in a set for a western movie. It has a bank, a savings and loan, two doctors, a veterinarian and a factory.

"Local lore has it that Iowans carved out this town in 1887 when the Fort Worth & Denver Railroad was extended 10 miles west of Wichita Falls. General Grenville Dodge, a prominent Iowan and railroad builder, bought some land south of the railroad tracks.

City council settles suit out of court

The city council Monday night approved a $1,000 payment to settle a suit out of court, discussed moving into the Burnett Library building, but took no action on a proposed Lone Star Gas Co. rate increase. Following a brief executive session, Mayor Charlie Lee explained to the audience that the council's acceptance of a settle agreement was the result of negotiations of city attorney Jay Cantrell and an attorney representing a local resident.

The possible litigation has been the subject of numerous other executive sessions. Lee explained the suit was brought as result of a forced entry without a search warrant several months ago by former police officer Roy Messick.

Half of the settlement is to be paid by the city's insurance and the balance from the general fund, it was explained. The council stipulated that settlement required a full release from the plaintiffs. Additionally, council's stipulation included the city would pay the entire amount if the insurance company's payment was not received by a certain date, with the amount to be recovered from the insurance company at a later date.

LIBRARY DISCUSSION City administrator James Barrington told aldermen of his meeting with Don Daugherity, architect for remodeling the Burnett home for use as a library, when it was proposed that the library move into the structure before renovation was

He said Daugherity strongly spoke against such a move, at least until reinforcement of the flooring was done to withstand weight of the shelving and books and the entire structure was rewired with electricity.

Estimated cost of that work was $80,000, Barrington said.

Mrs. W.A. George, president of the library board, told the council her organization's plans are to launch its major fund-raising project in March. The project will include solicitation of money from local residents and businesses, as well as' contacting foundations for grants.

With some $17,000 in its present fund, money is available to do work Barrington suggested. This includes painting the exterior woodwook, erecting a sign on the property of its future use, and installing exterior lighting both for citizen appreciation and to thwart vandalism.

Former mayor Johnny Crawford proposed the city sell the old Park Hotel land, at the corner of Wall and Cash, to help finance the library project. He pointed out the property was donated to benefit the library.

Barrington briefed the council on recommendations from the city's consultant concerning the natural gas price increase request, and said he has contacted former administrator Steve Morath, now a Lone Star representative, to meet with the council Jan. 24.

McMorries and Associates recommended an increase be approved of 6.11 percent instead of the proposed 7.6 percent requested by Lone Star. The altered increase would provide a revenue increase of $42,415 annually, rather than the $52,773 sought by Lone Star.

OTHER BUSINESS

The council rejected a proposal by Edward Sneller, owner of Country View Mobile Home Park on the east edge of the city, to change from one master meter for the park to individual meters.

Sneller's proposal was that he purchase the meters and have them installed at his expense. He said he would maintain responsibility for the water line outside the city, but asked that the city both read the meters and bill the residents individually.

The city's policy of locating one meter per line extended outside the city was explained to the park owner, but it was pointed out the change could come about if the land were annexed into the city.

Actually, the council took no action on Sneller's proposal because no motion was ever offered, and the subject died at that point.

Five thefts and two acts of vandalism were reported to police during the past two weeks.

Two of the thefts were motorcycles.

Susan Tigret, 213 E. Garden, Saturday said a 1980 model Kawasaki was taken from a shed in her back yard. The day before, Benny Martin, 1105 Lincoln, said an unknown man took his 1981 Yamaha, valued at $1,900, for a test drive and did not return.

Thomas Johnson said he lost $450 worth of tools and box, all Craftsman brand, when someone pried open his garage door at 505 W. Clara. He filed the report Sunday.

An electric lawn mower valued at $125 was reported missing from 707 N. Wall.

Bill Gibson told police Thursday that five super grip tires on a pickup he has leased were slashed while parked at 307 W. Lafayette. Loss was estimated at $535.

Two different incidents were reported at the Donut Box, 610 E. Highway. Owner Gary Van Dee said someone last Wednesday used a key to open his soft drink machine and remove $5 in change. Then night before last, someone broke out the two front windows and glass door. Cost estimates were not available.

Wilkerson, Williams vows are solemnized Saturday

Miss Sandra Sue Wilkerson was a beautiful picture in a formal white Chantilly lace wedding gown worn over peau de soie when she exchanged matrimonial vows Saturday evening with Jay Dan Williams at First Baptist Church.

Rev. Howell Farnsworth officiated the double-ring ceremony to unite the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Wilkerson and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Williams.

The gown chosen by the bride for the special moment in her life was designed with traditional elegance featuring a fitted bodice with a Queen Anne neckline framed with scalloped lace sprinkled with seed pearls, and sheer illusion lantern sleeves that terminated in wide cuffs. The full skirt and sweeping chapel train were gracefully trimmed with the scalloped lace.

She wore a fingertip nylon illusion veil with a deep border of lace attached to a camelot cap. The bride chose to keep the memory of her wedding day in her silk cascade bouquet created of roses in three shades of blue, light blue daisies and stephanotis complemented with fresh gypsophila, a lace background, blue silk and white lace streamers.

Sentimental attachment was noted in two of the bridal traditions that completed the costume. For "something old," she carried an heirloom handkerchief that had belonged to the late Mrs. Pearl Loe, grandmother of the groom. "Something borrowed" was her mother's locket, a cherished piece of jewelry that was given to her by the bride's father when they were dating. The traditional rhyme was completed with the bride's gown for "something new;" a garter for "something blue;" and a good luck penny dated the year of her birth in her slipper.

Mrs. Michael Anglin of Houston, cousin of the bride secured signatures of guests in the church foyer preceding the ceremony and again at the postnuptial reception. The floral roses wedding book rested on an oval table covered full length with blue fringed linen and appointed with a "basket of light" centerpiece holding white votive candles in blue lotus cups and silk tiger lilies in shades of blue. Guests signed the book with a blue feather pen.

MRS. DAN WILLIAMS

A long table nearby the registry table in the foyer was centered with a tall silk bouquet of blue and white roses, white pixie carnations, blue stephanotis, baby's breath and pale green leaves.

The impressive altar setting for the service featured an arch with side stands completely covered with flowering baby's breath flanked by spiral candelabra decorated in the same style. At the extremities, tall white Grecian stands held large arrangements of fresh white mums and leatherleaf. The three-branched candlestick that held the unity candle was placed between the candelabra and floral arrangement at the side of the altar where the bride and groom started their exit from the sanctuary after they had lighted the meaningful candle to symbolize their union.

Pews for family members were designated with candles aglow in hurricane globes arising from balls of greenery accepted with white bows with streamers.

The prelude music furnished by Mrs. Jim Medlinger, organist, included "Walk Hand in Hand," Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us," "Whither Thou Goest," "O Perfect Love," and "Wedding Prayer." She accompanied Miss Annette Young, the vocalist, for her renditions of "There Is Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." The organist included the traditional marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn in her offerings.

The bride entered the church with her father who escorted her to the altar and gave her in marriage for both parents.

Mrs. Roy Keith of Ringgold, Ga. sister of the bride, participated in the wedding as matron of honor. She wore a long delft blue Qiana gown styled with a bloused overlay bodice accented with a V neckline graced with dainty bows, and airy slit flutter sleeves. She carried a long stemmed dark blue silk carnation tied with white lace streamers.

Bridesmaids, who wore identical gowns and carried the same flowers were Mrs. Jeff Spruiell of Bryan and Miss Diana Smith of Iowa Park.

The groom wore a white vested tuxedo with tails, white shirt trimmed in variegated blue and a boutonniere composed of a dark blue and a white carnation.

He was attended by his brother, Jerry Williams, as best man; Brian Catlin of Arlington and Dennis Fisher of Wichita Falls as groomsmen. The candlelighters, Robert A. Wilkerson of Phoenix, Ariz. and Jimmy Farr, brother-in-law of the groom, also served as ushers with Bennie Horton, David Blackerby of Iowa Park and Ray Harney of Rochester, Minn. They wore navy blue summit tuxedos and variegated blue shirts. Fathers of the bride and groom wore the same attire.

Wilkerson, the bride's Mrs. mother, chose a long light blue polyester knit gown made with spaghetti straps, V-neckline, cord belt, A-line skirt complemented with a matching cap-sleeved jacket trimmed with dark blue lace. Mrs. Williams, mother of the groom, wore a long light blue polyester dress styled with round neck, quarter length flare sleeves, gold belt at the waistline and A-line skirt. Their shoulder corsages were formed of blue silk roses, white daisies accented with touches of ribbon and net, and they carried long stemmed red roses that the bride had presented to them before the ceremony.

The bride's parents were hosts for the wedding reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church where decorations and appointments in the room lent themselves to the beauty and refinement expressed in the sanctuary where the marriage ceremony was performed.

The bride's table sparkling with perfection emphasized her chosen colors. It was draped to the floor with an exquisite white lace cloth over blue and distinguished with white lace bows threaded with blue ribbons at the top of the table.

In the center of the table, a blue spruce centerpiece in a wood and iron candelabrum was accented with pine cones, pomegranates, berries, votive candles and an angel bell. One extremity was marked with a crystal punch bowl on a bamboo stand and the other held the bride's cake. Silver trays filled with mints and nuts and light blue napkins with contrasting blue lettering of "The first day of our life together, Dan and Tandra, January 8, 1983" completed the decor.

The simplicity of the pure white three-tiered cake was pointed up by its rich embellishments. The two lower tiers achieved a distinctive look with clusters of drop flowers in shades of blue clinging to mint green leaves intermixed with tiny white ceramic doves, and reverse shell borders. A cluster of the flowers spread between the filigree pillars that separated the second and third tiers. The luxurious finishing touch was the ornament on the top tier decorated with the blue flowers and ceramic doves. Two white doves were perched on a disc covered with white tulle under a heart-shaped arch trimmed with tiny blue flowers and lilies of the valley and centered with a set of sugar bells.

Mrs. Robert Wilkerson and Mrs. Michael Anglin presided at the table. Mrs. Jerry Farr and Mrs. Jimmy home of Mrs. Travis Smith in Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Sam Hill was co-hostess.

Mrs. L.E. Brooks led the program based on the theme, "Working Together to Express Gratitude As We Link the Past to the Present." In keeping with the topics discussed by two club members during the program, Mrs. H.W. Carter presented the devotion on "Aging According to the Bible" in which she brought out that obedience to God was one of several factors to long life.

Through a lecture and demonstration of bread dough art, Mrs. Earle Denny illustrated how a thing of beauty is a joy forever.

She gave instructions on the unbaked bread dough art made with bread, glue, glycerin, cornstarch, hand lotion, spray and decoupage finish. Some of her finished products including various nature scenes, eggs, cottages, trees, birds and nests were on display.

With respect to the "Year of the Aging," Mrs. C.E. Birk discussed "Work and Hobbies of Retirees."

"There are probably hundreds of ways to fill the hours in a day when one has retired from his job, such as gardening, crafts, doing volunteer work, playing games, etc., but some never retire from their chosen line of work or interest before retirement age," she stated.

She discussed several senior citizens in the last category. These still photographing the great American Southwest as he has been doing 50 years; and Ray Maker, 85, after retiring work full time, building one-quarter scale models of some of the great trains of history.

Others discussed were Vince Gironda, 78, who continues to operate his gym in California; Irene Best, 75, who rides 14 miles on her moped four mornings a week to a hospital in downtown Chicago to do volunteer work as she has done 16 years; and Thelma Williams, 70, who is still coaching, managing and organizing peewee and intermediate baseball games in San Francisco after 20 years; and Sweetie Ladd of Fort Worth, who is 80 and continuing to paint a special kind of history of the

Mrs. Birk observed that there were many others who suddenly found time on their hands and used in in the Foster Grandparents Program, a federally-funded project made up of more than 18,000 senior citizens nationwide who spend their days helping 54,000 in hospitals, day-care centers and institutions.

The speaker continued her talk by referring to Nancy Reagan's book "To Love A Child" in which she tells true stories of heroic senior citizens and their "adopted" children, some handicapped, abused or neglected, others who simply need a grown-up who will show them they care.

Mrs. Earl Watson's topic "Genealogy" was one that is of importance to both the younger and older generations. She introduced it by reading a poem "Hereditary" by Edgar A. Guest. Mrs. Watson, who teaches genealogy at Midwestern State Univ. and is president of the Wichita County Historical Society, spoke with deep feeling on a subject that is of vital concern to her.

"Write your own history and keep it updated. Remember you are unique but you are a product of your ancestors," she introduced her talk. She mentioned two very unique gifts each person has: personality and physical make-up. Regarding names, she remarked that in biblical times names were mostly one name because that was all that was necessary and that surnames and multiple names which are relatively new were necessitated by population increase.

Mrs. Watson, who is enthusiastic and anxious that people trace the trails of their ancestors, listed some of the reasons why. The list included legacy; preservation of individual heritage through collecting and recording; acquiring new family and friends; concentration value; and learning history as it lives through the family and geography, both past and present.

In closing, she said "Start now to trace your family tree by interviewing the oldest family members and write down what they tell you, also note where you get the information. Remember the three Ws; who, where and when."

Mrs. D.O. James conducted a brief business meeting. Twenty members were present.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

If you don't mind, I'd like to spend this week's column space on explaining what a bargain this newspaper is to its readers.

Please continue reading, if you want to save money or would like to appreciate what a hometown newspaper provides free of charge that many others do not.

First of all, it should be brought out that we do not charge an individual or non-profit organization to have us print a card of thanks. Most newspapers do charge for them, but we've never been able to bring ourselves to the point of charging someone to say "thank you."

Furthermore, we don't charge for advertising the finding of lost items, notices of meetings, engagements, anniversaries, weddings or pictures and obituaries.

Most people don't realize that larger newspapers will not print obituaries free of charge. Of course in some big cities death notices would take up a page of space, I'm sure. But we feel it an important news item for our readers.

Many newspapers, especially smaller ones, charge to print wedding pictures, or photos of couples announcing engagement or observing anniversaries. There's logic to the charge, because they are expensive.

For instance, a two-column photo in this newspaper costs us $2.70, even if the photo is furnished. If we take the picture, develop the negative and print the photo, its total cost, if cost-accounted, would be in the neighborhood of $11 to $15.

But we consider photographs in the newspaper as important as stories, in most cases, and figure them in our cost of doing business.

How much longer we will be able to do this, however, time will only tell.

A lot of people apparently don't read the information in the heading of our classified page, where it spells out the cost of a classified as well as our deadlines.

We charge 10-cents per word for a classified ad, if you will bring the copy into the office and pay for the ad in advance. We feel this is an adequate rate, because we are saving time on the telephone as well as bookkeeping and postage by doing it this way.

However, if you want to call in a classified, we will be happy to take it. The cost then is 20-cents per word. And if you've not come in to pay for it, or mailed the money in, by the end of the month, our minimum is $4 for the ad that might have cost 80-cents to start with. We are just passing on the savings to you.

A lot of people like this savings, but it seems to be hard for them to understand. Especially when we take the ad copy over the telephone and then won't give them the 10-cent rate when they come in a few hours later. They don't understand that time is money, and we've got time invested both on the telephone and then when they come in to pay, as well as bookkeeping.

Another real savings is to those who subscribe to the paper.

Chamber banquet tickets on sale

Tickets for the annual Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce banquet, to be held Jan. 29 in the high school cafeteria, are now on sale at the Chamber office and any director of the organization.

Admission price is $7.50, which includes a ribeye steak cooked by the MuleSkinners, a humorous speech by Don Newbury and viewing recognition of four citizens.

Newbury, now president of Western Texas College at Snyder, spoke once before at the chamber banquet. Because he was so well received, Chamber directors decided to ask him to return.

Announcement of the Citizen of the Year, Outstanding Senior Citizen, Outstanding Educator and Outstanding Agriculturist will be one of the major highlights of the evening.

Skinner sells food store

The sale of H&S Food Store was confirmed this week by Herb Skinner, former owner, and Ken Barnes, purchaser. New name of the business will be Ken's Foodliner.

Barnes, a 25-year veteran in food sales of which 21 have been in Wichita Falls, recently sold his Day and Night Store on East Scott.

Foodliner will be closed today for cleaning and stocking, and open for business tomorrow, Barnes said. Barnes confirmed he had leased the adjoining building, formerly occupied by TG&Y, and will later expand into that building. Another feature he said would be in the near future is a delicatessen.

Skinner has not announced his future plans, other than taking a week or more vacation. He is a director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Fireplace coals cause fire

Residents need to make sure there are no hot coals in ashes taken from fireplaces before they are put in city trash containers, according to Charlie Helms.

Hot ashes are believed to have ignited a trash can fire Tuesday afternoon in the 100 block of Louisa.

Damage to the container and its lid was bad enough, but dry grass caught afire and seriously threatened to destroy an automobile and home before firemen extinguished the blaze, Helms said.

He suggested the ashes be held not less than two or three days in a metal container to cool before being dumped in the city containers.

Cook of the Week

Watermelon Pickles might be considered a food for the summer season since the melons are grown in that season in this area, but they make for delicious eating with meats and vegetables during the cold winter

Mrs. F.L. McCoy said that she had never noticed a recipe for Watermelon Pickles in the Leader's Cook of the Week feature, and, much to her surprise, not many people that she has met have ever heard of them. Watermelon Preserves, yes, but not Watermelon Pickles.

The melon of some class originated somewhere in the Middle East. It is mentioned in the Old Testament "the fish which we did eat in Egypt freely, the cucumbers and melons" (15th chapter of Numbers). The Greeks are reputed to have had them at least by the third century. A wall painting in the Herculancum shows what seems to be a melon, cut in half, so that the interior structure is visible - its class is not identified. The Europeans are believed to have brought the melon to America, and today the cantaloupe, honeydew melon and watermelon are very popular with the Americans.

Mrs. McCoy, the former Ilene Rogers, has lived in the Iowa Park area since she was eight years old. She attended the Weeth and Cashion schools. She is a member of First Baptist Church and the Friendship Sunday school class where she serves on the program committee. She is also a member of Friendly Door. Her hobby is sewing.

She has a son, Loyd Thompson of Iowa Park; three daughters, Mrs.

Seventeen members of the Friendship Sunday school class of First Baptist Church and one guest, Mrs. Eleanor Bell, a volunteer missionary with the Home Mission Board, attended the monthly meeting of the class held Monday night at the church. Mrs. L.B. Jones and Mrs. D.H. Ford were hostesses.

Mrs. Elmer Singleton was in charge of business when officers gave their monthly reports. Mrs. C.L. Metz, missions in action chairman, discussed the project for the month, that of contributing food items to the emergency pantry sponsored by the Iowa Park ministerial Alliance.

Birk Circle meets

Six members of the Lucy Birk Circle of First Presbyterian Church met in the church parlor Tuesday morning for a Bible lesson taught by Miss Titia Belle Blanks.

Mrs. L. Shelton presided during the business meeting.

The topic of the Bible study was "Reconciliation in the Church." Miss Blanks explained that the reconciliation that Paul discussed in Colossians seems to be related to the estrangement and the hostility in the natural heart of the Colossians and that he was urging them to continue their relationship with the living God.

She observed that in Paul's ministry he made no claims to help Christ out of his sufferings, rather he was helping the church out with reconciliation.

"Reconciliation is not an easy talk, it is mystery; but in Paul's writings in Colossians we learn that Christ himself is the mystery," she concluded.

SOCIAL SECURITY TIPS

CONTINUING DISABILITY INVESTIGATIONS

Many questions are being asked by the public as to why SSA is reviewing disability cases. The answer is two-fold.

First, the 1980 Disability Amendments require that a periodic review of eligibility for all individuals be conducted at least every three years or less often if the disability is permanent.

Second, SSA has an express obligation to terminate benefits when a claimant is no longer disabled. This includes medical recovery or the individual's ability to perform any substantial gainful activity after completing a trial work period.

Disability benefits are not guaranteed for a lifetime, only as long as the disability lasts. The disability ceases when the severity of the physical or mental impairment does not prevent the individual from engaging in substantial gainful activity. Your local Social Security offices are involved in this process to the extent of interviewing disability beneficiaries and explaining the review process and the importance of getting a complete medical update.

This local interview alleviates apprehension of the Continuing Disability process. The primary purpose of the Continuing Disability Investigation is to obtain complete and current information about the disabled individual's condition and any work activity. This information is crucial in determining if an individual's disability benefits should cease or continue.

Any additional information concerning the Periodic Review and the continuing Disability Investigation can be obtained by contacting your local Social Security office.

Texas roadsides may be shaggy

Soccer Club work day set

Coach, players are recognized

Texas highway roadsides may not be trimmed as closely next year but a new system should trim a $30-million annual mowing bill.

The vegetation management system being studied by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT), will still provide for motorists' safety, protect the road surface - and save money.

"The department spent $30-million last year in mowing costs," DHT chief landscape architect Craig Steffens said, "but we still got some irate calls when we let our rights of way get a little shaggy."

He added that savings from that $30-million will go to safeguard the state's multibillion investment in its highways.

Steffens said the goal of the vegetation management system is to develop the most cost effective, practical methods and concepts for managing roadside vegetation. "The discontinuance of mowing isn't our objective," he said. "However, the idea that a properly maintained highway needs to be mowed from right-of-way line to right-of-way line isn't necessarily correct."

The new system, to be initially instituted in one maintenance section in each of DHT's districts, will be studied through 1983 for a comparison of costs and labor, Steffens said.

With over a million acres of right of way along the state's 72,000 miles of highways, DHT has a lot of neighbors - and most of them like to see the roadsides as well kept as their Steffens said, "We do plan to continue mowing to the right-of-way line adjacent to cultivated, developed and urban areas. But along rangeland and untended property, we don't intend to mow except along the shoulder.

"We hope Texans will understand that we are trying to save their tax dollars by establishing less costly priorities in our mowing operations." Steffens said, "We simply can't continue mowing from right-of-way line to right-of-way line on every highway."

He said preliminary studies indicate the vegetation management system will show an excellent savings and yet benefit desirable native plant life such as wild flowers. But, Steffens cautioned, DHT is not making any great promises of savings until the results of next year's study are in.

Hawks undefeated in district Hawkettes lose first league game

A rally by Vernon's Lady Lions handed the Hawkettes their first district loss here Tuesday night.

And a similar rally by the Lions was almost as successful.

The Hawkettes dropped to 4-1 in district play and 14-4 on the season, while the Hawks remain undefeated in three league outings 12-7 for the year.

The girls' game was a real heartbreaker, 73-72 in overtime. They held a five-point lead with nine seconds remaining in the game, and

After building their 34-31 halftime lead to 55-44 as the final period began, it appeared the Hawkettes were headed for their fifth district win.

Both teams were playing short of Football banquet Saturday night

Players on Iowa Park High School football teams will be honored at a banquet Saturday night in the school cafeteria by the Iowa Park Booster Club.

The meal will be catered by the MuleSkinners. Monday was the deadline for tickets, which will not be sold at the door.

Besides recognition of players, Bill Bradley, former star of the Texas Longhorns and Philadelphia Eagles, will speak.

starters, as 67 fouls were whistled during the course of the contest.

The downfall began when a Vernon player was fouled while shooting and the ball went through the hoop. The clock was stopped with nine seconds remaining as she sank the free shot, cutting the lead to 70-68.

As Iowa Park inbounded following the free shot, Vernon stole the ball, put it up and sank the shot before the final buzzer, tying the score.

Vernon got the lead in the overtime period and began to stall, forcing Iowa Park to foul. But the Lady Lions sank only one free shot to take a three-point lead with 39 seconds showing on the clock.

Lisa Yeakley almost tied the score when she drove under the basket, put the ball up on the backboard and was fouled. But the ball rolled around and off the rim. She missed the free shot

Then, with 10 seconds remaining, Yeakley sank a field goal to narrow the margin to one point, but from that point, Iowa Park never got off another shot.

Freshman Lisa Selby led Hawkette scoring with 26 points, including 14 of 18 free shots. Yeakley finished with 18, of which six came on 12 shots from the charity line.

Prior to Tuesday's loss, the other Hawkette losses were in the championship games of the three tournaments in which they competed.

In their game following the Hawkettes, the boys almost let the same thing happen to them. But they held on, 65-60.

The Hawks built a 43-25 halftime lead and held the same margin, 53-35, as the final period started. Two minutes deep in the final stanza, they built that to 58-36.

Then they made the mistake of trying to play a "run and gun" game with the visiting Lions. And it almost cost them their first district loss.

In three short minutes, that 22-point lead was cut to nine. And with 30 seconds showing on the scoreboard clock, the Hawks were only three points in the lead.

Vernon actually out-scored the Hawks from the field, canning 23 shots to Iowa Park's 19. But the Hawks got the upper hand at the charity line by connecting on 27 of 44 free shots. Vernon, charged with 34 fouls, countered with 14 of 25 free Three Hawks finished in double figures: Kevin Biddy, 19, Mark Klinkerman, 15 and Jeff Cavinder, 12.

SWEEP BOSWELL The varsities ventured to Boswell Friday night and escaped with a scant three points. The Hawkettes won 45-43 and the Hawks

In the girls' game, Boswell led 13-12 after the first period. The Hawkettes took a 24-23 lead at the half. But host Boswell led 36-32 going into the final Yeakley, who scored only two points in the second and third quarters, finished with 15 points. Michelle Smith had 10, six of which came in the third quarter.

The Hawks had to mount a major effort on defense to rally past their hosts.

Boswell led 15-12, 29-19 and 41-35 at the official rest periods. Iowa Park limited the hosts to only four points in the final period, including one field goal, while racking up 11 for their

A dispute developed at the end of the game when a Boswell player took a rebound from his offensive basket and put it back through the hoop.

But both the Iowa Park observers and the game officials said the player had not caught the rebound before the buzzer, accompanied by a backboard light, went off to signal the end. And the basket was disallowed. Biddy and Klinkerman led scoring with 17 and 14 points respectively.

JUNIOR VARSITY GAMES The Hawkette JV lost 34-21 to Boswell and 36-28 to Vernon.

But the Hawk JV won both their games, defeating Boswell 46-36 and Vernon 46-32.

Three Holliday Eagle players have been listed in the Class AA All-State Football Team released by the Texas Sports Writers Associa-

Harold Parsons, Kevin Blankenship and Jeff Belcher, all seniors, each earned the honor with Parsons the only area representative listed on the Parsons started for Holliday the past two seasons on the offensive and defensive line. He has reportedly been scouted by several colleges as a prospective offensive lineman, although he made the first unit as a defensive lineman.

Blankenship, starting at tight end on offense and defensive end, earned a spot on the second team defense. Belcher, also a catalyst on defense along with Blankenship and Parsons, was named honorable mention at linebacker.

District 11-AA runnerup Olney placed Blanford Paul as second team offensive back, and honorable mention choices Stan Ashton as quarterback and Regi Ammons at Class AA champ Eastland placed three members on the first team unit, including quarterback Jay Hess, wide receiver Justin Owen and defensive lineman Jim Moylan.

Hess broke the existing state season passing yardage record with 3,154 yards, breaking Todd Dodge's best set in 1980.

RED RIVER TOPS

The Eagles landed the most number of players on the "Red River 22" small school division judged by the sports staff of the Wichita Falls

The list includes Belcher as linebacker and defensive player of the year; Blankenship as defensive lineman; Mike A. Parker as defensive back; Brad Harmon as offensive back; and Parsons as offensive lineman.

FINAL POLL

In the final Harris Poll for Class AA, Holliday finished third behind Eastland and Pilot Point. Olney finished sixth, behind East Bernard and Hale Center.

Lady Eagles win, lose

Holliday's Lady Eagles are 1-1 in District 11-AA west zone thanks to a win over Henrietta last Friday and a loss to Archer City Tuesday night in Holliday.

Senior Debbie Long continues to have the hot hand for Holliday, leading all scorers in both contests with 14 points against Henrietta, and 20 against the Lady Wildcats.

Board reaffirms transfer policy

Holliday School Board Monday night set an April 2 election to fill two seats, in action taken during a mostly-closed regular session.

Trustees breezed through the first four items on the agenda, which included approving minutes of the previous meeting, paying bills, accepting the tax statement and adjustments, and calling the board

Thirty minutes after the meeting convened, board president Durhl Caussey called for a closed executive session to discuss Item 5, dealing with personnel. Caussey said at that time discussion of teacher-student matters could be included in the discussion during closed session.

TRANSFER POLICY UPHELD

Present Monday night were Mr. and Mrs. Don Williams of Mineral Wells to discuss the school's transfer policy which went into effect May 11 of last year. Two children from Williams' first marriage have been attending Holliday High School, while living with their mother, Isabel Williams of Wichita Falls.

Forty minutes after the board entered into executive session, high school principal Bill Lee was called into the meeting by Caussey, which remained closed. Then Caussey met briefly with the Williams' outside the meeting room, and explained they had the option of discussing the policy in closed or open forum.

Several minutes later the meeting was returned to regular session, and two subsequent motions, taking less than five minutes, were made and accepted.

The first motion, to continue the transfer policy as is, passed with dissenting votes from Caussey and trustee Larry Finnell. The second motion, to leave the vacancy in the tax office due to the death of Louis Hodge with superintendent Dan Owen taking over the office's administrative duties, passed unani-

The vacancy in the tax office was Item 7 of a nine-item agenda.

The transfer policy states that all students presently enrolled prior to May 11, 1982, may continue to attend school until they graduate, as long as they are living with their legal guardian. When legal guardian establishes residence outside Holliday I.S.D., the student enrolled will no longer be able to attend school.

Exceptions listed in the policy included students of employees of the school district, parents in process of building a home in the district and establishing residence, already purchased a home and moving in, legal transfers presently enrolled that have brother or sister living in the same household with legal guardian could enroll as a transfer at a later date, and students classified as seniors and in attendance the first day of the second semester may continue until end of school year.

At the last board meeting, Lee informed the board of a number of students attending the schools in violation of the transfer policy. The board at that time agreed to give the parents of students in violation until the end of the Christmas holidays to rectify the situation, or be suspended.

In the superintendent's report, Owen said the policy book should contain job descriptions of all personnel, and the board should look into charging a fee for cleanup of the gymnasium and cafeteria after use by non-related groups.

Save energy witha heat pump.

If you're planning to install a new heating or cooling system, consider a high-efficiency heat pump. It's an energy-saving, yearround alternative.

The heat pump provides year-round heating and cooling, using only electricity. During the winter, it extracts heat from the outside air (even very cold air contains heat) and brings that heat inside where it's needed. In the summer, the heat pump is a regular air conditioner, removing unwanted heat from the inside air.

The heat pump is the most efficient combination heating and cooling system that can be installed in your home today.

To learn more about the heat pump, call your air conditioning contractor. And when you call, ask about the year-round heat pump that qualifies for a bonus check from Texas Electric.
