Chamber banquet speaker 'back by popular demand'

"Back by popular demand" is an expression most often used in theatrical circles, but it also applies to the speaker for the Jan. 29 Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Returning for an encore is Don Newbury, who made such a hit with his audience a few years ago that the Chamber directors decided to invite him again.

Tickets for the event are on sale at the Chamber office, as well as from most Chamber members. Included in the $7.50 admission are not only Newbury's entertaining appearance, but a ribeye steak with all the trimmings prepared by the Mule-Skinners, watching four citizens receive awards and several other surprises which were promised by Linda Merrick, chairman of the banquet arrangements.

When he last spoke in Iowa Park, Newbury was director of communications at Tarrant County Junior College in Fort Worth.

Newbury, who has taught journalism at Howard Payne Univ. and Sul Ross State Univ., is a graduate of Early High School. He received his B.A. from Howard Payne, his Masters from the Univ. of

Banquet speaker

Texas at Austin and his Ph.D. from North Texas State Univ. While most of his talk is humorous, he also delivers an inspirational message that is still referred to by those who heard him at his previous local appearance.

Recipients of the Citizen of the Year, Outstanding Senior Citizen, Agriculturist of the Year and Outstanding Educator will be announced.

Charlie Lee, former Chamber president, Mayor of Iowa Park and retired manager of Cryovac, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Described as a youth-carnival atmosphere, banquet favors will be printed recipes dictated by children who attend two local child care centers. Merrick said they alone were worth the price of admission.

Three high school students will also provide dinner music, Merrick said.

Another highlight of the banquet will be installation of new Chamber officers, including Merrick as president, Dr. James Edwards first vice president and H.M. Nipper second vice president.

That's what happened to residents of Country View Mobile Home Park, just east of Iowa Park city limits on the old highway.

And what makes the problem even worse, there's no solution to the problem in the immediate future.

A few minutes after 5 p.m. Friday, the gas supply to the mobile home park was shut off. Reason: numerous leaks in the lines of the area including a "grade one leak" which requires immediate evacuation of the area, according to a representative of Lone Star Gas Co.

Some residents were able to remain in their homes because they had electric heaters. But some, who couldn't afford to stay in a motel or had no one with whom they could spend the night, sought shelter which was offered by the Salvation Army and a couple of churches.

Gas service to the 28-unit park will not be resumed until the leaks are fixed, and as of yesterday morning, it was not for certain when that would be accomplished.

Owner Edward Sneller of Wichita Falls said the replacement of the lines and meter risers was so expensive, based on bids he had received from three plumbers, that he could not afford to have the work done.

And even if he could, the moisture yesterday had made the ground so muddy that any such work would probably be delayed until sometime next week.

Sneller said he didn't know what he would do. He said the repair work ran "into the thousands" of dollars, which he doesn't have.

He said he may sell the facility, or even close it.

"I feel very sorry for the people (who rent the spaces)," he said.

Five or six have already moved their mobile homes from the park, and that number could be increasing as times goes by, and temperatures drop with the current cold front.

A couple of owners converted early this week to LP gas. But conversion and the deposit on the butane tanks is expensive, and few residents could afford it.

The mobile home park is supplied gas to a master meter which is located just off Bell Road. Sneller had individual meters installed at each lot last year, in order to determine what portion of the master bill was due from each tenant.

Because of the leaks, there was obviously less gas run through the individual meters than was registered on the master meter.

Some residents reportedly wrote to one of the state elected officials from this area, complaining about the extraordinarily high gas bills. That prompted contact with the Railroad Commission and State Fire Marshal, and the trickle down was an inspection of the facilities by state officials and the local utility company Friday.

The regulator is for the purpose of reducing the pressure of the transmission line from pounds per inch to ounces, before it is carried into the home. Some of the regulators were found to be improperly connected, and the gas pressure serving some of the homes was at least 400 times the pressure recommended, the Leader was told.

Sneller said he has at least two offers to sell the park, which he purchased in the fall of 1981. The owner has other problems than natural gas. At the last meeting of the city council, he asked that the city assume the responsibility of reading individual lot meters and bill the residents. He proposed he would purchase the meters and have them installed to city specifications.

Sneller was told of the city's policy, that any water sold outside the city

Administrator lists major project plans

Four major projects for Iowa Park to accomplish during 1983 are street repairs and the landfill, according to James Barrington, city administrator.

Barrington recently listed the projects as the most important facing the city during the coming calendar year.

"One of the most visible and long awaited projects will be development of the Burnett house at Pacific and Alameda into the new Community Center. This will be a community improvement project with a major fund drive scheduled to begin in March. Outside philanthropic grants are being sought from foundations around the state of Texas who specialize in grants for libraries or similar projects.

"At this time, bid specifications are being prepared for painting work which needs to be done to the exterior of the building. Architectural drawings have been made for interior renovation and plans are made for remodeling work to make the building suitable as a library.

"This work involves basic support to the building to ensure that sagging and structural damage do not occur and also includes rewiring for electrical safety and cosmetic changes to enhance the interior beauty of the facility," Barrington said.

"A second project for 1983 is the remodeling of City Hall to include expansion into the old fire department bay area. This is the first phase of a general remodeling which will eventually provide for a drive-through window on the south side of City Hall for payment of water bills. While the overall plans are subject to change before finalization the general design will increase the energy efficiency of the building and will make the available space more usable," he continued.

"A third major project for 1983 will be the preparation of a plan for scheduled street maintenance to insure that the quality of the streets in Iowa Park is improved and maintained for years to come.

"One of the first streets being looked at as a part of this project is the 200 and 300 block of West Park. The East bound lane has suffered considerable deterioration in the past and is being examined for alternative methods of surfacing to insure that future deterioration like that which currently exists does not re-occur.

"The overall project of reviewing street condition and making recommendations for preventive maintenance is in the hands of the Planning and Zoning Commission," Barrington said.

"The final priority I would list for

Council action expected on gas rate hike

The city council will consider approving a rate increase for Lone Star Gas when it meets at 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers.

Aldermen delayed action 120 days for study, during which they sought a recommendation from a consultant, which proposed a lesser rate than the utility company requested.

Mayor Charlie Lee is also expected to officially set the date for the city election in April.

Two purchase requests will be considered. Three replacement trucks are needed and James Barrington, city administrator, will ask for authority to advertise for bids. He also will propose purchase of a new copying machine for city hall.

Another proposal will be for a lift pump to be used by the Recreational Activities Center (RAC) and concession stand at Burnett Park. Both are now on septic tanks and the parks board has proposed connecting them to the sewer system.

Aldermen will consider renewing the contract for the RAC and approval of a new contract for use of city land south of town by the soccer association.

Tags for dogs and cats will be discussed, as will the bill from the Wichita County Tax Appraisal District.

An ordinance will be voted on, changing the zoning of a tract fronting the access road between Third and Fourth Streets from commercial to residential. It was on the last meeting agenda, but action was postponed for a correction in the zone designation.

Barrington also said the agenda lists an executive session for discussion of personnel.

Recover three stolen vehicles

Three vehicles stolen in Iowa Park were recovered during the past week, one from as close as Burk Burnett and another at Tyler.

A motorcycle taken Aug. 10, belonging to Terry Dean, was found abandoned Sunday at Tyler. Another motorcycle, reported stolen Jan. 7 by Benny Martin, was recovered in Burk Burnett. And a pickup owned by Jim Gilmore was reported Saturday as being stolen was found abandoned Tuesday in Bowie.

Joyce Wilson told police that sometime the evening of Jan. 11 someone slashed two tires on her car while parked at 1014 Foley. Loss was set at $147.

Glass in the door of a gasoline pump at Johnston's Texaco, 512 E. Highway, was reported broken Thursday morning by Gene Johnston, owner.

CORNER MEETING - Two vehicles collided head-on at the corner of Colorado and Lafayette, FM 368 route, at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, but no injuries resulted. Patricia Perez of Wichita Falls was driving the automobile while Mrs. Betty Eason Peden, Rt. 1, Electra, was driving the pickup. No citations were issued.

Luna, Billingsley vows solemnized recently

The Grace Baptist Church was the setting Jan. 7th for the wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Tracey Renee Luna and Randy Lloyd Billingsley. Rev. Jimmy Johnson, pastor, was the officiant for the double-ring exchange of vows.

Parents of the bride are Helen Luna of Electra and Richard Luna of Iowa Park, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Billingsley of Iowa Park.

The altar space of the church was softly lighted by tall candles burning in pyramid candelabra entwined with boxwood greenery accented with white silk bows. The choir rail, wrapped with the same greenery, held two baskets of white silk gladioli, roses, carnations and stephanotis completed with green Boston fern for contrast. Atop the church pews were white satin bows.

The musical setting was provided by three talented young musicians. Eric Birk, pianist, presented a medley of appropriate selections as guests assembled. He provided accompaniment for Miss Alisa Cain's vocal rendition of "Wedding Song" and for a duet number by Miss Cain and Buddy Mercer who sang "Just You and I." The pianist heralded the entrance of the wedding party into the sanctuary and their exit from the church with the traditional marches.

The bride's father walked with her to the altar and gave her in marriage for her parents. She wore a formal gown of white sata peau and Venise lace. The bodice was fashioned with a high sheer yoke outlined in lace, and a waistline identified with lace appliques. The sheer bishop sleeves were adorned with the lace designs and ended in cuffs of lace.

Plans discussed for charity ball

Sixteen members of Epsilon Eta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met in the home of Mrs. Darrell Gunderson Tuesday evening for a business meeting. Mrs. David Parkey was co-hostess.

Mrs. Phil McDonald directed the business period when it was voted to continue support of the National Foundation/Birth Defect Center, and plans for the upcoming charity ball were discussed.

MRS. RANDY BILLINGSLEY

The full skirt that extended into a logner than chapel train featured a hemline of the delicate ornamentation. She chose a full length veil of imported bridal illusion edged in lace that cascaded from a cap of Venise lace.

The bride carried a silk cascade of white French roses, miniature burgundy and pink stephanotis, stardust gypsophila complemented with petal-accented white satin and lace streamers. A sixpence worn in her wedding slipper was used for both "something old" and good luck. For "something borrowed," she wore Mrs. Margaret Stone's diamond set in a star. Her wedding gown and a garter were chosen for "something new" and "something blue" traditions.

The bridal attendants were attired in long pink Qiana gowns designed with matching cotton lace blouson bodies with short split sleeves, V-necks and self belts that tied in bows in front. They carried dainty white lace fans that held burgundy silk roses and pink silk azaleas with matching trailing ribbons. Miss Pam Stone of Iowa Park served as maid of honor, and Melany Hoepfner of Wichita Falls was bridesmaid.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails, a pink silk rosebud boutonniere and a white top hat. His attendants wore burgundy tuxedos. Clay Skelton of Bowie was best man and Andy Billingsley of Iowa Park, his brother, was groomsman.

The bride's mother wore a long burgundy Qiana gown styled with a pleated skirt and matching capelet. The groom's mother was attired in a long lime green shirtwaist Qiana dress featuring sheer sleeves, waist cummerbund and full skirt. Both wore burgundy and pink silk rosebuds accented with ribbon effects corsages.

The reception following the wedding was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Duties of serving were assumed by Margaret Stone, Miss Susan Davis and Miss Cindy Pool.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth that belonged to Mrs. A.L. Mahan, the bride's grandmother, over pink.

An arrangement of silk burgundy roses, pink azaleas and white stephanotis encircled a white candle in a hurricane globe to form the centerpiece. The three-tiered white cake with one set of dividers, tastefully decorated with pink frosting roses and bows and topped with the traditional bride and groom standing under an arch covered with pink roses and net, and the crystal punch service completed the table decor.

The groom's table, laid with white linen, held a round chocolate cake decorated with darker chocolate stars and the silver coffee service.

Guests registered in the church foyer preceding the ceremony in the "Reflections of Our Marriage" book with a pink feather pen at a white-covered podium.

After a trip to Runaway Bay, the couple are at home in Iowa Park. The bride is a senior at Iowa Park High School. The groom attended Iowa Park High School and is employed as a deep well pumper for Vincent and Clark.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Luna, grandparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Doyal McWhorter of Wichita Falls were among out-of-town wedding guests.

Cook of the Week

Verna Reid loves to cook and bread baking is one of her first loves in the culinary department. In the "back to basics" trend at the present time, bread baking is increasing in popularity with many modern homemakers.

Verna Reid

Breadmaking seems to have started about 10,000 years ago, and the place is reputed to be the Fertile Crescent in the Middle East. No one knows who made the first loaf of bread during the dawn of civilization, but it is believed that it was unleavened bread baked by the sun. However, archaeologists discovered an oven used for baking bread that had been idle for 3,900 years during the excavation of the location where Ur once flourished.

The methods of breadmaking have changed drastically since the first unleavened loaf was made. Its tantalizing fragrance has floated through many centuries and there is no cuisine that is loved so universally. "Breaking bread" together has symbolized friendship for centuries. It is the "staff of life."

For the past 20 years, Verna has owned Verna's Apparel and is prominent in the business life of Iowa Park. She is a member of First Baptist Church and Order of Eastern Lodge. She enjoys cooking, gardening and fishing.

She is the mother of three children.

Donna Barker of Nolanville, Sue Jolley of Hillsboro, Ore. and Tom of Wichita Falls, and she has nine grandchildren.

YEAST BREAD

Mix:
1 cup warm water
3 packages dry yeast
Stir in:
3 1/2 cups warm milk (I use canned milk, half milk, half water)
6 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons salt
4 tablespoons shortening
About 7 cups flour

Mix all ingredients, then add five or six cups of flour as needed while kneading dough until it no longer sticks to board. Round up in greased bowl and turn to bring greased side up. Cover with damp cloth and let rise until doubled, press down and let rise again. Then form into rolls or loaf and let rise, then bake.

(I freeze what I don't need, and when I need rolls I sprinkle with water and bake)

Mix carrots, pepper and onion together; salt and pepper to taste. Pour tomato soup over mixture and let set two days in refrigerator. It keeps well.

ZUCCHINI ROUNDS

1/2 cup Bisquick
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups shredded unpared zucchini (2 medium zucchini)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
In mixing bowl, stir together Bisquick mix, cheese and pepper; stir in beaten eggs just till mixture is moistened. Fold in zucchini. In heavy skillet, melt butter or margarine over medium heat, using 2 tablespoons mixture for each round. Cook 2 or 3 minutes on each side or till brown. Makes 12 or 14 rounds.

Worth Quoting

Among topics discussed at last week's Henrietta City Council meeting was the possibility of instituting a license fee for merchants to do business. It is a ridiculous idea, and I doubt it will ever float among Henrietta's business people.

This absurd idea to impose a license requirement on merchants came in the wake of a truckload ceiling fan sale held a few weeks ago in Henrietta by Spinks Designers of Burkburnett. At the council meeting following Spinks' sale, councilman Junior Johnson asked that the topic of city permits be placed on the agenda. According to minutes of the Nov. 9 meeting, Johnson stated that he felt the council should do something to protect our local business people. The issue was referred to Roger Towery, city attorney.

Towery explained the findings of his research in a letter to the council at last week's meeting. The bottom line of the lawyer's research is that a government can't discriminate among businesses. If the council imposes a license fee on traveling merchants the on our hometown merchants.

At the same meeting, councilman Paul Parr suggested that local merchants be surveyed to see if they would be in favor of the council implementing such license requirements.

I think the proposal is absurd for three reasons.

The flimsy foundation for suggesting a license fee is to "protect our local business people." It is a flimsy foundation, indeed.

First of all, if the license fee is to discourage traveling vendors from setting up shop in our town, it must be significantly high to have much effect on traveling merchants. If it is set high enough to do any discouraging, I'm afraid our local merchants will protest because they, too, will be required to pay for a license. In view of these circumstances, would local businesses be protected or would they be penalized?

Call it a license fee, business permit or whatever, but it still would constitute another form of taxation. I believe our merchants already pay enough taxes in return for the city services received and for the privilege of operating in Henrietta.

It is ironic that the proposal was introduced by councilman Parr, especially considering the numerous times I have listened to him complain about taxes.

My second argument is to question whether it is the city's responsibility to "protect" businesses. Every time government involves itself in private business, we see a little bit of the freedom of free enterprise whittled away. Government already has its hooks deeply set into private enterprise, so I'm dead-set against the least amount of additional government intervention.

Competition obviously is an undercurrent to the whole controversy which is the focus of my third business people are absolutely scared to death of a little competition.

There are other business people, however, who welcome competition. They see competition as a vehicle of offering more variety, generating more traffic into the business district and in general increasing each businesses potential for making a sale. It is especially true in our rural setting. Very seldom do folks come to town to conduct only one business transaction.

Their main business of the day may be for a doctor's appointment. But while they are in town, they likely will do business at a drug store, buy a sack of groceries, fill up the car with gasoline and make other miscellaneous purchases at a dry goods store, florist, lumber yard, etc. They also may eat a hamburger, make a bank deposit, stop to see their insurance agent and browse for some new furniture or a new car.

There is another angle to the effects of competition. Say there are persons who live in the country and they are in the market for a specific item. Let's say it's about the same distance from their home to Town A as it is to Town B. If Town A has one store that is likely to stock what they are looking for and Town B has three stores likely to stock what they are looking for, prospects are good that they will travel to Town B because their chances of finding that item are greater.

So, I ask, should we cultivate competition or attempt to choke it out?

These, I maintain, are three good reasons not to impose a license fee on merchants. If Henrietta City Council were serious about helping the business community, we all would be better served by better lighting and cleaner streets in the business district.

Curtailment

had to be metered at the city limits. This is because the city is responsible for the water line from the storage tank to the meter, and if the meter is outside the city, it is the city's responsibility.

Aldermen were told that with the present one-meter situation, there was no incentive for renters to conserve water used. That was the reason for the request.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

While the economic state of the nation is in tough times, according to all the daily newspapers and television networks, business continues to improve in Iowa Park.

Reports are even given about how the national problems have trickled down to this part of the country. And, true enough, many businesses have closed and industries have had to lay off workers.

A couple of businesses have even closed in Iowa Park, but I doubt seriously they had anything to do with what the national media terms as a depression. TG&Y, and I suspect even the Jiffy, were closed because their demise was planned some time in advance.

I was told by some TG&Y people long before this winter that the store would close if the chain couldn't build the family center it had planned at the site where Wal-Mart has built.

But back to my point that business in Iowa Park is good. I use the sales tax figures.

Comparing the last five months of 1982 with the same months of 1981, Iowa Park sales taxes were up $10,846. Now, that's impressive, even if this weren't in "economic hard times."

Each of the last five months was above the previous year's sales tax, as reported by the state comptroller's office. For that period in 1981, total sales taxes reported were $42,892. The corresponding period in 1982 was $53,738.

Now, that's the total sales taxes collected for those months, not what was received by the city. You must remember that the comptroller's office retains two percent of the taxes collected for handling the paperwork.

But it is also impressive to consider that the $53,738 reported for those previous five months is one percent of all taxable items sold in Iowa Park. It doesn't include the four-cent tax to the state.

In comparing each of the final five months of the two years, using the 1981 figure first and then 1982, here is the city's sales tax for that period: August, $14,476 and $16,133; September, $5,586 and $8,405; October, $5,545 and $7,668; November, $12,354 and $12,700; and December, $4,931 and $8,832.

There is no question that our community's economy is healthy because our people are so diversified in their work. Salaries are primarily from the fields of farming and ranching, oil field production and allied lines; sales and service; industrial; health; public service; military; and retirees.

So, if anyone asks you about the economic health of Iowa Park, you can tell them this community as a whole is "alive and well."

1983 is approval and use of the new landfill facility.

"The current landfill is already filled to its maximum and we are in great need of the new facility to ensure that the City can properly dispose of its trash. The necessary application has been filed with the Texas Department of Health and public hearings will be held in early 1983 to comply with state requirements.

"The new landfill site will result in some considerable savings to the City by reducing the distance that must be traveled by the trucks to deposit the refuse in the facility. It will also create a convenience factor for citizens desiring to use the landfill.

"Finally, the new landfill facility will provide adequate space for at least the next 30 years," Barrington stated.

Is your heating/cooling system gobbling up too much money?

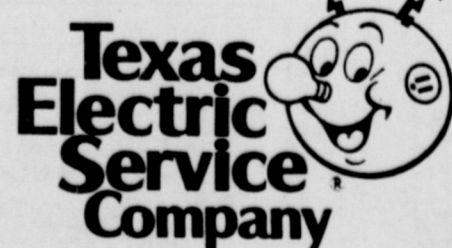

If electric bills are taking too big a bite out of your budget, consider equipment with a higher energy-efficiency rating. The higher the rating, the less electricity it takes to heat and cool your home. And using less electricity will help hold down your bill.

High-efficiency equipment costs more, but when the equipment qualifies, Texas Electric will give you a bonus check to help pay the difference. So if you're planning to install or replace central air conditioning, a room unit, or a year-round heat pump, ask your dealer about equipment that qualifies for a bonus check from Texas Electric.

And put money back in your pocket.

Elgin Denny home 'Yard of the Year'

A highlight of the Iowa Park Garden Club's meeting Friday morning at Texas Electric Reddy Room was the presentation of the Yard of the Year plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Denny. Their yard was selected from the six that had been selected as Yards of the Month during May through October 1982.

The other yards included those of Mrs. Leota Weseman, Mrs. Robert Hodge, Mr. and Mrs. John Blair, Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. L.P. Adams.

Officers for 1983-84 were elected during the business meeting. Included on the slate were Mmes. Raymond Good, president; Charlie Lee, vice president; R.F. Bartosh, recording secretary; Michael Hodson, corresponding secretary; Robert Illingsworth, treasurer; Jimmy Gilmore, historian.

Mrs. George Boles presented a program on "Organic Gardening," and Mrs. Vernon L. Gilbert showed the horticulture specimen, "Air Plants," that was being grown on a natural sponge.

The book "House Plants and Indoor Gardening" that is being presented to the library in memory of the late Mrs. Lillian Hill, a charter member of the club, was on display. Mrs. Dave Davis was recognized as a new member.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Marvin Klinkerman and Mrs. Gilbert.

Bangkok is subject of WMU program

Mrs. D.O. James completed the study of "Bangkok: An Urban Arena" by Ronald C. Hill for the Night WMU of First Baptist Church in a meeting held at her house Monday.

The final chapter in the book was titled "Gradually, Still Bad," the title describing fairly accurately the present situation in Thailand, both geopolitical and spiritual. The content emphasized the needs as seen by Southern Baptists to evangelize the country. The needs included the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, multiplying New Testament churches, developing new strategies, making serious efforts to preach the gospel to the poor, involving the whole constituency, and developing new kind of leaders.

Mrs. V.I. Woodfin directed the business when it was voted to make a monetary contribution to the emergency food pantry. Mrs. E.T. Patterson read the names of missionaries on the birthday calendar for the day and offered prayer for them.

Twelve members were present.

FFA News

Three members of the Iowa Park FFA last week qualified their steers for the Dist. Beef Show, to be held in Wichita Falls Feb. 8-10, according to H.J. Cannon, advisor.

They were Butch Martin, who had the top lightweight entry, Bruce Whitaker and Doug Smith.

Four Hawks honored at football banquet

Iowa Park High School football players were honored at a banquet Saturday night, and also heard a talk by one of the most outstanding athletes in Texas history. Four seniors received special recognition.

Paul Rogers was named Outstanding Hawk; Don Sidlauskas the Ball Hawker, and Robby Hausler and Lynn Fulfer shared the Best Hustler award.

While introducing Bill Bradley, the speaker, Bob Dawson, master of ceremonies, recalled Bradley had thrown a last-minute pass for a touchdown to knock off Hirschi for the state title in 1965.

Bradley, his senior year at Palestine High, earned all-state honors in football, basketball, track and baseball, and was the youngest athlete ever named to the Texas Football Hall of Fame.

He was an All-American three years at the Univ. of Texas and all-pro three years with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Now semi-retired in Austin, Bradley told the athletes in the audience that they are establishing life-long friendships as well as abilities to cope with future life. He encouraged them to dedicate themselves to their sport, because it would be beneficial after they reached adulthood.

The banquet was sponsored by the Iowa Park Booster Club, whose president, Norman Hodges, was recognized for having served as head the past four years.

A near-capacity crowd attended the event.

and Gibson, each scored 10 points enroute to a 44-24 shellacking of Burkburnett.

The Freshmen took a 34-11 decision over Burkburnett to lift the team's record to 10-3. K.D. Cockburn had eight points while LaDonna Wilkinson and Sherrie Schweiss each scored six.

DPS still requires proof of insurance

The Texas Department of Public Safety will continue to enforce the current mandatory liability insurance law as enacted by the last session of the Texas Legislature.

A recent Attorney General's opinion stated that failure to carry, produce or provide proof of insurance is not an offense. However, the opinion does not require DPS policy to be changed. The offense contained in the law is "failure to maintain financial responsibility," i.e., failure to maintain liability insurance.

Col. Jim Adams, DPS director, said "the statute requires motorists to furnish information concerning evidence of insurance to a police officer upon request. Failure to provide satisfactory information creates a rebuttable presumption under the statute that the motorist failed to maintain liability insurance. This presumption may be rebutted by presenting evidence to the judge that the motorist did in fact have insurance and the judge may dismiss the charge."

If the officer is not satisfied with the information provided, he can issue a citation. Adams said troopers will continue to issue citations when drivers are unable to furnish satisfactory information.

The Department of Public Safety issued rules when the law went into effect detailing examples of information which would be accepted as evidence of financial responsibility. The items include the insurance policy, insurance identification card, or other information which confirms to the satisfaction of the officer that the operator is in compliance with the law.

In an opinion dated May 14, 1982, the Attorney General upheld these rules as binding on all law enforcement officers of the state.

"If a person is unable to furnish the information requested by the officer, the officer may issue a citation even though the individual claims to have the required insurance," Adams said.

Col. Adams said the law has produced positive results, and has resulted in an increase in the number of Texans who presently carry liability insurance. "Before the law was passed, 74 per cent of the Texas motorists involved in vehicle accidents did have insurance. However, 1982 accident reports indicate that 91 per cent of the drivers involved in vehicle accidents have obtained and maintain insurance," he said.

Unexpected bonanza added to city's coffers

When the federal government gives anyone anything these days, it's usually a hard time. But Holliday's city fathers aren't complaining about the most recent news from Washington, because the city's bank account has $16,156 more in it.

The amount reflects an increase in revenue sharing the city is to receive this year due to an increase in population by the 1980 census, and an increase in property taxes paid by the city's populace.

Council had budgeted only $5,643 for revenue sharing for 1983, but at Monday night's regular meeting city administrator Jim Hamill said he had been in contact with officials in Washington, and expected the increase, "... but I didn't want to count the chickens before the eggs hatched," he so aptly put it. Total revenue sharing is now $21,799.58.

Mayor James Cook seemed delighted with the news, and plans re underway to discuss ways the money can be spent.

Aside from the unexpected check from Washington, city officials learned recently a savings account bearing the name of "Camp Stonewall Jackson" had been left unused for a number of years in a Wichita Falls bank and collected interest and brought the account total to over $1,500. According to Hamill, the last signature authority had been given to former mayor Ben Ezzell and Evonne Carter, and the last deposit made in 1977.

Saying "we really don't have a city park in Holliday," Cook said there may be ways to match the figure with a grant from Nortex Regional Planning Commission to refurbish the campgrounds. Explaining that Nortex has grants available for parks, Cook said the city could provide the equipment and labor and reflect the cost in the grant request. No action was taken at that time.

In other business, Melvin Bills approached the council seeking annexation into the city, council agreed to seek bids for a new backhoe and Cook showed council a plaque presented by Holliday Volunteer Fire Department to the city for appreciation of support.

Bills, who owns approximately five acres of land bordered by FM 368 just north of the Holliday city limits, approached the council seeking information on how to be annexed into the city.

The request received positive reactions from council members, including Cook, although no action was taken. City attorney Gary Southard informed Bills a petition would have to be officially submitted to city secretary Laverne Slatton before any action could be taken by the council. In addition, Southard said a plat would be needed, and a city map would have to be redone to include the identification of property and ordinance number annexing the land into the city.

Bills said he already had interested home builders wanting to build on his land, and that they would want city services, including water and sewer.

Council agreed to advertise for bids on a new backhoe and front-end loader. Bidders may submit bids on as many different pieces of equipment as desired but are requested to submit bids on a "cash purchase" and "lease purchase" agreement. Specifications in the bid also include that the equipment be new, a four-cylinder diesel with enclosed cab and minimum of four forward and four reverse gears.

Center receives first aid kit

Holliday Senior Citizen's Center received a first aid kit from the Archer County Hospital recently, and board member John Lewellan of Holliday presented the gift.

The kit will be refurbished when needed, according to Lewellan. The Senior Citizen's Center, realized by work done by volunteers including city council member Elizabeth Gorman, has fed at least 50-100 persons per day since it opened last month.

Holliday to host monthly meeting

Holliday will host the monthly Northwest Texas Water Utilities Association dinner-meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 20, in the Holliday High School cafeteria.

Representing the city will be water superintendent Morganna Thorn, mayor James Cook, city administrator Jim Hamill, and Rep. Charles Finnell. The meal will be catered by Stanley's of Wichita Falls.

The water utilities association meets in member cities once each month to exchange information, offer sources of training and education, and to encourage friendships among area communities.

Both teams win district games

Holliday's Lady Eagles upped their District 11-AA record to 3-1 and the boys won their first district tilt in games played against Petrolia Tuesday night.

The girls, behind Debbie Long's 12 point production, easily handled their counterparts 32-14. Holliday led 7-2 after the first period, and increased that lead by two at the half, 13-6. In the final two periods, the Lady Eagles outscored Petrolia 19-8, including a final quarter 11-1 rout. In the girl's junior varsity game, Holliday had an easier time of it, winning 46-4.

The Eagles, playing in their first zone game of the season, utilized an advantage in size and speed to take a 51-40 win over the Pirates. Kevin Lilley led all scorers with 17, while two other Eagles managed to score in double figures. Mike A. Parker and Brad Harmon each finished with 13 points. Scott Overstreet led the Pirates with 12 while Jody Henley added 11.

In games played in Nocona last Friday, which are not included in the district standings, the Lady Eagles won for the second time this season over the Lady Indians 40-36. Long again led Holliday with 12, while Angie Addison added 10. Diana Denett scored seven for Nocona. In the girls' junior varsity game, Holliday won 32-25.

The Eagles, on the other hand, lost for the second time this season to the Indians, this time by a 43-40 score. Lilley totalled 16 and Harmon 12, but a 28-18 halftime lead by Nocona was too much to overcome. In the final two periods of the game, the Eagles rallied to pull within six after the third period, 34-28, and three before time ran out.

Tomorrow night, the Holliday varsity and junior varsity teams host Olney in district play, with the first of four games starting at 4 p.m.

Tuesday the Eagles and Lady Eagles travel to Henrietta for more district games, accompanied by the junior varsities with the first game starting at 4 p.m.

De-icing Icy Walks

The seasonal practice of "salting" icy walks and steps may not be the most effective solution for eliminating winter slip-ups. Comparative research into the fast acting characteristics and low temperature performance of chemical deicers has shown that rock salt (sodium chloride) is not as effective as calcium chloride pellets for melting ice. "Most people probably do not look past the brand name on the label to note the chemical composition of the deicer product they buy," stated Henry Kirchner, technical specialist for The Dow Chemical Company. "However, there is a significant difference between the inherent performance nature of sodium chloride and calcium chloride." The differences between these two chemical deicers and their subsequent performance depends upon their reaction to moisture and the environment as they are transformed into a brine solution. Deicing does not start until a brine solution has been formed and will continue only as long as it remains a solution. In comparative tests at 20°F, calcium chloride ice melting pellets broke an ice bond in approximately half the time it took comparable amounts of rock salt. At 10°F, calcium chloride pellets took only eight minutes to work as opposed to an hour for rock salt. At temperatures below 10°F, rock salt is virtually ineffective. Conversely, calcium chloride pellets will work at temperatures as low as minus 25°F. Calcium chloride is a liquid in its natural state, therefore, it tends to remain in a brine solution and melt ice. Calcium chloride pellets also attract moisture from its environment to stay in solution, resulting in a residual deicing effect. Rock salt tends to give up moisture freely because of an affinity to return to its naturally solid state. As a result, it is necessary to apply more rock salt, more frequently, to achieve the same deicing performance from a single and smaller application of calcium chloride pellets. Chemical deicing agents provide the most sophisticated and effective solutions to overcoming the hazards of ice. Choosing the right one will save time and money.
