Council delays action on water sale request

The city council Monday night took no action on a request to sell raw water from Lake Buffalo to the Triangle Ranch, but is expected to respond to the request after a study of needs and possible rates are made.

Danny Clack represented the ranch before the council, explaining a 23-surface-acre stock tank is being established just west of the headquarters as a dam is currently under construction.

Because the tank will hold 28 acre feet of water and has only a 300-acre watershed, Clack said "It will probably be hard to keep it full, even with an average rainfall this year." It is to be kept at a constant level.

Clack said the water will be used both for watering of stock and irrigation. Stock will be watered at the pond, and water will also be released down the draw, which passes under US 287, to reach stock on the acreage south.

He explained he knew the water needs of the city would vary, as supply in the lake varies, and said he expected the availability would be considered on a month-to-month basis by the council.

Triangle Ranch proposed to lay a pair of three-inch lines from the lake to the pond, a distance of almost two miles, and move the water with a 25-horse power pump. A fence would be required around the pump at the lake to protect it from vandalism and the line would by necessity be buried until it reached ranch property, Clack noted.

He explained what he needs to know, by about November, is if the city would sell the water and for how much. "Then we can work from there," he commented, adding the dam would probably be completed by January and the water would be needed by then.

None of the aldermen said anything to discourage Clack, but noted they would need to study the water needed by the city from the lake and also look into what would be a fair price if the water was sold.

Triangle purchased raw water for ranch headquarters use several years ago, and later laid a line to Johnson Road in order to be served treated water.

Clack said the ranch would probably want to purchase the raw water from the city "from now on" as it was available and needed.

CONTRACT WITH CITY

The council approved a resolution authorizing the city administrator to enter into a contract with Wichita County to do street resurfacing in the city. The action now must be ratified by Commissioner's Court.

Though not present Monday, Commissioner Gordon Griffith was at the last council meeting and told members he would be glad to enter into a contract which would require his equipment and workers to resurface streets in the city, with the city paying all expenses.

Another resolution approved by council members authorized the signing of a contract, along with the county, Wichita Falls and Burkburnett, for ambulance service by Lifeline Ambulance.

A discussion on the subject by council members indicated they were not happy with the fact that Wichita Falls and the county make all decisions, based on the amount of subsidy money paid for ambulance service, and indicated that sometime in the future the city might make a study into having its own service.

PERMIT FORMULA CHANGED

A portion of the city's building code in setting values of buildings for permit fees was changed.

Eliminated was a phrase in the code which allowed the builder of structures to estimate the cost, and a square-foot fee reinstated as a basis for permits.

Administrator James Barrington explained the phrase has become general policy for setting fees, rather than the use of the ordinance as originally written. The estimation phrase was included initially for those who were to do the building themselves, rather than contracting it to be done.

The cost for permit fees will now be figured at $18 per square foot for frame homes, $20 for brick home, 50 percent of either for garages, and $20 for commercial buildings.

Barrington told council members the city was at the mercy of whomever took out the permit for estimating the cost, and often times homes of far greater value were issued permits at a lower estimate than others of less value. The change was needed for a more standard application of the permit fee charge, he explained.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, aldermen discussed the need for improvements at railroad crossings, discussed hiring of a new police chief, delayed start of a change in landfill dump permit policy and approved Barrington's participation in a credit union.

Mayor Tim Hunter said the state of railroad crossings for vehicles in the city was "deplorable."

Council members agreed, and it was decided to contact the railroad in an effort to smooth the crossings, which is the company's responsibility, according to Barrington.

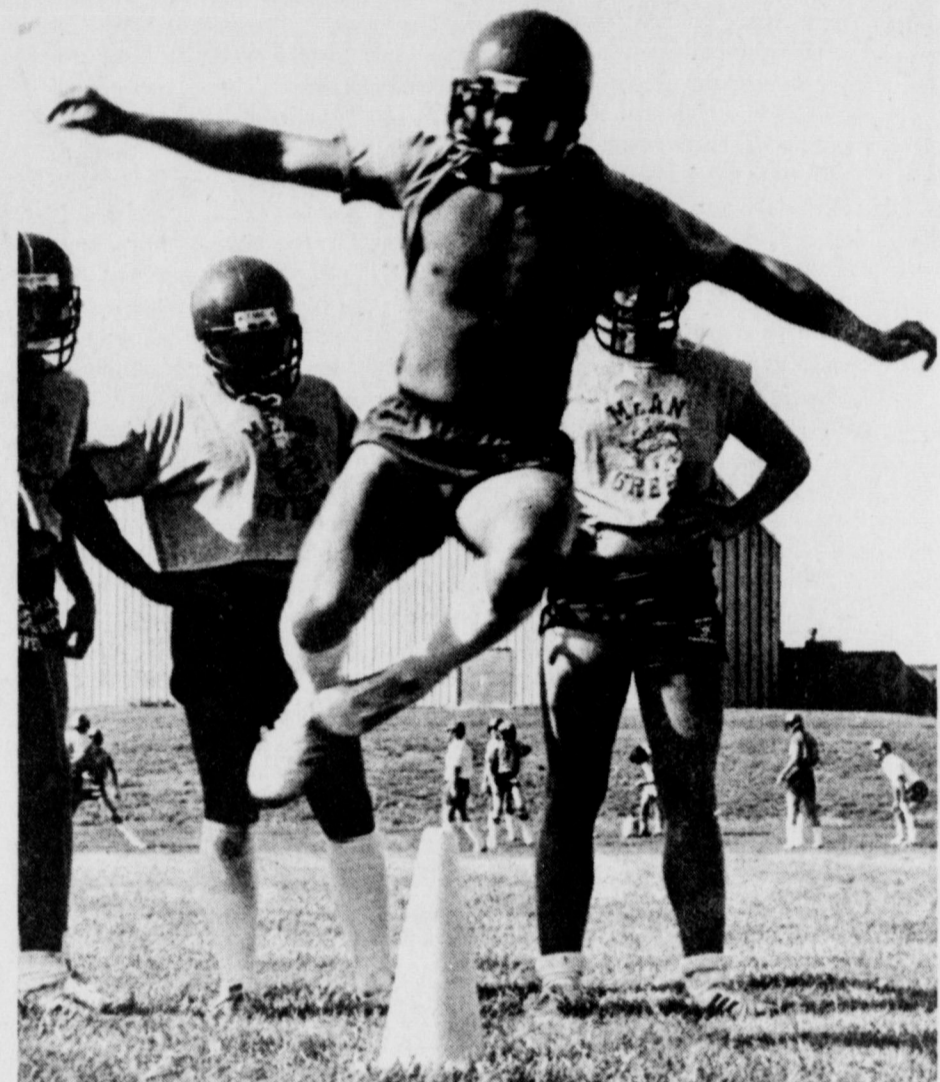

Eleven applications for police chief had been received by Monday, Barrington told the council, and it was decided to hold a called meeting next Monday to screen the applicants and probably hold interviews Aug. 26.

Because of problems receiving special decals for vehicles to permit dumping at the landfill, Barrington suggested all permits now in force and issued later would expire Dec. 31, 1985.

That would give the city time to have a new supply of decals made and also give residents who took out the permits in July a full 18 months, the administrator explained. The council approved the proposal.

Barrington explained to the council

he had been elected to the board of directors of Texoma Community Credit Union, which is for municipal employees. He said if the council felt it would be any conflict with his work, he would resign. Aldermen said they had no objection.

FLYING HAWK - Senior Jerry Allen goes through his paces in an agility drill during the first day of practice Monday. The players will continue working out in shorts through today, and tomorrow will put on their full pads for the first time. They are to hold an intrasquad scrimmage tomorrow, starting at 9 a.m., with freshmen, junior varsity and varsity players all seeing action. Immediately following the final clash, about noon, the Booster Club is to have ice-cold watermelon ready to help cool them down.

News in Brief

Swimming season ends Sunday afternoon

If you like to swim, you'd better get your fill by this weekend. Iowa Park Bicentennial Swimming Pool will close for the season Sunday afternoon, and will not re-open until next summer.

Council meeting slated Monday

The city council is to meet in a called session at 7 p.m. Monday, according to James Barrington, city administrator.

Besides hearing a request from Steve Catlin, who wants to purchase water for his home outside the city, the council is to have an executive session to screen applications for police chief, and then hold a budget work session.

Instead of meeting in council chambers, Monday's session is to take place in the council conference room.

Commodity distribution set Monday

U.S.D.A. commodities are to be distributed between noon and 6 p.m. Monday at the First Christian Church. Commodities will include cheese, butter and dry milk.

Cotton scouting meeting set Monday

An in-field cotton scouting meeting will begin at 7 a.m. Monday at the Lone Star Truck Stop, FM 369 and U.S. 287.

After some coffee, county agent David Finley will be available to look at cotton for bollworms. The peak egg lay for the area should be occurring about this time. Finley will be able to assist producers with management decisions concerning this insect.

All cotton producers are invited to attend and learn what to look for when checking their cotton. This training meeting is free of charge.

First Booster Club meeting is tonight

First meeting of the season for the Hawk Booster Club will be at 8 this evening at the fieldhouse. Part of the business to be discussed will be a watermelon feed for the players after their intrasquad scrimmage, which should end about 12 noon Saturday.

Area receives beneficial rainfall

Iowa Park area received some good, soaking rains last week.

Though spotted, moisture west of FM 369 was fairly general. Yards received needed moisture, as did the fields and pastures, but little, if any, runoff benefitted stock tanks and lakes due to soaking in dry soil.

Weather Report

Weather reports are officially compiled for Iowa Park at the Texas Experiment Station, southeast of town.

Rainfall for week.....	2.16
Total for month.....	2.36
Total for year.....	11.34
Total for last year.....	16.30

The Experiment Station reported 2.16 inches, bringing the year's total to 11.34 inches, about five inches short of the 16.30 measured by Aug. 15 last year.

Ray Pittman recorded 3.7 inches for the week through Saturday, at 1021 Van Horn. Joe Tom Collins said the Kamay area received almost six inches.

10-cent tax increase probable

Iowa Park school taxes will apparently take a 10-cent increase for the 1984-85 school year, as a result of the special legislative session's school reform bill and also the district's decrease in values.

The tax rate was one of Tuesday night's topics of the school board meeting, but official action on adoption of the rate will not take place until after a public hearing on the budget next Monday.

Purpose of reaching a "concensus" rate is to permit Supt. Harold Cowley to use a rate figure to arrive at a budget which can be presented both to the public and to the board for adoption. State law requires adoption of budget before a rate is set.

Even with increasing the rate from 43-cents per $100 valuation to 53-cents, the district will still reduce its carryover by an estimated $577,000, board members were told.

According to figures provided after the tax rolls were made available by the Wichita County Tax Appraisal District, the Iowa Park district tax rate would have to be increased to 66.64-cents in order to balance the budget for next year.

Two members of the board, Marilyn Hale and Rusty Rusk, said they wanted to cut even deeper into the carryover, which is estimated to be $1.2-million at the end of this fiscal year, which will be Aug. 31.

However, Cowley pointed out that the district must maintain enough carryover to pay salaries and other expenses until funds from state begin arriving in October.

Trustee Jimmy Howell reminded others that the district several years ago had to borrow money to pay teachers because state funds were later than anticipated.

Rusk commented that the budget request cutbacks, about $59,000, amounted to only slightly more than one percent of the budget. Cowley responded by saying the only effective way of major cutback in a school budget is elimination of personnel, and since all teachers already had their contracts for next year, with a $1,800 salary increase "above state," there just wasn't anyplace else to cut the '84-85 budget.

Mrs. Hale said she couldn't vote for any rate unless more of the carryover has been cut. She mentioned the current budget was adopted with a $400,000 cut in the carryover, and it appeared only $300,000 would result.

However, she said she is "certainly not for cutting any academics," and would vote for a tax hike if "we would earmark a million dollars more for academics, anything like salaries, hiring more aides, etc."

Cowley pointed out this year's proposed 10-cent increase would only be the first of a three-year series. An additional $1,100 per teacher must be picked up by the local district next year, because the reform bill cuts the state's portion of salaries on a regular basis.

Rusk said he wouldn't mind "paying that tax, if I felt we would gain anything from it. But I don't think the kids would learn any more from it (tax increase)."

He added that he felt the district was doing a good job educating the students before HB 72 was approved.

Cowley agreed, and reminded the board the "good job" was being accomplished on a 43-cent tax rate, 14-cents less than the state average, and still having a "big carryover."

The board certified the tax roll: $259,573,276 (M.O.) and $174,956,658 (I.S.).

The tax increase is expected to generate an additional $240,720, as each penny rate generates $24,072 on present values.

Because the district rate is less than the state average, the district could increase the rate by 23.64 percent without facing a rollback by citizens, as prescribed by HB 72.

The public hearing for next year's budget will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the administration building. Board members are also to meet Aug. 30 to amend the 1983-84 budget.

Evans, Case nuptial vows are solemnized here Saturday

An abundant use of cathedral candles richly illuminated the altar of Faith Baptist Church Saturday evening for the solemn recitation of marriage vows by Miss Jayna Barbara Evans and Randall Keith Case. Rev. Ken Cole, pastor, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Evans of Iowa Park, and the groom is the son of Billy Case and Jo Ann Case of Wichita Falls.

In the back of the choir loft, the candles were aflame in three crescent candelabra arranged to form an unbroken picture of light and in spiral candelabra on either side of the lower steps, each holder tastefully trimmed with fresh lemon leaf, sprengeri fern threaded with white satin ribbon. The candles added a distinctive look to the main altar decor in heart-shaped candelabra that flanked a center arch dressed for the occasion in lemon leaf, sprengeri fern and white satin ribbon.

The kneeling bench in front of the arch and unity candelabrum in the lower altar created and completed the solemn mood of decorations. Church pews for family members were designated and lighted with candles burning in hurricane globes accented with emerald green satin bows.

A program of classical and sacred organ, piano, violin and vocal music by nine outstanding musicians was an important part of the service.

Eric Birk introduced the prelude music with a concert of piano selections. These included "Romanze in F Sharp - Opus 28 No 2," "Intermezzo in A Major-Opus 118 No. 1" and "Widmung." He and Michael McElroy, violinist, were featured in three duet numbers: "Tempo di Minuetto," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," and "Andante Cantabile." While parents of the bride and groom lighted the outer candles in the unity candlestick, Mrs. Jody Goldman of Cedar Hills sang "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us." To open the ceremony, Dave Kirk sang "Surely the Presence of the Lord is in This Place."

The processional "Trumpet Voluntary in D" was played by Mrs. Fred Hinrichs of Amarillo, organist, the pianist and violinist.

A quartet composed of Buddy Mercer, Jay Yeakley, Brian Fowler and Terry Escue, sang "Eternal Life" preceding the presentation of the bride in marriage by her parents. At the close of the ceremony, the quartet sang the "Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Hinrichs presented "To God Be the Glory" during the time the bride and groom were lighting the unity candle. The recessional "Allegro Maestoso" from "Water Music Suite," played by the organist, pianist and violinist, concluded the music.

Escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage for her parents, the bride was adorable in a gown that radiated her happiness. She chose an elegant designer of daeron organza enriched with Chantilly lace. The gown featured an exquisite high neckline above a sheer illusion bodice appliqued with lace and tiny seed pearls down to the flattering empire waistline. The sheer illusion sleeves graced with bows puffed in style to elbow length. The full skirt gracefully flowed into a cathedral train beruffled with lace.

The delightful look of the gown was enhanced when paired with her fingertip veil consisting of multiple layers of bridal illusion trimmed in seed pearls that flowed from a cap formed of ribbon-like rows of seed pearls, embroidered lace and silk flower accents.

She carried a fresh bouquet of white bridal roses, two white orchids, English ivy accented with white lace and picot ribbon on a white Bible that was given to her mother when she was a young girl. The Bible was carried by her mother and sister at their weddings, and for sentiment the bride chose it for her "something old" and "something borrowed" traditions. She wore pearl earrings, a gift from the groom, for "something new," and a garter for "something blue."

A maid of honor and four bridesmaids preceded the bride to the altar. They made an enchanting picture in their long emerald green satin gowns fashioned with matching lace-covered bodices, scoop necklines, puffed sleeves and full skirts. They carried cascade-style bouquets of peach roses, lemon leaf, English ivy and peach picot ribbon.

Miss Rose Soell took part in the wedding as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Tanya Jones, Miss Karla McPherson, and two sisters of the bride, Miss Michelle Evans, and Mrs. Clarence Cook.

The groom wore a black tuxedo with white shirt, cummerbund and tie, and a fresh peach rosebud boutonniere. The attendants, ushers and fathers wore black tuxedos with black cummerbunds and ties and white shirts. Wayne Watson served as best man. The groomsmen were Mark Shierry, Steve Davis, Jeryl Brixey and Sonny Cook. Ushers were Gilbert Cavazos and Rafan Graves, cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a dusty rose lace dress over taffeta designed with a V-neckline, long fitted sleeves, a taffeta cummerbund at the waistline that allowed for a fully gathered floor length skirt. The groom's mother was attired in a mauve dress fashioned with a chiffon skirt over taffeta, a lace bodice set off with a long-sleeved lace jacket trimmed with pearls. Both wore white cattelya orchids.

Wedding guests registered in the church foyer under the direction of Miss Karen Arrington at a round table covered with white taffeta featuring a tiered skirt. It held a peach candle in a hurricane globe encircled with fresh greenery and flowers, the wedding book and plume pen.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted an elaborate reception in the Fellowship Hall.

The round table that held the bride's cake will forever linger in the memory of those who thrilled to its beauty. Draped with peach linen from which a peach lace skirt swagged with peach roses, orchid and picot carnations fell to the floor, the cake captured the elegance of the table. The three-tiered structure with one set of sugar pillars was covered and topped with flowery ornamentation that resembled a patterned garden of frosting peach and white orchids, roses, petunias, bridal trumpets and stephanotis clinging to pale green leaves.

The long punch table was covered with peach linen overlaid with peach net accented with cascades of greenery at the corners. The center attraction was a four-branched silver candelabrum decorated in splendid taste with a bouquet of peach roses, carnations, baby's breath, sprengeri fern and leatherleaf. The appointments included the silver punch service, trays filled with assorted hors d'oeuvres, peach-colored double bell mints, and peach napkins engraved with "Jayna and Randy, August 11, 1984."

The groom's table was laid with an emerald green satin cloth featuring a pleated skirt set off with greenery, peach bells and ribbon at the top corners. Fitting into the decor were a five-branched silver candelabrum, two-layer round chocolate cake trimmed in shaded scrollwork, vines and leaves, and the silver coffee service.

An added attraction in the reception hall was a tea cart bedecked with the chosen greenery and flowers that held fresh strawberries, chocolate sauce and powdered sugar. The round white-covered tables arranged for guests to be seated for refreshments were centered with peach candles in hurricane globes surrounded with greenery.

Reception assistants were Mmes.

Paul Arrington, Jackie Gholson, Kenneth Davis, Jim Cooper, Norman Hodges and Johnny Huff.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents Friday evening at the Silver Square Room in Wichita Falls.

Following a wedding trip to Ixtapa, Mexico, the newlyweds will live in Iowa Park.

The bride and groom were graduated from Iowa Park High School. She is a senior at Midwestern State Univ. where she belongs to Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Chi and Texas Student Educators Association. She is employed by Dr. Paul Collins. The groom attended Midwestern State Univ. and is employed by United Electric Co.

Mrs. Vera Long of Walters, Okla., the groom's grandmother, was a special wedding guest. Others from out-of-town were Messrs. and Mmes. P.W. Graves and Rafan of Ardmore, Okla., Mark Morris of Oklahoma City, H.C. Smith of San Angelo, Larry Garfa of Vernon, Jody Goldman of Cedar Hill, Fred Hinrichs and family of Amarillo.

Others were Susan Butcher from Largo, Fla., Mrs. Richard Rapp of Mesquite, Mrs. Barbara Williams and Mrs. L.E. Smith, both of Dallas; Miss Karla McPherson of Abilene, Miss Jacalyn Hale of Lubbock; and Monte McCoy of Arlington.

Nickname prompts article about former resident

The Aug. 9 edition of The Dallas Morning News carried a feature on the nickname "Bubba... What's in a name? You might be surprised by these Texans" written by David Seeley.

Iowa Parkan Dr. Robert "Bubba" Nolen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nolen, 715 W. Coleman, was one of the subjects. Nolen has recently graduated from dentistry school and is practicing in the Dallas area.

The author wrote about the former Hawk:

"Would you trust a dentist approaching your novocained gums with a needle-sharp probe, if his name was Bubba? The patients of Dr. Robert E. Nolen do. But then, they don't know his nickname is Bubba."

"My father was called Bubba by his family all his life, and so after I was born, I picked up the name Little Bubba," says Nolen, who practices at the Arlington Family Dental Center.

"When I grew larger, I dropped the name Little, and Bubba's been my name ever since. After I graduated from Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls and moved to Houston to go to dental school, I thought I had dropped that name. But it just so happened that a guy who went to Midwestern State with me went to the University of Texas dental branch in Houston, too. The first day of school he called me Bubba, and so that's how I was known in dental school for four years.

"After earning his doctorate two months ago, Nolen, who is 26, moved to Bedford and began practicing in Arlington.

"I felt certain that after I graduated from dental school and started my career, I would only be called Bubba by my closest friends, but the word is out. Last night, one of my colleagues had a party, and most of the office staff was there. I took my girlfriend to the party, and she called me Bubba. Everybody here has had a ball with that all day long."

"But Nolen isn't really upset that his girlfriend spilled the beans about Bubba.

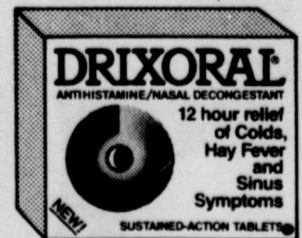

"I really don't like to be called Robert that much," he says. "Bubba's my name, and when somebody calls me Robert, I feel like they're not being personable with me. I like the name Bubba."

Feliz, Mashburn unite recently in California

The St. Francis Catholic Church in Bakersfield, Calif. was the scene of the July 28 wedding where Miss Maurine Elizabeth Feliz and Bruce Charles Mashburn exchanged double-ring wedding vows under the direction of Father Richard Urizalqui.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James Feliz of Bakersfield and Mr. and Mrs. Billy C. Mashburn of Iowa Park.

The altar decorations of the church were supplemented with a red velvet-cushioned kneeling bench, candles in votive cups, and two floral arrangements.

Vocal music for the wedding was provided by Miss Mary Feliz, sister of the bride, Miss Paula Mashburn, sister of the groom, and Miss Emily Thompson, cousin of the bride. Accompanied on the guitar by Miss Lisa Williams, they sang "You've Got a Friend" for a prelude number, "The Wedding Song" as the bride entered, and "Here I Am Lord," after the first reading. Continuing they sang "Theme from Ice Castles" after the couple exchanged rings and "You Fill Up My Senses" as the bride and groom left the church.

Special Bible passages selected by the bride and groom were read during the ceremony by Miss Vicki Feliz and Miss Laura Feliz, sisters of the bride.

The bride's father presented her for marriage. She wore a waltz length white nylon dress overlaid with lace designed with scoop neckline, angel sleeves and white satin sash. She wore a headpiece of white and lavender carnations, lavender orchids, baby's breath, lace tufts and bows.

The bride carried a bouquet created of white carnations, lavender orchids, baby's breath, white and lavender lace tufts and ribbon.

Miss Alice Thompson, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. She was attired in a lavender satin dress styled with sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves. She wore a hairpiece of lavender and white carnations and carried a smaller version of the bride's bouquet. Jane Feliz, sister of the bride, the flower girl, wore a street length lavender dress featuring a satin bodice overlaid with lace, a round collar and angel sleeves. She carried a basket filled with lavender orchids and baby's breath.

Vincent Feliz, brother of the bride, the ring bearer, carried a lace-trimmed white satin pillow and wore gray pants, white shirt, gray bow tie and a boutonniere of white carnations and baby's breath.

The groom and best man, James Brandon Jr., his cousin, wore gray tuxedos with vests, white shirts with wing-tipped collars and lavender bow ties. Their boutonnieres were composed of a white carnation and baby's breath, with greenery added to the groom's.

Mothers of the bride and groom complemented their dresses with lavender and white carnations, tufts of net and ribbon. Mrs. Feliz wore a street length orange linen dress with round collar, and Mrs. Mashburn wore a pink print street length dress with pink linen jacket.

The bouquets, corsages and boutonnieres for the wedding were made by Mrs. Joe Montez, cousin of the bride, and Jackie McNabb.

Ushers were Greg Feliz, Thomas Feliz, brothers of the bride, and Brian Brandon, cousin of the groom.

The bride's parents hosted an outdoors reception at their home following the wedding where canopies and quartet tables were set up. Each table was centered with fresh flowers in a bud vase. A long table held the punch, salads, turkey ham and nuts.

The bride and groom cut the three-tiered cake inside the house on a table laid with white linen. The cake was raised with tall columns above a water fountain and its height was increased with crystal posts that separated the tiers. The decorations featured cascades of lavender flowers, green bows, heavy scrolls and clusters of small flowers. The top ornament was the traditional bride and groom standing in a heart accented with tufts of lavender net and satin ribbon. The cake was served by Mrs. Joe Manteze and Miss Anna Toth, cousins of the bride.

White candles in hurricane globes trimmed with lavender bows and silver toasting glasses added bits of interest to the table.

A special out-of-town wedding guest was Mark Feliz of Michigan, the bride's brother.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner on the eve of the wedding at The Rice Bowl in Bakersfield.

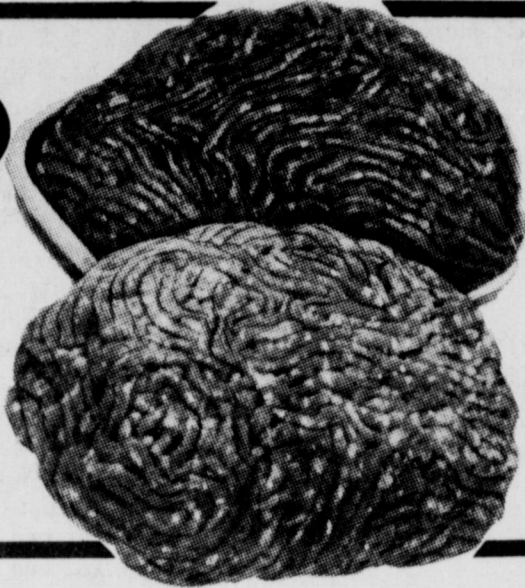

The bride was graduated from South High School in Bakersfield and from St. Mary's College at Los Angeles. She is employed as a registered nurse at Kern Medical Center in Bakersfield. The groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School and works for Timec Construction in Bakersfield, where they will live.

Jacobi, Dodd recite vows in Saturday morning rites

Wearing the beautiful gown her mother made and wore at her wedding 27 years ago, Miss Mary Theresa Jacobi was a nostalgic expression of summer beauty when she exchanged double-ring nuptial vows with David Michael Dodd Saturday morning at Fain Memorial Presbyterian Church in Wichita Falls.

Rev. Roger Dennis, Lutheran minister, officiated the ceremony reading verses from the Bible selected by the couple to unite the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Jacobi of Midwest City, Okla. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.O. Dodd of Iowa Park.

The gown of ivory taffeta was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline bordered with exquisite lace, short sleeves, fitted bodice that dipped in both front and back, a full skirt that lifted to achieve a bustle effect in the back, and a round train. Her complementary bridal illusion waist-length veil and blusher were secured to a camelot cap of lace and pearls.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses, phalaenopsis orchids with greenery. To keep traditions of the day, she wore pearl ear rings, a gift from the groom, for "something new;" her gown for "something old and something borrowed;" and a garter for the "something blue" addition.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

The altar decorations, appropriate for a morning wedding, consisted of two large pedestal arrangements of pink gladioli and lilac spider mums.

As guests entered the church, they were asked to sign the wedding book by Meredith Dodd, niece of the groom.

The wedding music provided by Dr. Ron Hogue, professor at music at Midwestern State Univ., organist, Doug Eastman and Lori Bland, vocalists, reflected aesthetic excellence. For the processional, the organist played "Praise to the Lord the Almighty," and as it ended the congregation sang the hymn. The operatic voices of the vocalists blended beautifully in a duet number of "Panis Angelicus," and the organist scanned the key boards from the highest note to the lowest in the finale which was "Fantasy of Holy, Holy, Holy," the recessional.

The bride was attended by her two sisters, Miss Karen Jacobi of Oklahoma City, the maid of honor, and Miss Elizabeth Jacobi of Midwest City, the bridesmaid. They wore lilac taffeta tea length dresses, cut just above the ankles with matching pumps. They carried bouquets of red roses, lilac pompons and deep purple statice.

The groom wore a grey tuxedo with white pleated shirt, grey satin bow tie and cummerbund and a red rose boutonniere. The best man, groomsman, ring bearer, ushers and fathers wore grey vested tuxedos with matching ties and variegated orchid pixie carnations boutonnieres.

Larry Dodd of Bloomington, Ind., brother of the groom, served as best man. Christopher Dodd, his nephew, was the ring bearer. Carl Pierce of Paris, uncle of the groom, was groomsman, and the ushers were Wendell Withrow of Dallas, Richard Jacobi of Edmond, Okla. and Robert Jacobi of Stillwater, Okla. the bride's brothers.

The pleasing touches to the dresses worn by mothers of the bride and groom for the wedding were dendrobium orchids in the bride's chosen color. Mrs. Jacobi wore a short formal dress designed with a bodice of ivory chiffon featuring sides that crossed over to form a V-shape neckline and connect at the waistline, and a beige/tan full skirt. Mrs. Dodd wore a short formal dress of pink Qiana styled with a natural waist bodice, square neck, sash at the waistline and full skirt. The dress was accented with a long sleeve jacket enhanced with tucks in the front and Venise lace trim.

The bride's parents hosted the postnuptial reception in the church hall where the Midwestern State Univ. faculty trio furnished classical piano, violin and cello music. The bride and groom and their parents formed the receiving line.

Decorations in the room featured the bouquets used in the nuptial setting and a garden area where the center of interest was a lilac vase, given to the couple as a wedding present, filled with silk dogwood.

The bride's table, groom's table and hors d'oeuvres table were covered with ivory satin cloths and perfect detail was accomplished in the designing of each table.

The bride's table was draped with grape ivy caught up with white bows and the greenery. An impressive three-tiered cake, candelabra centerpiece and silver punch service heightened the eye appeal of the table.

The white cake towered tall with two sets of Grecian pillars, each encircled with orchid frosting roses with mint green accent leaves which combined admirably with the scrollwork, lilies of the valley and a top tier adorned with a bouquet of the frosting roses. The four-branched silver candelabra was decked with a bouquet of white gladioli, carnations, mums and orchid roses. Other bits of table interest were the orchid napkins imprinted with "Mary and Michael, August 11, 1984," nuts, chocolate mints molded into mint green leaves, lilac and red roses.

During the reception, Miss Denise Tickner, Miss Sherri Firnberg, both of Dallas, Miss Dana Braddock from Norman, Okla. and Cindy Brosch Parker of Wichita Falls served at the bride's table.

The groom's table where Mrs. Larry Dodd of Bloomington, Ind., Mrs. Carl Pierce of Paris and Miss Leslie Pierce, sister-in-law, aunt and cousin of the groom, respectively, presided, was appointed with a double-layered chocolate cake decorated with orchid frosting roses, a silver coffee urn, and a hurricane globe candle arrangement.

Another table that held small sandwiches, assorted cheeses, crackers and fruit was centered with a large hurricane globe arrangement.

During the reception, the bridal attendants passed out the lilac satin roses filled with bird seed.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday at the Boston Tea Party.

The newlyweds departed from the reception in their wedding clothes. A dinner party was given later to honor them, their families, members of the wedding party and out-of-town wedding guests, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O.N. Newman.

The bride was graduated from Marietta, Okla. High School and received a B.A. degree from the Univ. of Oklahoma at Norman. She has taken graduate classes at the Univ. of Texas in Austin and had been employed as a news reporter for television station KAUZ.

The groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School. He received a B.A. degree from Austin College at Sherman, a master of divinity degree from Union Theological Seminary, New York City. He also received a bachelor of law degree from Texas Tech and a master of law degree from Georgetown Univ. He has been associated with O.N. Newman, local attorney.

The newlyweds are spending their honeymoon in Ocho Rios, Jamaica. They will move to Austin the first of September where he will be associated with Clark, Thomas and Winters, attorneys.

Cook of the Week

Iowa Park will be one family less in September, when the Phillip Corless family relocates to Seymour after 13 years here. But not before Mrs. Corless has the opportunity to share some of her recipes with fellow Leader readers.

Her husband, a retired Air Force management engineer, has accepted his first coaching position with the Panthers after completing degree requirements at Midwestern State University.

It won't be the first time Mrs. Corless has followed her husband, as his position in the service placed them in different spots around the globe, including Spain and Japan. The couple jokingly refer to their children as "two Spaniards, one American and one Japanese." Daughters Beth and Louann were born in Spain, Jodi in America, and Kelsy, the youngest, in Japan.

The couple relocated here from Japan after a five year stint in Tokyo, arriving in Texas in January of 1970. Soon to celebrate their 24th wedding anniversary, they are looking forward to the challenge which lies ahead. "We are accustomed to making friends, then leaving them for another place," she said. "It's always hard to leave, but we do our best to keep in touch."

Both were born and raised in Pennsylvania steel country, inhabited by the most varied nationalities in the country. Mrs. Corless said that proved to be an invaluable experience to her, sharing so many different styles of cooking with those she grew up with.

Moving out of the country furthered her experiences, not only in cooking, but in everyday customs and traditions of the countries they lived in.

"I would love to go back to Spain, it is a fantastic place with charming people," she related. "Also, to be in Tokyo was an overwhelming experience."

"The family unit in Japan is really a marvel, the respect they pay to elders is fantastic," she added.

One drawback to Japan, though, Tokyo in particular, is the mass of humanity, and the lack of a regulated highway system. One can see different modes of transportation ranging from animals to cars and trucks. Accidents on the streets of Tokyo are very frequent. "I learned to crochet while I was in Japan, just so I wouldn't have to look outside the window at the traffic," she recalled.

Also, with beef prices as high as $12 per pound, beef was rarely used, and mostly as flavoring for other, more accessible dishes.

The Spanish food, she said, was superb, tasting absolutely delicious. "We have talked of going back there for a week or two just to eat the food again," she commented.

So, in September, the Corless family will be making new friends in Seymour, with Corless teaching junior high history and coaching junior high and junior varsity football and basketball. They are wished the best of luck, and, at the same time, thanks to Mrs. Corless for sharing some of the recipes she has compiled in her already eventful travels.

Pesticides here to stay

By DAVID FINLEY
County Agent

No one really knows what would happen if farmers were denied the use of pesticides, but a number of agricultural experts have made some educated guesses. These scientists believe that without pesticides, the production of crops would decrease about 35 percent almost immediately, and livestock production would drop at least 25 percent. Even with currently available pesticides, losses in agricultural production and marketing caused by all kinds of pests are estimated at about $30 billion annually. Without these chemicals to protect crops, losses would have devastating consequences worldwide. Without pesticides, it is safe to say that we could not produce commercially many of the high-quality fruits and vegetables that we now find in abundance on grocery shelves. Pests not only adversely affect agricultural productivity, but they can also impair the health of humans and domestic and wild animals and damage the environment.

Pesticides are the only efficient means yet devised to control most public health pests. Scientists estimate that about 30 major human diseases have been reduced or eliminated altogether through the use of insecticides to control pests that carry or transmit disease-causing organisms. Among the diseases suppressed in worldwide campaigns are malaria, equine encephalitis, yellow fever, bubonic plague, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, African sleeping sickness and dengue fever. These major diseases are spread by mosquitoes, biting flies, fleas or ticks.

Quite obviously, the use of pesticides is necessary to aid in the production of food, feed and fiber. Pesticides are equally important in the control of home garden pests and pests of lawn, flowers, trees and shrubs. In the home they provide protection from pests such as termites, cockroaches and rats. We even use pesticides to control fleas, ticks, and other pests that attack our pets.

The correct use of pesticides is critical; too much of a chemical may damage or kill the plants (or animals) it was intended to protect; too little may not provide adequate control. Many desirable animals, fish, insects and birds can be harmed by the incorrect or careless use of pesticides. And, of course, people can be harmed by careless use of or accidental exposure to pesticides.

Pesticides are here to stay, but we must use them wisely, properly and safely.

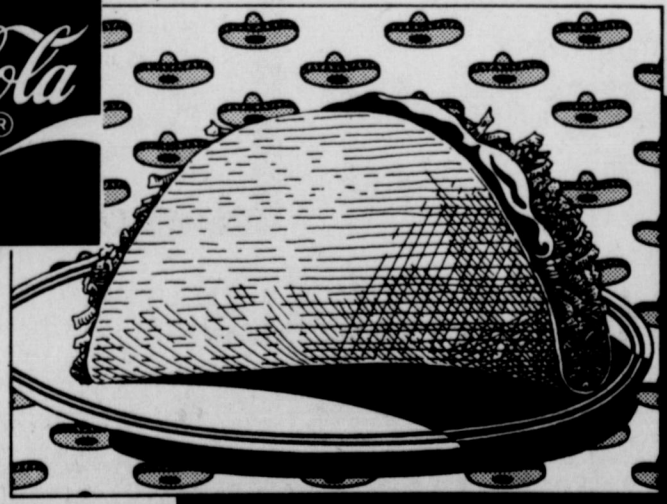

Brace yourself, Miss Balbricker - the boys are back!

Lynch, Bowling wedding held aboard yacht on lake

Following a wedding trip to Jamaica, Mr. and Mrs. Burle Olen Bowling, who were married recently on the Ad-Vance, a Cape Sory 28-foot yacht on Lake Ray Hubbard at Rockwall, are now at home in Garland. Rev. Larry Lea, pastor of the Church on the Rock at Rockwall, performed the ceremony in the presence of family members.

The bride is the former Alyssa Rebecca Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lynch of Carrollton, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bowling of Holliday.

Three yachts, all alike, carried wedding participants to the spot on the lake where the ceremony was performed. The groom, parents of the bride and groom, and Rev. and Mrs. Lea left the dock on the Ad-Vance. The bride and her three sisters, Misses Annie, Lanette and Serena Lynch, and her aunt, Jan Cline from Cedar Falls, Iowa, departed on the Vahalla, and the photographers rode to the site on the C-Shell.

A recording of "How Majestic Is Thy Name" was played as the bride boarded the Ad-Vance to exchange wedding vows with her betrothed. Her father gave her in marriage.

MR. AND MRS. BURLE OLEN BOWLING ... at Lake Ray Hubbard wedding.

Special music was provided by the minister, who sang a prayer song, and by Mrs. Lea who sang "The Wedding Song."

As the recessional tape started, pink rose petals fell from the top of the mast pole above the bride and groom.

The yachts were all decorated for the occasion. The decorations on Ad-Vance featured two large white papier mache bells and multiple smaller bells blowing in the morning breeze. A white feathered dove at the front of the boat appeared to be leading as it moved gracefully across the lake. A flag lettered "Mom" was flown especially for mothers of the bride and groom.

The bride chose a gown of white Schiffl embroidery featuring a fitted bodice with Victorian neckline with a ruffled yoke, puffed sleeves accented with double ruffles of lace, and A-line skirt. She wore an ankle length veil edged with pearls and carried a bouquet of pink roses, white lilies and stephanotis.

Following bridal traditions, she wore her mother's earrings for "something old;" her gown for "something new;" her veil for "something borrowed;" and a garter for "something blue."

The groom wore a white tuxedo with baby blue shirt and cummerbund, and a boutonniere of pink rosebuds and white stephanotis.

The mother of the bride wore a mauve silk Grecian style dress, and the groom's mother wore a light tan linen dress with full sleeves to the elbow and cuffed with ties at the wrists, contoured belt and full skirt. Both wore white orchids. The bride's father wore a cream-colored suit and the groom's father wore a tan suit. Both wore white stephanotis boutonnières.

A wedding reception was given by the bride's parents at their home in Carrollton. They were assisted by Misses Annie, Lanette and Serena Lynch.

The refreshment table was covered with white lace over white linen and centered with an arrangement of pink roses and white carnations. The three-tiered white cake was trimmed in traditional designs in pink and lavender and topped with white ceramic doves and a heart.

The table also held the crystal punch service, lavender napkins marked with names of the bride and groom and their wedding date, trays of fruit and finger sandwiches.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at Steak and Ale in Carrollton.

The bride was graduated from Newman Smith High School at Carrollton and Pacific Christian College at Fullerton, Calif. She is employed as a dental assistant in Dallas. The groom was graduated from Holliday High School. He attended Tarleton State Univ., Midwestern State Univ. and Texas State Technical Institute at Waco.

Trustees face budget session

The Holliday School Board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday to approve expenditures for the 1984-85 school year, and amend the 1983-84 budget, according to superintendent Dan Owen.

Finances has been a major consideration before the board this year, with trustees faced with the unwelcome task of possibly raising the tax rate by more than 10 percent to accommodate the new school reform bill, passed in a special session of the Texas Legislature.

In a mid-July called meeting of the board, Owen informed trustees that the state was funding approximately $100,000 less than anticipated for the coming school year.

The board will hear a report from the finance committee at the meeting, which has been meeting separately during the last two weeks to discuss ways to make up the anticipated loss of state funding.

Holliday News

Registration next week

Registration for Holliday junior high and high school students for the 1984-85 school year will take place next Wednesday and Thursday, with the first day of school Friday, Aug. 24, according to high school principal Bill Lee.

Lee said registration in grades eight through 12 pertains to all new and old students. Ninth and tenth graders will register Wednesday between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., while 11th and 12th graders register Thursday between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Students enrolling in grades kindergarten through eighth will not have to pre-register unless they are new students. New students can enroll on either Wednesday or Thursday between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

"Students will be allowed only five unexcused absences during the school year," Lee said. "The 24th, or the first day, counts in the overall absentee count, and students with more than five unexcused absences will automatically fail."

Lee said the first day Friday will begin at 8:10 a.m. and end at 2:30 p.m. Regular school hours will be 8:10 a.m. to 3:25 p.m., with buses running the same routes and time schedules as last year.

Kindergarten through sixth grade students will report to their homeroom Friday morning, junior high students are to report to the cafeteria, and high school students will meet in Erma Barton Auditorium.

Gospel meeting starts at Kamay

Newly-called pastor Charlie Terry will lead a three-day gospel meeting at the Kamay Church of Christ.

Meetings are to begin at 7:30 p.m. today, Friday and Saturday.

Our Average Payment Plan can help by "averaging out" your payments. You still pay for all the electricity you use, and your payments will still vary from month to month. However, in high-use months you pay for less electricity than you use, and in low-use months you pay for more.

Average Payment can help smooth out high summer electric bills. It's available to both residential customers and churches. If you'd like to know more, give us a call.
