CARLTON HICKS

Jack of all trades and hero to boot

By BOB HAMILTON

Carlton Hicks is one you would call a "jack of all trades." He knows a lot about numerous fields of work. And although some of the fields are completely unrelated, his knowledge of them comes from actual work experience.

Hicks for the past decade has instructed the General Construction class at Iowa Park Junior High School.

But over the years, he's done about everything from plowing to flying, military service to teaching, oil field work to railroad.

Hicks quips about having held dozens of jobs, but quickly points out he was fired from only one.

Born 1924 at Prairie Lee, in the Central Texas county of Caldwell, (Between San Marcus and Luling) Hicks was the fifth of 13 children and says he was "... raised by the greatest parents in the world."

His father worked in the oil field near Luling. Times were hard, during those depression years. The family had to move often, wherever work could be found.

Like thousands of young men in those days, Hicks was unable to find a regular job after he got out of school, and in 1941 he was fortunate enough to get on with the CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps, a federally-funded work program for the unemployed).

His contract time with the CCC played out in July of 1942, and in November he volunteered for the Army Air Corps. He attended glider training school at Sheppard Air Base and 23 months later went into an advanced program in North Carolina. The training led to the 1944 invasion of Burma, after which the glider program was discontinued.

It was in that Far East country that he was seriously injured. He doesn't remember anything about the incident other than being in a truck with other soldiers. There was either an accident or the vehicle was hit by a shell or ran over a mine. Whatever happened injured him seriously enough in the arm and leg that four surgeries were required, and months more recuperation in hospitals in the United States before he was discharged in 1946.

He re-enlisted in 1947 until 1949 as a flight engineer. It was during that period he flew on a cargo plane and took part in "Operation Haylift," during which the Air Force dropped hay to cattle stranded in pastures of Nebraska and Kansas by a severe and long-lasting blizzard.

Taking his discharge in El Paso, he opened an automobile repair garage in that city.

But that didn't last long, and he went to work for Pacific Route Express, maintaining ice and salt houses all up and down Southern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads. "Two weeks anyplace was a long stay in those days," he commented.

His next job took him to San Antonio, near his childhood stomping grounds. Working for Russell Dusting Co., a crop dusting and spraying business, it was his responsibility to line up work for the pilots, and did a lot of the flying himself.

Following the seasonal work, his job took him north, to Grandfield, Okla. It was there, that he met and married his wife, Shirley, in 1951. "That ended the flying," he recalls.

The following year the couple moved to Iowa Park, where Hicks went to work for Barbour Trucking Co. as a driver. He held on that job until 1955, when he moved to Bowie to drive for E.W. Moran.

It was the Moran job that he lost when he was fired. He miscalculated the height of an overpass and wedged an oversize load under the structure.

From Bowie, he moved back to San Antonio, where he drove a city bus about a year, then returned to Iowa Park and another job with Barbour's.

Leaving Barbour's, he drove a truck for Perkins-Prothro.

His last job in the oil field was with Spruiell Drilling Co.

Hicks began work as a heavy equipment operator for Wichita County and left that job to work two years in the Iowa Park street department.

His next job was with Serv-Air, an aircraft maintenance firm. He was a crew chief, working on craft used for German pilot training at Sheppard AFB.

In January of 1968, he went to Vietnam as a civilian. Dian-Electron hired him as a helicopter flight control instructor and test crew.

He returned after six and a half months, and went to work for Crawford Painting and Dry Wall. His wife, Shirley, is still employed by the firm as secretary.

Hicks went to work for the Iowa Park school system in 1970, in the maintenance department. General Construction was initiated in the 1972-73 school year, and he was called on to take that position. He used the skills learned from his father when the elder Hicks worked in construction between oil patch jobs. Other training had come in the CCC, his work with the railroad, with Crawfords, and a sideline profession of building cabinets.

He continues his sideline cabinet work. He and junior high coach Bob Gray have a well-equipped shop in the south part of town, and they have a six-month backlog of orders, primarily because of the quality of their cabinets.

HICKS IS HERO

In August of 1954, while still employed by Barbour's, Hicks received the "Driver of the Month" award from the Texas Motor Transportation Association.

City, school attention turns to budgeting

Facing new fiscal years, budgeting will be major topics for both the city council and school board at their regularly-scheduled meetings next week.

The council is to meet at 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers. School trustees have one meeting slated at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, and another at 8:30 that same evening.

Trustees are to hold a special work session on the new budget at 7:30 this evening in the administration building.

The two-meeting schedule for board members is for the purpose of holding a required budget hearing and adopting the new budget at the earlier meeting. Then, in the later meeting, certifying of the tax rolls and adoption of a tax rate will be accomplished, along with a lengthy list of other topics.

The agenda for the 8:30 meeting includes:

- * consider school depository contract;
- * release bond on former tax collector Bill Steger and accept new bond for Allen Shewmake, who now holds that position;
- * certify the tax roll;
- * establish tax rate for 1983-84;
- * accept contract with delinquent tax lawyer;
- * act on bids to sell school properties;

- * act on bids to purchase gasoline for coming year;
- * discuss sale of buses and other vehicles;
- * act on free and reduced lunch price schedule and prices for meals;
- * act on bids for purchase of milk, bread, ice cream;
- * discuss closing street on junior high campus;
- * set date to amend 1982-83 budget;
- * personnel - elect new personnel, accept resignations, act on reassignments and salary adjustments.

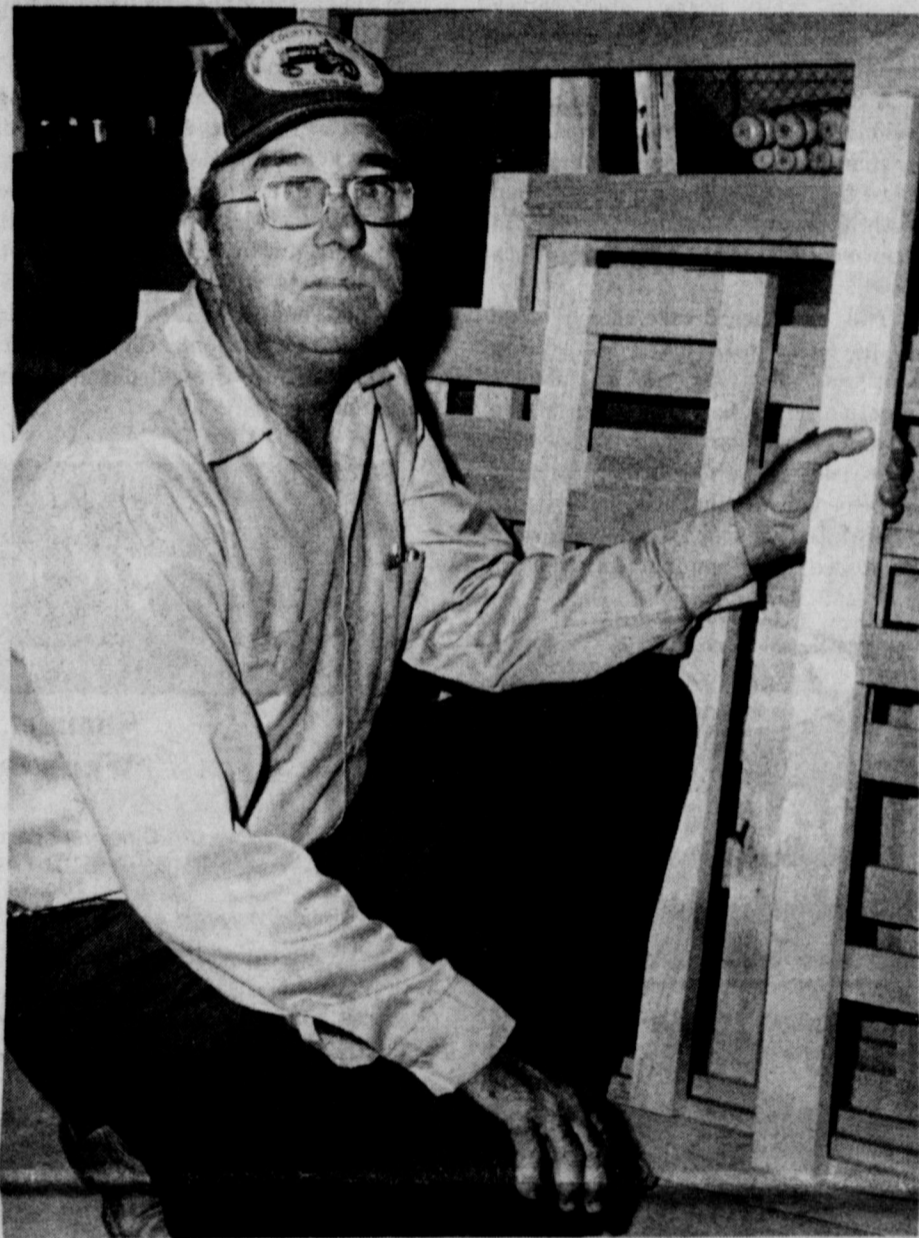

CITY'S AGENDA

City aldermen will hold a public hearing on revenue sharing funds for the coming year and also hold a budget workshop.

An ordinance will be considered abolishing the library board, which is no longer needed now that the non-profit Friends of the Library has been organized to handle that function, according to James Barrington, administrator.

Bids for purchasing two different types of equipment will be considered. One set of bids will be for equipment to connect with the Department of Public Safety computers. The other is for a public address system for council chambers.

Also on the agenda is a discussion of a possible location for a fire department substation in the south part of the city.

CARLTON HICKS POSES WITH CABINET FRAMES ... he's finally settled down with two jobs.

Neighbors banding together in organization

The Neighborhood Watch Program is getting underway with several neighborhoods already organized to combat residential burglaries.

The 500 and 700 blocks of West Texas Street had their organizational meeting last week, selected their block captains, and collected funds for the neighborhood watch signs.

The West Texas Street block captains include: Jim and Jan Clapp, 500 block; Connie Dunlap, 600 block; and Deane Landrum, 700 block. Mrs.

Jack Homestead was the overall organizer. Money was collected to place neighborhood watch signs at the junction of West Texas and North Pacific Avenue and West Texas and Third Street.

The first to be organized was the Shiloh neighborhood. Block captains include Ralph Finney on Yucca, Charlie Lee on Wagon Wheel, and Robert and Mary Pancoast on Surrey. This neighborhood plans to place five watch signs in the neighborhood. These watch signs will be bolted to the post of already-existing street signs.

West Rebecca is scheduled to have their organizational meeting at 8 p.m., Friday, Aug. 12, in a grassed waterway area in the middle of the 600 block of West Rebecca. Estel and Teresa Jameson will be the block captains for the 600 block of West Rebecca. Block captains are being recruited for the 500 and 700 blocks.

The neighborhood watch signs are aimed at warning would-be burglars. The neighborhood has a watch program where neighbors are watching the area for strange cars, people, or situations. Participants will summon police when unusual situations develop.

The watch program is not an organized group of vigilantes trying to make citizens arrests. Rather it is neighbor helping neighbor to protect their property. Decals are being obtained to put on the doors of the neighborhood watch areas as further warning to would be burglars that the house is being watched.

Tom Finley, Iowa Park police chief, is arranging for neighborhood watch signs and home decals.

The Van Horn neighborhood is in the process of organizing the watch program. Leo Fletcher, neighborhood watch leader, met with the families on Van Horn at a Monday evening meeting. Their block captains are being selected.

Quick-lift tire

Someone made a quick lift of a tire from a vehicle parked at Allsup's Wednesday of last week.

Karl Edward Woodall told police he was parked only six minutes, 8:32-8:38 p.m., and a 15-inch tire was taken. It was valued at $70, according to the report.

It's warm enough for two-a-day workouts

It's a standing joke among athletes, that as soon as it gets hot enough, two-a-day workouts for football get underway.

Well, the temperature has been peaking well above 100 the past two weeks, and Iowa Park High footballers yesterday were issued their helmets, shoes and socks to begin working on their own.

Monday, the two-a-days get underway.

All candidates for the three high school football teams and coaches are to meet at 8 a.m. Monday, according to Head Hawk David Baugh. The first practice will get underway at 9 a.m.

Varsity and junior varsity practices will be held from 9 to 11 each weekday morning and 5-7 in the evenings.

Freshmen will work out at 8 every morning.

The first Saturday (Aug. 13), Baugh has scheduled an intersquad scrimmage.

Jacksboro will be here for a scrimmage the evening of the 18th, and the teams are tentatively scheduled to go to Olney the following week to scrimmage the Cubs.

Junior high footballers will receive their equipment and workout schedule the first day of school.

IN BOWL GAMES

Six area footballers play this weekend

Iowa Park and Holliday football fans will be traveling Friday and Saturday to watch their athletes compete in two different all-star games.

The 34th annual Greenbelt Bowl Classic will kick off at 7:30 tomorrow evening in Clarendon, while the 46th annual Oil Bowl will get underway at 8 p.m. Saturday in Wichita Falls.

Marc Klinkerman will be representing Iowa Park and Jett Belcher Holliday in the Greenbelt. Klinkerman is a quarterback and defensive secondary, while Belcher is a fullback and linebacker.

Four area players will be competing in the Oil Bowl, to be played in Memorial Stadium. Two are from Iowa Park and two from Holliday.

Former Hawk stars invited to compete in the game against all-stars from Oklahoma are lineman Steve Stewart and fullback/linebacker Paul Rogers.

Holliday's big tight end Kevin Blankenship has been joined by all-stater Harold Parsons, guard-tackle, who received a late invitation to participate.

One of the three Texas coaches is Iowa Park's David Baugh.

Aulds pioneered Greenbelt Bowl

Kickoff of the Greenbelt Bowl tomorrow night in Childress brings back fond memories to at least one Iowa Parkan.

Keith Aulds pioneered the classic. He represented Chillicothe in the inaugural contest in 1950, playing guard on both offense and defense.

"They were just kinda feeling their way with that first game," he recalls. "They've improved it a lot over the years and it's really something to watch nowadays."

THE WINNER - Sheryl Pulley, Wal-Mart shoe department clerk, shows her check for being chosen first place in Friday's town-wide Crazy Day costume contest. Chamber President Linda Merrick couldn't stop laughing at her reversed style. Second place went to pharmacist L.W. Teel, of Park Pharmacy, and third place was also given to a Wal-Mart employee, Paul Whipple.

Whitaker, Swanson vows are solemnized

The natural beauty and freshness of the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Crawford Sr. provided an ideal setting for a wedding ceremony Saturday evening when their granddaughter, Miss Ami Annette Whitaker, became the bride of Thomas Michael Swanson. Dr. Sandy Sandlin, pastor of Faith Baptist Church in Wichita Falls, officiated the double-ring service.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Whitaker of Kamay and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Styles of Wichita Falls, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Swanson of Electra.

The bride entered through a double row of hurricane lamps linked with gold chains to stand with her betrothed before an archway decorated with fresh lavender gladiolus and greenery for recitation of vows. Flanking the archway were brass stands holding baskets of lavender and white poms, stock and spider mums. Hanging floral bird cages filled with spring flowers, clay and lavender pots filled with lavender azaleas placed at vantage points in the nuptial area lent decorative interest and complemented the abundance of blooming flowers, trees and shrubs in the well landscaped and groomed garden.

Miss Linda Krottinger provided the wedding music for the service at the instrument set in the midst of swan planters and garden barrels filled with blooming geraniums. Her prelude selections included "Toccata in F Major," "Processional of Joy," "Prelude in F Major," "Voluntary and Fugue in C," "Festal March," "Rondia," and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." She played the traditional compositions of Wagner and Mendelssohn for the wedding marches.

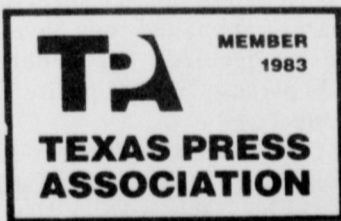

The bride was an enchanting picture in a summery white silk organza gown designed with a sweetheart neckline enhanced with rich Venise lace which was repeated on the bodice to accentuate its beauty. The off-the-shoulder sleeves were adorned with dainty appliques of small white organza flowers and a large organza bow added glamor to the back of the gown. The billowy skirt that swirled into a chapel train bordered with Venise lace was generously showered with the appliqued flowers.

Her shoulder length bridal illusion veil was attached to a novel floral wreath created of white silk flowers touched with lavender accents in

Genealogical group to meet tonight

The North Texas Genealogical and Historical Association will meet at 7:30 this evening in the Midwestern State Univ. library.

The program will be a guided tour of the library's family research materials. The meeting is open to the public.

MRS. THOMAS M. SWANSON

keeping with her chosen colors. The perfecting look to the bride's costume was her cascade bouquet fashioned of three white phalaenopsis orchids, lavender and white-toned orchids, asteria lilies and baby's breath.

To add special sentiment for the "something old" tradition, she wore a pin that had been worn by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. W.T. Crawford Sr. on her wedding gown. Tucked away in the bride's bouquet was a handkerchief monogrammed with the couple's name and wedding date, a gift from her cousin Mona Miley, for "something new." She completed the rhyme by wearing her mother's pearl necklace and earrings for "something borrowed," a blue ribbon on her petticoat for "something blue," and a penny, given to her by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Catlin, in her shoe.

Miss Mona Miley, cousin of the bride, participated in the wedding as maid of honor. She was attired in a formal lavender taffeta gown that featured an off-the-shoulder ruffle that extended to the waist where it was caught to a self-made bow. The fashionable look of the gown was completed with a tulip skirt. She carried a teardrop bouquet featuring white gladiolus, purple statice, velvet tubing, baby's breath and leather fern.

Julie Pond and Jason Pond of Seymour, cousins of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively, in the wedding. She wore an airy lavender frock featuring a white eyelet pinafore accented with lavender violets and carried a white straw basket trimmed with lavender bows filled with rose petals from the Crawford garden. He wore a navy blue suit and carried a white satin ring pillow.

The groom wore a lavender phalaenopsis orchid and baby's breath boutonniere with his navy pin-striped suit. He was attended by his father as best man. Ushers were Foy Whitaker, brother of the bride, and Jeff Nolen of Arlington, her cousin.

The wedding reception was held in the area around the pool lighted by votive candles in floating lily pads. A focal point of interest in the area was a gazebo decorated in festive array with hanging baskets of Boston fern, English ivy and baby's breath and the front was marked with large wicker wedding bells trimmed with white bows. Hanging baskets of flowers duplicating those in the nuptial space and a wooden fence draped with lavender and white satin centered with a large white bow added further bits of interest to the reception place.

The bride's table was draped with lavender satin overlaid with white lace accented with a matching swag caught with lavender satin bows and white wedding bells, and held a wonderland of beauty provided through the brass and silver appointments, lavender imprinted napkins, fruit punch and cake.

A brass candelabrum in the center held a fresh floral arrangement of agapanthus, daisy poms and carnations from which English ivy studded with lavender zinnias extended to encircle the cake and silver punch bowl.

The three-tiered cake that blended so perfectly with a garden setting was as satisfying as an artist's creation on canvas. The sides of the layers were garnished with gum paste roses, petunias, bridal trumpets azaleas and stephanotis in lavender and white tones and the flowers were clustered in a bouquet for the top ornamentation. Miss Dedia Cadle and Miss Angela Muir served the heavenly morsel and Miss Missy Adams served the punch.

The registry and hors d'oeuvres tables were draped with lavender satin and lace. The fingerfoods table also held fruit baskets and midget puffs and a fresh arrangement of agapanthus, daisy poms and carnations.

Miss Connie Fitzgerald presided at the wedding book, and Miss Jennifer Parker and Miss Ann Kelly served at the hors d'oeuvres table.

When the bride and groom departed from the reception to start their wedding trip to Hawaii, she was wearing a smart black jumpsuit accented with a white belt. They will live in Electra when they return. She was graduated from Rider High School and he was graduated from Electra High School. He works for TS&T Drilling and Swanson Oil Co.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Kiva Inn.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Crawford Sr., other special wedding guests were Mrs. O.L. Swanson of Wichita Falls, grandmother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ogle and Mr. and Mrs. M.G. Cogdell, grandparents of the bride. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thomas of Levelland, David Thomas of Oklahoma City, and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Crawford and Kevin of Henderson.

Lindsay Janette was born at 2:20 a.m. July 23 in Wichita General Hospital and weighed eight pounds, 11 ounces.

Parents of the new daughter, as well as of son Philip Jason, are Mr. and Mrs. Wendall House.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne House and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Spruiell. Great-grandmothers are Mrs. Ruth Mulhauser of Iowa Park and Mrs. W.J. Edwards of Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bottles have announced the July 15 birth of Stephanie Renee, weighing six pounds, seven ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bottles and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Phillips, all of Iowa Park.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hail and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips, all of Iowa Park, Beula Cromwell and Francis Scharf, both of Corydon, Ind. Jessie Hail of Iowa Park is the baby's great-great-grandmother.

Announce engagement

The parents of Miss Jill Koonce are announcing her engagement and pending marriage to Zack Sanford Guthrie.

Miss Koonce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Koonce, and Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Guthrie of Wichita Falls, are to wed at 3:30 p.m. Aug. 13 in Highland Heights Christian Church in Wichita Falls.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Iowa Park High School and will receive her bachelor's degree in education from Midwestern State Univ. next spring. She is currently employed by Koonce Oil Co.

Mikkelson, Davis wedding held in Wichita Falls

The Victorian-style candlelight silk organza gown embellished with Alencon lace and pearls worn over peau de soie that Miss Dana K. Mikkelson chose to wear Saturday evening when she became the bride of Charles Michael Davis captured the mood of old-fashioned elegance. The gown lent itself to the atmosphere of the historical Kell House in Wichita Falls where the wedding was officiated by Gary Lyles, a lay minister.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vern Mikkelson and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davis.

The sidewalk leading to the entrance of the Kell House was lighted with hurricane lamps. The two fireplaces in the entry were trimmed with English ivy. Guests registered at an antique marble-topped table in the foyer where the book was placed with a candlelight plume pen tipped in yellow and a bud vase holding yellow silk roses and orchid forget-me-nots. Mrs. Buddy Bridwell directed their signatures.

The bride descended the staircase entwined with English ivy that extended downward to yellow bows with orchid streamers with her father. He escorted her into the parlor where the couple exchanged their vows and presented her in marriage for her parents. The ceremony took place before the fireplace decorated with candlelight carnations touched with yellow and orchid accents. The piano was ornamented with an antique gold cherubim holding a crystal bowl of white cushion mums, yellow roses and orchid almond blossoms.

The music for the wedding was furnished by Mrs. Michael Sargent, pianist, and Miss Gala Mikkelson of Gainesville, sister of the bride, flautist. For pre-nuptial selections, they played "Brian's Song," "If," "You Light Up My Life," "Theme from Ice Castles," "Endless Love," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." Mrs. Sargent played the time-honored marches for the entrance and exit of the wedding party.

The bride presented a lovely picture in her nostalgic gown designed with a waist that dipped in both front and back. A stand-up collar trimmed with Alencon lace threaded with candlelight satin ribbon, a sheer illusion yoke centered with an appliqued lace design, let of mutton sleeves, the upper part accented with tiny bows created special waist interest. The Victorian look of the bridal gown was enhanced in the full skirt deftly trimmed with the lace and pearl ornamentation featuring a wide hemline lace flounce that extended into a chapel train.

For her charming headdress, the bride wore a fingertip imported illusion veil bordered in wide Alencon lace with blusher gathered to a Juliet cap of lace appliques sprinkled with pearls. She carried a crescent-shaped silk bouquet of white cushion mums, yellow roses and carnations, orchid forget-me-nots and English ivy.

For "something old," the bride carried a sterling silver pin tucked in her bouquet, a piece of jewelry that belonged to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Quincy Rose of Oklahoma City. Keeping other traditions, she carried an antique handkerchief that had originally belonged to her matron of honor's great-grandmother for "something borrowed," wore her gown and a garter for the "something new" and "something blue" sentiments.

MRS. CHARLES MICHAEL DAVIS

The couple's wedding invitations and announcements will be a special remembrance of the day and scene since they were engraved on Kell House stationery.

Mrs. Roger York served as the bride's matron of honor. She wore a yellow chiffon gown over peau de soie that conformed to the style and taste of the Victorian period. It was patterned with an off-the-shoulder ruffle, fitted waist, flared skirt that terminated in a hemline flounce that lifted in the back to give a bustle effect. She carried a silk bouquet of yellow-centered white ginstra, yellow roses and orchid forget-me-nots complemented with yellow and orchid streamers.

The groom wore a tan tuxedo with a cowl collar, satin lapels, yellow shirt with matching trim and bow tie. His boutonniere was formed of a yellow rose and baby's breath.

Terry E. Davis, the groom's brother, who attended him as best man, wore a dark brown tuxedo with yellow shirt, and fathers of the couple wore tan shirts with their dark brown tuxedos.

Mrs. Mikkelson, mother of the bride, wore a long orchid chiffon sleeveless gown over peau de soie trimmed with gold beads and white pearls at the scoop neck and waitline, the trim being repeated on the cuffs of the long-sleeved jacket.

Mrs. Davis, the groom's mother, was attired in a light blue polyester knit gown styled with a slightly raised waist and pleated skirt. Venise lace edged the draped front and back neckline that created a cape effect.

Both wore shoulder corsages of yellow carnations and baby's breath.

The charm of yesteryear was felt with a lingering appeal at the wedding reception hosted by the bride's parents at the Kell House. The bride's table drew special admiration from the guests. It was draped to the floor with white pleated satin accented with candlelight swags at the top and adorned with a silver candelabrum, napkins and cake.

The candelabrum in the center held a bouquet of white cushion mums, yellow roses and orchid forget me nots. The three-tiered candlelight cake towering tall with two sets of Grecian pillars was a sophisticated triumph that dazzled the guests. The decorations were a delightful combination of yellow frosting roses and sculptured designs climaxed with a top piece of yellow silk roses and orchid forget me nots.

The yellow napkins were accented with doves holding two hearts and "Dana-Michael, July 30, 1983" in gold. Mrs. Darwin Wooten and Mrs. Billy Gilmore presided at the bride's table during the reception.

Mrs. Vern Horsky served at the silver punch service at a table in an alcove draped like the bride's table.

The groom's table in the dining room where Mrs. Jim Virgin and Mrs. David Ross, sister of the groom served, was covered with brown pleated satin and held a double-ring chocolate cake, silver coffee service and assorted hors d'oeuvres.

During the reception, pot pourri bells and "perfect match" books were given to guests to keep as fond memories of the wedding.

The groom's parents gave the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at K Bob's.

The newlyweds are now honeymooning in Vail, Colo. and they will live in Iowa Park when they return. Both were graduated from Iowa Park High School and she was graduated from Midwestern State Univ. where she belonged to Alpha Chi and was Phi Sigma Kappa Little Sister. She is a registered radiographer at Bethania Hospital. The groom is a student at MSU and works for Cryovac.

Mrs. Faye Hobbs of Iowa Park, Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Davis of Olney, the groom's grandparents, were special guests. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rushton of Oklahoma City were among out-of-town guests.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Put a great big feather in the cap of the Iowa Park Police Department, and especially two officers, Tommy Adams and J.W. Barker.

Our lead story in last week's issue, concerning the breaking of that theft ring in Burkburnett which involved an Iowa Park home, was a really major happening. And you can credit those two officers for it.

First of all, immediately after the theft from Walter Griffin's home information describing the items was put out to area law enforcement officers. It was that information which led to Deputy Sheriff Claude Morrow's recognition of two pieces from the Griffin home.

Adams and Barker were notified by the county office when the lead was established, and they participated in questioning the initial suspect in Wichita Falls.

With information learned from the questioning, they went to Burkburnett, sought and received cooperation from that police department, obtained search warrants and discovered not only most of the Griffin property but items from almost 30 burglaries in Burkburnett.

Adams and Barker devoted almost 50 hours overtime on the case.

They already deserve a big thanks from Iowa Parkers. And if the work is out among other thieves that it doesn't pay to do business in this community, we can't thank them enough.

Do you suppose Texas Football magazine would have placed the Hawks any higher in the pre-season district rankings if the editors had known we have two starters back from last year, instead of one?

The magazine article credited Greg Untalan as the only returning starter, and completely ignored starting center Craig Whisnand.

The Leader is initiating something new next week, with the hope it will be of assistance both to our businesses and local residents.

"EARLY ADViser" will provide first-of-the-week shopping information, and you will receive it each Monday.

Exclusively advertising, the ADViser will be mailed to all Leader subscribers, at no expense, and also be placed in the stores, free to the public.

We hope you will like the ADViser and use it.

Hicks

taken from the Steering Wheel, official publication of the TMTA:

"H.C. Hicks of the Barbour Trucking Co. has been named Texas Motor Transportation Association's 'Driver of the Month' for September. He earned the honor with a daring rescue.

"An early morning fire in a residence near Hicks' home in Iowa Park claimed the life of a six-year-old girl and resulted in critical burns for her father.

"Robert M. Miller collapsed in the flaming home while attempting to save his daughter. Hicks braved the blaze to carry Miller to safety, saw his efforts rewarded when Miller was recently released from the hospital after treatment for third degree burns."

FREDDYE SKINNER

Iowa Parkan has a fun job

By DEE L. FOWLER

Freddie (Mrs. Luther) Skinner is one example of a successful modern day lady.

She is the director of the Youth Center at Sheppard Air Force Base. In keeping with the modern day trend, she is the first woman to hold this position at Sheppard. Mrs. Skinner says she started at the bottom 21 years ago and never dreamed she would be in this position today.

She says in regard to her job, "I have done just about everything at one time or another. Sometimes I even helped the janitor, or just whatever needed to be done."

Now Freddie's the boss! She has a staff of six people and she says they are super and make her job easier. A job such as Freddie's requires a knack and a love for young people, for which she is well qualified.

Mrs. Skinner plans all social and recreational activities for ages six to 18. She organizes all Little League programs and also orders all equipment. The coaches are all volunteers, and even though Freddie has a very full schedule, she still tries to attend all special games. She says "the kids kinda expect it, and it means a lot to them."

Freddie is a very professional person and takes her job very seriously. The center is open to all youth of the military, and it is her job to keep things running smoothly at all times. When it comes to business, she has to make financial reports and make time in her busy schedule for board meetings. She says a 60-hour week is not unusual.

When Freddie was asked how she developed an interest in this sort of job she says she and her husband were always involved in their children's activities when they were growing up, particularly Scouting. So she just continued.

With a great deal of enthusiasm she says "It was all voluntary then and I enjoyed it. I still enjoy it and now I get paid for having all that fun." Freddie says the discipline problems are few because of military up-bringing.

In the social department, Freddie is a lady of many talents. She is busy career-wise but she still has time for her church and friends. For many years she has been involved in planning and decorating for the various social functions at the Church of God where she attends.

She gives Luther a lot of credit here. He sets everything up for her, and she does the fun part. She says he knows exactly where everything goes he has helped her so often.

Freddie is called on many times to plan the decor and the entertainment for Sunday School parties, and they are always a success. There is a special little room at the church that houses many decorations for parties, showers, weddings etc. Many of these were purchased at special times by Freddie and donated to the church for future use.

She gives an account of a wedding bell that she purchased about 25 years ago for a young lady's wedding. That bell is still there and used quite frequently, Freddie says, "with just a touch of fresh flowers, it is still as beautiful as ever."

The Skinners have lived in Iowa park 37 years. They have three married children and three grandchildren.

Freddie says now that the children are gone she is doing some fun things she never had time for before. This includes latch-hook rugs. She says "I am really hooked on those."

It seems though that her very favorite thing to do is to sit down at the organ and play for her own enjoyment. She says many times she sits down and plays just a few minutes before going to work and this helps her unwind.

The thing that stands out most about Freddie Skinner is that she believes in giving of herself. Whether it is at her job or socially, she goes all-out to make an event successful and enjoyable for all of the participants.

Griffith anniversary marked by reunion

A reception for Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Griffith Sunday afternoon transpired into a "mini family reunion."

The event was held in the Fountain Gate Apartment Club Room in Wichita Falls. The honored guests were married Aug. 2, 1958 in Wichita Falls, and now have two sons, Johnny of Iowa Park and Mark of Corpus Christi.

Decorations on the main table, using a pink and burgundy theme, consisted of a floral arrangement, cake decorated with pink roses and English ivy, silver coffee service and a silver punch bowl which was a present from family members.

Hostesses were Frances Lenox, Jimmie Griffith and Mrs. Greg McLaughlin. Serving were Shirley Stewart, Mrs. Harold White and Mrs. Jim Caldwell.

The registration table, which held a 25th anniversary book, was adorned with silver candlesticks with pink candles and a silver framed invitation.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Al Benglort and family of Gainesville; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Monaghan of Burkburnett and Barbara Morgan and family of Washington D.C.

Epsilon Eta holds social

The Epsilon Eta summer social was held Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Shaw. Mrs. Roy Johnson, social chairman, made the arrangements.

Registration forms for the state board and seminar meetings Aug. 13-14 in Amarillo were distributed by Mrs. Bill Hrnecirik, president. At the meeting, Mmes. Hrnecirik and Shaw will present a seminar on child finger printing.

First meeting of the new year will be Sept. 6, with Mmes. Bill Stegall and Shawn Smith as hostesses.

Others attending Saturday's event were Mssrs. and Mmes. Phil McDonald, Donnie Taylor, Deryl Gunderson, Charles Dudley and David Parkey.

Obituaries

Oscar Conway

Funeral services for Oscar Conway, 73, of Holliday will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in Owens & Brumley Funeral Home in Wichita Falls. Rev. Mike Gresham, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Holliday, will officiate.

Born July 12, 1910, in Bonita, Conway was a retired farmer. A resident of Holliday the past 14 years, he died Tuesday in a Wichita Falls hospital.

Survivors include his wife, Dorothy, of Holliday; three sons, Claude and Robert, both of Holliday, and Joe of Odessa; two daughters, Eloise Kindle and Shirley Sims, both of Odessa; three brothers, Roy of Bonita, Clyde of Kamay and Stanley of Holliday; two sisters, Anna Mae Stanford of Clovis, N.M., and Gladys Woods of Holliday; 17 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Phone bills different

Beginning with bills dated July 25, Iowa Park customers of Southwestern Bell will notice a difference in their monthly telephone statements.

Community relations manager Dan Adams explained that Southwestern Bell and AT&T are conducting a trial which will assist both companies in learning how best to handle long distance billing after the companies are separated in January.

Customers will see the long distance portions of their bills split into two parts, Adams said. One part will cover calls which will be handled by Southwestern Bell after the January divestiture. He explained that for customers in this area Southwestern Bell will handle only long distance calls within the basic geographical area bounded by Childress, Bowie, Graham and Jacksboro. For information or questions regarding these calls customers will continue to call the Southwestern Bell business office number which will be shown on that portion of the bill.

Adams explained that calls to other states and calls to points within the State of Texas outside of the Childress, Bowie, Graham and Jacksboro geographical area will be included in a separate part of the bill and will be handled by AT&T. Questions concerning these calls should be directed to the toll free number shown on those pages of the statement.

On bills dated July 27 and thereafter in 1983, Adams advised customers to be sure to call the office number shown on that portion of the bill in order to obtain prompt handling and the desired information on questions regarding long distance calls. He said that this trial will benefit the company in determining how best to handle it's new environment and help introduce customers to the ways of the future.

MISSING ANY PIECES?

Did you ever labor hours over a puzzle only to find that one of the pieces was missing? That's frustrating!

Sometimes life can be like that. You work, raise a family, go on vacations, see your friends, join clubs - yet something is lacking. You may want this or that, but this or that proves not to be it.

One day some people talked to Jesus about their need for food and clothing, and all that those things symbolized. He said it's a matter of perspective. Seek first things first. Don't mistake luxuries for necessities. Only in Him is Life whole and complete. He came to show us how Life fits together.

Cook of the Week

Several factors have contributed to the cooking habits of this week's cook, Mrs. John L. "Cherie" Warnock.

Raised in the Big Horn Basin of Wyoming, Mrs. Warnock says she learned to cook "as soon as I could walk," adding that her cooking skills were constantly measured by five hungry brothers.

"In Wyoming we cooked a lot of meats from wild animals, including bear, elk, deer, and antelope," she reminisces. Two other contributing factors included her German and Mormon heritage, which meant being strongly self-supportive for much of the family's foodstuffs.

Remembering back, Mrs. Warnock describes a smoke house where her father made sausage, cutting ice blocks from the Big Horn River to use throughout the summer months, and growing fresh vegetables on their land. "We purchased very little from the stores then, only sugar and flour," she says.

The couple are both experienced teachers, with her husband currently teaching at Rider High School and Midwestern State Univ. in Wichita Falls.

The Warnocks refurbished the old George home extensively before moving to Iowa Park two years ago. One of her favorite rooms in the house is the large kitchen, which was expanded when the breakfast room wall adjacent to the kitchen was taken out.

"I have an island kitchen in the room which makes it possible for all my kids to be cooking at the same time I am without crowding everything," she remarks.

Church group meets

The Night WMU of First Baptist Church met Monday at the church with 12 members in attendance. Hostesses were Mmes. D.O. James, Ora Mae Cummings and Elmer Singleton.

Mrs. Riley Thompson led the mission program taken from the Royal service magazine entitled "Who, Me Lord?" The program dealt with missions in action project in local communities. It was developed through six questions: "Who will do it? Where in the World? When will I find time? What Will I do? How will I get started? and Why should I do it?"

The questions were answered in discussions given by Mmes. J.T. Parker, W.F. Booher, S.B. Reaves, Cummings, J.A. Berg and James.

Mrs. V.I. Woodfin directed the business session. It was voted to support the weekday ministry of the Wichita-Archer-Clay Association's current food project.

Mrs. E.T. Patterson directed the period of prayer for missionaries on the birthday calendar for the day.

Miss Dawn Cook of Amarillo was a guest.

Mrs. John L. Warnock

The Warnocks' four children are Ken, a doctor in Wichita Falls; John, an executive for UPS in Dallas; Stuart, an MSU senior majoring in chemistry and business; and, a daughter, Christine Brown.

Mrs. Warnock says barbecue was the only new style of cooking she became familiar with after moving to Texas. "I like to think all the weight my husband and I have gained is solely due to barbecue," she says.

No new tax indicated in tentative budget

Holliday City Council Monday night accepted the estimated budget for the fiscal year 1984.

The budget, prepared by Holliday city administrator Jim Hamill, utilizes last year's budget figures and tax rate, although no official rate on ad valorem taxes can be set until the city receives a certified tax roll from the Archer County Tax Appraisal District.

"The budget figures are bottom figures and safe figures," Hamill said. "If the same tax rate as last year is used, we foresee a resulting increase of $6,000 in revenues simply due to improvements."

Hamill said he had been in contact with A.G. Reise, chief appraiser for the appraisal district, and Reise provided no indication of when the city would receive their roll. Asked to provide estimated projections, Reise responded with a $13,761,789 real estate roll, and oil and utility projection of $2,896,095, totalling $16,747,884.

In the estimated budget presented Monday, $20,000 alone has been budgeted for street resurfacing, an increase of $2,500 over the previous budget. Hamill said he anticipated all Holliday streets to be resurfaced next year, which will end the five-year resurfacing plan initiated by himself and Mayor Cook. The following seven years, Hamill said, will see streets resurfaced once again, and dirt and gravel roads paved.

"I think it is a safe assumption that we (Holliday) will receive as much or more in revenue as last year," Hamill noted. "I presented the council with an operational budget, and it should be understood that it is based on estimates only."

Hamill also initiated into the budget a surplus or "cushion" from each fund to encourage savings and create a buffer in finances for emergency uses.

For example, the general fund calls for a projected total income of $234,614.24 with projected expenses totalling $224,703.12 which leaves an "end of the year" balance of $9,911.12. "I did this intentionally because we

Trustees set meeting date

Due to a public notice which was inadvertently left out of last week's edition of the Leader, the Holliday School Board has postponed its August 8th meeting until 7:30 p.m. Thursday, August 11, according to superintendent Dan Owen.

A public notice appeared in a later edition of the Wichita Falls paper, but not within the time limit to hold the meeting on Monday.

Primary topic to be discussed is the anticipated expenditures for the coming school year.

The Holliday reporter for the Leader regrets the error.

Activities signal school year start

ANNUALS

Holliday High School's 1982-83 school annual will be distributed from 4 to 7 p.m. tomorrow at the Erma Barton Auditorium, according to high school principal Bill Lee.

FOOTBALL

Junior High football players will report to the coach the first day of school to turn in physicals, which are due at that time.

High school players should have already turned in their physicals with two-a-day practices set to begin Monday with morning practice held from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m., and afternoon workouts from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m.

REGISTRATION

All students in grades nine through 12 must register, according to principal Bill Lee. Class schedules, handbook, lockers and other forms for parent signature must be signed and returned the first day of school (Aug. 19).

High school students register from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. with the 11th and 12th grade to report Tuesday, Aug. 16, while ninth and 10th graders report Wednesday, Aug. 17.

Kindergarten through eighth grade need not report unless they are new to the school district. Those students must report from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 17.

New students must bring birth certificate, shot records, and proof of residence in district. No transfers will be allowed.

Any student in grades six through 12 not enrolled on first day of school will take mid-term finals.

A $5 deposit will be required for all students in grades nine through 12 on lock and lockers. Deposit will be returned at end of school year is lock or locker has not been damaged.

Only students with valid drivers license will be allowed to drive to school. Each licensed driver must purchase a student parking sticker, costing 60-cents. Automobiles will be towed away from school at owners expense without a sticker.

Buses will run 10 minutes earlier this year, a.m. and p.m. School will begin at 8 a.m. and dismiss at 3 p.m.

Students will be allowed to bring annuals to school August 19 for signing.

School will be dismissed at 2 p.m. the first day of school.

On the first day of school, kindergarten through fifth grade students report to classrooms; six through eighth graders to the cafeteria; and, high school students in the auditorium.

Meet directors this evening

Holliday Band members will meet new director Mark Cartwright and his assistant Louis Banister during a meeting at 7 p.m. today in the high school band hall.

Cartwright, who formerly directed bands in Iowa Park, said the meeting will give him a chance to become acquainted with band members, and to inspect and issue band instruments and finalize rehearsal schedules.

Rehearsals have been set from 7 until 9 p.m. beginning Monday with the same times for Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. Wednesday's rehearsal will be from 2 to 4 p.m.

Backhoe severses line

Water problems surfaced once again in Holliday shortly after 3 p.m. Monday when a private drilling contractor's backhoe struck an eight-inch main east of the city, dropping the water reserve to dangerously-low levels.

The backhoe, being used to remove a crude oil flow line, struck the water line which in turn cracked, resulting in a considerable loss of water, according to Mayor James Cook.

"It was a real gusher there for a while, then it leaked slowly all night long," Cook reported.

City administrator Jim Hamill accompanied city workers to the location, where the contractor and his crew were busy attempting to repair the line. Hamill reported the damage to the line was extensive, but the city never suffered a loss of service through Monday and Tuesday when the line was finally repaired. Enough water was in the city's reserves to last through the dilemma, Hamill reported.

Holliday's water reserves were near capacity levels as of Wednesday, officials stated. Boles Construction was called to the scene Tuesday to complete repairs.

The latest water problem city officials have had to tackle comes on the heels of a major water problem early last week which left Holliday with a severe water shortage.

Water being pumped from the Wichita Falls Cypress Street Plant did not reach Holliday, and officials in Wichita Falls blamed the problem on peak water usage in Wichita Falls and area communities and an apparent water leak in the line between the water plant and Holliday.

Last Wednesday morning officials in Iowa Park learned their city was in danger of a water shortage due to a similar problem, but at that time the blame was placed on an electrical water pump at the plant which had malfunctioned.

Season ticket sale to start

Season tickets for the 1983 Holliday Eagle football season go on sale from 8 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Monday at the superintendent's office located in the Holliday Elementary School building, according to Pat Holt.

Past season ticket holders will have the option of retaining their current seats until Friday, Aug. 12. As of Monday, Aug. 15, all remaining tickets will be sold on a first-come-first-serve basis.

Booster Club slates supper

The annual covered dish supper to honor the Holliday Eagle football players and coaches will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 12 at the Holliday High School cafeteria, according to Alice Carver.

Parents should bring enough food for the family, and the Holliday Booster Club will provide coffee, tea, and plates. "Be prepared to pay your membership dues to the Booster Club," Carver added.

A meeting of the Booster Club will follow the dinner. This year's president is Mike Birdwell, and vice president is Jim Hamill.

Retired contractor finds new interest

By KEVIN HAMILTON
Over a decade ago, George W. Baker developed health problems that forced him to quit his job as a contractor.

It was one of the best things to happen to Iowa Park gardeners.

Instead of retiring to a comfortable rocker, Baker and his wife, Annis, bought a home on Bell Road (FM 1814) and proceeded to construct greenhouses where the couple could raise and sell bedding plants.

And now, Baker is testing certain vegetables to give his customers a good idea of what the best varieties are to grow in the unpredictable North Texas area. This year, Baker is extensively testing tomatoes, 14 varieties to be exact. And some interesting findings are surfacing from the research.

Two new varieties which will be available for local gardeners next year are Red Express, and Winner's Circle. These two hybrids have impressed Baker with both their yield and taste. Two weeks ago he had picked almost 20-pounds off the Red Express plant and it was still producing.

Testing both the weight and quality of the tomato plant, other varieties include Sunlight (new variety), Spring Giant, Better Boy, Duke (very good quality potential), Jackpot (very good quality with large fruit), Extra Early (old staple producer showing good results), Fantastic, Lucky Draw (new variety), Grand Prix (large fruit, but not recommended), and C-17 (non-hybrid with no disease protection).

"I recommend that you buy hybrid plants, because they have built-in protection against disease which should help the grower to harvest a good yield," Baker said. "I also recommend that people plant at least two good varieties, and always a hybrid, to find for themselves the best producer," he added.

The testing is being conducted for Baker's customers, who are familiar with his easygoing attitude and willingness to offer free information about vegetable plants. Much of his information is obtained through Texas A&M.

As for the fall growing season, Baker said now is the time to take cuttings from your current plants, and plant in three-inch pots, allowing them to take root. Also, be sure to keep the cuttings in partial shade.

Two other pointers Baker offers is using one half inch PVC pipe to water your plants and save water, and his "tomato rings."

"You can get the PVC pipe at most any lumber yard, and cut off two-inch pieces, slitted, which you place at every 24-inch interval on the remaining pipe," Baker said. "Then, you drill a 3/32nd hole through the pipe at the intervals to allow the water to flow through, plug one end of the pipe and attach a garden hose."

"Lay it on a row, and water right next to the plant, and you don't waste so much water," Baker said, adding that two-thirds of your water use in the garden can be saved by using this method. "But be sure the ground is soaked well, to develop a strong root system," he said.

Letter to the Editor

Letter To The Editor:

As the victim of a burglary of my home on July 18, 1983 I would like to publicly thank the Iowa Park Police Department for their prompt action and the professionalism and efficient manner in which they handled the investigation. Had it not been for the dedicated efforts of this department our loss would have been just another burglary added to the long list of unsolved burglaries in Wichita County. I would like to especially thank Officers J.W. Barker and Tommy Adams for their long hours and dedication displayed in working on this case.

Thanks also to Chief Fenley for the professionalism shown by him and his department, the Wichita County Sheriff Department, and the Burkburnett Police Department.

The combined efforts of the above Departments resulted in the recovery of approximately seventy five to eighty percent of the items stolen from my home.

I am now convinced that Iowa Park has a Police Department second to none.

Green-color potatoes dangerous

By Don Decker
County Agent

Don't eat potatoes with a green color because they can be toxic.

Whenever potato tubers are exposed to sunlight, they develop a green color which indicates the presence of Solanine. This substance can cause severe illness or even death. It is important to keep potatoes covered with soil in the garden so the sunlight cannot reach the tubers. After the potatoes are harvested, they must be kept out of the bright light in order to prevent the greening problem.

Harold Scott of Wichita Falls had some potatoes which were left on the porch for a few days after harvest. The light could reach the potatoes and they turned a green color. Recognizing the hazard of eating potatoes with a green color, he destroyed all of the affected potatoes.

After potatoes turn green, the problem cannot be eliminated by placing them in a dark place. The green color will remain, and there is no other option other than to destroy the potatoes. There's a lot of variation between situations on the amount of toxin produced and a lot of variation in how it affects different people. Some individuals may say, "I've eaten green potatoes with no ill effects." But the amount of potatoes eaten and the individual's sensitivity to Solanine can vary considerably.

Home orchard growers will want to pay particular attention to apple trees during this hot, dry weather, particularly those trees on clay soils. Apples on light soils have difficulty in maturing an apple crop in drought conditions. Apple trees loaded with a heavy apple crop are often lost under drought conditions.

This is the weekend to spray pecans for the second generation of the pecan nut casebearer. A good pecan crop is in the making, and growers will want to protect their pecans from this late season pest.

Jim Kuehler with the Integrated Pest Management orchard in Valley Farms reports the area has accumulated over 100 hours of temperatures above 70 degrees and the humidity above 90 percent. Pecan trees begin to develop pecan scab when the 100 hour temperature humidity requirement is met. For this reason, growers are advised to add Benlate (Benomyl) to the casebearer spray. Zolone is recommended for the casebearer.

Jack Croft has a good pecan crop on River Road. His Burkett and Western Schulys have begun to develop powdery mildew on the nuts.

Research has shown that powdery mildew does not cause enough damage to justify control measures. However, Benlate is good for powdery mildew control. Adding Benlate to the spray can help to prevent both pecan scab and powdery mildew.

The method of determining the arrival of the second generation is to count off 42 days after the first generation. The area had one percent casebearer entry on June 19-20. Counting off 42 days from the June infestation indicates spraying was last weekend, (August 1).
