$4,974,057 BUDGET

School holds line on 1983-84 tax

Iowa Park school trustees intentionally approved a budget for the 1983-84 year that contains a deficit of $454,668, and set the tax rate at 43-cents, unchanged from the previous year.

The deficit budget is designed to cut down on a carryover of approximately $1.5-million, but still have enough money after the year to operate two months until taxes are paid in the fall of 1984.

Total budget approved was $4,974,957, of which 14.6 percent or $726,932 is West Wichita Co-op. Iowa Park has always served as fiscal agent for the Co-op, the reason its monies are figured into the local budget.

Figures given the board by Supt. Harold Cowley were that 66.8 percent of the total budget is for salaries, and 19.8 percent of the salaries go to the Co-op.

The local budget, excluding the Co-op, is $4,247,105, with anticipated revenues of $3,792,457.

Cowley said the new budget is 2.6 percent greater than the 1982-83 budget of $4,843,260.

Increased values of property in the district helped maintain the total district values after a drop of $15.5-million in oil values was reported.

It was noted, during budget discussion, that the school district's total indebtedness is now $945,000, including interest on the bonds. The district owes on bonds passed for construction of the high school, renovation of the junior high, and indebtedness assumed when the Valley View district was consolidated.

Tax collector Allen Shewmake reported 97.8 percent of the current year taxes have been collected, amounting to $1,104,238, and 97.5 percent of the city's taxes ($610,021), also.

The district's preliminary certified tax roll is $255,843,049 for maintenance and operation taxing, and $271,195,054 for the interest and sinking fund taxing.

The difference between the two rolls is that values for the elderly are frozen at age 65, but the values must be current when taxes on that property is pledged to repay bonded indebtedness.

Of the 43-cent tax rate, 36-cents is budgeted for maintenance and operation and seven cents for interest and sinking fund.

NEW PERSONNEL

Trustees approved hiring of 14 new personnel, five of whom will work in the Co-op.

Among those hired is Gary Lyles, who will teach world history in high school. He formerly taught the subject before taking assignment as instructor in building trades. Lyles has been out of teaching a few years, recuperating from a serious head injury.

Others hired include: Kellie Gibson, junior high math; Edward Heftl, junior high band; Daniel McDonald, junior high coach; Karen Lamberth, Bradford music; Rita Stowe, second grade; Mary Ruth Kirkpatrick, sixth grade reading; Georgia Moore, administration building; Elaine Hodges, vocational aide; Keven Cagle and Kathryn Mattis, Iowa Park Co-op; Patricia Drake, Holliday Co-op; Mae Deene Beebe, Electra Co-op; and Gayle Patricia Parish, Holliday Co-op aide.

LaRae Collins was reassigned as Iowa Park Co-op, and all 13 local teacher aides were re-elected.

Resignations accepted included: Cindy Brown, Bradford music; William Monroe, junior high band; Karla Wallace, sixth grade reading; and Co-op personnel Gary McCain, Marilyn Russell and Claudia Honeycutt.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, trustees took the following action:

- * accepted the lone $4,000 bid to sell 14 lots in the south part of town for taxes from Derrell Jolly;
- * approved a contract with a new law firm to collect delinquent taxes;
- * approved a free and reduced lunch price schedule as presented by Nancy Padgett, lunchroom manager, as well as new prices for all lunches;
- * approved bids from Preston Dairy for milk service this year, Oak Farms for ice cream and American Bakery for breads;
- * accepted but later delays taking action on bids for purchase of gasoline;
- * approved closing the street that passes through the junior high school campus;
- * approved a request of the high school pep club to sell jackets as a fund-raising project;
- * took no action on two bids from Iowa Park and Electra banks to serve as depository;
- * approved a contract to sell the Building Trades class house, last year's project, for $42,000;
- * approved a bond set on tax collector Allen Shewmake for $50,000 and released the bond on Bill Steger;
- * and gave go-ahead to the administration to seek permission from state to sell two buses and an automobile.

Postmaster named filling year-long void

After being vacant approximately a year, Iowa Park's post office now has a postmaster.

Ken Turman assumed that position Monday, filling a void created approximately a year ago when Lee McQuerry accepted a similar position in Vernon.

A native of Greenville, Turman graduated high school there and was attending East Texas State when he began working part time in that city's post office. He became full time after a year and a half.

From part-time clerk, Turman worked his way to the level of processing supervisor and was then transferred to Paris Where he was delivery supervisor three years. Paris has 20 routes, 12 city delivery and eight rural.

Mrs. Turman's first name is LaVelle. The couple has three children, Stephen, five, Stephanie, two, and Jennifer, seven months. The family has rented a home at 902 Foley.

A member of the National Association of Postal Supervisors, Turman is now qualified for membership in the national organization for postmasters and has submitted his application.

His primary activities away from work include camping and being around lakes, but he emphasized he "likes doing things with the children."

"I've been very impressed with the friendliness of the people in Iowa Park and look forward to meeting more of the people as time goes by," Turman said.

City's water, service rates may be raised

The city of Iowa Park will very likely join Southwestern Bell Telephone, Lone Star Gas and Texas Electric Service this fall by raising utility rates.

According to the discussion of city aldermen Monday night during a budget workshop session, it appears likely rates will be raised for water, sewer and trash collection.

But there likely will not be a tax increase.

City administrator James Barrington explained to the council that the budget as it now stands can be met with last year's 76-cent tax rate, if the fees are increased. Otherwise, the tax rate would have to be increased by five cents, he said.

Barrington said ad valorem tax would be higher this year than last, because of increased values, even at the 76-cent rate. But it still wouldn't produce enough revenue to balance the budget.

He proposed a five-percent increase on both trash collection and sewer service, and a 20-percent increase on water.

The water rate increase is almost all absorbed by a 21-percent increase charged for water purchased from Wichita Falls. But additional revenue would be generated by eliminating the city's policy of charging less for major consumers and establishing a flat rate.

No change in rates will be initiated until an ordinance is passed, and the tax rate will not be set until September, prior to the start of the city's new fiscal year of October.

Concerning water billing, aldermen questioned Barrington on the fact that several residents had received water bills for only two-week periods.

He explained the meter reader had finally caught up on his schedule, and future bills would be on regular monthly periods. The city has had three readers since December, he said, and the billing has not been current since that time for most people.

Figured in on the next year's budget will be money to construct a fire substation in the south part of town, according to discussion.

The council discussed clearing of mesquite trees and leveling of land the city owns at Pecan and Texowa, where the structure would be built. None of the council expressed opposition to the project, though no official vote was taken on the subject.

An ordinance was passed abolishing the library board. Its responsibilities have been assumed by a contractual agreement with the non-profit chartered "Friends of the Library."

During a discussion on the city's participation with the county and two other area cities in subsidizing Plumlee Ambulance, the council agreed it would prefer the service be taken over by the two hospitals in Wichita Falls, or to put the service out for new bids.

Plumlee's service to the city has been acceptable, aldermen commented, but indications were that the aldermen did not care for the owner's business practices.

The discussion was held at the request of Barrington, who was to attend a meeting of other managers and the county judge Tuesday morning at which the ambulance situation would be the topic.

Plumlee has filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy and at the same time asked the area governments to double their subsidies.

In other business, the city accepted a bid by RCA for a remote computer terminal for the police station. The unit, often inaccurately referred to as a teletype, would link the local police to the Department of Public Safety computer in Austin.

The RCA bid was for $7,970, of which the state will pay at least half and possibly as much as $5,000, Barrington said.

The unit is expected to be installed for use by October or November, but will not be activated until local personnel have been trained in its operation.

Council members held a public hearing regarding use of federal revenue sharing funds, expected to be $15,000 in October and possibly an additional $45,000 during the coming year.

Alderman Bud Thompson proposed most of it for the library, with some being used for street repairs, and Alderman George Hammonds suggesting it be used for building a fire substation in the south part of the city.

No other comments were made, either by council or audience. Another required hearing is scheduled in the future.

Aldermen gave Barrington permission to advertise for bids to purchase a computer system for city hall.

Las Vegas police catch local man with stolen car

Jimmy Ray Davis is awaiting extradition to Wichita County from Las Vegas, Nev. to face a charge of auto theft.

The 23-year-old Iowa Parkan is accused of taking a 1978 Chevrolet Monza belonging to Jack Kerr.

Las Vegas police ran a check with the Iowa Park Police Department

Tuesday, when officers in that city observed the man "attempting to get into the vehicle."

The car had been reported stolen between 1 and 7 a.m. Sunday from 216 S. Park. It was valued at $2,500 and a portable radio in it was valued at $60.

Police in Nevada took Davis into custody to await extradition. Charges were filed in the county courthouse by Iowa Park officers yesterday.

Permits slow during July

Building permits were rather skimpy here during July, with none being issued for construction of new homes.

Permits issued during the past month amounted to only $23,111, raising the year's sum to $680,260.

July permits issued included:

- Brad Williams, 400 S. Penn, mobile home, $5,000;
- Gary Sanders, 400 E. Pecan, mobile home, $8,000;
- Stan Pritchard, 904 E. Pasadena, addition, $300;
- John Chapman, 1009 W. Louisa, repairs, $750;
- Birthe Myers, 614 Rebecca, addition, $500;
- Roy Cooper, 204 S. Yosemite, addition, $75;
- Pat Blackburn, 610 Coleman, addition, $986;
- Alvin Ohm, 401 E. Lafayette, addition, $1,800;
- Glen Brewer, 300 S. Wall, addition, $500;
- James Vestal, 800 N. Bond, addition, $3,000;
- Jimmy Gilmore, 410 N. Bond, addition, $2,200.

Davis was convicted of burglary in 1981 and released after 120 days on "shock probation." According to records, probation was revoked and he was returned to serve the full sentence time. He was released last May.

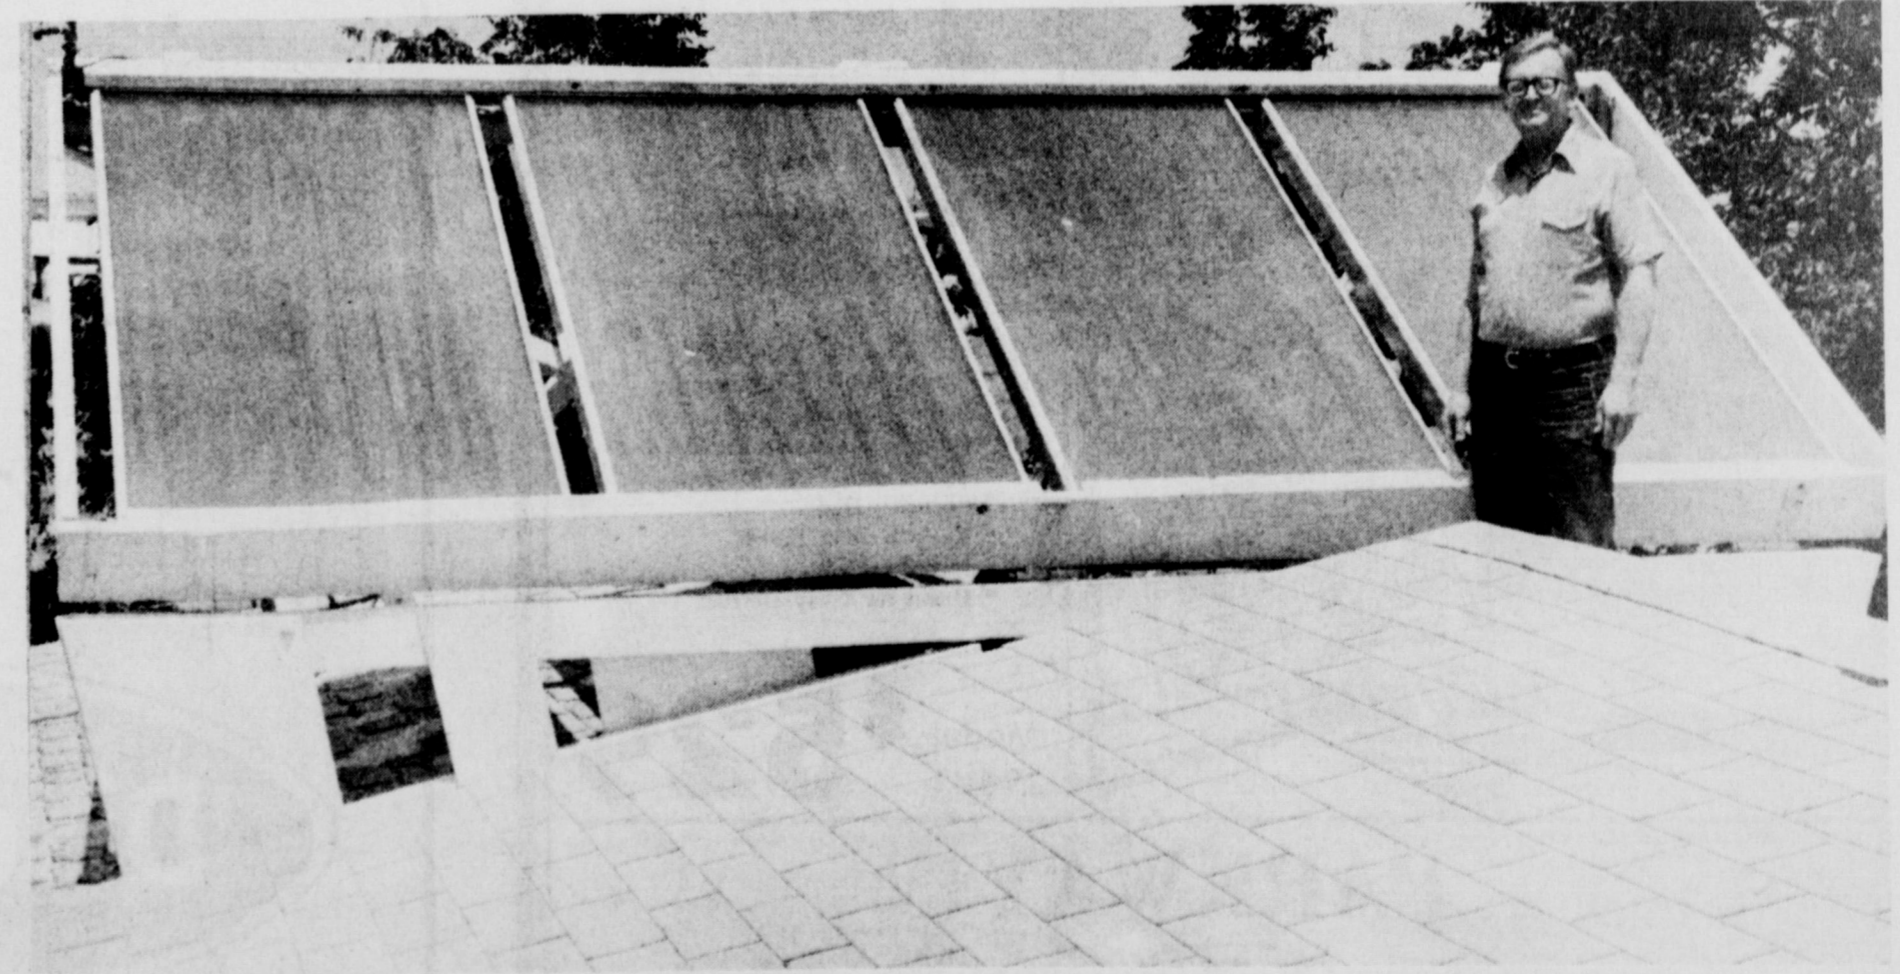

Other offenses reported during the past week to police were:

James A. Lewis of Kamay said a Kenwood 100 watt amplifier was taken from his vehicle parked between 7:30 p.m. and 1:30 a.m. July 29 at 1617 Karen. It was valued at $400.

William Fowler told police Monday someone had taken license plates off the front and back of a car he had parked in the back yard at 403 W. Poe. Numbers were WWB-40.

A beer bottle was thrown at a mobile home at 600 E. Bank between midnight and 6 a.m. Sunday, causing an estimated $50 damage, according to John Greenwood.

Property valued at $286 was reportedly taken between 7:50 and 8:01 p.m. Friday, according to Nathan Cowly. The items included $200 in $20-dollar bills; five $1 silver certificates; stereo with speakers, $300; six pool cues, $42; blue box fan, $24; and a $45 weed eater.

SUNBATHING on top of G.H. Gwinn's home on FM 369 year-round are four solar collector panels, which provide the Gwinn family with hot water and heating at the present time, and air conditioning in the near future. For details, see story on Page 11 of this issue.

Mother with two jobs devotes time to elderly

By DEEL L. FOWLER

Louise Cokendolpher is an outstanding young woman in the community. She and her husband, Lee, came to Iowa Park from Waurika, Okla. 16 years ago.

Louise says, "I was born, raised, educated and married in Waurika. I love a small town." She says she and her husband have traveled a lot, but she adds, "I have lived my life in these two towns."

Louise is a little reluctant to talk about the good deeds she does for others. When questioned, she says she has a deep love and respect for the elderly. "I love to just sit down and talk to older people, because they have so much to offer," she said.

Sometimes Louise goes to their homes or to the nursing home, and she always takes a little gift. She says "sometimes the gift may be small and inexpensive, but it says I love and appreciate you."

She goes on to say "Elderly people are so rich in their experiences, that if we will listen, we can avoid a lot of mistakes in our lives."

There is another interest that Louise has, and that is in teenagers. "I love teenagers and I believe in them, they are the citizens of tomorrow," she said.

The Cokendolphers have a son who will soon be a teenager and Louise says her husband is taking the time and patience to teach him how to work, and she feels this is vital. Louise says that if the kids know how to work there will be less room for criticism.

She then says "I just love to talk to them and encourage them. We have some outstanding teenagers in this community."

Mrs. Cokendolpher, like so many other young women today, is a career woman. She has two jobs. She has been an instructor at Levi Strauss Company 16 years. She is also secretary for the First Assembly of God Church in Iowa Park, where she is a member.

Louise's rigid schedule begins at 5:20 a.m. and ends around 9 p.m. Of her tight schedule, she says "We make time for the things that are important to us and the things we enjoy."

... petite housewife energetic, caring.

She says she manages to juggle her two jobs together and often takes vacation days from her secular job to attend special seminars on her church job.

Louise says it may seem a little prudish to some, but the most important thing in her life is her service to God. "God is first and then my family is next, also I love the community and I try to be a good citizen," she says.

In relation to her family she says, "We are a very close knit family and we spend time together."

The Cokendolphers have set aside Sunday strictly for the family to do

Couple weds

The marriage of Terri Lynn Watkins and Robin Lee Fanning on July 6 has been announced by the bride's parents, Mrs. Pat Watkins of Iowa Park and Tommy Watkins of Uvalde.

Wedding vows were recited in Lebanon, Penn. with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mogetz attending. The couple honeymooned in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia.

Now residing in Austin, Mrs. Fanning is a design consultant and her husband is in petroleum contract sales.

She attended school in Iowa Park and graduated Andrews High School and later the Fashion and Art Institute in Dallas. Fanning, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Fanning of Arlington, attended school in that city.

things together. She laughs when she says "The president might not be too proud of us on Sunday, because we sometimes burn a tank of gas just driving to the country and looking at old houses or anything that might be of interest to us along the way."

Louise is a young woman who makes her time count. She doesn't have much time for hobbies, but she says she really enjoys cleaning house. And in this day of polyester she buys cotton and loves to starch and iron. "My men like to wear cotton and I think it ought to be starched."

Louise laughs and tells an anecdote about her starching: "One day I decided since I usually use one cup of starch on the clothes and they look so nice, maybe two cups would really make them look super. So I did just that and the clothes were so stiff they almost beat my clothes-line down, my family had sore legs for a few days and it's needless to say they haven't let me forget it!"

Louise says some of her most memorable moments have been vacationing with the family. She says, "we usually decide our destination after we get on the freeway, and we seldom ever make reservations. We just enjoy the sights and when we see something interesting we stop."

Louise is an ambitious young woman of 34 (who doesn't mind disclosing her age). It seems she has all of her priorities in the right place and has a lot of wonderful old-fashioned ideas on really enjoying life in our fast-moving world of today.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

As they read the stories, they each felt they had already read the same stories before. And sure enough, they had.

I'm referring to about 20 Leader subscribers who last week received July 21 issues in the mail Thursday.

What happened was, as we were nearing the end of our addressing chores Wednesday night, we picked up a few old copies that were laying right next to the new issue, put the labels on them and sent them to the post office.

One woman asked if we thought the July 21 issue was so good we wanted her to read it once more.

A male subscriber suggested maybe we had just not bothered to put out a new issue, and had just reprinted the earlier one.

Everyone was very nice and understanding, and we appreciated it.

We had so many calls, I finally got a stock answer. "This is summer time, and we're doing like the big television networks do... showing reruns."

Anyway, we got the properly-dated issues out to subscribers who called in to let us know of the problem.

The situation reminds me of the story about two young bachelor brothers who use to have a newspaper down in South Texas, near the Mexico border. I'm assured by more than one publisher from that area that the story is essentially true.

It seems the two had been working especially hard the past three or four weeks. By hard, that means their papers were larger than usual, their commercial printing was extending their hours late into every evening and over weekends, but they still weren't making enough money to hire any additional help.

Anyway, while printing a particular issue, one suggested to the other that they go across the border after the papers were put in the mail, and have themselves a party.

They did.

In fact, they had themselves such a good time that it was the following Wednesday afternoon that one of the brothers sobered enough to realize it was press day once more, and they hadn't been back to the office.

The brothers did whatever they could to clear their heads, raced back across the border to their hometown and set to work printing the "new" issue.

When the papers hit the mails Thursday morning, readers saw a familiar issue... in fact one just like they saw the previous week... only there was a big line of type up in the top of the front page border which said:

"Re-printed by popular demand."

Belcher only area player on winning team

Of the six area athletes who participated in football all-star bowl games last weekend, only one of them emerged on a winning team.

Jeff Belcher of Holliday played on the East team Friday night which defeated the West, quarterbacked by Iowa Parkan Marc Klinkerman, in Childress' Greenbelt Bowl.

And Texas suffered a loss at the hands of Oklahoma Saturday in the Oil Bowl played in Wichita Falls.

Playing for the Lone Star club were Paul Rogers and Steve Stewart of Iowa Park and Kevin Blankenship and Harold Parsons of Holliday. Head Hawk David Baugh was one of Texas' three coaches.

Everything was going fine for Klinkerman's West squad through the first half and into the third period, as the club with green jerseys took a 14-0 lead.

Klinkerman's protection was good and he was connecting whenever aerials were dialed by the coaching staff. Even his defensive platoon was racking up turnovers by the floundering East team.

But then the roof fell in, and the West could hardly do anything right offensively or defensively. And the East came out 18-14 winner.

Two of Klinkerman's passes were picked off. On another play, he felt a fumble should have been ruled an incomplete pass, as did his coach and teammates. But it wasn't.

The Hawk field general got in on a few defensive plays, but very few.

Belcher was used exclusively on defense and specialty teams. He was considered as one of the candidates for outstanding defensive player.

Oklahoma trailed only once in Wichita Falls, 3-0. But the club from across the Red River took advantage of Texas' miscues and some favorable calls by the officials, and finished with a 27-3 win.

Stewart and Blankenship played most of the game on defense, right next to each other. And their play was effective. Stewart was called on a few times to do offensive duty.

Though Parsons was used sparingly, primarily on specialty teams, Rogers saw action on defense most of the fourth period.

Blankenship snared one of Oklahoma's pass attempts deep in Texas territory, but the ball was given back to the Okies on a personal foul penalty. Oklahoma scored two plays later.

Baugh said he felt his Texas club played well, but in the absence of a top quality running back, the offense had its problems.

He was slightly rankled at comments in stories appearing the following morning, that Texas players had been partying most of the evenings preceding the game. He said it wasn't true, because he stayed at the motel and he wasn't aware any such thing was going on.

Anyway, Oklahoma is still behind Texas in the series, 29-8-1.

85 athletes report for football teams

Coach David Baugh said 85 athletes would be out for football this season.

Though a few have not reported, nursing injuries and illnesses, he has been working out 28 on the varsity, 21 on the junior varsity and 32 freshmen since Monday.

The players reported Monday to begin two-a-day workouts in their shorts and helmets. Tomorrow they put on the pads for the first time.

An intrasquad scrimmage will be held Saturday morning at the practice field, Baugh said. Junior varsity and freshmen will meet first at 9 a.m. An hour later, some JV players will be blended with varsity players for the second scrimmage.

Baugh said most of the players showed up in good physical condition. He has a test to indicate their condition: they have an individually-assigned time in which to run a mile. If they make the time, they're in shape.

Season tickets go on sale

Season tickets for the five Iowa Park Hawk home games went on sale this week in the principal's office.

Two of the games are non-conference: the season opener against Breckenridge Sept. 2 and the following Friday against Bowie.

The three Dist. 3-AAAA games to be played in Hawk Stadium are: Hirschi Oct. 7; Gainesville Oct. 21, which will be homecoming, and Boswell Nov. 4.

The book of five tickets, which includes a reserved seat, is $12.50, or $2.50 per game, as Principal Bob Dawson points out.

General admission tickets purchased at the gate are $3 per game, and a reserved seat ticket purchased at the gate is $3.25.

Booster Club seeks members

The Hawk Booster Club will kick off its membership drive at the high school practice field Saturday morning when the team holds an interclub scrimmage.

Following the scrimmage, the Booster Club will host a watermelon feed for the players and coaches.

Booster officers will be available to sign up any interested parents and fans.

Personnel will also be discussed, including the hiring of assistant band director, and vacancies in the library, maintenance, cafeteria and bus driving.

Also, trustees will meet with an ATPE representative, discuss renting band instruments, set prices for school lunches and ambulance service for the football season.

MRS. BRYAN DOUGLAS PETERS

Boyd, Peters nuptials solemnized

Honeymooning in Puerto Vallarta, Mex. are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bryan Peters, who were married Friday evening at the Holliday Church of Christ in a double-ring ceremony officiated by Pastor Gil Peters, father of the groom.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gil Peters of Holliday, Mr. Sherwin Boyd of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Linda Kee of Holliday.

Pyramid candelabra and flanking branched candelabra, entwined with greenery, pink, yellow and blue flowers and wedding bells, held burning tapers, and the unity candle completed the altar setting.

Musical selections for the ceremony began with "Sweet Sweet Spirit", which lead into playing of chimes at the beginning of the ceremony. Mothers were ushered in during the singing of "If," and then an A Capella version of "Annie's Song" was sung. Candles were lit during the singing of "True Love" leading into the processional, which was played on the piano. The prayer song was "There Is Love," and, as the couple lit the unity candle, "You and I" was sung. The recessional followed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a schiffli embroidered gown with chantilly lace and high neckline, drop-shouldered embroidered yoke with lace ruffle, and full bouffant skirt with Castilian train. White chantilly lace gauntlets covered her arms from elbow to wrist.

Her bridal bouquet was composed of pink, yellow, blue and white roses, the colors of the bridesmaids' gowns, forget-me-nots, white daisies and carnations.

The matron of honor, Diana Ogle of Caddo, Okla., wore a blue floor-length taffeta dress with spaghetti straps and shoulder ruffle. She carried a nosegay of blue roses accented with pink and yellow forget-me-nots, daisies and carnations.

Lisa Boyd, the bride's sister, served as bridesmaid. She wore a yellow floor-length taffeta dress with spaghetti straps and shoulder ruffle. Gayle Peters, the groom's sister, also served as bridesmaid and wore a similar taffeta dress pink in color.

The groom wore a silver tuxedo with tails, and a boutonniere of white roses accented with pink, yellow, and blue forget-me-nots.

Tom Richeson of Holliday served as best man, and groomsmen were Kyle Brown of Holliday and Dennis Frazier of Graham. Each wore silver tuxedos with rose boutonnieres matching the bridesmaids' bouquets. Ushers were Mike Hewitt and Clint Lee of Holliday, and Ray Frazier of Graham. Each wore black and white carnations with their suits.

Emily Campbell and Clint Chandler both of Holliday, served as flower girl and ring bearer. She wore a white lace floor-length dress and carried a basket holding the throw-away bouquet matching the bride's bouquet. The ring bearer wore a silver tuxedo with a boutonniere of white roses and multi-colored forget-me-nots. Black and white carnation boutonnieres were given to the fathers.

The bride's mother wore a pink floor-length dress and a corsage of roses and carnations. The groom's mother wore a mauve floor-length dress with a corsage of roses and carnations.

Brent Boyd, brother of the bride, served as candlelighter.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Faith Village Church of Christ Fellowship Hall in Wichita Falls. The bride's table was draped with white lace, with multi-colored bows holding scallops of lace. Two silver candelabras enhanced the table setting, which included a silver service and silver toasting glasses, a three-tiered cake with a pink fountain and multi-colored clusters of flowers, pink napkins engraved with the couple's names and date of the wedding, and mints.

A round table matching the bride's table in colors, was adorned with a silver punch bowl and pink punch.

The groom's table, draped in blue, held a cake in the form of a Bible with the couple's names, wedding date, and their favorite scripture, I Cor. 13:7 "love always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres." A silver coffee service and centerpiece completed the setting.

Charlette Lewallen of Holliday presided at the registry table, which was draped in white and held the registry book and blue plume pen. Members of the houseparty were Mrs. John Harrigal, Mrs. John Lewallen, Mrs. Vernon Porter, and Mrs. J.W. Segler.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at K-Bob's in Wichita Falls. The bride was graduated from Holliday High School and will begin her junior year at Tarleton State University in Stephenville this fall. The groom was graduated from Holliday High School and Midwestern State Univ., and is employed by Texas Utilities Generating Co. at Comanche Peak Nuclear Power Plant.

After their wedding trip, the couple will live in Stephenville.

Teachers to begin in-service Monday

Holliday Independent School District employees will meet at 8:30 Monday morning in the high school cafeteria to kick off four days of preparations before the opening day bell rings Friday.

One topic of interest included in the list of meetings is a drug education program for teachers Tuesday, which is one of several steps taken by school administration to maintain a drug-free campus, according to superintendent Dan Owen.

At the drug education meeting, T.J. Newcombe of Wichita Falls, a certified counselor on drug and alcohol abuse, will be the featured speaker. Owen said the lecture will provide teachers with valuable information concerning the drug and alcohol problem, which the administration is hoping to keep away from the campus. Earlier this summer, school trustees approved strict guidelines including a closed campus in response to a concern shown by parents.

Monday is "Campus Day" with all school employees meeting in the auditorium from 8:30 a.m. until 10 a.m. From 10 until noon, a campus meeting will be held with principals meeting with Owen to receive their assignments. An organizational meeting will follow from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. with department heads meeting to coordinate teaching assignments for the coming year.

Employees gather once again from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m. Tuesday in the auditorium for a group meeting, with Region IX Service Center outlining their five-year plan. Then, from 10 until noon, "Drug Education to Teachers" will be presented by Newcombe. His talk will include information on symptoms of abuse, counseling, and several steps to keep the problem out of the school. From 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. principals will meet with their teachers separately to hand out assignments.

"Curriculum" will be the featured topic Wednesday with principals and teachers meeting from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m. in the auditorium. The meeting will evolve around accreditation and organizing curriculum for the coming year. Teachers will study the new curriculum and set up course study programs. A meeting from 10 until noon will center on testing, including TABS tests, achievement tests, and five-year plan testing. That afternoon principals will continue meeting with teachers separately.

Thursday will be a teacher's workday.

Street dance set Saturday

Holliday Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a free street dance from 9 p.m. until midnight Saturday, Aug. 20 between Bois d' Arc and Olive Streets.

According to Chamber president Marguerite Wilson, the dance is being held in response to numerous calls from local residents saying they enjoyed the dance during JuneFest week, wanting more dances.

Donnie Reynolds and the Diamond B's will return once again to provide the music for the dance. Although no charge will be given for those enjoying the dance, a hat will be passed around to receive donations for the Chamber.

"Everyone young and old, short and tall, those that like to listen and those that like to dance are welcome to attend," Wilson said.

Benefit slated for fire dept.

A country and western performance to benefit Holliday's Volunteer Fire Department will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday Aug. 13, at the Erma Barton Auditorium on the Holliday School campus.

Playing for the benefit will be Billy Curtis, Kin and Friends of Wichita Falls. Proceeds from the event will help in purchasing additional equipment for the fire station.

Prices for tickets, which can be purchased from members of the Women's Auxiliary or at the door, are $2 for adults, and $1 for students and senior citizens.

Any senior citizen needing transportation to and from the benefit may call George McDaniel at 586-1817. Concessions will also be offered at the concert.

Recognizing heat stroke signs

Don't become a heat stroke victim during Texas' scorching heat wave, warns Barbara Cornelius, Wichita County Extension Agent. Know the warning signs -- and take action! Most likely affected are older persons, the obese, the very young, alcoholics and people suffering from chronic diseases.

When it's too hot, people can suffer heat exhaustion or heat stroke. Heat stroke will kill, if you don't take immediate action. Heat exhaustion, on the other hand, usually is not life threatening.

HEAT STROKE -- Warning signs are reddened skin, fiery hot to the touch and dry. The victim is obviously feverish but no longer perspiring. The victim might be disoriented -- or possibly unconscious. Most heat stroke victims collapse. Heat stroke victims can be suffering body temperatures up to and over 108 degrees F., because in cases of heat stroke, the body's normal cooling mechanisms have quit functioning. Minutes count in cases of heat stroke. Reduce the body temperatures at once. Call for an ambulance or medical help, then start cooling the victim with whatever means you can find. Bathe him with cold water if possible. But be careful if he's unconscious, so you don't accidentally get water into the nose or mouth.

Another warning: watch for respiratory distress, and assist his breathing if necessary. Due to the necessary rapid cooling of the body, the victim may go into shock, and that can affect breathing. Heat stroke victims should be hospitalized and observed for several days -- in case there might be kidney or nerve damage.

HEAT EXHAUSTION -- Warning signs are pale skin that is cool and moist to the touch, and the body temperature is about normal. The victim might be disoriented. A few heat exhaustion victims do become unconscious and collapse.

Early treatment of heat exhaustion involves moving the victims to a cool spot and trying to get him to drink cool fluids, such as water or lemonade. Also, loosen or remove clothing and cool him off by bathing with cool water. Usually the person will feel better promptly, but if he seems tired, or if he is elderly or has a chronic disease, make sure he sees a doctor.

Preventing heat exhaustion and heat stroke usually can be achieved by following some simple, common sense precautions. During hot weather:

- Don't expose yourself to the heat when you don't have to.
- Wear loose fitting, light colored clothing that reflects the sun's rays and allows for better sweat evaporation.
- Don't go out in the hot sunshine without a wide brimmed hat.

Drink water often, even when you don't feel the urge.

- Stick to cool drinks and food -- and salt your food liberally.

* If you are on a low salt and salt free diet or suffer from heart disease, hypertension, diabetes, lung disease or other chronic disorders, consult your doctor before increasing salt intake or appreciably altering your diet.

- Don't overeat or overindulge in alcoholic drinks.

- Don't exercise just before or after meals.

- Avoid sudden changes in temperature. For example, don't dash from an air conditioned building to a hot car. Open the car up for a few minutes before getting into it.

- Don't exercise strenuously in the sun or heat.

LIFE TENDS TO GET SWALLOWED UP... DOESN'T IT...

Sometimes we get so caught up in the day's activities, the week's agenda, the month's requirements, the year's routine, that we never stop to ask, "Where is it all leading? If I arrived, where would I be?"

"Where are your priorities? Who or what do you serve? Are you only hoping to live? Someday when you 'make it' then will you be happy?"

One day Jesus told a group of people that real life isn't made up by an abundance of possessions. He's saying, "Don't let that job, or that title, or getting that degree, or buying that house, or achieving that end swallow up the meaning of your life. You're worth more than that. You're important. You count. You're loved."

Gwinn's conservation project is saver

By KEVIN HAMILTON

The steadily-rising cost of energy we use in everyday life is making more practical, and financially able, to turn to alternative energy sources.

H. Gwinn is doing it. And in more ways than one.

Solar energy comes in the form of radiation from the sun which is capable of producing heat directly, through chemical reactions, or producing usable amounts of electricity. Because of its unique ability to heat certain materials for long periods without contamination, the solar furnace has become an important tool in high-temperature research.

On the domestic scene, however, solar energy is still in its puerile infancy. Solar heating for warming and hot-water supply is used on a domestic scale in Israel, southern France, in parts of the U.S., and elsewhere. Many countries have specially-designed solar ovens for cooking.

The sun is the ultimate source of all energy, either directly or indirectly, whether as stored energy in fuels fossilized eons ago, as water power, or as nuclear energy. The silicon solar cell, announced to the world in 1952, is a reliable power source with no moving parts and is particularly suited for power generation in space where the sun's radiation provides an inexhaustible supply of energy.

Solar energy is among such recurring energy sources as wind and flowing streams, geothermal energy, tides at sea, fuel from trees and other plants, and even oceanothermic energy (ocean currents).

Looking at the availability of these sources through the naked eye, it would seem practical to divert them to domestic use.

But, in reality, only a very small portion can be collected at a reasonable cost. Practicability also depends on the location and costs of other fuels.

That takes us back to Gwinn, who lives on FM 369 just south of the Lone Star Truck Stop. While in the Air Force, Gwinn toured several countries, including Israel, where he saw firsthand how solar energy was utilized. The home his parents first built in 1958 where he now lives relied heavily on propane fuel for its heating, cooling and cooking appliances.

Finally, last March, Gwinn and his two sons, Dale Lee and Norman, installed solar heating panels on the roof of the home to heat it in winter and provide hot water year-round.

According to Gwinn, the task required about six weeks of "practical engineering time," not all of which was easy gravy.

"I needed help bringing the collectors up to the roof - they weigh about 170 lbs. each," he said. Gwinn also learned of another problem.

"The roof was in the wrong direction," he claimed.

With the front of the home facing east, and the solar collector panels needing to face south, Gwinn had to construct a frame that would secure the panels firmly with legs anchored to the east and west slopes of the roof. No easy task, but the finished product is impressive.

The active solar heater basically works like this: Gwinn has 10 three-inch copper tubing plates in the panels, and approximately 40 copper tubes, which absorb the sun's rays and heats an anti-freeze substance inside the tubes. A single-glaze glass specifically made to focus the sun (double-and triple-glaze glass is available) covers the collectors, which are slanted at a 45-degree angle towards the south. Gwinn said the best position in the summer is flat, when the sun is nearest to earth and directly above, but his frame is not easily adjustable, and an adequate amount of energy is being obtained in the current position.

The anti-freeze liquid runs through the tubing into an 80-gallon hot water heater, and is re-circulated back through the system constantly.

"I did experience air lock problems at first, but I finally got that worked out," Gwinn said.

Gwinn is pleased with the results of his new energy source, and is currently seeking new ways to utilize the newly-found friend. Just recently, he purchased a gas-powered air conditioner, which he will convert to solar. In this case, the freon is heated by the hot liquid and a special water coil is placed over the furnace's fan.

If you think you might want to convert to solar power, Gwinn says the best advice is not to jump into it without extensive study first. In addition to reading several popular science magazines, he attended seminars to find out all he could before investing.

But now that he has invested, Gwinn is encouraged with the future payoff. Last year, he received a $4,000 tax credit at income tax time, and, although the amount drops lower each year, he expects another break of $3,500 this year. "I will be able to write off the expenses (equipment and supplies) on my income," he allowed. "It should take no longer than 10 years to return my investment."

In addition, Gwinn says the added value to the home cannot be added to the taxable value, and the only negative aspect he sees is that the system has to be insured.

But for his wife, Sue and daughter Glenda, an eighth grader at Iowa Park, comfort in their home in the future will be spelled "s.o.l.a.r."

For Dale Lee, who is in his second year of law school at Texas Tech, and Norman, an aeronautical engineer at Texas A&M, they can look forward to helping their father with new projects when they visit, because it has become not a hobby, but an admitted obsession for the retired airman.

"It's a game," he says with a grin.

Neighborhood signs ordered

Neighborhood Crime Watch program signs have been ordered this week, but there were some problems which had delayed the ordering.

The committee originally chose a sign, but when attempting to order its production it was learned a portion of the sign depicted a design that was copyrighted, according to Tom Fenley, police chief.

Another design was then selected, also with a copyright symbol, but permission to use it was obtained, Fenley said. "We can use the sign as long as it's not used anywhere else," he explained.

The signs should be available in the next few weeks, and Fenley is to notify the Program co-chairmen once they arrive for distribution.

Aggies organize

Officers of the newly-organized Wichita Texas A&M Home County Club were elected at a meeting last week.

Sherrie McDonald of Iowa Park was named president; Joe Hoye of Electra, vice president; Adam Hartman of Wichita Falls, treasurer; John Gonzales Jr. of Wichita Falls, secretary; Victor Taylor of Wichita Falls, social chairman; and Jeffery Huston of Burkburnett, reporter.

McDonald's mother, Mrs. Joe McDonald, is serving as president of the Mother's Club, which will host a "Howdy Mixer" between 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday at the Silver Square Room in Parker Square Bank in Wichita Falls. The meeting is open to former, present and future Aggies, according to Mrs. McDonald.

The Home County Club was organized primarily as an assistance and social group.

Bicycle found, but owner isn't

Iowa Park Police have recovered a bicycle, but can't find an owner.

No report has been received for the particular bike, which has been in the department's possession approximately 90 days.

Anyone having lost a bicycle should contact the department and if the bicycle is accurately identified, it can be claimed, Chief Tom Fenley said.

Rotating crops builds soil, controls weeds

By Don Decker
County Agent

Wheat and cotton make a good crop rotation because one compliments the other. Wheat provides the needed nitrogen for the soil and helps control of nightshades. Cotton, on the other hand, gives a permanent cover to the control of wild oats in the soil and tends to clean the land for the next wheat production. The only problem in this rotation is the different growing seasons, making it difficult to go from one crop to the other.

The Brockriede brothers at Punkin Creek use grain sorghum in the rotation from wheat to cotton. As the wheat is harvested, they prepare the land and plant grain sorghum. This year they planted sorghum without any land preparation with a three to five pound seeding rate. The sorghum was seeded directly into the stubble.

Brockriedes normally expect to make 2,000 to 2,500 pounds of sorghum planted on wheat stubble. Atrazine is used as a herbicide after the sorghum emerges. The mode of action of Atrazine is through the root system.

After the sorghum harvest last year, it was only necessary to plow the land three times before cotton was planted this year. The sorghum gives a cash crop and adds organic material to the soil between the wheat and cotton. Otherwise, a grower has to go all the way from June until fall of the next year to have income from the acreage.

Transferring from cotton to wheat is a little easier. Usually wheat is drilled right into the cotton stubble. Of course the wheat does not make as well on cotton stubble as on prepared wheat land. Actually, this is a double crop situation because two crops are harvested within a year's time.

The control of aquatic plants in farm ponds can be accomplished with chemicals, however, it does involve the selection of the right chemical for the right plant. Howard Lane of Iowa Park has a small farm pond where he is having trouble with moss and cattails.

His approach is to identify the type of aquatic plants and then use a chemical recommended for that specific problem. Lane figures his pond has a floating scum algae on the surface, pond weeds growing in the water, and cattails emerging around the edge.

AREA OIL & GAS NEWS

B.H. Preston Jr. of Burkburnett has staked location for the No. 25 Douglas in Wichita County's Wichita Regular Field. It is scheduled for 2,000 feet of hole making. The location is in an 88-acre lease in the L.M. Collins Survey, about four miles southeast of Electra.

The No. 1B Pace-Blogg is slated to be drilled in the Wichita Regular Field by Williams Petroleum Co. of Burkburnett. With projected total depth of 1,500 feet, it will be spudded in a 100-acre lease of the W. Graves Survey, one mile southwest of Iowa Park, Wichita County.

Joe McDonald of Burkburnett has revealed plans to drill two 1,450-foot developmental wells in the Wichita Regular Field. The operator has 155-acres leased, with drillsites in Wichita County's H. Balch Survey and has designated the ventures as the No. 15 & 16 Hodges "B". Drillsites are four miles southwest of Iowa Park.

Tyler-based Arcadia Refining Co. has filed for permits to drill the No. 28 & 38 S.L. Denny "A", two developmental wells to be located two miles southwest of Iowa Park. With projected total depths of 1,300 feet, the wells are in a 138-acre lease in Wichita County's Cowherd Brothers Survey.

Robert A. Craighead of Electra has filed for permits to drill the No. 11 thru 13 R.A. Holombake B, three 1,000-foot developmental wells in the Wichita Regular Field, five miles east of Electra. The operations are in a 220-acre lease in Wichita County's W.H. Taylor Survey.

The No. 9 Douglas Mineral Trust, a developmental try in Wichita County's H&G RR Survey, is scheduled to be spudded four miles southeast of electra. and wife, new oil well in Hardeman County's Searey's Field, eight miles south of Chillicothe (700' FEL & 1,150' FSL).

The well indicated potential for 15 barrels of oil on an open choke. With drillsite in a 270-acre lease in the H&TC RR Survey, the well had total drilling depth of 8,225 feet. It entered the pay horizon at 8,178 feet and will produce from a set of perforations 8,178 to 8,188 feet into the wellbore.

Pumping at the rate of 40 barrels of oil per day, the No. 4 Roy Judd has been completed in the Wilbarger Regular Field by Wichita Falls based F.T. Johnson Jr.

Located four miles southeast of Vernon (2,867' FWL & 467' FSL), the well is in a 225-acre lease in Wilbarger County's H&TC Survey.

It was drilled to a total depth of 6,819 feet, after entering the pay zone at 6,646 feet. It will produce from a perforated interval of 6,646 to 6,658 feet into the hole.

W.A. Box of Wichita Falls has staked location for the No. 7 Castlebury in Wilbarger County's Wilbarger Regular Field. It is scheduled for 1,900 feet of holemaking.
