

Grass fires overwork volunteer firemen

With tongue in cheek, one could say southern Oklahoma residents have good reason to file air pollution charges against this area.

Three consecutive days, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, pasture fires provided a heavy smoke that drifted northward across the Red River, carried by light breezes which scattered flames over more than 11,000 acres.

In addition to those three major fires, which attracted volunteer firemen from over the entire area, there were numerous smaller blazes that, in effect, poured salt in the wounds of the overworked volunteers.

Firemen converged on the Waggoner Ranch, near Lake

Diversion, Sunday afternoon and battled the blaze until well after midnight. They were called out again Monday for almost as many hours.

The Waggoner lost about 9,000 acres of grass in the fires.

The alarm went off at 1:05 p.m. Tuesday, when fire was sighted on the Triangle Ranch, about three miles west of Iowa Park.

Before the afternoon was over and the flames extinguished, volunteers from Electra, Burkburnett, Cameron Gardens, Holliday, Kamay, Petrolia and Wichita West had joined the Iowa Parkans to fight blazes which consumed some 2,000 acres.

Most of the fire was on the south side of US 287, and had it not been for the railroad and highway forming a fire guard, the flames could possibly have traveled all the way to the Red River.

While the major firefighting force was battling the blaze on the south side of the highway, another broke out on the north side, even north of the headquarters buildings.

Tuesday's blaze so drained the local department's available manpower, Wichita Falls was asked to station a truck and crew at the Iowa Park station to fight any fires which might have broken out inside the city. The truck was parked in the fire station until released.

Fire in the lush weeds and grass sent up smoke that was forced to hover near the ground by the wind, creating a traffic hazard on the highway. Officers from the Department of Public Safety, Wichita County sheriff's department and Electra police department were called in to handle the traffic.

For the most part, the officers stopped the vehicles to warn them of the hazard of driving through the smoke, and allowed to continue.

No accidents were reported, other than a tank truck from Electra hauling water for the fire trucks running into a pickup owned by the City of Iowa Park. There were no injuries.

Local firemen got a hint of what was to come Saturday morning, when they answered a call north of town. A grass fire on the east side of Johnson Road threatened structures and a mobile home, but firemen were able to control it before anything of value was destroyed.

At least four times Monday, firemen were also called to an area on Blagg Road. Besides grass and fences, some plastic oil flow lines were burned.

Officials are not sure whether the fires, which were first reported at 9 a.m., and the last at 8:47 p.m., were started intentionally or by natural causes.

A blaze was also snuffed Monday evening in a backyard on West Poe.

During the height of Tuesday afternoon's blaze, two firemen were able to leave their duties to answer a call to a car wreck two miles east of the city on the old highway. Finding no injuries, they went back to their task of grass fire fighting.

Everybody's watching hurricane

Farmers and gardeners aren't the only people watching the progress of that hurricane in the Gulf Coast and its prospects of bringing needed moisture to this area.

Volunteer firemen here and over the area are searching the skies for rains to help cut down the number of grass fires they've been fighting recently.

The last effective rainfall in this area was June 27, when .79 of an inch was recorded at the Texas Experiment Station.

Actually, .34 was measured Aug. 8, but the area was so dry it virtually disappeared without giving any benefit.

To date, 16.3 inches have been measured at the Station, well below the normal 19.45.

A hurricane was to move onto land near Galveston yesterday afternoon, and local observers say moisture from such a storm usually reaches this area within two days. Though it does not always produce rain, the opportunity for beneficial precipitation is greater, observers say.

Hawks to scrimmage Jacksboro here tonight

Hawk football fans will get their first look at the 1983 edition under fire this evening at Hawk Stadium.

The young and inexperienced Mean Green will be tested by Jacksboro in the first of two intersquad scrimmages permitted under University Interscholastic League rules.

The freshmen are to scrimmage at 5 p.m., the junior varsity about 6:15 and the varsity immediately following, about 7:30, according to Coach David Baugh.

Jacksboro, rated in some polls as high as sixth in the state for its division, is expected to give the Hawks a real test.

After graduating almost an entire team of seniors last spring, Baugh has only two starters, one offensive and one defensive, returning. And with only a few seniors on hand, most of this year's team is composed of juniors, he said.

One of the starters returning is offensive center Craig Whisnand and the other is Greg Untalan, who was a defensive lineman last year but will be the starting tailback and is being looked at as a linebacker or nose guard. Whisnand will likely go defensively also, at tackle or end.

Workouts this week have been hampered because of illness. A suspected virus has held several players off the field. No injuries have been reported, but three candidates for the team have not reported because of pre-season injuries or an operation.

Baugh, speaking Tuesday to the Noon Lions Club, said his teams' intrasquad scrimmages Saturday "... were not as sloppy as I had expected." He said the players were progressing and "... when we get everything ironed out, I think we'll have a pretty good club."

Offensively, he said "I think we'll be able to move the ball," because of Untalan carrying and "two capable quarterbacks" referring to Van Hedrick and Dale Haley.

The Hawks will have to work the hardest on defense, primarily due to the loss of the entire defensive secondary from last year.

Baugh is also concerned about the team's kicking game. He said they can't consistently punt the ball 20 yards yet and extra points might be a problem unless someone develops. Kicking off apparently isn't a problem, however.

The Head Hawk said Jacksboro usually aims at this first scrimmage for a win. The Tigers practice against Iowa Park, while his philosophy is to practice against Breckenridge, the season opener.

Next week the Hawks will travel to Olney for the second scrimmage.

The opener with Breckenridge will be Sept. 1, and the Buckaroos are rated as that district's favorite, as usual. Following the opener, the Hawks host Bowie, another favorite of that school's district. Electra will be the last non-district game before opening the conference against Mineral Wells Sept. 30.

Collins almost makes Browns

Iowa Parkan David Collins made it to the next-to-final cut in his bid to become the Cleveland Browns punter.

The former Hawk standout was cut Monday morning at the Browns' training camp in Cleveland, Ohio, and returned home that evening.

Teachers begin inservice Monday

Though more than a week remains before Iowa Park students have to start school Aug. 29, the teachers will begin their required inservice training Monday.

The Iowa Park faculty is to report to the high school auditorium at 8:30 a.m. Monday, where members will be welcomed by Harold Cowley, superintendent.

A professional motivation speaker from Grand Prairie, Tony Brigmon, has been commissioned to follow Cowley. His part on the program is from 9 to 10:30.

Three sessions will be held before noon for teachers, each to be repeated in the afternoon, allowing teachers to attend those of their choice.

"Classroom Documentation by Computer" will be presented by Jean Johnson, "Science On Display" by Tim Casper and "Vocational Courses Tour" by Richard Davis.

One additional session, English "What they hear is what were getting," will be presented by Karen Reid, English teacher at Midwestern State Univ., during the afternoon.

Teachers are to report to their respective campuses from 3 to 4 p.m.

Burkburnett school faculty will be here Tuesday, along with the local faculty, to attend 15 lectures and workshops provided by Region Nine, and return to Burkburnett Wednesday.

Because classroom space is limited, those attending are to be on "first come, first serve" basis and teachers unable to make the session they want will have to choose an alternate. Most of the sessions will be repeated Wednesday, according to information provided faculty members.

Topics and instructors include: "Bringing Out The Withdrawn Child" and "Behavior Management" by Diane Boddy, consultant, emotional disturbance; "Media Production How To," Kitty Thompson, media coordinator; "Getting Your Teaching Act Together," Sue Gleghorn and Gail Smith, basic skills consultant for special education and acting special education director, respectively.

Also, "Getting Those Kids to Write," Connie Stockard, creative writing consultant; "Solving the Paperwork Overload," Delight Henderson, secondary consultant; "Can He See What Others See," Ann Moore, visually handicapped consultant; "Time and Classroom Management," John Wooley, special education consultant; "Personalized Instruction: Teach Kids How To Learn," Sue Cleghorn and Connie Stockard.

Also, "Self Concept Development," Pat Watkins, migrant consultant; "Questioning Techniques," Gail Smith; "Study Skills," Gail Smith; "Learning Centers for Language Arts," Anne Poplin and Debbie Jordan, special education coordinator and direction service assistant, respectively; "Creative Expression," Anne Poplin; and "TABS: Everybody's Business," Lee Hix, program officer for basic skills.

Thursday and Friday are listed as work days on teacher's respective campuses.

Two ordinances facing council

The city council will consider two ordinances when it meets at 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers.

One ordinance will be setting the tax rate for the coming year, and the other ordinance proposes accepting a water rate increase requested by Wichita Falls.

No increase in the 76-cent tax rate used last year is expected, according to discussion held last week on the budget.

Wichita Falls has proposed a 21-percent increase for treated water Iowa Park purchases, and during last week's council meeting, Administrator James Barrington said he was using a factor of a 20-percent increase in local rates charged.

Also to be discussed Monday night are some bills which have been charged to the city without purchase orders, Barrington said.

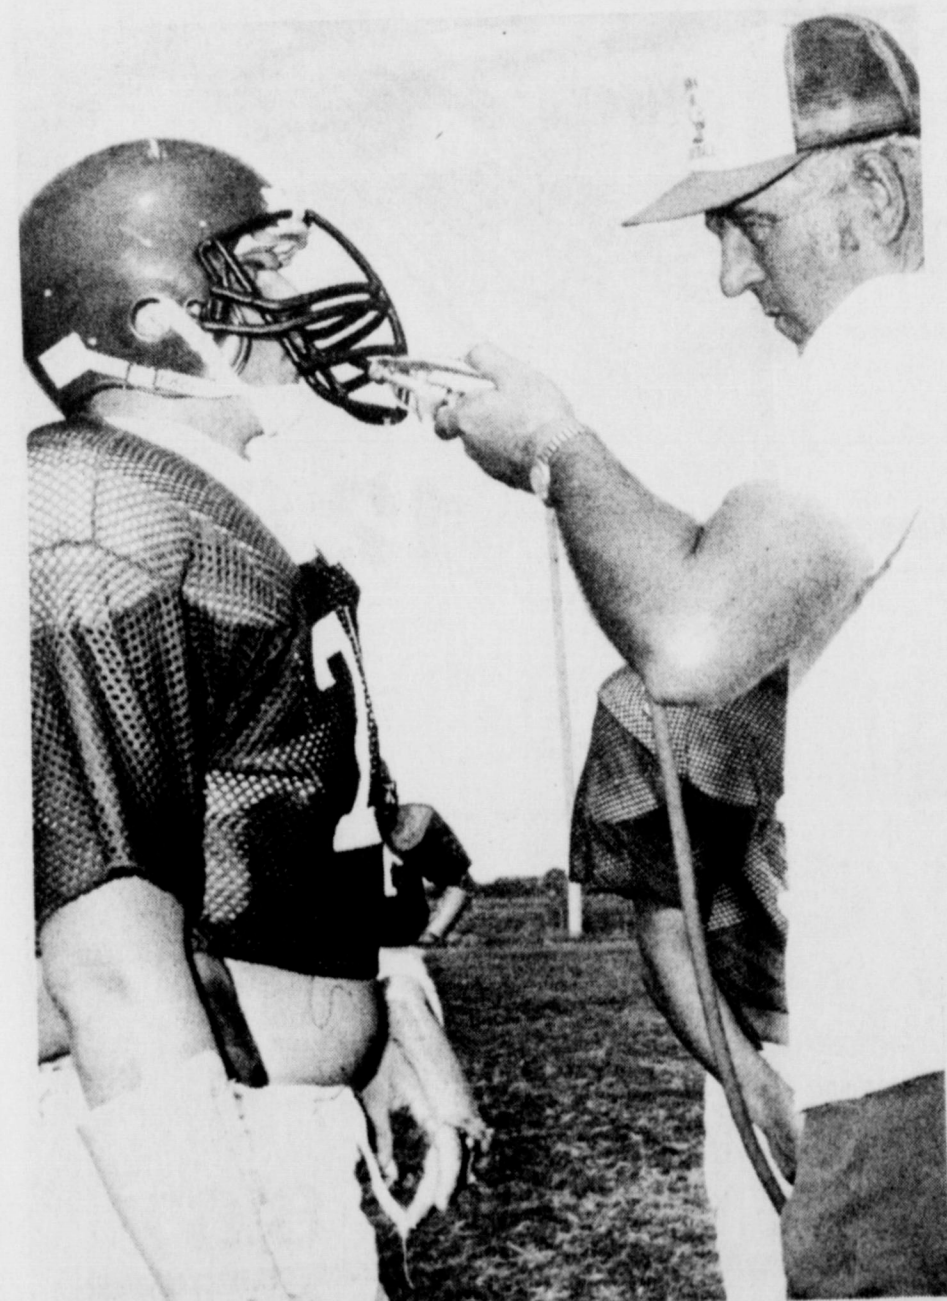

Thieves, vandals at work in town

Two thefts and one case of criminal mischief were reported during the past week to the police department.

Sometime Saturday night two security lights costing $67 were removed from Country Hills Apartments.

A white sidewall tire on a Ford rim and the mounting bracket were removed from a van parked at Wal-Mart parking lot between 7:40 and 8:10 p.m. Saturday. Jimmy Clyde Denton reported the loss was $110.

An unknown substance was poured on the hood, top and trunk of a 1980 Pontiac parked in the driveway at 1017 Cornelia.

"AIM GOOD, COACH" - Tackle Charles Perry gets a squirted drink from Coach Earnie Reusch during a break in Saturday morning's intrasquad scrimmage for the Hawks. Temperature was high, and so was the players' thirsts. After the scrimmage, Booster Club members served ice cold watermelon to help quench their thirst.

As I See It...

By BOB HAMILTON

Parents expect their children to respect and obey the law.

That's an understatement, to be sure. A father would warm the seat of his son if the youngster were caught breaking windows at the school or his daughter shoplifting a necklace at a store.

But there are more laws than criminal mischief and stealing, and parents just expect their children to pick them up in the course of living.

The problem is, parents often forget their own actions are the map children use in learning life. And parents often teach their children to break the law, by their own actions, without really thinking about it.

For instance, . . . and I'm equally guilty. . . how many parents drive down the highways at speeds above 55 MPH? Who has made the comment, "Let's get in behind this trucker, he'll have his CB on and will slow down if there's a Smokey ahead."

Or, "Whew, that was close. I thought he (the DPS) was coming after me, but it was someone else. I was only doing 61."

Probably 99% of the drivers have done this, especially during those years we were adjusting to the speed limit when it was reduced from 70 MPH to 55.

What we taught our children, was that it's alright to break the law, just don't get caught. Not an example we should make.

There's another that is causing a lot of problems, and one of these days in our community, there will likely be a major accident that will mar the lives of an entire family.

I'm speaking of buying children a motorized vehicle, such as a motorcycle, two or three-wheeler, or go-cart, and then expecting them to obey the law.

These things are a whale of a lot of fun, apparently. They must be, because every kid wants one. But they are also a real opportunity to be deadly.

First of all, few if any are for road use. They are strictly off-street vehicles because they do not meet the criteria established by law to be used on streets and highways.

Secondly, the children aren't old enough to get licenses to operate them. And licenses are required for the small, low-powered vehicles just like they are for the family car or dad's truck.

Parents might tell junior he can ride the bike in the vacant lot in the next block. Or he can ride around the house, but stay out of the street.

That vehicle is not allowed in the street, the highway, or even the alley. The youngster cannot get from point one to point two, if it requires him to set those wheels in a thoroughfare of any type, while he is in control.

And then there's the idea that little junior will always obey dad's instructions, and only ride the vehicle when dad's around. Most of our children obey and won't. But it's not uncommon for junior to sneak off and do something he's not supposed to.

I'd like to have a dime for every time I've seen children riding in the streets, alleys, school property, ball parks or on lake dams. Just this summer alone, I could buy the finest steak dinner you can find in North Texas, for both Dolores and me.

I question whether parents fully understand the law when they buy these vehicles for their children. I'm not really sure they care.

Cook of the Week

It is our pleasure to feature LaVelle (Mrs. Ken) Turman as the Cook of the Week, just a week after her husband was introduced as the new postmaster of the city.

The former LaVelle Blevins, she was graduated from Trenton High School and attended East Texas State Univ. She is a licensed beautician and Mary Kay beauty consultant, a busy housewife and mother of the couple's three children, Stephen, five years of age, Stephanie, two and a half years old, and Jennifer, eight months of age.

Like her husband, LaVelle is very personable and anxious to get acquainted and become an active part of the community life. We, at the Leader, have already had the privilege of sampling the Good and Pretty Salad, one of her recipes for this week, and we can certainly attest to her ability as a salad maker.

Salmonettes, another of her recipes, is a reminder that salmon is truly a versatile ingredient. Its mild flavor and rich color make it ideal for a myriad of dishes from appetizers and soups to main dishes and salads. It finds its way into patties, loaves, souffles, lasagne, filling for quiches, crepes and large macaroni shells. Fresh, canned or smoked, salmon can truly reward one with a rich and regal eating experience.

Salmon is indeed the king of canned fish. Its delicious flavor and exquisite texture are two reasons that it has long been preserved. Ancient Roman legionnaires on their way to conquer Britian stopped on the edge of the Gironde River in France and there they spotted the mighty fish for the first time and named it "Salmo" or leaper. Catching the salmon still resembles a fight between man and nature because wind, cold storms, hidden treacherous reefs and frigid waters make each season a gamble for men who fish for the elusive and regal salmon.

GOOD AND PRETTY SALAD

- 1 small pkg. pistachio pudding mix
 - 1 cup chopped nuts
 - 1 cup small marshmallows
 - 1 - 8 1/2 oz. or large can crushed pineapple
 - 1 - 9 oz. carton Cool Whip
- Empty all contents into a large bowl and toss lightly. Chill before serving.

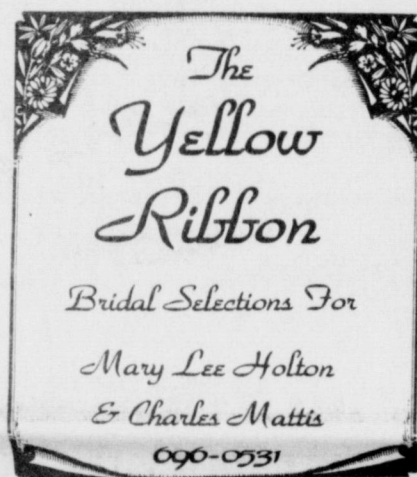

Mrs. Ken Turman

SALMONETTES

WHERE FAMILIES OF ONE OR MORE ARE WELCOME
What picture comes to mind when you hear the word "family"? Do you see a mother, father, and 2,3 children? What does a family look like?
Every family is unique. There are families with children, some with no children, some are single-parent families, and there are "blended families" — where a new family is formed from former ones. "Part-time" families occur when a parent has custody on week-ends or during vacations. Families come in all sizes and in wide variation.
Your family — of one or more — is welcome with us. Though every family has its own specific set of problems and potentials, we all need Christ, His love, and and human caring. Let us meet your family this week!

Actor promotes soil, water conservation

To promote the conservation of soil, water and related renewable natural resources in Wichita County, Fred Dwyer chairman of the Wichita Soil and Water Conservation District announced today the support and assistance of internationally known actor, Claude Akins. "Akins, who speaks for soil and water conservation in a series of broadcast public service messages, is particularly recognized for his portrayal of gypsy trucker Sonny Pruitt in NBC-TV's 'Movin' On' and for his title role in NBC-TV's adventure-comedy 'Sheriff Lobo,' said Dwyer. Akins also guest starred in numerous TV series such as McCloud, Cannon, The Streets of San Francisco, Fantasy Island and B.J. and the Bear. He also appeared in films such as From Here to Eternity, the Cain Mutiny, Skyjacked, and Inherit the Wind. Akins whose interest in soil and water conservation was nurtured at an early age said, "My feeling for the land comes from my father, who all his life had a love for the soil. He had a small piece of land outside Bedford, Indiana and I watched him take care of it as if it were a very important partner. Through his example, I learned that proper treatment of the land is the only way it will really serve us as it's supposed to."

In commenting on current ecological and environmental concerns and how soil and water conservation fits into the overall picture Akins said, "With the problem of an increasing world population and the taking of farm areas for urban development and other uses, I think agricultural producers are constantly facing the problem of trying to produce more and more from less and less on a limited resource."

"Though we have made great advances in conservation efforts in the last several decades, other issues have emerged to cause soil and water conservation to be given a backseat in state and national priorities. These resources should be considered equally along with the other problems we have in our ecology," added Akins.

From a personal viewpoint Akins said, "When I was in the army and in India, I saw the effects of bad land use and the starvation that follows. The people in the area I visited knew the land was subject to flooding every year and yet they did nothing to protect it. Brazil is another example.

HOLLIDAY ATPE MEMBERS ATTEND AUSTIN WORKSHOP
... Linda Cartwright, De Cottrell and Tommye Lofland.

Three attend ATPE meet

Three Holliday educators recently attended the Association of Texas Professional Educators' (ATPE) leadership training workshop in Austin.

Joining 300 other ATPE members at the workshop were De Cottrell, Region IX director; Tommye Lofland, president; and, Linda Cartwright, treasurer.

Billy Clayton, former speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, delivered the keynote address during the opening session, sharing his legislative insights with the association leaders.

"During this last legislative session, education was kicked and tossed around every corner of the Capitol, and when the final bell had rung, nothing was done," Clayton said. "But it may have highlighted education around the state, so something good will come of it."

Clayton went on to tell the group, "You will have a big impact in the special session. As professionals, you have a profound influence on this great state. Your goals are laudable; you have drive and ambition."

Prior to the Leadership Training Workshop, nearly 100 ATPE educators, including the three from Holliday, attended an Assertive Discipline Workshop, which was led by Elden Barrett, an instructor at Baylor University.

Trustees trim budget despite rising costs

Holliday School Board stuck to its guns in Thursday evening's called meeting by adopting expenditures for the 1983-84 school year amounting to almost $40,000 less than what was budgeted the previous year.

Trustees have been working for several months on methods to cut costs of running the schools with anticipated losses of revenue expected from depleting oil and gas taxes, exemptions, in addition to increases in teachers' salaries and rising utility costs.

"We tried to whittle the expenditures back as much as we possibly could," superintendent Dan Owen said. He added the board will meet once more this month, on Aug.

29, to amend last year's budget, which is mandatory by Sept. 1.

The total expenditures, including debt service, for the coming school year is $1,785,449.00, as opposed to last year's total outlay of $1,826,819. Included in this year's tentative budget is a two-percent step pay increase for teachers amounting to approximately $20,000.

As is the case with the City of Holliday, no tax rate can be set until a certified tax roll is received from the Archer County Tax Appraisal District. In other business, the board approved the hiring of assistant band director Louis Bannister, and Karla Wallace as sixth, seventh and eighth grade principal. Wallace taught previously in Iowa Park. "This gives us a full staff," commented Owen.

Prices for school lunches were also set, with kindergarten through third grade paying $1.00, fourth through 12th grades $1.15, and adults $1.50.

Holliday schools open doors tomorrow

The 8 a.m. school bell will announce the start of another school year Friday in Holliday, with all students participating in orientation, according to superintendent Dan Owen.

Kindergarten through fifth grade students will report to their respective rooms, with the lists of each student's homeroom to be found tacked on the door. Unregistered students should go directly to elementary principal Carol Magee's office to enroll, according to Owen.

Ninth through 12th grade will meet at 8 in the high school auditorium, while sixth, seventh and eighth graders, departmentalized for the first time this year, are to report to the cafeteria.

"Students riding the bus should make an effort to be at their designated stop a few minutes early on the first day until we get the routes smoothed out," said Owen.

Band Club plans joint sales

The Holliday Band Club will hold a combination garage sale and bake sale from 9:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 27 in the old gym of the Holliday Elementary building, according to secretary Kay Noll.

Proceeds from the sales will be used to help finance the Eagle Band's 1983-84 trip.

PUBLIC NOTICE

A Public Hearing for proposed uses of Revenue Sharing Funds for fiscal year 1984 will be held on Sept. 6, 1983 at 6:30 p.m. in the Community Building in Holliday, Texas. The amount of unused Revenue Sharing Funds available is $3,652.48. The amount of Revenue Sharing money to be received in coming fiscal year is $5,240.00. This hearing is for the expressed purpose of allowing the public the opportunity to make oral and written suggestions regarding possible uses of Revenue Sharing Funds.

Finnell speaker today in Dallas

State Rep. Charles Finnell, Chairman of the House Committee on Retirement and Aging, will be the keynote speaker at the North Texas Society on Parkinsonism's annual meeting in Dallas today.

Finnell, at the request of Texas Parkinsonism Societies throughout the state, this session introduced H.R. 327, an attempt to call special recognition to "Parkinson Awareness Month" in May. "Parkinson's Disease Week" was observed nationally the week of May 15 through 21.

Parkinson's Disease is a disabling neurological disorder of unknown cause which primarily strikes individuals over fifty years of age but has also been found in children. This disabling disease affects the motor coordination, balance, and speech of its victims and may render them withdrawn from society and dependent on local family and friends for basic care.

Finnell stated, "It is a privilege for our committee to be associated with this fine group of concerned Texas citizens."

Hilltop Ranch tries improving hay quality

By Don D. Decker
County Agent

A demonstration on treating low quality hay with anhydrous ammonia is being established by Ronnie Waters on the Hilltop Angus Ranch northeast of Iowa Park. This practice is aimed at changing low quality hay which requires supplemental feeding to a higher quality requiring little or no supplemental feed.

Waters is treating four round bales by covering them with a plastic film. The edges of the plastic is covered with soil in order to make the package air tight. He is injecting anhydrous ammonia under the cover at the rate of two to three percent. His bales are weighing approximately 1,200 pounds giving a total of 4,800 pounds to treat four bales. At a three percent level this requires 144 pounds of anhydrous ammonia.

An applicator for applying anhydrous into irrigation water is being used to get the ammonia under the plastic film. The bales will be kept air tight with the ammonia for 30 days. At that time, the six percent protein hay is expected to increase to 9 to 10 percent protein. At the same time, the TDN is expected to go from 40 to 45 percent TDN up to 60 to 65 percent TDN.

At the conclusion of the ammonia treatment, the treated hay will be fed to seven 500-600-pound heifers on grass. Seven more heifers in an adjoining pasture will be fed untreated hay plus a supplement. This will give a test on whether the cattle will perform on the treated hay. If everything goes as expected, the quality of the low quality hay is expected to increase to a level where no supplemental feeding will be needed. If this works out, it will show that livestock producers can take their low quality hay and change it to a hay requiring little or no supplementation.

The cost of treating the 4,800 pounds of hay figures approximately $16.

This would be much cheaper than supplemental feeding with low quality hay, provided the heifers performed just as well on the improved hay. Waters' demonstration will give an answer to a lot of unanswered questions.

Wireworms occasionally create a problem in getting a stand of wheat in this area. They usually develop in soils that are higher in organic matter. Sometimes wireworms are a problem following a cover crop.

Ernie Preacher indicated he had one field where this pest destroyed part of his wheat stand last year. He wants to use practices this year which can eliminate this problem. Wire-worms are soil borne and they attack germinating seed or seedling plants. After the crop is planted, there's no chemical control.

Preacher is dealing with this problem with cultural and chemical control measures. He is plowing frequently to keep any weeds from developing during the summer.

Wireworms seem to go to fields where weeds are present.

In addition to this cultural practice, he will apply Lindane dust as a seed box treatment at the time of sowing. Wheat growers experiencing wireworm problems may want to consider using a combination of cultural practice along with chemical control.

Chemical kills area mesquite

A good topkill on mesquites was obtained by Bill Overby in his pastures north of Iowa Park using a mixture of Grazon (piclorram) and 2,4-D Ester. The spray application in early June was aimed at a topkill on mesquite and weed control in the pasture. This chemical combination is particularly strong on controlling weeds, according to Agent Don Decker.

The rate of application included one quart Grazon P+D. Application was made by air.

A check of the pasture recently showed a good topkill on the mesquites except in some of the low places. Weed control on ragweed was good with only a few areas uncontrolled. Ragweed is rather difficult to kill. There appeared to be a good control of broomweed all over the pasture. Cost of the control program was about $7.70 per acre, Decker said. This piclorram and 2,4-D mixture is about the same expenses as 2,4,5-D, but it gives better weed control.

Grazing management after brush and weed control is important. Withholding grazing for an extended time enables the grasses to recover and to compete better against the damaged brush and weeds. A regular spray program coupled with grazing management can go a long way in dealing with the mesquite and weed problems in pasture lands of this area.

SECOND THOUGHTS - To the surprise of Discount Foods store owner Preston Giles, the person or persons who stole over $67 worth of ribeye steaks sometime around 2 p.m. last Wednesday apparently decided it wasn't such a good idea after all. Hearing a knock on the back door of his store around noon the next day, he was greeted by the meat, still wrapped, still frozen, but no one is sight.
