IOWA PARK, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1951

NUMBER 11

The past weekend, combined with the high wind, put the Iowa Park Buffs in their longest losing streak so far this season, two games.

In a well played ball game, the Buffs fell before Sheppard AFB's Jets, Saturday, 12-5. This was one game this year that the opposing team had to win, since the Buffs were heads up in every department but the pitching. Allison was credited with the loss.

The second of the disastrous weekend was the 10-7 ball game local calendar is less crowded have lost to Burkburnett on the home diamond. The Buffs were not able to capitalize on the many chances prove this young chorus is well on given them. The pitching offered by Burk was not as good as the Buffs | The records also continue to prousually face in batting practice. Apparently the Burk team thought care to hear them. the same about the Buff offerings. Cole was given the loss with 12 hits, while Iowa Park was collecting 9 hits. This Sunday the boys will try to baseball left and we are hoping before to a people who wish to prethe Buffs can soon be in a new location which will be permanent and bring some excellent baseball to the fans for the rest of the sea-

It is hoped the fans will continue to support the club and encourage the players in their efforts to bring Iowa Park the gashouse gang type of ball which affords many thrills.

We would like to point out that this team has been more wideawake in the field and on the base paths than any team for many years. Lend them your support, they'll not let you down.

The Brady Dentons, millionth stockholders, are typical Americans. Denton, 3 and a veteran, is an automobile salesman. The couple live in a modest frame home, have three sons. The Dentons bought the stock as an investment toward a college education for their sons. Kirby points out that one family out of every 45 in the country now owns part of the Bell system. No other company has half as many stockholders. In Texas about 15,000 shareholders own 485,000 shares of stock and receive more than four million dollars in dividends from the company annually.

"The investment of the Dentons in the telephone company, like that of the 15,000 Texans, helps make it possible for Southwestern Bell to carry on its big post-war expansion program in Texas," Kirby says. The company has spent $69,856 in Iowa Park since the end of the war, and its expansion program in Texas has cost $336,000,000."

The mothers prepared eggs, bacon, toast, coffe and fruit juice for our early morning breakfast. Then they made sandwiches for us to take on the trip with us.

The bus was to be here at 5:30 and we would be on our way. Well, don't blame Cotton (the driver) if he overslept and got here late.

Anyway, we left shortly after 7:30. While waiting for the bus the girls played their ukes and sang. Most of the girls had plaid shirts and caps on to start the journey.

there wasn't much happened until we got to Seymour. As we entered this town, Mr. Bradford opened a crate at the front of the bus and pass them on back." He must have thought there were a bunch of kids in there because it sure took a big bunch of bananas to fill them up.

There was only a short stop along the road until we reached Lubbock. The Mekiney Park in Lubbock was our dining hall. Here we were met by Mr. and Mrs. Miles Hines and Travis. Bones brought a good looking friend along with him and we sure did want to take them on the trip with us.

Also, Lucille's aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sikes ate lunch with us. We really enjoyed the picnic

Soon it was time to leave. We stopped at the bus station for fuel. Then we drove by the high school and through Texas Tech campus.

We were then on the road and headed for Carlsbad. Rio Vista Courts, our lodge for the night, was where we unloaded. After being assigned rooms, we got on the bus and headed for the amusement center in Carlsbad while the mothers and teachers stayed to prepare supper. Several of the kids found the swimming pool and spent most of their time there until time to go back to the lodge. Some played miniature golf, but others went motorboat riding. Caroline, Bandra and Lucille were the first to try it and after having so much fun they went again. They had a minor accident that time. Seems the driver was a beginner and he was unable to get it turned around. He ran into a building and filled with water the seat in winch the girls were sitting. They were soaked.

After eating and cleaning up, just about everyone got on the bus and we went to town to the show. Some of the girls took the boys to the show that night. Wilma really had a time with her husband, he had to buy a cute little ashtray.

Getting up so early the preceding morning made us sloopy, so we settled down early. We also got and eat breakfast, so we could go to the caverns. We were to get a prize for the room left cleanest, but they were all so clean that they gave $2 to our class fund and presented Harold Mc and his group a picture post card folder because theirs was a little extra. The manager also said we were the nicest and quietest bunch from Iowa Park that had ever been there.

We then took off towards the caverns. Along with several hundred other people, we started the tour. It was a long and tiresome journey There were only a few of our group who staved and walked all the way out. The rest got too tired and rode the elevator. We ate dinner right at the bottom of the especially when they turned the lights off to show us how dark it shoes.

We all went back to the hotel and got ready for the night club to go shopping again. Everyone was dressed up pretty for the night club. We had a five course dinner. Some thought we were going to starve before the next course ar-We all enjoyed the floor

We found at the bridge we were not the only ones going back to the good old U.S. We had to stand in line for a long time. We finally made it back to the hotel. Some went to their rooms and some went walking. Mrs. McDonald couldn't go to sleep until all the girls were in. So at 1:30 Sandra and Lucille let them go to sleep.

The boys were out getting food and the girls were (supposed to be) in their rooms, Eva Jane and Sandra had a time talking over the phone to the Odessa boys who were staying next door. By the way, Amon and Kenneth had some good fried chicken. (We know.) Those elevators go fast, don't a time rolling down those white hills. Our clothes, hair and ears were filled with sand. We managed to shake some of it off before we got on the bus and started for Alamogordo.

braver ones took a swim. It was cold and they nearly froze, but they got some of the sand off. After eating lunch in the park we started again. We drove through pine covered mountains and stopped at Ruidoso. Here we bought souvenirs. We had a few more stops before we came back to Texas, but the main one was at Clevis, where we ate supper.

Nearly everyone had a hand in the poker games and really had some fun. Poor Caroline Sue didn't even have good beginner's luck. She won about 1 out of 25 games and cheated then. Don't feel badnearly everyone cheated. Page, Bobby, Garland, Melvin and Eldon played most of the way home. They decided sleep would just have to wait until they got home.

Mrs. McDonald kept Eugene busy sending instructions to Kenneth and Amon.

While at Ruidoso we bought some cider. Some of the boys nearly exploded trying to see who could drink the most. Mrs. McDonald tried to tell us that Amon had on more lipstick than the girls did, but it was cherry cider.

Oh! yes. Lucille earned a nickle the hard way on the trip to El Paso. Garland offered her a nickle to kiss Harold Mc on the cheek. And you know Lucille - besides Harold had his eyes shut and she slipped up on him.

There were lots of exciting hapthis week telling about his new business the Sheppard Drive In Theater on the Iowa Park road, Doc is a local boy, son of Mrs. first one place and another. Mrs. A. H. Estes. He lived here from Gay ate in the coffee shop in the 1919 to 1928 and attended the local high school through his junior year. The family moved to Childress and he was graduated there in 1929.

Mr. Estes has recently taken over the Sheppard Drive In and invites Iowa Park folk to come and bring their children. The place has been completely rebuilt, with new sound bar, new motor generator and rest rooms. The rest rooms are modern and will be kept clean at all times

Doc revealed that children under 12 will be admitted free with their commodate 334 cars at one time and let their children play in the recreation area before show time. Then when the lights go on and the sound film starts, the children can go back to their parents' car and sleep or view the show.

Mr. Estes is associated in the enterprise with C. W. Weisenberg of Dallas, who bought the show in March of this year.

Mrs. W. A. Litchfield returned home Saturday after spending a week in Dallas with her daughter Mrs. Roy L. Shelby.

Elbert whistled for us, Melvin sang "Let's Go Fishing," and Harold Mc tried to scare all the girls with a little rubber horned toad. Of course the ukes entertained again. We stopped at the Easter pageant grounds, Medicine Park, and the Dam cafe near the dam, and then we were on our way back to Texas. We got our caps and gowns on Monday. Exactly two weeks before we graduate. We leave early Thursday morning for our trip and will return in the wee hours of next Monday. We will probably all stay home and sleep Monday. And we have all day Monday off so that we can attend Senior Day at Sand Beach that afternoon. The next morning the seniors will present their chapel program. If you want to see something good you better come to the schoolhouse about 9:00 Tuesday morning Then Wednesday and Thursday we have the rest of our final exams. Friday we rest. And of course you know the rest. There really isn't much more.

Miss Reynolds, our town librarian, really put a smart-aleck motorist in his place last week -right in center of town, corner of Main and Walnut.

Her car stalled, tying up traffic. Most drivers just waited quietly -realizing she couldn't help itbut one fellow kept blaring away on his horn.

So Miss Reynolds gets out of her car, walks over and says sweetly, "I'm afraid I can't start my engine. If you'd like to try I'll stay here and lean on that horn for you." That stopped him!

From where I sit, a lot of us are sometimes a little overeager to "sound off" before we really understand what it's all about. Let's try to see the other fellow's side in whatever he does - how he votes, what he thinks, whether his preference is for a glass of beer or buttermilk-rather than simply blast out anyone who "gets in the way" of our ideas in these matters.

Menu for the banquet was: Little Red Hen, Jack's Bean Stalk, Snow White, Mr. McGregor's Garden, from Jack and Jill's Pail-Witches

The invocation was given by Mrs. L. C. Hill, W.M.U. president. Kay Quick, junior G.A., gave the welcome to the mothers and Mrs. J. T. New responded. Ann Ligon, intermediate G.A., was toastmistress for the occasion.

A feature of the program immediately following the dinner was "Sing a Song of Six Pence" which preceded the Scripture reading by Nancy Smith, Jr. G.A. Special recognition was given to the girls who have attained the rank of queen by Mrs. James N. Easterwood, young people's secretary. That group includes Barbara Tatom, Delores Hair and Sara Johnson.

Special music was contributed by Sheri Brooks, pianist.

Featured speaker was Miss Sue Barksdale, youth director of the First Baptist church, Wichita Falls. Her topic was "Star Ideals."

The benediction was offered by Rev. James N. Easterwood. Responsible for the decorations were Mmes. Malcolm Mills, Joe Johnson, T. E. Gilbreath, Donald Hill, Noah Guthrie jr., Allen D. Guthrie. G. A. Focus Week activities were

Th etestimony is being taken by the banking committees of the House and Senate. They are holding hearings on revision and extension of the Defense Production Act which expires June 30.

Leon H. Keyserling is, officially speaking, the president's chief adviser on the facts of economic life. He is chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers. The council was created by the Employment

Keyserling told the Senate committee that the main answer to inflation which seriously threatens the garrison state is production. He felt sure the country could obtain adequate production now because it had done so during the

His testimony sounded as though he might have overlooked, for the moment, the depression that was at its depths when he was an assistant in the economics department at Columbia university in

The country had recently come out of that depression when, after its economy received a boost from defense spending before Pearl Harbor, it went into the war.

In 1940 there were still 8,100,000 unemployed as a result of the depression. And there were still 5.500,000 in 1941.

By contrast, there are 1,700,000 unemployed today, because the nation recently has been experiencing a boom rather than a depression.

The significance of those figures is of course that the country today simply does not have the resources of idle manpower to tap that it had 10 years ago.

Keyserling did not explain where he would get the additional manpower that will be needed for the production which he claims is the answer to licking inflation. In fact, he left the impression with some observers that this was a relatively unimportant aspect of the over-all situation. Not so Maurice J. Tobin, secreof his testimony before the Senate committee to the subject of manmajor point-to indicate that he is Lewis LaGrone.

concerned about it. Tobin said defense needs will reend of 1952 than at the beginning of this year. He estimated that of change from civilian to defense production with curtailment of critical materials for the former. Where will the other 4,000,000 be found? Well, employment can be reduced somewhat further from the present 1,700,000, Tobin said. But hind the flowers, white candles he added "more than 3,000,000 of burned in seven-branched candelthe additional defense (worker) re- abra. requirements must be met by new entries into the labor market."

What is more, Tobin concluded, a substantial part of this expansion of the labor force must be accomplished by this December. He did not offer any theories as to where they could be found. A favorite official guess in Washington is that they will be mainly married women. Their ranks supplied a lot of new manpower when the country reached the point where it was scraping the bottom of the barrel during World War II. Perhaps that's the answer. Maybe that's why Keyserling didn't appear worried about manpower. Yet Tobin was concerned. Perhaps he's aware of something that Keyserling may have overlooked. This is the fact that there are 29,000,000 children under 10 years bouquet carried atop a white Bible. of age in the country today, compared to 21,000,000 in 1940-which means that more mothers must
