TOMORROW NIGHT

Stamford speed, quickness concerns coaching staff

Speed and quickness, that's what Iowa Park's coaching staff is most concerned with when the Hawks travel tomorrow night to Stamford for a non-conference game with the Bulldogs.

Coach David Baugh is confused about the Stamford record of 1-2. After studying the film of the Stamford-Eastland season opener, won by the Bulldogs 7-0, he is still trying to figure out how they lost 36-25 to Graham and 48-21 to Olney.

What concerns him the most is the big play by the speedy 'Dogs backs, and if in this game they eliminate most of their costly turnovers.

The last time Iowa Park met Stamford was in 1970, won 66-22 by the Hawks.

Stamford had several injuries last week in the Olney loss, accounting possibly for the lopsided score.

But Stamford had a real opportunity to beat Graham, now a 3-0 team. The Bulldogs led 25-22 as the fourth quarter got underway. But a fumble at the Stamford eight yard line proved to be the turning point for the Steers.

Stamford suffered five turnovers in that game, four fumbles and one interception.

Graham coach Mike Calcote was still shaking about Stamford's speed, even after the game. "I said before the game that we were scared to death of their speed, and we were. And I'm still scared to death of their speed and quickness," he said.

He said he didn't feel he would meet another team with Stamford's speed and quickness, and Baugh agrees. He points out one of the Bulldog backs can run a 9.5 in the 100-yard dash.

Even in their losing cause,

Stamford gained 219 yards rushing and another 170 passing, and that didn't include an 88-yard kickoff return by Wade Shurley, the speedy one. The not-so-fast one, Tim Delce, ran around ends for 137 yards.

But defense has been a major portion of the Hawk game this year.

After all, who can remember when Holliday's Eagles were ever held to less than 100 yards offense. To be exact, in that clash here Friday night, Holliday was held to a net 29 yards rushing and seven passing.

"We played real good defense, in all phases, shutting down their sweeps and belly plays," Baugh said of the Hawk victory.

Offensively, he feels the Hawks still need improvement and he is very concerned over penalties, especially in the first half of play, that killed some scoring drives.

Stamford's football stadium is located in the southeast part of town. Entering the town from the north, go through the first traffic light and turn left on the south side of the square. Continue eastward through an underpass to the next light, then turn right about two blocks. The school building is undergoing renovation, and signs will point toward the parking area.

Kickoff will be at 8 p.m.

New sales tax program is effective Tuesday

Besides increasing the sales tax by a slight amount, the state legislature in its called session added numerous items and services to the list of items the tax applies.

The effective date of the legislation is Tuesday (Oct. 2).

The state sales tax was increased to 4.125 percent, which increases the tax in Iowa Park and other cities with a local one-cent sales tax to 5.125 percent.

The broadened sales tax was accomplished by adding:

- * Amusement services; recreational activities such as professional football games, bowling, concerts and movies. It does not include educational and health programs, amusements provided by schools, municipalities and other public subdivisions or provided for charity or nonprofit organizations, etc.;
- * Personal services: such as massage parlors, escort services, turkish baths, laundry and dry cleaning, carpet cleaning and diaper services;
- * Cable television;
- * Computer software: packaged software and game cartridges (custom software will still be exempt);
- * Tobacco products: cigarettes, cigars and chewing tobacco (snuff was already under the sale tax);
- * Most foods in vending machines;
- * Parking and storage of automobiles;
- * Fertilizer for nonagricultural uses;
- * Repair and remodeling of tangible personal property, such as watches, jewelry, televisions, etc. This does not include automobiles, aircraft and non-pleasure boat repairs;
- * Newspaper and magazine sales and subscriptions (out-of-state subscriptions will not be taxed).

Businesses that pay taxes on a calendar quarter basis should include tax for sales made on Monday to their third quarter 1984 payment. The fourth quarter payment will be figured at the new rate and will include Oct. 2 through Dec. 31.

Monthly payers should include sales made on Oct. 1 in their payment for September. The October payment will cover Oct. 2-31.

The Oct. 2 starting date was caused by the timing of the legislation. The state's constitution says that the legislative bills cannot go into effect until 90 days after the end of the session in which they are passed. To override this rule, each house must pass the bill by a two-thirds majority.

Most of the tax increases were scheduled to take effect on Monday. But the final passage of the bill on July 3 by less than two-thirds majority doomed the new rates to a Tuesday (Oct. 2) starting date.

No opposition voiced to school tax increase

No one other than school trustees and officials showed up for Tuesday night's public hearing on a proposal to increase school taxes.

The meeting is required by law, due to the amount of the increase, 15.9483 percent.

When no one responded during the open meeting, board chairman Roy Boutwell then called for a motion to set a date for the board to take action on the new rate, which will be 53-cents per $100 valuation.

The meeting was called for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A bare quorum was present for the meeting, including Boutwell and trustees Jimmy Howell, Martha Dudley and Marilyn Hale. Rex Wells, Ray Hicks and Rusty Rusk were absent. Prior to the public meeting, Assistant Superintendent Robert Palmer introduced Shirley Noel, a school bus driver who was credited with saving a young student from possible injury.

She had stopped at the mobile home park on the east side of town to let off an elementary student, Palmer noted. She got off the bus with the youngster and after walking around the bus, saw that a driver was ignoring the signals of the bus and drove by at high speed without stopping.

Palmer said Mrs. Noel was typical of Iowa Park's bus drivers, who care for children they are responsible for, and praised her for doing "fine work."

SOAKING ATTENTION - Iowa Park emergency medical technician Linda Robertson gives an examination to Richard Lee Bishop of Wichita Falls during a driving rain Tuesday morning. Bishop and Gary Arthur Ace of Iowa Park were involved in a collision at Colorado and Lafayette.

RAIN

Farmers beaming; ready to plant wheat

There are a lot of smiling faces this week, thanks to a cold front that passed through the area Tuesday bringing with it much-needed rain.

The season's first major cold front also dropped temperatures from a high of 81 degrees, which was recorded about sunrise, to the low 50s.

Rainfall measurements varied almost two inches, from the 3.1 inches measured north of town of FM 368, to 1.39 at the Texas Experiment Station southeast of the city, by early Wednesday.

Vigil Woodfin recorded 1.75 in his gauge by late Tuesday, and with an additional .22 of an inch had reached 1.97 by noon Wednesday.

Louie McCarthy measured an inch and a half at his farm on 368 near the river, the same as Lynn Gilmore had in the Kamay area. James Brixey had an even two inches east of Kamay.

The Experiment Station's records indicate that location has recorded 1.63 this month, raising the year's total to 13.91 inches. This is compared with 16.68 at the same date in 1983.

Jimmy Alsop's gauge had 2.5 inches in it late Tuesday afternoon, he reported.

Richard Hill's 3.1 inches north of town did some damage to the terraces in some uncovered fields on his place, and overflowed a tank in front of his home that was almost dry.

Farmers had been watching the weather reports and skies the past few weeks, needing moisture to plant their wheat. Some had already "dusted" in seed, gambling after the last light rain that adequate moisture would arrive soon enough to save the young crop.

If followed by some warm weather, the rains are expected to give an added boost to the pasture grass, allowing more grazing by cattle until the wheat is at a stand for grazing.

Reports of powder-dry fields that had been plowed in preparation for wheat planting, and pastures with huge cracks caused by dry conditions, were common over the area.

The heavy rains Tuesday morning caused some minor street flooding, especially in areas where culverts were clogged by debris.

At least one accident was attributed to the rain-slick streets.

A two-vehicle accident at the intersection of Colorado and Lafayette resulted in a traffic citation of "driving at an unsafe speed."

Richard Lee Bishop, 19, of Wichita Falls was traveling north on Colorado and had attempted to make the 90-degree curve on Lafayette, but slick pavement sent his vehicle on northward into the path of a car driven by Gary Arthur Ace, 38, of 408 W. Valley.

Bishop was issued the citation.

Police activities range from dog bites to thefts

Police activity during the past week has ranged from reporting on a dog bite to thefts.

Sharon Noel, 118 W. Garden, was reportedly bitten three times late Monday afternoon by a neighbor's dog.

The skin was reportedly unbroken by the bites, and by mutual agreement, the dog is being kept in quarantine by the owner, according to the report.

Belinda Grant told police last Wednesday afternoon that someone had taken 20 pounds of frozen meat from her apartment at Woodbriar.

That same afternoon, Larry Meador, owner of J.C. Meadoe in Wichita Falls, said someone had taken two window units and a stage from a building his firm owns at 300 W. Lafayette. The windows were valued at $350 each and the stage at $1,500.

Three hours later, at 7:21 p.m., Sharon Gregory informed police a piano in the same building, Corner Stone Church, had been damaged. The instrument is rented from a Wichita Falls firm.

Johnny Bookout Jr., 25, was arrested on a charge of public intoxication in the 300 block of East Diamond. A check with area law agencies revealed he was wanted on warrants from the Wichita County Sheriff's Office and Wichita Falls Police Dept., with bonds of $500 and $88.50, respectively. He was released at 5 a.m. to an officer from the Sheriff's Dept., according to police files.

The police dispatcher was informed at 5:11 p.m. Monday of a burning dirt bike in a ditch on Wrangler Retreat Road, off FM 369. The Kamay Volunteer Fire Department was alerted and the fire extinguished.

Members finalize plans for Arts and Crafts Show

The Art and Craft Association met Tuesday evening in the Texas Electric Reddy Room for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Joyce Schmidt opened the business meeting.

During the meeting, final arrangements were made for the Art and Craft Show to be held in the First Christian Church in connection with the Whoop-T-Do on Oct. 13.

Following the business, Linda

Ayres led a workshop in chicken scratch.

Thirteen members, one new member, Mrs. David Davis, and one guest, Linda Ayres, were present.

The next meeting will be held in October with Mrs. Adell Marlar holding a workshop on wreath-making.

This week's cook, Jo Ann (Mrs. Argie) Gould, loves to cook and is a good one. Her family will attest to that.

"When the family gets together at my house, they always request Mexican food," she said. This is why she has an abundance of south-of-the-border recipes that she is sharing with us.

Mrs. Gould's husband is retired from the Air Force, so they have lived in a number of places including Germany, Arizona and Mississippi. She says, "I've collected recipes from everywhere I've been." The "Mexican Breakfast" recipe was given to her by a good friend here in Iowa Park.

The Goulds have lived in Iowa Park since 1968 and have four children: Patty; Sandy; Keith, who is stationed in Massachusetts with the U.S. Army, and Allen, who is stationed in California with the U.S. Air Force.

Worth Quoting

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a letter sent to Gov. Mark White and other elected state officials by a woman in Woodsboro and printed in the Refugio County Press. We think it worth reading because it gives insight of people in public education on White's comments and the reform program.

Dear Gov. White,

I am writing this letter as a taxpayer, a parent, a school secretary and a coach's wife in response to your news conference this past week.

First of all, I would like to say that I think there are many good reforms in the new education law. I think we have needed higher scholastic requirements for students for a long time. When I was in high school, below 70 was failing, and I'm very glad to see it changed back.

However, I do think there are some "kinks" that need to be ironed out in the new law during the next legislative session, and I know there are a lot of other taxpayers and parents who agree with me.

I feel that apparently you are receiving numerous complaints regarding this new legislation, and in order to combat this criticism, you are choosing to use the coaching profession as a scapegoat to draw attention away from the problems caused by this new law.

I resent the insinuation you made that the only reason that high school coaches think students should be allowed to fail one course and still participate in athletics is so they can win games. My husband, Don, is a football coach, and he cares very much about every boy he coaches.

Woodsboro has a really great bunch of kids, and the majority of them will work harder and make their grades. This legislation won't keep us from winning ballgames. If the legislation punishes a student who is lazy and not trying, then I think that's fine—he doesn't deserve to play ball. I agree with you on that point.

But what about a slow student who is really trying? I have two children who are straight A students most of the time, and the new rules aren't going to affect them. Nor will they affect yours. My children know grades and homework come first.

But, I'm sorry to say, all of the kids in our schools don't have parents who are educated or even care if they make their grades or play sports. Your comment was "I've found that smart ballplayers win more than dumb ones." I'm sorry, Gov. White, but I think we owe the same things to all kids, smart or dumb.

If that "dumb" kid is doing the very best he can, does he still not deserve to play? To this "dumb" kid, football is probably the highlight of his life and one of the few things he may have done well. Would you like to explain to this child if he fails only one course why he can't play? He'll never go to college, and couldn't if he wanted to.

No matter how many laws we pass, he won't get any smarter.

Suppose he just barely misses qualifying for special education. Suppose the teachers all say he tries. But a computer magnate in Dallas and the governor of our state say he can't be allowed one mistake. You're not punishing the majority of our kids—just a few. And all of these kids were not created equal. They don't all have the same backgrounds. Aren't their needs just as important as our honor students?

I work in the high school principal's office, and I could show you where kids make better grades while participating in athletics than they do when they don't. We had boys who were passing everything who quit sports, and within a few weeks were failing two or three courses.

Ask any of our athletes in Woodsboro how many lectures they get from Don about grades. Even when they only had to be passing three with a 60, our athletes were talked to weekly about their failing grades. They run extra in athletics for failing grades or for tardies or for misbehaving in classes.

They are told to show respect to the teachers and administrators and to be proud to be an Eagle. They aren't told to just win games. A close tab is kept on their grades, and they are encouraged to do better. Athletes making the honor roll are given special recognition by the coaches.

Some of these "dumb" kids would probably drop out of school if it weren't for athletics. Would our society be better off if they were out on the streets, rather than in school?

The no-failure rule is also not allowing for a teacher-student personality conflict. And don't say that shouldn't happen, because it does—in every walk of life.

Another result of the no-failure rule is that it is encouraging the average students not to take harder courses that aren't required. I've already had parents tell me that their kids were thinking twice about taking trigonometry, physics or chemistry.

They already know they don't have to have it for their college plans, but they had been thinking about taking it anyway. If they are a B or C student and aren't sure if they can pass the harder course, they'll elect to take an easier elective because they aren't allowed a slip.

What is this accomplishing? You may say they should be made by their parents to take a harder course and try harder. I agree. But what if the parents makes them, and they try and they just can't do it? Are they rewarded for at least trying, even though they fail? No—they are told they can't play ball, can't play in the band, can't be on the debate team.

The no-failure rule is just one of many things that need to be reviewed about the new law now that administrators and school teachers have seen them. Perhaps you should listen to a little constructive criticism.

For example, our administration asked if we could take three to five minutes off each class period on Fridays for pep rallies, and were told the new legislation would not permit it. So, our students have given up their morning break and 20 minutes off their lunch period in order to shorten the school day enough so we can have a pep rally before the buses run.

Were you never young? I want my children to graduate from high school with the very best possible education they can get, but I also want them to have some of the fond memories that I had. Education can be improved without removing all the small rewards.

I know that there was a lot of hard work put into this education bill, and I appreciate it. However, I don't think anyone is going to think any less of the legislators or the governor if you admit that the education reform bill needs a little more work.

I don't think most of you have any idea what problems and paperwork this legislation is causing. I'm not sure all the legislators even know what it contains. I would like for each legislator to be required to spend about a week with an elementary teacher in Woodsboro and experience their workloads, including their evenings at home grading papers.

Then I'm not so sure you would be so quick to pat yourselves on the back for the $170 per month raise.

I couldn't begin to name all the things that kids learn from being in athletics and other extracurricular activities. I feel that these are a very important part of my child's education. They learn so many things about life and relating to other people.

I don't think they should be over emphasized, but I also don't think they deserve all the "hard knocks" they have received this past year from Mr. Perot and yourself.

This past week as I watched a group of junior high football players kneel in prayer together before a game and watched a group of big high school football players stand together on the sidelines holding hands with their coaches during the national anthem, and saw a sparkle in the eyes of our band as their parents and friends gave them a standing ovation at halftime for a job well done, I knew that I had to write and express my opinion of the criticism these activities have been receiving. Extra-curricular activities are not what is wrong with our educational system, and they are not what is causing lower test scores.

I feel that you owe a large number of coaches in Texas an apology. I'm sure there are coaches who think exactly as you say. But don't say the reason ALL coaches don't agree with the new legislation is just because they may lose games.

It may be because they care about individual kids, which is more than I think we can say about you. I think we should give attention to making the necessary changes in our new education reform bill to make it as perfect as we can and be less concerned about what effect it will have on the next election.

Thank you for taking the time to read my letter.

Sincerely,
Laura Long

As I See It... By BOB HAMILTON

Iowa Park can ill afford to lose good people like Hoyt Watson, the genial postman who died early Monday morning.

Of course, as a postman, he touched the lives of many, many people. "I never received a complaint about his service," commented Ken Turman, postmaster.

I saw a lot of Hoyt during our early years in Iowa Park, but hardly often enough these past few years.

He was on the school board when we arrived 15 years ago. In those days, with the construction of the new high school, providing more and more space for the booming school enrollment was a major challenge to all the school trustees. And it wasn't uncommon for a board meeting to adjourn at 1, 2 or 3 in the morning, which must have been extra tough for a postman who had to be at work before the sun came up. Such was his dedication. Even with those responsibilities, I remember Hoyt graciously accepting the responsibility of directing the efforts to build Hawk Stadium.

For those who weren't here then, the football team's loyal fans wanted to build a new stadium after the team won the 1969 state championship. They had wanted one year earlier, but the bond issue which included both the new high school and the stadium was defeated. So the stadium was left off the issue when the succeeding election was held.

The plan was, after the '69 season, to build the stadium at the new campus, but entirely with donated monies, services, loan of equipment and discount-price materials. After a month or so from the start, the program began to drag and appeared to be in jeopardy.

That's when Hoyt took over. His coordination of volunteers, as well as the many, many hours of physical labor he put in himself, stands today.

He was also a hard-working volunteer at the 4-H and FFA Project Show. If it were a worthwhile activity for his and other's children, Hoyt gave freely of his time.

Hoyt was a man of faith in God, also. A man's man, he was also a man true to his Maker. I understand he gave his personal testimony Sunday, only hours before his death, before his church's congregation.

A religious man, a family man, a community man. That was Hoyt Watson, my friend.

Finnell's committee completes project

The House Committee on Retirement and Aging, Rep. Charles Finnell, chairman, voted in a Sept. 17 meeting to approve its interim report on "alternative care services for the elderly" and to approve all eight recommendations in the report for the upcoming 69th Texas Legislature.

The Retirement and Aging Committee is the first house committee to complete its interim studies and present recommendations to the Speaker of the House, Gib Lewis, who assigns topics of study to each committee.

Four of the committee's eight recommendations are designed to encourage the development in Texas of "supervisory" service programs for the elderly, as provided in licensed personal care homes. The homes provide room and board and such services, for example, as assistance with activities of daily living, like bathing, dressing, cooking, getting in and out of bed, and walking. The homes also provide other supervisory care. As the committee's report points out, such services are now available only on a very limited basis because of both insufficient state funding and overly stringent licensing standards. As it now stands, these licensing standards require such expensive construction methods and materials that promising ideas and plans for personal care homes are often abandoned.

New computer at work

There's a new computer system in Iowa Park and it's giving a high-technology boost to local phone service.

The system—with the appropriately futuristic name of COSMOS (Computer for Main Frame Operations) — was activated Sept. 17. It will help local Southwestern Bell employees change telephone lines for customers quicker and more accurately than with past systems.

COSMOS identifies telephone lines and other equipment that can be used when customers change service or begin new service. This step, that can take as long as two to three days manually, is accomplished in two or three minutes by COSMOS. Though there are many more steps involved in changing customers' service, COSMOS helps coordinate and expedite the process.

"The computer system reduces the need for employees to manually send and check paper forms," said Dan Adams, local manager. "The result is faster service for customers that is accurate and economical. When you're working with 3,089 telephone lines, as we do in Iowa Park, a computerized system works wonders in identifying available lines. It's quite an improvement over our older, manual process.

"For example, the system reduces the chances of a wrong line being assigned, through human error, which can significantly slow customer service."

Adams said COSMOS automatically gives employees information on making connections that further speeds customer service. "It combines the intelligence of a record-keeper and technician, giving us information instantaneously," Adams said.

UMW completes study series

Mrs. Don Owens completed the Bible study of "The Great Physician" by Lindsay Pherigo for the United Methodist Women at their meeting Tuesday morning.

The first part of the study was given to a brief discussion of malady in its fullest sense and its effect on the physical body, mind and spirit.

The speaker stated that God has given us the freedom of choice as to which direction we will follow in our own lives and in our daily contact with other people. "Human frailty causes us to err in our choices concerning our own well being and the infliction we place on others," she said.

Mrs. Owens stated that malady enables us to experience some form of pain, physical or mental, but as Christians we have the realization that our great wound healer is Jesus.

She noted that he becomes our balm in Gilead either to relieve our suffering or to help us endure it. She stressed that Christians are able through Jesus' grace that sustains them to reach beyond the pain and become whole and complete persons.

In closing, Mrs. Owens said "We must be wholly involved in life. Each life must have a story to it if it is to become whole; total commitment to wellness or wholeness may very well be the path of the cross. Remember that Jesus said 'I have come that you may have life and have it more abundantly'".

Thirteen members were in attendance.

...All information prepared by Iowa Park School Counselors.

A new half-year course has been added this year at the Jr. High School level. Seventh grade students are getting their first experience with computers. Mr. Charles Anderson, teacher, is providing opportunities for students to become familiar with computer-related terminology and use. In their new computer-equipped classroom, students will progress from a study of the history and development of computers to the actual use of the computer as a tool.

Another important course taught by Mr. Anderson is "O.O." or Occupational Orientation Investigation. Formerly an eighth grade subject, "O.O." has been moved to seventh grade and changed to a half-year course to alternate with Computer Literacy. In this class, students will develop concepts and skills necessary for self-appraisal.

Through a study of the occupational clusters, a broad understanding of the world of work should develop. Most important, students will acquire an awareness of available educational training and resources.

Mr. Anderson's O.O.I. certification was earned at North Texas State University. He also earned secondary certification in business and psychology at Midwestern State University. He holds a B.A. degree from Columbia College in business management and an M.A. in management and supervision from Central Michigan.

A varied work experience enhances Mr. Anderson's educational background. Three years in the Army Airborne Division, seventeen years in the U.S.A.F., as well as oilfield and pump machine experience, have added greatly to his knowledge of the world of work.

Mr. Anderson lives near Iowa Park with his wife Mary, a nursing instructor for V.R.J.C. at Bethania Hospital, and daughter Patricia, a fifth grade student at Bradford Elementary.

The Pee Wee Hawks remain undefeated in young Top of Texas Football League, having bested Electra 14-8 in the Sept. 15 season opener, and then shutting out Holliday 22-0 last Saturday.

Outstanding performances were turned in on offense in the opener by Scott McNeely and Patric Kennedy, each scoring a touchdown. Electra's only score was a 65-yard kickoff return, as the Hawks shut down the Cubs all evening.

Chad Thompson had 52 yards for the evening in the second game, and scored a TD. Jason Miller rushed for 51 yards.

Ralph Dillard and Kennedy each scored touchdowns on a 34-yard run and 24-yard interception, respectively. Dillard also caught passes for a pair of extra points.

Defensive standouts were Ken Cooper (one interception), Jason Dudley, Jeremy Kingcade and McNeely.

FORMER HAWK MENTOR Tommy Watkins is carried off the field by his players after Friday night's 27-0 victory by Uvalde over Del Rio. The reason, it was his 200th career win as a head coach. A major portion of his 200-79-7 record was earned at the helm of Iowa Park's Hawks. It should also be noted that one of the assistant coaches of the Del Rio team is Robert Needham, an assistant under Watkins here and at Andrews.

WICHITA COUNTY 4-H'ERS CELEBRATE NATIONAL 4-H WEEK

4-H members in Wichita County are joining the nearly five million young people nationwide in observing National 4-H week, Oct. 7-13, according to Cheryl Mapston and Donnie Peters, County Extension Agents.

Using the theme, "4-H Building on Experience," members are challenged to use their own, as well as others' experiences and expertise in acquiring practical skills. They also are learning good health, developing respect for themselves and others, exploring career and leisure time opportunities, sharing responsibilities for preserving the environment, and developing leadership and citizenship skills.

The agents said that during the special week members of America's largest out-of-school youth education organization will celebrate with activities aimed at promoting individual growth and accomplishment, creativity, social responsibility and family involvement.

In Wichita County, there are 74 volunteer leaders, working with over 5,000 4-H members. These volunteers are among the more than 620,000 leaders nationwide, who each contributed about 220 hours of service last year.

4-H, conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service at Texas A&M University, is available to boys and girls, nine to 19, wherever they live. Programs are conducted in the 3,150 counties of the United States, plus the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, The Virgin Islands, and Guam. Since its inception, about 45 million Americans from all walks of life have been involved in 4-H. In addition, some 82 counties around the world have youth programs similar to 4-H.

4-H thrives because of a unique partnership with the public and private sectors who contribute at the local, state, and national level. Not only does this partnership include financial support, but many business men and women volunteer their time and talents to young people, as well. At the national level, support is channeled through National 4-H Council, a not-for-profit educational organization that used private resources to strengthen and expand the 4-H program.

For more information on how you might be involved in 4-H, as a member or volunteer leader, contact Wichita County Extension office, 1626 Midwestern Parkway in Wichita Falls.

Hawks overcome Eagle defense for 31-0 win

James Beebe's 73-yard kickoff return to start the second half of Friday's Iowa Park-Holliday contest broke open a tight game, with the host Hawks winning 31-0 to remain unbeaten.

The 30 start for the Mean Green has not gone unnoticed across the state, as the North Texas team earned mention in a recent issue of the Dallas Morning News State Poll.

Although the Hawks are not listed in the Top 10 of Class AAA, they are listed along with Anahuac, Ballinger, Colorado City, Midlothian and Refugio as teams receiving votes from pollsters. (An interesting note regarding those poll voters is that none live closer to Iowa Park than Dallas, with the majority residing in South Texas).

Beebe, the senior workhorse for the Mean Green, bulled his way for 111 yards in 22 carries and two touchdowns to lead all rushers in the non-conference tilt. Only four of those rushes were for 10 or more yards, as the big back finished with a 5.2-yard average.

A good-size crowd gathered in Hawk Stadium with the threat of rain lingering overhead just prior to the start, but weather never became a factor. Instead, the deciding factor became evident on the playing field as the Mean Green capitalized on Eagle turnovers while the Big Red found all avenues to the endzone roadblocked the entire game.

Holliday, entering the game with a 2-0 record, including an 18-0 drubbing of defending Class AA state champ Boyd a week earlier, gave the Mean Green its share of fits throughout the first half. Playing a defensive game which brought flashbacks of the Holliday-Eastland playoff game a few years back to the Big Red faithful, coach Don Lucy's troops fought tooth and nail with their opponents, but several miscues on offense gave the Mean Green one too many opportunities to go out ahead.

And, matching the Eagles with a swarming defense of their own, Iowa Park maintained the upperhand on field position, patiently waiting for its offense to get untracked. A summary of third down conversions tells the tale on ball control for the game, with the Hawks converting five of 11 attempts, while holding the Eagles to one of eight successful conversions.

And, as the Eagle defensive backs committed themselves more and more to filling the gaps and halting the Mean Green's rushing game, Hawk quarterbacks Ray Sefcik and Van Hedrick went to the air with telling results, completing four of nine attempts for 82 yards and two touchdowns, both to Phillip Davis.

THE GAME

Holliday received the opening kickoff with back Lyle Jeffcoat returning the pigskin 25 yards to the Eagle 35. From there, Holliday managed only eight yards in three rushes, and punter Pat Parker booted his first of seven punts 29 yards to Iowa Park's 28.

The Hawks likewise found the going rough when three rushes fell two yards short of a first down. Punting to the Eagles, the ball deflected off the back of a Holliday defender, and Iowa Park recovered at the Eagle 42. Beebe, Lee Roach and Jerry Allen each carried for a total of nine yards, and the Hawks attempted to convert on fourth-and-one at the 33. However, a gang of red and white jerseys converged on Beebe at the line, forcing him backward for no gain.

Before the Eagle players had time to congratulate each other for the stand on defense, the offense fumbled the ball away to the Mean Green at its 35, setting up the first score of the night.

Davis lost two yards on the first carry of the drive, but Beebe made up the needed yardage to secure the initial first down for Iowa Park at the 25 with less than two and one-half minutes left in the opening quarter.

Sophomore Scott Weaver then sped 16 yards downfield for another first down at the nine, and, four plays later, Beebe bulled over from the three to light up the scoreboard. Allen's point after attempt was wide, leaving the score 6-0.

Holliday's offense started at its 36 following a 16-yard return on the kickoff by Danny Hinsley. However, two rushes and a pass attempt netted only four yards, forcing the visitors to once again punt away.

At the Hawk 33, Hedrick overthrew his receiver on a first down pass attempt which could have resulted in another score. Instead, the Mean Green was forced to punt the ball away two plays later, giving the Eagles possession at their 18.

Hinsley broke free for an 11-yard gain and Holliday's initial first down moments into the second period. The Mean Green defense stiffened once again, and forced the Eagles to punt from their 34, with Parker getting off his best kick of the game, this one covering 44 yards.

At its 28, Iowa Park failed to make a first, and punted away to Holliday's 33. Jeffcoat gave the Big Red its best field position to this point after returning the kick to its 48.

With the help of a five-yard facemask penalty and two runs by Larry Krob for six more, Holliday started to build momentum offensively. On first down from the Hawk 41, an illegal procedure call against the Eagles nullified a 12-yard pass completion from quarterback Tom Hamill. Instead of a first down at the 29, the Eagles found their drive stalled at midfield, and Parker punted to the six, where Stephen Biddy handled the ball, losing another yard on the return due to excellent coverage by Holliday.

From its five, the Mean Green sustained a drive for three first downs before the halftime buzzer signalled for intermission.

SECOND HALF

Hawk fans found plenty to cheer about in the second half, mostly in the third quarter, as the Mean Green tallied three touchdowns in that period, including Beebe's kickoff return for a score.

On that particular play, Sefcik fielded the kick near the 20, and, with his back to the oncoming Eagle defenders, the junior back faked a handoff to the first man through, then handed off to Beebe before starting up the middle himself. As Beebe broke to the sidelines nearest the home crowd, the Holliday defenders found themselves committed to the first apparent handoff, on the other side of the field, enabling the big back to race untouched 73 yards into the endzone. With a 12-0 lead, Iowa Park attempted the two-point conversion, but Allen was corralled for no gain.

The Eagles returned the ensuing kickoff to their 39, where quarterback Ronnie Fellhauer completed a seven-yard pass to Hinsley. Two plays later a motion penalty prevented Holliday from securing a first down, and Parker punted away to the Hawk 33.

Hedrick first threw an incomplete, but, on his second pass of the drive, the senior back found Allen for a 37-yard gain to Holliday's 29. Roach carried five yards. Then Hedrick found end Rocky Martin open for an eight-yard gain and first down at the 16. One play later, Hedrick threw across the field to Davis, who made a diving, fingertip catch in the right corner of the endzone for the score. Sefcik kicked the point after to raise the Mean Green's lead to 19-0 midway through the third period.

Holliday was forced to punt the ball away following the kickoff and the Hawks mounted another drive, but this one ended at the Eagle 15 as Beebe lost the handle on the ball. Hinsley carried once for two-yards, then Krob bulled for 10 more and a first down for Holliday. But, once again, a drive-killing fumble cost the Eagles possession, this one back at their own 20.

Sefcik entered the game as Hawk quarterback on this possession, and he wasted little time finding Davis open in the endzone for a 20-yard touchdown pass. Sefcik missed the point after try, but the host team held a 25-0 lead with just over two minutes left in the third period.

Both teams traded possessions until five minutes into the final period, when Hawk lineman Robert Adams recovered an Eagle fumble at Holliday's 41. Staying on the ground, the Hawks drove the length of the field for the final touchdown, capped by Allen's two-yard run.

Eagles turn attention to annual Panther hunt

Holliday's Eagles, carrying more mental wounds than physical following last Friday's 31-0 loss to Class AAA Iowa Park, now turn their attention to Seymour's Panthers, tomorrow night's formidable host.

Coaches for the Big Red shouldn't have to worry about the players' state of mind come gametime. The Hawks are very likely the top team on Holliday's schedule this year, along with District 9-AA opponent Electra. And, despite having 31 points scored against a defense that hadn't allowed a single point in the two previous games, the "Stonewall Defense" put on an otherwise impressive, hardhitting performance against the Mean Green.

The Panthers, new members to District 9-AA this year, have eight week. Seymour has the potential to finish .500 or above this year.

The key player who concerns Eagle coach Don Lucy most is runningback Ernest Curley, and that means controlling the outside runs and gang tackling as they did against the Hawks. Curley scored the Panther TD against Haskell on a 30-yard jaunt.

Panther coach James Ivy is counting on the abilities of quarterback Chris Gilstrap, and big linemen Tobie Morrell (:220) and tackle Kevin Schure (195).

The Eagles will be looking to get their offense untracked after suffering six turnovers against Iowa Park, and 11 in the last three games.

Managing only 36 total yards last week, the Big Red has totalled more than 500 yards offensively in the first two contests of the season. Danny Hinsley was held well below his average in the Hawk game, making 22 yards in 10 carries. Fullback Larry Krob, who averaged more than 10 yards per rush in seven carries against Boyd, looked impressive against the Hawks, rushing for 16 yards in only three carries.

Gametime is at 8 p.m. in Panther Stadium.
