Emergency phone system to be activated Sunday

The long-awaited 9-1-1 emergency telephone number officially goes into effect Sunday in all Wichita and Wilbarger county communities.

The emergency number is designed to assist police, fire and medical response.

Upon dialing the number, the call is entered into a computer which directs the call to the responsible area, and besides the telephone number showing on a viewing screen, the address and other information also is shown.

The information will be helpful in cases where the caller, for one reason or another, cannot communicate with the dispatcher on the receiving end.

However, in all cases where the caller can communicate, officials say the caller should remain on the phone until told to hang up.

The caller will be asked the nature of the emergency, whether police, fire or ambulance is needed.

Until all rural addressing is completed, that information will not be on the dispatcher's viewing screen and the caller will be responsible to inform the dispatcher not only the nature of the call, but the address of the emergency.

The Iowa Park Police Department is the receiving agency for all 9-1-1 calls here.

Chief Alan Sheffield emphasizes calls made on that number should be life or property threatening situations.

In cases where the call is not an emergency, callers should continue to dial 592-2181.

School trustees study possible need of bonds

Taxpayers of the Iowa Park school district apparently will be asked at some time in the future to pass a bond issue, but the amount has yet to be established.

After hearing the recommendations of a professional consultant, Gary Keep, at last month's trustee meeting, board members held an informal work session Monday.

At the meeting, the recommendations for both facilities and personnel were presented on a campus-by-campus basis by the respective principals.

The scope of the study was to attempt to determine the needs of the district over the next five years.

Trustees also Monday held an hour-long executive session, during which Len Williams, head football coach and athletic director, met with the board 56 minutes.

There was no action taken nor comment about the closed session after the meeting was re-opened to the public.

Action was taken, however, on two other topics: health insurance for school personnel and purchasing of choir robes for the junior high. Both proposals were approved.

Minimum needs, as presented to the board, is funding of more than $2-million in repair work and additional classrooms, storage space and other facilities, trustees said.

After two board members expressed their opinions that a bond issue likely would fail, because of the poor economy of the area at the time, Jimmy Howell, board chairman said the board has little choice but to call for a vote.

"I don't think we should apologize, to bring this situation to the public. We didn't have anything to do with it (the needs) happening. And if the public turns it down, they would be telling us they want a status quo, that maybe they want a little less excellence in education," he said.

Howell called for an outsider's study of the cost of reopening the campus at Valley View which at least could be used for a few years to educate the fifth and sixth grades.

A number of factors have caused the board to begin making a study on future needs, but the primary cause has been the unexpected increase in enrollment in the lower grades.

A more pressing issue, however, is the need to re-roof the main building at the high school and replace several of the airconditioners. That cost has been estimated at $215,000.

During a discussion on needs at the high school, Principal Richard Davis said he had heard comments that his was a "new building." He pointed out that the structure was first occupied 19 years ago, in February 1970.

With 646 pupils now enrolled in the first four grades of the local school, trustees are recognizing the need to provide facilities for those large classes as they progress in the future.

The four classes enrolled at the high school, as of October, was only 537. And Principal Davis points out that his building is already so full that six teachers are having to move from one room to another during the day to hold classes, because they have none of their own.

Davis said he needs six more classrooms.

"If we are to offer any additional classes in the future, we will either have to eliminate some we now have or gain space in which to offer them," he told the board.

Eventhough four additional class-

Lake rules adopted

The city council Monday night sustained Mayor Tim Hunter's veto of an ordinance that establishes rules regulating activities in city parks and lake property, and then passed by unanimous vote another on the same topic.

The mayor vetoed the ordinance because of its provision which prohibited hunting at Lake Iowa Park, and during a work session, received the council's approval to allow the practice to continue, with certain provisions. Hunting for game birds, in season, with shotguns is permitted, as is continuing trap shooting at the designated range.

However, wading, swimming, scuba diving and water skiing at both Lake Iowa Park and Lake Buffalo is prohibited outside a designated area.

Limits were also placed on camping at Lake Iowa Park. Camping is limited to 72 consecutive hours, and no more than 12 days per month.

Also open fires are prohibited except as authorized by the city council.

The regulations were required, especially for hunting, because Lake Iowa Park was annexed into the city last month, and no shooting of firearms is permitted inside the city limits, other than at the lake.

Another ordinance vetoed at the same meeting as the other veto was one that involves animals. That veto was overruled Monday and allowed to become city law.

Hunter said the veto was necessary because there was no provision for council's vote on the agenda, as required by the state's open meetings law.

Another ordinance approved was one which establishes rules for application for new water services outside the city limits.

Also approved was a request by Billy Gilmore to permit closing of the 100 block of West Cash on April 2 for a motorcycle activity which is to benefit the Friendly Door.

Action was taken to avoid problems experienced recently by Wichita Falls. A resolution was passed authorizing the city administrator to sign forms for the Wichita Appraisal District, claiming an agricultural exemption on land at Lake Iowa Park.

The council received a report on TAKING INVENTORY - Iowa Park police, assisted by city employees, were busy all Wednesday afternoon of last week, inventoring three pickup loads of stolen items that were recovered from a house on Huntington Lane. Investigation continues and at least three suspects are facing charges in the case.

Juveniles admit tire slashings

Two young boys have admitted they committed a series of tire slashings in the west part of the city, Police Chief Alan Sheffield reported.

Tires on more than a dozen vehicles were slashed in about four different incidents, primarily in the parking lot of Colonial Apartments.

The two, said to be about 11 or 12 years old, were referred to the county juvenile department, along with offensive reports and official complaints.

Police received a tip Friday, but the youths were not confronted until Monday, Sheffield said.

No cases have yet been filed against three suspects believed to be involved in a series of thefts of items that were recovered Wednesday of last week.

Three pickup loads of items were picked up from a rural residence on Huntington, north of US 287, by police after the articles were identified as having been stolen here.

Sheffield said last week it would take several days for all the paperwork related to the find to be completed, and yesterday said it might even be longer.

The items, ranging from power saws to motorcycles, have been put in storage, though several have already been returned to their owners.

Theft complaints were filed during the past week on articles that were recovered, but on which no complaint had been previously filed.

One was a motorcycle and the other a rototiller.

Police received a complaint late Wednesday night of last week that someone had apparently attempted to pry open a house door in the 400 block of Valley Drive, but was unsuccessful.

Only one arrest was listed on the police blotter during the past week.

Officers arrested and charged Lannie Lee Browning, 36, with disorderly conduct Saturday afternoon in the 300 block of East Cash, after he had reportedly fired a gun into the wall of his home.

Chamber directors hear SAFB base commander

Communities nearby Sheppard Air Force Base could begin to feel the effects early in the next decade of a recent decision to close certain bases across the nation.

Iowa Park is expected to feel an influx of new families, along with Burkburnett and Wichita Falls, about 1992-93, directors of the Chamber of Commerce were told Monday.

Guest speaker for the monthly meeting of the directors was Col. Aulay MacRae, SAFB base commander, who explained the mission of the base and its expected future growth.

Sheppard, which has always been a major training facility of the Air Force, is expecting to absorb some 52 major courses with the closure of Chanute AFB in Illinois.

Col. MacRae said the base is expecting a 15-percent increase in permanent military personnel, and 37 percent more civilians hired.

The base currently has approximately 4,400 permanent and support personnel.

With trainees, SAFB will have "15,000 people on base any given day," he said.

During his presentation, the commander accentuated with pride the base's contribution to the Red River Red Cross blood donations.

He said the base contributed 14 percent of all blood donated to the local Red Cross in 1988.

The officer, who compares his responsibilities at Sheppard with those of a mayor and city manager, said he has never heard a complaint about Iowa Park's services to military or civilian employees.

Following his talk, the Chamber leaders discussed holding a fish fry sometime in May for several persons to be invited from the base, and also will explore the squadron adoption program.

Other topics discussed during the meeting were landscaping of the new building's grounds, organizing a retail merchants' group, contracting with a professional membership recruiting group and a proposal being offered state-wide by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

ELECTION

Five openings, five candidates

There are now candidates for all places on both the school board and city council elections, but the deadline for filing is not until Mar. 22.

Jerry Reed has filed for re-election to Place Four on the school board, and Larry Godwin has filed for Place Five, currently held by Jimmy Howell.

Only two seats on the board are up for election in the May 6 election.

All three city council incumbents have filed for re-election. They include Johnny Coker, Place Three, Diane Robnett, Place Five, and Virgil Woodfin, who filed opening day for Place One.

The city election also will be held May 6.

Applications for places on the two ballots will be accepted until 5 p.m. on March 22, and absentee voting by personal appearance begins April 17.

Bryant, Griffin vows exchanged in double ring ceremony

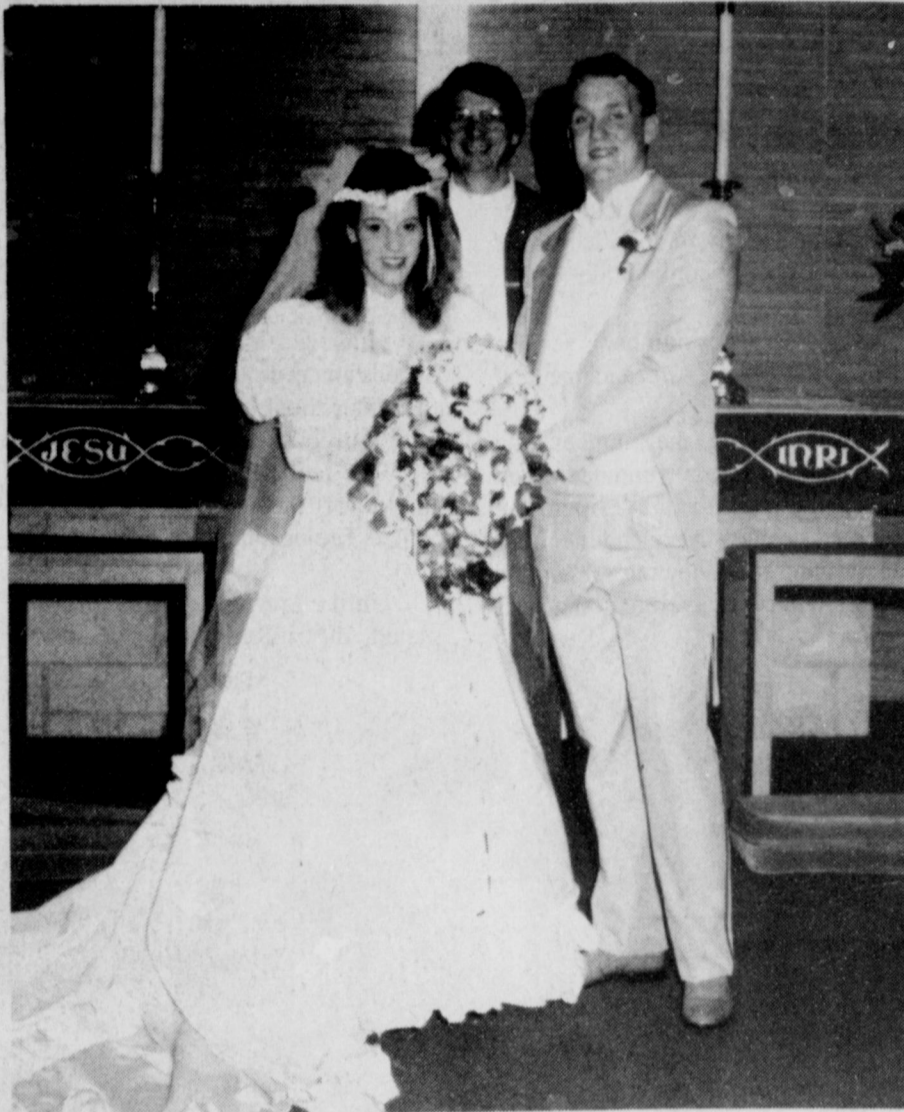

Miss Cheryl Denise Bryant and Kevin Wayne Griffin exchanged vows of matrimony Feb. 11 at Trinity American Lutheran Church in Wichita Falls. Pastor Norman Albertson officiated the double ring ceremony.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bryant and son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Griffin, all of Wichita Falls, exchanged vows before an altar tastefully decorated with baskets of pink and white gladiolas and pink and burgandy carnations, accented with greenery. The bride made her walk to the altar down an aisle decorated with cascades of white carnations accented with English ivy and pink and burgandy bows on each pew.

For her special day, the bride wore a white bridal gown of polished taffeta featuring an exquisite bateau neckline bordered in lace and tiny seed pearls. Lace appliques covered the entire bodice to the flattering natural waistline. The back of the bodice consisted of sheer lace and satin buttons, and the puffed sleeves tapered off to sheer lace, coming to a point at the wrist.

The full skirt gracefully flowed to a semi-cathedral length train. Bows and ruffles adorned the train to complement the rest of the gown. A fingertip illusion veil secured with a satin and pearl bandeau complimented her wedding attire.

She carried a triple cascade bouquet formed of carnations, sweetheart roses, stephanotis and forget-me-nots in shades of white pink and burgandy, and English ivy. Strands of pearls, and pink, white and burgandy ribbon and lace accented the bouquet.

In keeping with bridal tradition, the bride wore an engagement ring belonging to her great-grandmother for "something old," her wedding gown for "something new," a pearl necklace belonging to Bobbie Sikes as "something borrowed," and the "something blue" garter.

The groom was attired in a silver tuxedo with tails, complimented with a pink bow tie and cummerbund.

Cindi Bryant of Wichita Falls, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bobbie Sikes of Iowa Park was bridesmaid, and Miss Candy Griffin of Wichita Falls was flower girl.

The bride's attendants each wore a light pink organza gown, featuring a ruffled neckline and hemline, a natural waistline, and a burgandy tie at the waist. The gowns were complimented with nosegay bouquets made of pink and burgandy roses, forget-me-nots and carnations, accented with pink netting, pearl strands and lace with full-length ribbons.

Miss Griffin wore a white floor-length ruffled dress with puffed sleeves. She carried a basket of sweetheart roses, forget-me-nots and baby's breath intertwined with pink and burgandy ribbon.

Scott Bryant of Wichita Falls, brother of the bride, served the groom as best man. Mike Sikes of Iowa Park, cousin of the bride, was groomsman, and Tony Cantanlo of Wichita Falls was ring bearer.

Chad Sikes of Iowa Park and Neil Parsons of Wichita Falls assumed ushering duties.

The best man and groomsman were attired in black tuxedos with pink bow ties and cummerbunds. Each wore a boutonniere formed of pink, white and burgandy sweetheart roses and carnations. Cantanlo was attired in a tuxedo identical to the groom's.

The ushers wore black tuxedos with burgandy bow ties and cummerbunds, complimented with boutonnieres formed of pink and burgandy carnations backed with pink net.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

White lattice work, intertwined with ivy highlighted the room. The bridal cake was a creation of large pink and burgandy roses with swirls of sweetheart roses, and was topped with a lace gazebo surrounded by burgandy and pink roses and holding a kissing bride and groom.

Modern Dentistry

By Dr. Richard Carver

IMMEDIATE DENTURES

When some people must lose their teeth they choose an immediate denture. This means that rather than having their teeth removed and then waiting for the extraction site to heal-the denture is made before the extractions are done and is inserted the day the teeth are removed.

Sometimes the patient wants to go to the hospital and have everything done at once. Most however prefer to have the back teeth removed first and let that area heal-then have the denture inserted the day the front teeth are removed.

Many times this is a good choice as the patient can continue to work. The denture acts as a bandage covering the extraction site to help keep food particles and foreign matter out and at the same time helps to control any bleeding.

As the gums heal and the tissues round off and shrink, the dentures must be adjusted. After about three months the denture will need to be relined or remade so that it will fit properly. You can see that while an immediate denture will cost a little more than a conventional type denture, it can be a more convenient way and a wise choice.

If you would like more information - you may call the office at 592-5141.

Speech therapist gives Lioness Club program

Mrs. Jerry Gholson, a speech therapist in her 11th year at North Texas Rehabilitation Center, gave the program Thursday for the Evening Lioness Club.

She was introduced by Mrs. Kenneth Via. The meeting was held in the Lions building and hosted by Mrs. Don Jagger and Mrs. Riley Thompson.

Mrs. Gholson, who is one of eight workers in the infant/child development program, works with children under the age of three years. She explained that the program for children from birth to age three and from three to six years of age is part of a statewide system of early intervention services for developmentally delayed children. She said it provides developmental training education through education, physical, occupational, speech/language and therapy.

Mrs. Gholson stated that about 120 children go to the center each week from north Texas and southern Oklahoma, and that three who are in national studies live there. She said doctors from Oklahoma City go to the center to observe the children.

The ladies said they share a love for traveling and photography and have driven more than 25,000 miles since they began traveling together in 1985. They have attended seven Elderhostel programs since 1987, each in a different state.

A slide presentation including pictures taken at Glacier National Park, Yosemite National Park, Yellowstone National Park and Gunflint Lake was shown to members.

As I See It... By BOB HAMILTON

It appears some bureaucrats and dogooders have asked our county commissioners for help to continue existing.

A story in yesterday's edition of that paper from Wichita Falls was about the Human Relations Commission asking commissioners court to seek expansion of the group's powers outside Wichita Falls.

Why? Simply because they don't have enough cases in the city, and figure surely there are some businesses out in the county that need some attending to.

The Human Rights Commission has apparently been given a goal of 100 cases and, shucks, they can't find but 65 in Wichita Falls.

Boy, if they come over here, I'm surely going to be charged with not hiring some balding, pot-bellied, cigarette-smoking, poor-playing-golfer who wants to edit the paper.

Surely, some farmer has turned down a blind, one-armed candidate for a tractor driving job, or a dentist has decided a snaggle-tooth, 500-pound, unwashed hag who decided it was time to collect a dental assistant's salary.

Or maybe, just maybe, we've got a hot check writer who's out on parole and still fighting off a dozen court cases for revocation of parole because he still forges his dead mother's social security check, who feels he would make a great loan officer at the bank.

If ever I've seen an appeal for help to exist where you're not needed, that article was it.

Figuring there's gotta be some complaints outside Wichita Falls, where all kinds of fuss was raised when some women were turned down for police officers and firemen because they couldn't pass a physical, the spokesperson was quoted as saying, "Our hope was that a lot of those potential complaints might help us in getting those 100 cases."

Nuts. Go complain to Washington that there aren't enough complaints here for you to continue!

News Briefs

Trash pickup is rescheduled

Trash collection normally scheduled for today will be rescheduled to allow city employees to celebrate Texas Independence Day.

Those routes not collected will be added to Friday and Saturday schedules.

The sanitary landfill will also be closed today, but will open to the public at 8 a.m. Friday.

MSU teacher to be speaker

A professor from Midwestern State Univ. will speak on programs to help small businesses, when the retail merchants meet Tuesday.

Chamber of Commerce President Kenneth Via said the specialist on small business help will be the first of a series of programs designed to benefit local businesses.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at the Chamber building. It is open to the public, and membership in the Chamber is not required, Via added.

Band Boosters' meeting Tuesday

Parents of all junior high and high school band students are being encouraged to attend a meeting of the Iowa Park Band Boosters at 7 p.m.

Tuesday in the high school band hall. Plans will be made for the annual cornbread and bean supper, which has been set Mar. 11.

rooms were built two years ago at Kidwell Elementary and the same were added on last year at Bradford Elementary, both principals told the board they were at, or over, the state-mandated teacher-pupil ratio of 1-22.

Both building projects were paid for out of excess funds, but, Supt. Glen Mitchell has said, there are no more excess funds other than what is needed to start a school year without borrowing money.

More classrooms, as well as other space needs were proposed by Ron Woods of Kidwell and Kenneth Davis of Bradford.

One of the major needs Woods said that was needed besides classrooms was for a physical education space. This is a subject that has been discussed by school boards here over more than a dozen years.

Expansion of space needs could be developed by taking in the covered walk on the east side of the building, both Davis and Keep proposed.

Davis said he needs four more classrooms to relieve his use of the temporary buildings that were placed on his campus last year, or at least a large facility for a library.

He said every available space on the Bradford campus, including the bookroom, was now in use, and his enrollment will increase as Kidwell students move up.

More classrooms, office space and restrooms are needed at the junior high, Jimmy Alsup told the board. He proposed the additions be put on the east end of the structure.

He also said the students who are placed on "in-house suspension" be kept on his campus, rather than sending them to the facility at the high school.

Besides more classrooms at the high school, future needs are for more space for the music department. Davis suggested the present music room, which is used both by the band and choir, be converted into more classrooms and a new music building be built.

The school will retire all its bonded indebtedness next year. That includes the bond debt assumed when Valley View consolidated with Iowa Park.

Three and a half cents of the tax rate is dedicated to pay bond debts. But that cannot be used for anything else except the existing debts, Alan Shewmake explained to the board. Any new money needed for bonds would have to be voted by the taxpayers.

More meetings are to be held by the board on the program topic, but likely will not be a part of discussion during regular meetings, until the board is ready to call for an election, if it does.

the recently-completed water system study by Biggs and Mathews.

Recommended was the relocation of the water tower at Lake Gordon to a site near South Colorado, which would serve the entire southern part of the city, and to abandon the old tower in City Hall Park.

Bids for relocation of the tower, or building of a new tower, will be advertised.

No action was taken on a proposal for a study of the city's sewer system, which will cost approximately $35,000 and require six months to complete.

Council members said they wanted to wait until the next meeting, which will be Mar. 13, to make any decision on the proposal.

A proposal to accept revision of the retirement system for members of the volunteer fire department was approved.

Terms of all Planning and Zoning Commission members have expired, and appointments of members and terms were approved.

Commission members and terms include: Billy McNeely and Bob Goodnight, one year; Vern Horsky and Charlie Brown, two years, and David Padgett and Keith Aulds, three years.

Council members unanimously expressed support for James Barrington's candidacy as director for Region Three, Texas City Management Association.

Barrington explained he had been nominated by the organization, for a two-year term. And though there would be some travel involved, he said his service on the board could be of benefit to the city, as well as to himself, professionally.

Cook of the Week

Mrs. Mikel Bowling
Ben and Boon

Handling two full kindergarten classes is a challenging job - but then again, so is taking care of a family while working. This week's featured cook, Janet (Mrs. Mikel) Bowling, manages to do both and do a good job.

The former Janet Boon of Mineral Wells has taught kindergarten at Kidwell Elementary School seven years, and prior to that taught one year as a special education teacher at Iowa Park Junior High.

After growing up in Mineral Wells, Janet graduated Texas A&M Univ. with a degree in teaching. She said her interest in teaching children was fostered by working in daycares throughout high school.

Janet and her husband of eight years, Mikel, have two children, Boon, four years old, and Ben, one. Mikel teaches industrial arts in Electra.

Like most working mothers, when Mrs. Bowling leaves work and comes home, it's usually a mad dash to cook supper, bathe the kids as well as other domestic activities.

With all that plus taking a night computer course, Janet still manages to find time to do the things she loves. Those include reading, country crafts, cross-stitch, and clogging, a hobby she recently took up.

During summer break, she teaches Vacation Bible School at Faith Baptist Church where the family holds their membership.

Other than that, she said she uses the time to relax and spend time with her children.

He listed the present officers as Rev. Betty Stribling, president; Rev. John Mollett, vice president; and Rev. Ole Olds, secretary.

He said the Alliance was quite active in the food pantry, which served 99 families during the Christmas holidays and 16 families between Jan. 5 and Feb. 2 this year. He said it also helped the Friendly Door with van problems, helped some families pay utility bills and buy needed gasoline.

In discussing help rendered to transients, Hensley said the Alliance provided food and gasoline, and if they needed shelter, referred them to agencies in Wichita Falls.

The minister said money received from the community Thanksgiving and Easter services, donations from businesses, individuals and clubs enabled the Alliance to help alleviate the needs of many people during the year.

Discover the Joy

A SALUTE TO AMERICA'S MAN, TOM LANDRY

Tom Landry, you're special to us! First for what you were not, and then to realize the high plain of life. Tom Landry, to his credit, in a day of moral looseness, was never a woman chaser, a boozier, a user of foul language, never one involved in "shady deals"; nor a drug user, a bitter, revengeful person; neither is he a man who would make a spectacle of himself. In Tom Landry an example is provided of a man whose word was his bond and a man whose handshake was as binding as any legal contract. In him is the picture of character, integrity, work ethic, a role model that people respect, admire, and know to be a gentleman. Here is a man who dearly loved his work and put his total being to be absorbed in the success of his work. Here is a man that is respected and admired by friend and foe alike. This is an individual whose inner strength in time of adversity gives each one who views a sense of awe and marvel!

To a certain measure, the Cowboys were called "America's Team" because in the minds of many of us, Tom Landry symbolizes everything right with America. We do not know what the future holds for Tom Landry, but whatever his field of labor, we know it will be honorable, legal, and ethical. Thanks Tom! This world needs more people like you!

Optimists hear progress of Iowa Park Girl Scouts

The Iowa Park Optimist Club met recently where they heard a program on the Girl Scouts organization by Barbara Brock.

Brock told members that the Girl Scout organization has been in the area 27 years. She said 61 girls are members in Iowa Park, with 16 adults, increasing the attendance by 100 percent this year.

She said the girls' uniforms have changed from previous years, having gone from an all-green outfit to a blue blazer, green skirt and green and blue striped blouse.

She went on to say that there are 83 badges a Girl Scout can earn, and the projects the girls are involved in this year include visiting the elderly, food collection for the needy, and the day care center.

In closing, Brock thanked the Optimist Club for honoring the Girl Scouts every year.

Couple visits every county courthouse in Texas

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Iowa Park native H.O. (Oscar) Lockridge and his wife, Evalyn, sister to Mrs. Joe Singer of Iowa Park. A column by Tumbleweed Smith on their efforts has already appeared in the Big Spring Herald and Marshall News Messenger.)

Forward

The most common question posed to us during and after our endeavor to go to every County Seat in this great state was simply "why?". After about one hundred of such questions we began to suffer from a complex that seemed to suggest a mental imbalance. In fact, we became somewhat defensive about the whole thing. Perhaps we were driven by the same impetus that mandates the proverbial mountain climber, "because it's there." It all started in the sesquicentennial year of Texas' independence, 1986. Mark and Alisa Wood, Evalyn's son and daughter-in-law, along with their children, Ashley and Alden, set out to accomplish this very thing. We were quickly swept up into envy. We realized that while we were both native-born Texans, we had actually seen a minority portion of this great state. Shortly thereafter we read of a couple in Corsicana who had accomplished this endeavor entirely within the calendar year 1986. These things got us started and the interest simply grew from there.

To understand better our observations on the various Courthouses and County Seats, please realize that this is certainly not an in-depth, technical review of architecture, history, or politics. It is very simply the opinions of two ordinary Texas citizens who happened to have the opportunity to visit all 254 counties, take pictures of each Courthouse, and read the informational markers present at each of them.

Background

Our background of exposure to Texas went something like this. Evelyn was born in Floydada, and subsequently lived in Amarillo, Fort Worth, Marshall, Henderson, Stephenville and Wichita Falls. Oscar was born in Iowa Park and subsequently lived or worked in Shamrock, Channing, McLean, back to Iowa Park, Arlington, Dallas, Lubbock, Paducah, Olney, Big Spring, Houston, Fort Worth, and North Richland Hills. Neither of us had ever been south of Corpus Christi, our exposure to the Rio Grande River was very minimal from El Paso to Brownsville, and our exposure to West Central Texas was nil.

Procedures

We began with weekend trips to pick up 2 or 3 county seats. Then came family and school reunions where we went one way and returned another. Occasionally we took a week-long trip, picking up 20 to 30 more counties. Then came the realization that we had over 100 County Seats and the interest began to go from flicker to flame. When we got to 200 it became an obsession, and naturally the last 50 or so were far removed from our hometown of North Richland Hills. Our last came in Dalhart on May 23, 1988 at 5:11 p.m.

All but 2 of the visits were accomplished by driving to the courthouse square, taking pictures, reading cornerstones, reading historical and memorial markers, and most importantly, visiting the rest rooms. The two exceptions mentioned above were at Marfa and Fort Davis. We were on a bus tour from Midland to El Fuegos, Mexico and return. We were forced to take Ft. Davis from the bus window, and the driver stopped outside the Marfa courthouse long enough for Evalyn to step off the bus, click, and away we go.

If one uses their imagination as to how they would preplan such an endeavor, they would naturally attempt to accomplish this with a minimum of driving and backtracking. Our planning hit some rather serious snags. For example, we completely overlooked San Jacinto County while working through East Texas. This made it necessary for us to later go about 250 miles out of our way. We arrived at Groveton late on a December day during a drizzle of rain. The resulting picture was very poor and necessitated a later return. We took the picture at Waxahachie at the very end of a roll of film, and it didn't take. At one point, a role of film was ruined by the developers, fortunately it contained no critical or remote courthouse pictures. Our next trip after this was to El Paso. We took two cameras, took pictures with both of them, and changed developers. As a followup to this, we have been careful to take pictures of State Capitols while visiting other states. We now have Texas, Hawaii, Illinois, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, New York, New Mexico, Utah, Rhode Island, Washington, Tennessee, plus the Capitol in Washington, D.C. and in Canberra, Australia. Who knows what that might lead to? For the benefit of those who might be wondering, we drove between 24 and 25 thousand miles in this endeavor.

The first courthouse in our undertaking was Hardeman county, in Quanah. As mentioned before, the last was Dallam county, in Dalhart. The longest loop was about 36 counties, leaving home and working our way all the way to Brownsville, returning a different route to our home. This trip was almost 1800 miles. The longest trip for the least number of counties involved a 1200 mile trip in the area of Fort Stockton and Sanderson and provided only 6 counties. The most difficult courthouse for us to find was in Cass county, which incidentally is the oldest of all 254. The reason it was so difficult was that we searched for it in Atlanta for close to an hour before asking and being told that it was in Linden. Stratford wins hands down for the most difficult to find in a small town. We also had a lot of problems finding the Bowie County courthouse, searching all over Texarkana for it. It's in Boston, a town with a listed population of 200, 23 miles from Texarkana. You are certainly, at this point, thinking what a lack of planning and organization! Maybe so, but if we had been professionals at this we wouldn't have had nearly as much fun.

You might well imagine what would happen if you stopped 254 times to take pictures in the middle of town. In some of these instances you are going to be challenged, questioned, or simply drawn into conversation. Since Evalyn took 253 of the pictures (in Meridian she was sick and simply couldn't handle it), she was the one who got the most feedback. In Conroe, while seeking the most advantageous camera angle, a local fellow says "Are you from the Gazette?" After explaining that she was not, a little lady pulls into two (!!) parking spaces and says "Are you with the Gazette?" No Maam. "Well, what are you doing, then?" "We're taking pictures of all the Texas Courthouses." "Well, have you gotten the one in Fairfax, Virginia?"

In Titus County (Mt. Pleasant) some local fellow stopped his car, blocking the flow of traffic around the square and yells, "What are you doing, taking a picture of the Ugliest Courthouse in Texas?" Evalyn politely did not comment, but I heartily agree with the fellow. Do not interpret this to mean that there is anything wrong with Mt. Pleasant, it's people, or it's beautiful East Texas scenery, it's just that they truly have the grungiest looking courthouse in Texas. In Eagle Pass, while seeking a favorable camera angle, Evalyn walks up as the County Sheriff and about 4 deputies were leading two fellows in handcuffs out of the courthouse to transport them somewhere. There were TV cameras going, crowds watching, much excitement. A distinguished looking fellow moved quickly in front of Evalyn's camera and politely stated "I am Judge So and So, may I help you?" Evalyn stated her case and he nearly talked her arm off wanting to know how Eagle Pass stacked up with the others. Quite frankly, we didn't run into a single sorehead, confirming our belief that Texas people are the friendliest folks around.

Since I have mentioned Titus County's drab Courthouse, I do not want to leave that subject until I tell you about Zapata County. First, you need to know that the folks in Zapata have a lot of pride in their town. They have created a nice boulevard leading for several blocks straight to their Courthouse. In the median of this street, there are all sorts of beautiful flowers, regular shrubs, and tropical shrubs. The Courthouse runs Titus a close race for disaster. It was quite obvious to us that there was something wrong in Denmark (Zapata). We couldn't really put our finger on why people with such pride would build a monstrosity like this. The truth came out when we stopped to try to buy a postcard depicting the Courthouse. It seems that in the late 40's and early 50's, our Uncle Sam wanted to build a large lake on the Rio Grande. Zapata, at that time, was situated down by the river. For Uncle Sam to put up a dam would necessitate Zapata being out under water. So, our learned electees in Washington says to Zapata, "If you will move your town up on your hill, and let us flood where you are now, we will build you a new water system, a new Post Office, and a new Courthouse." Is it necessary for me to say more? I would be willing for my tax money to rectify this fiasco. Heaven knows that we spend oceans more for extremely less worthy causes.

Evalyn and I were extremely impressed with Courthouses in Texas as a whole. In some instances, it was simply the Courthouse itself, in others, the Courthouse was maybe not as ornate, but the town itself appealed to us. Example: Miami, Texas. Now, you need to admit that you either never heard of Miami or that you have never been there. Miami, Texas is one of the prettiest little towns in Texas. It is neat, has a neat little museum, it's clean, and we were simply impressed. Please bear in mind that we made most of the Panhandle and South Plains during 1986 following one of the wettest springs and summers on record for that area. On the same swing, we were equally impressed with Wheeler and Canadian. Have you ever been to Lipscomb? It's in the top right hand corner. The Courthouse is 2 story, about 40x40 and is very neat. The city limit sign says 125 population and the Post Office is in a travel trailer (not mobile home, travel trailer!). Another Courthouse setting that impressed us to the extreme was the one in Mason. Now, we had never been to Mason and were expecting something like you see in the middle of the New Mexico wilderness. Mason, Texas had one of the most beautiful grounds around a Courthouse that you will ever see. It's grounds are 3 blocks long and 1 block wide and the grass looked like the Pebble Beach Fairway. The whole town was neat, clean, and a lot of pride shined through. One other that you haven't been to or haven't heard of is Channing. One of the neatest that we saw in the whole state, and we visited inside with some of the nicest people in captivity. Go through Channing the next time you go to the Panhandle.

The ones we mentioned above are mostly in small towns. There are two Courthouses in Texas that, in our opinion, make you understand where they got the word, "Majestic." They are McClennan in Waco, and Tom Green in San Angelo. McClennan, of the Courthouses that are 40 or more years old, is undoubtedly, the largest. It really gives you a feeling that many state capitol buildings are not this large or this beautiful. It is a magnificent structure. Not the most ornate, but nevertheless, stately, majestic, and beautiful. Tom Green has to be the number one all around magnificent Courthouse in Texas. It belongs in Washington, D.C. alongside the Capitol, the Smithsonian, and all the other stately structures. The grass was like the putting greens of your most memorable golf course. The shrubs, the flowers, the landscaping was magnificent. Truly a delight.

Unusual are the Courthouses in Hereford, Center, Houston and a few others. Hereford has a marker pointing out that it is one of the only two in the U.S. that is made of marble. It is very attractive. Evalyn and I saw the other one in Burlington, Vt. afterward and Hereford is prettier or maybe we were biased. Center is unique in design, having been styled after an Irish Castle, with turrets on each corner. Very impressive, but detracted from by one of the poorest lawns of the 254. Houston's is unique because of its being in the 4th largest city in the U.S. and probably isn't much bigger than the one in Lipscomb (Pop. 125). Another unusual Courthouse is in Duval County, the home of George Parr. Duval is one of Texas' larger counties and the Courthouse is only 1 block from the county line. Crystal City and Carizo Springs claim to be the two closest county seats in Texas, but the odd location of Duval's seat in San Diego runs it a close race since it's only 10 miles from Alice. Another oddity, Cass County Courthouse is reputed to be the oldest Courthouse in Texas. It was built in about 1859-61 and withstood the burnings that plagued many others because of the almost 3 foot thick walls. Speaking of burning, it is mind-boggling at the number of Courthouses that have burned in this state. Upon questioning county employees in the various counties where this happened, almost without fail they told us that it was a situation of arson to cover up a theft, an indictment, a black mark on one's record, etc.

When we are discussing this project with people, a high percentage ask if we didn't find Decatur, Waxahachie, or Fort Worth the most beautiful. Certainly these are beautiful, ornate, and memorable. They are also highly visible and have been seen by far more people than the average Courthouse. They are either high on a hill, right on a main highway, or some other means of being seen by a large number of people. I withhold comment on Tarrant County Courthouse because my Grandfather was on the County Commissioner's Court that voted to build it. Yes, it's beautiful, prominent, ornate, magnificent, but I live here and I'm biased. In our humble opinion, the most beautiful courthouse in Texas from the standpoint of the structure itself is in Victoria, Texas. It is not on a main highway, it is not on a hill, and 98% of the people that go through Victoria never see it. It is no longer the main Courthouse but parts are still in use. It is ORNATE.

Short stories

The feeling of awe in Gonzales when reading about the massacre; the lousy job being done in Sierra Blanca on the lawn; the good job that Corpus Christi did when they decided to build a new Courthouse; realizing that when we drove into Loving County that we had increased the population of the County by 2% and 30 minutes later decreased it by the same; knowing in Borden County that this was congested compared to Loving County; driving 125 miles to get to Sanderson from the county seat that we had just left; realizing that Lamar County, one of the most prestigious communities in Texas, old line, old rich, aristocracy, etc., had the nastiest restrooms of any Courthouse in Texas; realizing that Winnsboro must be the largest town in Texas because it is so big that the city limits slop over into 3 counties; observing that deep East Texas has some of the louisiest drivers that we have ever seen. We didn't say that all East Texas folks were bad drivers, some of them have to be excellent to compensate for the bad ones. It just seemed that they had a large number who drove in the left lane on a four lane road, didn't yield the right of way for anybody, and drove at steady 32 miles an hour. Small wonder that the logging truck drivers want to kill.

In visiting the various Courthouses, there were many instances where new Courthouses had been built and the old one had been retained for a library, museum, or other useful purpose. This seemed so desirable to us over those who simply destroyed the old one and started from scratch. A prime example is Marshall, where you undoubtedly have read of their Christmas lights festival. It is our understanding that this is an unbelievable display.

In summation, there are other unusual Courthouses, other beautiful Courthouses, other grungy Courthouses, a few dirty towns, other beautiful towns, and a lot of other things to cover and we will cover them later. There are two towns in Texas, though, that stand out in the sense that there are no other towns like them in Texas or possibly anywhere. Those towns are Marshall and Galveston. We are led to comment on them here. Marshall is an old city by Texas standards, certainly not the oldest, but older than average. There exists in Marshall a pride of tradition, a pride in ancestry, an aristocracy going back to the mid 1800s. Marshall has had a population of about 25,000 for probably over a century. During the Civil War, Marshall was the Capitol of the State of Missouri. No, that is not a misprint, it's the truth. About 15 to 20 of our Texas Counties are named after Marshall natives. If your family came to Marshall after 1900, you are a new-comer. That is not a criticism, that is a situation which exists in many Texas cities. There is a camaraderie, an elegance, a feeling of aristocratic presence in Marshall, not found in many cities in the New World. The accomplishments of its natives in every endeavor stands to sort it out from lesser places. Indeed, an admirable city of admirable people. Galveston, more by geographical differences, stands alone. Seemingly, when one leaves the mainland and arrives on Galveston Island, his world has changed. Old, elegant, steeped in history, a major port for over 100 years, the scars of the great tidal wave leaving their mark on structures, attitudes, and the ways of life in Galveston. These two cities help to point to the diversification of the great state of Texas where some counties were not formed until the 1920s while some seem to reach back to the beginning of time. These contrasts help one to understand what a marvelous opportunity was afforded us when we were able to share a little in each of these extremes. If you haven't seen it all, get busy!

All five locations are in the Wichita County Regular Field.

An Iowa Park-based operator has staked location for the No. 1-B Holtzen "B", a developmental well to be located six miles northwest of Burkburnett. With projected total depth of 1,999 feet, the well is in Wichita County's Regular Field with Singleton Production as the operator. Location is 3,201 feet from the north line and 800 feet from the west line of the F. Huseman Survey, A-93.

Buds Drilling of Iowa Park has filed for permit to drill the No. 1 Holtzen, a 1,999-ft. developmental well six miles northwest of Burkburnett. Location is in a 40-acre lease, 2,550 feet from the south line and 1,520 feet from the west line of Wichita County's F. Huseman Survey, A-93. The well is in the Wichita County Regular Field.

Ronkaran Oil of Wichita Falls has started drilling operations at the

No. 1 Perkins & Cullum "C" in the Wichita County Regular Field, seven miles east of Kamay. The well carries permit for 1,875 feet of hole. It is located in an 80-acre unit, 450 feet from the north line and 2,000 feet from the east line of Sec. 9, Block of the Denton CSL Survey, A-417.

After bottoming the hole at 3,900 feet, Grover Investments of Holliday has temporarily abandoned a wildcat well in Wichita County.

Located about six miles south of Fowlkes, the well is designated as the No. 1-K J&J Waggoner "B". Location is 990 feet from the south line and 1,325 feet from the east line of Block 13 of the M.A. Willis Survey, A-548.

Texakoma Oil & Gas of Dallas has revealed plans to drill an 8,500-ft. wildcat well in Wilbarger County. The operator has 160 acres leased 150 feet from the north line and 600 feet from the west line of Sec. 47, Block 15 of the H&TC Survey, A-396. The venture has been designated as the No. 1 Red River Prospect. Drillsite is two miles west of Doan.

Bandera Energy of Abilene is planning to conduct a re-entry operation at the No. 1089 W.T. Waggoner Estate at a wildcat location in Wilbarger County. Drillsite is three miles east-northeast of Harrold. It is located in a 109-acre lease, 330 feet from the most northerly west line and 467 feet from the most southerly west line of Block 133 of the Waggoner Colony Survey.

The original operator was Bobby M. Burns and the well was known as the No. 1 Waggoner "E". The operation was completed as a dry hole in 1959, with bottomhole at 5,960 feet.

Marcus Jordan of Wichita Falls has abandoned an undrilled location in the Wichita Regular Field, four miles southwest of Iowa Park. The well had been designated as the No. 13 Blackwell. It was to have been drilled to 900-ft. TD.

Pumping 26 barrels of oil daily, the No. 165 H&TC has been finalized in the Wilbarger Regular Field, 2.2 miles east-southeast of Harrold. The production is the result of a plugback for added shallow pay.

Mobil Producing is the operator.

The well will produce from new perforations in a special formation interval, 989 to 2,206 feet into the hole. It originally pumped 90 BOPD from Ellenburger Formation perforations when completed in August of 1985. The pay interval at the time was 2,965 to 2,975 feet into the hole.

Two ill-fated developmental bids in the Wilbarger Regular Field have been written off as dry holes. The wells include the No. 1 and No. 2 Hofman. They bottomed dry at 2,333 and 2,305 feet, respectively. Circle H Drilling was the operator.

Flowing 173 barrels of oil per day, the No. 8 Burnett-Triangle was completed in the Triangle Headquarters Field, Foard County, 17 miles northwest of Crowell. Gunn Oil of Wichita Falls is the operator.

Gunn bottomed the well at 6,050 feet and perforated the Canyon Sand for production at 4,516 to 4,544 feet into the wellbore. Potential was gauged on a 12/64 choke, with flow pressure standing at 220 PSI.

Hawk Relays features six divisions this year

A new division for large schools has been added to the annual Iowa Park Lions Club Hawk Relays, which are scheduled to get underway at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in Hawk Stadium.

The new division for Class AAAAA and AAAAA schools will increase the field of athletes by several dozen, making the meet one of the largest ever held in Iowa Park.

Champions will be named in six divisions, when the final gun sounds Saturday evening.

Division One, for all girls' junior varsities, has seven teams entered. Division Two, varsity girls from Class A, AA and AAA schools, has nine schools entered. As of yesterday, only four schools are entered in the girls' large school class, Division Three.

Fourteen schools will have teams entered in Division Four, which is for all junior varsity boys.

Division Five, varsity boys teams in Class A, AA and AAA, has 12 teams entered. Four teams are entered in Division Six, for varsity boys teams in Class AAAAA and AAAAA.

All boys' field events will get underway at 8:30, and at 9, all girls' running preliminaries will start. As the two are completed, activities will reverse, and the girls will begin their field events and boys their running preliminaries.

Finals in all running events for all divisions will commence at 3 p.m., and continue until the final event, which will be the Division Six 1600-meter relay.

State, national champion here

Jason Lavender, the Wichita Falls High athlete who last spring broke the Texas state track meet record for the pole vault, will compete here Saturday.

Lavender, who established the new standard as a sophomore, also holds the national record for his age.

A special pit and runway, owned by the Wichita Falls schools, will be used.

Boys' field events are to get underway at 8:30 a.m.

This reportedly will be one of very few appearances Lavender will make in the area this season.

viduals placing first, second and third.

According to the meet director, Dr. Derrell Monday, several more schools may show up to compete Saturday morning than are listed. And some may decide not to attend.

He explained his list of schools that will compete is compiled from indications of coaches who said they would have athletes here.

And he added that another meet, at Ardmore, Okla., had reportedly been cancelled, and other schools that were planning to go there could show up at starting time.

Schools that have indicated they would have teams here Saturday include:

- DIVISION ONE - Notre Dame, Bowie, Holliday, Hirschi, Wichita Falls High, Burkburnett, Iowa Park.
- DIVISION TWO - Electra, Munday, Bowie, Graham, Holliday, Petrolia, Vernon, Knox City, Iowa Park.
- DIVISION THREE - Rider, Wichita Falls High, Hirschi, Burkburnett.
- DIVISION FOUR - Notre Dame, Burkburnett, Graham, Archer City, Wichita Falls High, Altus, Henrietta, Bowie, Holliday, Vernon, Electra, Abilene Wylie, Hirschi, Iowa Park.
- DIVISION FIVE - Graham, Archer City, Henrietta, Merkel, Bowie, Holliday, Petrolia, Vernon, Electra, Abilene Wylie, Childress, Iowa Park.
- DIVISION SIX - Burkburnett, Wichita Falls High, Altus, Hirschi.

An event certain to please the crowd of fans in the stands is being arranged by Len Williams, athletic director of Iowa Park schools.

Called the "hurdle setter's race," boys in the seventh and eighth grades will compete to see who can set up and retrieve their respective hurdles in the quickest times.

They will be clocked in both the preliminaries and finals.

MICHELLE SELLERS, who was outstanding as a marathon runner a few years ago, saw her first competition in two years last Friday and will be competing Saturday in the Third Annual Iowa Park Lions Club Hawk Relays.

Baseballers here Friday

The Hawk varsity baseball team will open its season at 4 p.m. here Friday against Burkburnett, according to Daryl Frazier, coach.

After three scheduled scrimmages were cancelled because of weather, the Hawks finally got to travel to Frederick Tuesday to get some experience on the field.

Tuesday, the team is to travel to Henrietta, and then go to Holliday the following Friday.

First Dist. 5-AAA game will be here against Bowie on April 11.

Mavericks win last league tilt

The Mavericks won their final Wichita Falls Boys Club Junior League game, 38-10, over the Wichita Falls Saints.

Mickey Mayo was high with 14 points and Terry Winter had seven.

The Mavs split their two games played Saturday in the Archer City round-robin tournament.

In the first game the team edged the Olney Cubs 30-29, with Mayo canning 11 and Winter five.

But Archer City proved to be too much for Iowa Park, winning 40-20. Casey Moser had six to lead the team.

This was the Mavs' second loss to AC, the first being in the finals of a local tournament in December.

The Mavs are now 11-4 on the season, and finished league play 8-2.

Bill Reed, assistant football coach and head track coach at Boyd High School, was named recently as head coach and athletic director for Springtown High, after the resignation of Lucky Gamble.

Kaufhold boys winners again

Two scrambles, four calves. That's the 1989 record of The Brothers Kaufhold, Shawn and Jimmy.

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kaufhold both won calves Sunday at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo calf scramble.

They also were winners at the Fort Worth Livestock Show scramble earlier.

Jimmy, 16, and Shawn, 14, are both vocational agriculture students at Iowa Park High School.

Crenshaw named bank director

Johnny Ray Crenshaw of Kamay was recently named a director of the Electra State Bank and Trust Co.

The Valley View High graduate is owner of Raymond's Welding and Machine Shop and Raymond's Operating Inc.

Bill would protect rural land owners

Insisting that rural land owners need more protection from lawsuits filed by injured trespassers, Rep. Charles Finnell is supporting legislation to eliminate farmers' and ranchers' liability for those injuries.

The legislator from Holliday is a co-sponsor of HB 239 with Rep. Pete Patterson of Brookston, which protects owners of agricultural land from liability for injuries suffered by trespassers.

He said the vagueness of current state law allows some trespassers to win damage suits even against landowners whose property is fenced and clearly marked with signs prohibiting trespassing.

"Rural land owners are subject to frequent invasion by trespassers," Finnell said. "Farmers and ranchers can't be expected to keep a constant watch for people who might hurt themselves while illegally using their land."
