MINOR INJURIES resulted from a two-vehicle accident about 5:40 p.m. Tuesday on Harmony Road. Joel Lovelady and Georgia Alsup were approaching the US 287 overpass when a pickup driven by Lewis Emmanuel of Electra struck their vehicle from the side, causing it to roll down the west berm. Miss Alsup received multiple abrasions and contusions. She was held overnight in Wichita General Hospital and released. Lovelady, who summoned emergency aid by telephone from the Jimmy Alsup home, sustained only a few bruises.

City to provide police for senior 'lock-in'

The city council Monday night agreed to provide two police officers for security purposes at the graduation night "lock in" for seniors, and to temporarily suspend a no-parking restriction on First Street.

Aldermen, however, declined to take action on a proposal to curb and gutter a part of First Street, and will study whether to change traffic signs on First and Second streets.

School representatives asked the city to provide two officers to watch over the vehicles and area around the high school the night of graduation, when an all-night party is held for members of the graduating class. Eventhough the cost in overtime and related expenses for the service will amount to more than $200, the council agreed to honor the request.

Trustees okay calendar, continue building study

Trustees of the Iowa Park school district Monday night approved the 1989-90 school calendar, and took another step toward deciding how much construction is needed to meet future needs.

Passage of the calendar did not receive the usual smooth-sailing vote as it usually does, but was approved by a split vote.

Three variations, including starting and ending dates as well as holidays, of calendars had been offered to the faculty for preferences. The votes were similar, ranging from 31 to 44.

But the calendar receiving 35 faculty votes was the one finally adopted by the board, primarily because of two previously-scheduled activities at which some faculty members were obligated.

Trustee Sheri Kennedy's motion was seconded by John Sibley to adopt the calendar that received the highest faculty vote. But they were the only members voting aye.

After a discussion concerning the band camp and football two-a-days conflicting with teacher inservice if classes were to commence Aug. 28, the board voted to adopt the calendar which provided for schools to start Sept. 5.

Kennedy cast the only dissenting vote on the second motion.

The adopted calendar provides for school to end June 1, and fewer holidays during the year.

Holidays include Nov. 22-24 for Thanksgiving, Dec. 21-Jan. 1 for Christmas, and Mar. 12-16 for spring break, with bad-weather days April 13 and 16.

Facing projected enrollment increases from this year's 1,896 rising to 2,035 in five years, additional classrooms are being studied for all four campuses, as well as continued upgrading of the school's stock barns, a new bus maintenance facility, expansion of the administration building and the high school football field house.

The board held its fourth study session Monday on proposals, and also heard from a financial consultant Ken Smith regarding procedures and his potential services if and when the board decides to call for a bond issue to pay for the work.

Projected costs given the board at its third session was $3,181,460, but Supt. Glen Mitchell's report, based on the last meeting and cuts made with architect Don Daughterity, the cost projection given Monday was down to $2,763,720.

More cuts were suggested by board members during the meeting, but the cost result was not tallied.

Broken down by areas, the most recent projections included $679,000 at the high school, $733,000 junior high, $328,000 Bradford, $427,000 Kidwell, $180,000 field house, $72,000 administration and $140,000 maintenance and bus barn, for a total of $2,559,000.

Added to that are $25,590 for a contingency fee and $179,130 architect fees.

Mitchell pointed out to the board that $417,740 had been cut from the third proposal studied.

Possible months during which a bond election might be called, based on discussions during the meeting, were September, December, or sometime during next spring.

No holiday

Eventhough government and several businesses will be closed Monday, in observance of Memorial Day, students of Iowa Park schools still must meet their classes.

According to the school calendar, there are no more breaks from classes until June 2, which is the final day of the school year.

Gasoline prices, thefts both increasing locally

Police have noted the similarity of offenses during the past week with problems that occurred in the 1970s.

When the price of gasoline goes up, so does the number of complaints concerning gasoline thefts.

Stealing of gasoline was almost a daily occurrence following the oil embargo imposed by OPEC nations, when the price of gasoline almost doubled.

Prices have increased approximately 20-cents since the oil tanker incident in Alaska.

Four complaints were included on the police blotter during the past week concerning gasoline theft, and one arrest was made.

Three of the complaints involved "theft of service," when a customer gets gasoline at a self-service pump, and then drives off without paying.

But the case in which an arrest was made involved a complaint of stealing gasoline from another vehicle.

Donald Glen Gandy, 24, was taken into custody Thursday afternoon after allegedly taking gasoline from a vehicle parked in the 1300 block of Edgehill.

He was charged with theft under $20, and released after posting a cash bond.

The other reports are still under investigation.

Police stopped a vehicle at 10:09 p.m. Wednesday of last week at Bell Road and East Highway on a traffic check, and arrested two men on a charge of public intoxication.

They were Randy Dwayne Alexander, 27, and Thomas Earl Alexander, 26, who also was charged with possession of drug paraphenalia and no liability insurance.

Both were released after signing a promise to appear in municipal court.

After being called at 12:52 a.m. Thursday by a citizen believing a burglary was in progress at Gary's Auto on East Diamond, police took Guy Thomas Kuhn, 37, into custody.

Upon arrival at the address, officers searched Kuhn's pickup and found a small amount of marijuana. He was transported at 2:59 a.m. to county jail, according to the blotter entry.

'Summer in the Park' series to begin Friday

This year's "Summer in the Park" series will be kicked off Friday night with a street dance and followed Saturday with "Beach Day," to be held on East Cash street and at City Park, adjacent to City Hall.

The events, sponsored by the City of Iowa Park in cooperation with the Iowa Park High School Student Council, will begin Friday night with a beach theme street dance from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Ken Mendez of KKQV radio station will provide music for the dance. Concessions with drinks and cotton candy will be available with proceeds to benefit "Project Graduation." Beach Day will be held all day Saturday at City Park, with games, contests and music scheduled.

The Iowa Park Muleskinners will provide catered meals each day.

Mike Price, Public Works Director, announced that East Cash will be closed to traffic from 9 a.m. Friday until 6 p.m. Saturday, for city crews to haul sand in for the activities.

The next "Summer in the Park" scheduled will be a musical show by the Friendly Door Rhythm Band and Red River Blue Grass Band on June 22.

HONEYMOONING AUSTRALIANS DAVID AND ANN BARNARD VISITING LOCAL RANCH . . . with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Williamson, one of their granddaughters and friendly pony.

Visitors from 'downunder' Honeymooning daughter retraces father's path

A young Australian woman and her husband are partially retracing the steps of her father, as the couple observes their honeymoon.

They're spending time with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Williamson, as did her father, Graham Benham, some 26 years earlier.

David, 24, and Ann, 22, Bernard arrived at the 2-J Horse Ranch on FM 369 Tuesday afternoon, and a full schedule awaited them.

Mrs. Barnard's father and another Australian were here in the early 1960s, having stopped on an unusual trip to foreign countries to learn how sheep raising and related agriculture practices were observed.

After a few days with the Williamsons here, the two young men went to the Williamson ranch near Blanco, where they had planned to work for only a couple of weeks.

But that stay extended to almost two months. The ranch foreman broke his leg, and they stayed on to help during his recovery.

After his return to his native country, Benham set up his own ranching operation, and the Williamsons, as well as a son, Joe Howard, have visited there.

Following their April 22 wedding, the young married couple departed for an extended tour of the United States.

The first four weeks was a guided tour starting in Los Angeles and wound up in Toronto, Canada. Enroute, they had stopped in San Antonio and Houston in Texas.

Eventhough they enjoyed seeing the Grand Canyon, gambling in Las Vegas, and visiting the NASA space center in Houston, David said his greatest impression was seeing the Niagra Falls.

The couple also mentioned their surprise that places like McDonald's in Las Vegas has slot machines.

David, who's trade at home is cabinet making, explained he also helps with his family's business, of delivering fuel supplies to ranches and farms. His father is the Esso dealer, which is a branch of Exxon.

The Benham ranch, where Ann was raised, is located in the Northwest slopes and plains of Australia, with the largest town, Tamra, about 50 miles away.

Her father raises sheep, cattle, wheat, some sorghum and legumes.

A busy itinerary faced the couple upon their arrival, according to Mrs. Williamson.

Tuesday evening was to be a dinner at the Williamson home, with all the family.

Wednesday morning, they were to go to the Williamson's Swithouse Ranch in Archer County, where they were provided horses to observe eight cowboys working the cattle. Lunch was to include chicken fried steak.

They were to eventually travel to Jeff Williamson's ranch between Iowa Park and Electra to observe that facility's operation, and try their pallets on Mexican food.

Beyond that, Mrs. Williamson said she would like the couple to see American horse racing, and, of course, be feted with a fish fry.

Flick, Gilstrap nuptials exchanged Saturday evening in Wichita Falls

Honeymooning in Nuevo Valarta, Mexico this week are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alan "Chuck" Gilstrap, who exchanged vows in impressive nuptials Saturday evening at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wichita Falls. Rev. Thomas B. Handrick was the officiating minister.

The bride is the former Miss Emilie Dawn Flick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Flick, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gilstrap, all of Iowa Park.

Altar decorations for the wedding were keyed by beautiful simplicity and featured two impressive arrangements of fresh white gladiola and carnations, leatherleaf and emerald greenery. The unity candelabrum, which held a special yellow pillar candle, enhanced the refined taste of decorations. The church pews were marked with candles burning in three-branched candelabra, yellow and white silk bows.

A musical background for the wedding was provided by Mrs. Jim Meisel, sister of the bride, and Miss Melissa Logan, vocalists. Their offerings included a duet number, "O Jesu, Joy of Loving Hearts," and a vocal solo, "There Is Love," by Miss Logan.

At the close of the ceremony, Mrs. Meisel sang "The Lord's Prayer." Leland Freze, organist, provided accompaniment and played the wedding marches. He played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "Trumpet Voluntary" for the processional and "Psalm 19" for the recessional.

The bride reflected her happiness as she walked gracefully down the aisle to the altar with her father who presented her in marriage for her parents.

She was a romantic picture in her formal Alfred Angelo designer gown of white bridal satin and alencon lace that complemented her youthful beauty. The gown was fashioned with a Victorian neckline and a sheer yoke bordered with wide lace sprinkled with sequins that covered the shoulders. Lace tiers covered the bodice and the loveliness of the gown was enhanced with self-covered buttons from the neckline to a dramatic English bow at the waistline in the back. The full hooped skirt, accented with lace motifs and bordered with deep lace flounces, swept into a cathedral train.

The bride chose a complementary headpiece to secure her cathedral-length illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow silk sweetheart roses, white spider lilies, gypsophila and English ivy.

The bride remembered to keep traditions by wearing the wedding ring of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Roy Kaiser and in carrying the handkerchief of her great-grandmother for "something old;" wearing her gown for "something new;" the popular garter for "something blue;" her mother's pearl necklace for "something borrowed;" and a lucky six-pence in her shoe.

During the service, the bride expressed appreciation to her mother and to the groom's mother by presenting them with long-stemmed yellow roses.

A maid of honor and three bridesmaids preceded the bride to the altar. They were attractively gowned in identical summer yellow taffeta tea-length dresses designed with tulip sleeves, cutout backs accented with matching bows. They carried their bouquets of white daisies with yellow centers, English ivy, baby's breath and white satin loops on white Bibles.

The quartet of attendants was composed of Miss Jamie Owens, maid of honor, and Mrs. Ben English, sister of the bride, Miss Vicki Floyd and Miss Stacy Boren, bridesmaids.

Stormi Raines, the petite flower girl, wore a Martha Miniature frock designed with a sheer white bodice with puff sleeves and yellow lace skirt. She wore a halo trimmed with yellow daisies and gypsophila and carried a white basket of the daisies and gypsophila combined with English ivy.

Heath Hodges, the ring bearer, was dressed like the groom and wore a stephanotis boutonniere.

The groom was attired in an all-white tuxedo with tails and a boutonniere highlighted with a white rosebud complemented with stephanotis.

Todd Gilstrap, brother of the groom, served as best man. The groomsmen were Afton Pike Jr. of Richardson, Keith Starr of Wichita Falls and James Elms of Iowa Park. Serving as ushers were David Pike of Denton and Ben English of Iowa Park.

All male participants in the wedding and fathers of the bride and groom wore charcoal grey pin-striped tuxedos with white wing-tipped shirts, light yellow bow ties and cummerbunds, and the boutonnieres consisted of three stephanotis blooms.

The bride's mother chose an ivory acetate and rayon tea-length dress. In design, it featured delicate tulip sleeves, and an attached asymmetrical lace overlay accented with a satin bow.

The groom's mother wore an apricot georgette dress over apricot satin fashioned with a high neck and long sleeves trimmed with pearl buttons, and a satin belt centered with an apricot rose. The dress was accented with pleats that extended from the neckline to the edge of the skirt in front. Both mothers wore corsages formed with yellow rosebuds, stephanotis, peapods and white satin ribbon.

The fellowship hall of the church was the setting for the rehearsal dinner hosted Friday evening when the betrothed couple presented their attendants with gifts of appreciation, and the postnuptial reception hosted by the bride's parents. The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner.

Miss Carey Dale Roberts secured signatures of wedding guests in the church entry and at the reception. She sat at a table which was appointed with a picture of the bride in a flower-painted ceramic frame, a yellow candle in a clear globe, the bride's book and white plume pen.

At the reception, the bride's table was draped with white Chantilly lace featuring a swag of lace around the top, caught at the corners and front center with yellow bows.

The table appointments, each a perfect complement to the others, were a centerpiece of yellow sweetheart roses, gypsophila and English ivy, a silver punch service, cake, yellow napkins printed with "Emilie and Chuck, May 20, 1989," and yellow bell-shaped mints.

The special beauty of the table was stressed in the picture-perfect white cake, its three tiers separated with two sets of Grecian posts. The design for frosting on the layers was inspired by ruffled and scalloped garlands, each decorated at the top and base with a yellow rose. Clusters of the roses covered the tops of the divided layers, and decorations on the top expressed a romantic mood.

A Grecian pillar formed the background for a white dais holding silver bells topped with two white doves with a simulated groom's ring in their mouths and the bride's ring placed between them. Above the birds was a white tulle bow trimmed with laced yellow ribbon and tiny wedding bells.

The groom's table was covered with white lace and centered with a smaller version of the bouquet on the bride's table. The table was highlighted with a German chocolate cake decorated with two hearts cut out in the frosting, one marked with names of the bride and groom and the other with their wedding date. The hearts were flanked with clusters of yellow roses. Other bits of table interest were the silver coffee service, napkins and dishes of nuts.

Members of the houseparty were Mes. Joe Raines, Olin Fox, Miss Renee Smith and Miss Kym Kirk. The yellow tulle rice bags tied with white satin ribbon were handed out by Stacia Miller and Jenny Miller.

Special wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kaiser of English, Ind., grandparents of the bride, Mrs. Jewel Gilstrap and Mrs. Evelyn Holcombe of S.C., grandparents of the groom. Others from out-of-town were Messrs. and Mes. Johnnie Brabank, Ernie Brabank, Fred Howe and children of Hempstead, Teresa Gilstrap and Chris Gilstrap of S.C.

The bride chose a two-piece white linen suit for her traveling costume when the couple departed on their wedding trip.

The bride and groom were graduated from Iowa Park High School and Midwestern State Univ., where he received a B.A. degree in accounting and she received a degree in nursing. They will live at Dallas where he works as a tax accountant for Spectradyne and she will be a graduate nurse at the Presbyterian Hospital.

Modern Dentistry

By Dr. Richard Carver

DENTURE CARE

Dentures profit most from a good scrubbing. Use a brush with soap and water or some toothpaste. Soaking with the drug store tablets should always be followed by brushing. If possible they should be brushed after each meal and certainly at bedtime.

An inexpensive solution to use to help get the tartar off is household vinegar. Soak the dentures overnight then brush and rinse thoroughly. Always fill the basin part way with water so that if you drop the denture the water will cushion the fall. Some of the newer metal alloys and all of the new vinyl permanent soft liners will react with chlorine bleach. Be sure you do not soak your denture in bleach if it is of this type. If you don't know...ask your dentist. However, if your denture does NOT contain these materials, certain stains such as tea, coffee and tobacco stains can be removed by soaking the dentures in a solution of 1 part bleach and 2 parts water for 1 hour...then brush.

It is advisable to hold the lower denture by one side at a time while brushing...some people will tend to squeeze harder and harder as they brush until the denture snaps in the middle. Prepared in the interest of better dental health. Richard Carver D.D.S., Phone 592-5141.

As I See It... By BOB HAMILTON

While reading an article Sunday concerning the House of Representatives ethics panel's investigation of Cong. Jim Wright, I ran into a name that has kept popping up whenever there is scandal about politics and illegal activities.

This is not an indictment of the man or anything like that, but just to mention his name has been popping up more than 25 years in this kind of situation.

Morris Jaffe, identified as a San Antonio businessman, is said to be involved in an oil-well deal that netted Cong. Wright's blind trust about $325,000, according to the article.

I first heard Jaffe's name in connection with Billy Sol Estes, who was convicted back in the 1960s of having arranged financing on phantom anhydrous ammonia fertilizer tanks.

Estes was host to such people as former Sen. Ralph Yarbrough at big parties at his home in Pecos. And Jaffe's name was also on that guest list, as I recall.

Then, Jaffe was involved some way with grain elevator and fertilizer kingpin at Brownfield, Grady Goodpasture.

As I recall, he had a connection with Goodpasture's big elevator at Corpus Christi that exploded in the mid 1970s, and it was the wet wheat salvaged from that elevator that wound up on the grounds of Bobby Johnson's elevator here in Iowa Park.

You may remember that wheat, by the way, because it began souring and caused two big problems: flies and a stink that would gag a hog!

Like Estes, Johnson eventually wound up in prison.

It probably doesn't mean a thing, but it sure does seem funny that one man's name keeps popping up when a scandal involves political figures.

quest, it was noted that the city does charge the school for security at various sporting events. No fee will be charged, however, for the graduation night service.

While work is underway to construct a parking lot at the Christ the King Catholic Church, the council agreed to waive its no-parking zone on First Street for a two-week period.

Aldermen considered a proposal to curb and gutter a portion of First Street in the block of the Catholic Church, to match the work to be done by the church.

However, aldermen expressed the feeling that the money could be put to better use in other areas, and the effort would not benefit the city.

Responding to a request from citizens to change traffic signs on First and Second streets where they intersect with Cornelia, Rebecca, Coleman and Manes, aldermen decided to have a study made on traffic flow and patterns before responding.

Alderman Diane Robnett was the only council member with a definite opinion on the request.

She said she strongly recommended against changing the signs at Coleman.

Stop signs were erected at the intersection after two serious vehicle accidents, and none has happened since, she said, and recommended no change for that particular crossing.

Traffic at the intersections is controlled by either stop or yield signs, except at two crossings where no signs are in place.

Police were requested to observe traffic flow at the designated areas, to determine if changes should be considered at a future council meeting.

Expresses 'thanks'

"Thank you" seems so small when I remember all the wonderful people who treated me, comforted me, and encouraged me since my accident on May 1st. To my wonderful neighbors, and especially my Good Samaritan, Pauline Steele, who found me before it was too late, and to the EMTs and especially Gerd Dwayne Frazier, who was so concerned about the bumpy ambulance ride, I will be forever grateful. To the employees of King's Foods, who sent such a lovely card, thank you. To my wonderful friends and co-workers of my children, who showed such kindness, thank you. The cards with wonderful words of love and encouragement were so helpful. The many flowers, gifts and selfless visits meant so very much. But the greatest gift was the continual prayers for me during the many crises I experienced these past 19 days in the hospital. Not only did your prayers sustain me but renewed my strength and gave me the courage and willpower to go on. Though my Mother's Day was spent in the hospital and in discomfort, it was the best I've ever had --- to see my precious nine children and grandchildren give so unselfishly of their time, energy and love in every way possible to make me happy I truly am a blessed person in so many ways. "The Town of Friendly Living" is very real to one.

Thank you from the depths of my heart.
Gracie Lee

Troubled reader

This is a letter to plead the cause of my beautiful animals as well as myself. Some of you are aware there are wolves here in Iowa Park. Some of you are not. They are in fact wolf hybrids -- wolves bred with a domestic dog to achieve a highly intelligent, loyal socialized animal that someday, if man has his way, will be all that is left of the majestic, sadly misunderstood wolf. The newspaper was doing an article on my animals, to invite people to come see them, pet them, observe them and their harmless nature. A big part of my life is dedicated to these creatures, as God knows they need all the help they can get. Now, our very lives are in jeopardy as our "alpha male" has bailed out, and left us to fend for ourselves. On a $95 a week income, we have no hope for survival. I am presently in a neck and back brace, and will certainly not be hired by anyone and am fortunate to have the job I do. What we need is a home to relocate to. A home I can somehow afford yet keep my animals. Fencing is a plus, but perhaps I could use what I have now. If I cannot relocate myself and my animals, they will have to be put to death, for they bond to a human for eternity just as they do their mate. I am begging, not for myself, but for all these innocent animals whose existence is in danger. If you know of, or have a suitable unoccupied home and are willing to help our cause, please call 592-2571. I am praying to touch a wolf lover's heart. Thank you.

OLD SCARECROW AND THE COWS

Just suppose there were one hundred fifty million cows in America. Let's suppose there is an industry doing a great business selling a certain kind of hay. This hay, called Old Scarecrow, while made entirely from locoweed, is alluringly described as a blend of old straw aged in the cornfield. As a result, cows by the millions trun from their sober diet of alfalfa and begin chewing Old Scarecrow.

Now let's suppose that this stuff makes the cows do silly things such as running into barbed wire fences, jumping off bridges, or running into automobiles - so such that 500,000 are killed or injured every year. Suppose milk production is cut down because the users of Old Scarecrow lose 50 million "cow-days" a year. Suppose the life expectancy of the cows who chew it regularly is reduced by an average of 12%. Suppose that it makes 4 million of the cows so sick much of the time they are useless, and suppose that for every one that is cured, the industry makes 10 more Old Scarecrow addicts. Suppose that caring for the victims of Old Scarecrow requires 80% of the farmer's time.

And now, just suppose that in spite of all this, the merchants of this fatal fodder are allowed to advertise the stuff in every pasture, so that on almost every fence there appear large pictures of contented "Cows of Distinction" munching away on Old Scarecrow. And suppose that the manufacturers of Old Scarecrow are making a tremendous profit out of all of this trouble and tragedy they cause the farmer.

How would you expect the farmers to take to all of this? Would you expect them to take it sitting down? Or would you expect them to stand up and say to the producers of Old Scarecrow "That ain't hay", and then put forth an effort to protect their cows by banning the advertising and promotion of Old Scarecrow from the range. And now just suppose that you cared as much about your children and your fellowmen as you would expect the farmer to care about his cows! What do you suppose you would do about drinking?

Cook of the Week

Mrs. Gary Cray and Emily

Like many young mothers, this week's featured cook, Lori (Mrs. Gary) Cray, says her cooking is limited to what is easy and non-time consuming.

But if her recipes are any indication, Lori doesn't sacrifice taste in the process. Lori said all of her recipes have been tested and approved. Her recipes, particularly "Shirley's Punch" and "Millionaire Pie" come just in time for Memorial Day Weekend, when good desserts and cool drinks are in high demand.

The recipe for "Green Steak" is one that Lori invented, and shows that she has an innovative flair in the kitchen as well.

The former Lori Hankins grew up in Iowa Park and Kamay and graduated Iowa Park High School.

Lori and her husband Gary, have a daughter, Emily, who is eight months old. Gary is employed by Coca-Cola, and Lori is a housewife.

Mrs. Cray enjoys arts and crafts as a hobby.

Funeral planning topic of program

Ray Lunn, owner of Lunn's Colonial Funeral Home in Wichita Falls, spoke to the Evening Lion's Club Tuesday on "forethought funeral planning."

He discussed the services of funeral professionals and funeral merchandise, the two categories of funeral service selections.

He gave some of the advantages of pre-arranged funerals to include: loved ones will be relieved of burden at a time of high stress; the funeral will reflect the expressed wishes of the ones who make them; and the funeral will not be a financial burden on the family.

The speaker was introduced by Joe Kennedy. Guests were Mmes. W.E. Karstetter, D.O. James and Lem Tate from the Evening Lioness Club.
