Bond election date could be set

Iowa Park's school board will meet this evening, instead of its usual second-Tuesday meeting date, but the city council will adhere to its regular second-Monday date.

Trustees are to commence their meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building. Aldermen are to convene at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

Two of the items on tonight's agenda are expected to attract most of the board's interest: calling a bond issue and changes in salaries resulting from the recent legislative session.

Council looks to street work

Trustees will be asked by Supt. Glen Mitchell to set a date in July, a month the board normally does not hold a meeting, to continue its facility studies.

Board members also will be asked to consider a date to call a bond election, to fund construction resulting from the facility study sessions.

Listed under "personnel" on the agenda, trustees are to "review new state salary schedules and set employees' salaries." Additionally, the agenda calls for accepting of resignations and employing new personnel.

At the outset of the meeting, the board will recognize students who have competed in state-level competition, as well as Mrs. Carole Venhaus, student council sponsor, for her work on Project Graduation.

Board members will be asked to take action on providing the Lee Center Assertive Discipline Behavior Management Training for the staff during inservice training scheduled in August.

Proposed bus routes for transporting students during the 1989-90 school year will be unveiled for board members, and a proposal to purchase a new 71-passenger bus will be made.

Other items on the agenda include hearing a report on TEAMS tests for the first grade; a public hearing on expenditures of Chapter Two funds next year; action on naming a school depository for the next biennium; act on a student insurance plan for next year, and appoint Supt. Mitchell to the regional advisory committee.

CITY COUNCIL

Aldermen will open bids to purchase radios for vehicles in the public works department, as well as street construction work to be done this summer.

When specifications were printed for the street work, alternatives were listed for contractors to submit bids, allowing the council to determine how much work can be done with monies available.

Also concerning streets, a report on traffic flow on First and Second streets is to be presented. Changes in traffic control signs were proposed at the last meeting, but action was delayed until a study was made by the police department.

A public hearing will be held concerning an abandoned vehicle left when a resident at 506 N. Bell moved, but failed to clear the property.

Three resolutions are on the agenda: authorizing application for a grant to replace equipment at the wastewater treatment plant; authorizing closure of the filled portion of the sanitary landfill, and thanking the irrigation district and property owners for cooperation during the city's cleaning of a drainage ditch in the northeast part of town.

A proposal will be presented by city employees to continue insurance coverage currently in place, despite a sizeable increase in premiums.

Also to be proposed is a plan to begin charging a fee for use of the Tom Burnett Memorial Library meeting room during regular hours.

Administrator James Barrington explained no fee has been charged to use the room during regular library hours, but costs to the city are the same as when used after regular hours.

Also to be discussed is a proposal to change retirement benefits for volunteer firemen who have already retired, and making a decision on the color to paint the relocated water tower.

VALEDICTORIAN Stacy Swan receives her honors certificate during Friday night's commencement exercise in Iowa Park High School auditorium from Counselor Herman Escue. For more photographs of the evening, including "Project Graduation," please turn to page 8.

Police urge bike safety

With school out for the summer, and special riding events scheduled, people are digging their bicycles out of storage.

And when they do, riders should be aware of the rules of riding bicycles.

Simply put, the rules are the same as for motorists, according to Police Chief Alan Sheffield.

Riders are to travel as close to the edge of the right lane, not the left, as many have believed for years, Sheffield said.

"It may be easier to see the oncoming traffic," he said, but the fact is, they are to travel on the same side of the street as do motorized vehicles.

Again, like motorized vehicles, bicycles are to come to a complete halt at stop signs, and recognize all other traffic regulations.

Youngsters riding bicycles can be issued traffic citations, just like an adult, when they do not operate by the rules.

"Ignoring safety is the biggest problem," Sheffield added. "You need common sense and you have to use the rules of the road. That's keep to the right, yield to cars, turn with care, signal before turning, avoid heavy traffic, pedestrians have the right-of-way, and be careful around parked cars.

"Also, at night, you need a light and reflectors, and bright reflective clothing. And you need to be on your guard for loose dogs. We have an ordinance that dogs must be on a leash, chained or fenced in, but dogs do get out. Sometimes, dogs don't intend to bite a bicyclist, but riders often hurt themselves trying to get away," the chief explained.

He added, "Handle bars need to be kept tight. A bike should have a bell or horn that can be heard from at least 100 feet, the brakes should be in good conditions and reflectors should be installed so the bike can be seen at night from all directions."

National statistics for 1987 show an average of 50,000 bike-related accidents occur every year, and an estimated 1,000 Americans die annually as result of bicycle accidents.

Some communities, like Iowa Park, have local ordinances concerning bicycle riders.

For instance, it is against city ordinance to ride a bicycle on the sidewalk in the business district in Iowa Park. This rule is often overlooked or unknown to many youngsters in the community.

Shoppers stepping out the door of businesses have been struck by bicyclists who cannot stop in time to avoid such an accident, and a pedestrian would not normally look down the sidewalk for a fast-traveling vehicle.

Bicycle owners should also be aware that a great many bikes are reported stolen each year in Iowa Park.

For that reason, the Iowa Park Police Department has initiated a program of registering all bicycles owners wish to have registered.

To do this, the owner should take the bike to the police department during regular working hours. A tag is affixed to the frame, and its number entered into the department's computer for quick and easy reference in case of a future need.

News Briefs

Water tower work near completion

Moving with unexpected speed, workers are expected to have the old water tower completely relocated from its former site at Lake Gordon, to West Emerald.

Despite high winds, workers had much of the tank portion in place before Tuesday night's storm.

After the tank is in place, the interior will be welded, sandblasted, sealed and painted both inside and out.

Completion of a line from the tank to the existing water main is expected within a month, according to James Barrington, city administrator.

LOTS OF WATER, FEW SWIMMERS - Iowa Park Swimming Pool officially opened Saturday, but because of cool weather that hasn't helped warm the water, few patrons have taken advantage of the community's most favorite summer spot. Pool personnel, however, are expecting the crowds to increase as the temperatures begin their seasonal climb.

3.89 INCHES Storms produce rain, wind

Two storms during the past week resulted in 3.89 inches of rainfall in Iowa Park, according to measurements taken by Virgil Woodfin.

Both storms were accompanied by severe lightning and thunder, and high winds.

The most recent of the storms was between 3 and 4 a.m. Wednesday, which left 1.91 in Woodfin's gauge, while the other was Friday afternoon.

Friday's storm forced Iowa Park High School graduation ceremonies indoors that evening. It was to have been held in Hawk Stadium.

Wheat harvest in the area was forced to shut down, and only about 50 percent of this year's crop has been cut by combines.

Yesterday's storm sent creeks and Wichita River, which were already taxed to capacity from the previous rains, out of their banks. Numerous roads in the rural areas were closed because of high water.

Traffic between Loop 370 and FM 367 on FM 369 was restricted to one lane because of water over the road near the Stanley Williamson home, according to travelers.

No flooding, however, was reported inside Iowa Park.

Winds during the Wednesday storm did considerable damage between Iowa Park and Wichita Falls, according to reports.

Several of the highline polls from Sand Beach to Wellington Lane were felled and residents of that area were without electricity.

Following the same path to the north, local volunteer firemen were called to remove a firecracker stand from the northbound side of US 287, between Wellington and Huntington, which had been blown from its site by the harsh winds.

Police are delighted with public behavior

Though members of the Iowa Park Police Department had braced themselves for a rash of calls usually related to the final week of school, the past week was considered unusually quiet.

In fact, the majority of the calls were for help from the animal control officer by people complaining about dogs running loose, snakes and skunks.

Police arrested a 31-year-old woman early Thursday morning for driving while intoxicated, third offense.

Police took Gina Marie Shoulders into custody at 287 and Johnson Road at 2:39 a.m., charging her with driving while license suspended, third offense, and also issued an unsafe speed citation.

She was transported at 3:39 a.m. to county jail, according to the police blotter.

Very near the same hour the next morning, officers took Ronnie Joe Miller, 29, into custody in the 1000 block of Van Horn on a charge of driving while license suspended.

The arrest was noted on the blotter at 2:16 a.m., and he also was transported to county jail, at 3:23 a.m.

Justen Scott Bush, 21, was arrested at 12:06 a.m. Saturday at a home in the 1000 block of Lanelle, when police responded to a 9-1-1 call from a resident.

Bush allegedly assaulted and caused injury to two men and two women at the home of a neighbor, and was taken to county jail at 2:15 a.m.

Three complaints of criminal mischief were received in a two-day period by police.

The first, reported Saturday morning, involved two tires on a car being slashed while parked overnight in the 700 block of Rebecca.

The other two complaints were received Monday morning.

The owner of a truck complained his vehicle was scratched on its side by a sharp object while parked in the 500 block of West Washington.

The second was a call from a resident in the 600 block of W. Texas, who said someone had thrown a rock through a window of the house.

The refreshment table held an eye-catching three-tiered bridal cake separated with Grecian posts. The square layers featured scalloped edging with country blue and dusty rose floral accents and gold leaves on the sides, and small silk bouquets in the bride's chosen colors atop the separated layers. A kissing bride and groom standing inside a lace heart topped the confection.

ESA plans new club year

Members of the Epsilon Eta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha planned the 1989-90 club year at a meeting Saturday morning in the home of Dee Dee Forney.

The service chairman presented the projects for the coming year to include the March of Dimes, St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, Easter Seals Foundation, North Texas Rehabilitation Center, Texas Highway Cleanup and the Outstanding Youth Awards.

Plans were then made to have one benefit for all of the chapter's projects.

Toni Wood, educational director, listed programs scheduled for the year including etiquette, laughter, wills and insurance, make-up, mental retardation, illiteracy and "what makes a good woman."

The chapter voted to donate $100 to St. Jude to sponsor member Connie Hrnccirik on the "Cycle of Life Bike Ride" to be held in July at South Fork, in conjunction with the International Convention in Dallas on July 16.

It was announced that the chapter's Summer Social and Rush Social will be held July 30 with a pool party at the home of Mary L. Boyd.

Johnson, Nichols vows solemnized Saturday evening in Wichita Falls

In an elegant candlelight service, Miss Kara Louise Johnson and Kevin Carl Nichols were united in matrimony at University United Methodist Church in Wichita Falls.

Rev. Ray Hennigh, minister, officiated the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. Barbara Sells of Iowa Park and the late Tommy R. Johnson, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nichols of Holliday.

The ceremony was performed in an altar setting highlighted by a white archway laced with greenery, white doves, and white satin bows. Arched seven-branched candelabras intertwined with greenery flanked the archway. A white unity candle decorated with greenery and white satin ribbon contributed to the sacredness of the occasion.

White satin bows marked seating for the guests.

The bride presented a beautiful picture in her Mari Lee designer gown of crystal organza and re-embroidered chantilly lace, as she entered the sanctuary with her brother, Craig Johnson, who escorted her to the altar and gave her in marriage for her mother.

They paused by the pew where their mother was seated for the bride to present her with a fresh red rose. As the newlyweds exited the church, the bride gave a fresh red rose to the groom's mother.

The bodice of the bride's gown featured chantilly lace, seed pearls and sequins, a bosque waistline, and an exquisite Victorian neckline. The bishop-style sleeves, enhanced with lace and seed pearls, went to the wrist. The crystal organza skirt was accented with chantilly lace, seed pearls and sequins. The train of scalloped chantilly lace, seed pearls and sequins cascaded to a semi-cathedral length and was trimmed with crystal organza ruffles.

A fingertip-length veil, accented with cascading flowers and a pouf in the back, was secured by a wreath formed of silk flowers and pearls.

To compliment her gown, she carried a colonial nosegay bouquet of mauve dogwood blossoms, carnations, lilies, and mauve and blue roses, accented with fresh baby's breath and lace and blue satin streamers.

The bride kept tradition by wearing a pearl drop necklace, a gift to her mother from her father, for "something old;" her wedding gown and veil for "something new;" a white Bible belonging to Debbie Brantley, cousin of the bride, for "something borrowed;" and the "something blue" garter. She wore a sixpence in her shoe, worn by the groom's mother at her own wedding, for good luck.

The bride was attended by Cene' Dean, her sister, as matron of honor, and Cindy Billingsley, Aimi Sitgreaves and Brenda Copas as bridesmaids.

The bridal attendants and candlelighter each wore a mauve taffeta tea-length dress designed with a close-fitting bodice, dropped yoke waist, sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves. The dipped back was accented with a matching bow. Each wore mauve lily blossoms with blue satin ribbon in her hair.

The gowns were complimented with loose hand-held bouquets of mauve roses, dogwood blossoms, lilies and carnations with blue satin ribbons.

The flower girl, Sommer Johnson, niece of the bride, wore a white tea-length border eyelet gown trimmed in wedgewood blue. She wore in her hair a halo of white silk flowers trimmed with white ribbon, and carried a white lace basket holding mauve and blue roses with baby's breath and blue and mauve satin ribbons.

The groom was attired in an all-white tuxedo with tails, and a blue rose boutonniere with greenery and baby's breath taken from the bridal bouquet.

Dusty Dean, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. He wore an all-white tuxedo with tails, complemented with a mauve rosebud boutonniere and carried a white lace and satin pillow.

Keith Nichols, brother of the groom, served as best man. The groomsmen were Donnie Long, Kurt Lilley and Larry Krob. Gradlin Franks and Robert Dean Jr., brother-in-law of the bride, were ushers.

All male participants in the wedding wore silver tuxedos with tails, white wing-tipped shirts and mauve bow ties and cummerbunds.

Musical accompaniment for the ceremony was provided by Mike Wimberly, vocalist, and Jeanette Bail, organist. Prelude selections included "Wind Beneath My Wings," and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

As the couple lit the unity candle, Wimberly sang "You Are So Beautiful To Me." "The Wedding

Bridal shower fetes Miss Toth

Miss Sandra Toth, bride-elect of Richard Spears, was feted recently at a pre-nuptial shower given at First United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

Hostesses for the shower were Mmes. Sue Owens, Peggi Anderson and Freda Parks.

Guests were invited to sign at the registry table, covered in a dusty rose linen cloth holding a fresh flower arrangement as centerpiece.

The refreshment table was covered in white linen with a dusty rose linen overlay. Appointments included a cake decorated in the bride's chosen colors of dusty rose and blue, and a silk arrangement of pink, blue and white spring flowers.

The gift table, covered in white linen, held a bride doll for decoration.

Special guests were Mrs. Raymond Toth of Wichita Falls, and Rhonda Toth of The Colony, mother and sister of the bride-elect, respectively, and Mrs. Jim Spears of Iowa Park and Mrs. H.E. Spears of Quanah, mother and grandmother of the groom-elect, respectively.

MRS. KEVIN CARL NICHOLS

Song" was performed as the bride was given in marriage.

The organist played "Trumpet Voluntary" for the processional and

"We've Only Just Begun" for the recessional.

The mother of the bride wore a lovely deep mauve dress styled with an undefined waist and round neckline, with an overlay of matching lace scalloped to the flowing pleated skirt.

The groom's mother chose a pale mauve dress made of sheer fabric designed with a tea-length full skirt, long sleeves and an embroidered lace bodice.

Both mothers' dresses were complimented with corsages made of blue dogwood, fresh baby's breath and mauve ribbons.

The bride's mother was hostess of a postnuptial reception held at the Fellowship Hall of the Church.

The special beauty of the bride's table was noted in the picture-perfect white cake, its three tiers separated with two sets of Grecian posts. Clusters of mauve and blue roses covered the tops of the divided layers. A bride and groom ornamentation covered the top tier to add the finishing touch to the cake.

The bride's table was covered with white re-embroidered eyelet with bouquets in the bride's chosen colors at the front corners. The bridal bouquet served as the centerpiece.

A crystal punch service marked the outer extremity of the table, and crystal dishes of mints and nuts, and mauve napkins engraved with the names of the couple and their wedding date completed the setting.

The groom's table, covered with a champagne beige satin cloth and centered with a smaller version of the bridal bouquet, held a German chocolate cake decorated with light and dark chocolate and the names and wedding date of the couple.

Debbie Brantley and Vicki Floyd served at the bride's table, and Dana Johnson, sister-in-law of the bride, served at the groom's table.

Miss Sonya Herrell directed signatures of the guests at the bride's registry table, covered in white re-embroidered eyelet and holding the bride's book and plume pen, and a silver vase holding flowers in the bride's chosen colors.

Chris Dean and Tommy Johnson, niece and nephew of the bride, and Kari and Wesley Massey, cousins of the groom, handed out rice bags.

The groom's parents were hosts for a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at La Vista Country Club.

Special wedding guests included Mrs. Nellie Collins of Haskell, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Massey of Wichita Falls, grandparents of the groom.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and Midwestern State Univ. with a bachelors degree in business administration. She is employed with Texas State Dept. of Highways and Public Transportation.

Nichols was graduated from Holliday High School and attended MSU. He is employed with the Texas State Dept. of Highways and Public Transportation.

When the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Nuevo Vallarta, Mexico, the bride was wearing a turquoise and white lace dress.

The couple will make their home in Iowa Park.

FOODS AGAINST CANCER: Eating certain foods and avoiding others can decrease the risk of cancer by 35% to 60%, according to researchers. Foods that can help prevent cancer include fruits and vegetables with beta-carotene, such as carrots, sweet potatoes, spinach, broccoli, cantaloupe, apricots, pumpkins, and acorn and butternut squash. Although the body converts the beta-carotene to vitamin A, experts say that vitamin A and beta-carotene supplements are not as effective as the food and, when taken in large quantities, can be harmful. Low-fat dairy products provide calcium, which may help to prevent colon and breast cancer. The fiber in fruits, vegetables, and whole-grain foods can reduce the risk of colon cancer, and the vitamin C contained in fresh orange juice, sweet red peppers, strawberries, or tomatoes can help to block formation of some cancer-causing substances in the body. The omega-3 fatty acids contained in such cold-water fish as salmon, herring, sardines, mackerel, and tuna may help to lower breast cancer risk. Foods to avoid include fats, nitrates and nitrites (such as is contained in processed luncheon meats, smoked meats, bacon, sausage, and hot dogs), and excessive alcohol.

TRANSFUSION PROTECTION: Although blood banks are employing many measures to eliminate the risk of acquiring the AIDS virus from transfusions, it still does happen. However, patients can request certain procedures to avoid this possibility. Intraoperative autologous transfusions (IAT) employs a machine that recycles the patient's own blood during surgery. Plasmapheresis involves harvesting platelets from the individual's bloodstream prior to surgery and returning them to the body with IAT. If surgery is not emergency and can be postponed, individuals can predonate their own blood prior to the operation. Finally, the individual can choose specific blood donors via directed donations.

As I See It... By BOB HAMILTON

There are some elected officials that you never hear their real thinking until they leave office.

That's apparently the case of Rep. John Gavin of Wichita Falls, who has announced he will not seek re-election to the state house of representatives.

Gavin has been quoted as saying he thinks Texas needs a state income tax.

Not until this week has he ever said that for public consumption.

He is quoted as saying, "We're one of the two industrialized states that doesn't have a state income tax. I personally think we need that."

Possibly he kept his mouth shut on the subject in the past, because every poll taken, that I've seen, shows Texans are dead set against another income tax.

Gavin also was quoted as making another statement which I found interesting.

He was critical of the school funding legislation of this past session, explaining it wasn't enough.

But he voted for it.
Rep. Charles Finnell and Sen.

Steve Carriker both had the guts to face up to the leadership in Austin and voted against the bill.

One thing I haven't heard from any of the three, however, and intend to ask them if and when we meet.

I want to know why they didn't demand that a bill, which died in committee, be brought onto the floors of both houses for debate.

The bill, sought by almost every political entity in the state, would have prohibited the legislature in the future of mandating any program the state did not see fit to fund.

that his group had dived and explored most of them. I asked what type of permanent environmental damage he thought has been done and his quick reply was, "None!"

But Gipson made one last comment on the subject that every oil patch community like Andrews should appreciate.

"A few weekends ago, I drove up to my farm in northeast Texas, which is located a few miles north of the northern limits of production in the East Texas field.

"The East Texas Field is about 50 miles long and 12 miles wide and some 26,000 wells were drilled there in the 1930s. It has produced to date approximately five billion barrels of oil.

"As I drove through about 40 miles of this oil field, I enjoyed seeing the dogwood in full bloom and the greening out of spring in this wooded and pretty part of the country. Almost all of the old derricks are now gone and it was hard to realize that I was in the midst of the largest U.S. oil field with the exception of Prudhoe Bay in Alaska.

"This in spite of early day abuses in drilling and producing. As an example, many original well completions allowed the well to blow out and flow oil all over the countryside before the well was brought under control for production.

"This practice in the industry has long since ceased, but I mention all of this because I wish that those in this country who think oil will ruin their environment could take a trip through East Texas in the spring."

And that's the other side of the story!

When the 95 young men and women of the Perryton High School class of 1989 walk across the stage Friday night and receive their diplomas, they will not only represent the future leaders of our community, but a major investment by the taxpayers of the Perryton Independent School District.

Over $7-million, in current dollars, has been invested by the taxpayers of the district to bring this class through 12 years of the educational system. That is close to $74,000 for each student receiving a diploma.

When the class of 1989 began their schooling in 1976 there were 144 members of the group. Over the last 12 years some have moved out of the district, some have moved into the district and some have dropped out of school.

Over the years of elementary, junior high and high school education the taxpayers have spent, in current dollars, over $550,000 each year on this class for teachers, facilities, equipment and supplies. All in an effort to reach the final goal of graduating the group from the school system.

Now that big day has come. The class, armed with the best in education, is ready to march off into the world to either continue their education, start a family, or begin making a living.

Each of the young people are winners. They have taken advantage of an opportunity offered to them by the taxpayers of the school district and received, through their hard work and determination, a high school diploma.

But what of the investment made by the taxpayers? For every young well-trained mind that leaves the area and does not return we have lost that investment. Each member of the class of 1989 that uses their education and talents in some other city, the new area is the beneficiary of our investment.

Taxpayers would be up in arms if local government sent a check in the amount of $74,000 to the City of Dallas, Houston or Amarillo for each ex-student that moved there, but we do not seem to mind sending our graduates to improve the economies of those cities.

Keeping our young people in the area is one of the reasons that economic development is so important. If we are able to provide the jobs that will take advantage of our well educated youth, then we will receive a greater return on our investment in education.

As we look at the bright young faces that will graduate this week, remember they are the future. It is our decision whether they will be part of the future of Perryton, and Ochiltree county, or part of the future of another city or county. The decision is ours to make.

JIM HUDSON
Perryton Herald

As you are already aware, the newsstand price of the Herald increased this week. We regretted having to raise the price to 50 cents per copy, but we were simply left with very little choice because of the increasing number of cost factors that are beyond our control.

Since our last increase (May 1, 1986), postage costs have nearly doubled with postage rising approximately 35 percent just in the period from late 1987 to the present. During that same time, the cost of newsprint has gone from $350 per ton to $625 per ton for a 79 percent increase.

These costs are combined with the same increases that every business is facing in insurance, taxes, and general overhead costs.

Again, we regret the increase and hope that you will understand the situation.

Correction

An article in a recent issue of the Leader incorrectly stated Dan Fannin would this summer become the first Iowa Park High School graduate to attend the Air Force Academy in Colorado. The paper has been informed that 1964 graduate Robert Richard Pastusek was the first. He remains on active duty in the U.S. Air Force, stationed in Germany.

Worth Quoting

No one disputes the fact that the Alaskan oil spill is an ecological disaster of the first order.

Aside from the damage to Prince William Sound, the accident has provided headlines for the nation's news media, captured the imagination of politicians in Washington, and brought renewed interest, memberships, and money to the various environmental groups.

Only the student demonstrations in China and the troubles of House Speaker Jim Wright chased the headlines and photos from the front pages and the boob tubes this past week.

And the comedy of errors following the first couple of days after the spill has probably set the oil industry of the nation back a full decade in trying to develop new sources of hydrocarbons.

But a few days ago, a guy in Houston made more sense about shipping, oil, and disasters than anything we have read thus far.

William E. Gipson, managing director of exploration for Pogo Production, spoke to the shareholders of that company in an annual meeting in Houston. He said that spill accidents should be recognized for what they are -- a big mess to clean up and not a catastrophe likened to past great world disasters of earthquakes, fires, vulcanism, typhoons or nuclear bombs.

Then Gibson put the accident in a perspective that should interest Texans. He said:

"Nature's oil spills, known as seeps, have been in existence for millions of years blending oil into our earth's surface environment. Offshore California near Santa Barbara has oil seeps that have been active for at least thousands of years and put large quantities of oil into the water there.

"The LaBrea tar pits in the center of Los Angeles is now a well known tourist attraction. In Canada, the tar sand deposits that are being mined there are the result of nature's leakage to the surface of literally billions of barrels of oil.

"In the Gulf of Mexico, we know from our seismic data that gas seeps existing on the continental shelf average about one per square mile. We can't quantify oil seeps as easily, but if there are that many known gas seeps, there must be numerous oil seeps also. We mention this to point out that nature has been accommodating the existence of oil long before man arrived on the scene.

"The Alaska tanker spill involved some 240,000 barrels of oil. This is a large amount but there have been several more during the past years, including the ships Torrey Canyon and Cadiz, off the coast of Europe, that involved much larger amounts of oil. The affected areas have been restored by both man and nature, but mostly by nature.

"In World War II, there were literally hundreds of tankers sunk by submarines all over the world. Many were sunk in the Gulf of Mexico, particularly off the mouth of the Mississippi River and off Sabine Pass. Nature again solved most of the clean up.

"I recall a number of years ago asking Dr. Maurice Ewing, who at that time was in charge of Columbia University's School of Oceanography, if he knew how many tankers were sunk off the East Coast of Florida along the Miami-Palm Beach-Jacksonville strip area and relatively close to shore.

"He told me there were 40 and

Dog bite problems

School is out and we have already experienced our first dog bite causing the letter carrier to seek treatment since it broke the skin, and causing Animal Control to pick the pet up for a required period as a precaution.

We know most folks want to help us, and it is in the pet owner's interest to keep their pets restrained. In each case, the Injury Compensation office in Fort Worth contacts the pet owner either directly or through instructions to the letter carrier bitten to collect medical costs, lost time wages paid by the Postal Service to the carrier, and in many instances the carrier is awarded compensation for suffering if the case is taken to court for collection.

I have instructed all letter carriers to curtail mail for any addresses affected if a dog is loose in the area and causes a potential hazard.

We will appreciate all help in eliminating this number one cause of accidents to letter carriers.

Thanks

Cook of the Week

Mrs. Michael Dozier

With the Fourth of July week-end not far away, Julie (Mrs. Michael) Dozier, the Leader's Cook of the Week, has submitted recipes that are perfect for that festive occasion. In fact, the recipes are so tasty and easy to prepare, such as "Firecrackers for an Old-Fashioned Fourth", a recipe using potato salad and slices of boiled ham, that our readers will want to use them all summer long.

Both Julie and her husband, Michael, are natives of Iowa Park, and graduates of Iowa Park High School. They have three children, two sons, Justin, 8 and Tristin, 3, and a daughter, Kristin, who is seven weeks old. The family attends church at Lakeview Church of God.

Julie worked several years for the Soil Conservation Service, but now prefers to stay at home with her children. Michael is employed at CertainTeed, and is an Emergency Medical Technician with the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Dept.

Her time has not been idle. In addition to being a wife and mother and attending to her household chores, last year Julie painted 400 sweat shirts for the Browse Shop in Wichita Falls. She has also filled many requests from friends and family for painted shirts and tennis shoes.

Julie said that she enjoys working with different arts and crafts, but has always enjoyed painting. Her husband told us, "Julie will paint on anything that's not bolted down!"

Her time has been limited since the birth of their daughter, but she hopes to get back to painting in the near future. In fact, she already has some great ideas for painting on muslin jumpers.

AREA OIL & GAS NEWS

Krot Oil of Burkburnett has completed three new oil producers in the Wichita County Regular Field. The No. 1K C.Birk "K", No. 2K C. Birk "K", and the No.3K C. Birk "M" are located five miles northwest of Burkburnett in a two-acre lease in the F. Huseman Survey. Locations are 825 feet from the north line and 1,025 feet from the east line; 1,000 feet from the south line and 650 feet from the east line; and 900 feet from the south line and 500 feet from the west line of the survey, respectively.

The operations pumped oil at the combined rate of 76 barrels per day, plus 153 barrels of water. The No.1K bottomed at 1,700 feet and was plugged back to 1,667 feet; the No.2K bottomed at 1,700 feet with plugback to 1,694 and the No.3K bottomed at 1,713 feet with plugback to 1,656 feet. The wells will produce from perforations in the Gunsight Sand, 1,560 to 1,570, 1,552 to 1,558 to 1,599 feet into the holes.

Drillsite has been staked for the No.10 Burnett Oil, A 1,100-ft. development well in the Wichita County Regular Field. Location was in a 123-acre lease, 150 feet from the south line and 1,010 feet from the west line of Section 32, Block 9 of the H&TC Survey, A-1819.

Singleton Production of Iowa Park has given up on its efforts to make a producer out of the No. 1 Castlebury "B". It was a developmental try in the Wilbarger County Regular Field. The location was 13 miles west-southwest of Harrold, 2,400 feet from the north line and 450 feet from the west line of the H&TC Survey, A-287, Section 67, Block 14. Spudded April 22, the well had reached 1,972-ft. total depth.

Iowa Park High School assistant coach Dean Kirkpatrick has been invited to officiate the 1989 Texas High School Coaches Association Boys All-Star basketball game July 31 in Moody Coliseum at Southern Methodist Univ. in Dallas. He is to work the second and fourth quarters, which will be 10 minutes each. Kirkpatrick has for a number of years been calling high school basketball games, both regular season and state playoff contests. His invitation to work the all-star game was extended by Jim Webb, District 10 director who will be the supervisor of officials at the coaches' clinic.

Former Lady Hawk star Lisa Holloway completed her fourth year eligibility this past season at Midwestern State Univ., playing for the Lady Indian basketball team. She will complete her degree work during 1989-90. Holloway is assistant manager this summer at Iowa Park Swimming Pool, where she has worked every year since graduating IPHS.

Winners of the first annual Iowa Park school faculty four-man scramble golf tournament held Saturday were Robert Palmer, Jimmy Alsup, Kenneth Davis and Ron Woods.

BASKETBALL CAMP for girls who will enter the seventh, eighth and ninth grades next fall is underway at Iowa Park High gymnasium, under direction of Lady Hawk mentor Jimmy Cain.

Census is anticipated

The Census Bureau will soon be sending 31,000 temporary workers into neighborhoods across the country to complete collection, checking and rechecking of housing unit addresses in preparation for the 1990 census.

Census Day is April 1, 1990. About 100-million questionnaires will be delivered to housing units nationwide by late March 1990. Accurate address lists are vital for prompt delivery and to monitor the return of completed census forms through and beyond Census Day.

In mid-May census employees begin working in selected large cities to verify residential address information and the number of housing units at each address. The operation will end in late June.

Another address check will begin in mid-June and last for about eight weeks. During the period, temporary census workers will visit small cities, towns, suburbs, and rural areas to list residential addresses for these areas.

Finally, a third operation, called Advanced Post Office Check Reconciliation, will be conducted in many small cities, towns, suburbs, and rural areas.

In this operation, census workers go through neighborhoods verifying those addresses that were added or marked as duplicates or undeliverables during an earlier address listing check completed by the U.S. Postal Service.

Census employees also will update the address list and check for any additional living quarters.

All Census Bureau workers will display official red, white, and blue identification badges. Residents are asked to cooperate with them.

Public cooperation will mean a better, more accurate, and complete address list will be available for the delivery of the 1990 census questionnaires.

Finnell bill passes Senate

Rep. Charles Finnell reported Tuesday his bill to expand a successful rail-crossing safety program to county roads has been passed by the state senate.

Finnell authored the Rail Crossing Safety Act of 1983, which established a toll-free hotline for reporting malfunctioning rail-crossing signal equipment on state highways to the Texas Department of Public Safety.

His House Bill 2408, carried in the senate by Sen. Ted Lyon of Mesquite, provides that the 254 Texas counties use state-furnished signs to post the safety information at the 357 mechanized rail crossings on the roads state-maintained.

The bill went on to Gov. Bill Clements for his signature.

"The reports received on this 1-800 number have helped prevent deaths and injuries at crossings throughout Texas," Finnell said. "Expanding it to county roads will help identify unsafe conditions in rural areas more quickly."

Swim lesson registration starts

Registration is now underway for swimming lessons at Iowa Park Pool, according to Mark Wilson, manager.

A two-week course for beginners, advanced beginners and intermediate swimmers will begin June 19. Sessions will be held from 10 a.m. to 12-noon Monday through Friday.

Fee for the course is $19.

Those wishing to register can call Wilson or Lisa Holloway at 592-5022, or see one of them at the pool.

Business News

Bank improvements uplift downtown

Improvements underway at State National Bank will help improve the appearance of the downtown business district.

After replacing the shake shingles on both the bank building and the annex building, several brick planter boxes were constructed along the front of both structures. Plantings are to soon follow.

Check-out line to be speeded up

The addition of special optic scanning devices is expected to speed up check-out time and shorten lines at Wal-Mart.

Special new counters with the scanners built in, similar to those used at King's Food, have been installed. As the purchased item is passed across the scanner, its message is sent directly to the store's computer where it calculates the price and prints it on a tape.

The device also eliminates human error in tabulating prices.

Baptist Women meet

Fifteen members of the Thelma Smith Baptist Women of First Baptist Church met at the church Monday night. The hostesses were Mrs. H.E. Cummings and Mrs. Elmer Singleton.

Mrs. V.J. Woodfin conducted the business meeting following the prayer period for missionaries on the birthday calendar for the day, led by Mrs. E.T. Patterson.

During the business, the members voted to purchase a quantity of dried beans for the local food pantry and to furnish cookies for the youth of the church when they leave Saturday on a mission trip to Albuquerque, N.M.

Mrs. Riley Thompson directed the program taken from the Royal Service magazine, the title being "Guatemala...Hope For Tomorrow." She was assisted by Miss Helen Reed, Mmes. Sam Hill, Patterson, O.S. McLemore and Roy Smith. Their topics dealt with the country and its people, the Baptists in Guatemala, the nationals, who are "the hope for tomorrow," and the new work of Southern Baptists in the country.

Among the missionaries mentioned who have contributed so much to Southern Baptist work in the country were Dick and Lahoma Greenwood, who began work among the Kekchi Indians there in 1960. She is the daughter of Mrs. Estelle Mason and the sister of Mrs. Clyde Patterson of Iowa Park.

The Greenwoods are now in the states on a one-year furlough and are living in Duncan, Okla. He has filled the pulpit at First Baptist Church here on several occasions when the couple was on furlough.

"I'M SORRY"

When was the last time you freely admitted, "It was my fault, I'm sorry"? We do not readily do that. It's as if saying, "I'm sorry" would break our jaw. It starts early. We ask children "who did this"? No one wants to accept the blame. The favorite response is "It wasn't my fault."

The "Family Circus" cartoon features an invisible character called I Dunno. When the children are in trouble and the mother asks, "Who did this"? the answer is "I Dunno." I've never seen him but I Dunno must exist because he gets the blame when no one else wants it. Children often make up imaginary friends to take the blame. Psychologist could explain the emotional need for this other "bad" person who can accept our need for this other "bad" person who can accept our guilt. We grow up physically, but we still don't want to accept blame. We find new ways to pass it to someone else. We deny guilt, or blame others for our faults. We're just letting self-pride and our childish fear of facing the music keep us from admitting our guilt. Sadly, we would rather prop up our pride than to know the real joys of abundant living. We would rather watch the richer life go down the drain than to say "I'm sorry".

Remember the movie "Love Story" when one character said, "Love means never having to say you're sorry." That is not a Christian idea. Real love means throwing out pride and saying, "It was my fault, I'm sorry". It really works!

How can we approach God if we are filled with pride? "Humble yourselves, therefore, under the might hand of God, that He may exalt you at the proper time." (1 Peter 5:6). Come worship with up. Come on over.
