FIREMEN APPEAL

Council taking second look into retirement

The city council Monday night decided it needed more information concerning retirement benefits for voluntary firemen, and left the door open to change after further study.

The council's 3-2 decision at its last meeting to not increase benefits was rescinded by a 5-0 vote, but tabled any other action until the July 10 meeting.

A retirement program was changed a few years ago. Firemen who had retired before the change are receiving a $25 monthly stipend, and those who have retired since receive $75.

At the June 12 meeting, Chief Danny Skinner told the council the decision as to which program members of the department would participate had been left up to a vote of the members.

However, three early retirees said Monday they had never been given an option.

Former chief and alderman Bud Thompson told the council, "I'm not expecting any reversal (of council's action). I just want you to have the straight facts. I came on the department many, many years ago, and paid $5 a month out of my pocket for retirement.

"When we were told about it (the new retirement plan), it was recommended to not go into the plan. I was never told it (plan) was seriously being considered.

"I can't participate in something that I don't know about. I did not have an option," he said.

Alderman Diane Robnett, one of the three who voted to not change the retirement program for those previously retired, proposed a motion to rescind last meeting's action, so the subject could be further discussed.

Robnett said each retiree should be questioned, individually, to see if they had been given a choice of a retirement plan.

Wayne Williams, who served as secretary several years for the fire department and recently retired under the new plan, said he had researched the records, and the new retirement program was considered by members in 1977.

He said members voted last year to change to the new retirement plan which not only increased the monthly benefits, but decreased the number of years service requirement from 20 to 15.

Oscar Singleton told the council he was never given an option to consider, before he retired.

Also speaking at the meeting was Taylor George, who retired 18 years ago. "You can't consider anything if you don't know anything about it. The first I heard of it (new plan) was at the annual (firemen's) banquet this year."

Mayor Pro Tem Johnny Coker said he still felt strongly that the older retirees should get the same monthly payment as the newer ones.

Should the council decide to raise the monthly payments to the older retirees, the city must pay the entire amount, Mayor Tim Hunter explained to the council.

Fire truck bids were opened last week, received from six companies, and are being considered by officers of the fire department to determine if all specifications are met.

Bids on a replacement pumper range from $106,890 (chassis only, no equipment) to $154,383.

Proposals for construction of a 40x60 metal building to be located on the city's property between Third and Fourth Streets will be sought.

Should the cost not be prohibitive, the structure would replace the old Recreational Activities Center.

Needed renovation at the older building, including completely rewiring the electrical system to meet city codes, repairs to the rest rooms and kitchen, new airconditioning and replacing of windows, will cost an estimated $20,000 to $25,000.

Council sets future goals

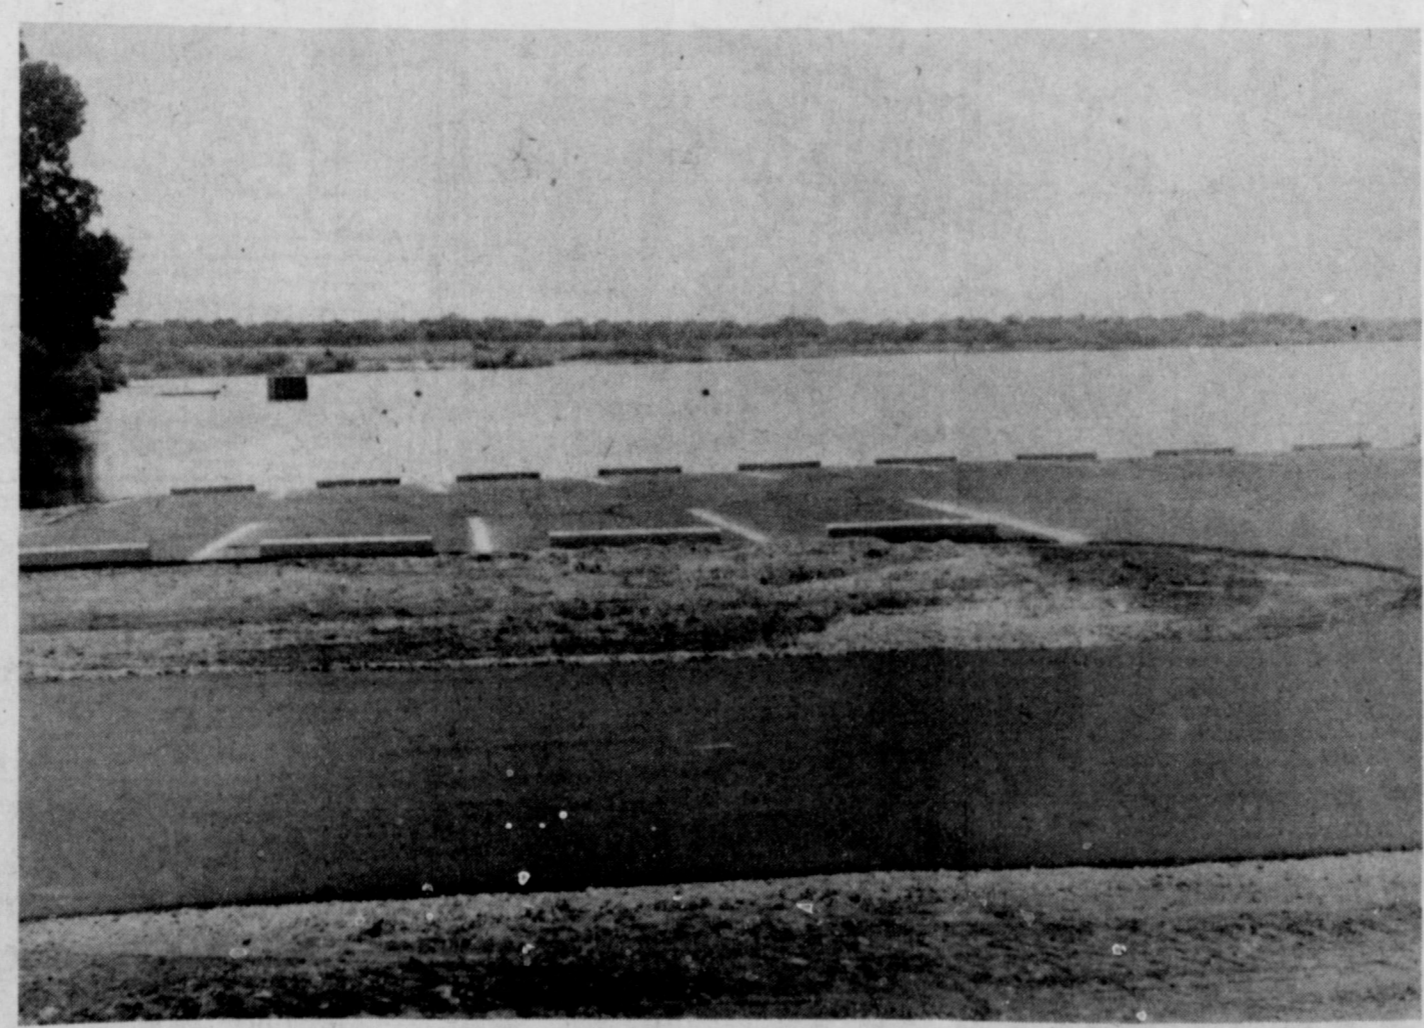

Where are future improvements in the city going to be and what is most needed?

Establishing long-range goals is one of the primary reasons Iowa Park city council holds an annual retreat.

At this year's retreat, held Saturday at Lake Kickapoo, aldermen discussed future goals.

Eight were agreed upon, but no priorities were established, according to Administrator James Barrington.

- The goals are:
- * water system improvements
 - * street projects
 - * community center
 - * softball complex
 - * economic development
 - * parks development
 - * sewer system improvements
 - * general cleanup of city

FOR THE CONVENIENCE of boaters and fishermen, the city has blacktopped the drive to the boat ramp at Lake Iowa Park, complete with parking spaces. With the newly-surfaced area and a recently-completed twin launch ramp, along with the capacity water level, officials are expecting heavy use July 4th, and through the summer months.

JULY 4th

Have fun, but be careful

As Tuesday's big July 4th celebration and holiday approaches, officials are encouraging citizens to use caution in their activities.

All governmental offices, except the police station, will be closed on that day, as will most businesses.

Since July 4th is typically a day for fireworks, residents are reminded that the city council amended its ordinance last year to not only prohibit setting off of fireworks in the city, but even the possession.

The new ordinance reads, "It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale, possess, transport, or explode any type or kind of fireworks, including firecrackers, torpedoes, rockets, roman candles, and any other types of explosives commonly used for this purchase, within the City limits."

A temporary ordinance was passed Monday night, however, to permit setting off of fireworks at the George Hammond Park at Lake Iowa Park.

Council members encourage any person wishing to set off fireworks to use that site, which is on the east side of the lake, in hopes of cutting down on grassfires.

There were 621 fireworks-related fires reported in Texas in 1987.

Nationally, an average of 10,525 fireworks-related injuries are treated at hospital emergency rooms, according to the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission, and almost 50 percent of those last year were youngsters under 15 years of age.

The Department of Public Safety statistical services bureau has indicated as many as 52 persons could be killed on Texas roadways during the long holiday weekend.

GARBAGE COLLECTION
The city sanitation department is changing its garbage collection routes for the holiday.

All single-family roll-out containers will be collected Monday afternoon, and the remainder of Tuesday's regular routes will be collected Wednesday, according to Mike Price, public works director.

Police have busy week

Iowa Park police during the past week arrested three persons, investigated two criminal mischief complaints and two thefts, recovered a stolen vehicle and investigated an attempted burglary.

Bobby Ray Green, 25, was taken into custody at the police station on a warrant issued by the Wichita County sheriff's office. He was released to a deputy.

Also arrested on a warrant issued by the Department of Public Safety was Timothy Wayne Dunn, 28. He was released after paying a $104 fine.

Floyd Taylor Denton, 32, was charged Monday evening with public intoxication. He was released after posting a $65 bond, according to the police blotter.

Officers confiscated a reportedly stolen vehicle from Granbury at 12:17 a.m. Saturday, but the driver, identified as Sharon Gail Cockrum, was released after Hood County sheriff personnel said no charges would be filed against her.

Someone attempted to burglarize a storage building in the 200 block of S. Bond, police were notified Monday.

Still under investigation is a case of burglary in the 1200 block of S. Wall, where some $1,800 worth of tools, saws and window airconditioner was taken.

A red and white boy's bicycle was reportedly taken Saturday from the front yard of a home in the 100 block of James Drive.

Criminal mischief complaints included a car and pickup being egged Thursday night in the 100 block of Hope, and numerous dents in the side of a pickup in the 500 block of N. Yosemite

Toth, Spears nuptials read in double-ring ceremony Saturday

Rev. Ivor Koch officiated double-ring vows uniting in marriage Miss Sandra Marie Toth and Richard Dunlap Spears Saturday evening at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Wichita Falls.

Clyde Honkomp, the bride's Godfather, gave the reading during the ceremony.

The bride and groom are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Toth of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Spears of Iowa Park.

Two brass spiral candelabras decorated with grape ivy garland and white bows graced the altar area where the couple exchanged vows. A white unity candelabra holding a white sculptured candle in the center, and a satin-covered brass prie dieu accented with garland and small white flowers completed the altar setting. White pew bows marked seating for the guests.

For prelude selections, "There Is Love" was played, and Barton Robinson sang "Just You and I." During the ceremony, the mother of the groom and Robinson offered "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do" during the lighting of the unity candle, and the groom's mother sang "The Lord's Prayer" to end the ceremony. Traditional wedding marches were used.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Toth wore a formal white gown of satin finish heirloom lace over satin. The basque waist bodice featured a high shadow neckline accented with dangling crystal beads and pearls. The shirred lace puff sleeves went to the wrists with a point outlined in lace appliques. The full lace skirt featured gathered pickups which topped crystal silk organza ruffles on a cathedral-length train.

Adding the perfect touch to the gown was a waltz-length veil with a blusher secured by a headpiece of pearls and iridescent beads highlighted on one side with a spray made of a white satin rose, lace and sequin flowers, ribbon and pearl loops.

She carried a free form garden style bouquet formed of dusty pink tea roses and Peruvian lillies accented with white alstroemeria lillies, phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis, on a background of needlepoints ivy with white picot ribbon and pink mist satin loops.

Miss Toth observed bridal tradition by wearing a satin bow taken from her mother's own wedding gown she had handmade for "something old;" pearl earrings, a wedding day gift from the groom, for "something new;" An embroidered handkerchief belonging to the groom's great-grandmother, for "something borrowed;" and a "something blue" garter, handmade by Mickey Reyes. She also wore a penny dated the year of her birth in her shoe.

The bride was attended by Ginger Honkomp of Wichita Falls as matron of honor, and Susan Combs of Wichita Falls and Cindy Huckabee of Iowa Park as bridesmaids.

Each attendant wore a black sapphire tea-length iridescent taffeta gown designed with a dropped waist and small rosettes on the puffed sleeves. Nosegay bouquets made of flowers to match the bridal bouquet complimented the dresses.

The groom was attired in an After Six black full-dress tuxedo with tails and a black bow tie and cummerbund. He wore a white rose boutonniere accented with babies breath and greenery.

Van Hedrick of Iowa Park served as best man for the groom. Groomsman were David Pike and Phillip Davis, both of Iowa Park. Each wore an After Six black tuxedo with a black sapphire bow tie and cummerbund, complimented with a boutonniere of dusty rose.

James Spears of Austin, brother of the groom, and Kyle Long of Iowa Park assumed ushering duties. Ushers and fathers of the couple wore tuxedos in the same style as the groomsmen, and wore white carnation boutonnieres and red carnation boutonnieres, respectively.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Toth chose to wear a blue ice two-piece "palm leaf" jacquard tea-length dress featuring a Venise-edged tunic. Mrs. Spears wore a floral print tea-length dress with a lace collar, drop waist and pleated skirt.

Both mothers wore corsages of white flowers and ribbon, designed to match her dress.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom were picked up at the church in a horsedrawn buggy and taken to a reception and dance in their honor at the Wichita Falls Activity Center.

The reception, hosted by the parents of the bride, was highlighted by the bride's table which was covered with white satin-finish lace, scalloped with pink bows over a blue ruffled cloth. The bridal cake was a four-tiered creation separated with Grecian columns intertwined with rosebuds. Each tier was decorated with pink roses and trim, and a handblown glass heart with silk flower and ribbon loop accents topped the cake. A modular votive arrangement made of dusty pink gladiolas, phalaenopsis orchids, pink tea roses, Peruvian lillies and needlepoint ivy surrounded the confection.

The groom's table, covered with a white cloth accented with pink and blue bandana bows, carried out a western theme. It held a traditional chocolate cake decorated with a cowboy-style bride and groom, and the inscription "Always and Forever." A fluted punch bowl completed table appointments.

Mary Morath, Marsha Anderle, Monica Hawn and Mary Hernandez served at the reception.

Tables in the dance area were each covered in white and held brandy snifters with blue candles and pink bows.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening held at the First United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

The bride was feted Saturday morning with a brunch hosted by Dorothy Honkomp at the Silver Square Room in Wichita Falls.

The bride is a graduate of Notre Dame High School and attended Midwestern State State Univ. She is employed by Best Products. Spears is a graduate of Iowa Park High School and also attended MSU. He is employed by Arrowhead Livestock Sales Co.

Following a honeymoon trip to Nuevo Vallarta, the couple are at home in Wichita Falls.

Segler, Parker exchange vows Saturday afternoon in Holliday

First Baptist Church in Holliday was the setting for the Saturday afternoon ceremony where Deanna Kay Segler and Patrick Addison Parker read their vows. Gil Peter, minister of Holliday Church of Christ, officiated the double-ring service for the children of Mr. and Mrs. James Segler and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Parker, all of Holliday.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a candlelight white satin gown. The bodice featured a rounded neckline outlined in appliques and pearls with a sheer yoke. Pearled appliques decorated the front of the bodice to a dropped waist, and the shirred sleeves extended to the wrist. A headpiece of pearled appliques and puffs of net secured a fingertip illusion veil with a blusher.

To complete her wedding costume, Miss Segler carried a cascade bouquet made of fresh peach and white roses, small peach carnations, greenery and baby's breath, with streamers made of white lace, and peach and green ribbons to accent.

Tammy Segler of Holliday served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a peach tea-length gown featuring off-the-shoulder puffed sleeves and a bubble hemline, with a hairpiece made of peach bows and streamers, and baby's breath. She carried a colonial style bouquet made of fresh peach and white carnations and baby's breath, with white lace, and seafoam green and peach streamers.

The bride carried a linen and lace handkerchief, belonging to her great-grandmother, for the "something old" and "something borrowed" traditions; her wedding attire for "something new," and her garter for "something blue." She also wore a sixpence in her shoe.

Miss Holly Ashley of Holliday, niece of the groom, presented a charming picture as the flower girl. Wearing a pale peach and seafoam green floral tea-length dress with a peach ruffle, she wore a hairband of baby's breath and peach streamers and carried a white lace basket filled with peach flowers.

Heath Gholson of Iowa Park, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. He was attired in a black tuxedo with a rose boutonniere trimmed in peach, and carried a satin heart-shaped pillow trimmed in lace and peach flowers.

Mike Parker, father of the groom, served his son as best man. Mike Parker Jr., brother of the groom, and James Wayne Segler, brother of the bride, both of Holliday, were ushers. Segler also served as candlelighter.

The couple exchanged vows in a candlelight setting highlighted with an arch candelabra flanked by spiral candelabras, each decorated with greenery and peach bows. A unity candle, used by the couple to seal their wedding vows, completed the altar setting. Seating for the grandmothers and mothers of the couple was marked with brass candelabras intertwined with greenery and peach bows. Peach bows were placed on the remaining pews.

Nancy Gholson, aunt of the bride, provided music for the service which included "Through the Eyes of Love," "Pachelbel, Canon in D," and "To Me," as prelude selections. "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us" was offered during the lighting of the unity candle, and the traditional wedding marches were played for the processional and recessional.

The bride's parents were hosts for a reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the ceremony.

The bride's aunts served at the bridal table, which held a tiered confection with lace trim and an abundance of peach roses. The cake was topped with a porcelain bride and groom standing in a gazebo. A silver punch bowl, and an arrangement of fresh peach and white roses in a silver candelabra completed the table setting.

The groom's table held a chocolate cake, silver centerpiece with fresh flowers and a coffee service. Sisters of the groom presided.

Melissa Gholson, cousin of the bride, directed signatures of the guests at the registry table which held the bride's book, a bride doll, a picture of the bride and groom and a basket of greenery with peach and lace trim.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Noting the distinction of the day, the bridegroom was passenger in a hot air balloon belonging to Rich

Arnold of Nashville, Tenn., his brother-in-law, riding over the bride's home on the morning of the wedding.

Special guests at the wedding were grandparents of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gholson of Kamay, Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Patrick of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Dorothy Segler and Jack Moore, both of Holliday.

Other out-of-town guests included Ellen and Rich Arnold of Nashville, and Linda, Melissa and Brad Gholson, all of Pecos.

When the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Dallas and San Antonio, the new Mrs. Parker was wearing a light peach dress styled with a lace overlay, a dropped waist accented with a bow, and a floral hemline, with matching lace shoes. The couple will reside in Wichita Falls.

As I See It... By BOB HAMILTON

Someone apparently forgot to tell all those thousands of people I saw in Arlington last week that the economy in Texas is in a slump.

The attendance at Six Flags and the Ranger baseball game was big. So was the traffic crowded on all the highways, there and in between here and there.

We attended the summer convention of the Texas Press Association over the weekend. Arlington is a natural place for this kind of activity, because of all the things that area has to offer, and the facilities.

A couple of our speakers were of particular interest to me. I guess because both are involved in sports.

One was George W. Bush, son of the president and head of a group that recently purchased the Ranger baseball team.

A fine speaker, Bush received a good response when he commented, "Like the man that's all hat and no cattle, I'm all name and no money."

He admitted his organization is dead serious about a new stadium for his ball team. They're going to have one, even if it means building anew on the same area and tearing down the original facility.

It's also known that Dallas is in the hunt for relocating the Rangers. That city is putting together a package which includes erecting a stadium where farmers market is now located.

Bush explained the old stadium just isn't large enough. And a large percentage of the seats available are in the outfield, where tickets are only $4.

"The New York Yankees get more money just from television rights alone, than we get from television, ticket sales and everything else," Bush said.

The other sports figure I heard was Jim Wacker, head football coach at Texas Christian Univ.

His program was rocked after he discovered some of his players had violated NCAA rules, and reported it to the governing body.

But what happened after that was unexpected. His team was placed on probation three years and scholarships cut to almost nothing.

His point was, it doesn't pay to be honest. And about every major college in the nation realizes that.

Another speaker would be great to have here, for our business people to hear. She is Connie Sitterly, head of Management Training Specialists of Fort Worth.

Her topic, "You can satisfy the customer or kiss your business goodbye," was well presented.

Hughes is new Lions president

Joe Hughes was installed as the new Iowa Park Lions Club president during Tuesday's noon meeting.

Other officers for the year are Mark Hayworth, first vice president; Derrell Monday, second vice president; Keith Aulds, secretary; Danny Coffman, treasurer; Robert Palmer, tailwister, and out-going president Kenneth Via, Liontamer.

Following a long-established residence, Mrs. John Sibley was the installing officer. She used the titles of current best-selling fiction and non-fiction books as her theme.

In other business, the organization has contracted with another Branson, Mo. musical group, Campbell's Country Jubilee, to perform here May 4.

Johnson graduates Texas Tech Univ.

Frank Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Johnson Sr. of Iowa Park, graduated Texas Tech Univ. with a bachelor of science degree in physical education.

Johnson was among more than 1,400 students participating in the spring commencement exercises.

He is a 1983 graduate of Iowa Park High School.

Iowa Park was approved.

Fireworks are not permitted inside the city, but the restriction of the ordinance was set aside at the park only for July 1-4.

Administrator James Barrington was authorized to advertise for bids to have the old public works office removed from its 100 West Texas site.

No action was taken on a proposed group medical insurance plan, nor a request for drainage improvement in the 700 block of West Magnolia.

Aldermen passed a resolution to express appreciation for the use Saturday of Jesse McCullough's cabin at Lake Kickapoo. The council met there for a work study session.

Worth Quoting

During the Republican National Convention in 1984 which took place in Dallas, the flag of the United States of America was burned. Yesterday the Supreme Court of the United States ruled that Gregory "Joey" Johnson was within his right of free expression guaranteed by the First Amendment and therefore could not be prosecuted for the act. The vote was 5-4.

Gregory "Joey" Johnson, at the time was a member of Revolutionary Communists Youth Brigade. The day the act took place in Dallas, about 40 others joined in chanting "Red, White, and Blue, we spit on you."

I guess I have lived too long, or for that matter, maybe with the direction this nation is going, I am thankful to the Lord I will not be around to see the final chapter written. I am personally astounded by the Court's ruling, although not surprised. It's a matter of revulsion that we continue to even pay lip service to punks like Johnson. Even today Johnson expresses his hatred for the American Justice and the Dallas police department. He also pointed out that this was not a victory for the First Amendment and freedom of speech, etc. He said that it only proves the court was hypocritical in their action because we do not have free speech. Well, if he thinks we don't have free speech over here I am sure he would be much happier in Shanghai, China.

Actually Texas didn't nail Johnson as a means of violating the First Amendment. Texas has a law forbidding the desecration of our national symbol. Actually, had I been in Dallas that day and had I been armed, I might be in jail now because I don't think I could have resisted what would have been obvious to me -- shoot the S.O.B.!

Actually, our grandchildren will have to pay the price of what has happened today and during the past 20 years. Liberal courts, judges, and liberal interpretation of the laws (some written as many as 200 years ago) are choking our nation to death. Pledge of Allegiance in school? Gone. Voluntary prayer in school? Gone. And now this latest episode....

JIM WINTER

I don't know what we have to do to win the Keep Texas Beautiful contest but finishing second again this year didn't particularly thrill any of the volunteers who worked long hours preparing the entry.

Of course the entire community benefits from the beautification projects. The renovation/beautification work covers all areas of town and included businesses, schools, parks and medians. During the three years Burk Burnett has ignored the depressing news about the Texas economy and proceeded with plans for modernization.

Why do we need the KTB judges to tell us how great we're doing?

Instead, the entire community should continue to work to beautify Burk Burnett without the worry of contest rules and scrapbooks. The time saved by not bothering with KTB might be used to tackle another project or improve an existing one.

If this sounds like I'm a poor loser, I plead guilty.

No city in Texas deserves the award more than Burk Burnett.

Wants information

Dear Sir:

I was in your city a few years back rounding up some genealogy regarding a former citizen of your town who made his mark there at the turn of the century (and before). I speak of George A. McKindley, owner of G.A. McKindley Dry Goods and Shoes on W. Cash St. He was my beloved grandfather, whose daughter, Ida Belle, was my dear mother.

I believe my grandfather came to Iowa Park from Atlanta, Georgia some time around the middle of the 1800's. His first store was on the street behind W. Cash until they had a fire. Then he built his building, the first brick store in Iowa Park, and the only one to have a basement. My mother told me that on July 4 each year, Grandmother served the Indian women (in the 1880's) roast turkey, cakes, et cetera in that basement. She was just a child but her memory was vivid because the wives of Quanah Parker (last Comanche chief and half white) were among those who partook of the celebration. Today, the top story is gone from his building and the basement is filled with debris (or dirt) except for a small space.

As I understood the location of the McKindley store it was from the corner at the Tanner store #101; then Grandfather's store #102, then Stone Drug Store #103, then Mrs. Calloway's store #104.

It is hard to find anyone who remembers the lovely McKindley family from Georgia, but I thought you would know of something written through the years in the Iowa Park Leader and could help me. I have even waited until I am quite old myself, but still able to continue doing the research I need. Please list helps that you may have. I will remit any Zerex charges promptly, and thank you in advance.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Illene H. Smith

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Our annual Vacation Bible School will be on July 7th & 8th. On Friday night it will be from 7:00 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. On Saturday morning we will begin at 9:00 and dismiss at 1:00 p.m. This includes lunch on the grounds. We will have classes for children of all ages through high school. Recently I read "Analysis of a Child's Future" that I would like to share.

What do I want for this child of mine?
Shall he see riches and fame combine
Into a life of renown and wealth?
No...but God grant him peace and health.
What do I want for this child I hold?
Shall it be said he was wise and bold,
Able directing his "Master Mind"?
No...but let him be gentle, kind.
What do I want for this child I teach?
Shall he invent some machine to reach
Into earth's secret and unknown part?
No...let him have a humble heart.
What do I want for this child I keep?
Shall he go onward while others weep,
Pushing ahead though the helpless call?
No...but let him be loved by all.
What do I want for his future years?
Shall I dare hope that he shed no tears?
No...but let laughter and tears combine
Into pure joy for this heart of mine.

Summer in the Park
If you weren't at this month's Summer in the Park event, you really missed a great time! The Friendly Door Rhythm Band and the Red River Blue Grass Band gave very entertaining performances to a very pleased crowd.

The Friendly Door Senior Citizens provided refreshments of homemade cake and ice cream.

This year, even Mother Nature cooperated, helping the event to become a great success.

I would like to thank everyone who helped get things together, especially Mike Price for setting up the sound system, and Dan Baker of KLUR Radio and John Mollet of First United Methodist Church for acting as Masters of Ceremonies.

The next Summer in the Park event will be held July 27 at the Pavillion in City Park. Make plans to be there!

Volleyball
The spring season of volleyball is coming to an end, with play-offs being held this week. The championship game of the Tuesday/Friday League was played Tuesday, with the Sand Fleas defeating the FUMC Servers.

The championship game of the Monday/Thursday League will be played tonight between the Spikers and the First Baptist Blue Team. Tomorrow, a game will be held between the two winning teams to determine a City League Championship Team. Good Luck to everyone!

An organizational meeting was held June 23 to plan for the summer volleyball league. Team representatives were given copies of the rules, and questions pertaining to the City Volleyball League were answered. Anyone who was unable to attend may obtain information and rules by calling Jo Lynn at the library, 592-4981, or Richard at City Hall, 592-2131.

Team rosters and registration fees of $100.00 per team are due by June 30, with play scheduled to begin on July 6. Games will be played at 7 and 8 p.m. The public is invited to come and watch the action!

Notice
The library will be closed Tuesday, July 4, in observance of Independence Day. We will resume normal summer hours Wednesday.

Summer hours are:
Sunday and Monday - closed
Tuesday through Thursday - 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.
Friday and Saturday - 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Fulfer, Britt wed here Saturday in candlelight ceremony

In an impressive candlelight setting, Miss Kimberly Ann Fulfer became the bride of Larry Dale Britt Saturday evening at Lakeview Church of God. Rev. Ole Olds, pastor, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Fulfer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. "Sonny" Fulfer of Iowa Park, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Monty Britt of Iowa Park.

The couple recited their vows before a 15-branch arch candelabra flanked with spiral candelabras, each intertwined with greenery and centered with royal blue bows and streamers and holding burning white tapers. The choir loft railing was draped with garland and royal blue bows. Brass stands holding arrangements of spring flowers in white baskets stood to either side of the altar area, and a unity candle decorated in the same fashion as the candelabras, completed the altar setting. Large blue bows were placed on the pews.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an exquisite white taffeta gown for her wedding day. The bodice was styled with a fitted waist and sweetheart neckline trimmed with lace, sequins and pearls. The puffed sleeves featured a wide sheer lace trim. The back of the gown was accented with a large candy box bow and went to a shirred taffeta pick-up skirt over deep lace flounces. To compliment her gown, she wore a waltz-length veil with a blusher flowing from a pouffed net headpiece with sprays of small white flowers.

A free form bouquet of white bridal roses and English ivy added the finishing touch to her attire.

Miss Angie Martin of Iowa Park was maid of honor, and Stacy French and Stacy Boren, both of Iowa Park, were bridesmaids.

double spaghetti straps, and a shaped skirt. Candy box bows on the back added to the distinction of the dresses. Each carried a nosegay bouquet formed of blue lilies intermingled with stephanotis and baby's breath on a backing of white lace, with white lace and blue streamers.

Malorie and Jeremy Fulfer of Iowa Park, niece and nephew of the bride, served as flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

Little Miss Fulfer wore a white frock with a lace collar, and tied at the waist with a royal blue satin sash. She carried a blue basket holding flowers in shades of blue, and tied on the side of the handle with a royal blue bow.

The ring bearer, attired in white shorts, a white jacket with a royal blue bow tie and a white ruffled shirt, carried a lace covered pillow.

The bridegroom was attired in an all-white tuxedo with tails, complimented with a blue rosebud boutonniere.

Jason Knecht of Iowa Park served the groom as best man, and Marbre Simpson, brother-in-law of the groom, and Monty Lynn Britt, brother of the groom, both of Iowa Park, were groomsmen. Assuming ushering duties were Lynn Fulfer and Brian Fulfer, brothers of the bride, and Marc Johnston, all of Iowa Park. Brian Fulfer was candlelighter.

Members of the male wedding party wore gray tuxedos with regular coats and royal blue bow ties, with blue rosebud boutonnieres.

Mrs. Fulfer wore a two-piece royal blue tea-length sheath dress accented with a ruffle at the hem of the blouse.

Mrs. Britt chose a blue tea-length dress with a dropped waist, and an accordin pleated skirt with a scalloped hemline.

A reception, hosted by parents of the bride, followed the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride's and groom's tables were each covered in royal blue with white lace overlays, caught up in swags with royal blue bows.

The bride's table featured a three-tiered white iced cake separated with one set of Grecian posts. Small cascade bouquets of royal blue roses decorated the sides of each tier, and another bouquet was centered at the top of the second layer. A porcelain bride and groom standing inside a white gazebo topped the confection.

Other table appointments included a crystal punch bowl, a votive candelabrum surrounded by blue flowers and greenery, the bride's white throwaway bouquet, mints, nuts and napkins. Teresa Fulfer and Cindy Fulfer, sisters-in-law of the bride, presided.

The groom's table held a classic chocolate cake decorated with chocolate roses and small birds, a silver coffee service and a votive arrangement similar to that on the bride's table.

An hors d'oeuvres table was covered with a white cloth trimmed in royal blue ribbon, and accented with royal blue bows in the center and at each corner. A votive arrangement served as centerpiece.

The bride's book sat on a round registry table covered in royal blue with a white lace overlay. A royal blue plume pen and votive lamp completed table appointments. LaDonna Simpson, sister of the groom, directed guests' signatures.

Misti and Christy Rauls, nieces of the groom, handed out bird seed bags from baskets tied with royal blue bows on the sides of the handles.

Special out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Neal Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Leutz and Mark and Charles Leutz, all of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Pearl Young of Nice, Calif.

Finnell bill would protect the elderly

Rep. Charles Finnell says harsher criminal penalties are needed to combat insurance companies preying on the health fears of elderly Texans in the sale of "medigap" policies.

Finnell, ranking member of the House Retirement and Aging Committee, said lax laws make Texas a haven for insurance companies that use fraudulent or misleading tactics to sell medigap policies, which cover health care expenses not paid by Medicare.

He said the state board of insurance currently receives more than 500 complaints monthly from Texans who purchase medigap policies.

"Older Texans are subjected to high-pressure sales and fraud because of their health concerns," he said. "Our current laws just are not adequate to take care of them."

Unscrupulous agents make misleading or false claims about coverage, convince policyholders to drop coverage in favor of their's and may even sell phony policies, Finnell said. Some "agents" selling the policies are not even licensed in Texas, he added.

"Older Texans are often pressured to cancel good coverage to buy duplicate, or even inferior policies," he said. "Replacement sales should be regulated to protect buyers from losing coverage when they change policies."

Finnell said the recent leadership shake-up at the insurance board and legislative changes in the state agency will improve its enforcement ability, but he added that the legislature must specifically address the medigap problem with tougher laws.

"We have to let these snake-oil salesmen know that Texas isn't the place for them to do business," he said.

Leader wins TPA award

The Leader's special centennial issue, published Oct. 20, was judged as one of the best in its circulation classification in Texas for 1988.

Announcement was made during the annual Texas Press Association summer convention, Saturday morning in Arlington.

Entered in the special sections or editions for newspapers of less than 3,000 circulation, the 84-page edition was judged fourth place among 57 entries.

Judges of the contest were publishers and editors of the Minnesota Press Association.

Judges' comments on the Leader entry were: "Good centennial issue. Good job with the theme of each section and the continuity of the text in relation to that theme. Good photos, good writing, and lots of it. Must have required a tremendous amount of research, writing, and layout. Too bad you have so little advertising -- the edition deserves much better support. Many of the ads you did have were pretty mediocre."

First place in the contest was the LaMarque Times, second place Lake Travis View of Austin, and third place Ganado Tribune.

Disaster loans available

Wichita County is one of 22 counties in Texas recently declared eligible for Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) disaster emergency loans as a result of actual production or physical losses resulting from the flooding, tornadoes, and severe storms which began May 4.

Joe Gilbreath said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less.

For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 4.5 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30-percent loss of production or a qualifying physical loss to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," Gilbreath said.

Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance programs will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their losses.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until Feb. 7, 1990 but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the next farming season," Gilbreath said.

Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations and cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

Study: '88 tax appraisals improved

Appraisal districts came closer to market value in their 1988 tax appraisals than in previous years, according to a study by the State Property Tax Board (SPTB).

The agency's 1988 property value study showed that, statewide, the typical property on the 1988 appraisal rolls was appraised at 96 percent of its market value.

"Our studies have shown steady improvement in appraisal levels since 1985," said Ron Patterson, the SPTB's executive director. He noted that the 1987 study showed property was appraised at 95 percent of its market value.

"However," he added, "our study also indicates that appraisals of individual properties were less uniform in 1988 than the year before."

State law requires tax appraisals to be equal, uniform, and at market value.

"In other words," said Patterson, "property should be taxed on what it's really worth, and different types of properties should get equal treatment. The goal is to ensure that all property owners pay their fair share of property taxes. Our annual study shows how closely county appraisal districts come to meeting these standards in their tax appraisals."

Patterson sees two likely explanations for the improvements in appraisal levels. "Some appraisal districts did better appraisals than they did the year before," he said. "In other cases, market values simply dropped closer to the appraisal district's values."

The study reported that appraisals in 213 of the state's appraisal districts were typically between 90 and 100 percent of market value. However, the typical appraisals in eight districts exceeded market value. Appraisal levels in another 32 districts were below 90 percent.

The statewide appraisal levels for individual property categories in 1988 were as good or better than in 1987. However, appraisal levels in two categories -- mineral properties and residential inventory -- were higher than market value. Residential inventory is a new category that indicates vacant lots and new homes that a developer has not yet sold.

State law now requires these properties to be appraised on their value as inventory.

The two categories, together with utility properties, also showed the least uniform tax appraisals. "This means that individual properties in these categories were more likely to be appraised at widely different percentages of their actual market value," said Patterson.

He explained that residential inventory, minerals and utility properties are difficult to appraise accurately.

"The market value of those properties is based on the income they are expected to generate in the future, and these predictions often vary widely. In addition, minerals and utilities include many different kinds of property that don't often sell on the open market."

"Appraisal uniformity is important for taxpayers," said Patterson. "If one homeowner's property is appraised at 50 percent, the homeowner with the 90 percent appraisal level will shoulder a heavier burden of property taxes than his neighbor. However, if both homes are appraised at 70 percent of market value, the homeowners will at least get equal treatment even if their taxes aren't based on full market value."

The SPTB conducts its annual study of tax appraisals together with a study of school district taxable values. The agency analyzed sales and appraisal information for 185,000 properties from across the state in its 1988 study.

The conference highlight was the banquet which featured Fort Worth attorney Elvin Caraway as the speaker.

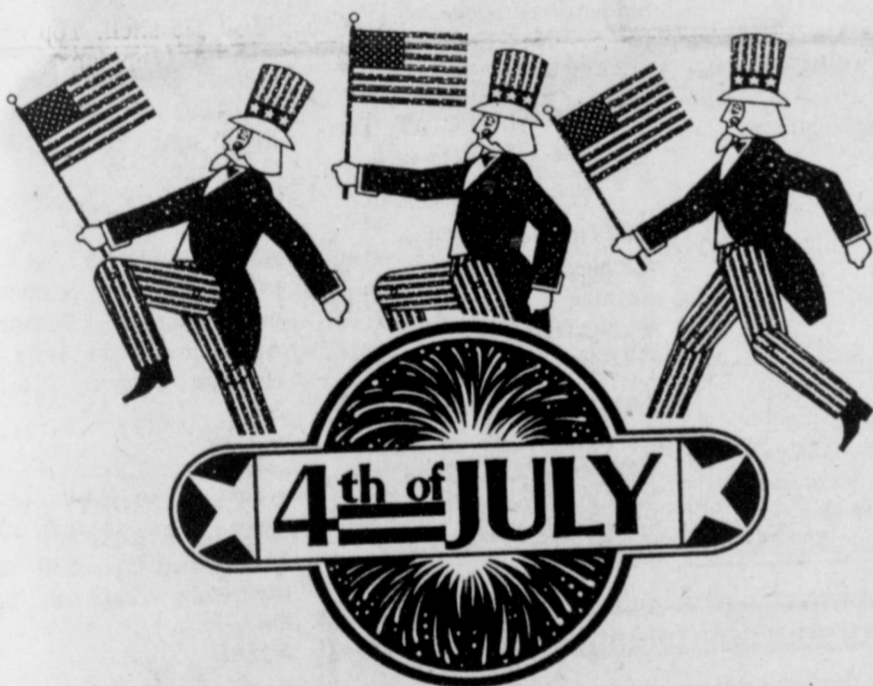

WE COMPILED A LIST OF THE FRIENDLIEST PEOPLE IN TEXAS.

Being friendly is just part of being Texan. And it's a good thing. Because the friendlier we are to our out-of-state guests, the better it is for our economy. And at Southwestern Bell, a healthy Texas economy is something we strongly support. That's why our directories feature a "Texas Friendly" face from the state's tourism advertising effort. And why we helped underwrite the Texas Department of Commerce, Tourism Division's hospitality training program, now being offered statewide. After all, we'd like to see our list of the friendliest people in Texas continue to grow.
