Council raises benefits of early-retired firemen

The city council Monday night approved the purchase of a new pumper truck for the fire department, and then doubled the retirement benefits of previously-retired members of the volunteer fire department.

At a cost of $137,864, the new pumper truck will replace an older model that has been rated as outdated by the state.

Had a new truck not been approved, fire insurance rates for city residents and businesses would have been drastically increased next year.

Aldermen rejected an offer of $2,500 trade in on the truck being replaced, indicating they would offer it for sale at auction in the future.

Delivery of the new truck, to be built by a firm in Lubbock, is expected in about six months.

Financing on the truck will be 20-percent downpayment, but a decision as to whether to accept the manufacturer's 8.1-percent financing over a five-year period, or seek local financing, will be decided later, it was said.

The council, after a lengthy discussion, decided to increase monthly benefits to previously-retired volunteer firemen, entirely at city expense.

Firemen who retired prior to last year had been paying into a retirement fund that returned to them $25 monthly, and two-thirds that amount to widows.

A change in programs last year now provides new retirees $75 per month, and some early retirees had complained.

Aldermen voted at the first June meeting to now change the benefits of the early retirees, but at the second meeting of that month, rescinded the action for further study.

A vote was held Monday on a proposal to raise the benefits equal to that of the latter retirees, but failed 2-3, with aldermen Johnny Coker and Bud Mercer voting for the proposal.

But when the $50 proposal was offered, it passed unanimously.

The $25 increase will be paid entirely by the city, costing about $2,400 annually.

Also approved was a new group medical insurance plan for city employees, which will increase the cost of the city's portion $16,332.50 annually.

The new plan calls for the city to pay 25-percent of the premium for employees the first year, 35-percent through the third year of employment, 45 through four, 55 through six, and up to 75-percent for those with 15 or more years employment.

Aldermen wanted a plan which would encourage employees to stay with the city and not leave after gaining experience.

Council members took no action on a proposal that the city budget financial assistance to the operation of Highland Cemetery, but none was against the proposal.

Legality of such assistance will be determined, and if there are no problems, most aldermen agreed with a suggestion by Bud Burch that part of the monthly donation would be spent toward operation and part going into a perpetual care fund.

Mayor Tim Hunter announced his appointments to a community development "task force," to include Coker as chairman, with Phil Welch, Kenneth Via and Wayne House as members.

Council members gave their approval to a request that West Cash Street be closed Aug. 12 for a street dance benefitting the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Dept.

Dan Ainsworth was recognized as the city's employee of the month.

LOSING BATTLE - Iowa Park volunteer firemen were unable to save a rent house owned by one of their own members, Mark Wicks, early Monday morning. When they arrived at 3:04 a.m., the structure on the corner of Diamond and Yosemite was completely involved. Wicks had purchased the structure in October, spent some $5,000 and considerable labor remodeling it, and had rented it three months. The occupants moved about three weeks earlier. Fire inspector David Duke is investigating the possibility of arson.

Police make drug search in Wichita Falls home

Based on intelligence gained by the Iowa Park Police Dept. a search warrant was served on a residence in Wichita Falls Tuesday evening, in a search for illegal drugs.

This was the second time local police had gone into the neighboring city in their fight against drug trafficking, but their findings this time were not as successful as the first trip.

Four local officers were assisted by two from the Wichita Falls Police Dept. in searching a home at 721 Powell.

Though the search netted only a jar of suspected liquid and some pills, all of which will be sent to a DPS laboratory for analysis, the raid resulted in discovery of an individual who was sought by the sheriff's office.

Billy Don Mills, 38, had been sought unsuccessfully by the sheriff's office until he was identified during the raid.

Tuesday was busy for the local officers.

Starting at 12:24 a.m., they put Craig Alan Rains, 28, into custody at 306 W. Magnolia on three outstanding local warrants, and two from the DPS office in Dallas.

Local warrants against Rains were for driving while license was suspended, public intoxication and evading arrest.

He was transported at 2:59 a.m. to county jail, according to the police blotter, but an officer said he was out before sunup after posting bonds totaling $900.

At 7:27 a.m., a citizen reported a vehicle had struck a mail box in the 800 block of East Ruby, and the driver had abandoned the vehicle.

Reportedly owned by Tom Sargent, the vehicle was impounded and had not been claimed as of noon Wednesday.

Don Sidlauskas told police Tuesday afternoon someone had taken a stereo system from his home.

At 2:40 a.m. Wednesday, police found four juveniles on top of Bradford school. They were turned over to their parents.

A resident of an apartment complex on East Diamond reported to police Sunday evening that someone had entered the residence and taken several pieces of jewelry and a shotgun. An investigation continues.

ABOUT FACILITIES NEEDS

Trustees still undecided

Iowa Park school trustees were still undecided as to what they felt were the district's needs over the next five years when they met Thursday night, and delayed any action until a future meeting.

The meeting, which was unusual in the fact that for the past several years the board has not met in July, was the fifth session held on the topic.

The board also accepted a resignation, hired a new instructor, and adjusted the salaries of four persons.

Armed with architect's drawings of proposed construction projects and their costs, as well as some maintenance projects, board members took a hard look at costs that must be paid for by a bond issue.

Chairman Jerry Reed proposed the entire program be put before several citizens who have been identified as "key communicators," and await their reactions and input before taking final action.

Each of the last three sessions has produced different proposals and costs. Report Three cost was set at $3,181,460, Report Four $2,763,720 and Report Five $3,317,178.

When an attempt was made to take a straw vote on whether to call a bond election for $2.5-million or $2.75-million, no consensus could be reached because there was no indication as to what proposals would be eliminated.

So Supt. Glen Mitchell was instructed to have two different proposals drafted for the next meeting to see what would be in either of the two cost estimates.

Cost estimates in Report Five included: $709,000 high school; $783,000 junior high; $328,000 Bradford; $461,000 Kidwell; $142,000 field house; $72,000 administration; $278,000 bus barn and $298,462 high school remodeling, plus contingency and architect fees.

"I feel good about everything in here except the price," commented Supt. Mitchell, indicating he felt all the proposals were necessary.

The district is virtually debt free of all previously-passed bonds. And the six elementary classrooms that have been constructed over the past two years have been paid for out of excess funds.

The board is aiming toward calling a bond election in November.

Trustees accepted the resignation of Judy Spring, homemaking teacher who has accepted a similar position at Jacksboro.

They approved hiring of Lavelle Turman as the new cosmetology instructor. Mrs. Turman is owner of Family Hair Styles Beauty Salon.

Also approved was a salary increase of $800 for vocational agriculture teacher Ray Dillard. That is the amount vo-ag teachers receive above regular classroom teachers, but had not previously been approved for Dillard after his transfer here from Electra.

Board members approved naming C.D. Knobloch, junior high teacher, to take over seventh grade girls basketball and track coaching duties which have been John Hoelter's responsibility.

Hoelter was moved to the high school last year, but had continued to coach seventh grade girls.

A coaching salary of $1,200 was approved for Knobloch.

Following an executive session, the board voted to increase the salaries of Georgia Kingcade and Shirley Alsup by $1,160 and $717, respectively. Both had reached their salary caps and were recommended for pay hikes.

The board announced it will ask the Texas Association of School Boards to come to Iowa Park and do a salary study of the district.

The board accepted the lowest of three bids to do brick work on the high school gymnasium which is needed to correct what was explained as a dangerous situation.

Holcomb Masonry's bid was $3,800, well below the $7,765 and $8,760 submitted by two other contractors.

Architect Don Daugherty told the board Holcomb had made a mistake in his bidding, but had agreed to honor the bid. Daugherty recommended the bid be accepted.

Also approved was a change in the school policy for determining academic achievement class rankings.

The change states: "No student will be allowed more than 12 semester grades to be applied toward the 1.2 honors factor. When a student elects to take the seven basic honor courses (Eng. IV Honors, Biology II Honors, Chemistry Honors, Physics Honors, Trigonometry Honors, Elementary Analysis Honors, and Calculus Honors), then the Gifted/Talented class will not count as an honor class. If the student does not take all seven honor classes then the Gifted/Talented class can be substituted for honor credit starting with B/T first year, G/T second year and G/T third year. The G/T senior year will count as an honors class and substitute for English IV Honors."

Principal Richard Davis recommended the change, saying it would be fair and equal for all students.

Ticks, fleas normal problem in area

By KARI COLLINS

As sure as death and taxes, ticks and fleas will pester North Texas residents and pets each year from March to October.

Good news, however - although flea infestation seems to be worse this year, ticks have not been as prevalent as they normally are, according to Dr. Thurman Reitz of Iowa Park Animal Clinic.

Maybe not as good as it sounds. Dr. Reitz made the distinction between fleas and ticks, saying that fleas seem to be an in-house pest as opposed to ticks dwelling mainly outdoors.

Ticks will usually opt for a dog's blood, rather than a cat's or even a human's, but when hungry will settle for anyone's. The flea isn't as picky for a meal, and can be more easily found on either of the pets.

Reitz said there are a number of symptoms to determine fleas on pets such as itching with hair loss, tape worms, allergies to fleas, and in rare cases, depletion of the blood supply.

To control and hopefully rid your pet of fleas, the veterinarian suggested a variety of methods. Flea and ticks collars, he said, have a varied effectiveness but usually won't cure the problem. He also mentioned spraying the premises or using an indoor fogger, spraying or dipping the dog, and another method he said has been pretty effective is putting a treatment in the dog's food.

Ticks are a different story, however. Reitz said ticks will more often be found on dogs than cats because cats tend to pick the pests off themselves.

Ticks also present a greater danger to the pets than do fleas. Ticks have a better chance of depleting a dog's blood supply, and some ticks carry a disease, Erlichia, a symptom of which is bleeding from the nose. Erlichia can be fatal, but is treatable. Anemia is also possible for a dog infested with ticks.

According to Dr. Reitz, each year ticks will begin to show themselves in greater numbers sometime after the fourth of July, and that has proven to be true.

The ticks being seen now are what Dr. Reitz calls "first and second stage ticks." That is, they are ticks in the first and second stage of development. First stage ticks, usually as big as the head of a pin, are more difficult to detect.

In controlling either of the pests, the key is consistency, according to Reitz. With ticks, spraying the yard several times during the season is imperative, and Reitz suggests spraying every year until ticks haven't been spotted for a full year.

Another important point noted by Reitz is eliminating the large gray

Davis, Petree vows read in double-ring ceremony

In a double-ring ceremony July 2 at Faith Baptist Church, Julie Davis Ross and Mark James Petree exchanged matrimonial vows officiated by Jerry L. Miller, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davis of Iowa Park, and Petree is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Petree of Lawton, Okla.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a tea-length gown of candlelight satin with a lace overlay and pearl appliques. She carried a nosegay bouquet formed of red roses, alstermeria lilies, baby's breath and tree fern, with burgandy and candlelight ribbon accents.

Mrs. Debbie Ritter of Burk-burnett was matron of honor. She wore a mauve taffeta tea-length gown fashioned with a dropped waist tied on the side with a sash, and carried a single long-stemmed red rose.

Neil Petree served his son as best man.

The altar area of the sanctuary was centered with an arch candelabra intertwined with English ivy and accented with burgandy and pink bows, flanked by pedestal stands holding ferns. A unity candle, decorated in the same fashion as the candelabra, completed the altar setting.

Oil painting is program

Mrs. Sam McIlroy presented a program on oil painting techniques during the monthly meeting of the Iowa Park Arts and Crafts Assoc Monday night at TU Electric Reddy Room.

Mrs. McIlroy began the program by illustrating how to create a unique painting using oil color underpaint and gold leaf paper, following through with a demonstration. She then displayed a finished canvas after it had been painted and framed.

Next, Mrs. McIlroy showed examples of the different ways to use modeling paste. These included using to prepare a canvas for an interesting background effect; using to mold shapes, such as clothing, for a dimensional effect; used on picture frames, modeling or texturing while still wet; or it can be used to smooth out or seal porous surfaces.

She said it can also be cut, carved or sanded when dry, and can be tinted.

The program was concluded with a workshop on painting on tissue paper, a technique that gives an interesting texture to a painting.

Mrs. McIlroy gave each member

MSU honor rolls include locals

A reception held at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony.

The refreshment table held a two-tiered ivory cake, each layer encircled with two-tone burgandy roses and a ruffle trim, and the sides decorated with mauve rosebuds. The bridal bouquet served as centerpiece.

Serving were Amber Davis and Dana Davis, sisters-in-law of the bride, and Gayle Lyles.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis, grandparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Bennett, sister and brother-in-law of the groom.

Friendship Class meets

Mrs. Roy Smith gave the devotional talk on "The Law of Echoes" Monday evening for the monthly meeting of the Friendship Class of First Baptist Church.

She used Luke 6:31-38 to show what Jesus said about echoes as the scriptural background, then gave one of Tennyson's quotes about the silent laws of nature.

"Whatever you deposit in the echo bank you receive back, sometimes with interest," she said after she had summed up the laws of echoes as they apply in marriage, friends, rearing children, the school room and work.

Mrs. O.S. McLemore directed the business when class members voted to contribute laundry detergent and hand soaps to the local food pantry for the July missions in action project.

Mrs. C.L. Metz and Mrs. J.T. Parker were hostesses for the meeting held at the church. Summer pastel colors of blue and green highlighted the attractive floral arrangements tied with blue tulle bows on the refreshments table. The blue napkins and serving dishes in other pastel colors completed the decor.

Eleven members and one guest, Mrs. Eleanor Bell of Houston, attended the meeting.

Cook of the Week

Brenda Swisher

This week the Leader staff had the pleasure of getting acquainted with Brenda Swisher, a delightful 21-year-old newcomer to Iowa Park.

She moved here a month ago from Wichita Falls to be near her sister, Sandy (Mrs. Donald Potter Jr.).

Among Brenda's interests, she lists travel, and for a good reason.

Brenda, the youngest of five children, was born in California, and moved to Stavanger, Norway, when she was five. The family then moved to Wichita Falls a month before the 1979 tornado. She then moved to Wyoming, where she graduated high school.

Following graduation, Brenda moved back to Norway and worked two years for her father's oil company. Back in the area now, she is employed as a file clerk at University Park Clinic.

Brenda and her father went on a world-wide trip four years ago, visiting such places as Singapore, Japan, Hong Kong, Sweden, the Netherlands and Germany.

Recently, her family gathered in Dallas for a week-long reunion before her father moves to New Delhi, India, from Norway.

Taught to cook by her sister, she submitted two recipes given her by Sandy, "Dip For A Crowd" and "Fruit Pizza." The recipe for "Yogurt Pie" was made by her for the family reunion, and received a great response.

Miss Swisher said she loves to sing and play the guitar. She prefers country and western music and writes her own songs. As a special birthday gift, her sister, Sandy, set up a recording session for her this weekend in Wichita Falls.

Other interests include writing poems and short stories.

Brenda is engaged to Ronald Curtin of Wichita Falls, but the couple has not yet set a date.

* Protect Your Family Against Poisoning *

The American Association of Poison Control Centers estimates that of the 10,000 poisonings each day in the U.S. 7 of every 10 involve children under age 5. Between 8,000 and 10,000 poisoning victims die each year. Since many household poisonings occur when parents are away, AAPCC recommends sitters and children be instructed on how to avoid or react to poisonings.

Here are some guidelines:

- 1) Take children with you when answering doors. Don't leave them alone.
- 2) Never leave open bottles of medicine or cleaners.
- 3) Call the poison control center nearest you immediately if a child is suspected of being exposed to a possible toxic substance.
- 4) Know that items such as paint, perfume, insecticides and vitamins are potentially poisonous to kids.
- 5) Display in a prominent spot an "Emergency Action for Poisoning" card, which is available free from: Emergency Action for Poisoning, Communications Dept. McNeil Consumer Products Co., Camp Hill Rd., Fort Washington, PA 19034.
- 6) Put a sticker on the phone with the number of the poison control center nearest your home.

As I See It... By BOB HAMILTON

Come on now. Let's hear a big rah-rah for Dallas' Carter High state championship football team!

You may remember, I commented in this space about the big deal last fall, when a judge put a stay on the Texas Education Department as well as the University Interscholastic League which had ruled Carter's football team was ineligible to compete.

At point was the fact a teacher had ruled a star player failed because he had an incomplete grade, and the principal changed the grade because it was not "numerical."

Well, Carter went on to win the AAAAA championship. The judge, who had promised a later ruling, has apparently not yet determined if it's late enough for a ruling. Because he hasn't yet issued one.

Now we find out that that player teamed up with another player, and began after season sticking up businesses in Dallas for money.

And more recently, this week as a matter of fact, six others from that fine Carter institution, have been arrested for striking off on their own, making money at the point of a gun.

And police say more arrests may well be forthcoming.

Virtually everyone connected with the school, relatives, etc., can offer no reason for the "students" and their pursuit to crime. The first two were from good families, had plenty of money, and no reason to turn bad.

I would suggest it may have been the attitude, supported by the Dallas school board which stuck up for the Carter system of grading, that gave those youngsters the idea they were above the law.

The way things are going at that fine campus of learning in Dallas, they will have to broadcast all this year's football games of the defending state champions over the police scanner.

Ticks, Fleas

female ticks. One female tick can lay an estimated two-to-four thousand eggs each year, making it even more difficult to control the pests.

Although ticks can aggravate dogs and cats and present possibly fatal problems to them, tick-borne diseases can pose serious threats to humans as well.

Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, a fatal tick-borne disease, has been known in this part of the country several years, and although no cases have been reported with the Wichita Falls Health Department this year, cases have been reported in the past few years.

According to Dr. Larry Stutte of Park Clinic, the first symptom of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever is a tick bite accompanied by a spotty measles-like flat rash on the hand or feet which will eventually radiate up the arms or legs of the victim. Headaches, chills and other symptoms similar to the flu will occur within a week to a week and half of the bite.

Third stage symptoms include nausea, vomiting and lethargy. Spotted Fever left untreated can lead to death.

Stutte stressed that if any of these symptoms occur and Spotted Fever is suspected, a physician should be contacted immediately. He also noted that the disease is treatable with antibiotics.

Though not fatal, Lyme Disease, having recently received extensive national media coverage, has been named as the most common tick-borne disease in the United States.

Lyme disease is carried and spread by infected deer ticks that are not common to this area, as are the brown dog tick and the American dog tick. However, Stutte feels that cases of Lyme Disease will probably crop up here in the next few years.

With this in mind, no confirmed cases have yet been reported in Wichita County, although one child in the area is being treated for a suspected case.

Symptoms of first stage Lyme Disease are flu-like symptoms such as low grade fever, chills, fatigue and body aches, and in some cases a target-like rash with a clear center radiating from the tick bite.

Stutte described second stage symptoms, usually occurring within a few weeks to months of the bite, as weakness in certain muscle groups and headaches, as the disease attacks the heart, blood vessels and central nervous system.

The third stage is known as Lyme Arthritis, when the disease settles into joints, usually the knees, shoulders, ankles and elbows, according to Stutte.

As with Spotted Fever, symptoms of Lyme Disease should be immediately reported to a physician, as it is treatable.

Dr. Stutte noted that it should be routine to take precautions and wear protective clothing when going into areas where ticks usually infest. After all, dogs and cats aren't the only victims of tick-related diseases.

Sales taxes reflect business slump

Business in Iowa Park continued in a slump during May, according to sales taxes collected during that month and reported to the state comptroller's office in June.

May's $12,610.71 was 2.64-percent lower than the $12,952.33 reportedly collected the same month in 1988.

And for the year, collections are down 3.64-percent from the previous year: $94,844.71 - $98,422.92.

Electra is the only other Wichita County city in the red for 1989, at a minus 15.18-percent. Burkburnett is a plus 4.83-percent, and Wichita Falls is 11.68-percent over 1988, according to the report.

Holliday is a plus 14.46-percent over 1988, having collected $41,275.

Worth Quoting

There are some things about McGregor I don't like. I'll admit it.

For one thing I think the local newspaper could be a lot better.

The main thing with which I find fault is the fact that our city seems to be standing still. Maybe we're not sliding backwards, but for sure we are not moving ahead as we would like.

We should have a wider variety of business places, bigger selections, better prices, longer shopping hours. Our stores should be more attractive, more comfortable, more convenient. And we should be better informed about the services, merchandise and prices that our stores have to offer.

Our schools could be better, as well as our banking institutions, credit unions, service businesses. Our city government also has room for improvement.

Our churches need to anticipate and meet all of the spiritual needs of our people, provide adequate activities for our young people to keep them off the streets and ensure that they avoid alcohol and drugs and other practices that will ruin their lives.

The Chamber of Commerce should see to it that the community has sufficient jobs, with payrolls that will support a family in the style of a typical American family. More plants such as Smead, and Hercules would help.

We need a community that would be attractive to its residents, as well as to outsiders. We need a community that would attract people to our town to live, to shop, and to visit.

This is what we need. Agreed?

Let's take it from the top. Sure, you want a better newspaper. We do too. Maybe a discussion of this need will give us a clue of what we can do about all the others.

The Mirror has about 80% readership, and our circulation is about all we can expect with our population being what it is. If the people who read The Mirror would pay attention to the ads, take advantage of the offers being made through the ads and tell the advertisers that they saw the ads, the merchants would be encouraged to advertise more.

More advertising would mean more pages, more pages would mean more news, pictures, features, opinion pieces. And this, of course, would mean a better newspaper. It would also symbolize a better town.

The increased advertising would also create more business for the stores. And this would naturally generate more success for each business, which would encourage expansion in merchandise, facilities and service --- and real bargains! The added business would increase the value of the business itself, thereby creating more tax revenue for both the city and school.

Success begets success. An active, viable business district would attract more people to the community. Prosperity among the people of the community would find its way to the churches, too. And all this action should attract attention --- and people. Somewhere along the way more industry will take advantage of the new spirit that has been precipitated.

Ours would naturally become a community that would attract all manner of good things. People like to live where things are happening.

See what would happen if merchants advertised more --- and our readers told the merchants that they saw their ads?

Of all God's creations, people are the most interesting. Those who deal with the general public on a daily basis can tell some interesting experiences.

Art Linkletter made famous the "darndest sayings" of kids, but adults, when put in the role of consumer, also come out with some pretty odd things.

Take for instance the man who complained that he kept hearing voices in his new car. He returned it to the dealership several times, but nothing unusual was found. The case was brought to arbitration, at which time the manufacturer's representative, the owner and witnesses listened for the voices -- which they found. But they heard them even better after the radio was turned up.

One guy came to the city police station and inquired when the department would auction off drugs the police had confiscated.

A woman demanded a refund from a maid service, claiming inadequate work. The company responded that bathing the family's pet boa constrictor for 30 minutes after every meal to prevent constipation was above and beyond the call of domestic duty.

A woman in South Texas complained about her new wig, labeled 100 percent human hair. It had turned into a cotton wad when she washed it. The store asked what she expected for $4.

You just can't please some people. A Dallas resident was irate because he had lost his wallet in downtown Dallas and the police had not yet found it and returned it.

Another guy complained about Sister X who advertised that she could help with any problem. He was instructed to put his money in a shoebox under his bed and sleep over the money. Then she told him to send her the money to be cleansed. It was the guy who got cleaned out.

We humans are strange. We know one who sent off for a 99-cent diamond. You might suspect the complaint: It wasn't big enough.

ROY McQUEEN
Snyder Daily News

During the past few weeks the retail price of gasoline has increased dramatically. We are paying 20 to 30 cents a gallon more now than this time last year. Why?

Everyone has their pet theory. The consumer advocates maintain that the greedy oil companies are sticking it to the little guy. All the major energy corporations have conspired to raise prices to increase their profits.

Such an idea is ludicrous. Gasoline is a commodity. Though some gasoline retailers maintain that their product is better for some reasons, basically a gallon of gas is a gallon of gas.

Because gasoline is a commodity the price will fall to the lowest level. If one retailer attempts to sell at a higher price than the competition then customers will go where the prices are lowest.

Not any conspiracy there, just good economic principles at work. Gasoline prices readily respond to the laws of supply and demand.

One the demand side of the equation, the total gallons of gasoline used in this country have been steadily increasing since the early 1980s. This year we will use about four percent more gasoline than we did last year.

As demand increases, the supply of the major ingredient of gasoline, crude oil, has experienced major changes over the past year. First the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) has, after many years of trying, limited production.

The OPEC production cuts have trimmed the oversupply of oil in the world and raised prices for crude oil. With over 50 percent of the world's proven oil reserves, the OPEC countries have shown they can make the price of oil go both up and down.

OPEC is not the only producer of oil, both Mexico and Great Britain have large off-shore supplies of crude oil. But, both have experienced major setbacks in their oil production. Mexico is still recovering from a strike by the petroleum workers and Great Britain has lost 25 percent of its production capacity in platform fires.

Added to all those factors, the United States oil production is steadily decreasing year after year. We are now importing over half of the crude oil used in this country and the figure will probably be close to 60 percent by the end of next year.

The Alaskan oil spill was just one event in a chain of many that brought about the increase in the retail price of gasoline. Simple economics tells us that an increase of demand coupled with a decrease in supply will lead to an increase in price.

It is best to put the price of gasoline into perspective. The last time prices increased dramatically was in the 1970s. I complained to an oil man about the high prices and he replied, "That one dollar that you spent for a gallon of gasoline will carry you about 20 miles. How much is it worth not to walk that 20 miles?"

Think about it.

Choir Rehearsal 7:45
Dr. Derrell Monday, Pastor

TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION! A TRUE POLICE STORY!
The gentleman was driving home late. He had indulged in more than a few drinks. His state of sobriety was obviously in question when the trooper pulled his vehicle over. Just as the state trooper was approaching the drunk's car, an accident occurred on the opposite side of the freeway. The officer instructed the drunk to stand by the side of the road and wait for him to return. The officer radioed for help and rushed across the median to assist. The drunk waited a short time before deciding to drive home. When he reached his house, the gentleman instructed his wife that if the cops came around to say he had been home the entire night and was sober as a judge. Bright and early the doorbell rang. Yes, there was an officer along with another state trooper. The drunk and his wife backed up their stories. No, her husband hadn't been out all evening. The troopers wanted to take a look in their garage. Not knowing what the two officers were getting at, the man gave his consent. They all stepped into the driveway. The man hit the garage door opener and there sat a state police cruiser, the lights still flashing! Solomon expressed it best in Proverbs 20:1: "Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler, and whoever is intoxicated by it is not wise."

RYAN PETTIT SCORES FOR IOWA PARK DURING MONDAY'S WIN OVER SHEPPARD ... and came back with a two-hit homer Tuesday against Burk Burnett.

1989 IOWA PARK LITTLE LEAGUE MAJOR'S ALL-STAR TEAM

Major all-stars needing one more win for title

One more victory will send the Iowa Park Major League All-Stars to the district Little League tournament next week at Haskell.

Behind strong pitching and long-ball hitting, Iowa Park, host for the area tournament, shut out Sheppard 9-0 Monday night, and Burk Burnett 5-0 Tuesday.

David Hollis pitched a one-hitter in the tourney opener, and Jeff Taylor matched that effort Tuesday.

The big bats were swung by Cory Thompson and Ryan Pettit. Each posted two-run homers in different games.

Sheppard and Burk Burnett were to meet Wednesday night, and the winner is to take on Iowa Park at 7:30 this evening at the W.F. George Fields on West Magnolia.

A win by the locals, who are coached by Larry King and Sam Jordan, would give Iowa Park the title and ticket next week to Haskell.

A loss, however, would pit tonight's two teams against each other Friday night, because it is a double elimination tournament.

In other all-star tournament action, Iowa Park's 13-year-old team defeated Sheppard 18-4 Monday, and Burk Burnett 8-7 (in 11 innings) Tuesday; the 10-year-old all-stars bested Henrietta Monday by a 16-3 margin.

In girls' softball tournament play, Iowa Park defeated Jacksboro 15-13 Monday, but lost 35-1 to Graham Tuesday. Iowa Park was to take on Sheppard last night.

Senior league boys and girls all-star teams are to start their tourney play now.

The boys will face Burk Burnett in Olney, starting at 5:30 p.m. Monday. Other teams in the meet include Sheppard, Olney and Brazos Valley.

The girls, playing at Sheppard, are to begin play Saturday, taking on Jacksboro in the first round. Graham and Sheppard are fielding the other two teams in the tournament.

Optimist Club slates tourney

The Iowa Park Optimist Club is taking entries for its mixed softball tournament slated for the week of July 24.

Deadline for entries has been set for July 18, when a meeting will be held for team leaders to discuss the tournament.

The tournament will be open to teams composed of players from seventh grade to 1989 graduates.

Those wishing to enter the tournament should contact Ralph Carillo-Miranda, tournament director, at 592-2014.

Swim lessons to be offered

New swim lesson classes are to be held July 17-28 at the Iowa Park pool, according to Lisa Holloway, assistant manager.

The two-week class will be held from 10 to 11 each morning, and if enough register, another class from 11 to 12-noon.

Classes will be offered to beginners, advanced beginners and intermediate students.

The cost is $15 per student.

Requirements listed for food-handling booths

If the number of organizations represented at a foodhandlers' seminar held Friday at the Chamber of Commerce office is any indication of how many booths will be serving foods and drinks at this fall's Whoop-T-Do, the selection will be small.

Only five organizations planning to serve foods to the public were represented, when Eddie White, inspector with the county public health office, explained the general guidelines for temporary food establishments.

"You can expect to have someone over here working" when the Whoop-T-Do is held, White said. He confirmed his office had worked every FallsFest held in Wichita Falls, which has numerous food booths.

"Everyone with a food booth must have a certificate form for each booth, listing the individual responsible, what is to be served, how temperatures will be maintained and where the foods were purchased," he said.

White said it was possible for the Chamber to request a waiver for Whoop-T-Do booth operators, but even if the waiver is granted, all rules must be followed.

A temporary certificate, unless waived, costs $10.

A food handlers' training certification course will be held by White at the local Chamber office Aug. 1, at 2 and 5 p.m.

Copies of the general guidelines for temporary food establishments were distributed by White, to those in attendance, along with explanations, as follows:

1. Applications for and issuance of Temporary Food Establishment Permits are made at Wichita Falls-Wichita County Public Health District, Food Control Division, 1700 Third Street. Telephone 761-7820. Application should be made at least 48 hours in advance.

2. A fee of $10 must be paid for each establishment. In the City of Wichita Falls, the vendor must address the City Manager to waive the fee. In Wichita County vendors must address the Public Health District Manager. (Licensed food establishments are exempt from this fee requirement).

3. All foods must be preapproved by the Public Health District. Limited preparation foods are strongly recommended. Pre-packaged foods prepared for individual service may be approved. Minimum handling of food is required. All food must be prepared on site and/or originate from a licensed facility. Home preparation or storage of food is not allowed!

4. All temporary food establishments are required to have the following:

A. Protective ceiling - wood or tarp.

B. Walls - solid back wall - serving height 3-4 feet tall on 3 or less sides.

C. Flooring - cardboard, duck-board, tarp or wood chips. Note: In the event of rain or wet grounds the floor should be at least 4 inches off the ground.

D. Handwash facilities - if lavatory facilities are not available, each booth must be provided with a pan of water containing bleach concentration of 50ppm concentration (half cap bleach in gallon of water) along with soap and paper towels for that purpose. The bleach water must be changed every 1 hours or sooner if needed.

5. Hair restraints are required in food preparation areas as well as serving areas. Caps, hairnets and visors are acceptable. Hair spray is not an acceptable hair restraint.

6. Personnel must wash their hands as frequently as necessary, even though disposable gloves may be used.

7. Use of tobacco in all forms is strictly prohibited in food preparation and service areas.

8. All foods, food containers, utensils, napkins, straws, and single service items must be stored well above the floor and adequately protected from splash, dust, insects, weather, or other contaminations.

9. Condiments, including onions, relish, sauces, peppers, catsup, mustard, etc., available for customer self-service must be available in single self-service packets or be dispensed from sanitary dispensers.

10. All meat, dairy, and perishable food products must be stored at 45 degrees or colder, or at 140 degrees or hotter. This is to prevent the incubation of food-borne bacteria.

11. Open, unprotected displays of food are not allowed.

12. Serving and cooking utensils must be stored in a pan of bleach water prepared as described in 4D.

13. Animals of any kind will not be permitted within 50 feet of the food booth.

14. General Requirements

A. All food must be protected from contamination by use of proper storage facilities such as lids, cover, ice chests, etc.

B. Food prepared at one location and served at another location must be from an approved facility (a private residence is not an approved facility).

C. Food items prepared on site must be of a limited preparation nature. Example - hot dogs, corn on the cob, sausage stick, hamburgers, snow-cones, etc.

D. After cooking, potentially hazardous foods are not to be held longer than 1 hours before served if the proper temperatures cannot be maintained at all times.

E. No ready to serve potentially hazardous food(s) may be held overnight for next day use or service.

F. Food under D. and E. above must be discarded.

G. Food temperatures should be checked hourly with a probe type thermometer.

H. Ice must be drained if stored in contact with food.

CRIPPLE CHILDREN'S AUCTION LEADERS WITH CHAIRMAN JOE PARKER, CENTER . . . Jerry Gholson, Tim Hunter, Stanley Williamson and Barry Mahler, all of Iowa Park.

Annual auction nearing

Committee workers in the 15-county area are out calling on ranchers, farmers and merchants as the July 21-22 Cripple Children's Livestock Auction nears.

The traditional livestock and merchandise auction is the North Texas Rehab Center's largest fund raising event.

All proceeds remain with the Rehab Center to treat disabled children and adults.

The auction began 21 years ago as a livestock sale with only the theme, "Give four legs so that two walk."

That theme is still the symbol of the auction and ranchers and farmers continue to "come through" with the donations, then come to the auction and buy, says Joe Parker of Byers, auction chairman since those early days.

Most of the committee workers have been on the auction committee for several years.

As the years went by, merchandise and cash also have been donated. The big merchandise sale and barbecue is now an important part of the two-day event.

"However," says Parker, "the donation of the livestock and big sale continues as the original idea for this event."

"We'll have a good time at the auction. It's a time to visit with your friends, to have a good barbecue feed and to help out the Rehab Center at the same time. We always need you buyers, too," said Parker.

The livestock sale begins at 11 a.m. Friday, July 21, at Arrowhead Livestock Sales Barn on the Jacksboro Highway south of Wichita Falls.

The silent auction will be an all-day event Saturday, July 22 (from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.) at the Wichita Falls Activities Center, followed by the big open bid auction and barbecue at 5 p.m.

"All kinds of new merchandise, art, furniture, crafts, baked goods, quilts, afghans, agriculture equipment -- you never know what we'll have at the auction will be featured. This is not an 'old merchandise' sale," Parker said.

Stanley Williamson is Wichita County auction chairman. Other Iowa Parkans serving as committee members are Tim Hunter, Jerry Gholson and Mike Castles.

Salesman Confesses

Claims newspaper is best salesman

On Monday, Jules Wintner, owner of a local retail establishment, confessed his job as a salesman was obsolete due to the impact of newspaper advertising. Wintner, in an exclusive interview, said sales were made in the local paper instead of in the store.

"Sure, we get a chance for additional sales," Wintner commented, "but the newspaper has become our best salesman." Wintner reported that consumers name the local newspaper as their usual source of "Best Buy" information, 10 times more than radio or television. This contrasts with a recent Consumer Data Service report that indicated 60% of the consumers seek "Best Buy" information from the newspaper versus only 6% for radio and 7% for television.

Wintner later remarked that because the newspaper is read by all Texans, regardless of income, his business was able to sell both upper end products as well as value priced items. "No matter what we're selling, we get good response in the newspaper," he said. "In fact, the more expensive the product, the better our response seems to be." This fact is substantiated in a survey by the Texas Newspaper Advertising Bureau that documented readership of the newspaper increases as income increases. In the survey, almost 75% of Texans with incomes exceeding $50,000 a year read

Salesman admits he "never had to sell anything" because of newspaper ads

"Our customers shop the newspaper. When they walk in the door, they already know what they want, they know the price and often have the ad with them."

the newspaper. "My job has become redundant," Wintner admitted. "Used to be I had to really sell each customer, but now I'm just an order taker." Asked what he intended to do now that the newspaper was doing most of the selling, he replied, "Spend more in newspaper advertising than last year."

Finnell bill said helpful

Rep. Charles Finnell is preparing legislation allowing Texas counties to offer economic development incentives to attract new employees.

He said the bill allows counties to purchase land and facilities that could be leased to commercial and public enterprises. The legislation also would permit the counties to issue bonds to fund the purchase of land and facilities.

"Similar legislation gives Texas municipalities this authority," he said. "I think our counties should have the same advantages as cities in offering development incentives to improve their business climate."

A constitutional amendment approved by Texas voters in 1987 allows cities and counties to establish economic development programs that offer loans and other incentives to businesses and other job-creating enterprises.

Gov. Bill Clements has expanded the agenda of the current special legislative session to include authorization of bond issues by cities and counties to fund the purchase of land and facilities for lease to businesses.

"If we want to attract industries and jobs to Texas counties, we have to offer competitive incentives," Finnell said. "We have to be able to roll out the red carpet when we identify a major employment opportunity in our area."

Finnell said he expects to file the bill early this week.
