Wheat harvest underway; Farmers Grain purchased

Wheat harvest and a major change in the local agribusiness scene were almost simultaneous.

Texoma Fertilizer purchased Farmers Grain and Fertilizer Wednesday of last week, and the first load of wheat was delivered Friday.

Owner Ralph Harvey confirmed this week the effective date of purchase of Farmers Grain from a group of area farmers was May 22.

The purchase climaxed a two-week inventory sale at Farmers Grain, carried on by manager Don Decker. Decker, the former county agent, has not announced his future plans, but said he would remain in Iowa Park.

Wheat delivered to the merged firms is being received at the Texoma facility on FM 368, Harvey said.

Bud Reed is opening a new farm and garden supply store today, in the metal building formerly occupied by Farmers Grain.

Harvey said the office building at Farmers Grain is for sale, explaining he is merging the business activity of the two firms for greater efficiency and lower overhead.

The elevator facilities at Farmers Grain will not be used this season. Harvey said the dump leg of the elevator is emersed in water which has seeped into the pit due to high water table. All railroad car loading of wheat for shipment will be carried on at the Texoma facility just off Wall Street.

Harvey said the Farmers Grain site will be used in future seasons as the firm's primary railroad shipping point, but there was not enough time to do major repairs because harvest was underway.

Texoma received its first load of wheat Friday, cut by Larry Holtzen.

Harvey said Tuesday that harvest locally should be in full swing by today, and if the weather holds, could be virtually completed in three weeks.

While the fall season was not conclusive for planting, because of the long, dry spell between early September and late October, the spring has been perfect for wheat, Harvey said.

Farmers who were able to sow their wheat were unable to fertilize it, because the fields were saturated from late October until spring. Had they been able to fertilize, yields this year could possibly have been in the 75-bushel range.

As it is, with perfectly-spaced rains and cool evenings, yields are ranging from 40 bushels to the mid 50s.

Harvey said he was amazed at the test weights of the grain, which are 61-62 pounds per bushel. Two weeks earlier he thought the rust and army worms would cut the weight down to the 50s, but they didn't.

Weeds have been a problem for many farmers. Lack of early fall moisture caused volunteer wheat to

'Grow up, work hard,' Dawson tells graduates

The commencement address for Friday night's graduation of Iowa Park High School senior class, composed of 110 members, was delivered by Principal Bob Dawson in Hawk Stadium.

While it was the second commencement address he gave during his 20 years as principal, he spoke in 1980, it was also his final public appearance as an administrator. He is retiring after almost three decades in public education.

The largest crowd to ever attend a local graduation, in the estimation of most observers, heard Dawson deliver the following message:

1985 graduates, parents, and friends - I am pleased to be here with you tonight in this role. I congratulate the parents of students of this graduating class and share with you your pleasure and pride, and I extend to you class members my congratulations, my best wishes, and thanks for asking me to be your commencement speaker. It is an honor, that after four years of listening to me daily, you would ask that I speak to you once more.

Commencements, at any level, are times to reminisce, to think of the good times, the bad times, and all the times in between that you have had while in high school. To think of what has been. To think of what might have been.

Commencements are times to look ahead - to think of things as we want them to be - to think of things that could be - and in the final analysis, to think of things that most likely will be. Whether we make this event a period of nostalgic sentimental remembrance of whether we make it a time of projected reality. Any way you slice it, your completion of high school is a time of change. In some cases, depending upon the individual, it is a time of drastic change.

It would be an insult to your intelligence for me to stand up here, and with a lot of flowery rhetoric, tell you that the entire civilized world has been anxiously waiting for you to take over the operation of the world. Don't worry! I won't tell you that. That would not be altogether true - would it, Charles?

Far too often, commencement speakers use that approach. The idea that because you are graduating from high school, you have the future of the entire world in your hands alone. You know and I know, that is not entirely true.

First of all, if you and the millions of other seniors graduating tonight, or sometime this spring, are going to take over the operation of the world right away... Stop this world! I want to get off! Let's wait a few years before electing Joey Bates president or appoint Jimmy Collazo Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Maybe we should wait a few more days before we elect Paul Reyna to replace Mark White. On second thought - maybe we should go ahead and do that now.

In a few short minutes, after some handshakes and some Amens, you no longer will be a high school student. For your entire life, most of you have had very few responsibilities. Not enough has been expected of you, and in many cases, you have complied fully, and you have done very little. That should change, and I certainly hope it does change.

I would like to think that everyone of you has enjoyed the time spent in Iowa Park High School. Entertainment is not the chief function of a school by any means. Learning is - but it is possible for the two to go together.

There can be and there are school activities that are for fun alone - and that's all right - but when priorities become disarranged - when fun and games and entertainment becomes more important than work and learning - that is not all right. Often times that accounts for many vacant chairs at commencement.

In all these years this is only the second time I have given a commencement address - here or anywhere. Once before, for the class of 1980, I did it.

In 1980, the United States was in a sad, sad shape and I spoke that night - five years ago, about how through weakness - the bureaucratic bungling, the indecision, and trying to buy friendship from second rate pro-communist countries - the United States and liberal politicians had literally given away our once proud role as a world leader - and that the United States People, because of their desires for comforts - their self indulgence, and their ever present search for entertainment, had stood by and let it happen.

That was five years ago.

RETIRING BOB DAWSON
... commencement speaker.

There has been some improvement - We now have a strong conservative administration, we, as a nation, are gradually regaining respect from other nations throughout the world - We are maintaining a strong defense - inflation has been brought under control - We have a president, who, when necessary and if provoked, would not hesitate to retaliate against any force, great or small, who might threaten the well being of this nation - Our military is now getting respect it so richly deserves - after a thorough "hatchet job" had been performed on it by the liberal national news media during the decades of the sixties and early 70's.

All is right with the world - Isn't it Melissa & Debbie? No, not entirely - the United States People, at the polls, overwhelmingly expressed their desire for a stronger national government and we now have it. But, not enough of our people have indicated a willingness to get rid of the idea that the world was created primarily to satisfy their desires for personal comfort and to provide them with fun and games.

Overall, prosperity prevails - most people are probably better off than they have ever been -

That is great - but - from the beginning of time, mankind has proven, time and time again, that they can handle anything better than they can handle prosperity - Increased prosperity seems to bring a greater craving for more material things - more entertainment - more self indulgence - more - more - more. Everything must provide some form of entertainment - If it isn't fun - don't do it. That attitude has been responsible for the collapse of many once-powerful nations throughout history.

Our national heroes are more than likely to be someone in the entertainment business - actors, rock musicians, professional athletes. In a recent issue of United States News and World Report, an article appeared stating proudly that once again the American people had national heroes.

That's great. It's a healthy sign for a nation to have heroes - heroes who have done great things - heroes whose way of life, honesty and hard work, sets them apart from the rest of us. It's a healthy sign for children to look upon their parents as their heroes. George Washington is a national hero. So is Abe Lincoln, Jonas Salk, Dwight Eisenhower - the millions upon millions of men and women who served this country in the armed forces since the Revolutionary War until 1985. Those are the real national heroes. The Roper Organization recently polled 315 young people ages 18 to 24 asking them to name their most admired current national hero.

Six of the top ten named were in entertainment. Two of the top four were Eddie Murphy and Jane Fonda. Eddie Murphy - whom I have never heard. However, I understand he is a so-called actor who invented his trash-mouth comic style as a teenager and specializes in the use of four-letter obscenities.

Is this a national hero? Couldn't we come up with something better? The "Clinker" of all time, however. Named in this poll as one of the most admired national heroes - JANE FONDA!

For those with short memories, or who may not be able to remember - this is the same Jane Fonda who, during the Viet Nam War traveled to Hanoi, supported the North Vietnamese, condemned the United States, who just recently was invited back to Viet Nam to help them celebrate their so-called victory over what they describe as the American Imperialist. I wonder if the Roper Organization bothered to ask the opinion of the American POW's who, while prisoners, suffered through years of torture and starvation at the hands of their Vietnamese captors. Prisoners who have said that after each of her visits to Hanoi, their treatment would become worse.

I would prefer to invite this most admired American Hero to stay in Viet Nam. I doubt, however, if there is a great demand for her aerobics and weight control programs in that Communist Paradise she helped so much against her native land. When you live on a couple of cups of rice each day, aerobics is not needed.

Why were Jane Fonda, Eddie Murphy, Clint Eastwood, Michael Jackson, Joe Montana, and others named in this poll?

They are entertainers! Americans are prosperous! Apparently, they want to be entertained more than anything. These people indulge them.

You boys and girls are near the age of accountability. You are finished with high school. Some of you will continue your formal education in a college somewhere - others will enter the job market. Wherever you go, don't expect every job you have or everything you do to be fun and games. Don't expect entertainment wherever you go.

Work hard, dedicate yourself, show loyalty and appreciation for having a job. Always be able to say "I have done my best."

Grow up. Some of you are going to look awfully silly, ten years from now, driving up and down Kemp with that faded, yellowing, 1985 tassel and about (6) pairs of bronzed baby shoes dangling from the rear view mirror while you are still trying to be a hero with the high school crowd.

You have indeed been fortunate to get in at least one year of education under H.B. 72. After that bit of wisdom you should be able to face anything. You know, I stand up here and make a bad joke and people laugh. Our governor and state legislature makes a bad joke and it becomes a law.

Do your very best, class of 1985. In 1952, I think it was, General Douglas McArthur was relieved of his command in Korea. He returned to the United States and appeared before a joint session of Congress and gave his farewell address. The conclusion of his farewell speech was very sentimental. General McArthur ended his speech by quoting the lyrics of a song that had been popular some 50 years earlier. The words to the song and the end of the address were: Old Soldiers never die, never die, never die. Old soldiers never die, they just fade away.

If General McArthur could do it, why can't I?

I suppose you could call this my farewell address and I would rather speak to you than to those self-serving congressmen in Washington anytime. Instead of quoting the lyrics to Old Soldiers Never Die I choose the words from a country and western tune by Billy Grammar - not quite so sentimental.

I've layed around and played around this old town too long - Summers almost gone and winter's coming on.

I've layed around and played around this old town too long.

And I feel like I've gotta travel on. I am not exactly traveling on. Just stepping aside. When you travel in a 1973 four cylinder Datsun, you don't travel much. When you do, you don't travel far.

To you 110 members of the class of 1985, to the 2,378 graduates before you, thank you and God Bless you All.

Club installs new officers

The Iowa Park Garden Club concluded activities for the year at a luncheon held in the home of Mrs. W.A. George Friday. Co-hostesses were Mmes. China B. Smith, Myrl Cabe and Frank Harlin.

Mrs. Vernon Gilbert presided for a short business meeting when Mrs. Denise Gilmore was voted as a new member. Mrs. D.O. James, chaplain, gave the invocation before the luncheon.

Mrs. Smith conducted an impressive installation service, using "Fruit Basket" for a theme. Those installed were: Mmes. Charlie, president; Jimmy Gilmore, vice-president; Frank Gossett, recording secretary; Frank Harlin, corresponding secretary; Don Owens, treasurer, Michael Hodson, historian.

To show appreciation to Mrs. Gilbert, the outgoing president, Mrs. Bobby Illingsworth presented her with a gold engraved charm, and Mrs. Jimmy Gilmore presented her with a scrapbook she had compiled for the year.

Mrs. Gilbert presented each member with a ceramic open book bearing the message "A Friend Walks Beside You."

Scholarships are presented

The last meeting of the Modern Music Study Club for the current year was held Thursday in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Davis and highlighted by the presentation of scholarships to Michelle Crittendon and Phillip Clements, two outstanding music students of the senior class. Co-hostesses were Mmes. John Rentschler, Michael Sargent and Helen Burrell.

For the program, Michelle presented a saxophone solo, accompanied by John Teel at the piano, and Phillip played a tuba solo with Mrs. Ann Jorgenson providing accompaniment.

Mrs. Larry Thompson led the group in singing "Come Ye People, Rise and Sing," the hymn of the month by Cyril Argentine Alington. Mrs. C. Gant and Mrs. Francene Clements, mothers of the scholarship recipients, were special guests.

The refreshment table was centered with a bouquet of yellow daffodils and the services and napkins reflected the spring colors.

They visited the Aquarium, Science Place and Garden Center in Dallas and the Omni Theatre in Ft. Worth.

Seniors honored

Keri Knecht and Jerry Allen, who were graduated from Iowa Park High School Friday, were honored at the First Church of God in Wichita Falls May 19. They were presented with Bibles by the pastor, Rev. Del Robertson.

Following the service, the young couple were honored again at a reception where a cake baked and decorated especially for the occasion was served.

It couldn't have been as bad as turning '30'!

Happy Birthday Randy

MR. AND MRS. JOHN HOPKINS

Wood burning cookstove couple's pride and joy

By OLIVE BLALOCK

Mr. and Mrs. John Hopkins, who will observe their 50th wedding anniversary Friday, did not want a reception to commemorate the event even though their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hopkins of Wichita Falls, wanted to host one for them.

Instead, they are planning a quiet observance with a trip to Fort Worth to visit her sister and going on to Streetman where members of Mrs. Hopkins family are buried.

Rather than go to a studio to have their pictures made for the special time in their lives, they preferred to have them taken by a nostalgic iron wood cookstove, The Range Eternal. Remembering the good food that his mother cooked on a stove like it when he was a boy at home, Mr. Hopkins had a strong desire for several years to own one of the stoves of yesteryear.

As he searched for one, he found that they were hard to come by, and when found, the price was exorbitant. Since he is not a person to give up a task until it is successfully behind him, he hunted until his dream was realized, finding just the stove that he wanted at a price that he could afford. The stove, which is in his shop at the back of the house, has been a real source of pleasure to Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins and to their many friends. During the winter months, they used it frequently to cook biscuits, bacon, sausage and all the good food that goes with breakfast on the farm, and invited friends in to share the meals with them. Mrs. Hopkins also entertained her Sunday school class in the shop which was heated by a fire in the stove.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins were married July 31, 1935, in the Lamar Baptist Church in Wichita Falls by the late Rev. Sid Martin. Like so many couples who married about that time, they saw some "lean" days. When they married, they were experience, and Mr. Hopkins said that he was ready to start back to Texas the next day, but she insisted that they stay longer.

Back in Wichita Falls, he worked at the post office and as a trouble shooter for Wichita Falls Transit Co. The family lived in the City View area for a time, then they moved to Iowa Park, south of the Texas A&M Agricultural Research Station, where they operated a dairy farm. From there, they moved to Wichita Valley Farms in 1945 where they lived 28 years.

During that time, Mr. Hopkins served as secretary/treasurer of the Wichita Valley educational committee. He was also on the board of directors of that group and the Farm Bureau Board. He received the 1967 Texas Improvement Community Outstanding Farmer award, and received numerous citations of achievement in the Bridwell Soil Builders awards.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins are members of the Faith Baptist Church. When they belonged to the Beacon Baptist Church in Wichita Falls, he served on the building and finance committee and as chairman of the board of trustees.

He was born in Palo Pinto county and she moved to Wichita Falls from Coffman.

They have a beautiful yard and always raise a garden and take pride in canning the produce and sharing it with friends. Mrs. Hopkins has been a faithful helpmate, a conscientious homemaker, wife, and mother.

They have lost two sons in death. Nathan Eugene died when he was two years old, and Phillip Ray died about six years ago.

Their granddaughter, Julie Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hopkins, is the couple's pride and joy.

Flying flags appropriate on holidays

Results of the local Rotary Club's initial effort to fly the American flag on official holidays was beautifully apparent Monday.

Memorial Day was duly recognized by most of the businesses and a good percentage of homes by the display of the flag.

While the civic organization is using the leasing of the flag as a fund-raising project, the fee charged to provide the flag with staff and also raising and lowering of it, as well as its storage, is low-cost and efficient to those who sign agreements.

The project provides funds to be expended on local worthy projects, but the Rotarians work hard to provide the service. And they knowingly undertook the project to work on holidays.

Special recognition should also be given to the 500 block of Clara, where every residence had a flag on display Monday.

While we congratulate the Rotarians, and those who paid to proudly display our national flag, we would be remiss to not point out none of our governmental buildings displayed flags Memorial Day. A check of all school campuses, city hall, county agriculture building and federal post office drew a total blank.

Maybe the governmental buildings can join the rest of us on our next flag-flying day.

As I See It...

By BOB HAMILTON

The school reform bill devised last summer by our state legislature apparently escaped unscathed through the regular session and remains unchanged in any manner.

My good friend Walter Buckel, publisher of the newspaper at Lamesa, recently came up with an observation concerning the no-pass, no-play portion of the bill. I think it needs addressing, but could be done by the appointed state school board, as an administrative interpretation.

In essence, Buckel's point is: a student can continue to participate in all University Interscholastic League activities and extracurricular events by merely making a 70 in all his classes. This may be six classes or seven classes, depending on what school he attends.

Yet another student can make 100 in all but one class, and a 69 in that one, and be ineligible to participate. And the failing grade (a 69 was passing in most schools prior to the reform bill), can be in something like typing or art or band or any of the non-basics offered by his school, yet the 100s could be in all the advanced courses such as English, calculus, trigonometry, advanced chemistry, etc.

The point advanced is, a student's participation could, and should, be based on his average grades. Under such a formula, it wouldn't hurt if the average were raised to a 75 or higher, which would be better than a basic 70.

The intent of the legislature is not to be condemned. But the shortness of study, the lack of planning, and the total absence of common sense, in the overall piece of legislation has proven to be unacceptable.

Making it even more unacceptable is the legislative leaders, White, Hobby and Lewis, to admit what they rammed down the throats of the public and educators, as well as some of the legislators, might not be perfect.

Local Rotarians may wonder at the wisdom of their Congress voting down the $14 million in aid to the Contras fighting the Sandinista government in Nicaragua.

Andrews Rotarians made their annual trip to Ojinaga, the small village across the river in old Mexico at the west end of the Big Bend National Park, to deliver supplies to the little school.

This year, for the first time, on recommendation of the teacher in Ojinaga, only four local Rotarians made the trip across the river. Other members of the 50 or so families that made the annual trek remained on U.S. soil.

And the four that went across reported that the Communist "Hammer & Sickle" emblem was drawn on several of the buildings, both public and private, in the small village.

And for the first time, Rotarians noted the presence of armed military people up and down the unpaved street of the Mexican village.

That we have a Communist influence actively at work less than 250 miles from Andrews ought to give you pause for reflection.

In other words, the Russians are closer to you than Aunt Matilda in Vernon or Uncle Harry in Fort Worth. The Communists have successfully exported their revolution to Cuba, Angola, Nicaragua and are actively at work on our doorstep.

Any way you want to cut it, the Monroe Doctrine that was taught to you in American history in high school, is, for all practical purposes, dead, in a four-cell battery in an eight-cell flashlight.

With Mexico caught up in an unstoppable, unsolvable recession featuring an annual 50 percent or more inflation rate, the country is ripe for Communist sponsored riots, revolts, and revolution.

In the past, with the exception of the Civil War and the American Revolution, all wars fought by this nation occurred on foreign soil and the homelands were spared the brutality of warfare.

The next one very well may sweep across the Texas and California borders.

That's what makes it hard for us to understand Congress voting down a paltry $14 million in aid to the rebels in Latin America - and the same august body seriously considering $1.5 billion in emergency aid to Israel.

As a defensive measure, there's lots of difference between the Rio Grande and the Atlantic Ocean.

We happened to be in Cuba a few months prior to the takeover by Fidel Castro. And we well remember the Hammer & Sickle signs plastered on public and private buildings - and at the same time, correspondents for the

Police have busy morning

Police had an extremely busy hour shortly after midnight Friday night.

During an hour and 14 minutes, they assisted a motorist who was injured in an accident, arrested two people on Department of Public Safety warrants and then took into custody a woman driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Officers discovered James Smallwood walking along West Highway, bleeding from an accident, and attended him until emergency medical technicians and an ambulance could arrive.

They then took a couple, Cathy Brock and David Price Evislizer, into custody on DPS warrants. Brock's were local, but Evislizer's were from Houston and Lampasas.

Melinda Lou Dunn was arrested at 1:58 a.m., taken to Wichita Falls police department for a breathalyzer, and returned to be held until later in the morning. She was then transported, along with Evislizer, to the county jail.

Brock was released after paying her fines.

Police were notified Wednesday afternoon of last week that a newspaper rack outside Allsup's had been broken into and the coins removed.

Officers were informed Sunday that six storage units located behind Harvey's had been burglarized.

Farmers didn't spray weeds in wheat this spring, primarily because of the cost, about $7 per acre.

Farmers Grain was purchased three years ago from Jim McClendon. Prior to McClendon, the elevator was owned by Bobby Johnson. It was originally operated as a cooperative, owned by area farmers.

Worth Quoting

New York Times, the Washington Post, CBS News, and NBC were lauding and praising the courageous, the noble, the liberator Castro.

The similarities both in Mexico and in actions by the media and Congress in this country nowadays is downright frightening in comparison to a similar period in Cuba.

For some reason or another, in this country, we never seem to learn from our past historical mistakes.

Educators 'roast' Dawson

Bob Dawson, retiring principal of Iowa Park High School, was surprised with a "Roast to Honor a Great Man" dinner Saturday at a Wichita Falls restaurant.

Dean Miller, former high school guidance counselor, was the master of ceremonies for the nostalgic occasion, and he kept the audience of high school personnel and spouses chuckling as he reminisced over humorous incidents that had occurred during the years he and Dawson worked together.

Others participating in the roast included Susan Bidy with a take-off on Dawson's annual Bible reading to the office workers as they began complaining about the never-ending chores in a high school office; LaRae Collins and Jim Gotcher with their original retirement song; Dick Wineinger and his fishing story; Bonnie Medlinger, Jo Ann Davis, and Valer Mae Jones with assorted humorous gifts to ease him into his retirement years; and Richard Davis with a clowning imitation of Dawson's efforts to purchase a well-fitting suit.

Also on the roast program were Carole Venhaus, M.L. Hodges, Herman Escue, Barry Lucy, Jane Cowley, and Jean Johnson.

Coach David Baugh presented Dawson with a football jacket in recognition of his continuous support during his tenure as principal.

At the conclusion of the program, a barbershop quartet composed of Jay Yeakley, Buddy Mercer, Wes Toller, and Terry Escue serenaded Dawson with "Blue Bayou," "Sweet Adeline," and "Jerico Road," some of Dawson's favorite melodies.

Dawson had dedicated 35 years of his life helping to educate the youth of America and to mold these budding adolescents into reliable, responsible citizens ready to accept their future obligations.

Although the alleged intention of this dinner was to afford Dawson's co-workers an opportunity to "roast" him, it quickly became apparent that lurking just beneath the surface of each roast was a genuine, from-the-heart toast.

Finnell bills offered reform bill changes

Representative Charles Finnell of Holliday has co-sponsored three measures designed to lessen the negative impact on local school districts by the Perot Education Reform Law (HB 72), at the same time questioning the effectiveness of the school reform.

At a recent Appropriations Committee meeting, which Finnell is a member, the budget for the Texas Education Agency was considered, Finnell told the committee that public school funds and policy ought to be governed by an elected, not appointed, state board. Consequently, Finnell co-sponsored HB 394, which would reinstate an elected Texas State Board of Education.

Finnell also co-sponsored HB 2235 and HB 682, which, if passed, would revise policies regarding participation of vocational agriculture students effected by HB 72, and will reduce the increased paperwork on teachers brought on by the reform bill.

"Rural and urban areas are about as similar as apples and oranges and shouldn't be treated in the same manner," Finnell said. An opponent of the reform bill which passed last fall, Finnell added, "The same rules, for example, will not work for both east and west Texas due to distant and travel factors."

A co-sponsor of HJR 33 to prohibit forced state consolidation of local school districts, as well as HB 408 to restore the local school administrators the responsibility for student discipline, Finnell believes it will take the concerted action of citizens at the local level to bring about the necessary revisions of HB 72 during the years to come.

Changes made for next year

District 9-AA will be realigned into two zones for basketball next year, with the Eagles, Olney, Electra, and Seymour members of the west zone, while Henrietta, Jacksboro, Nocona and Petrolia will compete in the east zone, resulting from a meeting recently between the district's basketball coaches.

The respective zone winners and runner-ups will be determined by playing a double round robin. Zone champions will play the second place finishers, with the two winners meeting for the district championship.

District play for girls in 1986 begins Jan. 14, ending Jan. 31, while the boys begin conference play Jan. 21, finishing regular season Feb. 7.

Horse show set June 8

The Wichita West Volunteer Fire Department is sponsoring an Open Horse Show June 8 at the 3J Arena on Sisk Road to help finance the department's building fund, said Ray L. Turlington, show manager.

Entry fee is $3 for each class entry, with registration to be held at 8 a.m. the day of the show, which starts one hour later.

Judge for the show is Tammy Welch of Fort Worth, and TABHSA rules will be observed. Rosettes will be awarded to first through sixth place in each division, which includes Weanling and Yearling Stallions, Registered Stallions, Registered and Grade Mares, Registered and Grade Geldings, Pony Halter, Showmanship, Lead Line, Walk Trot, English Pleasure, English Equitation, Western Pleasure, Western Horsemanship, Reining, Trail, Barrels and Poles.

Drop out rate high for this senior class

At the beginning of the 1984-85 school year at Holliday High School, 52 seniors were enrolled and all was good.

At graduation ceremonies last Friday night, only 40 of those 12th graders received diplomas, a dozen less than at school's start.

"The normal amount of students either dropping out or failing to meet graduation requirements is three," high school principal Bill Lee said. The veteran administrator said that six of the 12 dropped out during the school year, while the remaining six failed to meet state requirements for graduation as mandated by the new school reform bill, HB 72.

High school counselor Walter Lemons, quoted in the last issue of the school newspaper "Eagle Express," stated that students sometimes discover that they cannot pass, so they give up, while others quit school simply because their boyfriend or girlfriend has graduated. Others find they don't have enough credits to graduate, and decide to drop out instead of attending an extra year.

"Most of us do not look ahead far enough into the future to see the advantages of a high school diploma," said Jeff McReynolds, a student at HHS.

Lemons agreed. "There is life after high school, contrary to some people's beliefs.

"Job opportunities are much better with a high school diploma, even a sanitation worker is required to have a high school diploma," Lemons said.

Of the six students that failed to meet requirements for graduation this year, Lee said that only two would have had serious problems with the requirements, while the other four could have graduated "had they applied themselves and turned in required work on time," commented Lee.

EXERCISE IS THE MAJOR KEY TO LOSS OF WEIGHT IN OBESE
Exercise, not reduction of calories, appears to be a key factor for obese persons who want to lose excess pounds, according to Dr. F. Xavier Pi-Sunyer of the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons. Dr. Pi-Sunyer found that obese people do not increase their food intake to compensate for increase in energy expenditures from exercise. Therefore exercise may be the key to weight loss, and weight loss can be related directly to the calories expended during exercise, the investigator stated. Throughout the study, participants were able to eat as much as they pleased. Obese women maintained virtually the same daily consumption of calories when their sedentary existence was accelerated to include daily exercise. Lean women, on the other hand, were found to increase food intake while performing mild to moderate exercise.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER at the recent Texas Bankers Association convention in Austin was Rep. Charles Finnell, who discussed issues facing the Texas Legislature and the financial position of the state. Other representatives speaking to the group during its 100th anniversary included Stan Schlueter and Terral Smith, along with Senators Ray Farabee, Grant Jones, and Ike Harris.

Cook of the Week

Food is a language we all speak and a subject in which we all are interested, according to David Wade's Magic Kitchen. He stated further of all the subjects that have tempted writers from all walks of life none have been more prolific from their pens than the subject of food.

Peach Ice Cream, a recipe shared by Dorothy (Mrs. Robert) Palmer this week suggests how prominently ice cream figures among the favorite desserts during the summer months.

The history of ice cream, according to one source, dates back to the 13th century when Marco Polo returned to Italy from the orient with tales of men eating ices flavored with exotic fruits. In the late 1700s, George Washington and Thomas Jefferson popularized ice cream in America, and when Dolly Madison put it on the table as a dessert it was considered a confection. Listed in the Washington household inventories are such items as "Cream Machine for Making Ice Cream" and "Two Pewter Ice Cream Pots". It is easy to see that Americans love for ice cream goes back to our earliest days of independence.

The first ice cream freezer in the United States suitable for family use was supposed to have been invented in 1846, and taking turns at the crank allowed everyone to participate. The electric freezer today is a quicker and more convenient way of making ice cream.

Mrs. Palmer, the wife of the assistant superintendent of the Iowa Park schools, is a teacher at Kidwell Elementary School. She was graduated from Burk Burnett High School and received a BSE degree from Midwestern State Univ. She taught third grade at San Antonio one year and second and third grades at Electra eight years. She is a member of the Amity Study Club and ATPE.

Graduates given party

Keri Knecht, who received her diploma in the Iowa Park High School commencement exercises Friday evening, was honored at a cookout party at the home of her great-grandmother, Mrs. W.E. Karstetter, following the exercises. Thirty-three other seniors were also honored during the evening.

Mrs. Karstetter was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Knecht and Vickie Reaves, the honoree's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Panter and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Yeakley, and Mr. and Mrs. Afton Pike.

The food and drinks were served, and ping pong and volley ball furnished diversion with a musical background played by stereo.

To climax the party, the group attended a midnight show in Wichita Falls.

Bradley Ranch cited for conservation work

Rusty Bradley and John Miller were named Outstanding Resident Conservation Stewards of the Year by the Wichita Soil and Water District and Region Five, in a banquet held recently in Mineral Wells.

Bradley and Miller, owner and manager of R.J. Bradley Ranch in Kulture Canyon, were chosen out of 36 districts and 51 counties on the basis of promoting conservation and good ranch management.

The 4,500-acre ranch they operate has been in the Bradley family 106 years, 36 of which John has been manager for his grandfather, Rusty.

They run a cow-calf operation of Angus cows with Brangus bulls, and providing they have ample range and when grazing they run yearling stecker calves in the winter. In addition to this, they experiment with improved varieties of grass such as Little Bluestem, Indian grass, switchgrass, purple top grass, Sand Bluestem and sideseed grama.

Also winning an award at the banquet was Donna Hodges as nature-up conservation homemaker. Mrs. Hodges and her husband, James, and their two children, live near Valley View.

Donna was chosen for this award on the basis of civic activity. She is a 4-H leader and a member of the youth committee and planning board and was named 1984 outstanding Adult 4-H leader. Other community activities she participates in include serving as Camp Fire leader, Bradford P.T.A. officer, Kibbutz P.T.A. officer, Iowa Park band booster officer, Volunteer Teachers aid, fundraising for the Krumm Volunteer Fire Department, and helping with food banks.

Paula Bowers, seventh grade student at Iowa Park Junior High, won second place in the conservation essay contest.
