TANK BATTERY FLAMES AFTER BEING HIT BY LIGHTENING

CHIEF BOB DEAN CHECKS OUT FALLEN TREE DURING STORM

MRS. LITA WATSON

IOWA PARK TX 76367 112

Thunderstorm damage slight; four inches measured

A thunderstorm caused some wind damage and soaked fields Tuesday afternoon and evening, but did not flood the community as it did in neighboring Wichita Falls.

Iowa Park was on the northwest edge of the storm's path, as indicated by moisture measurements ranging from less than a quarter of an inch northwest to four inches on Wellington Lane.

Damage from high winds was mainly limited to a few trees being knocked over, a window blown out in Park West Shopping Center, a carport roof in the south part of town and some metal trim on Smith's X-Ray building.

Lightening was the apparent cause of a tank battery fire near Holliday.

Electric service was disrupted in areas east of the city, and numerous

"blinks" in town during the storm.

Alan Forney said a steel building was blown some 15 feet at his place on Wellington, and metal siding was damaged, some by wind and some by large chunks of hail.

Kamay received an estimated three inches of rain, but only small pea-sized hail.

High winds stripped leaves and small branches from trees, littering streets over Iowa Park.

Street flooding in Iowa Park was primarily restricted to the areas on the Old Highway and in Garden Valley.

Three tanks of oil were set afire about 400 yards west of FM 368, north of FM 258.

Deputy Sheriff Claude Morrow was parked in the area, watching the clouds, when his vehicle was rocked by the explosion. He said flames shot several hundred yards in all directions, but he did not see the bolt of lightening hit the tanks.

Volunteer firemen from Iowa Park, Kamay, West Wichita and Holliday responded to fight the fire, but only vehicles with four-wheel drive could reach the site because of the muddy road.

Civil Defense coordinator Sidney

Smith had to put up equipment to catch unburned oil from the tanks that was being carried east of 368 by rain water.

Farmers say they will need a couple of days to assess the damage to wheat still unharvested.

One farmer, Ross Roberts, said his feed, which stood about five feet tall, was lying flat on the ground Tuesday evening.

All classroom teacher positions are filled

Iowa Park schools now has a full faculty staff, after trustees Tuesday night approved the hiring of seven new teachers.

There still are some aides to be hired, Supt. Glen Miller explained, but teacher-wise, all classrooms will be filled with instructors.

Helping with that knowledge is the fact that 100 percent of the local faculty passed the TECAT test.

Many schools, according to statewide reports, must wait until those faculty members who failed the test, take it over again. Passage is required by the school reform bill.

The superintendent not only reported all his teachers and administrators passed the test, but even those retiring.

The seven new teachers include Debbie Brandt, first grade; Kristi Kay Lawson, high school teacher/coach and sister of track coach Barry; Dorothy Candice McKee, high school English; Armita Ann Norris, Kidwell music; Alice Fae Overman, high school math; LaRue Slack, high school resource, and Kristina Bradley Hines, high school science.

Resignations were accepted from Karri Sullivan, junior high resource teacher, and Georgia Moore, secretary at the administration building.

In other business, trustees tabled action on a proposal to adopt a policy on college course work for high school students and early college entry.

While board members did not disapprove of the proposal, they said they wanted a detailed policy drafted before taking action on it.

That action is expected to come in August, because the board traditionally does not meet during July.

Also approved was a fund-raising project for the high school cheerleaders, purchase of a 65-passenger bus, renewal of a contract with the West Wichita County Cooperative, and a proposal to appoint Supt. Mitchell representative to the Region Nine joint committee.

Another topic on which action was delayed until August was a proposal to participate fully in the Region Nine media services.

The board two years ago voted to participate only partially in that program, and reserving part of the funds to build the school's own film library inventory. It was felt earlier that the cost was greater than necessary.

The cost to continue limited service next year would be $6,408. To participate fully would cost $6,408, Mitchell told the board.

The fund-raising project proposed for the cheerleaders is to allow them to sell mascot pins, wrapping paper, greeting cards and assorted decorative tins, as well as other items.

The money raised would be used to purchase supplies needed during the school year and fund the tryout workshop conducted annually, according to Carey Roberts, sponsor.

Three members of the board were not present for Tuesday's meeting.

Three ordinances face council Monday night

The city council is to consider adoption of three ordinances, two bid proposals and consider plans for the proposed community center, when the group meets at 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers.

First of the proposed ordinances is to prohibit future extensions of water service outside the city limits.

This was brought up at the last meeting as a resolution, but members decided it should be in the form of an ordinance.

It would not affect homes outside the city now being sold water, nor those landlords who were promised water taps in return for easements when the water transmission line was built between here and Wichita Falls.

The other two ordinances to be considered would replat three lots in Block 16 into one, and abandon some right of way in the 400 block of N. Saratoga.

Aldermen will consider authorizing the city administrator to enter into a contract for the renovation of the city hall exterior, as well as advertising for proposals for group medical insurance.

A discussion of plans for development of a community center on a block between Third and Fourth Streets, purchased by the city and recently cleared of trees.

Also to be considered is a policy for sponsorship of participants in the police academy, and scheduling a budget workshop.

Students above state in most TABS tests

Iowa Park students scored above the state average, in general, on this year's Texas Assessment of Basic Skills testing, school trustees were told Tuesday night by counselors.

However, a nagging problem still exists in the grading of one area which Herman Escue, high school counselor, says has local as well as many area school people concerned.

The area is entitled "writing," but includes reading as well as writing, and Iowa Park students in the lower grades have for several years scored low in that area.

Escue explained the major problem basically is the grading of a portion of the test called "Classificatory Written Composition."

Repeating a report he made about two years ago, he said he doesn't know who grades that test, how it is graded, and just what the graders are looking for.

"If we can learn how things are scored, maybe we can do something," Colleen Roberts, junior high counselor told the trustees.

Their case in point was the fact the third grade scored below the state level, 56-60 percent, and the seventh grade was 63-66.

The fifth graders, in the same area of the test, scored above the state level in every area, except in capitalization, yet had the same percentage average as the state, 64-64.

Escue said, "More than our school are concerned about the written exam grading."

Third graders scored well above the state average in math, 90-80 percent, and 76 percent mastered the reading test, as compared to 74 for the state.

Fifth graders were also well above the state in math, 89-80, and reading, 90-83.

The same was true for seventh graders, 99-81 in math (only one of 116 students did not master it), and 84-78 in reading.

Ninth grade tests were 86-81 in math, 95-80 in reading, and 66-63 in writing, but 48 of those tested did not master the test.

This was the first year the test was administered to students in the 11th grade, and mastery is required before the students can graduate, under new state rulings.

In their first test, in October, local students outscored the state average 94-88 in math and 97-91 in language. Seven students did not master the math and three in language.

Those failing to master either or both sections of the test were given another test in the spring, and only one did not master math and two language.

According to the state ruling, any student not mastering both parts of the test will be given an opportunity again next fall and spring. But the two sections must be mastered before they can graduate, Escue explained.

Students are also administered

Police make four arrests

The past week has been a big one for Iowa Park police arresting people on warrants from outside the area.

Four were taken into custody in a three-day period.

Shortly after midnight Saturday, officers took David Kyle Johnston, 19, into custody on an outstanding warrant from the Department of Public Safety in Wichita Falls, for no liability insurance, defective headlights and failure to appear. He was released after posting a $146 bond.

Less than two hours later, David Brian Lewis, 27, was arrested on a warrant from the same DPS office, for failure to change address, failure to appear and displaying expired license plate. He also was released after posting bond of $95.50.

At 9:20 a.m. Sunday, officers arrested Daryl Ray Schreiber, 22, on an outstanding warrant from the DPS office in Houston for no motorcycle drivers license, no motor vehicle inspection sticker and failure to appear. His bond of $258 was posted and he was released.

Police responded to a call to 606 S. Park Monday after being called on a possible disturbance at that address. They took Ray Austin Green, 22, into custody on an outstanding warrant from the Wichita Falls DPS office, for speeding and failure to appear. He posted $57 bond and was released.

Police obtained a warrant from Justice of the Peace Virgil Hill on Michael Ray Anderson of 4613

Spanish Trace in Wichita Falls, on a charge of felony forgery. Anderson's bond was set at $5,000.

Two lawnmowers were reported stolen last week.

Jim Denton said his was taken from 300 E. Pecan, and Mrs. Bobby Walker said a lawnmower and an air compressor were taken from 400 W. Jefferson.

Soell, Roose wedding held Saturday morning

At the invitation of Dr. and Mrs. Erwin F. Soell of Iowa Park and Mr. and Mrs. Afton H. Roose of Farmersville, relatives and friends assembled at the Parkway Baptist Church in College Station Saturday morning to witness the solemn recitation of marriage vows by their daughter, Donna Rosemarie Soell, and son, Robert Henry Roose. Rev. Bill Magee, pastor, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The prayer bench and unity candle in the setting symbolized the place of prayer in a marriage and the sealing of vows. The other decorations, characterized by beautiful simplicity, were an arch entwined with boxwood and pots of Boston fern on either side.

The high caliber pre-nuptial organ music was presented by Dr. Byron A. Wolverton of Southwest Texas State Univ., cousin of the bride. The selections included "Fantasy in G," "Prelude in B," "Ave Verum," "Jesus, Lead Thou On," "Let Us Ever Walk with Jesus" and "The King of Love My Shepherd Is." He played the "Wedding March" from Lohengrin for the processional and the "Wedding March" from Midsummer Night's Dream by Mendelssohn.

A part of the music that will forever be a vivid memory for the bridal couple and guests took place just before the exchange of vows as they listened to a taped vocal solo by the groom. He had composed a wedding song for the bride to be sung at their wedding.

The bride was presented in marriage by her parents. She wore an exquisite designer gown of shimmering white organza featuring a bodice covered with appliques of lace to the flattering waistline. The high neck was bordered with Schiffl lace trim and the bishop-style sleeves of the gown were adorned with lace appliques. Delicate appliques of the lace were scattered over the full skirt that flowed gracefully into a chapel train.

The bride wore a matching headpiece of pearls and iridescents with a two-tiered illusion veil to beautifully complement her gown. The loveliness of her dress was further enhanced with her long cascade of white roses, gardenias and English ivy with white satin streamers.

For "something old," she carried her late paternal grandmother's handkerchief, and for "something new," she wore a pearl pendant, a gift from the groom. She wore her mother's pearl earrings for "something borrowed," and a garter for "something blue."

Mrs. Randall Case of Iowa Park attended the bride as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Laurie McDavid of College Station and Miss Shelley Stonecipher of Pasadena.

Each wore a gown of pink matte taffeta fashioned with spaghetti straps, waistline drape that formed a sharp point in the back and tea length skirt. A matching short jacket with tulip-style sleeves complemented the dress. The attendants wore white pumps and carried three long stemmed white roses with gypsophila and pink silk streamers. For the wedding, the groom wore black pin-striped pants, pearl grey vest, cutaway coat and ascot. His boutonniere was formed of a white rose, gypsophila and stephanotis.

His attendants and ushers were attired in pearl grey pants with matching vests, cutaway coats and wore pink rose boutonnieres. The fathers of the bride and groom wore darker solid charcoal grey pants, vests and coats with white rose boutonnieres.

Kenneth Roose of Omaha, Neb., brother of the groom, was best man. The groomsmen were Thomas Schmidt of Calif. and Gary Smith of Fort Worth. The ushers were J. Erwin Soell of Iowa Park, brother of the bride, Jamie Jordan of Dallas and Brett Roberts of College Station.

Mrs. Soell, the bride's mother, chose a mauve pink georgette dress with round neckline, blouson bodice, short sleeves, a waistline accented with a design of pearls, and a tea length skirt featuring a filled-in dip in front. Mrs. Roose, mother of the groom, wore a street-length dress of grey lace designed with square neck and short sleeves. Both wore pink rose corsages.

The bride's parents honored the newlyweds at a reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Guests were impressed by the remarkable beauty of the bride's table which reached a grand finale in the cake. The table was draped with white lace featuring scallops at the top. The three-tiered cake set above a fountain of splashing pink water was a picture of simple elegance achieved in decorations of pink frosting roses that ornamented each tier and completely covered the top tier, then cascaded toward the fountain.

The cake centerpiece was flanked by silver candelabra holding white candles. The punch and coffee services marked table extremities, and trays of mints and nuts completed the decor. Mrs. Kenneth Roose presided at the table.

Mrs. Joel Nordman served at the groom's table covered with pink underskirt and burgundy velvet overskirt. It held a chocolate cake decorated with frosted fruits.

The food table was laid with a white cloth and held an oval floral centerpiece. Jennifer Bagley handed out the pink bird seed bells and the couple's scrolls.

Miss Jimmy Hunt sat at a table in the church foyer covered with white lace over white knit to direct the signatures of the wedding guests. The table held a picture of the bride and groom that was used for their engagement announcement, plume pen and wedding book.

The groom's parents hosted a dinner at College Station Hilton Friday evening in connection with rehearsal for the wedding.

The special wedding guests were Mrs. Anna Mae Belsche of Dallas, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Gladys Bickley of Farmersville, grandmother of the groom.

Following a wedding trip to Canada and the British Isles, the couple will live in Fort Worth.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and Texas A&M Univ. In high school, she was class valedictorian and at the university she is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Zeta and Phi Kappa Phi. She is presently a student at A&M Veterinary School.

The groom was graduated from Farmersville High School where he was valedictorian, and Texas A&M where he was active in the BSU. He is employed by General Dynamics in Fort Worth as a mechanical engineer.

Dr. and Mrs. Soell will host a buffet reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roose June 28 at the Trinity American Lutheran Church in Wichita Falls.

Guests from Iowa Park who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lee, Leon Morris, Mrs. Billie Jones and Bill Smallwood.

The Eyes Of Texans
ULTRA VIOLET RADIATION:
THE INVISIBLE MENACE TO YOUR EYES.
According to Donald Pitts, O.D., Ph.D. of the Univ. of Houston College of Optometry where I graduated, 18 separate studies worldwide have shown that senile cataracts are linked to high levels of exposure to UV-B rays. In addition, increasing evidence is proving UV to be dangerous to the retina (back of the eye) and even more so for patients who have had cataracts removed. Dr. Pitts said that levels very close to what sunlight transmits can filter back to the retina. It has long been known that exposure to UV for a prolonged time, such as at the beach, can retard dark adaptation. Photosensitive drugs, such as the blood pressure medicine Thiazide, can enhance the effect of UV. An easy remedy to prevent getting too much UV is to wear sunglasses. However, just because a lens has a dark tint doesn't mean it will also reduce UV rays. Some special plastic lenses such as "Lite-Style" can reduce 99% of the UV even in an untinted lens. Or, a plastic lens can be treated to filter out UV rays. If you have any doubt as to what lenses can reduce UV radiation or any other questions about tints and UV treated lenses ask your eye care professional.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

We're about to enter year two of House Bill 72, and as I predicted last year, you're going to hear a lot more about finances than no-pass, no-play.

The wailing about money will be made even louder because of the oil crunch.

What we have is a situation of two issues pulling apart the middle.

In one direction, we have the built-in increases of cost of education which were not funded, but mandated, by the state.

The other direction is the path of lower values, lower revenue and less taxable property on which to levy taxes.

That middle? Oh, it's the taxpayer.

Those increased costs? Well, for the next several years, almost every teacher in public education will be receiving a $1,140 salary increase.

Then, there's the construction required to meet the teacher/pupil ratio of 22-1 in the elementary grades. It's easier to find a district that's not having to build than the ones that aren't.

And then, there's the usual increases of the cost of operating.

We already know Iowa Park has lost several millions of dollars in value. But what effect that will have on next year's tax rate is yet to be determined, because the preliminary budget isn't ready.

However, we've got nothing of a problem as have some other districts.

It's easy to understand why those folks down in the Fort Stockton area are concerned about their school taxes, because indications are they have lost $300-million in oil values.

The Decatur schools are looking at having to raise rates from $1.04 to $1.32, and trustees down there last year cut about everything they had to the bone.

Bridgeport schools have been told they will have a decrease of 18 percent in oil and gas values to tax, and Boyd's values dropped 12 percent.

Up at Perryton, if they raise their taxes from 76-cents to 90-cents, they'll still have a deficit of almost a quarter million dollars.

Nocona trustees have been told they will have a $250,000 shortfall after losing $15-million in property values.

Also in Montague county, Goldburg schools figure to have lost over 32 percent of its values, Prairie Valley is down 28 percent and Montague district will have to make up a loss of 13.4 percent.

And what adds to the problem is, should the legislature decide it should fund everything, or even a part, of what it mandated with HB 72, I don't know where the money would come from. And they don't either.

This is not a good year to be a member of a school board, even if their pay is so great! (That's a joke. They don't get anything except a free cup of coffee at meetings and a bill from the doctor for ulcer treatment.)

And it may be an even tougher year for all those members of the legislature who voted for HB 72.

Clanton gets scholarship

Cindy Clanton, leading scorer for the Lady Hawks, has signed a letter of agreement to play basketball at Weatherford Junior College.

She joins another outstanding local athlete, Lisa Holloway, who also is playing for the school under a full scholarship.

It seems that some of the city ordinance are enforced and some are not. As I drive around in this friendly little town I see beautiful mowed lawns. But on down the street I may see an unkept lot that is grown up with tall weeds and Johnson grass. For instance at the corner of South Bond and E. Jefferson and the corner of S. Victoria and E. Ruby. These unkept lots breed rats, skunks, masquitar, besides being an eye sore to our city. Calling into the city complaining seems to do no good. Name withheld by request

On behalf of all the players from Preston Dairies softball team, I would like to thank the Iowa Park MuleSkinners for their time and hard work they put in the past week preparing the City of Iowa Park's Pony League baseball park for their annual slow pitch softball tournament. Taking into consideration the steady rains we have had the past three weeks, anyone familiar with the area has to know the time, money and hard work you have to put in and we thank you for it.

We also want to thank you for the good food and hospitality.

It's a shame the City of Iowa Park hasn't recognized the effort and time you men have put in to make the area a respectable place for the people of Iowa Park and the surrounding communities to view or use. Taking into consideration the past history of the area, I certainly think something needs to be done to the area. About the only thing the area is good for is a hideout for rodents and mesquitos.

Again, our thanks go out to the MuleSkinners for a job well done! Thank you, JEFF NOLEN the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills, to determine what grade level they have achieved.

Tested during the sixth month of school, Mrs. Roberts explained a second grader, on average, would score 2.6.

Grading given on reading, spelling, language and mathematics gives an overall score called a "total battery."

Trustees were told the total battery for the second grade was 3.4; third grade, 4.2; fourth grade, 5.5; and fifth grade, 7.2.

Students above those grades also scored well above their levels, according to the report.

Forsgren, Ketchersid vows are solemnized Friday

Miss Phyllis Ann Forsgren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Forsgren of Kamay, and Rowland Duane Ketchersid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ketchersid of Iowa Park, were wed in impressive double-ring nuptials Friday evening at the Iowa Park Church of Christ. Keith Parker, minister of the church, was the officiant.

The ceremony was performed in a setting illuminated by the soft glow of votive candles. The holders for these were fifteen-branched fan-shaped candelabra in the center of the altar space flanked by spiral candelabra, each holder artistically decorated with boxwood, grape leaf ivy, tiny white and blue flowers. A white bow with cascading ribbons accented with touches of the greenery and flowers added extra attraction to the fan candelabra.

The decorative pattern was completed with arrangements of white gladioli and roses, blue carnations and freesia uplifted by brass stands in the lower altar, and the church pews were marked with white silk bows.

The taped music for the ceremony featured "Sunrise, Sunset" during the time mothers of the bridal couple were being ushered and seated, "Faithful and True" for the processional and the traditional recessional. Tammy Washburn and Kyle Long presented "Wedding Song" for the vocal music.

The bride's father who had walked with her to the altar presented her in marriage for her parents. She wore a formal gown of white chiffon trimmed in Venise and Brussels laces that pictured charm and grace. The basque bodice featured a sheer yoke of Venise lace outlined with a deep ruffle of Brussels lace that spanned the shoulders and flowed to the waist in the back.

A full skirt added a special touch of charm to the gown in a deep hemline ruffle of Brussels lace that drifted into a chapel train.

She chose a fingertip veil of imported illusion trimmed in Venise lace caught to a cap of lace and silk flowers. Her lovely bouquet was a cascade of white roses, pom carnations, intermingled with powder blue poms, baby's breath, gypsophila and ivy with trailing white and blue silk ribbons.

Mrs. James Glover of Caddo Mills and Mrs. Arthur Pendleton of Iowa Park attended the bride as matron of honor and bridesmaid, respectively, and they were attired in formal blue matte taffeta gowns. In design, each gown featured a basque bodice with V-neck dipping to a deep V in the back. A Chantilly lace ruffle outlined the V and spanned the shoulders with soft bows. The full skirt was distinguished at floor level with scalloped ruffles of lace over taffeta topped with self-ruffles.

They wore hair combs trimmed with gypsophila, morning glories and freesia. Mrs. Glover carried a white lace fan and Mrs. Pendleton carried a white lace nosegay holding smaller versions of the bride's bouquet.

The flower girl, Melissa Threet, wore a blue matte taffeta dress styled for her age and a halo of tiny sweetheart roses, blue gypsophila and baby's breath, with ribbon cascades at the back. She carried a white lace basket filled with flowers like those noted in the matron's fan and the bridesmaid nosegay.

The groom wore an all-white tuxedo with regular length coat and a boutonniere that contained one white rose, one blue rose and baby's breath.

Andy DeVore, the ring bearer, Kevin Ketchersid, brother of the groom, the best man, Perry Hamilton, the groomsman and fathers of the bride and groom, wore navy blue tuxedos with white shirts and blue cummerbunds. The ushers, Charles Page and Ronnie Forsgren, brother of the bride, wore black tuxedos.

The corsages worn by mothers of the bridal couple were formed of white open roses, blue gypsophila and baby's breath. Mrs. Forsgren wore a dark blue chiffon dress styled with blouson bodice trimmed with seed pearls, short sleeves and full pleated skirt. Mrs. Ketchersid wore a long dusty rose polyester dress with a low neckline that dipped to a V in front, self-shoulder collar, three quarter length sleeves, fabric belt and shirt pleated at the waistline.

Following the wedding, guests went to the ASCS building for a reception given by the bride's parents.

The bride's table draped with white taffeta was swagged with English ivy ornamented at the center front and corners of the table with white lace bows was the focal point of interest in the room. The silver adornments were a four-point candelabra in the center holding white candles and an arrangement of blue and white carnations, white gladioli and English ivy, the punch bowl and trays filled with wedding bell-shaped blue mints.

The bride's white cake of four tiers with delicate borders around each was an array of roses in shades of blue with cascading vines and rosebuds twining among the roses and around the dividing Gothic pillars. The roses extended up around the top tier adorned with two white doves underneath an arch of silk flowers.

The blue napkins were accented with names of the bride and groom and "On this day I will marry my friend, the one who shares my life, my love."

The groom's table was covered with white taffeta cloth with a pleated skirt to the floor. It held a silver candlestick covered with a hurricane globe, silver coffee urn, a chocolate sheet cake bordered with scrollwork and chocolate roses. A white plaque on the top was centered with a chocolate letter "K."

Refreshments were served by Misses Tammy Washburn, Cynthia Forsgren, Brenda Trantham, Lorraine Neese and Betti Ann Griffey.

Miss Cynthia Forsgren, cousin of the bride, presided at the table where guests signed the wedding book. It was covered with white taffeta swagged with English ivy. It was appointed with a candlestick and globe ornament, blue plume pen and book.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Thursday evening at Texas Electric Reddy Room.

The bride and groom were graduated from Iowa Park High School. They will live at Great Lakes, Ill. where he is a petty officer in the Naval Training Center there.

The special wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hamady of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. O.L. Forsgren of Wichita Falls, the bride's grandparents, Mrs. Bertha Bradstreet of Iowa Park, grandmother of the groom.

Other out-of-town guests included Helen Hamady of San Antonio, Sandra Pendleton of Fredericksburg, Martha Ketchersid and family of Pecos, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Rowland and Mrs. Louise Peters of Garland.

Cook of the Week

Vickie (Mrs. Michael) Hodson said that she and her husband, who works as a furniture refinisher at Gordon Arnold's in Wichita Falls, and their children, Troy, Julia, Emily, Franci and Holly, like desserts, and she especially likes to cook them.

It is only natural that her recipes for this week are strictly desserts.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Faulkner, she was graduated from Iowa Park High School. She is a member of First Baptist Church and the Iowa Park Garden Club where she served as chairman of the annual flower show this year and has been elected vice president of the club for next year.

Her hobbies are great glass painting and gardening.

One of Vickie's dessert recipes for the week is Strawberry Sour Cream Squares. The strawberry is one of the most popular fruits in the world. William Butler wrote "Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless God did not."

It was not until the second half of last century that the strawberry could be found readily on the market. The rare availability of its goes back to prehistoric times. Berry seeds of many kinds have been found in Neolithic sites in Scotland and from the Iron Ages in England, and the scarcest finds are of strawberry seeds.

The first strawberries were wild and eaten only at the place where they were picked. It is said that the most faithful customer for strawberries in history was probably Mmes. Tallion in Napelonic times who added strawberry juice to her bath water.

When the first strawberries were grown in the United States, they were grown in gardens and there were few on the markets; the problem was perishability of the fruit. In the early

Mrs. Michael Hodson

1800's, the Philadelphia suburbs raised them close to a concentrated market, and it was fashionable to frequent the "strawberry gardens" to eat the desirable berry there.

In 1847, the Erie Railroad began to operate, facilitating the delivery of the perishable fruit. By 1880, there were 100,000 acres in cultivation in the United States. They are now grown in every state in the union, but California supplies over fifty percent of the commercial crop.

STRAWBERRY SOUR CREAM SQUARES

2 family-size pkgs. strawberry jello
2 pkgs. thawed strawberries
2 cups mashed bananas
Let start to jell, then add:
1 1/2 cups chopped nuts
2 small cartons sour cream
1 1/4 cups pineapple juice
1 1/2 cups hot water

BANANA PUDDING

3/4 cup sugar
1/3 cup flour
1/4 tsp. salt
2 cups milk
2 eggs, separated
1 tsp. vanilla

Blend sugar, flour and salt in double boiler over low heat. Add milk slowly, stir until thick. Add egg yolks and return to heat, about 2 minutes.

Then layer pudding, sliced bananas and vanilla wafers. Decorate top with wafers.

CREAM PUFFS

1 cup water
1/2 cup butter
Bring to rapid boil, add one cup flour, reduce heat to low and stir into a doughie ball.

Beat in 4 eggs until smooth, a long time.

Drop onto ungreased pan, bake at 400 degrees until golden brown (about 30-35 minutes).

Cool (not in draft). Cut off top and remove doughie part from center to form a hollow shell.

While cooling prepare either instant pudding or make your own (if so let cool). Fill center of puff and sprinkle powdered sugar on top of finished puff.
