Council to cut back on Johnson paving

The city council went along with an appeal Monday night by a resident of Johnson Road to not pave a part of the street in front of her home.

Mrs. Jim Barbour, who lives on the north side of the Johnson and Wagon Wheel intersection, told the city that if all the street in front of her home couldn't be paved, she didn't want any paved.

She pointed out that the new concrete pavement would end right in line with her front door.

Mike Price, public works director, explained to the council that the plan calls for the new paving to narrow from 30 feet in width to 20 feet, and concrete was tapered to a point 96 feet north of the intersection.

To completely pave the street in front of the Barbour home would require an additional 86 feet, which would cost $3,388 more than the bid calls for.

Mrs. Barbour was given the opportunity to assist in the cost of the additional paving, James Barrington, city administrator, told the council.

The homeowner responded that none of the homeowners to the south had paid anything for their new paving, and she didn't want to do that.

She asked that the paving be continued to her north property line, or stop at her south line.

The council voted unanimously, with Alderman Johnny Coker, who lives south of the Barbour, abstaining, to stop the paving at the south property line.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

Following a 49-minute executive session with City Attorney Jay Cantrell, Mayor Tim Hunter announced the result of the meeting would be to "Turn the matter over to the city's liability insurance carrier."

The session had been held after a suit was filed against the city by Mabel Karstetter, owner of the property leased to the city southwest of town for the sanitary landfill.

Mrs. Karstetter alleges in the suit that city negligence caused the death of nine cows, and also the city had used topsoil from the site for its own benefit, but gave no compensation.

For the record, council members would not comment on the suit. But off the record, members said they had never seen nor heard any proof any cows had died in the landfill area.

The suit reportedly seeks to cover $3,400 for the value of the cattle, $15,000 for the topsoil, and mental anguish damages.

Bruce Martin, Wichita Falls attorney and former Iowa Park resident, is representing Mrs. Karstetter.

OTHER BUSINESS

The council authorized the city administrator to be prepared at the next meeting with detailed options for a workorder change on the Johnson Road project.

The change has to do with work needed where the storm sewer dumps into the ditch at the access road. If left as is, damage by washing water could occur on private property.

The change order could cost an additional $800 to $1,350, aldermen were told.

Council members voted to join the Texas Municipal League in

ABOUT COMPLETE - The paving of Johnson Road from the Access Road to Mary Drive was completed this week, and barriers should be removed and traffic opened sometime today, according to City Administrator James Barrington. Residents of Shiloh Addition will have access to their homes via Quail Valley, when the north portion of the Johnson Road project gets underway. Mike Price, public works director, said his workers would have a temporary road cut from the north end of Quail Valley to Yucca by Monday. It was passable yesterday, but a drainage culvert is to be installed in case of bad weather.

opposing legislation sought by environmental groups seeking to strengthen clean water regulations.

Cost of the city will be $224,98.

Alderman Bud Mercer voted for the proposal, but stated he felt more should be done to stop large cities and corporations from dumping materials that are harmful to wild game.

Barrington pointed out legislation proposed would put an undue burden on smaller communities like Iowa Park, and added the effluent the city releases from its treatment plant is cleaner than the water taken from Lake Buffalo for drinking water.

In other action by the council, approval was given to make final payment of $15,002 for construction of the public works complex; setting of Aug. 5 for a budget workshop; purchasing of additional police radios for $2,431 to be used as backup for the main radio system, and two resolutions calling for the federal and state governments to use tax money collected for road improvements be spent for that purpose and not to for balancing of budgets.

Iowa Park well known around FFA convention

If you're attending the 58th annual Texas FFA convention this week in Amarillo, you're hearing a Iowa Park mentioned often.

... ending year's obligation.

Iowa Park will receive the National Chapter Award, though it may not be pointed out it is the only one from Area Four to be listed. Nor is it pointed out the local chapter was 12th among all chapters in ranking.

The local chapter was first in the Area and fourth in the state in the National Chapter Safety Contest, and is one of four from the Area named in the State Superior Chapter Safety Contest.

Twelve members of the chapter are attending the convention, including vice president LaDonna Chandler, Gregg Young, Cody Frank, Lewis Johnson, Stacy Ward, Roy Hollis and Bobby Whisnand.

Also Todd Crumpton, Dana Gray, Carla Pool, Lorre Moser, Kristy Riggins, as well as advisors George Martin and George Brandt.

Chandler and Young are voting delegates.

Hicks, daughter of Mrs. Ray Hicks, and nine other state officers will be hosting the convention.

She has also served as chapter president and Area Four vice president.

A recipient of the State Farmer Degree, she was ranked among the top 10 in the state her senior year in swine production.

Hunting for the past helps grades

Two young Iowa Parkans have found that their life-long interests in dinosaurs has helped them with their studies at Midwestern State University.

Kyle Wells and Kregg Fehr discovered their mutual interest while in art class of first grade. They were each drawing dinosaurs.

And since that time, they have shared their interests, to the point of developing an impressive, though small, museum of fossils and stones in a shack at the Wells' farm west of town.

Fehr is majoring in geology and Wells in biology. Both are seniors, and both agree their hobby has made their studies easier and more interesting.

One of their most significant finds was, more or less, in Wells' own back yard.

On the south side of Buffalo Creek, the area not pinpointed because it might be too inviting to others who have no business on the property, Wells made his discovery.

They are the vertebra of a giant reptile known as a Dimetrodon, identified as having lived during the Triassic period of the Mesozoic era, some 225-million years ago.

They also have several samples of footprints in limestone made by the Eryops, an amphibian about the size of a large dog, found at Lake Kemp.

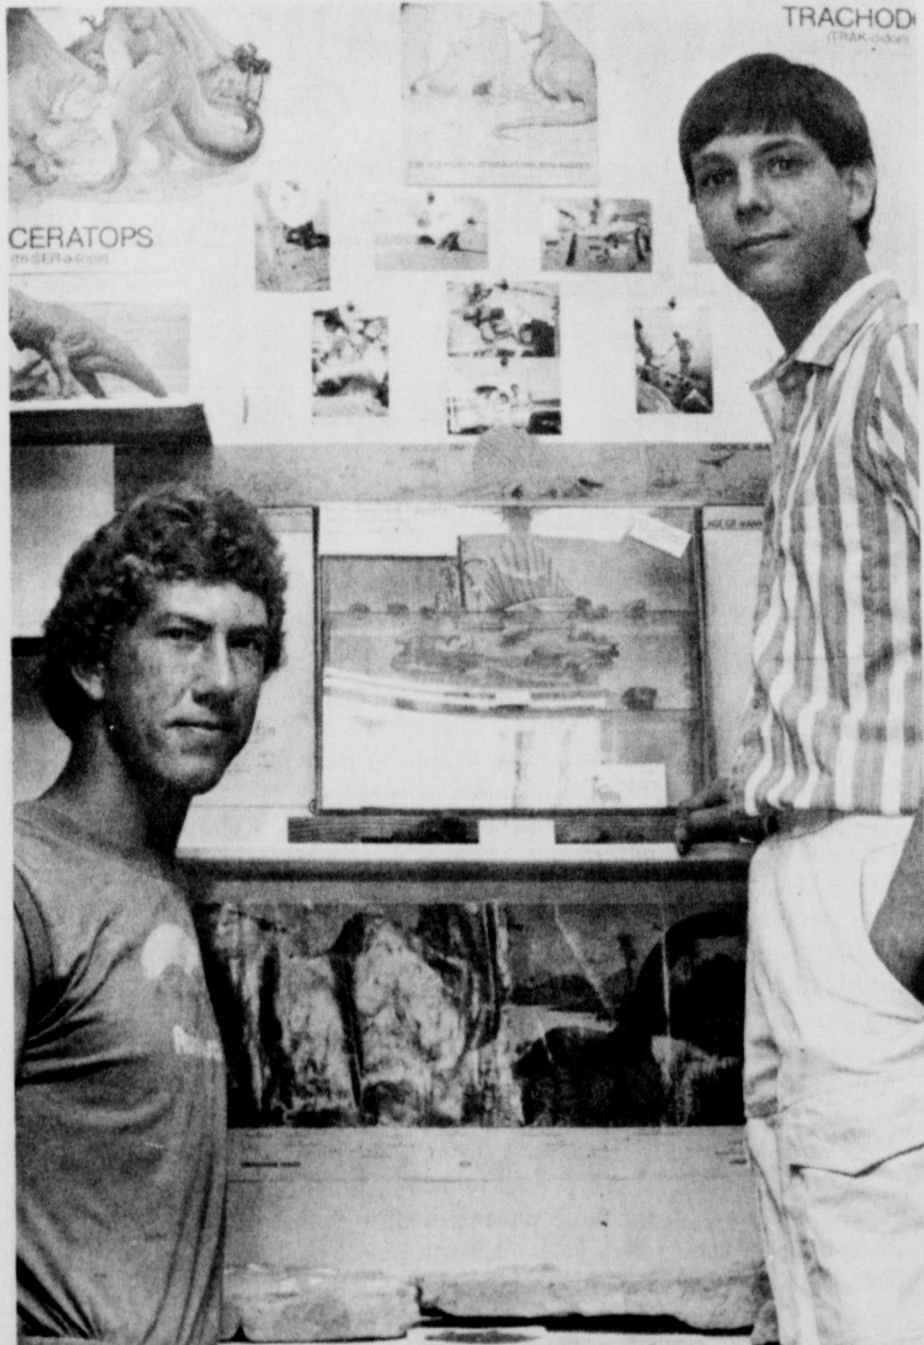

Originally discovered by two professors from MSU, the two young paleontologists out-did the two professionals by finding tracks the teachers didn't.

According to the students, the Eryops had four toes on its front feet and five on its back. The boys have fossilized prints of both front and back while the teachers have only the front.

They took over a small shack used by Rex Wells, Kyle's father, for working on his guns and shell-loading, because they needed the room to hold their finds and items purchased.

About 80 percent of their fossil collection they've found themselves, but most of their mineral exhibit has

Iowa Park showing gain in sales, report shows

While a great number of Texas communities are experiencing a drop in sales tax collections because of a drop in the economy, Iowa Park is still managing an increase.

June's sales provided a check of $11,645.74 to Iowa Park, which increased the year's total to $90,732.05, an increase of 12.28-percent over the $80,805.94 reported this time last year.

June sales in 1985 raised sales tax of $9,598.78, according to the state comptroller's report.

Wichita Falls, with a gain of 1.10-percent over 1985, is second to Iowa Park among other Wichita County communities.

Burkburnett is reporting a gain of 0.48-percent, and Electra has a loss of 23.55-percent.

By comparison, Electra had received $105,523 this time last year.

Holiday's July check was only $3,844.76, down from $11,701.81 last year. For the year, that community has received $40,055.66, which is 18.89-percent below the $49,384.83 reported the first six months last year.

USDA commodities will be distributed from 12-noon until 6 p.m. today at the First Christian Church, according to Rusty Stowe, president of the Iowa Park Ministerial Alliance.

Youths arrested for shootings

A group of juveniles was arrested during the early hours of Monday by sheriff's deputies, for shooting air rifles at passing trains.

Crews of three trains complained they had been shot at by someone camping a mile and a half west of Cryovac. A caboose window on the third train was reportedly shot out.

The youths, easily found because of their large fire, were turned over to their parent, about 4 a.m.

No one was reported injured.

Mahler, Cassell vows exchanged Saturday

Miss Minnie Carrie Mahler and Theodore George Cassell exchanged double-ring wedding vows Saturday afternoon at Christ United Presbyterian Church in Wichita Falls. The officiant was Charles Nichols, minister of music and education at the First Baptist Church in Electra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Atkins of Iowa Park and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cassell of Rockwall.

The altar setting featured oversized baskets containing white gladioli, roses, carnations and other white flowers, Baker's fern and English ivy. The church pews were marked with white silk bows.

Mrs. Tom Venhaus, pianist, presented the pre-nuptial music and traditional wedding marches. She accompanied Miss Darlene Mahler who sang "The Wedding Prayer" before and the "Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride was presented in marriage by her stepfather. She wore an exquisitely-styled gown of white organza with Chantilly and Venise laces enhancing its splendor. The Victorian bodice was fashioned with a sheer yoke and high neck outlined with the laces, full puffed sleeves accented with rows of ribbon and Chantilly lace ruffles, and a basque waist. The ruffles and lace graced the full skirt and flowing chapel train.

Her bridal illusion veil edged in Chantilly lace drifted from a wreath of white silk flowers. She carried a colonial cascade bouquet of bridal pink roses, white carnations, English ivy, galax leaves, a pink bow and streamers that lent itself to her gown and veil to complete a lovely picture.

The bride carried an Old Testament that belonged to Mrs. James Richter, her sister, for "something old," wore her dress for "something new," wore diamond earrings that belonged to the groom's mother for "something borrowed," and the "something blue" garter.

Miss Darlene Mahler, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a full length blue crepe de chine dress designed with scooped neckline, short puffed and ruffled sleeves and cummerbund. She carried a single long stemmed pink rose complemented with matching bows and ribbon.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with empire blue cummerbund and bow tie and a boutonniere of two pink roses. James Richter, the best man, wore a grey tuxedo. He and the fathers wore white carnation boutonnières.

Mrs. Atkins, mother of the bride, wore a two-piece blue linen suit with white blouse. Mrs. Cassell, mother of the groom, wore a two-piece white linen suit with a powder blue blouse. Both wore corsages of pink astermeria lilies encircled with baby's breath.

Following the wedding, the bride's parents hosted a reception in the fellowship hall. They were assisted by Mmes. Dennis Dillard, James Richter, Bill Davis, Jerry Barwinkel, sisters of the bride. Whitney Richter, niece of the bride, sat at the guest book registry.

The bride's table was draped with white satin accented with white bows at the corners and emphasized the simple beauty of the wedding.

The table decorations featured a mirror centerpiece, a pedestal of candle cups, arrangement of white carnations, bridal pink roses and greenery, cake, crystal punch service, white napkins marked with names of the bride and groom and their wedding date, trays of mints and nuts.

The three-tiered white cake was ornamented with blue frosting bows and a sentimental top piece porcelain bisque bride and groom, borrowed from Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Dillard.

The groom's table, covered with white linen, held a chocolate cake and silver coffee service.

Mr. and Mrs. James Richter were hosts for the rehearsal dinner and pool party Friday evening.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and Midwestern State Univ. with a degree in criminal justice. The groom was graduated from high school in Palm Beach, Fla. and works for Financial Collections Agency Inc. in Arlington. They will live in Fort Worth.

Friendship Class to make donations

The Friendship class of First Baptist Church held the monthly meeting Monday at the church with Mrs. C.L. Metz and Mrs. Elmer Singleton serving as co-hostesses.

During the business directed by Mrs. O.S. McLemore, it was voted to contribute food items and a monetary gift to the food bank for the July outreach project.

Mrs. J.T. Parker told "The Bread Deadline" by Beverly Thompson for the program. Mrs. D.O. James directed the recreation.

Sargent, Wolf marry recently

Miss Vivian Ann Sargent, daughter of Mrs. Agnes McDonald of Iowa Park, and Daniel Joseph Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Allen Wolf of Windthorst, were married recently at the Saint Mary's Parish in Windthorst.

Father Martin Prophey officiated the double-ring ceremony. Bill Jentsch of Midland, cousin of the bride, was the lector, and the ministers of communion were Lester Anderson, uncle of the groom, and Raymond Osterman. The acolytes were Bruce and Stephen Zotz, cousins of the groom, and Mike McDonald of Midland, cousin of the bride.

The program of pre-nuptial music was presented by Mickey and Cindy Green of Wichita Falls who sang "Miracle of Life," "God, a Woman and a Man" and "Canticle of the Bride." The traditional "Bridal Chorus" march was played by Mrs. Charles V. Schroeder, organist.

The vocalists sang "It Seems I Have Always Loved You" while the bride and groom were lighting the unity candle, and their selections during the ceremony included "One Bread, One Body," "On Eagles Wings" and "El Shaddai." The recessional hymn was "Glory and Praise to Our God."

The bride, who was escorted by her uncle, Al McDonald of Midland, wore a formal white gown. The fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline were covered with sequins, seed pearls and pearl-beaded Alencon lace. The bodice was detailed with a yoke of bridal netting and short puffed sleeves trimmed with sequins, beads and embroidered lace appliques. The satin skirt added grace to the gown with a "peek-a-boo" applique on the front pleat and a cathedral train of multiple ruffles headed with a satin bow.

She wore a fingertip length veil edged in tiny pearls secured to a headpiece of white roses, baby's breath and cascading pearls. Her bouquet was a cascading teardrop of rosebuds and blossoms accented with tiny pastel ribbons and miniature roses.

The bride kept traditions of the day with her mother's First Baby Communion rosary entwined in the bouquet for "something old." Her custom-designed gown, made by her aunt, Rose Fraker, who made all of the dresses for the wedding, was "something new." She wore pearl stud earrings that belonged to her aunt, Sandy McDonald, for "something borrowed" and completed the rhyme with a "something blue" garter.

Keri Knecht of Iowa Park took part in the wedding as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Joni Berend, Debbie Smith, Jennifer and Dee Ann Wolf, sisters of the groom. They wore identically-styled tea length dresses of lavender, mint green, pink, peach and yellow, respectively. Their head wreaths and bouquets harmonized with colors of their dresses.

Cindy Sargent of Iowa Park, sister of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid and wore a sky blue dress duplicating the fashion of the attendants' dresses. The flower girls, Natasha Sargent of Iowa Park, niece of the bride, and Krystal Lowe, niece of the groom, wore white tea length dresses accented with tiny pastel roses on the bodice and skirt ruffles. They carried baskets of roses.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails and Jeremy Hollenbach of New Palte, N.Y., the ring bearer, wore the same attire.

Charles Steinberger was best man. The groomsmen were Greg Wolf, brother of the groom, Tim Sargent of Clinton, Iowa, brother of the bride, Bill Berend and Gary Wolf, cousin of the groom. The ushers were Tim Lindeman of Holliday, Clifford Humpert, Bobby Baumer of Wichita Falls and Matt Costello of The Colony.

The groom's attendants wore silver tuxedos with pastel cummerbunds and ties to match the colors of the bride attendants' dresses.

Following the wedding, the bride's family hosted the reception at Saint Mary's Parish Hall. Kristine Schenk and Brenda Zotz were in charge of the guest book. The reception assistants were Imogene Costello, Jane Vietenheimer, Patricia and Tammy Jentsch, Kris and Laurie Zotz and Pam Shoemaker.

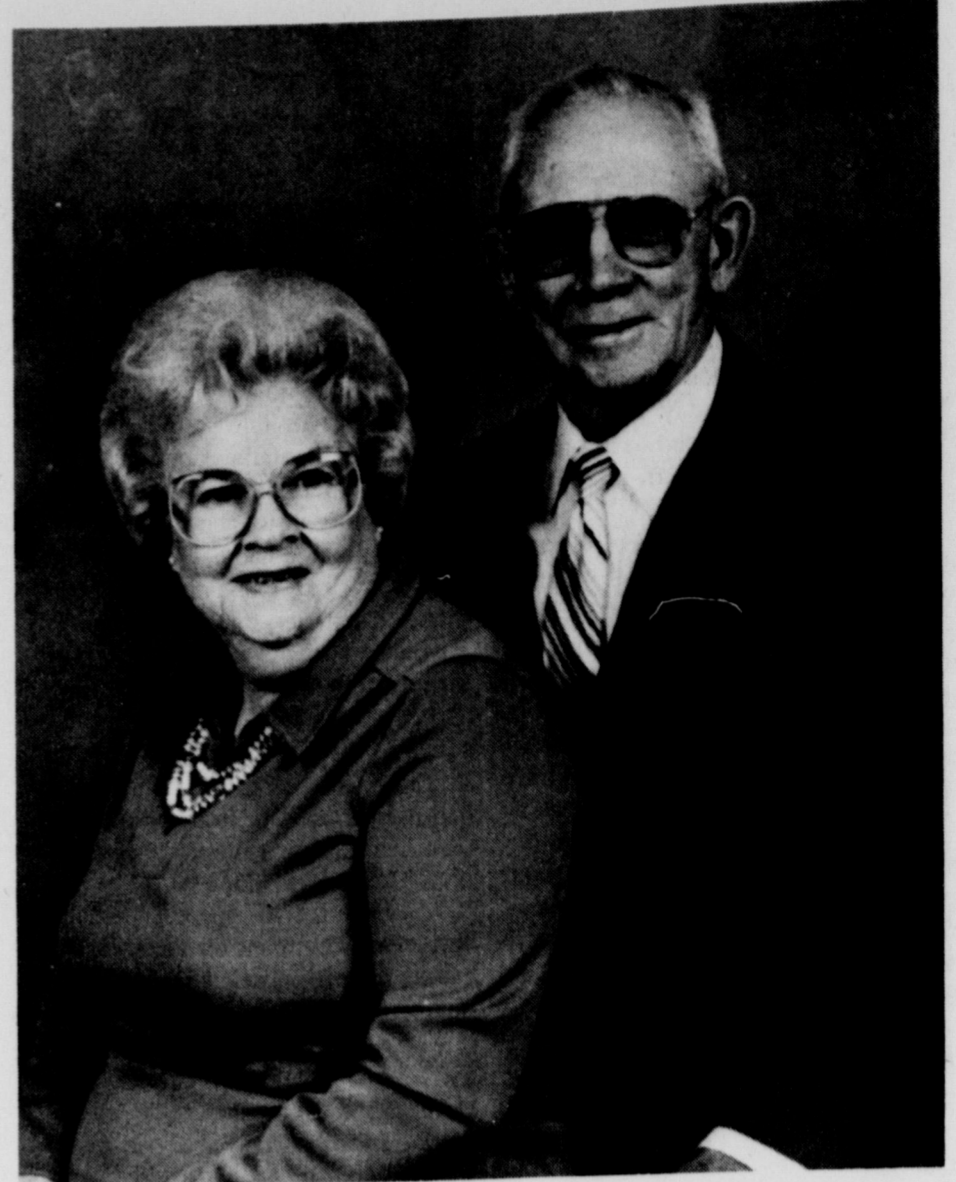

After a wedding trip to Montego Bay, Jamaica, the couple are at home in Windthorst. She is employed at the MBank in Wichita Falls and he works for AMPI of Windthorst.

A large number of out-of-town guests attended the wedding from towns in Iowa, New York, Tennessee, Oklahoma, California and several towns in Texas.

Tips On Dental Health

RICHARD CARVER, D.D.S.

ELDERLY DENTURE CARE

Proper care of the mouth is a real problem for many elderly. Not only a problem for the patient, but those who are responsible for their care. A few suggestions may be of help.

For denture wearers who are unable to care for themselves... at regular intervals remove the dentures, and using a damp gauze or clean wash cloth, wipe the ridges where the dentures rest. Rub the top of the tongue if the patient will permit. Many of these patients have a dry mouth due to health problems or medications being taken.

Tartar collecting on the dentures is another problem easily taken care of. Simply place the dentures in a cup of vinegar overnight, then brush and wrinse. While inexpensive, it does a reasonably good job without much trouble.

Nursing homes have trouble many times trying to find out which denture belongs to which patient. Sometimes the patient can't tell... so what do you do?

One solution to the problem is to have the dentist imbed the patients name in the denture in clear plastic... then there is no question.

By the way... for those patients with a chronically dry mouth... there is a synthetic saliva available at the local pharmacy. A few drops placed in the patients mouth certainly will make life a little easier.

Cook of the Week

Gayla (Mrs. Greg) Hardin is a young married lady who takes seriously her role as a homemaker and wife of the pastor of the First United Pentecostal Church, where she is serving as pianist.

The former Gayla Millstid whose father is a former pastor of the First United Pentecostal Church here, attended Bradford Elementary School when her family lived here. When they moved, her father went into evangelistic work and she lived in several places. When she grew to young womanhood she met her husband-to-be at a church camp. They have been married for four years and are excited about being in Iowa Park to serve the church here.

Gayla likes to cook, sew, play the piano and being a helpmate to her minister husband. One of the recipes that she shares with the Leader readers this week is Mexican Squash. Squash is a versatile vegetable and inventive cooks are discovering new ways to prepare it all the time.

In his book "Food by Waverly Root," he says "I think we may make bold to assert that squashes and pumpkins are uniquely American and were completely unknown to the Old World before the time of Columbus." He further states that botanical records contain no reference to squash before the discovery of America, and that it is possible that the squash was the first food cultivated by Pueblo Indians at least 2,000 years ago.

It is somewhat confusing to read in the same article that "squash" was grown in the gardens of Babylon; that Pliny mentioned it; that Apicius gave a recipe for it; and that it was mentioned in the first Roman cookbook. However, it is believed that their word for squash really meant edible gourd which can still be eaten.

The summer squash is the variety called for in Mrs. Hardin's recipe. A French gastronome described the summer squash as "it brings deliciously to the table all the freshness and the charm of your vegetable garden."

MEXICAN SQUASH

- 3 summer squash (about 1 lb.) unpeeled and sliced 1/4 inch thick
- 1 large onion, sliced
- 1 clove garlic, chopped
- 2 tsp. butter or oleo
- 2 ears fresh corn cut off the cob or 1 1/2 cups canned corn, drained
- 1 medium tomato, peeled and chopped
- Chopped jalapeno pepper or canned green chilies to taste
- 1 1/2 tsp. salt
- 3/4 cup grated cheese
- 1/2 cup crushed corn chips

Saute onion and garlic in butter until tender. Add squash, corn, tomato, pepper and salt. Cover and simmer 30 minutes or until squash is tender. Pour into serving bowl. Sprinkle with cheese and corn chips. Serves 6.

FRUIT DIP

- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup hot water
- 2/3 cup light corn syrup
- 2 egg whites
- 1/4 tsp. vanilla
- Dash of salt
- 1/8 cup mayonnaise

Combine sugar, water and syrup in saucepan. Over low heat stir until sugar is dissolved. Boil without stirring until mixture will spin a thread. Beat egg whites until stiff and add to hot syrup. Add salt and vanilla, mix well. Fold in mayonnaise. If mixture is too stiff add orange juice. Chill and serve with fruits of your choice.

EASY ROLLS

- 2 cups self-rising flour
- 1 cup milk
- 4 tsp. mayonnaise

Mix well and spoon into greased muffin pans. Bake at 400 degrees until golden brown, about 15-20 minutes. Makes about 12 rolls.

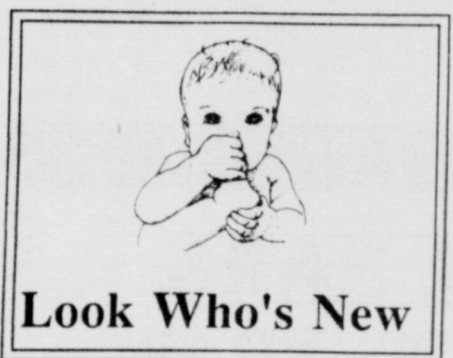

HOLLIDAY MEAT BALLS

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 egg
- 10-12 saltine crackers, crushed
- 2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tsp. finely-chopped onions
- Salt and pepper
- 1 (12 oz.) jar chili sauce
- 1 (12 oz.) jar grape jelly

Mix all ingredients, except chili sauce and jelly, as though making meat loaf. Form balls, approximately 1 inch in diameter from the meat mixture.

Place chili sauce and grape jelly in a deep saucepan, heat and mix thoroughly. Allow to come to a boil.

Drop the meat balls, one at a time, into the boiling mixture. Reduce heat and cook about 30 minutes or until meat balls are done.

When it's time to replace your old air conditioner, it'll probably only take you a little while to find a new one that looks pretty good and doesn't cost much. But it'll take a lot longer to realize a quick bargain is likely to cause a slow burn on your wallet every month.

A high-efficiency air conditioner could make a difference in your cooling costs this summer and every summer. As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Remember, back in May, how imperative it was to get out and participate in the "Hands Across America" project to feed the starving and homeless?

Well, six weeks after the event, a task force of 37 individuals was named, just to receive the applications for a share of the money.

And that group won't even hold its first meeting until Tuesday and Wednesday of next week!

I guess the interest off the millions donated will finance their meeting in Los Angeles.

One person identified as being from Texas was listed on the task force: Susan DeMarco, identified as a former staff member of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

I love some of the names of organizations listed as being represented by some of the members: Coalition Against Hunger; Food for Survival Food Bank; United Steelworkers of America Food Banks; founder, Alabama Black Women's Leadership and Economic Development Project; Communities Organized for Progress; Wisconsin Coalition for Advocacy; National Black Women's Health Project.

Oh, there are some well-known organizations also, such as Girl's Clubs of America, National Council of Churches, Community Relations for Burger King, state legislator from New Jersey and the Harvard Physician's Task Force.

Hey, wait a minute! Wasn't it that Harvard Physician's Task Force report on the counties of the nation where the most starvation was taking place, and caused a lot of fuss by the residents who tried to find those starving people?

I guess the main thing is that the money the "Hands" event raised will finally get to where it was intended in the first place...even if it does take a couple of years.

Bob Bullock, the state comptroller I've taken issue with on a number of occasions, is getting more press these days than when he was being arrested for DWI.

The reason? He keeps coming up with new predictions of how far in debt Texas will be by the end of 1986.

Bullock has also taken it upon himself to offer all sorts of suggestions, through the newspapers and air media, on how corners might be cut and budgets balanced.

His most recent mailing of "news releases" is one I can't take issue with, however. It's about a bill he says is pending before congress that would force out-of-state mail-order firms to collect state sales tax on goods sold and shipped into Texas.

Mail order business is still a big thing in the country, even if Penney's, Sears and Montgomery Ward are getting out of it.

I'll get more pages of catalogues a month than would be in all three of those major mail order businesses in their annual books.

Bullock's prediction is that this state would receive $100-million a year in sales taxes on goods shipped here from out of state.

I've got news for him. If all out purchases were made from Texas businesses, we'd generate a lot more taxes for the state than that figure.

The bill was introduced in congress, by the way, by Jack Brooks of Beaumont.

"If they could vote for Mark White, surely they could vote for me."

That was Bud Mercer's comment Monday night after the city council meeting.

He was grinning from ear to ear, about my comment on the "Mercer For Governor" sign someone put in his yard.

Frankly, I'd vote for Mercer before I'd ever vote for White.

The Jesse Chisholm Trail

A.C. GREENE
TEXAS SKETCHES

Jesse Chisholm gave his name to one of the most famous episodes in western history, but he never knew it. Chisholm, of Scotch and Cherokee ancestry, migrated with the Cherokees from Tennessee to Arkansas in the 1830s and later set up a trading post at Council Grove, on the North Canadian River near present-day Oklahoma City. His freight wagons cut a 220-mile path from Wichita, Kan., down to his store, and in 1866 when a Texas cattleman asked the best way to drive a herd to the Kansas and Missouri markets, he was advised to "take Chisholm's trail."

Joseph G. McCoy was hired by the developers of the new town of Abilene, Kan., to get a trail laid out to bring Texas herds to their railroad. McCoy's trail began deep in South Texas, the first cattle going up to Abilene in 1867. But instead of being called "McCoy Trail" or "Abilene Trail," by 1868 the route from Texas to Kansas was called the Chisholm Trail, giving its title to legendary cattle drives of story, song and film. The Texas portion of the trail saw several herds combined below San Antonio and again near Austin, crossing the Colorado River. The Brazos was crossed at Kimball Bend or Waco, then all herds combined at Fort Worth, continuing through Denton, Cooke and Montague counties to the dangerous crossing of "Big Red" at Red River Station.

Fort Worth was where the trail drivers outfitted their cowboys for the long trip across the Indian Nations. In season, the trail was a living, animal river. In 1871, half a million head of cattle passed through Fort Worth going up the Chisholm Trail. Although later cattle trails moved westward, Fort Worth remained "Cowtown" in the hearts and minds of Texas forever more. Poor Jesse Chisholm, he died in 1868, reputedly from eating tainted bear meat from a copper pot, never dreaming how celebrated his name would become.

Two burglaries reported

Two burglaries, one in which the loss was set as more than $5,000, were reported during the past week to Iowa Park police.

Herman Smith has listed loss of $5,285 in cash and possessions from his apartment at Woodbriar Apartments.

Listed as being taken were three different calibre pistols, an engineering test kit valued at $1,000; $450 in cash, a 21-inch remote control tv; Atari game and 12 cassettes; IBM typewriter; clock radio and wedding band.

The report was filed Wednesday of last week.

Tuesday, Arlene Reed told police her wedding band was missing from her 206 E. Garden home.

Police responded to a domestic disturbance at 1003 Park Plaza at 11:28 p.m. Friday.

According to the police blotter, Emergency Medical personnel were summoned, and officers arrested Oscar James Bethel, 51. He was released at 8 a.m. Saturday after signing a promise to appear statement.

Eventually, what the two wants is a museum in which to show their findings and collections. They've always wanted that, both agreed.

And from the extent of their items on display, plus items tucked away in drawers, under benches and in boxes, they'll be ready for their museum in a short period.

Local all-star teams ousted

None of Iowa Park's Little League all-star baseball teams made it past the area tournaments.

Consequently, the district Major League tournament played here this week didn't have a local entry.

After dropping their area opener 2-1 to Sheppard, the Major All-Stars got revenge Wednesday night with a 3-2 win over the same club.

Robert Denton hit a three-run homer for the victory.

But Thursday, Burk Burnett edged Iowa Park 3-2, in extra innings, eliminating the local club.

Burk scored twice in the first inning. Chad Thompson scored in the third, and J'Bill Merrick tied the score in the fifth. The visitors got the winning run in the eighth, and advanced to the district tourney.

After runaway wins over Olney and Jacksboro, 16-6 and 13-3, respectively, the Senior All-Stars were set back in their area tournament by Burk Burnett, 15-1, and then eliminated by Sheppard, 4-0.

Burk went on to win the meet. The 13-year-old All-Stars lost out in successive evenings, but late rallies made the games interesting for local fans.

After dropping a 13-12 squeaker to Brazos Valley Monday, Iowa Park and Sheppard played a three-hour marathon, with Sheppard winning 26-21.

Both the length of the game and the 47-run total are believed to be a record for the area tournament.

Three state parks located in area for recreation

"See Texas First" is the recommendation of Rep. Charles Finnell, in urging citizens to visit some of the state parks Texas has to offer in the immediate area.

Three of the 109 state-operated parks are within Finnell's nine-county 80th House District.

"In these times, it is both intelligent and economical to see and discover Texas first," Finnell said. "Travel and tourism constitute the second largest industry in our state."

Copper Breaks State Park, in Hardeman and Foard counties, contains Indian ceremonial grounds, a portion of the official Texas Longhorn herd, and an interpretive display. Fishing, swimming and a boat ramp are available.

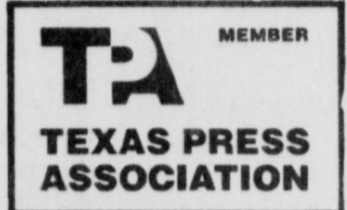

Fort Richardson Historical Park is a 387-acre historic sight in Jack County. It was one of the "string of seven forts," the original defense system against Indians, and features original and reconstructed barracks and buildings of that colorful post-Civil War period. Tours can be arranged; fishing and a museum are also available.

Lake Arrowhead Recreation Area in Clay and Archer counties is an extensive recreational park offering boating, water skiing, swimming and fishing on the man-made lake. The park has a grocery store and paddleboat rentals.

All state parks post a nominal admission fee. Copper Breaks, Fort Richardson and Lake Arrowhead offer camping areas (utility and primitive), picnic areas, restrooms, showers, nature trails and group shelters.

More information can be obtained by contacting the individual state parks or by calling the Texas Tourist Bureau.

Those telephone numbers are: (817) 839-4331, Copper Breaks; (817) 567-3506, Fort Richardson; (817) 528-2211, and (817) 723-7931, Texas Tourist Bureau.

AREA OIL & GAS NEWS

Rio Petroleum of Amarillo has revealed plans to drill two new wildcat wells in Hardeman County. The 1-H and the 2-D Loveless will be located six miles northwest of Chillicothe. The 1-H well will be drilled in a 40-acre lease in the W&NW Survey, A-1471, while the 2-D well will be drilled in a 176-acre lease in the same survey, A-499. The 1-H well is projected to 6,600-ft. maximum depth, while the 2-D well carries permit for 8,750 feet.

Football physicals needed

Coach David Baugh this week is reminding all Iowa Park High athletes who plan to play football this fall that they need to take their physicals.

Forms are available at Park Clinic, or at the field house.

Players are to have their physicals completed and turned in by Aug. 11, when two-a-day sessions are to begin.

The coaching staff will begin preparing for the season with practices Aug. 4. Shows will be held for players Aug. 6, and players will put on their pads for the first time Aug. 15.

Junior high players must have their physicals completed and ready to turn in the first day of school.

Two educators attending special training sessions

Two Iowa Parkans are among 60 teachers, administrators and other school personnel representing 14 school districts at the third of four Classroom Management and Discipline Program (CMDP) sessions this week at Southwest Texas State University.

They are Donnie Ickles and Wendel Allen.

Other area educators attending the meeting are: Pat Watkins and Billy Don Clark of Electra, and Judy Pipes, David Lowe, Gerald Phelps, Debra Taylor, Eddie Waldrip and Peggy McKinzie of Wichita Falls.

Other districts participating are Channing, Dallas, Del Valle, Kerrville, Hutto, Huffman, San Elizario, South San Antonio, Venus, Waller and Weatherford.

CMDP assists school personnel in establishing and maintaining effective classroom discipline programs. Training is action-oriented, with each team developing a plan to improve school discipline and provide alternatives to out-of-school removal that can be implemented in their own districts or campuses.

Focus will be on effective classroom management techniques and strategies to reduce school disciplinary problems.

Follow-up technical assistant will be provided.
