Chamber making plans for centennial in 1988

A committee to coordinate activities during Iowa Park's celebration of its 100th anniversary was named during Monday's monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

Additionally, a director to fill the unexpired term of Frank Gossett on the board was elected. He is Sam Laird, who succeeded Gossett as manager of the local Cryovac plant.

Robert Palmer, Chamber president, after pointing out the city council had recently designated 1988 as the city's centennial, said "We're already late making plans."

He named Dee Blackwell, Ruth Pirkle and Jan Clapp to a committee which will be chaired by Bob Hamilton, to make plans for observing the centennial.

Most of the activities for the general public will be centered around the annual Whoop-T-Do, he said.

Palmer named another commit-

Council puts off meeting

Iowa Park City Council will not hold its regularly-scheduled meeting Monday night, according to James Barrington, city administrator.

The meeting was cancelled when two members indicated they would be out of town on that date, he said.

The council will hold the first of a series of budget-preparation work sessions Aug. 3, and at that time will probably award bids for work at the sanitary landfill.

Estimated cost of digging and lining a new landfill pit is $100,000.

The next regular meeting of the council will be Aug. 10, at which time a "lengthy" agenda will be undertaken by the council, Barrington said.

Rainfall is 'unusual,' so are temperatures

About the only "usual" thing to happen in this part of the country during July is high temperature, and rain during the month is considered "unusual."

Virgil Woodfin measured .85 of an inch precipitation during the past week, and the Weather Bureau has not only failed to record a 100-degree temperature in July, but so far this year.

DUMPED INTO LAKE - Iowa Park police officer Roy Ross checks out an automobile found vandalized and driven off the dam at Lake Iowa Park early Friday morning. The 1980 Pontiac Grand Prix was valued at $2,000 by the Joe Pistocco car dealership in Wichita Falls, where it was stolen. The vehicle had been taken in for a trade less than 36 hours before it was taken from the dealership Thursday night, according to Fred Childers. Besides being damaged by the water, someone had jumped on the roof and beaten the body and windows with an instrument, believed to be a tire tool.

COOLING DOWN - A member of West Wichita Volunteer Fire Department gets hosed down after an extended period Sunday afternoon in a burning home at the intersection of FM 367 and Barnett Road. That department was joined by volunteers from Iowa Park and Cameron Garden to save all but the garage and its contents.

City water customers unhappy with cutoff

There were a lot of unhappy water customers in the south side of the city Monday afternoon, and the city administrator says he can't blame them.

The contractor replacing and re-routing water lines in that section did not comply with specifications of the bidding when he failed to notify the water department that service would be cut off to make a connection.

That was the reason no advance notice was given to residents of the area.

And then the situation was compounded when the project that was supposed to be only an hour and a half in length was extended to almost five hours, caused by an old valve rupturing.

Barrington said the first he knew of the connection being made and of any problems was when angry residents began calling his home, after office hours.

Those angry calls weren't to his home alone, according to one of the radio dispatchers at the police station.

She said one woman was not only rude, but as much as implied that she was at fault.

Barrington said the first phase of the water line project was in place, and would now be extended west on Poe to Colorado, and later south on Colorado.

Dirt piled up over the new lines is to be smoothed after having time to settle, according to the contract, Barrington explained.

Once the new lines are in place, service will not only be improved to the original townsites residents, but a series of valves being installed will permit service disruption to only a portion of the area, instead of the entire south side of town, whenever a problem occurs, the administrator said.

Gasoline rustlers hit apartment residents

A rash of gasoline thefts was reported to have taken place Thursday night and a series of criminal mischief incidents Sunday night, according to the police blotter.

All the thefts of gasoline took place in parking lots of apartment complexes.

Three complaints were filed with police by residents of Country Hills Apartments, and four were reported at Woodbriar.

Another theft, reported by an occupant of Colonial Apartments, was indicated to a Leader reporter Friday morning, and was said to have been the second time in recent days of the same vehicle.

Chief Alan Sheffield said officers had increased patrols in the parking lots of the apartments, but hadn't yet been successful in catching the thieves.

Two of the three criminal mischief reports filed Monday were in the same general neighborhood.

A side window of a van was shattered while parked overnight at 1306 N. Fourth.

That same night, juveniles were reported to have thrown different objects, including eggs, rocks and vegetables at a vehicle and property at 714 Rebecca, only a block away from the van.

The third complaint was a mail box being vandalized at 1009 E. Ruby.

Someone reportedly broke into a coin-operated machine Monday night at Catlin Car Wash and took an estimated $70, according to the blotter.

Police arrested James Randel Brookshire, 32, at 1:09 a.m. at 1102 W. Cornelia on an outstanding warrant from Wichita County Sheriff's Office.

The warrant was for violating probation (possession of controlled substance: amphetamine), and provided for no bond.

He was turned over to county deputies.

County farmers eligible

Wichita and Clay Counties of Texas have been designated eligible to make emergency loans due to the flooding which occurred May 19 through May 31, 1987.

Joe W. Gilbreath said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses, or the operating loan needed to continue in business, up to $500,000, whichever is less.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until May 9, 1988," Gilbreath said.

Iowa Parkan returns from two years teaching Samoans

By OLIVE BLALOCK

Eleanor Bell, a volunteer worker for the Mission Service Corps of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, has recently completed two years of service at the American Samoa Baptist Academy in the Tafuna Village on the Tutuila Island.

She is back in Iowa Park and Henrietta for a brief visit with relatives and friends before her next assignment, which will be working as a volunteer in the North Houston Mission Center where she will tutor children and teach English as a second language to adults.

Mrs. Bell, who was a third grade teacher in Iowa Park 15 years, resigned in 1981 to enter the volunteer mission work. Her first assignment was at a women's shelter in Tulsa, Okla. where she stayed two years. She then transferred to Atlanta, Ga. to work in another women's shelter. She returned to Iowa Park where she worked with the children of First Baptist Church until 1985 when she left for American Samoa, which is halfway between Hawaii and New Zealand on the International Date Line.

The school where Mrs. Bell taught was started in 1970 by a native, Ray Viliamu, who had been in the United States studying the Bible. He met and married a Texas girl. His adopted father, who is now pastor of the Happy Valley Baptist Church, was a former chief of the Pago Pago Village. When he became pastor of the church, he had to relinquish his position as chief and the village held a funeral service for him.

The school where Mrs. Bell taught third grade is run entirely by volunteers. The first year she was there, she was one of 11 volunteers, including a principal, from the United States. They taught an average of 120 students, from preschool through eighth grade. The second year there were 14 teachers and an average of 130 students.

Mrs. Bell said she was impressed with the faithfulness of volunteers who have the insight to recognize opportunity for service, the courage to grasp it, and the strength to carry it through.

The Island of Samoa is divided into two political units, American Samoa and Western Samoa. The two islands of American Samoa are Tutuila, where Mrs. Bell was, and the Mauna Group.

She said that the natives of the unit where she taught eat a lot of chicken, roast pig, bread, fruit, corn beef, fish, taro roots, and taro leaves filled with onion and coconut milk. She observed that the typical Samoan buys at the village store and uses his outdoor oven once a week.

In describing the native dress of Samoans, Mrs. Bell said both men and women wear lava lavas, which are wrap-around skirts. She said that men and boys wear leis of flowers, beads and shells just like the women.

The volunteer missionary teacher noticed that the natives celebrate any occasion, whether it be a wedding, funeral, new chief, or birth, with a fia fia (a feast). She said each celebration calls for gifts and lots of food.

The best gift of all, according to their touchstone, is their fine mats made out of strips of treated leaf fiber. Incidentally, part of a family's wealth is a collection of the fine mats.

An important part of the fia fia is the cava ceremony. The cava is a drink made from the dried roots of the kava-kava plant and can be very intoxicating.

Fono is the seat of government in American Samoa and all the chiefs of the villages who attend the meetings have speakers for them who carry a staff and fly whisk over the shoulder, a symbol of power.

At the end of the 1986 school term, she decided to volunteer for another year. So during the summer she toured Australia and New Zealand.

Mrs. Bell was graduated from Rice Univ. at Houston. She taught in Colorado and on the Island of Guam before coming to Iowa Park. She has three sons, Chris and Garry, both of Houston, and Evin of California; a daughter, Marilyn Berzer of Harper, Kan., and eight grandchildren.

Mrs. Bell is affectionately known as "Ellie Bell" by her friends. One of these paid tribute to her by saying: "She commands the love and respect of all who know her, whether it be at home or abroad. She has a noticeable zeal for volunteer mission work, and each moment of her life seems to be enriched by the awareness of God's presence and that she is doing His will."

Mrs. Bertha Taylor of Graham was another area teacher who did volunteer mission work at the Baptist Academy in American Samoa during 1986. She was a classroom teacher in the Graham Independent School District for 42 years. She and Mrs. Bell became close friends.

Heard, Ginnings vows are exchanged Saturday afternoon

One of the most vivid memories of their wedding, which took place Saturday afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Wichita Falls, for Mr. and Mrs. Steven Lewis Ginnings will be the nuptial and reception decorations, bouquets, corsages and boutonnières.

They were along the line of arrangements for royal weddings in England. They were created by Dena Rankin of Fort Worth, a friend of the family, who was formerly with the Queen's Floral Court in England, and she was called back from Texas to help with the wedding of Prince Charles and Princess Diana.

Mrs. Ginnings is the former Miss Connie Kay Heard, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Floyd Heard, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.I. Ginnings of Wichita Falls. Rev. Randy Lanford, on the staff of the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The focal point of altar decorations was a large table at the center in front of a tall cross over the baptistry which held an open Bible backgrounded by a big, showy arrangement of white willow, white iris, bluebonnets and trailing English ivy. The table was flanked by spiral voice candelabra and the extremities of the altar held imposing arrangements of white roses, white gladiola and blue lilies supported by white stands.

The hushed atmosphere of reverence was enhanced when the bride and groom went to the three-branched candlestick, removed the two candles that burned during the ceremony to light the unity candle, then extinguished them to symbolize that they were "no longer two, but one."

The church pews were decorated with blue silk bows.

The impressive music for the wedding was provided by Mrs. Bill Boucher, organist, and Mike Shelton, trumpeter. The prenuptial organ selections included "Air on the G. String," "Air No. 1," "My Tribute," "The Majesty and Glory of Your Name," "We Are Standing on Holy Ground," "Surely the Presence," "Make Us One, Father God" and "Oh, How He Loves You and Me."

MRS. STEVEN LEWIS GINNINGS

Mrs. Boucher sounded the chimes of the organ at four o'clock, then Shelton played a trumpet fanfare. Both musicians played "Trumpet Voluntary" for the wedding attendants to take their places in the nuptial space. They played "Rondeau" especially for the bride and her father to walk the bridal path to the altar, and played "Horn Pipe" from Handel's "Water Music" for the recessional.

Singles Group to meet

A meeting of the newly-organized Adult Singles Group will begin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the TU Electric Reddy Room.

A lecture will be given by Diane Lockridge and those attending will vote on a name for the organization.

Attends P-TA seminar

Iowa Parkan Sandra Lehman, president of Dist. 13 Parent-Teachers Association, attended the state P-TA summer leadership seminar July 12-14 in Austin.

Look Who's New

Robert Cole, a seven pound, five ounce son, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGarry July 10. Mrs. McGarry is the former Vanessa Ann Brandt.

The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brandt of Iowa Park and Mr. and Mrs. Bill McGarry of Burkburnett. The great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Vestal of Iowa Park, Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Shelton of Pilot Point and Mrs. Herman Rhoads of Randlett, Okla.

Music during the ceremony featured the organist's rendition of "Sweet, Sweet Spirit" while the bride and groom were lighting the unity candle, and both musicians played the "Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

The bride's father escorted and presented her in marriage. She was an exquisite picture in the Peau d'Ange slipper satin gown that she chose for her wedding. Its beauty was enhanced with the delicate Alencon lace on the shaped bodice with princess seaming, Elizabethan sleeves tapering to points and hemline of the skirt and chapel train. The bodice was designed with a V-neck and the lace inserts extended the full length of the sleeves.

Completing her bridal attire was a veil of illusion with waltz and chapel length tiers held by a half crown of Brussels lace and pearl flowers.

The bride's bouquet, unique in its beauty, was a Queen Victoria cascade, the same type that the queen carried in the 1800s. It was composed of pure white silk roses, royal blue irises, powder blue lillies and baby's breath with long strand of pearls throughout the cascade. The bouquet was completed with royal blue satin and white silk lace streamers falling the length of the gown. Small clusters of baby's breath, meant for good luck, were attached to the streamers at floor level.

She kept traditions by carrying heirloom handkerchiefs that belonged to Mrs. Randy Landord, sister of the groom, for "something old," a gold bracelet, a gift from Miss Sharon Ginnings, the groom's sister, for "something new." She wore a "something borrowed" pearl necklace from her sister, Mrs. Ed Reames, and a "something blue" garter, a gift from another sister, Mrs. Ron Grant.

Wearing identical gowns were Mrs. John Speed, who served as matron of honor, Miss Sharon Ginnings, sister of the groom, the maid of honor, Miss Karen Patterson of Oklahoma City, Mrs. Ed Reames of Houston, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Ron Grant of Arlington, another sister of the bride, the bridesmaids.

Each wore a royal blue satin dress that complemented the type of dress chosen by the bride. It was designed with a princess bodice, V-neck trimmed in reembroidered Chantilly lace, elbow length sleeves and flowing skirt.

They wore baby blue roses with a nosegay of blue roses, cornflowers and hibiscus accented with pearls and rhinestones.

The groom and male participants in the wedding wore black classic tuxedos with vests and white shirts. The groom wore a boutonniere formed of a white sweetheart rose and baby's breath, and the others wore blue sweetheart roses with baby's breath boutonnières.

Marke Ginnings, brother of the groom was his best man. The groomsmen were John Speed, Brandon Landrum of Albuquerque, N.M., James Speed of College Station and Scott Darrell of Denton. The ushers were Brady Beshear of Ft. Worth, Moses Caesar, John Conway and David Staber of Ft. Worth.

The mothers of the bride and groom and a grandmother complemented their dresses with corsages of white orchids, roses and sparkling rhinestones and pearls.

Mrs. Heard was attired in a tea-length royal blue crepe dress gathered at the waist with pearls, designed with long sleeves, rhinestone belt and buttons and topped with a jacket attached at the waist. Mrs. Ginnings wore a light blue tea length dress styled with a modified scoop neck and elbow length sleeves.

Tradition and beauty were artfully intermingled in decorations and appointments for the wedding reception hosted by the bride's parents at the church. The silver and crystal services on the refreshment tables lent themselves to the fine white linen cloths.

A trellis behind the bride's table was decorated with bluebonnets, white doves, bows and English ivy.

The magnificent cake of Lady Windemere design was the crowning touch to the table decorations. The three-tiered white confection featured fantastic floral ornamentation highlighted with orchids and complemented with petunias, agapanthus, bridal trumpets with a faint touch of yellow for contrast with the royal blue and powder blue flowers.

The third tier was raised by sugar pillars and topped with enduring symbols of love, a porcelain bride and groom standing in front of a heart bordered with royal blue and powder blue roses.

The bride's bouquet was the centerpiece for the table which was further appointed with a crystal punch service and crystal trays of royal blue and white wedding bell-shaped mints and nuts.

The special appeal of the groom's table was also the open Bible-shaped chocolate cake iced and bordered in deep brown. The scripture verse, Isaiah 40:31 was written on one page of the Bible and the other page was trimmed with a spray of royal blue flowers. The silver coffee service and a vase holding a single long-stemmed red rose were other parts of the table decor.

During the reception, Mmes. Randy Lanford, Randy Case, Mike Ginnings and Randy Watson presided at the refreshment tables.

Miss Michelle Reames directed signatures of wedding guests at a table decorated in exclusive taste holding the book and plume pen.

The couple chose Estes Park, Colo. for their honeymoon destination. When the couple left the church, the bride was wearing a light blue silk dress for travel. They will live in Wichita Falls.

In connection with rehearsal for the wedding, the groom's parents were hosts for a dinner at the Wichita Country Club.

The bride, who is a second grade teacher at Kidwell Elementary School, was graduated from Iowa Park High School and received a Master of Education degree from Midwestern State Univ. She belonged to the Mortar Board, Kappa Delta Pi, Tau Beta Sigma, Alpha Lambda Delta and now the Texas State Education Association.

The groom was graduated from Rider High School and Texas A&M Univ., with a Bachelor of Science degree. He received the Allied Chemical Scholarship, and Distinguished Student in the College of Engineering. He is a petroleum engineer for Bridwell Oil Co.

Mrs. Hallie Price of Iowa Park, grandmother of the bride, was a special wedding guest. Out-of-town guests included Messrs. and Mmes. Walter Sorenson, Troy Hunter, Paul, Phillip and Michael, Cliff Sewell, W.C. Eades and Woody Oliver.

FAMILY HEALTH NOTES

Treating Snake Bites - No Heroics, Please

Most people have a haunting fear of snakes, poisonous or harmless. They venture into what they believe to be a snake-infested area with unbridled, quivering trepidation. This isn't to say that a healthy respect for poisonous snakes is not warranted, rather that fear inhibits many out of all proportion to the actual danger.

Some folks, in an attempt to "snake proof" themselves, will buy high topped, high priced boots and saturate their clothing with chemical repellants to ward off snakes, and will call an exterminator at the first sight of a snake around the home. Actually some varieties of snakes can be found anywhere, including the rattlesnake, and if you haven't seen one it's because you missed him. And odds are that you will never see him or be bitten by him.

The most common way snake bites occur is when a person puts his hand into areas that serve as shelters. Snakes are cold-blooded creatures and usually head for a cool spot as the sun heats open areas. Mountain climbers are sometimes bitten by the Timber rattler when they place their hands on ledges. Stepping across a log barefoot may invite a bite from a snake tucked closely on the other side. A common way of being bitten is simply by sheer bad luck in your own yard or garden, frequently by the coral snake which is found all over the southeast.

Often home first aid measures cause more damage than the snake bite itself. Experts caution against using a tourniquet or cutting at the site of the puncture marks. This is unnecessary and may cause serious damage. Also, packing the bitten area in ice is more likely to cause the loss of a hand than the snake bite itself.

If you or someone in your family is bitten by a poisonous snake, your primary concern should be to get to a doctor or a hospital emergency room as quickly as possible. The basic treatment for snake bite is antivenin and time should not be wasted attempting first aid or engaging in other time-wasting dramatics. If the victim has received a large amount of venom, then each minute saved means a little more tissue saved and a little less pain to endure. Large amounts of venom can be fatal.

What if a person is bitten by a snake and you're not sure whether it's poisonous or not? Poisonous venom in human tissue will make itself known quickly, except for the coral snake which may not show any inflammation at the bite site. Pit vipers, including the rattlesnake, cause the area to become red and swollen almost immediately. When in doubt, seek medical attention immediately.

Music and Migraine

Stress-caused migraine attacks can be smoothed by music, according to a study conducted by Janet Lapp, PhD, of the California State University in Fresno.

Dr. Lapp compared the effects of relaxation training using music with training using biofeedback and found that migraine sufferers had better long-term benefits from music.

Those who used music to relax suffered only one-sixth as many headaches than before relaxation training. These headaches were less severe and ended more quickly, too, she found.

Parks, Martin nuptials are solemnized Saturday

Miss Charla Kay Parks, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Parks of Wichita Falls and the late Jack V. Parks, became the bride of Don Ray Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Durward Martin of Iowa Park, in a double ring ceremony performed Saturday afternoon at First Baptist Church. Bruce Hammonds, minister of music at the First Baptist Church in Childress, was the officiant.

The altar decorations consisted of two heart-shaped candelabras traced with boxwood greenery on either side of a gold wrought iron arch entwined with pottisporum and boxwood greenery. The candelabra was flanked by starburst arrangements of white gladioli, and the unity candlestick was trimmed with white gypsophila.

The vocal music was furnished by Mrs. Wayman Baker who sang "Wind Beneath My Wings" for a prelude number and "You Needed Me" while the bridal couple lighted the unity candle. Mrs. Kenneth Via provided organ music for the traditional marches.

The bride was given in marriage by Joe Milhollon, her brother-in-law. She wore a designer gown of shimmering white satin fashioned with an exquisite Victorian neckline bordered with iridescents and pearl drops. The bodice in front was covered with lace appliques and tiny seed pearls to the flattering waistline. The back was of sheer imported netting trimmed with satin-covered buttons. The puffed sleeves were tapered and adorned with the lace appliques and seed pearls. The A-line skirt flowed into a graceful semi-cathedral train bordered with the appliques of lace.

She wore a crown headpiece of lace and pearls to which her fingertip illusion veil was attached, and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and seed pearls.

The bride kept tradition by wearing two blue garters, one for "something blue," and the other for the groom to throw. She wore her mother's original wedding band for "something old," her wedding gown for "something new," and the "something borrowed" pearl and diamond earrings from her sister. She wore two pennies in her shoe, one dated the year of her birth, and the other dated the year of the groom's birth.

Mrs. Patrick Mitchell of Hollomon, N.M., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mrs. Joe Milhollon of Holliday, another sister, was bridesmaid. Gowned identically, each wore a royal blue dress fashioned by Fantanya designed with sweetheart neckline, ruffles along the shoulders, slightly raised waist, satin ribbon sash, flowing skirt featuring tiers of ruffles that formed a small train. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations with silk lace and picot ribbon streamers.

Jason Mitchell, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer, and Misses Debbie and Tina Parks were candlelighters.

The groom wore an all-white tuxedo with tails and a white rose and silver leaves boutonniere. His attendants, ushers and other males participants wore silver tuxedos with matching flairs, ties, cummerbunds and blue carnation boutonnieres.

Jon Cantron was the best man, Roger Merritt, the groomsman and the ushers were Monty Castroe and Mike Shea.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece grey suit with a royal blue and grey satin blouse, and the groom's mother wore a royal blue dress. The shoulder corsages were royal blue satin roses.

When guests arrived at the church for the wedding, they registered at a long table in the foyer where Miss Lisa Milhollon presided. The table was centered with a white crocheted runner and held the white plume pen, book, a white lace fan decorated with snapdragons and daisies in shades of blue, ceramic praying hands and a tall gold candlestick.

A reception hosted by the bride's family was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the wedding.

The refreshment table was covered with ivory crepe, and the cloth on the bride's table was accented with a skirt pinned with pearls featuring a drape of grapeleaf ivy caught to royal blue bows at the center and corners.

The three-tiered white cake trimmed in the bride's colors stood apart on the table. Each tier was ornamented with clusters of roses in shades of blue, silver leaves and lilies of the valley to combine admirably with the zigzag scallops and puffed borders. The tiers were separated with graceful Grecian posts and covered with the flowers and leaves. The top ornament of exclusive taste was a blown glass heart centered with a wedding bells, and flanked with blue doves.

A four-branched silver candelabra at one side of the table held tall white candles and a floral bouquet of royal blue carnations, and the other side was marked with a crystal punch service. The napkins were white and accented with wedding bells and the names of the bride and groom and their wedding date in royal blue.

The groom's table held a chocolate cake trimmed in blue centered with a heart bearing "Butch (the groom's nickname) and Charla." Other parts of the table decor were a large white wedding bell, silver coffee service, silver trays of mints and nuts and royal blue napkins.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Roy Parks, Mrs. Jerry Parks and Mrs. Jon Catron.

The gift table was laid with white lace over royal blue. It held two baskets trimmed with ribbon and lace in the chosen colors, one was filled with royal blue satin bird seed bags and the other held white net bags tied with blue ribbon.

The rehearsal dinner was held at Ken's Pizza and hosted by the groom's parents.

The bride was graduated from Petrolia High School. The groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School and is employed at Wal-Mart. After a weekend trip to Dallas and two-week stay at Lake Texhoma they will live in Iowa Park.

As I See It...

By BOB HAMILTON

If you read the stories coming out of Austin yesterday morning, about the legislature's record-setting tax bill, you didn't get the whole picture about what's going to happen to your tax bills in the future.

After reading two different paper reports and not finding anything about education funding, other than higher education (which got a healthy increase), I called Supt. Glen Mitchell to see if he had any news.

He had already called the Texas Education Agency, and was told the legislature had funded public education "about the same as last year," and had made no changes in HB 72.

So what does that mean?

Well, it means Bradford Elementary will need two more rooms for the 1988-89 school year, and three more in 1989-90, in order to meet HB72's mandate of 22 students per teacher. So that means another teacher per new classroom.

It also means the state hasn't put any more money up for districts to fund the annual $1,140 salary increase every teacher receives.

And it also means that career ladder, with still two more levels to be reached by those already on it, has not been funded by state and must be picked up locally.

"We're pretty blue," Mitchell told me as being his reaction to the legislature's actions and lack of actions. "I'm disappointed that the public will have to pay more fees and taxes."

Those extra fees and taxes didn't figure into local school taxes. He was talking about what we will all have to do to fund the state's operation.

You might have noticed that I didn't include any extra costs for all those extra rooms and personnel, which would include support personnel, utilities, benefits, etc.

Now, if all that sounds bleak, let me tell you about a judge who has discovered the state's tried-and-proven method of funding schools locally is "unconstitutional."

That's right. Had the case been in District Judge Harley Clark's court earlier, we would have known that what we were doing to fund our schools did not meet with the letter of the constitution.

Judge Clark, who apparently had just finished reading the textbook for socialists when he got to rule on the case a couple of months ago, now joins Tyler's Judge William Wayne Justice as one of the state's most-hated individuals of taxpayers.

Clark's ruling gives the state three years to come up with a new funding process to help poorer districts spend as much money on their students as richer school districts.

His ruling, I understand, states that any school spending more for the education of students than the state average of $3,400 will be limited to the average. Funds above the state average would then be distributed among the districts spending less on their students.

I wonder if he's been asked to rule on the issue of children in families that don't have bicycles, and if those families that have bought bikes for their children should fund two-wheelers for those who can't afford them?

Back on school taxes and our legislators, I would remind you of a column I wrote a couple of years ago, after HB72 was passed, and the reaction of some gal in Sen. Farabee's office?

She chewed out former local superintendent Harold Cowley and Holliday's Dan Owen for making observations that the bill would raise taxes.

Wonder if part of the legislation passed this week provides for more salary for her to pay her local tax increases?

Worth Quoting

We listened to Colonel Oliver North testifying before a congressional committee for a little over an hour Tuesday morning. The committee is investigating the Iran-Contra affair.

I wound up with the distinct feeling that I would much rather place the future of this country in the hands of people like Oliver North than in the hands of the members of that committee.

At least, you know which side he's on. And I'm not so sure about some of the members of that committee.

Investigators are trying to prove that Oliver North, President Reagan, and others violated some of our laws. I can pretty well assure you that they did.

And so did Jesse Jackson, and Jimmy Carter, and Lyndon Johnson, and John Kennedy, and George McGovern, and Martin Luther King, and many, many others.

Any law violations by North, President Reagan, and the others currently under investigation, were obviously done for the purpose of aiding this country in its fight against terrorists and communism. At least I think that is fairly obvious to everybody.

If I have information that some thing is planning to kill me and some of my friends, I'll take a gun with me when I leave the house.

And I won't be too much concerned that it's against the law to carry a gun.

HARLAN BRIDWELL
Bridgeport Index

I mentioned in my wrap-up of the 1986-87 school season of sports that there were only 11 district athletic championships. However, that number should have been 12 because I left out the final sport of the year -- baseball.

The Bucks won six of the titles, cross country, track, volleyball and golf in the girls' division and football and golf in the boys' division. Decatur and Iowa Park shared the remaining six titles and it was the Hawks that won the 12th title, the District 6-3A baseball championship. Bowie was the runner-up for the baseball title. The Hawks also defeated Clyde in bi-district action, but fell to Kermit for the regional title last week. The Yellowjackets scored six runs in the final inning to edge the Hawks.

Only three of the district schools have a baseball team. In addition to Iowa Park and Bowie, Bridgeport also fields a squad. There has been some talk of a team getting established at BHS. Several Breck students play for the Breckenridge Braves in the Teenage League. However, Athletic Director Bill Grissom said there are no plans at this time of getting a team together, as far as school officials are concerned.

Bud Burton, who coaches the Braves, is concerned about the attendance at the home games. Burton said there are usually only a dozen or so fans on hand when the Braves play, which would be the biggest argument for school officials to keep putting off a baseball program at BHS. Of course, volleyball and cross country have also had problems attracting fans in past seasons, but these programs are fairly strong, especially volleyball.

Another plus for the Braves is that they are still playing. While the Hawks and Jackrabbits finished their seasons, the Braves are just starting their summer league. The Braves are also not bound by UIL regulations.

For now, baseball in District 6-3A will have to be included among the other sports that do not include all six of the district teams, including cross country, volleyball and golf.

I was at a shop recently getting some work done, when I noticed a sign on the wall:

Labor Rates:
Regular $24.50 per hour
If you wait - $30 per hour
If you watch - $35 per hour
If you help - $50 per hour
If you laugh - $75 per hour.

I quick-read the sign and left. Six months later I got my work done. It cost $95. And I didn't laugh!

CARD OF THANKS

A big Thank You to the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department.

I would like to take this time in a few words, to express my gratitude and appreciation to the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department for their quick response to extinguish a fire at my home on FM 369 June 23, 1987. I was at work and by the time I receive the phone call and arrived home, the blaze was extinguished and my home was saved, with a small amount of damage to property. The quick action of the fire department, my neighbor, Harvey Troutman, and an unknown passer-by prevented the loss of my home. It is actions like these, that make me proud to be a part of a fine community like Iowa Park.

Once Again Many Thanks

Crippled Children's Auction scheduled Friday, Saturday

The Crippled Children's Livestock Auction seems headed for success, say county auction committee members as they round up final donations for the auction coming up Friday and Saturday.

"Now, all it will take is for the buyers to come out to the livestock and merchandise sale," said Joe Parker, chairman.

The livestock portion of the auction will begin at 11 a.m. Friday at Arrowhead Livestock Sales Co., Jacksboro Highway, Wichita Falls. Here, all livestock, from cattle to mules, horses, goats and "anything with four legs," will be sold as well as agriculture-related items, such as feed and fertilizer.

Merchandise will be sold at the big open bid auction and barbecue feed beginning at 5 p.m. Saturday at Wichita Falls Activities Center.

All types of new, antique or handmade items will be up for sale. These may include tools, yard equipment, furniture, art, plants, hats, knives, guns, appliances as well as "country decorative items," and gift certificates.

"You name it and probably we'll have it," says Parker.

Much of the merchandise will be placed in the silent auction portion of the sale, to be held from 10 a.m. Saturday to 4 p.m. preceding the big open bid auction. Those coming to the main auction and barbecue will be able to bid also on silent auction items until 7 p.m. A Country Kitchen (jams, jellies, baked goods) will be featured also.

Lola Hampton, silent auction chairman, says that "A silent auction is one in which you have bid cards and write in the items and the amount of your bids."

"You can browse through the silent auction tables at your leisure, place your bid and turn it in. At the close of the silent auction, highest bidders will then be announced and you may pick up the items you have 'won,'" she said.

This annual cattle auction, as it has become familiarly known in the North Texas and southern Oklahoma area for the past 18 years, is the largest fund raising event for the North Texas Rehab Center. All proceeds remain with the Center for treatment of handicapped children and adults.

Veteran auctioneer Hollis Dickey has been donating his expertise and time to the auction the past 15 years. He will be assisted by Bill Burgess of Burgess Auction in Graham, who also has donated his services the past three years.

Persons wishing to donate livestock, merchandise or cash may contact the committee members in their area: Stanley Williamson, Gene Jordan, Mike Castles or the Rehab Center.

The Light Crust Doughboys will play from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday and from 5 to 7 p.m. The doughboys are an early day radio group -- and still popular one -- and will be playing familiar tunes.

"We hope to see everybody at this auction. You'll have a good time and the Stanley's barbecue and desserts from Golden Cream Pastry will be worth your while. It's a chance to help the Center out and it's a chance to meet your old friends. We're depending on you," says Parker.

tee to work on community promotion during the coming year, after telling the board Iowa Park was one of very few cities in this part of the country that is still growing.

He asked Danny Coffman to chair the committee of Dr. Erwin Soell and Glen Mitchell.

In other business, the board voted to sponsor advertisements in the Greenbelt Bowl and Oil Bowl football all-star games in which local athletes will be competing, and also decided to have a representative attend programs of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting in Wichita Falls.

Danny Forman will be playing in the Greenbelt game at Childress and Robert Adams in the Oil Bowl in Wichita Falls, so the Chamber voted to expend a total of $85 for program space.

Chamber secretary Susan Dillard is to attend meetings and seminars of the WTCC meeting today and Friday and make a report at the next director meeting.

This will require that the local Chamber office be closed the two days, while she is at the meeting.

Cook of the Week

Darleta (Mrs. Brent) Hrcirik is a busy homemaker, wife and mother who works at the Iowa Park Florist, and knows that feeding the family is of supreme interest. Her recipes this week show that she is a good planner and excellent cook.

Her Nannie's Hot Sauce, a recipe of Brent's grandmother, is one of the family's favorites. The principal ingredient is tomatoes, one of the most popular raw vegetables, and ranks third in canning after sweet corn and green beans.

The history of the tomato is complex. It was first called "love apple," and in many countries it was thought to be poisonous which caused it to be approached with caution.

In 1860 Godey's Lady Book advised that tomatoes should always be cooked for three hours. Before that, in 1848, Eliza Leslie wrote in her "Directions for Cooking" that tomatoes would not lose their raw taste in less than three hours cooking, which one can assume there was little appreciation for raw tomatoes.

Thomas Jefferson happened to be one of the first Americans to grow tomatoes. They were grown in home gardens long before they were cultivated commercially, chiefly because of perishability. Louisiana seems to be the first to develop the tomato the quickest, but it did not really come into its own until after World War I. Today they are a major crop in the U.S. and are grown in practically every state.

Mrs. Hrcirik, the former Darleta Brown, was graduated from Iowa Park High School. She has worked at the Iowa Park Florist seven years. She and Brent, who is a pumper for S&J Operating Co., have one daughter, Breann, two years old. Her hobbies are flower arranging and aerobics.

Miss Katherine Lee Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Ray Walker, and David Wayne Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calrance Hall of Mt. Vernon, Ky., repeated their matrimonial vows July 4 in the back yard of the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Katherine Ann Lay.

Rev. Jerry Powell of Berea, Ky. performed the double-ring ceremony before an arch decorated with white and blue roses and topped with white doves.

The vocal music was provided by Robert Walker, brother of the bride. He sang "I Will Always Love You," "I'll Still Be Loving You," "My Restless Heart" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin and French lace gown fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline, fitted bodice, long sleeves, full skirt with a lace-trimmed border and chapel train. She wore a white bridal hat with a fingertip veil, and carried a bouquet of red roses, blue and white carnations accented with blue and white streamers.

Mrs. David Martiñ was matron of honor and wore a light blue tea length dress with scooped neckline, leg-of-mutton sleeves, and Miss Kelly Dwier, the bridesmaid, wore a darker blue dress, styled a little differently from the matron's dress, with a V neck, cap sleeves and basque waist. They wore white hats trimmed in white and blue lace, and carried white and blue roses with cascading light and dark blue ribbons. Mandy Powell of Berea, Ky., the flower girl, wore a navy blue dress trimmed with white ruffles on the neck and sleeves. She carried white and blue satin roses in a white basket.

The groom wore an all-white tuxedo, and his attendants, Scott Maqueen of Mt. Vernon, the best man, and Robert Ray Walker, the groomsman, wore black tuxedos.

The wedding was followed by a barbecue dinner in the home of Mrs. Lay. The finale to the meal was the three-tiered wedding cake trimmed with white doves and topped with a bride and groom.

Miss Vickie Gibson directed signatures of the guests at a black roll top table covered with white lace. They signed the book with a blue feather pen.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and the groom was graduated from Rockcastle High School in Mt. Vernon.

They are both employed at Texas Recreation in Wichita Falls and are living in Iowa Park. They are planning a wedding trip to Kentucky in August.

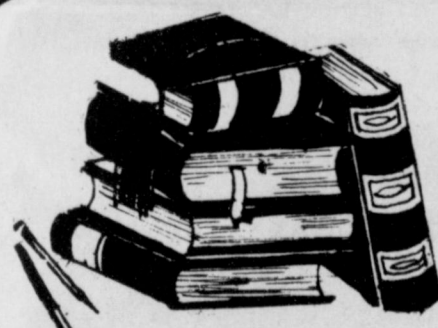

The out-of-town wedding guests included Messrs. and Mmes. Scott Maqueen, Calrance Hall of Mt. Vernon, and Jerry Powell and Mandy of Berea, Ky.

Amity members plan programs

Amity Study Club members planned next year's programs and changed the regular meeting night when they met Monday evening at the home of Amy Brown.

Marilyn Hale, Evelyn Ward and Margaret Denton led members in planning programs for the 1987-88 club year.

The 14 members present answered roll call with suggestions for program topics which included CPR, walking, government, assertiveness, Shriner's Hospital and railroads.

Members approved changing the regular meeting night from the third Monday of the month to the second Monday.

Mrs. Hale, president, reported that projects during the past year included contributions to the Tom Burnett Memorial Library, Christmas light fund, Girlstown and participation in the citywide cleanup.

Members voted to participate in the Clothes Closet, a project sponsored by the Iowa Park Ministerial Alliance to provide clothing and grooming supplies for students grades kindergarten through the 12th grade. Amity members will contribute notebook paper and pencils to the project.

Judy Schenk gave "Rules for Peace and Happiness" by Dale Carnegie for the meditation.

The meeting was held poolside at the Brown home, and following adjournment, members were served homemade ice cream and cookies.

Underwrite a miracle.

Individuals with mental retardation have always been told, "You can't do it." Through Special Olympics, you can tell them they can do it.

Since Special Olympics International was founded in 1968, it has grown into a world-wide sports movement that brings pride, confidence, courage and determination to more than one million children and adults with mental retardation in over 20,000 communities throughout the United States and over 72 countries around the world. In your community, the spirit of Special Olympics is making miracles happen. There are many ways that you can help underwrite this miracle, ways that also take into account your personal finances and the new tax law. Some of these ways are listed in the coupon below, and we would be glad to discuss these or others with you at your convenience. Please call or write today to learn how you can help spread the spirit of Special Olympics. The need has never been greater—and your help has never meant more.

Please send me information about how I can underwrite a miracle through Special Olympics by:

- Making a gift of securities, bonds, or cash
- Making a gift of personal property
- Making a gift of land
- Naming Special Olympics as beneficiary of an IRA plan, pension plan, life insurance policy, or in a will
- Transferring securities, bonds, cash or land in return for income
- Establishing a trust to ultimately benefit my children
- Transferring my home to Special Olympics but continuing to live in it
- Please call me to discuss the ways I can contribute

Senior All-Stars advance in state

Iowa Park's Senior Little League All-Star team won the Dist. 6 title and now advances to the Sectional meet at Farmers Branch.

But the Major and Junior All-Star squads will be staying home.

The Senior club, after drawing a first-round bye, dumped Burk Burnett 6-1 Tuesday of last week, humbled Sheppard 16-7 the following evening, and earned the title Friday, again over Sheppard, with a resounding 20-5 score.

The Major All-Stars lost Wednesday to Sheppard, 12-7, and were eliminated. The club dropped the first game of the tournament, 5-2, to Burk Burnett.

Also eliminated Wednesday was the Junior All-Star team, composed of 13-year-olds. After losing their opener 7-4 to Burk Burnett and rebounding with a 26-2 win over Brazos Valley, the club lost again to Burk Burnett. This time it was 16-8.

The Seniors are to take on Dist. 8 champion Sherman at 4 p.m. Saturday. The winner of the tournament, which is to be completed next Thursday, advances to the state tourney at Texas A&M.

The Farmers Branch field, according to the map provided manager

Steve Smith, is a couple of blocks east of I-35, at a turnoff marked by a McDonald's drive in.

Smith indicated the team is in need of donations to assist players to go to the tournament. Players will be contacting local merchants for donations.

Anyone wishing to contribute, but is not contacted, can call him at 592-2988, or Little League treasurer Pat Kennedy, at 592-5134.

To hold down on expenses, he said the team plans to return home after games so they won't have to pay for motel accommodations.

Members of the Senior All-Star team are Charles Houston, K.C. McCarter, Jimmy Nicholson, Ken Schlaud, Danny Tatom, Brett Bradford, Chuck Brown, Chad Bullock, Marc Cruz, Jimmy Duggins, Vance Edwards, Travis Chitwood, Kelly McClure, Bruce Palmer and alternates Brandon Lane, Chad Witherspoon and Patrick Birk.

Ray Sefcik and Wayne Hodges are coaches.

MARC CRUZ HELD AT THIRD BASE ... and later scores against Sheppard All-Stars

Texas Football picks Hawks as runners-up

Texas Football magazine, which just hit the newsstand this week, has picked Dist. 6-AAA to finish just about the way the teams did last year.

The magazine made its 1987 appearance at K&K Quick Stop Monday.

The order in which schools were listed, which usually is the publication's method of predicting finishes, lists Breckenridge, Iowa Park, Decatur, Bridgeport, Jacksboro and Bowie.

"Three teams with ample play-off experience - Breckenridge, Iowa Park and Decatur - hope to expand on that tradition in 1987. Breckenridge rates the early nod because of its well-stocked offense. Iowa Park, one of the big surprises of last year's play-offs, must overcome inexperience to repeat. Decatur, meanwhile, hopes 16 lettermen can bounce back from last year's subpar finish," writes the author of this year's section.

About the Hawks, the writer said: "There aren't many holdovers from Iowa Park's fine 10-3-1 unit of 1986, but Coach David Baugh says unity and morale could help the Hawks fly high again. Only two offensive starters are back, but tackle Greg Young (6-5, 245), is strictly quality. Also returning if fellow tackle Jimmy Kirkhart (6-0, 210), a fine player in his own right. Expected to handle most of the running chores are TB Joel Galloway and FB Jim Cummings, who doubled at DE a year ago. Other defensive regulars back are DB Jeff Huff and DT John Ward (he should have written Wood)."

HOLLIDAY Texas Football ranked Holliday's

Eagles ninth among Class AA teams in the state.

About Dist. 9-AA, the magazine stated "This district featured one of the best races in the state in 1986, with Holliday and defending state champ Electra tying for the title after the 10th weekend. Both return 1,000-yard rushers in their bid to repeat. Overall experience is way down this year, but force of habit will keep Olney, Henrietta and Seymour in the race. Even cellar-dweller Archer City could have a say in the final outcome.

"FB David Hoepfner gained 1500 yards rushing last year for Holliday, and the senior heads a list of nine lettermen coming back for the 10-3 Eagles. Coach Don Lucy notes his four offensive and five defensive standouts should be QB Pat Maxwell, CB Keith Nichols, LB Scott Belcher, LB Lance Loyd and DE Timmy Denny."

Also mentioned in the magazine issue was former Hawk standout Charles Perry who, at 6-4 and 265, is listed as reserve defensive tackle for the Texas Tech Univ. Red Raiders.

Perry, a sophomore who underwent knee surgery in the spring, is listed behind senior Artis Jackson, who was a starter last year.
