Valley View still space option

There remains an air of indecision among Iowa Park school board members on how to meet classroom space needs of the near future.

During a lengthy discussion on the topic Tuesday, discussion ranged from continuing to use temporary buildings to constructing additions at Bradford Elementary and the junior high, to re-opening the campus at Valley View.

Trustees took a 40-minute tour of the Valley View buildings prior to their regular meeting in the administration building.

Virtually every member expressed a favorable impression with the physical condition of the plant, which has been used only for storage since 1980.

Facing the board is the need of five additional classrooms at Bradford over the next three years, and as many as four more at junior high, and that includes using the three temporary buildings set up at Bradford this fall.

The board voted last month to list the Valley View property with a real estate agent to be sold. And while an agent has been working with the administration, a final contract has not yet been agreed upon.

And while trustees are discussing the use of the rural facility, they did not vote to take it off the market at Tuesday's meeting.

Supt. Glen Mitchell provided a cost projection to open and operate Valley View, either for the fifth grade alone or for both the fifth and sixth grades.

He estimated the cost, for the fifth grade alone, would be $143,357, or $233,891 for both grades.

The three major problems with re-opening Valley View, he reported, were:

- * transporting students safely back and forth;
- * providing the services of a counselor, music teacher, physical education teacher, librarian, and special education teacher;

* and justifying the re-opening of Valley View school to parents of students assigned to attend school there.

While he agrees with the principle of having the school facilities consolidated in Iowa Park, board chairman Jimmy Howell said he has a "problem spending half a million dollars to expand in town, with a two-million dollar facility sitting idle out there."

"I don't think we'll match the quality (of Valley View) even if we build a new structure," he added.

Trustee Martha Dudley believes the students would be better served if facilities consolidated in the city, and is of the opinion that the additional cost of re-opening Valley View could be used to build additional classrooms on campuses in town.

If new classrooms are to be built, a bond issue would likely be needed to finance the construction, it was pointed out.

A decision must be reached within the next couple of months, board

Trustees write protest letter to state agency

Iowa Park school trustees Tuesday night approved a letter strongly protesting the "wave procedure" to the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) test scores.

School administrators were notified last week that a curve had been applied to test scores of students, and the results had a dramatic result in the ranking of local campuses with others across the state.

Factors used by the state to reach a net test score were: percent of low-income students tested; percent of black and Hispanic students; percent of students tested who have limited English proficiency and number of students in a district or campus.

The letter is directed to Dr. W.N. Kirby, commissioner of education, Texas Education Agency. And copies will also be sent to Mrs. Kathryn Rains, this district's appointed state school board member from Cleburne, as well as Sen. Ray Farabee and Rep. Charles Finnell.

The letter states:
"Dear Dr. Kirby:

"This letter is being written to voice our protest to the wave procedure that was used to rank the schools of Texas. It is obvious that the purpose of the wave is to benefit the urban schools with large minority populations so that they will not be ranked at the bottom of the list in the state on the T.E.A.M.S. tests.

"In voicing our protest, we are asking that you consider the following points and remove the wave from the criteria used to rank the schools of Texas.

"...The T.E.A.M.S. tests are minimal skills tests that do not give the better students an opportunity to have an impact on the rankings.

"...Adding the wave to increase the scores of low income and large minority campuses is simply providing false information not only to the public but to those schools that benefit from the wave.

Hawks host Hares Friday night

It's one down and four to go in the Hawks' quest for the Dist. 6-AAA championship.

And game two will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Hawk Stadium, when the Mean Green hosts the Jackrabbits of Bowie.

While the 'Rabbits' record of 3-3 isn't as impressive as the Hawks' 5-1, Bowie can be dangerous for several reasons.

First of all, they could catch the Hawks looking toward next week's big showdown with Breckenridge.

Secondly, they could be wanting to make up for the shellacking handed them last week by the Buckaroos.

Thirdly, they're a young team and improving as the season progresses, and young teams are also unpredictable.

A win would keep Bowie in the hunt for a playoff position, something that hasn't happened to that school in football in several years.

And, finally, the Jackrabbits probably want a win over the Hawks more than any other team on their schedule.

This will be the ninth meeting between the Hawks and Jackrabbits in 19 seasons, and Iowa Park leads in wins 7-1.

Bowie's lone win over Iowa Park was in 1978, when the Hares pulled off a 20-6 victory.

Most of the other games have been lopsided events, with the closest in 1983, 21-12, and the widest, 70-0, in 1970.

This will be the sixth consecutive meeting between the two teams. Iowa Park won 31-7 last year, 35-14 the year before, 31-0 in '82 and 28-0.

Bowie has its third head coach in three years, which could be part of the team's problems.

The 'Rabbits won the debut of new head coach Leonard Carey by dumping Celina 28-18.

They then fell 26-7 to Henrietta and 33-11 to Holliday, before romping 35-10 over Sanger and edging Olney 17-14.

Primarily a running team, the Jackrabbits are paced by Ervin Romine, who usually exceeds the century mark in each game.

Last week, despite losing to the Bucks, Romine carried 16 times and gained 103 yards. He had 107 in only 12 carries against Celina, and 117 in 13 against Olney.

Holliday held Romine to 79 yards, but Bowie gained 255 yards rushing against the Eagles. In the Sanger contest, Bowie backs rolled up 417 yards.

Turnovers have been a problem. Bowie lost three fumbles and an interception last week. In the loss to Henrietta, the 'Rabbits fumbled away the ball twice and had a pass stolen.

But the 'Rabbits can be dangerous in the airways, also. Kenny Boner scored on a 56-yard pass against Breckenridge.

Despite their youth, only five offensive starters are seniors, the Jackrabbits have some big people on the line.

Tackles are Tony Cornelison, a 6-2, 260-pound junior, and Justin Palmer, 6-3, 240.

At center is Rayce Cantwell, 210, while Billy McLendon, 235, and Curt Rhine, 160, hold down the guard slots.

Quarterback Craig Pettigrew and fullback Whit Cross are juniors, Romine is a senior, as is wide receiver

Eric Willard, and Boner, the split end, is a sophomore.

Iowa Park returns to the field from last week's big 24-21 homecoming victory over Decatur with the same players, for the first time in several weeks.

Injuries have been a problem for the Hawk coaching staff, as five sophomores have been called up from the junior varsity to fill in for the injured players.

CHILD SUPPORT

Though results are usually slow, agencies available to help collect

By KARI COLLINS
Child Support

"IT IS ORDERED AND DECREED that JOHN DOE shall pay to JANE DOE child support of $150.00 per child per month for a combined total of $300.00 in two installments per month of $150.00 each with the first installment being due and payable on October 15, 1987 and a like installment being due and payable on each 1st and 15th day of the month thereafter until the oldest child of the marriage reaches the age of 18 years, marries, or dies; the child's disabilities are removed for general purposes; the child is otherwise emancipated, the child graduates from an accredited secondary school in a program leading toward a high school diploma, or until further order of this Court..." etc.

Getting a divorce nowadays is easy enough, but when there is a child, or children, involved, the issues get stickier, especially when one of the parents doesn't pay court-ordered child support or one refuses to allow court-ordered visitation.

There are several options open to a custodial parent, usually the mother, who has back child support owed to her, but not so many for the non-custodial parent whose right to visitation of the child is refused.

Failure to pay child support is a crime punishable by up to six months in jail for each instance of failure to pay. When the non-custodial parent is inside the state of Texas, it is a misdemeanor, and outside the state, a felony.

The punishment for refusing to allow a non-custodial parent visitation isn't so clear cut, since most courts are hesitant to place a mother in jail.

All parties interviewed for this story stressed that failure to pay child support in no way means that visitation rights of the non-custodial parent are relinquished. And by the same token, if the non-custodial parent never sees the children, he still owes every penny of the court-ordered child support.

Also, any money given directly to the children by the non-custodial parent, articles of clothing or any other gifts are generally considered to be gifts and are not considered as meeting the order for support payments.

The new child support guidelines set by the Supreme Court order, when the obligor's (non-custodial parent's) income is $4,000 or less a month: 19 to 23 per cent of the obligor's net resources for one child; 24 to 28 per cent for two children; 30 to 34 per cent for three children; 35 to 39 per cent for four children and for five or more children, not to be less than the amount for four children.

When the monthly net income is more than $4,000, the court may set child support accordingly.

Beginning in January of this year, the Texas State Legislature passed a law requiring courts to make income withholding as a part of current child support orders.

By this law, if a child support payment becomes one month behind, the payee can file an order to be sent to the non-custodial parent's employer.

But for parents who divorced before the first of the year, the problem still exists.

Payment of child support ideally should place the burden of supporting the children on equal parts to each parent, but often, by way of erratic payments or no payments at all, the burden of supporting the children is placed solely upon the custodial parent.

When court-ordered child support is not paid, there are a number of places the custodial parent can go for help. The best agency to go through depends solely upon the situation of the individual such as time, money, if the non-custodial parent needs to be located and other factors.

Most custodial parents in a situation where there are erratic or no child support payments don't know what to do or where to go, according to Bill Ballard of Family Court Services. "Less than half the people who have delinquent child support do anything about it. And it can be done," Ballard stated.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE

The District Attorney's office handles and prosecutes criminal non-support cases in Wichita County.

The D.A.'s office can only prosecute to collect back child support and cannot insure future payments.

According to Barry Macha, District Attorney, most of the cases his office handles are from people who walk in and file a complaint.

Bill Horton, criminal investigator for the D.A.'s office, is responsible for handling only out-of-state cases.

When a complaint is filed for non-support and the non-custodial parent is out of state, Horton's job is to first locate the non-custodial parent, arrest him and extradite him back to Wichita County.

Horton said he has worked cases involving back child support from $3,000 to $66,000, and has never had to extradite the defendant back to the county. He said, "When they are thrown in jail, they usually come up with the money."

Macha agreed with Horton saying that arresting a non-custodial

Sheppard building dedicated in memory of Mrs. Lehman

Ceremonies dedicating a building in the name of the late Mrs. Wayne B. Lehman were held Wednesday morning at Sheppard AFB.

The Defense Reutilization and Marketing Office honored the former chief of that base office with the dedication of Building 2135.

Beulah "Bea" E. Lehman served the Department of Defense for more than 29 years, the majority at Sheppard, until her death Aug. 21.

Col. Joseph L. Methvin, U.S. Army, region commander of the Defense Reutilization and Marketing Region - Memphis, served as master of ceremonies.

Remarks during the ceremony were given by Col. Methvin and Col. Aulay S. MacRae, base commander, Sheppard AFB. Invocation and benediction were given by Joe Glenn, minister, Turnpike Church of Christ at Grand Prairie, who officiated at her funeral.

Mrs. Lehman, known as "Ms B" to her civil service workers, was married to Wayne Lehman Sept. 19, 1947, in Wichita Falls.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Richard of Iowa Park, and Wayne Jr. of Paducah; a daughter, Virginia, of Plano; her mother, Eva Farris of Addington, Okla.; three brothers, Bryan Farris of Bridgeport, J.C. Farris of Houston and John Farris of Addington, Okla.; two sisters, Evelene Reed of Iowa Park and Mary Styles of Wichita Falls, and several grandchildren.

Cook of the Week

Young housewives and cooks learn early in their married life that "home is where the heart is, and the heart of every home is the kitchen." They have a love for cooking and their creativity sets the flair for heart-warming meals.

A very personal responsibility lies in the hands of young mothers, like Charlene "Charlie" (Mrs. Tracey) Fears, the cook for this week, because they are educating children to eat for a long, healthful lifetime, and early food habits begin at home at their own tables every mealtime.

Mrs. Fears' recipes this week include one vegetable, two meat dishes and two desserts. They suggest that she is concerned about serving meals that have a healthful balance of the basic food groups.

The former Charlene Lewis lived in Iowa Park when she was younger and attended Iowa Park High School. She was graduated from South Garland High School at Garland and later worked as secretary in the business office of Vernon Regional Junior College. She and Tracey, who is a disc jockey for KLUR, have moved to Iowa Park recently and are members of First Baptist Church. They have a son, Michael, four years old, and a daughter, Ashley, two years of age.

Mrs. Fears is one of the teachers of Mission Friends at the church. Her hobbies are ceramics, tole painting and needlework.

CHICKEN CASSEROLE

4 cups tortilla chips
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 cup chopped onion
1 can cream of chicken soup
2/3 cup tomatoes with chilies
1 1/3 cup chicken broth
4 cups diced cooked chicken
2 cups grated American cheese

Saute onion in oil. Add soup, tomatoes and chicken broth. Simmer 3 minutes. In casserole layer 1/2 chicken, 1/2 tortilla chips, 1/2 sauce and 1/2 cheese. Repeat. Bake at 350 degrees 45 minutes.

EASY CHOCOLATE CAKE

1 cup water
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup butter
3 1/2 Tbsp. cocoa
2 cups all-purpose flour
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup buttermilk
2 eggs, beaten
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. vanilla
Chocolate Nut Frosting

Combine water, shortening, butter and cocoa in a medium saucepan, cook over low heat, stirring frequently. Combine flour and sugar in a large mixing bowl, add cocoa mixture, stirring well. Stir in buttermilk, eggs, soda and vanilla. Pour batter in a greased and floured 15X10X1-inch jelly roll pan. Bake at 400 degrees 20 minutes. Cook cake completely in pan. Spread Chocolate Nut Frosting on top of cake.

CHOCOLATE NUT FROSTING

1/2 cup butter
1/3 cup milk
3 1/2 Tbsp. cocoa
1-10 oz. pkg. powdered sugar
1 cup chopped pecans

Combine butter milk and cocoa in a medium saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently until mixture comes to a boil. Remove saucepan from heat and add sugar, stir with a wire whisk until smooth. Stir in pecans and use immediately.

LASAGNE

Serves 6-8

1 lb. ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 cups (1-1 lb. can) tomatoes
1/3 cup water
1 garlic clove, minced
1 tsp. oregano
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/2 lb. lasagne noodles, cooked
2-6 oz. pkgs. Mozzarella cheese slices
1/2 lb. Velveeta cheese, sliced
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1-6 oz. can tomato paste

Brown meat, drain, add onion, cook until tender. Stir in tomatoes, tomato paste, water, garlic and seasonings. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes. In 12X8 inch baking dish, layer 1/3 of cooked noodles, Mozzarella cheese, meat sauce, Velveeta and Parmesan. Repeat layers. Bake at 350 degrees 30 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes for easy serving.

NOTE: To make ahead, cover uncooked lasagne. Refrigerate. When ready to serve, bake at 350 degrees 50 minutes.

Work purpose of meeting

Sixteen members of the Iowa Park Garden Club met Friday morning in the First Christian Church Fellowship Hall for a work session. They answered roll call with a high school memory, and Mrs. Dave Davis gave the thought-for-the-day on "There's a Special Art to Living."

Mrs. Bernice Compton presided during a short business meeting. Mrs. Billy Gilmore, Whoop-T-Do chairman, announced that the club's float for the homecoming parade was ready. She described it as a large flower pot with bright colored flowers sticking out the top. Mrs. Compton and Mrs. Jimmy Gilmore were appointed to ride on the float.

After the business, the members arranged tables for the flower arrangements, horticulture specimens, and the horticulture plant display for the annual flower show Saturday.

The hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Robert Illingsworth, Dorwin Wooten and Jimmy Gilmore. The serving table was decorated with a small hay bale and a straw wreath trimmed with fall leaves, turkey and pilgrim figurine.

The next meeting will be Oct. 23 at TU Electric Reddy Room where a program on "Texas Wildflowers" will be given.

CARD OF THANKS

On behalf of the Iowa Park High School student body, we would like to extend our thanks to all those individuals and groups who contributed to the success of the Homecoming Dance. Without the support of all the following, the dance would not have been possible: the Optimist Club, KNIN, Milburn Nutt, Bextex, Iowa Park Police and Fire Departments, and all of the parents and students who lent their time to the preparation, operation and clean up efforts. It is our hope that the tremendous success of this dance will lead to others in the near future.

Child support help available through various avenues

parent can be instrumental in obtaining at least partial back child support immediately. "They can usually find a way (to pay it)," he said.

Horton also said he has never worked a case where the mother was a non-custodial parent.

PRIVATE ATTORNEY

A private attorney is almost always recommended as the best method for obtaining court-ordered child support, but it is also probably the most expensive, charging anywhere from $350 - $1,000 per case, depending on what is involved.

The bonus of hiring a private attorney is time and individual attention to your case. They can usually get you to court quicker and have more time to spend working on the finer points of your problem. The downside of this solution is money, or lack of it. Custodial parents not receiving child support rarely have the money to hire an attorney.

Alyce Bondurant, a private attorney in Iowa Park, said that a custodial parent who is owed back child support, can sue for that amount, but it must be before the child turns 20 years old, when the statute of limitations is up.

Bondurant also gave this advice to divorced parents: "We have to keep in mind what's in the best interest of the child. Parents sometimes forget to do that, especially when it comes to money."

FAMILY COURT SERVICES

Family Court Services in Wichita Falls, receives child support payments from the non-custodial parent, records it, and sends it to the custodial parent.

Another not-so-publicized function of the agency is the child support enforcement effort, funded by the county.

Family Court Services may assist in the enforcement of support payments if the payments are at least one month in arrears or if $100 is due, but they do not furnish an attorney at hearings.

One of the means of collecting back child support or obtaining income withholding is to go before a referee, a person appointed by the juvenile board to hear cases of this nature.

Ballard maintained that going before a referee is quicker than by using most other agencies.

There is a $43 filer's fee, or if the custodial parent cannot afford it, she can file a poverty oath with the district clerk office.

For this process to go into action, a petition is prepared, read and signed by the custodial parent. A sheriff or constable then serves the non-custodial parent and a hearing is set 10 to 20 days after the petition is served. The hearing is held before the referee and the referee's decision is rendered and his recommendation is sent to the court. The court reviews it, and either upholds the decision or strikes it. If it is upheld, the decision is in effect.

Either party in the hearing can have an attorney present and can appeal the referee's decision within three days and get a hearing in regular court.

Ballard stated that the court is usually more interested in getting the money for the children than in sending the non-custodial parent to jail.

Family Court Services can give fairly efficient service if there is an order in existence and the payor's job is known. Ballard said a problem comes when the whereabouts of the payor aren't known or he isn't working.

Ballard stated that the civil process should usually be tried before going to the District Attorney's office, but if it doesn't, the D.A.'s office should be an option.

One common misconception is that garnishment means withholding wages. Ballard said that is not the case.

"Garnishment is a one-shot deal," Ballard stated. Basically, garnishment is when the non-custodial parent has money in the bank and owes back child support, the custodial parent can file a garnishment action at the district clerk's office. The district clerk's office sends the order to the bank, and the bank will garnish the account of the amount ordered and send it to Family Court Services.

It also costs the payor an extra $71 every time his account is garnished.

The same is true with a military retirement account.

Family Court Services has, in the past, tried to enforce visitation, but because of a conflict in interest has to stop that service in August.

Ballard stated that there is now a proposal in front of the juvenile board to allow Family Court Services to hire separate people to enforce visitation.

"The studies we've seen indicate that children feel better about themselves if they know the non-custodial parent and if they visit with the non-custodial parent," Ballard said.

The only advice Ballard could offer for now is for the non-custodial parent who wants visitation enforced to contact a private attorney or call Texas Fathers for Equal Rights.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE

The Attorney General's Office in Wichita Falls provides a number of services in helping to recover child support.

The Wichita Falls office serves Archer, Baylor, Clay, Cottle, Foard, Hardeman, Jack, King, Knox, Montague, Stephens, Wichita, Wilbarger and Young counties with their Child Support Enforcement Program.

Right off the bat, the Attorney General's office suggests a private attorney or county resources, such as Family Court Services, if time is in any way a factor.

Ellen Janke, Unit Manager for the Wichita Falls A.G.'s office, said, "I don't want anyone applying with us with raised expectations about what we can do. We are not a private lawyer, we are a bureaucracy. We try to be a helpful one."

The A.G.'s office primary responsibility is to provide Child Support Enforcement Services to persons receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), although those not receiving AFDC may also apply for the services offered, but their cases will not be worked until after the AFDC cases.

With the A.G.'s office having seven staff workers and one attorney working 14 counties and 4,000 cases, the process will be slow at best.

"If we can get to you within a year, we're going to be lucky," said Janke.

Although the time factor is a disadvantage, there are many advantages going through the A.G.'s office.

Among these are the one-time, non-refundable application fee of $20, lower than the fees of Family Court Services. The filing fee and other expenses are charged to the non-custodial parent when he is taken to court.

For non-welfare clients, they also offer administrative income withholding in which a motion is filed in the court, and the non-custodial parent is notified of a hearing. When the hearing is held, the court decides whether or not all requirements of the law have been fulfilled. If so, it may order the employer of the non-custodial parent to withhold an amount for child support.

No more than 50 percent of take-home pay can be withheld through income withholding in most cases.

Also, the employer may not fire or refuse to hire a person because of an income withholding order.

To use the income withholding procedure the non-custodial parent must be 30 days behind and the arrears must be paid off at 20 percent of the current child support ordered or so the total support is paid off in two years. There are, however, exceptions with the two year rule, when the payor is an excessive amount behind.

The A.G.'s office also offers a locator service, wherein if the non-custodial parent disappears, their office can tap into agencies such as the Texas Employment Commission, Department of Public Safety, any state agencies, or a Federal Locate System if the payor is in another state.

They can also collect arrears through the Internal Revenue Service Intercept Program, exclusive to the A.G.'s office, where, with a good match of the payor's name and social security number, the IRS will send any tax return money coming to the non-custodial parent to the A.G.'s office, either to reimburse the state office if the custodial parent is on AFDC, or to the custodial parent if it's a non-welfare case.

Through the A.G.'s office, a mother and one child receiving AFDC are allowed $158 per month plus medical coverage for both the mother and the child.

If the non-custodial parent sends a payment in, it will go through the A.G.'s office in Austin where the account is credited.

The A.G.'s office sends $50 of that money to the mother and the rest is applied to the amount of AFDC she was sent that month. If any is left over, it is applied to arrears, if there are any. If not, it is held and applied to the next month's payment.

For non-AFDC cases, Janke suggests a mother who not receiving child support will get faster action if she has the address of where her ex-husband lives and works, a court order for support, a completed application and a certified copy of a payment record.

Although it is rare, Janke says that three to five percent of their cases are against women, and they have put mothers in jail.

Janke said that if the non-custodial parent is taken to court for failure to pay, the court may give a number of different punishments including a lecture, placing the non-custodial parent on probation or sending the non-custodial parent to jail. The jail sentence can be suspended on the condition that the non-custodial parent continues to keep current on his child support.

"After an individual has been in jail, it is amazing what money appears," Janke stated, echoing Macha's belief.

Other services the A.G.'s office offers are paternity determination and help in locating children believed to have been kidnapped by a parent.

In order for the A.G.'s office to represent a person in a child support action, the custodial parent cannot be represented by another attorney in the same action.

Janke advised that getting a non-custodial parent to relinquish his rights is something to be entered into cautiously. She said that first and foremost, doing this takes away the child's father, and secondly, down the road, any future monies, inheritance or child support, will not be available to the child.

CHILD SUPPORT NETWORK

The Child Support Network is a newly formed action group that meets to provide support among women who have child support established but do not receive it. It is also an action-oriented group working to affect legislation.

Fran Walton, head of the network, said two types of women join; those described above and those who have not yet been to court for establishment of child support.

The network meets at 7 p.m. the first Thursday of the month at the YWCA in Wichita Falls.

Walton can be contacted at 723-2124.

TEXAS FATHERS FOR EQUAL RIGHTS

Texas Fathers for Equal Rights is one of eight chapters in Texas working to insure equal rights for divorced fathers.

Mike Crimp, chapter head, said the organization functions in three areas: working with the state legislature in getting more balanced laws regarding children; providing peer-group counseling services to men going through a divorce and having problems with child support or visitation, and giving legal advice.

Crimp stressed that TFER does not provide free legal council.

The annual membership fee for TFER is $35.

The Texas Fathers for Equal Rights hotline number is 322-1499.

A rapid, 10-minute walk does more to relieve fatigue and tension than eating a high-sugar snack, according to Robert E. Thayer, Ph.D., of California State University.
Dr. Thayer studied the energy, tension and fatigue levels of 18 college students and compared these levels after a 10-minute walk and after the munching of a candy bar.
Although the majority of students felt an increase in energy for at least 20 minutes after snacking, the pickup was short-lived and showed a marked decrease within two hours.
Students felt a much greater energy level and less fatigue after walking.

EACH GIVES WHAT HE HAS!
Salem Kirban said, "East Berlin is Communist controlled. West Berlin is free. Some people in East Berlin one day took a truckload of garbage and dumped it on the West Berlin side. The people of West Berlin could have done the same thing. Instead they took a truckload of canned goods, bread, and milk...and neatly stacked it on the East Berlin side. On top of this stack they placed a large sign stating, "Each Gives What He Has!"
This is what God's Word teaches. We are not to repay evil with evil but instead give a blessing (1 Peter 3:9). When Jesus was revived, He uttered no threats (1 Peter 2:23). If you are tempted to return evil for evil, remember that sign: EACH GIVES WHAT HE HAS! If our hearts are pure, we will give what we have: nothing but pure, sweet, kind words that warm hearts and make peace. Jesus said, "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God." (Mt. 5:8). Make a good day for those you meet and yourself also!

MIDGET HAWKS 16 SHEPPARD 6

The Midget Hawks improved their record to 5-0 in a tough defensive battle Saturday with Sheppard's Redskins.

The Hawks scored first on a three-yard run by Brent Brown. The score was set up by a 33-yard run by Brown on the previous play.

Jeremy Kingcade scored the two points after for an 8-0 lead.

In the third period, a Hawk fumble set up the Redskins' only touchdown, which was scored on a 28-yard pass.

Late in the game, Erwood Lucky intercepted a Redskin pass and returned it to the Sheppard one. Tony Lozippone then went over and Kingcade again scored the two-pointer.

Michael Blevins, David Hollis, Josh Castles, Chad Simpson and Kingcaid led the Hawk defense in tackles.

Halftime entertainment was furnished by the 93-member Rockin' Hawkette pep squad and drill team.

Sept. 19 score: MIDGET HAWKS 22 HENRIETTA 14

Sept. 26 score: MIDGET HAWKS 34 QUANAH 0

Oct. 3 score: MIDGET HAWKS 34 ELECTRA 8

PEE WEE HAWKS 26 SHEPPARD 22

Corky Petty opened the scoring for the Hawks with a 22-yard touchdown run.

Todd Yeager recovered the Hawk kickoff, and after a 16-yard pass from quarterback Robert Klinkerman to Chris Norris, Toby King carried eight yards for the next TD. King converted the extra point for a 14-0 lead.

After Sheppard got on the scoreboard with an 81-yard run, Petty countered with a 55-yarder.

Sheppard took a 22-20 lead with scoring runs of 62 and five yards.

But Klinkerman brought the Hawks back, however, with a one-yard plunge with only 25 seconds remaining in the game.

The winning drive was a result of effective blocking by Jeff Davenport, Tyson Spruiell, Jason Yeager, Zack Burroughs, Eric Heidrich, Tony Galliton and B.J. Toft.

MIDGET EAGLES 56 ELECTRA 0

"The score doesn't always reflect the true nature of a game," observed Don McClendon, Holliday defensive coach.

"However, the only real question in this contest was what would the final score be?"

And so it was as the Holliday Midget Eagles all but eliminated the Electra Cougars from playoff contention with a 56-0 victory Saturday in Holliday.

"The conditions weren't favorable for passing," offensive line coach Gill Gilbert said, "but that's the area we felt needed the most work, so that's what we concentrated on."

Holliday's first score was set up by a pass from Blake Belcher to Byron Gravitt, for 17 yards. Gravitt carried the ball over the final yard two plays later for the score and Cory McClendon added the two-pointer.

The next score came on a 28-yard pass from Belcher to Bubba Turner.

The third TD was a 23-yard pass from Belcher to McClendon. The two teamed up for the two-point conversion, making the score 22-0 at the end of the first period.

Two turnovers, an interception and a fumble, kept the second quarter scoreless for the Eagles.

Belcher scored on Holliday's first possession of the second half, on a three-yard run.

Gravitt ran nine yards for the next Holliday TD, and then scooted 33 yards for another, followed by Belcher running for the PAT and a 42-0 score.

McClendon returned an interception 34 yards for the next score, and then, after a five-yard delay penalty, ran the needed eight yards for the points after.

The Cougars' next possession netted a minus eight yards, and they handed the ball to the Eagles on the Electra 28 yard line.

A 14-yard pass reception by Josh

Bobbitt set up a one-yard TD catch by Skylar Kowalick for the final score.

The Eagles amassed 243 yards rushing, paced by Gravitt's 102 on seven carries. McClendon had 86 and Belcher 55.

The Cougars finished with 32 yards on 38 carries.

Holliday completed eight passes for an additional 124 yards.

The Eagles next host Quannah.

Instructor's workshop scheduled Oct. 24-25

A hunter safety instructor's workshop will be directed by Steve Hall Oct. 24-25 at the Northwest Texas Field and Stream building in Wichita Falls.

The course, which will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. the first day and 9-12 the second will be free, but those attending must have already taken the hunter safety course.

Jayvees, Frosh sweep Decatur

The Hawk Junior Varsity and Freshmen will return to play this evening in Bowie after sweeping a pair last week at Decatur.

The JV, despite losing five players to the varsity, shut out Decatur 20-0, and the Frosh edged the Eagles 16-14.

First game today will be at 5:30 p.m., between the freshman clubs, followed about 7:30 by the Jayvees.

Junior high splits games with Bowie

Iowa Park Junior High split its doubleheader with Bowie here Tuesday night.

Bowie won the seventh grade contest, 6-0.

But the eighth grade countered with an 18-14 victory.

Johnny Duggins and Mike Brewer each ran five yards for scores, and Joey Boyd returned a punt 70 yards for the other TD.

The teams will host Wichita Falls Zundy Tuesday, with the first kickoff scheduled at 5 p.m.

Cross country teams compete

The cross country team ran at Millsap Saturday, and the boys team won fourth overall.

Kent Kyle placed 14th with a time of 17:11; Scott Goodknight placed 18th with a time of 17:32; Paul Bata placed 31st with a time of 18:35; Chad Bajo was 33rd with a time of 18:49; and Chris Treveland was 32nd with a time of 18:48.

The girls had only four runners and could not compete as a team. There were 55 girls running. Kelly Winter placed 21st with a time of 14:05; Lynette Downing took 35th with a time of 15:33; Jodi Meisel placed 36 with a time of 15:33; and Wendy Cook placed 47th with a time of 18:11.

Hawks please homecomers with win over Decatur

What more could you ask for in a homecoming football game?

You're a fan in Hawk Stadium that is filled with a crowd that is one of the largest in the facility's history, and your team overcomes the early lead by a conference opponent and you win by a narrow, three-point margin!

That was Iowa Park High School Homecoming 1987, as the Mean Green defeated Decatur's Eagles, 24-21.

It was a game of big plays, both offensively and defensively, with fullback Jim Cummings racking up 114 yards rushing, three touchdowns including an 88-yard kickoff return and a two-point conversion, and tackle Jimmy Kirkhart leading the defense with six tackles behind the line of scrimmage and covering two Eagle fumbles, one of which he caused.

It looked like it was going to be a long night for the Hawks and their homecoming crowd, when the Eagles took the opening kickoff and marched 65 yards in six plays to score. The visitors held a 7-0 lead only 1:34 into the game.

But Cummings took the following kickoff, after bobbling it around on the ground for a second, cut to the south sideline where his blocking had set up, and outraced the speedy visitors to the end zone. The play took only 15 seconds off the clock.

But Decatur held onto the lead after kicker Toby Brown missed the extra point attempt, a rare miscue for the talented senior.

Brown, on the Hawks' next possession, attempted a 42-yard field goal, but it was ruled wide to the left even though it was plenty long.

On their first play after taking over on the 25 yard line, however, the Eagles fumbled and Kirkhart laid claim to it on the Decatur 31.

It appeared Billy Kenyon had scored a touchdown on the first play following the fumble, but it was called back on a penalty, and then Fannin missed the snap from center and Decatur took over on the Eagle 41.

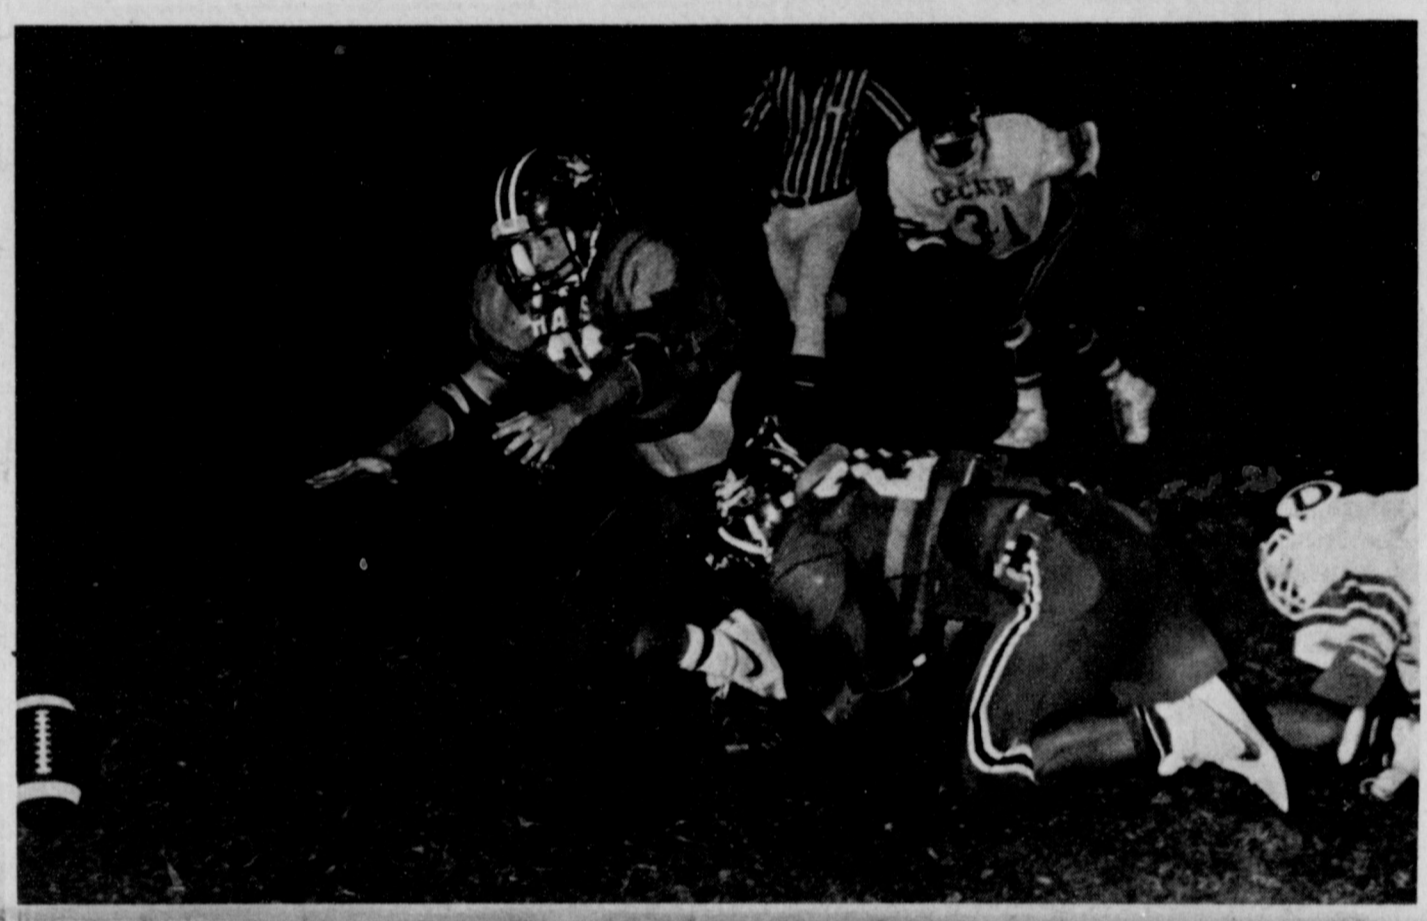

The Eagles took the lead again, scoring nine plays later, for a 14-6 lead with 28 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

After an exchange of punts early in the next period, the Hawks mounted an 88-yard, five-play scoring drive that sent Cummings the final five yards over left guard, and he followed that with a three-yard run for the two extra points to tie the score at 14-14. The drive featured a 32-yard pass from reserve quarterback Jimmy Duggins to Michael Johnson.

Decatur almost scored on its next possession, but the receiver, who was 10 yards beyond the Hawk secondary, didn't hold onto the pass.

That set up Decatur's last punt of the first half. And the Hawks marched deep into Eagle territory from where Brown split the uprights for a 34-yard field goal and a 17-14 lead.

Late in the third quarter, Kirkhart broke through the offensive line, hit Decatur's quarterback as he was about to throw a pass causing a fumble, and the big senior covered the ball on the Iowa Park 40 yard line.

HAWKS SCRAMBLE UNSUCCESSFULLY FOR LOOSE DECATUR BALL

The Mean Green offensive unit went on the move at that point. Kenyon ran for 20 yards, Duggins passed to Cummings for 21 more, Joel Galloway ran for eight and then caught an 11-yarder from Duggins to reach the nine yard line.

Cummings then ran three consecutive plays to reach the end zone, the score coming on the first play of the final period. Brown's extra point was good, and the Hawks led 24-14 with 11:57 remaining in the game.

But at the 11:24 point, the lead was cut to 24-21, as the Eagles returned the kickoff to their own 38, then ran 11 yards followed by a 51-yarder for the final TD.

Iowa Park got the ball on downs at the Hawk 45, and drove to Decatur's nine yard line. Needing five yards for a first down, Brown again tried a field goal from the 17, but again missed.

Complimenting Cummings' offensive showing, Galloway had his biggest night in the rushing department, carrying 11 times for 93 yards. Kenyon, who had three plays called back on penalties, netted 65 yards on seven attempts.

Kenyon also had his best night punting, averaging 44.5 yards on four attempts, including a 54-yarder that sailed over the receiver's head.
