Mother, two children perish in house fire

The community of Iowa Park remains in shock following a housefire Monday that took the life of a woman and two of her children.

Firemen were called to the scene at 701 S. Victoria at 9:21 a.m.

The first truck was unable to respond immediately, being held up at the railroad crossing by a trainload of coal passing through the city.

However, fireman Mark Wicks was the first official at the scene, going there directly from his home on South Wall, and immediately began doing what he could with a garden hose.

And before the first truck arrived, a relative of the family, Juanetta Allene Stone, drove to the smoking home and alerted those there that "there are children in the house."

Fire trucks arrived immediately after, and the mother and children were found soon afterward.

They were Mary Sue Copeland,

20, Jacob Matthew Copeland, two, and nine-month-old Burton Russell Copeland.

The fire was contained in a small bathroom in the northeast corner of the woodframed house. The bedroom in which the three bodies were found was in the southeast corner, and there was no door separating the two rooms.

The father, Floyd Matthew Copeland, later explained he had left the home at 4:30 that morning, in order to reach his job at Sears in Wichita Falls by 5. He said all three were still in bed asleep when he departed.

Firemen, with the assistance of Donald Wayne O'Brian, who lives at 610 S. Victoria, entered the house by knocking out a window in the bedroom.

There, they found young Jacob lying atop his mother, and then discovered the baby under his crib.

Authorities determined the fire was started by piles of clothing that were near a small gas heater in the bathroom.

Matthew and his brothers had been working several months on the house, installing siding and storm windows and other improvements.

The siding and windows had made the structure extremely "tight," and inspectors believe the clothes had been smoldering for some time before enough smoke escaped the house to be detected. By that time the heat inside the structure had become extremely intense.

The heat, not flames, had seared the walls of the bedroom from the ceiling to within two feet of the floor.

None of the bodies had been burned. Rather, the victims apparently died of asphyxiation and smoke inhalation.

The bodies were taken to Wichita General Hospital and later transferred to Dutton-Tanner-Aulds Funeral Home, where funeral services are to be held at 3 p.m. Friday.

There was a third Copeland child who was not at home when the disaster struck. Jennifer, six, had spent the night with relatives. She is enrolled in elementary school here.

The Copeland couple actually were never married, but had been living together the past three years in Midland.

Matthew Copeland confirmed the two had planned to obtain a marriage license Tuesday and be married Friday.

Mrs. Stone asked that she be quoted as saying she felt "The firemen and everyone who helped did as best they could to save the family members and the house."

The family had no insurance. A fund has been established at State

National Bank to assist the survivors. Donations can be made to the Floyd Matthew Copeland Account 1106341, or the Copeland Fire Fund.

Several individuals and firms have volunteered clothing for the burial, digging of the graves, and other means of support.

This was the first fire fatality inside the city limits in almost two years.

Chamber honors trio

A near-capacity crowd was on hand in the high school cafeteria Saturday night to hear announcements of award recipients from the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce.

The three receiving awards were Tommie Smith, Outstanding Senior Citizen; Carol Venhaus, Outstanding Educator, and Bob Hamilton, Outstanding Citizen of the Year.

Mrs. Smith, who taught more than 50 years in Iowa Park schools, is extremely active in the Iowa Park Arts and Crafts Association, and coordinates the popular arts and crafts show held at the Whoop-T-Do.

Mrs. Venhaus has been teaching in Iowa Park schools 20 years, and was the originator two years ago of "Project Graduation," an activity held graduation night to provide a substance-free evening's entertainment for graduates and their guests.

She is, as presenter Bob Dawson said, "The epitome of what an educator of the year should represent."

Hamilton was cited by Glen Mitchell, who made the presentation, for his dedicated work over the past 20 years to improve the community and support its continued growth.

The evening's speaker, Jerry Larned of Midland, kept the crowd entertained by telling jokes on almost every denomination of churches.

He encouraged his listeners to have "spiritual soundness, have courage, and set goals," and to "never tear down something until you have something better to put in its place."

Outgoing Chamber president Kenneth Via served as master of ceremonies, and installed the new officers, including Harold Smith, president; Joe Hughes, first vice president, and Gene Jordan, third vice president.

Directors beginning a three-year term of office include James Barrington, Hughes, Tommy Key, Derrel Monday, Mitchell, Ruth Pirkle, Kathy Riggins and Philip Welch.

Other directors on the Chamber board include Bob Aulds, Larry Dutton, Hamilton, O.N. Newman, Robert Palmer, Smith, Via, Jan Clapp, Keith Fisher, Jordan, Sam Laird, H.M. Nipper, Greig Moers, Leon Stevenson and Glenda Via.

Catering the western-decorated banquet meal was the Iowa Park MuleSkinners, who served barbecued brisket and all their "trimmings."

News Briefs

Meeting for seniors' parents

Parents of all Iowa Park High School seniors and other interested in Project Graduation are encouraged to attend a meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, Feb. 5, in the high school library.

Sponsor of the event, Carol Venhaus, said one meeting has already been held, in November.

Former judge going to court

Former Iowa Park municipal court judge G.A. Benesh apparently is going back to court, but this time as a defendant.

The 61-year-old attorney reportedly was arrested by Wichita Falls police on a charge of retaliation in connection with alleged threats and actions made against his former wife.

Benesh also was indicted by a Wichita County grand jury last October on a related charge of criminal solicitation to commit burglary of a habitation and is out on a $2,500 bond.

Benesh was municipal court judge here seven years, resigning that post in 1988.

Police lose patience with 9-1-1 heckler

Iowa Park police are tolerant and understanding of mistaken calls on the Emergency 9-1-1 telephone number.

But when a woman made four calls on that number in less than an hour's time last week, it was more than the lawmen could tolerate.

She was arrested on a charge of "abuse of 9-1-1," and put in jail.

Hester Sisk Jenkins, according to the police blotter, made her first call from 904 E. Cash at 6:43 p.m. Wednesday of last week, concerning a domestic problem with her husband.

Officers went to the home, and determined there was not a problem requiring their attention.

They responded again when the emergency number was dialed at 7:24 p.m., according to the second entry in the blotter. There was no action.

It was noted, however, that the couple had been drinking.

Two more calls were received on the emergency number, this time complaining about the officers.

She was taken, after being charged with the offense, to county jail at 10:35 p.m.

A check of the police blotter for the past week indicated there had been eight calls to the 9-1-1 number, all "unintentional" or "mistakes." There was an entry of such calls at least once each day, and two on Sunday and Tuesday.

Four other arrests were entered in the blotter during the week, but none related to the emergency telephone number.

Jerry Carson Lunsford, 29, was taken into custody Friday afternoon on a warrant issued by the county sheriff's department for violation of probation for DWI and capius profine. He was released to a deputy an hour later, according to the blotter entry.

Officers arrested Calderon Epitacio, 31, on US 287 at 10:23 p.m. Friday after receiving complaints from motorists of his driving.

Epitacio was charged with driving while intoxicated and released at 6:20 a.m. Saturday after posting bond.

Kimberly Dawn Winter, 19, was arrested on an outstanding local traffic warrant Saturday afternoon and transported to county jail.

Wednesday morning, officers had responded to a domestic disturbance at 910 S. Wall and while there took Leroy Foix, 59, into custody on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was released on bond.

A "theft over $20" report was filed Tuesday when a boy's bicycle was reportedly stolen from the 800 block of South Wall.

Police are still "unable to document" a claim of two young boys that they were threatened by a drunken black man near Woodbriar Apartments Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Eight local and county units responded to the area and searched the fields where the man was alleged to have last been seen.

The boys had said they came upon the man in an abandoned pickup truck. They first said he had a gun and later said it was a knife.

The search lasted more than an hour.

Council selects street

Iowa Park's city council Monday night ranked North Colorado, from West Highway to Alameda, as the highest priority street to undertake rebuilding this summer.

Traffic surveys were made on 13 streets, and although Colorado was not the highest traffic count street, it was chosen because of its proximity to the city's only shopping center, Park West, as well as its deteriorating condition.

From West Highway to Park Street, Colorado's asphalt paving has deteriorated to only one lane of traffic, it was pointed out.

Some aldermen expressed concern that owners of the business property in the first two blocks of the street, north of West Highway, might not complete the surfacing on their property, which is the main reason for the surface deterioration.

However, when aldermen voted on the motion, there were no dissenting votes.

For the past several years, the council has undertaken rebuilding streets, replacing the asphalt surfaces with concrete. The projects are paid for by sales taxes, which aldermen have dedicated to that purpose.

After delaying a decision a week concerning purchase of a pneumatic roller machine, aldermen accepted the recommendation of Mike Price, head of the public works department, to choose a new machine, rather than one that had been used.

The city had received proposals for both new and used machines at the last council meeting, but opted to delay a decision until Price had inspected the used machines.

The bid submitted by Associated Supply Co. of Lubbock on a Ferguson-made roller for $28,791 received council approval.

After hearing a request from Stewart Lutz, in behalf of Chaparral Baptist Assembly, for trash pickup service, council members suggested he contact Bell Processing.

They explained the firm already is in the business of serving the rural area, and suggested it was being done at a price much less than the city would have to charge.

Following the discussion, council members voted to deny the request.

The council took no action on conservation program and the election of officers for 1990-92. The co-hostesses were Mmes. Warren McDonald, C.L. Metz and Sam Hill.

The first meeting of 1990 for the 23 Study Club was held Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Joe Singer and was highlighted with a

"The Battle Against Waste" was the theme of the program directed by Mrs. Erwin Soell. Mrs. Homer Blalock presented the meditation on "Consider Renewal" from "Renewing the Living Earth."

Mrs. John Clapp gave the second topic of "Save the World by Enjoying It" as she discussed "Vanishing Songbirds." She said 13 songbirds have become extinct, or almost extinct, including the wood thrush, fly catcher and warbler because of deliberate killing. DDT sprayed on Dutch elms to kill the beetles have also killed many of the robins.

Mrs. Clapp told how the songbird population had decreased in the Tropical Rain Forest in South America because so many trees had been cut down and they had no place to winter. She emphasized how the devastating chemicals that people and industries are using are endangering the songbirds and suggested a possible solution of "letting the birds control the insects."

During the business directed by Mrs. Soell, Mrs. Sam Hill gave the Texas trivia that is a part of each program during the current year and chose to give bits of information about Ross Perot of Texas, one of the ten richest men in the United States.

Mrs. Howard Marlar gave the federation counselor's report by telling that the General Federation of Women's Clubs will launch its centennial celebration with a coast-to-coast videotele conference.

Mrs. Keith Auld announced that the committee appointed for the annual Arbor Day tree planting recommended donating a tree for landscaping the Chamber of Commerce grounds.

The new officers elected included Frances Park, president; Mmes. Jim Medlinger, vice president; Warren McDonald, recording secretary; Howard Marlar, treasurer; Riley Thompson, corresponding secretary; China B. Smith, parliamentarian; and Joe Singer, historian.

The next meeting will be the annual guest day and will be held at the First Presbyterian Church Feb. 15.

Mrs. Sam Hunter, a former member of the club and a member of the North Texas Bird and Wildlife club affiliated with the National Society which includes the Americas, West Indies and Canada, gave a report of the 90th annual Christmas bird count in the local area which took place Dec. 1.

She said in spite of the bitter cold weather, the counters here saw 36 white fronted geese, 350 Canadian geese, numerous ducks and one unusual bird, a LeConte's sparrow and reported their spotting to the national office.

Mrs. Don Stribling gave the first of two topics under "Save the World By Enjoying It" as she discussed "Preserving Wildlife." She said there were 10 refuges in the United States devoted to preserving wildlife.

Among those she mentioned were the Lower Rio Grande Valley Refuge, which has been able to increase the whooping crane population from 16 in 1941 to 200 now because of conservation efforts. She then told how many birds had been lost at Aransas Pass since 1950 because of dredging in their habitat.

Mrs. Stribling discussed poaching in Yellowstone National Park which cannot be stopped because of lack of manpower. The golden eagle and gyrfalcon and many others are being killed by illegal methods. She also mentioned how the black bears in the Smoky Mountains are the victims of poaching. She continued by reminding her listeners that astounding numbers of birds and ducks are illegally killed each year, and that others are dying in the swamplands because of runoff from chemicals in the water.

Iowa Parkans on honors lists

Four Iowa Parkans were named to the Dean's List and University Honor Roll at Midwestern State Univ. for the 1989 fall semester.

Sarah Elizabeth Owens was named to the Dean's Honor Roll. Students on the Deans Honor Roll must make no grade below an "A" for at least 15 semester hours.

Students named to the University Honor Roll must have made a minimum of a 3.5 grade point average, and had no grade below a "C" for at least 15 semester hours.

Students on the University Honor Roll include Ruanne Pence Morgan, Randal Kyle Boutwell and Kyle Dwain Cheek.

RETIRING after 30 years service with the Wichita County Farm Bureau is Ruth Dorris Gard. During her tenure, she served under eight presidents, was district secretary for five state directors, worked with three Farm Bureau fieldmen, 10 service agents and five claims adjusters. She was largely responsible for many awards for public relations, membership and safety.

Homemakers meet

Members of the Park Area Extension Homemakers Club met recently in the home of Mabel Karstetter, where officers for the year were elected.

The slate of officers include Reba Snow, president and treasurer; Callie Stermer, vice president; and Mabel Karstetter, secretary and council delegate.

During the meeting, year books were passed out. Members then went over the books, and discussed topics on home, family and the community.

The next meeting will be Feb. 7 at the home of Irene Sargent.

Girls Scouts hear hair care program

Robin Cook, owner of Tangles Salon, presented a program on hair care to the Junior Girl Scout Troops during a meeting held recently at the Iowa Park RAC.

Miss Cook demonstrated different hair styles using the girls scouts as models, and explained to them the importance of proper hair care.

Cravens named to honors lists

Christy Cravens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronny Cravens of Valley View, was named to the President's and Dean's Lists at Texas Tech Univ. during the fall semester.

To be eligible for the President's List, a student must have a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

Dr. Robert Lawless, president of the university, will speak at a dinner Feb. 15 honoring the students named to the President's List.

Miss Cravens, a 1988 graduate of Iowa Park High School, is in her second year at Tech. She is working toward a degree in physical therapy, with emphasis on pediatrics, and minors in psychology. After completing her required subjects this year, Miss Cravens plans to apply for acceptance into one of the four physical therapy schools in Texas.

Cook of the Week

Mrs. Mark Mitchell

Jane Mitchell is a newcomer to this area. She and her husband, Mark, who is pastor of First Baptist Church at Kamay, moved there from Dallas almost a year ago.

Jane and Mark both grew up in Dallas. They attended the same church from the time they were young, and began dating while they were in high school. She attended North Texas State Univ. in Denton and Brookhaven Community College in Dallas, receiving an Associate of Arts and Sciences degree.

Jane has worked as a receptionist in a bank and as a dental assistant, but now stays at home with the couple's three-year-old daughter, Julie. The couple is expecting a second child in March.

Her hobbies include sewing, crafts, cooking and baking.

The recipes that Jane is sharing are unusual and easy to prepare. Some of them were given to her by a sister and sister-in-law, and she has Melt margarine. Mix cheese, bread crumbs, basil and garlic salt. Dip chicken in melted margarine and then into crumb mixture. Repeat. Place in baking dish and bake in 325 degree oven 25 minutes. Meanwhile, saute onion (tops too) in remaining margarine. Add broth and cooking wine. Heat. Pour over hot chicken and bake 20 minutes longer.

CHICKEN BITES

4 chicken breasts
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup onions (chopped)
1/4 tsp. garlic salt
1/2 cup water
1 can cream of chicken soup
1/2 pint sour cream
Salt & pepper to taste

included a recipe for "Play Dough" that mothers with small children will enjoy.

SALLY'S BAKED CHICKEN BREASTS

7-8 chicken breasts, skinned
1 stick margarine
1 cup parmesan cheese
1 cup bread crumbs
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup white cooking wine
1/2 tsp. basil
1 1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1 bunch (6-7) green onions, (chopped tops too)

Cut meat into bite-sized pieces. Brown chicken in 1/2 cup butter. When almost done, add onions and cook until soft. Add garlic salt, water and soup. Simmer 20 minutes. Add sour cream and cook until heated. Serve over rice or noodles.

CAJUN CHICKEN GUMBO

1 whole chicken, cooked
1 lb. smoked sausage
1 bell pepper (yellow or red also good)
1 white onion
1 bunch green onions
2 cans Trappey's okra or okra gumbo (frozen or fresh okra may substitute)
1 - 15-16 oz. can whole tomatoes
1/2 cup corn oil
1/3 cup flour
2 cups chicken broth
1 bay leaf
1 1/2 tsp. thyme
3/4 tsp. sage
1 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. oregano

In large dutch oven or cast iron skillet, mix oil and flour. Cook over medium heat stirring constantly (do not cook too fast). Cook until a rich brown color, this is your roux base. Meanwhile, have onions and green pepper already chopped and open cans of okra and tomatoes. Do not drain. When roux is brown, add okra first. Cook until okra is stringy and losing shape. Add onions and green pepper next. Cook five minutes, always stirring. Add tomatoes, spices and chicken broth. Add boned chicken meat.

Brown smoked sausage and drain. Add to gumbo one half hour before serving. Serve over rice. Makes a lot, great for company. Add tobasco sauce before serving.

THREE CHEESE PASTA

1 1/2 lb. ground beef
16 oz. jar spaghetti sauce or home-made sauce
1 pint cottage cheese
1 1/2 lb. Mozzarella cheese
1 large pkg. cream cheese
Egg noodles or macaroni (or mixture of each)

Brown meat (salt and pepper before browning). Drain. Meanwhile, cook noodles. Mix browned ground beef and spaghetti sauce, set aside. In separate bowl combine softened cream cheese, 1/2 Mozzarella cheese, and cottage cheese and mix. Layer in large oblong dish in this order: Noodles, cheese mixture, spaghetti sauce. Top with remaining Mozzarella cheese and bake, covered with foil, at 350 degrees 40-50 minutes.

GARLIC GRITS

Cook 1 cup quick grits in 4 cups water to which 1 tsp. salt has been added.

Beat together and add to hot grits:

3/4 stick margarine
2/3 tube garlic cheese, cut in pieces
2 eggs, beaten in cup - fill with milk to make one cup

Place in casserole dish and cover with remaining grated garlic cheese. Bake in 350 degree oven 45 minutes.

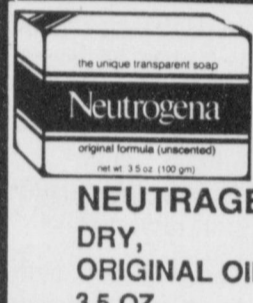

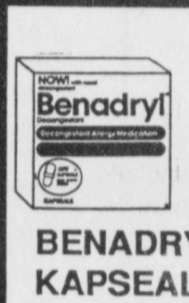

Can also top with 1/4 cup crushed corn flakes mixed with 2 Tbsp. melted margarine, in addition to cheese.

PLAY DOUGH

1 1/2 tsp. baby oil or vegetable oil
1 cup flour
1 cup water
1/2 cup salt
2 tsp. cream of tartar
Food coloring

Cook over medium heat until mixture pulls away from sides of pan and becomes like play dough in consistency. Knead until cooled. Have fun!

As I See It...

By BOB HAMILTON

Yes. It was a complete surprise to hear my name called out Saturday night for the Chamber's Outstanding Citizen award.

No. I had no idea it was coming, because I can think of a dozen others I feel were more deserving.

Yes. I do sincerely appreciate the honor.

No. I'm not a public speaker, and demonstrated it when I accepted the plaque from Glen Mitchell.

Yes. I do, from time to time, try to make light talk or a joke.

No. My response to Glen didn't go over, because only a dozen folks would have known the meaning of my mumbling. "So that's what that long executive session was all about."

Like most of my attempts at a joke, it fell flat. It was in reference to that hour-plus-long executive session the school board had the previous Tuesday while discussing an extension to Glen's contract.

So, besides the mumbling, my only other response was to express to the audience my sincere appreciation with a curt "Thank you."

There's more reason to that shortness. I'm, frankly, emotional. I can start shedding a flood of tears with less provocation. So I stopped short, not giving my quivering voice a chance to expose what might have happened.

Sorry about that.

You can't imagine what a surprise it is, to be sitting there with ballpoint and paper in hand, waiting to write down the name of the award recipient, and hear the presenter start making references that are meaningful only to you.

While, as I said, I can think of a lot of people more deserving for the award I received, I must be honest and tell you I'm stumped to think of anyone more deserving of the awards presented to Tommie Smith and Carol Venhaus, Outstanding Senior Citizen and Educator, respectively.

Folks have been very kind, both following the banquet and later over town in congratulating me.

But the most surprising congratulations was by telephone Monday morning. It was made from a booth in deep South Texas, at Pharr, by my good friend Bill Hudson.

Bill, as you will recall, was elected to the state board of education. The life-long educator had somehow heard, that quickly, and took the time from a busy schedule to make the call.

For that, your expressions, and the Chamber's committee for naming me, I'm appreciative, humbled, and eager to try to earn what I've already received.

one topic listed on the agenda, that of acting on an ordinance authorizing the city's tax collector to accept partial tax payments on current taxes.

Administrator James Barrington contacted Allen Shewmake to confirm a suggestion that state legislation had been passed permitting the early partial collections, and action on an ordinance was not necessary.

Barrington told aldermen partial tax collections on current taxes would not begin until the 1990-92 taxing year, however.

Also, action on an ordinance "approving rate schedules and service regulations for Texas Utilities Electric Company upon approval by the Public Utility Commission" was passed until the council's next meeting.

The council approved a proposal to continue paying annual corporate dues to the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, which is $120 annually.

Worth Quoting

James Cox sent us a note the other day with information from some magazine that indicates that cows are worse than cars for greenhouse gas.

"Next," the article said, "the Environmental Protection Agency will be calling for on-board vapor canisters for livestock."

The article pointed out that the EPA's newly released report on global warming cites cows and rice paddies as the worst producers of methane gas, a prime cause of the "greenhouse effect."

Cattle gases account for about 15 percent of total methane emissions, twice as much as either coal mining or oil and gas production, according to the EPA report.

The Agency recommends that cows be fed differently to help clean up the air.

I don't know what kind of cows produce milk of magnesia, but a little bit of that stuff added to their feed might cut back on emissions.

James said he's been trying to think of a way to pick up a little pocket change, and he was wondering if I thought a person could get some financial backing to manufacture vapor cannisters and recovery hoses for cattle.

I would think that Olney Savings might be interested in financing a project like that. It would certainly beat some of the things they've loaned money for in the past.

I personally would like to see the EPA do a little more research before they start meddling too much with the cow business.

If they're really serious about trying to do something about air pollution in this country, they could start by putting scrubbers on both ends of some of the agency bureaucrats in Washington.

Thanks for help

Dear Bob,

The American Red Cross has a big job to do and that job is to provide a safe and adequate blood supply to all who need it. We would not be able to do this job if it were not for people like you and that is why I'm writing -- to say thank you for the wonderful support in your newspaper. We greatly appreciate the article that was on the front page.

Thank you again for your support. Volunteers do make a difference.

TO AVOID TRAIN WRECK: HEED THE WARNING!
A retired train engineer told of a number of people who heedlessly drove onto the tracks in front of his raging behemoth and were killed, despite the ear-splitting warning he would give with his train whistle. The engineer stated he could tell when someone was going to drive onto the tracks in front of the train. They had a certain expression on their faces he had learned to recognize. Blowing his whistle in short, our blasts was more likely to attract their attention, but sometimes despite all he could do, they drove onto the tracks anyway and were injured or killed.
Human beings do not listen to obvious warnings. Most disasters of men do not occur because of complicated, intricate, or conspiratorial situations; but because of simple elementary obvious mistakes. Everyone should know how high the rate of alcoholism is in the U.S., and yet men flirt with this most dangerous drug stating, "it won't be me." Parents also make simple mistakes in raising children: they fail to love and/ or they fail to discipline. They fail to communicate and/ or they fail to listen. There is almost no obscure, complicated reason for a child's doing wrong. He goes wrong because people make obvious mistakes, possibly repeated in a dedicated way over the years. Men are lost in sins, marriages break up, business fails more often from simple reasons than complicated ones. People often come to a counselor like Naaman came to Elisha expecting elaborate advice. Elisha told Naaman to dip seven times in the river Jordan and Naaman was offended because the prescription was so simple. (2 Kings 5)
There is a historical law which states if you wish to explain a historical event and you do not know its causes, the simplest of the possible reasons is most likely to be true. In your life and mine, it may be that we are not solving some things because we are making them more complicated than they are. Scurvy is a terrible disease, yet it is solved by the simple addition of a little vitamin C to the diet. Think about it.

Tax-paying deadline nears

Iowa Park school and city tax collector Allen Shewmake reminds local taxpayers that Wednesday, Jan. 31 is the deadline to pay 1989-90 without having penalty and interest added.

While the interest rate starts out low in February, it continues to increase monthly, if not paid, according to Shewmake.

The taxes are due on both real and personal property.

Card of Thanks

I want to express my thanks and gratitude to the Iowa Park volunteer firemen, friends and neighbors and to my church family for your help, support and prayers when my home burned. I am grateful for each of you.

Lady Hawks drop two games

A frigid night at the foul line Friday and turnovers Tuesday led to Dist. 5-AAA losses for Iowa Park's Lady Hawks.

With four games remaining on their schedule, the girls will try to improve on their 9-17 season and 1-5 district record Friday when they travel to Decatur for a 6 p.m. start.

The Lady Hawks' only win in district play was a 46-43 thriller here Jan. 9.

Tuesday, Coach Jimmie Cane will send his team onto the local court as hosts to Graham, also starting at 6 p.m.

In their five-point loss, 54-49, Friday at Vernon, the Lady Hawks hit only seven of 25 shots at the charity line.

The Lady Lions had led at each of the rest stops, 12-10, 25-22 and 39-30. Kerri Dornier was the only Iowa Parkan in double figures, with 14 points. Angie Turner had nine.

The Lady Hawks pretty well had their way through the first half here Tuesday, leading Bowie 7-4 and 19-15 after the first two periods. But the visitors outscored Iowa Park 13-4 in the third quarter, and went on to win, 43-33.

Dornier again was Iowa Park's leading scorer, canning 22 points. Melody Gray followed with seven.

7th Grade girls win big

The Seventh Grade girls' basketball team won four games during the past week, including first place in a tournament at Bowie.

In waltzing through competition at Bowie, the team outscored four opponents 120-46.

They blasted Graham 51-12 in the first game, knocked off Jacksboro 35-15 to advance into the finals, and there knocked off host Bowie 34-19.

Ginger Taylor was high scorer in the first game with 19. Jodie Young racked up 11 points against Jacksboro and 16 against Bowie.

In their game Monday against City View, the team 32-17, with Taylor again scoring high with 11.

The Eighth Grade also defeated City View, 39-13, behind the scoring of Mandy Threet, 15, and Jennifer Ricks, 10.

Junior Hawks win tourney

The Eighth Grade Hawks won a one-day tournament Saturday at Holliday.

They defeated Seymour 44-18 to advance to the final against Holliday, and won that game 41-35.

The same club returned home to defeat City View Tuesday by a narrow 34-32 margin behind Scott Byrd's 15 points.

The Seventh Grade lost both its games in the tournament, to Seymour and then to Windthorst.

But they also had a win Tuesday, edging City View 22-21.

Youngest Hawks split two games

Iowa Park's Youngest Hawks, a team composed of second and third graders and sponsored by the Optimist Club, split their last two outings.

They lost 23-14 Friday to the Mavericks, but edged the Bullets Tuesday by a 23-22 margin.

HAWKS WAYNE CHITWOOD, JIMMY DUGGINS AND JEREMY CARROLL
... go after ball held by downed Bowie Jackrabbit.

Hawks split outings

The Hawks knocked off Vernon in their highest-scoring game of the season Friday, but fell two points short Tuesday of handing Bowie's Jackrabbits their second district loss.

With three players accounting for 85 points, Iowa Park defeated the Lions on their home court at Vernon, 98-86.

And after dominating Bowie in the second quarter on the Hawks' own court, the visitors used a tenacious defense through the second half to rally to a 59-57 win.

Jimmy Duggins racked up his highest one-game total of the season at Vernon, canning 34 points, and Wayne Chitwood added 25.

Sophomore Jeremy Carroll, hitting five three-pointers for what might be some sort of record, added 26 points.

The Hawks led the Lions 25-21 after the first period, 52-44 at the half and went into the final frame holding a narrow 75-69 lead.

But it wasn't as easy as the final score might indicate, because Vernon trailed by only 70-68 with 1:03 left in the third quarter, and the Hawks hit nine unanswered points during the final 76 seconds of the contest.

Against the Jackrabbits, the two teams matched each other through the first period, which ended with Iowa Park leading 19-18.

But the Hawks hit almost everything they put up in the second quarter, zooming to a 40-26 halftime lead.

Bowie turned up its defensive play another notch in the third period and either stole the ball or forced turnovers with a full-court press, and cut the Hawks' lead to only nine points, 47-38.

The Jackrabbits cut Iowa Park's lead to one point, 49-48, with 4:24 remaining in the game. But Brent Wineinger, who took Chitwood's place when he fouled out, made it 51-48 with a layup at the 3:40 mark.

The score was cut to 51-50, but timely baskets by Carroll and Robert Denton gave the Hawks a 55-50 cushion.

Bowie made five of six free throws during the next 1:10 and tied the score at 55-55 with 1:32 remaining. Wineinger gave the Hawks their last lead at 1:17 on a pair of charity shots.

Bowie tied the score again with 56 ticks on the clock. Carroll had an opportunity to tie the score again when he went to the foul line 15 seconds later, but missed the front end of a one-and-one.

A layup by Bowie with 20 seconds was almost offset by a final shot by Carroll, three seconds before the final buzzer, but it refused to fall through the nets.

Duggins led Hawk scoring with 15 points. Chitwood had 12 points, despite sitting out most of the second half. Carroll had a pair of three-pointers and finished with 12.

The Hawks will hit the road Friday to take on league-leading Decatur in a game that will wind up the first half of the district round robin schedule. Their game will follow the varsity girls' game.

Then they'll start the second half by taking on Graham's Steers in a rematch. The Steers won 60-46 at Graham in the district opener.

Sasha was expecting to go to the prom.

Now she's just expecting.

We'd like to talk to you about a growing problem. Teen pregnancy. Last year, over one million teenage girls became pregnant and this year over one million more will join the ranks.

Like Sasha, many young girls are confused about what it means to take on the responsibility of a child. Barely out of childhood themselves, these girls may have an idyllic picture of motherhood. But unfortunately, reality paints a harsher picture.

What they are more likely to face are unhappy marriages, abandonment, low-income employment and probably welfare.

If you're a parent, take the time to talk to your daughters and sons about sex and love. Find out what they feel. What they know. What they don't know. Because what they don't know can hurt them.

Education is our best protection.
