Chief Sheffield resigning post

The Iowa Park Police Department will have a new chief this summer.

Alan Sheffield, at a staff meeting Monday, said he has submitted his resignation, effective June 30.

Sheffield, who took over head of the local department in January 1987, emphasized there is no pressure being brought for his resignation, and further explains he has no immediate plans for employment once he leaves.

He plans to move his family to Rapid City, S.C., where the family of his wife, Loretta, lives.

Upon the direction of Mayor Tim Hunter, Administrator James Barrington has already begun advertising in various publications for applications.

ALAN SHEFFIELD

Barrington said he hopes to see the new chief's selection completed by the city council in time for him to spend time with Sheffield, to insure an orderly and easier transition.

Whoooooops! Some water bills are hard to pay

When Carlton Hicks, Iowa Park MuleSkinners' treasurer, got the organization's utility bill from the city last week, he did one of those comic double takes.

He knew water was precious, but $22,911.04 for one month?

That, plus $2,504.32 for the sewer, along with trash, tax and Christmas decorations had made the current bill $25,506.53.

Water department personnel had noted the error before billing, and marked the initials "OR" for "overred," but the billing department misread the initials to be "OK," so the bill was printed and mailed.

After a meeting between Hicks and city people was held, the amended bill was printed and paid.

It was $21.01.

HANDICAPPING OFFICIALS - Iowa Park High's athletic director Len Williams had a full bag of tricks during at a fund-raising basketball game Friday night. One was to get the game's officials, immediate past president of the Booster Club Jimmy Duggins, left, and school board president Jerry Reed, to work together...by means of handcuffs. The event attracted almost 600 persons and revenues will benefit the projects of the Iowa Park Booster Club.

Trustees change policy, give two-year contracts

Trustees of Iowa Park schools Tuesday night deviated from a long-standing policy and extended the contracts of all principals, assistant superintendent and assistant principal two years.

Previous boards had expressed reluctance to any two-year contracts, until a few years ago when one was given to Supt. Glen Mitchell.

Receiving the new, longer contracts were Robert Palmer, assistant superintendent, principals Richard Davis, Jimmy Alsup, Kenneth Davis, Ron Woods and assistant high school principal Randy Lovelady.

Following the unanimous vote of the board, two trustees, Wendell House and Don Decker, went on record as opposing the two-year pacts but voting for the motion to keep all six on the staff.

One-year contracts were extended to Len Williams, athletic director and head coach, Herman Escue, high school counselor, and Allen Shewmake, tax collector.

Also, in a separate motion, a one-year contract was given Pat Davis, but changing her counselor position from Bradford Elementary to junior high school.

Mrs. Davis succeeds the present junior high counselor Colleen Roberts, who's letter of resignation was earlier accepted, effective the end of the current school year.

The salaries of all receiving new contracts were left unspecified, subject to the setting of the 1990-91 annual budget.

The motions were made in quick succession after the board resumed its meeting in open session. The closed session, for discussion of personnel, had lasted from 9:07 to 10:50 p.m.

Board president Jerry Reed then made a statement, "We, as a board, want to say we are pleased with the administrators and counselors, and give them all our vote of confidence to the administration."

May 5 was set for this year's trustee election, for the terms expiring of Keith Fisher and Decker.

Fisher, who is completing the unexpired term vacated by the resignation of Gary Fielding, said he already filed, but Decker said he wanted more time to reach a decision.

Architect Don Daugherty said the overall preparations for building and remodeling of buildings is "on schedule for bidding."

He also discussed seeking new bids for a different type of air condition/heat unit for the high school, after learning the same units being replaced are both inefficient and made by only one manufacturer. The board agreed.

Daugherty also recommended the board accept the lowest of nine bids received from firms to remove asbestos from school buildings.

Cooper, Inc. submitted the low bid of $23,700. Highest of the bids ranged upward to $59,750.

Mike Bowling, hired this year to do maintenance at the schools as well as coordinating a program for energy conservation, told the board of his efforts in replacing light bulbs.

He said he is replacing bulbs with lower wattage bulbs, as the old ones burn out, and already the project is experiencing a significant savings.

While discussing the transportation department for the board, Palmer explained a new law that affects all bus drivers in the state, and added that a recent state office calculation had resulted in a cutting of some $13,000 in funding to the district.

The new law, Palmer said, requires all school bus drivers to take a new drivers' test whenever they renew their licenses.

"They (the drivers) don't like it, but that's the new law," he said.

City's election has competition

The first day candidates for the May 5 city election has already developed a contested race.

Incumbent mayor Tim Hunter and challenger Wayne House both filed Monday, the earliest day provided in the election code.

Hunter is finishing his third term in office this spring. He also served a year and a half as a city alderman prior to becoming mayor.

House is a newcomer to politics here. A life-long resident, he retired about two years ago as local manager of TU Electric.

Only one candidate has filed for the two alderman seats that open this year.

Incumbent Bud Mercer also filed Monday, seeking a return to his Place 2 on the council.

Place 4, held by Bud Burch, will apparently be sought by someone other than Burch. He announced last week he would not seek re-election.

Two positions on the school board expire this spring. They are currently held by Don Decker and Keith Fisher.

Fisher, who is completing the unexpired term of Gary Fielding, has already filed for a place on the ballot. Decker said he wanted more time to consider running once more.

Deadline for candidates to file in either the city or school elections is March 21.

Late filing

Ira Hambright officially filed as a candidate for Place 4 on the city council, after the Leader's regular Wednesday deadline.

Hambright, who ran unsuccessfully last year for the council, seeks the seat being vacated by Bud Burch, who has said he would not try for another term.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING?

City given radio tower

The city council will be asked to accept a free radio tower from Wichita Falls during Monday's meeting.

The meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

Administrator James Barrington had discussed the offer earlier, and has made detailed arrangements which must first be approved by the local council.

The city plans to sell the old overhead water tower, located east of city hall, because its height does not permit it to function. All existing police and fire department radio antennas are mounted on it.

Wichita Falls has a radio tower it no longer uses, and Iowa Park can have it for the taking, to relocate here, Barrington explained.

Iowa Park's only expense will be the cost of dismantling and re-erecting. Most if not all that expense would be offset by the price the city receives through the sale of the old water tower.

The expense of painting and maintaining the old tower is the main reason for selling it, according to discussions in previous council meetings. It has not served as a source of water supply since the Johnson Road tower was erected.

Should aldermen approve the tower as a gift, a resolution would be required.

Two other resolutions are on the tentative meeting agenda.

One would approve the annual audit report, while the other would approve an agreement worked out to supply water and sewer service to Entex Fabrication, Inc., located just outside the city on South Texowa.

Brad Teplicek is to make a public appearance to request permission to use landfill property to conduct

ATV safety training classes.

Also on Monday's agenda are consideration for the city to accept the voluntary registration of dog identification tag numbers; look at costs to build a new storage facility to house items presently stored in the garage at the library; consider the city's participation in a regional drug task force, and discuss a process for selecting a new police chief.

City police report 4 thefts, 2 arrests

Four thefts and three unrelated arrests were listed during the past week on the Iowa Park police blotter.

Two of the thefts were of auto hood ornaments, reported Sunday night and Monday morning.

A rash of hood ornament thefts has been noticed in the past month by police, but the thieves have now changed their choice of makes.

The earlier thefts were from US-made Cadillacs. But this week's two thefts were off German-made Mercedes. Police are investigating.

The owner of a home in the 800 block of East Bank told police friends had been allowed to live in the house, but when they recently moved, a number of items belonging in the house were taken.

Items included on the list were a dish washer, microwave oven, satellite receiver and equipment, waterbed, several dressers, and a vacuum cleaner.

The owner of an auto repair shop in the 100 block of N. Alcott told police Friday that someone had taken four used transmissions and a radiator from his property.

Police took Ronnie Dean Stokes, 29, into custody Friday afternoon after determining he was wanted on an outstanding warrant from the DPS office in Bowie.

The warrant alleged Stokes was wanted for failure to appear in court after being charged with speeding and passenger not using a seat belt.

He was turned over to a DPS trooper.

Police took Cherrie Gayle Smith, 23, into custody on an outstanding warrant from the Wichita County Sheriff's Office.

Smith, who was later turned over to a sheriff's deputy, was wanted on a charge of issuing bad checks.

Pamela Rene Williams, 25, was arrested at 8:35 p.m. Tuesday for driving while license was suspended and having no vehicle liability insurance.

Williams was taken before a justice of the peace and taken to the county jail in lieu of a $200 bond.

Dog's tag number helpful for return

Iowa Park residents who own dogs that have identification tags that were issued by Dr. Thurman Reitz are being asked to report those tag numbers and owner's name and address to the city.

For several years, the city has had a policy of using the tag number to notify a dog's owner whenever a dog has been picked up by the city's animal control officer.

When this is done, the dog is returned to the owner without any charge. "We do it as a courtesy to the people," commented Mike Price, director of public works.

Dogs picked up by the control officer and not wearing an identification tag are taken to the Humane Society's animal shelter, between here and Wichita Falls.

There, an owner can reclaim their pet, but a fee is charged.

Dr. Reitz recently, and without notice, closed his veterinarian practice here and moved. He took with him all records, about 700, of the tags and names of the owners.

Sue Hatcher is the city's animal control officer. She will record all tag numbers along with owner names and addresses that are reported.

The city's ordinance prohibits dogs from running loose inside the city. The animal control officer is instructed to pick up any dog found outside a fence and not on a leash in company of its owner or caretaker.

23 Study Club observes guest day with reception and book review

The 23 Study Club observed its annual guest day Thursday afternoon in a meeting held at the First Presbyterian Church. The hostesses were Mes. Don Stribling, Joe Singer, China B. Smith, C.E. Birk and D.O. James.

Mrs. Keith Aulds was leader for the Texas Heritage program highlighted by a book review of "The Life of Mrs. Sam Houston" by William Seale written in 1970, and given by Mrs. Lydia Thomas of Highland Village, a retired librarian of the Wichita Falls Schools. She was accompanied by Mrs. Ione Morris of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Charles Harrell presented an impressive devotion on "The Adventure of the Human," which was especially suitable for a review of Margaret Houston's life.

The fine arts numbers were contributed by two other guests, Latrica Fry, who sang "Little Irish Girl," and Mrs. Rick Covington, who furnished accompaniment for the sololist and a piano solo "Alone With the Music."

For the Texas Trivia, which is a part of each of the 23 Study Club's programs for the current year, Mrs. Howard Marlar gave interesting facts about Fort Davis.

Mrs. Thomas, who was the book review artist for the club's Texas Day program in 1989, came back the second time at the request of club members. All who heard her were made aware of her expertise as a book reviewer and her absorbed interest in Texas women who helped and inspired their spouses to become successful and blessings to humanity in politics, business and other walks of life.

Mrs. Thomas stated that the full impact of Margaret Houston's life on the life of her husband was just now being realized. She began at the time of their marriage in Alabama when she was 20 years of age and he was 46 years old, and told how she bore eight children for him, stood faithfully by him during his political campaigns even in victory or defeat, tolerated his idiosyncrasies, influenced him to change his personal habits, to later become a Christian and an interested citizen.

One of the most touching parts of the review was the reading of love letters that have been preserved through the years, some written by Margaret to him when he was in Washington, D.C. and others written by him to her while she was in Texas caring for the children. Her love never wavered for him even in the midst of many turbulent circumstances, including when he was asked to resign his governorship of Texas in 1861. He died two years later and she died from yellow fever in 1867 at the age of 48.

The meeting closed with a catered reception where an assortment of hors d'oeuvres was served. The tables were covered with ecru lace cloths and the dessert table was decorated with a silver bowl filled with a majestic arrangement of fresh carnations, tulips, iris, Dutch iris, miniature tiger lilies and gladiola in shades of pink, lavender, purple, yellow and white.

Baptist women review foreign mission book

Mrs. D.O. James reviewed two chapters of "Japan and the Promise," a foreign mission book by Gene Hines, Monday evening in the Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church.

The first chapter, "The Challenge of Money," revealed that the exorbitant cost of land, construction and living was as great a challenge to the missionaries in Japan as the social structure and religion. It also showed some of the creative and flexible ways they are using in "getting the job done, whatever it takes."

One of the most effective ways is the area meetings held in homes of Japanese Christians and led by lay people in areas where it is difficult to buy land and erect buildings. The part the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention plays in helping to overcome the barriers was emphasized.

"People and the Church Facing the Challenge" was the topic of the second chapter Mrs. James reviewed.

It gave poignant stories of how young and adult Japanese were befriended by Christians and are now living proof of the love of God for a hurting world. The last part of the chapter was a prayer request for the 285 Baptist churches of Japan, and contained success stories of the Kobe Baptist Church in an international city between the sea and a mountain, and the Misawa Baptist Mission and the Tohoku region where the author of the mission book ordained the pastor.

A part of every meeting of the organization is to remember the missionaries who observe their birthdays the date of the meetings. Mrs. E.T. Patterson, prayer chairman, called their names and fields of service and Mrs. Riley Thompson offered prayers for them.

Mrs. H.E. Cummings, vice president, directed the business when it was voted to purchase 44 New Testaments for the Baptist Student Union members at Midwestern State Univ.

Mrs. James was hostess for the meeting. In observance of Washington's birthday, the refreshment tables featured a patriotic theme in covers, appointments and homemade cherry pies.

Homemaker's Club enjoys luncheon

Reba Snow was hostess for a recent meeting of the Park Area Extension Homemaker's Club.

Six members answered roll call by giving hints for cutting calories during the holidays.

Mabel Karstetter gave the program, "What is the Sandwich Generation?" She said "the Sandwich Generation is the term used to describe the generation that is squeezed between five million Americans taking care of elderly parents, while working and raising a family of their own."

Following the program, a luncheon was served by the hostess.

As I See It...

By BOB HAMILTON

Folks, with the party primaries coming up in just a couple more weeks, if you haven't yet started studying what the gubernatorial candidates are saying, I'd suggest you get busy.

I'll be honest with you. I'm going to make my decision on the stands of the candidates concerning our public schools and their financing.

And three of the candidates already have their names crossed out on my list.

Before I get further into this discussion, let me point out that, even though I'm a declared Republican, I still have the right, if I choose, to cross over and vote in the Democratic primary if I feel strongly enough about one of that party's candidates for governor.

But, as it now stands, two of those names that have been crossed are under the heading of Democrat, and one is a Republican.

The first name crossed was that of former governor Mark White. He will stare you right straight in the eye and declare his pride in the passage of House Bill 72.

White will state flatly that the test scores of students has improved since that major "reform" bill was narrowly approved by the legislature back in 1984.

But they haven't.

What he won't admit is the way the legislature passed on the major portion of the increased costs to the local school districts, almost bankrupting most of them today. Nor will he admit that those costs continue to escalate, and the end of the increases are not yet in sight.

Everybody enjoys a well-prepared recipe at Christmas time. A moist fruit cake, salt water taffy, pralines, divinity, fudge ... yum, yum!

How about a recipe for the "Best Rum Cake Ever."

Nancy Pricer, our Minnesota farm-girl turned advertising salesperson, dropped this palatable recipe off at my desk the other day.

We print it here without further endorsement.

Ingredients:

- One or two quarts rum
- One cup dried
- Brown sugar
- Lemon juice
- One cup butter
- Baking powder
- Nuts
- One tsp. sugar
- One tsp. soda
- Two large eggs

How to prepare it:

Before you start, sample the rum to check for quality.

Good?

Now go ahead. Select a large mixing bowl, a measuring cup and other needed utensils.

Check the rum again. It's high quality determines the success of the cake. It must be just right. To be sure rum is of the highest quality, pour one level cup of rum into a glass and drink it as fast as you can. Repeat.

With an electric mixer, beat one cup of butter into a large fluffy bow. Add one teaspoon of thugar and beat again. Meanwhile, make sure that the rum is of the highest quality. Try another cup. Open the second quart if necessary.

Add two large leggs, two cups of fried druit and beat till high. If druit gets stuck in beaters, just pry it loose with a drawscraver.

Sample the rum again, checking for tonsicsticity.

Next sift in three cups of pepper or salt (it really doesn't matter at this point).

Sample run agamin.

Sift 1/2 pint of jemon luice. Fold in chopped butter and strained nuts. Add 1 babblespoon of brown thugar, or whatever color you can find.

Wix mel.

Grease over and turn cake pan to 350 gredes. Now pour the whole mess into the coven and ake.

Check the rum again and bo to ged.

Another of those crossed names is that of Republican Tom Luce. He also is proud of his part in passage of HB 72.

Let me quote you a paragraph from an article in the Feb. 18 issue of the Dallas Morning News:

"Two of the candidates, former Gov. Mark White, a Democrat, and Dallas lawyer Tom Luce, a Republican, were architects of the 1984 reform law. Mr. White called the historic special session in which the law was passed, and Mr. Luce was chief of staff for the committee headed by Dallas billionaire Ross Perot that drafted the reforms."

Nuff said?

I thought it a touch of irony that Luce would take his campaign to neighboring Wichita Falls Monday, the same day area school leaders were meeting to call, on an united front, the end of legislated mandates without state funding.

That was one of the primary problems with HB 72, mandates without funding. Hence, increased local taxes.

And it was unfunded mandated legislation that got Jim Mattox' name marked off my list of potential candidates.

If you'll recall a recent column of mine, I asked six of the eight major candidates for governor which of them would oppose legislation in the future forbidding such unfunded mandates.

Mattox was the only one of them, including White and Luce, who admitted he would not support such a curb on the legislature's abilities.

So, as far as I'm concerned, my list of possible candidates is now narrowed down to Democrat Ann Richards and Republicans Jack Rains, Kent Hance and Clayton Williams.

My study continues.

And speaking of leadership, but unrelated to state government, I want to congratulate the North Texas Oil and Gas Association for naming Joey Aboussie as its new executive vice president.

Though I've never met him, I've followed that young man's successes from the time he was an outstanding back with the state championship Wichita Falls High Coyote football team, to being a UT Longhorn, earning his degree as a Certified Public Accountant, and sharing his time as a member of the Wichita Falls school board.

Aboussie likely knows very little about crude oil production, but he's smart, a hard worker, and most of all, he's a winner.

The NTOGA couldn't have made a better choice.

Dance is success

As a parent, teacher, and chaperone of the Junior High Valentine Dance held last Friday night in the junior high gym and hosted by the Optimist Club and Student Council, I must say it was a great success and a good time was had by all. It makes me proud to be a part of a community with so many good kids and I hope we can provide more activities for them. Our Project Graduation has been a great step in the right direction and the Valentine Dance was one more. I'd like to say "thanks" kids for making me proud to be a parent, teacher, and chaperone.

Worth Quoting

Judging by the actions of our government, news commentaries and general opinion, the average person would say that the world faces an ecological crisis because of the "greenhouse effect." It is a foregone conclusion that the planet is gradually growing warmer.

The main proponent of the "greenhouse effect" is a federal climatologist Stephen Schneider. While on the taxpayer's payroll, he has appeared on a number of TV talk shows, radio call-in programs and environmental conferences to promote his theory. Schneider has even written a book, "Global Warming," warning of "a greenhouse effect of catastrophic proportions."

The basis of his theory is that carbon-based gases released into the atmosphere by automobiles, manufacturing plants, cattle, rice paddies, sewage treatment facilities, and other sources is trapping sunlight, preventing the energy from radiating into the vacuum of space.

This trapped energy is gradually warming the planet and will eventually melt the polar ice caps, according to Schneider's theory. Coastal areas of the world will be submerged under five to 10 feet of seawater, strong winds will rake the agricultural regions of the planet and massive climatic changes will occur according to the climatologist's predictions.

As a result of his theory, Congress is proposing using large amounts of taxpayer money to create and enforce an entire body of law designed to stop the dreaded "greenhouse effect" from becoming reality. Proposals range from forcing automakers to eliminate carbon monoxide emissions to limiting the number of cattle that can be fed.

Who is this man that is about to change your life? It is the same man that 20 years ago was warning the world of impending ecological disaster. At that time his cry was that "a new ice age" was coming. The planet was growing colder was Schneider's theory in the early 70s.

Schneider exposed his true game in an interview he gave to Discover magazine in October of 1989. He said, "...we have to offer up some scary scenarios, make simplified dramatic statements with little mention of any doubts one might have. Each of us has to decide what is the right balance between being effective and being honest."

Researchers at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration and the Wood Hole Oceanographic Institute have all come to the same conclusion about the "greenhouse effect." It is pure bunk.

Over the past 100 years there has not been any change in the average temperature of either the air or the water. There is no "greenhouse effect".

Schneider and all his followers are just another example environmental fanatics using scare tactics to further their own fortunes. They are playing fast and loose with the truth to manipulate public opinion and reap financial benefits for themselves.

JIM HUDSON
Perryton Herald

When you sit down to enjoy your Thanksgiving meal Thursday, it is to El Paso rather than Plymouth Rock that you need to give thanks.

According to historian W.H. Timmons, retired professor at the University of Texas at El Paso, the first Thanksgiving celebration held on the North America continent was near El Paso not Plymouth Rock.

Juan de Onate was a member of a distinguished family that had loyally worked for the Spanish crown. And Onate hungered to lead a mighty expedition into unexplored land.

He was granted land in the northern Rio Grande valley among the Pueblo Indians. He obtained approval in 1597. To reach his new holdings, however, Onate chose to by-pass the traditional route that followed the Rio Conchos in present day Mexico into New Mexico.

In the summer of 1597, Onate sent Vincente Zaldivar to blaze wagon trail from Santa Barbara southern Chihuahua northward and the trail later became the highway between Chihuahua City and Paso.

By early March, 1598, Ona expedition of 500 people includ soldiers, colonists, wives and children, and 7,000 head of livestock, was ready to challenge the treacher Chihuahuan Desert.

Almost from the beginning of the 50-day march, nature challenged the Spaniards. First, seven consecutive days of rain made travel miserable. Then the hardship was reversed and the travelers suffered greatly from the dry weather. On one occasion chance rain shower saved the party colonists.

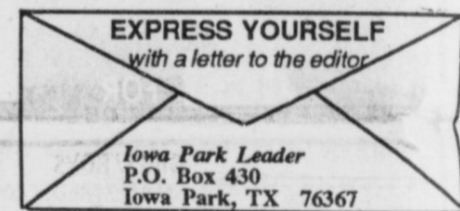

Finally, for the last five days of the march before reaching the Rio Grande, the expedition ran out of both food and water, forcing the men, women and children to seek roots and other desert growths to eat.

The Rio Grande was the salvation of the expedition, however. After recuperating for 10 days, Onate ordered a day of Thanksgiving for the survival of the expedition.

Included in the event was a feast, supplied with game by the Spaniards and with fish by the natives of the region. A mass was said by the Franciscan missionaries traveling with the expedition. And finally, Onate read La Toma -- the taking -- declaring the land drained by the Great River to be the possession of King Philip II of Spain.

According to the historian, that celebration of Thanksgiving was held in 1598 -- 23 years before the pilgrims at Plymouth celebrated their bountiful harvest.

Finnell studies Oklahoma bill

Rep. Charles Finnell conferred with his Oklahoma legislative counterpart during that state's recent special session on public school finance.

The Holliday politician said he traveled at his own expense to witness the floor debate in Oklahoma City, where the issue to change school funding narrowly pass.

"I appreciate the Oklahoma hospitality and to experience a state with similar economic concerns addressing the vital public school finance issue," Finnell said.

"Their situation is not unlike that which we face in our Feb. 27th special session on school finance."

Discover the Joy

"IT'S ONLY WORDS"

As a painter uses a brush, paint, and canvas to convey the vision of his mind, the speaker uses words. You may never have considered yourself to be gifted speaker, but you are probably more gifted than you know. For within the arsenal of your mind you have a choice of thousands of words with which to express yourself. You are an artist. Whether you are striving in a most eloquent manner to enhance an idea in the mind of a large audience or just to make a clear point with a child makes little difference. Words are still your artist's tools. Words are power!

When we were children, we were taught to ignore ugly words because they were only words. "I am rubber, and you are glue, whatever you say bounces off of me and sticks to you." It never really worked. "Sticks and stones may break my bones, but words will never hurt me!" The truth is, words do hurt. I know of nothing more painful than the scoffing, ridicule, or harsh criticism of one's contemporaries. Mothers try to ease a child's pain by saying that it is only words, but I think they both know the truth. Of course the opposite is true too. Positive encouraging words have the power to strengthen and heal.

If we understood the potent power of words, our spoken words become all the more important. Still, little thought is often given to casual flow of words from our lips. In particular, the flow of profanity from any mouth is the repulsive result of an active mouth connected to an inactive mind. Profanity is to language what pornography is to literature. Profanity does nothing good.

When we open our mouths to speak, we are using one of the greatest powers of our disposal. So, as an artist considers carefully the colors used in painting, consider carefully the color of your words. "Let your conversation be always full of grace, seasoned with salt, so that you may know how to answer everyone." (Colossians 4:6).

Bandsmen by the dozens earn top ratings

Although they weren't competing against other musicians, Iowa Park High School and Junior High band members emerged victorious from the solo and ensemble contest held Saturday at Wichita Falls High School.

As Iowa Park High School band director put it, "They weren't competing against others, but against themselves and the music."

Members of both bands earned a host of Division I ratings, and the high school band will see several solos and ensembles, as well as the Jazz Band, go to state competition.

In order to advance to state, the musician must earn a Division I rating on a Class I solo or ensemble, the most difficult in competition.

State competition will be held June 4 at the University of Texas at Austin.

High school musicians advancing to state include, in solos, Marcy McCarthy, Tim Bradberry, Michelle Hooker, Paul Birk, Mike Brillhart and Patrick Birk.

State-bound ensembles include Tricia Anderson, Tomy Ashton, Joel McIlroy and Jodi Meisel, saxophone quartet; Paul Birk, Jay Freeman and Eric Smith, trombone trio; Jay Freeman, Jeremy Kingcade, Eric Smith and David Lyons, trombone quartet; and Leisa Bates, Patrick Birk, Gary Green and Marc Thames, percussion ensemble.

Members of the high school band who earned a Division I rating on a Class II or III solo include Jessica Robertson, Jolene Hodges, Michelle Robbins, Steven Day, John Padgett, Skip Drissel, Jeff Franklin, Cody Reck, Shelley Goodknight and Justin Daume.

Junior high band members earning a Division I rating in solo were Christal Goad, Holly Burroughs, Robin Lane, Leanna Preston, Casey Hunter, Lisa Halady, Erin Hefu, Emily Monday, Heather Krause, Jennifer Davis, Mindy Vanek, David Warren and Nikki Williams.

Also, Jeff Wood, Brande Overman, Darin Cash, Gina Inman, Jaime Higgins, Meredith Waincott, Janah Price, Mandy Threet, Kathy Monday, Michelle Pendleton and Chris Schlaud.

Members of ensembles given a Division I ratings were Lisa Green, Tami Denton, Robin Lane, Christal Goad, Mandy LaBrier, Jody Young, Kerri Bauer, Holly Burroughs, Jennifer Eiben, Lisa Green, Casey Hunter, Leanna Preston, Jennifer Ricks, Candace Shepherd, Kyle Thompson, Dennie Atchley, Casey Moser, David Warren, Jeff Wood, Heather Lovelady, Francie Myers, Brande Overman, Stan Tigrett, Charles Bradberry, Kenneth School, Chris Schlaud and Tiffani Phillips.

Some of the ensembles from each school and the Jazz Band, as well as both school's full bands, will perform at the Iowa Park Band Booster's all you can eat cornbread and bean supper from 5:30 to 7 Saturday evening at the high school cafeteria. Charge will be $3 for adults and $2 for children 12 and under.

Homeowner insurance policies simplified

It will be easier for Texans to understand their homeowners and renters insurance policies after Oct. 1.

Acting on recommendations of an advisory committee made up of consumer groups and insurance industry representatives, the State Board of Insurance recently ordered replacement of existing policies with a new easier-to-read contract.

"This is a watershed event for Texas consumers. They are getting a policy that is easier to understand and one whose cost has remained very stable over the last 10 years. I am particularly pleased that we were able to revise the policy without any reduction in coverage," said the advisory committee's chairman, Don Olsen.

Olsen, a division manager in the Austin regional office of State Farm Insurance Co., noted that rates declined during the 1980s for homeowners coverage in Texas.

Kay Doughty, the state's insurance public counsel and a member of the advisory committee, said the revised policy form should give policyholders a better understanding of their coverage.

"The new policy forms will be of great benefit to homeowners and renters, who sometimes found it difficult to determine what was covered and what was not. The redesigned format, with a table of contents and general headings, make vital information much more accessible," Doughty said.

John Hildreth, director of the Southwest Regional Office of Consumers Union and a member of the advisory committee, also praised the results of the committee's work.

"This demonstrates that when consumers are brought into the process, the results benefit everyone -- companies, agents and consumers alike," Hildreth said.

The new contract, which features shorter sentences, fewer words and simpler language, will be issued to Texas homeowners and renters as their policies come up for renewal after Oct. 1.

The revised policy form was tested for readability by consumer focus groups in a research effort conducted by the University of Texas at Austin Office of Survey Research.

According to several measures of readability, the new policy can be read and understood by someone who has completed seven years of school. The old policy was written at a reading level that required at least a ninth grade education.

The policy also tested as more readable than the Insurance Services Office homeowners policy that is the most commonly sold form in other states.

Last year, more than $1.3-billion in homeowners' insurance premiums were paid by an estimated 3-million policyholders in Texas.

Since all property insurance policy forms are promulgated by the State Board of Insurance, almost every insurance homeowner in the state, as well as those who buy tenant coverage and special policies for condominiums, will benefit from the change.

"While we are proud of the comprehensive coverage offered under Texas policies, the 1957 language of the policy is difficult for today's consumers to follow," said Lyndon Anderson, deputy commissioner in charge of the State Board's Property Insurance Activity.

According to Anderson, Texas has what many believe to be the most comprehensive homeowners insurance policy issued in the country.

In addition to improved readability, the new policy also has a new look to make it more accessible and easier to use. For example, the policy will include a table of contents to aid the reader in locating a particular section of the policy.

Policies also will be printed on paper no larger than 8 1/2 x 11 with a minimum type size of 10 points. This contrasts with the current policies which are often printed in smaller type on pages as long as 17 inches.

In addition, all pages in the new contracts will be uniform in size. This will eliminate the common practice of printing policy endorsements on varying sizes of paper.

The advisory committee also developed an introductory brochure which will be included with every policy issued during the first 12 months it is in effect. The brochure includes basic information about the new policy, as well as insurance tips for consumers.

Work on the new policy began in September 1989 following appointment of the advisory committee by the State Board of Insurance.

"This committee has worked under incredible time constraints to produce a new policy within the six months requested by the Board," Anderson said. "They have worked extremely well under pressure, and have put in literally thousands of hours of their time. Such a task would have been impossible without a dedicated group of people."

In addition to Olsen, Doughty and Hildreth, the following people served on the advisory committee:

James Ashmore of Houston, assistant vice president of Highlands Insurance Co.; Ronald H. Cheshire of Richardson, resident vice president of Employers Mutual Casualty Co.; Dr. Wayne A. Danielson of Austin, communication school, Univ. of Texas; Eldon Farek of Dallas, vice president of Trinity Universal Insurance Co.; C.A. Foster of San Antonio, vice president, USAA; Annette LoVoi of Austin, president of Texas Consumers Assn.; Donald J. Manthe of Dallas, assistant vice president of United States Fire Insurance Co.; Scott Ragland of Dallas, representing Independent Insurance Agents of Texas, and Bart Tucker of Fort Worth, representing Professional Insurance Agents of Texas.

MAKING IT OFFICIAL - Iowa Park High senior Bruce Palmer, center, signed a letter of intent to attend West Texas State Univ. at Canyon, where he will play football. His father, Robert, signs his paperwork on the right, while athletic director Len Williams looks on. WT assistant coach Gary Hughes was here Wednesday afternoon of last week, the first day national letters could be signed, to collect the signatures.

DANNY TATOM STAYS SAFE DURING SCRIMMAGE WITH HIRSCHI
... and scored Hawks' first run of the afternoon.

Hawks top Hirschi, Holliday

Hawk baseballers won both their scrimmages during the past week, and are scheduled to wind up pre-season play here Saturday against the Wichita Falls High Coyotes.

Iowa Park knocked off Holliday 16-4 Friday, and Tuesday afternoon took measure of Hirschi 4-2.

First game of the regular season is slated here at 4 p.m. Tuesday against Archer City.

The Junior Varsity, which hasn't seen any action yet, will open its seven-game schedule at Vernon in a game that is slated to start at 4 p.m. Monday.

Saturday's scrimmage is also to be here, starting at 4 p.m.

A two-run single in the sixth inning Tuesday off the bat of Bruce Palmer provided the winning margin over Hirschi.

Jimmy Duggins, in his first appearance on the mound, gave up both Hirschi's runs during his two innings of work.

Danny Tatom followed Duggins with two innings. Ken Schlaud worked one and two-thirds innings, with all his outs marked in the book as strikeouts, and J'Bill Merrick finished the game.

Dorner, Gray All-District

Two members of the Lady Hawk basketball team, both underclassmen, were selected to the 5-AAA All-District team by conference coaches.

They were Kerri Dorner and Melody Gray. Dorner is a junior and Gray a sophomore.

Freshman Erica Knight received honorable mention.

Additionally, Dorner was nominated for consideration as Most Valuable Player, and Gray as Sophomore of the Year.

Bowie's Jennifer Johnson won out on the MVP balloting, 5-1 over Dorner. Jan Jowitl of Bridgeport was the third nominee, but received no votes. Coaches were not permitted to vote on their own players.

Kayce Clifton of Bridgeport was named Sophomore of the Year. Laurie Woodruff of Decatur was the third nominee.

Seven of the 13-player All-District team were unanimous choices. Among the seven was Dorner.

The others were Shana Pate and Jody Lancaster of Bowie, Tamesha Hall and Stephanie Marsh of Vernon, Jan Jowitl of Bridgeport and Kerrie Ogle of Decatur.

Rounding out the team with Gray were Stephanie Hepp of Bridgeport, Ann Parry and Terri Thompson of Graham, and Holly South and Lisa Shepard of Decatur.

In conference play, while winning two games and losing eight, Dorner scored 131 points, hitting 42 percent of her field goal attempts and 56 percent from the foul line. She was also credited with 48 rebounds and 23 assists.

Gray hit 38 percent of her field goal attempts, most of them from the outside, and 58 percent of her free shots, for a total of 69 points. The shortest player on the team, she still had 21 rebounds, and had 11 assists.

Despite the threat of litigation, Bowie's school board refused to reinstate athletes, several of whom were starters on both the girls' and boys' basketball teams, who were suspended after they were found attending a party at which liquor was served. Both the school and parents have retained services of attorneys, according to the Bowie News.

Decatur school trustees are considering upgrading of football facilities, including renovation of the dressing room and football field. Included is consideration of building a new football field. An overhead light bulb in the fieldhouse shower exploded on Iowa Park players following their game last fall, prompting a complaint by Hawk coaches.

Friday's benefit basketball game was almost a dud, because members of the visiting KNIN 9er's team had been told it was off. Shane Bennett, who reportedly had been making the arrangements for the Wichita Falls station's appearance, is said to have been fired from his job. After that, members of the team said he called them to say it was cancelled and not to show. That's why only four players were here and the game was temporarily delayed.

'CHEERLEADERS' HARRASSING PLAYERS SHOOTING FREE SHOTS
... Hawks in disguise provided entertainment for huge crowd.

...they called it 'basketball'

A crowd estimated between 550 and 600 filled Iowa Park High's gymnasium Friday night, and apparently enjoyed a full evening's show.

Though fewer than expected took advantage of the bean and cornbread supper served by the evening's sponsor, Iowa Park Booster Club, the crowd continued to grow to capacity for a benefit basketball game played between Iowa Park coaches and a team from radio station KNIN.

Booster Club President Bobby Davenport said he was "pleased" with the turnout and revenue, which will be used for athletic programs of the schools.

The game was delayed briefly, because only four regular members of the KNIN team had shown. Finally, Iowa Parkan Carmen Lozipone, who was going to be one of the officials calling the contest, consented to play for the visiting squad.

The coaches had enough players to platoon substitutions, thanks to two former Hawks, Ray Sefcik and Steve Smith, suiting out.

Play by both teams, their passing and shooting, apparently pleased and delighted the crowd, as indicated by their shouts and applause.

Appreciation was also indicated by the huge crowd with performances by the IPHS Jazz Band, and several of the Hawk football team who had dressed as female cheerleaders.

Additional halftime entertainment was provided by the Rockin' Hawkettes and a team of young girl tumblers from Gymnastics and More.

And to cap off the evening, the coaches won the high-scoring, 40-minute game by a 93-85 margin.

Tri-Star basketball

A Tri-Star Basketball Contest, sponsored by the Iowa Park Optimist Club, will be held at the high school girl's gym on Saturday.

The contest is composed of three basic skills, passing, shooting and dribbling. Boys and girls, ages six through 13 will compete against youth in their own age group.

Awards will be presented to winners in each age group, and each contestant will receive a memento scorecard.

Sign-up will begin at 1:00 p.m. Saturday, with competition beginning around 2:00 p.m. There is no fee for contestants.
