Council to reconsider freeport tax exemption

Consideration of granting the freeport tax exemption to industries is among the topics listed on the tentative agenda for Monday's meeting of the city council.

The meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

The state legislature recently gave taxing entities, such as cities, schools and counties, the option to grant what is called a freeport tax exemption. If granted, products manufactured with the intent of shipping to consumers outside the state would not be subject to taxes collected by the entities.

Entities can consider exempting the freeport goods at any time, until action is taken to grant exemption. Once that is done, it cannot be reconsidered in the future and those products would remain untaxed.

Neither the city nor the local school district has yet granted the freeport tax exemption, though both have at least twice considered it.

Wichita County has granted the exemption.

While neither of the major manufacturers in the immediate area, Cryovac and Entex, are actually inside the city limits and automatically subject to all city taxes, both have contracts with the city to pay "in lieu" taxes in order to receive certain city services.

The tentative agenda also calls for consideration of two resolutions, both relating to ambulance service provided by Life Line Emergency Medical Services, Inc.

One resolution would be to continue receiving the service, and the other relates to the city's portion of subsidy paid, with the county and cities of Wichita Falls and Burkburnett, for the service.

Carried over from previous meetings are the topics of sanitary landfill, health insurance, and looping of waterlines in the northwest part of the city.

Aldermen will also consider authorizing the city administrator to enter into an agreement for installing of a water line on East Cash, as well as advertising for bids to paint the water tower on Johnson Road.

An executive session also is on the agenda. Other than a topic of personnel, it does not specify whom or reason.

Trustees okay barn bid

Burkburnett contractor Eugene Weakley was the apparent low bidder to construct two animal barns at the Iowa Park school's agricultural facility on East Ruby.

Bids from seven contractors were opened Tuesday afternoon, and in a called meeting of trustees that evening, Weakley's bid of $56,127 was accepted.

However, because of a phrase put in the action vote wording, it must first pass approval of legal council.

Bids were sought on the base structures and one alternate, neither of which included the necessary site dirt work.

One contractor, Inman Construction of Wichita Falls, included the dirt work in his bid, which totaled $57,758.

Weakley, who did not attend the bid opening, was contacted by phone and asked his proposal for that work, and he quoted $5,250, according to discussion that evening by trustees.

His base and alternate bid total, before the dirt work, was $50,877, as compared with Inman's $49,158.

Highest of the base and alternate bids ranged upward to $60,312.

Board president Jerry Reed told the board he felt the aim of the group was to save the taxpayers as much money as possible, and if no bidding requirements had been violated in the eyes of legal council, they should accept Weakley's offer.

The vote was unanimous among those attending. Trustees Wendall House and John Sibley were absent.

The two buildings will be home for sheep and cattle project animals of vocational education students.

A barn for swine was constructed last year.

Monies for the construction are from part of the $2.75-million bond issue approved last winter by voters of the school district.

Because of the ongoing construction work throughout the district, and recognizing a need to keep abreast of progress, trustees decided to meet one morning weekly to tour the sites.

Their first tour was set for 8 a.m. today, and tentative meetings in the future will be at the same hour on Wednesdays.

No regular business meeting is planned for the month of July.

Fires a'plenty

Though the clock was still ticking at presstime Wednesday, members of the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Dept. have had a busy week.

According to the records, firemen had, by noon Wednesday, answered 20 fire calls during the past week, and that figure did not include those responses by Emergency Medical Technicians.

Though not all of the calls were to extinguish grassfires, most were.

Busiest days were Saturday and Tuesday, when five fire calls each were reported.

With July 4th still only half completed on the report, firemen were standing by for more fireworks-ignited grassfires.

SUSPENSEFUL WAIT - Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Miller had to wait patiently for a brief period before being informed Iowa Park firemen had not only saved their home, but minimized the damage from an early Sunday evening fire in their attic. They had just arrived home from church when a neighbor told them of seeing smoke coming from their roof. Renter of the apartment, Janet Walker, was somewhat inconvenienced but not displaced as result of the firefighters' efforts.

Neighbors on Karen hit Friday by thieves

To say someone made a haul Friday night on Karen Street would not be making a pun.

Someone did in fact haul off numerous pieces of furniture, planters and various other decorative items during the night from at least five locations in the 1500 and 1600 blocks, according to the police blotter.

The first of the theft notices was recorded at 9:45 a.m. Saturday, and they continued until 2 that afternoon.

The first caller said $260 worth of pine patio furniture was taken from the front porch of his home. Others reported hanging baskets and pots, two lawn chairs and plant from a porch, an imitation plant in a brass planter, and the last report included picnic tables, a tree and hanging plants.

Police are continuing their investigation, and Chief Wayne Parsons asks that anyone recalling seeing anything suspicious that night to call the police station.

He said nothing smaller than a pickup could have hauled so many items, but added the vehicle could have been a truck or large van.

An unusually large number of thefts and acts of criminal mischief were entered on the police blotter during the week.

Police Friday investigated a report of burglary attempt in the 300

Building permits doubled

Construction by the Iowa Park school district continues to bolster the city's building permit total.

Two permits issued to the school in June accounted for almost all the month's $1,348,535, which came up just short of the $1,365,157 preceding five-month total.

Another major construction project for which a permit was issued was to the city itself, to build a new Recreational Activities Center. That permit was for $99,400.

Permits issued through the first half of 1990 total $2,713,692, according to reports released by the city's public works office.

Permits issued during June include:

- Robert Sumner, 121 James, addition, $700;
- Iowa Park Schools, 1513 West Highway, new/repair, $768,000;
- Glen Reeves, 704 West Rebecca, alter/repair, $5,600;

EMERGENCY TREATMENT was administered on Amy Collins, 16, shortly after midnight Tuesday after she had accidentally been penned between two vehicle bumpers. She was transported by ambulance to a Wichita Falls hospital. Her mother, Debbie Pruett, looks on. Driver of one car, Johnny Duggins, told police he had shifted his car into reverse, but it had rolled forward in the driveway at 1003 Foley, before the girl could get out of the way.

As I See It...

By BOB HAMILTON

Experiencing something new can and often is exciting. But when it happens almost 60 years into one's life, it can also be frustrating.

Such is my case this week. I'm suffering through my first-ever case of summer cold.

All my life, I've heard people complain of having a cold in summer months. I've never understood how that could happen. A cold, to me, is what one catches in the winter. And I must admit, those claiming to have cold symptoms were either confused with some other problem, or they just weren't living the clean life.

Now I'm one of 'em. That's right. I'm out walking in 100-plus temperatures, blowing my nose regularly and coughing from deep in my chest as if I had contracted pneumonia.

I don't know which liquid I want most in my mouth, a ice-cold Dr. Pepper or my off-the-shelf cough syrup.

I'm used to wiping sweat off my nose in these current temperatures, not blowing it as I oft do in January.

And, unlike catching the usual winter cold, I know precisely when, where and how I contracted this unusual illness.

We were on Possum Kingdom Lake Saturday night, and after having enjoyed that area's usual outstanding July 4th fireworks display, I decided I would sleep in the open breeze, without benefit of any cover.

Sometime around 3 Sunday morning, I found my bathing suit to be inadequate cover against the unexpected chilly breeze coming off the water.

So, I left what I had felt to be a most comfortable environment for the covers of a conventional indoors bed, and awoke in a sweat a couple of hours later.

And as I hack, cough, sniff and blow, I've come to the conclusion that not all new experiences are satisfying and enjoyable, but they certainly can be educational.

block of East Alameda, finding evidence of forced entry but nothing apparently missing.

A structure in the 100 block of West Park that has back windows boarded up was found to have the boards removed and building entered.

A gocart motor valued over $200, and other items, were reportedly taken from a residence at Second and Alameda, according to a report filed Sunday.

And sometime that night, someone apparently removed a radio from an automobile parked in the 200 block of North Bell.

A resident living in the 100 block of North Hawthorne filed complaints Monday and Tuesday, that mail had been taken from the mail box. The second-day complaint stated the mail was found trampled in the front yard of the home.

A washing machine door window was reportedly broken out at a laundry in the 300 block of West Bank sometime Monday.

Entries noting arrests of three persons, including a 16-year-old juvenile male, were made in the blotter during the week.

Cathy Kizer, 53, was taken into custody in the 500 block of North Victoria at 10:48 p.m. Wednesday of last week, on a charge of public intoxication. She was released six hours later after signing an order to appear in municipal court.

Police took Samuel Dennis Swift, 28, into custody at 9:24 p.m. Saturday at Texas and Victoria, on a charge of public intoxication while driving.

During a check of his driving record, it was determined Swift was wanted on an outstanding warrant issued by the Wichita County sheriff's office for "burglary of building with intent to commit theft -- no bond."

Swift was released at 10:15 p.m. to a county deputy after signing an order to appear in municipal court on the local charge.

A 16-year-old boy was picked up in the 200 block of East Emerald at 3:10 a.m. Wednesday for public intoxication.

The officers, complying with state law, first booked the youth at the local station, transported him to a hospital in Wichita Falls for a physical check up, and then, at 5:31 took him to the county juvenile detention center in Wichita Falls.

Praises FFA program

Dear Mr. Hamilton,

I hope you will print the above article in this week's paper (it appears on another page of this issue).

I would like to let everyone know how important the FFA/AG program at Iowa Park High School is; not only to the students involved, but to the whole school and community. This chapter is building quite a reputation for itself.

When a student does well in competition it reflects back to the chapter, school as a whole, and community. 1989-90 was a good year; and it seems as though each year was better than the one before. So it looks like the best is yet to come.

I have seen such a change in my own boys since they became involved. One son graduated in 1989 and even though my other sons weren't in high school yet, they were still involved, with his projects or their own through Jr. FFA. There is a real comradery generated among our chapter and there is always the encouragement and backing these kids give each other, whether it's showing their project, competing in judging, running for office or anything else.

Do I sound like a proud mother? I hope I do, because that's exactly what I am. Not just proud of my children but proud of yours, too. And thankful there is an organization that has had such a positive influence on so many young people; thankful for advisors, parents, and other supporters who have made this program successful. Special praise and thanks goes to George Martin and Ray Dillard for their commitment and unending work. Being an Ag teacher is not an 8 to 5, Monday thru Friday, Sept. thru May job. You probably don't hear it very often, but you are appreciated.

Folks, get involved. You will find it a rewarding experience. If you would like to get involved, an excellent opportunity would be to join the Booster Club.

Former Iowa Parkan performs with Chorale at Carnegie Hall

Sally Sawyer Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sawyer, former Iowa Park residents, writes of an exciting experience she had in early June as a member and sometime soloist with the Northern Utah Choral Society. It was one of seven civic chorales from across the United States who were invited to sing a massive concert in Carnegie Hall in New York City.

Sally Sawyer Jones

The Northern Utah Choral Society was joined by Denver Concert Chorale, Choral Society of Pensacola, Macon Civic Chorale, Malad Valley Community Chorus of Idaho, Masterworks Chorale of Indiana, and Laredo (TX) Philharmonic Chorale, becoming a 275-voice choir. Membership is by audition.

The massive choir performed the Dvorak Requiem, Op. 89, on June 12, accompanied by the Manhattan Philharmonic, with Peter Tiboris, music director, and Dr. Will Kesling, conductor. Dr. Kesling is also conductor of the Northern Utah Choral Society. Internationally known soloists were Jenny Stewart, Janice Baird, Robert Heil and Stephan Kirchgraber. The performance received a standing ovation from an almost full house.

Following the concert the choir, families and friends were taken to New York harbor where they boarded the "Spirit of New York" for a "breath-taking" two-hour cruise, late dinner and a celebration. Another thrilling experience for Sally was when they passed the Statue of Liberty and the group went on deck to sing patriotic songs.

While in New York the group stayed in Manhattan across from Madison Square Garden and Penn Station, one block off Broadway. There they saw "Gypsy" with Tyne Daly, "Jerome Robbins Broadway" and "Les Miserables."

Sally writes of New York, "What an exciting city, but I must tell you it is a city of contrasts, wealth-indigence, beauty-filth, restaurants-beggars on the streets, etc."

She left Iowa Park in 1969 and graduated Texas Christian University in 1974 with a degree in music. While living in Fort Worth she taught music in a private school and was a member and soloist with the Arlington Civic Chorus. She now lives in Logan, Utah and is married and has one son.

The Northern Utah Choral Society has performed in the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City, Lincoln Center in New York, Mexico City and Rio de Janeiro. Future concerts are planned for Jackson Hole, Wyo., and San Francisco.

LOOK WHO'S NEW

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Kenyon of Iowa Park are the parents of a girl, Samantha Jo, born June 11, at Wichita General Hospital. She weighed eight pounds, six ounces, and is the couple's first child. Mrs. Kenyon is the former Carrie Allen of Iowa Park.

Grandparents are Susan Allen of Iowa Park, Howard Allen of Wichita Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Kenyon of Iowa Park. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hagemann of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Allen of Iowa Park, and Iva Tisson of Elk City, Okla.

Cook of the Week

The lifestyle of Judy (Mrs. David) Schenk, a kindergarten teacher at Kidwell Elementary School, does not slow down during the summer months.

Her children, William, 11, and Katie, eight, keep her busy with piano and drum lessons, gymnastics and ballgames. When time allows, Judy like to play tennis, read, and is learning to play golf. She said that she is one of the few women who does not enjoy shopping.

Judy grew up in Deer, Ark., and is a graduate of Arkansas Tech Univ. at Russellville. She taught school in Arkansas nine years before moving to Iowa Park, where she has been teaching five years.

Her husband, David, is a native of Fort Smith, Ark. A graduate of the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville, he is General Merchandise Manager at Penneys in Wichita Falls.

Judy said the family loves living in Iowa Park because of the friendly people and the small town atmosphere.

They have very special neighbors who let the family use their swimming pool "as our own." "We spend most of our summers at their pool and visiting family in Arkansas," she said.

The family attends Christ the King Catholic Church.

You see a bright and pretty young girl with the whole world at her feet. She sees an ugly, worthless creature with no hope beyond tomorrow. Yet, she puts on a front when she leaves for school only to come home and cry in her room. Is she depressed? Or is it just something all teenagers go through?

Call us, and together we can find the answer. Our staff is trained to evaluate adolescent behavior. We can help you understand what is going on with your teenager, and if necessary, recommend a

Project cancelled

A trip to Alamogordo, N.M. planned by several volunteers from First Baptist Church has been cancelled, according to the Rev. Derrell Monday, pastor of the church.

The trip had been scheduled last weekend for the purpose of helping construct a new Baptist church there. This would have been the 20th such trip volunteers have made to assist in a mission-building project.

An advance group from the church had gone to Alamogordo earlier last week to make sure preliminary preparations were made for the volunteer group who would come later. They found the groundwork had not been done so the trip had to be called off for this year, Rev. Monday said.

In previous such summer volunteer efforts, groups have helped build churches throughout Colorado. Many of the volunteers use their vacation time for these projects.

THOUGHTS ON PATRIOTISM

I am thankful to be an American. America has become great because of its faith in God and the love for freedom. "Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people," (Proverbs 14:34).

The inscription on the Liberty Bell is taken from Leviticus 25:10: "proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." The precious freedom we enjoy far too often is taken for granted. The very roots of our freedom are found in a spirit of sacrifice and self-discipline.

I stand at attention and repeat the pledge of allegiance declaring love and loyalty for country. I shed tears when I hear "Taps" and think of ancestors who gave the last full measure of devotion. Yes, I am mindful that we do not have a perfect government because we are not perfect human beings. Even with all of our mistakes, it is still the best country to live in throughout our earth.

Our ancestors built a rich heritage for us. We are blessed by their love of country, industry, and courage. We demonstrate our gratefulness to them by passing the story and blessings of freedom to our children. May we always remember the dear price that was paid for liberty that the dead shall not have died in vain! Let each one resolve to so live and pray that God will always bless America!

Legislators slate hearings on redistricting issue

The first of two Texas legislature committee public hearings on redistricting will be held Friday of next week in Fort Worth, and Saturday in Dallas.

The hearings are in preparation for the drawing of new district lines for seats in the U.S. Congress, state legislature and on the State Board of Education.

"Based on the '90 census, next year's drawing of district boundary lines will shape the political landscape of Texas for this decade and into the next century," commented Rep. Charles Finnell.

"It's vital that northwest Texas participate in this decennial process, to preserve the 'community of interest' of our region in legislative and congressional districts," he added.

Public hearings are to gather information about how district lines should be drawn. The Fort Worth hearing will be the closest of the series to Wichita County.

Redistricting in the past two decades has resulted in significant increases in legislative and congressional seats held by Blacks, Hispanics and Republicans. Urban areas have gained population and legislative seats while rural areas have lost.

The 1990 census is expected to reveal the continuation of population trends that have shown increases in the percentage of the state population that is Black or Hispanic, as well as a shift in population away from the rural East and West Texas and metropolitan central city areas toward suburban communities.

A study by the Texas Legislative Council indicates that the state is predicted to have grown by about 20 percent between the 1980 and 1990 census, increasing in population from 14.2-million to 17.11-million.

Collin, Denton, Ellis, Hood, Parker and Rockwall counties are projected to have grown by more than 50 percent, with Rockwall County showing the largest growth rate in the state, 98.4 percent.

Dallas County, with a 21.6 percent increase in population, is projected to have approximated the state rate growth.

Tarrant County's projected growth rate of 35.9 percent is substantially higher than the state rate and appears to be great enough to give the county an additional seat in the Texas House of Representatives.

Growth in both Tarrant and Dallas counties appears to have occurred outside the urban centers in the surrounding suburban areas.

As a result of these uneven population changes, the census is expected to show that about half of the current Texas house districts in the hearing region have more population than that required for the "ideal" size of a district (114,100).

Although districts 90, 100, 103, and 111 are all 20 percent or more below ideal district size, district 93 is projected to be 38 percent above ideal size.

Senate districts also show a wide range of variation in projected growth rates, from 19 percent below the ideal district size (552,000) in district 23 to 40 percent above in district 10.

Next week's hearings will be conducted by the House Redistricting Committee, chaired by Rep. Tom Uher (D-Bay City), and the Senate Select Committee on Legislative Redistricting, chaired by Sen. Bob Glasgow (D-Stephenville).

The Fort Worth hearing will begin at 2 p.m. in the Brown Lupton Student Center Ballroom on the campus of Texas Christian Univ.

The committees will recess at the completion of afternoon testimony and reconvene at 6:30 p.m. for additional testimony.

At Dallas, hearing will open at 10 a.m. in room W101 of the Dallas Convention Center, with a lunch break at 1 p.m. and reconvening at 2.

The two Metroplex hearings are among 14 to be conducted around the state this year, ending by September.

Swim lessons set next week

Persons planning to enroll in the two-week swimming lessons, which are to start Monday, must register no later than Saturday, July 7, according to Mark Wilson, pool manager.

"No late registrations will be permitted," Wilson said this week. He explained the necessity of having enough instructors for students, and the two days are necessary.

One-hour classes will be held in the evenings, instead of mornings as in the case of the session in June, through July 20 for beginners, advanced beginners and intermediates.

Local residents tour sites in New Orleans

Gay Williams and daughter, Necia, along with Nita Gillis recently toured New Orleans with a group of friends. Activities included touring museums, the French Quarter night life, famous restaurants, Audobon Zoo, strolls on the River Walk, shopping at the Flea Market, Jackson Square, where an artist did a portrait of Necia, and the French Market. The group also went riverboat riding, toured old homes in the Garden District, rode the ferry and trolley cars, and listened to jazz, Irish and Cajun bands.

The group shopped at an indoor mall that has been installed in the old Jax Brewery which fronts the Mississippi River and viewed demonstrations of cooking, as well as picturesque and panoramic scenes from the rooftop restaurant. International shops and restaurants abound in an intriguing mall that has been built along the Riverwalk. The world's largest aquarium will be opening in September near the Riverwalk Mall.

Others in the party with the Iowa Park group were Sandra Holt, Dave DeBoer and Johnny Hardin of Wichita Falls.

Girls' softball tourney slated

Iowa Park will host two girls' softball all-star tournaments, one next week and the other the following week, at the W.F. George Little League Fields on West Magnolia.

Major League all-star district tournament, for players 11-12 years of age, will be July 9-13.

Senior League all-stars, players 13-15, will be July 16-20.

First Major League game will be at 6 p.m. Monday, between Graham and Sheppard AFB. That will be followed at 8 by Iowa Park vs. Olney.

Graham and Iowa Park will lead off the Senior league tourney, starting at 7:30 p.m. July 16. Sheppard AFB will play the winner of that game at 7:30 p.m. the following day.

To ready the east field for softball play, officials have removed the baseball pitcher's mound.

Students study swine program

Four Iowa Park Vocational Agriculture students and three adults attended the World Pork Expo in Des Moines, Iowa the first weekend in June.

They were Kevin and Cody Beavers, Tiffany Stevens and Jason Preston, accompanied by instructor George Martin and his wife and Brenda Beavers.

They had an opportunity to view "the cream of the crop" of the swine industry.

Exhibits were available on the latest technology, feeding and pharmaceutical programs, as well as seminars on artificial insemination and farrowing exhibits.

The group also met some of the top swine breeders in the nation.

For the Iowa Park students, who have started their own swine breeding program, the trip was considered an educational experience.

Football official training sessions to begin Monday

Persons interested in becoming a school football official can register for training classes to be held in Wichita Falls that are sponsored by the Wichita Falls Chapter of Southwest Football Officials Association.

First training session for new officials will be held at 6:30 p.m. Monday in room 500 of the Wichita Falls Memorial Auditorium.

"It takes approximately 10 to 15 hours per week during the season," says Horace Pipkin, chapter president. "This includes training sessions, home study and working the games."

Additional information concerning becoming an official is available by contacting Dennis Redding, 692-3632, or Bob Schwartz, 692-6487.

A rain and wind storm that hit Bridgeport a couple of weeks ago broke off two 30-year-old wooden light polls at the football stadium at the ground. The school board decided to replace all the light standards, after learning the polls were virtually hollow, having rotted out inside.

Judson new TPA president

Port Aransas publisher to lead statewide press group

Mary Henkel Judson, co-publisher of the Port Aransas South Jetty, was elected president of the Texas Press Association during the group's annual meeting, June 21-23, in San Antonio. She is the first woman elected president of the 110-year-old association.

Judson succeeds Roy McQueen, publisher of the Snyder Daily News, who becomes chairman of the association's board of directors.

The Texas Press Association, founded in 1880, includes 505 weekly, semi-weekly and daily newspapers.

Judson has been a TPA director since 1978 and has been a member of the insurance committee, chairman of two by-laws revision committees, and chaired the TPA's News Clinic on several occasions.

Mary Henkel Judson

The daughter of Cap and Kitty Henkel of Rockport, Judson is a "newspaper brat." Her parents were publishers of the Mid-Country Review in Nederland when Judson was born in 1953. Their newspaper career then took them to Robstown and finally to Refugio where Judson got ink on her fingers.

Her first paying job was as a columnist for the Refugio County Press. As a fifth grade student in 1963, she wrote "Junior Beat" about the comings and goings of elementary and middle school students. She went on to write a similar column as a student at Refugio High School.

After her early column-writing stints, Judson refused the overtures of her father to consider a career in journalism — until she needed a job after her freshman year at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

Then she fell for it — hard. She spent the summer as a general assignment reporter for the Refugio County Press.

She returned to SWT in the fall and landed a job in the composing department of the San Marcos Record, then under the direction of Tom and Bud Buckner whose in 1977.

The Judsons continued the award-winning ways established by her parents in regional and state newspaper contests. In 1980 and 1981, the newspaper won its division of the TPA statewide newspaper contest.

In January 1981, the Judsons purchased the South Jetty and the following September they bought the Refugio County Press which had been a privately held corporation.

They moved to Port Aransas in May 1983 and put the South Jetty in the winners' circle in regional and state contests. In the spring of 1989, the Judsons and George Phenix, former publisher of four Austin-area newspapers, purchased the Goliad Advance-Guard. The newspaper then became an award-winner for the first time in its 135-year history. This spring the Judsons sold their half of the newspaper to Phenix.

Judson was the second woman to serve as president of the South Texas Press Association and she and her father represent the only father-daughter team to lead the STPA.

In Port Aransas, Judson was chairman of the Action Force when, in behalf of the city, the group applied for and was granted a Parks and Wildlife Dept. $750,000 grant for development of a city park. The park is now in its final stage of construction. She is an honorary member of the Port Aransas Garden Club which has spear-headed efforts to raise community awareness regarding litter laws and beautification.

Promotional efforts of the South Jetty earned the newspaper the 1989 Media Award in the Governor's Community Achievement Awards sponsored by Keep Texas Beautiful Inc. The South Jetty took second place in that competition for 1990.

The Judsons recently sold the Refugio County Press and are now concentrating their efforts on the South Jetty and their seven-year-old daughter, Libby.
