Football season to open Friday at Burkburnett

Short-handed and inexperienced, the Hawks will open their 1990 football season Friday night on the road, against their traditional foe, the Bulldogs of Burkburnett.

Kickoff time is 8 p.m. in Bulldog Stadium.

Iowa Park and Burkburnett have been playing each other longer than any other team on the Hawk schedule.

Over the past 21 seasons, they have matched up equally, with the Hawks winning 10 games and the Bulldogs 11.

This is the fourth consecutive year the two clubs have met in season openers, and the outcomes have been as equal as their 21-year record, 2-2.

Iowa Park won last year, 37-23, avenging the 25-12 Burk win the year before. The Hawks did the same thing in 1987, winning 25-18, after losing 14-6 in the '86 opener.

Graduation last spring, and one student transfer, cut Coach Len Williams' bank of experience, leaving only 11 seniors on his roster. So he is counting heavily on underclassmen who were either reserves or junior varsity players last season.

And, then, the injury bug has cut even more deeply into his offensive and defensive lineups.

As of Tuesday afternoon, the Head Hawk was listing five players who were either questionable as to whether they could play Friday, or very likely would not see action.

Linebacker Nathan Perry injured his left shoulder in the first pre-season scrimmage, against Holliday, and was held out of action in the Olney scrimmage. He is listed as questionable.

Starting quarterback Robert Denton left the field Friday without his pads and jersey and has not worked out this week. The junior signal caller has a deep bruise on his shoulder and also is listed as doubtful tomorrow night.

One of the leaders on the line, 222-pound senior tackle Robert Cargal injured his neck Sunday, when he struck the bottom of the swimming pool while diving. He also is listed as doubtful.

Tight end Perry Walls is sidelined by a bruised knee, and likely will not put on the pads for another two weeks, Williams said.

Also on the doubtful-to-play list is junior back Michael Brewer, who suffered a badly-sprained ankle in the Holliday scrimmage.

Youth saves little brother

Sandy Potter called the Emergency 9-1-1 telephone number Aug. 24 and told them her four-year-old son was choking and could not breathe.

But when police and emergency personnel arrived at the 1303 Mockingbird address, everything was fine.

Troy Don Potter, nine, had applied the Heimlich Maneuver to dislodge a piece of candy from brother Toby's throat.

The fourth grader at Bradford Elementary explained he had learned about the Heimlich Maneuver while watching the television show "9-1-1."

Trustees set 96-cent tax rate

Iowa Park school trustees in a called meeting Thursday night approved the year's budget and, by a split vote, a tax rate of 96-cents.

To fund the $6-million budget, four of the seven board members voted to set the new tax rate which is an increase over last year of 15-cents.

Voting for the tax rate were Sherri Kennedy, John Sibley, Denny McCarthy and Jerry Reed. Trustees Randy Catlin, Keith Fisher and Wendall House voted against it.

Prior to the voting, each of the board members expressed their opinions, which varied very little from earlier discussions when meetings were held on the budget.

Supt. Glen Mitchell, prior to the board's discussion, stated, "We have some real sad needs in our school that need to be met. We just have some real needs."

Prior to taking action on the new budget and tax rate, the board took care of a required duty of amending the 1989-90 budget.

Mitchell, after noting the two weeks of inservice by all teachers of the district at a cost of some $200,000, said the year's carryover would be the same as he had been predicting, $750,000.

The carryover, it has been explained, is necessary to fund the school

Permits near $3-million

Building permits issued by the city during August brought the year's total to just under the $3-million mark.

The $128,951 in permits raised the eight-month total to $2,910,203.

Permits issued in August included:

operation until state funds and local taxes start arriving, which is usually in October.

For the first time since the newly-mandated practice of requiring the board to act on all food supply purchases made by the cafeteria, the board had to vote on a half-year bid.

Assistant Superintendent Robert Palmer said Nancy Padgett, who is the

News Briefs

Enrollment climbs to 1,934

Unless some change is made, Iowa Park's population is down from the 1980 report received by the city.

Census takers reported a population of 6,057 this year, down from the 6,173 counted 10 years ago.

According to the report, 191 of the city's 2,417 housing units were vacant while the census was being taken. This would include apartment units.

It is unknown whether an appeal will be filed concerning the accuracy of the count. City leaders were unhappy with the 1980 report and offered their own figures. But the bureau's report was left to stand.

Population count is down

Iowa Park schools have gained 19 more pupils since the first day of classes, and more were expected to enroll this week, according to Supt. Glen Mitchell.

Total enrollment as of Wednesday morning was 1,934, up from the first-day count of 1,915.

Broken down by campus, with first-day counts in parentheses, enrollments Wednesday were: Kidwell, 493 (491); Bradford, 491 (486); junior high, 421 (412); and high school, 529 (526).

'Unusual' shower deposits .10

Iowa Park received .10 of an inch precipitation from an "unusual" shower late Monday afternoon, according to Virgil Woodfin.

The shower was unusual because it was not in the forecast, it was the first in 10 days, and it didn't come in time to mess up the start of dove hunting.

Homecoming parade planned

Theme of this year's IPHS homecoming parade, which is to get underway at 4 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 12, is "At the Movies," according to Carol Venhaus.

Persons wishing to enter floats should call the school, 592-2144, or Mrs. Venhaus, 592-4715, no later than Oct. 2. A map of the lineup will be mailed.

Booth reservations sought

Nonprofit organizations have two weeks in which to pick up their booth reservations for this year's Whoop-T-Do.

The event will be Oct. 13. The options include retaining the same projects, such as a particular game, as the organization had last year. There are no duplications by organizations allowed.

To reserve booth spaces, organizations are to make a deposit of $25 at the Chamber of Commerce office. The deposit is applied to the organization's final bill, which is 10 percent of the gross receipts.

Arts and crafts booth space is $15, also payable to the Chamber.

DR. ERWIN SOELL PREPARES HIS 'FESTIVAL OF GIVING' MEAL ... as Friendly Door rhythm band entertains for United Way Campaign kickoff.

United Way campaign underway

A goal of $67,600 was announced as the mark to shoot for in this year's Iowa Park United Way Drive.

The local United Way cabinet, headed by Leon Stevenson, announced the 5.25 percent increase over last year's gifts at the annual Iowa Park drive kickoff.

The Festival of Giving theme for this year's fund drive was carried out in a noontime food and music festival held Thursday at Park Ford.

While the MuleSkinners were serving hot dogs, the Friendly Door band entertained.

Volunteers, friends and guests, after viewing the 1990 campaign film, received the challenge set by the pacesetter entities to make the goal of $67,600.

Iowa Park's pacesetter, including the City of Iowa Park, Park Ford and TU Electric, got the campaign off to a good start with $3,924.

Local cabinet members on hand for the Festival included: Stevenson, chairman; Ron Barnes, Barnes & Associates; Jan Clapp, Spruiell Drilling; Ed Cockburn, TU Electric; Larry Dutton, Dutton Funeral Home; Rev. Mike Grubbs, First Christian Church; Frank Hardin, Cryovac; Wendall House; Glen Mitchell, Iowa Park schools; Myrna Robinson, Friendly Door; Harold Smith, TU Electric; Glenna Via, Via Insurance Agency; Cathy Voigt, Park

Ford, and Phil Welch, State Farm Insurance.

The United Way's annual campaign is conducted each year on behalf of 33 agencies serving Iowa Park, Burkburnett, Wichita Falls and Sheppard AFB.

Now in its 13th year, Iowa Park's tradition of supporting United Way met the needs of 4,600 Iowa Park residents last year alone with agency services, counseling, day care, educational programs and recreational services.

Residents wanting to help with the campaign, or to make contributions, can contact Stevenson at 592-4106, or the United Way office in Wichita Falls at 322-8638.

The Iowa Park Recreational Activity Club, Inc. board of directors approved a new slate of officers at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

After hearing recommendations from the nominating committee, the board selected the following to serve one-year terms beginning in November: Billy Gilmore, president; Ron Barnes, vice president; Dolores Hamilton, secretary, and Phil Johnson, treasurer. This is the second term for Gilmore and Johnson.

The committee also suggested forming an advisory board which would include interested citizens of the community, and a representative from the high school and junior high.

In other business, a discussion was held on the United Way budget for 1990-91, and the executive director's contract.

Gilmore said that if enough interest is shown, a fall volleyball league will begin Sept. 17. Executive Director Pat Raby told of upcoming events, including two new classes to begin this fall.

WHY SHOULD I TAKE A GENERIC DRUG INSTEAD OF A BRAND NAME PRODUCT

Generic drugs are usually less costly than brand name drugs yet work just as well. A significant portion of the expense of a brand name drug is due to the high cost of research and development associated with the product. Following expiration of the patent on the drug, other pharmaceutical companies can manufacture and distribute generic versions of the drug. The generic drugs are typically much less costly, because their manufacturers do not have to duplicate much of the initial research conducted by the companies marketing the brand name versions.

We will only offer you a generic drug when, in our professional judgement, the generic is just as good as the brand name product and its use will save you money.

WHY ARE GENERICS GETTING SO MUCH ATTENTION IN THE NEWS?

For one thing, it was recently found that some companies used another company's brand name drug instead of their own generic drug in tests for FDA approval. As a result, some generic drugs were never properly tested for safety and efficacy. The products involved in these incidents have been withdrawn from the market. Also, three FDA chemists who review generic drugs for approval admitted they accepted illegal gifts from generic drug companies to speed up the process for approving their drugs.

Now the FDA has expanded its inspection of generic companies and their products to look for other problems. More than 1,000 products have been tested so far. Of these, 99% show no problems.

As I See It...

By BOB HAMILTON

At the risk of boring many who regularly read this space, I'd like to, once again, inform our newcomers about Iowa Park and football.

Iowa Park is a football town. I point this out because the season starts this week, as you probably already know.

There are some who wish it weren't so, primarily because their interests, or that of their children, lie in other activities than football.

And I can understand that. But not to the point of fighting it.

Besides our school system, football is the single topic that most unites our population. Since the demise of the old Texas-Oklahoma Fair, no other activity has brought more favorable publicity to our community.

We have reached the ultimate of success with our Hawks. And we also have reached the ultimate low. By that, I mean we've had a perfect, 15-0 season and won the state championship. And we also know what it is to lose, having had imperfect 0-10 seasons.

Every community needs something around which to rally. In Iowa Park, it seems obvious it is our football Hawks.

I looked at the school's reputation before moving here, and I liked what I saw. There's great pride, when I travel to other parts of the state, in letting it be known I'm from Iowa Park.

"Oh, ya'll have those good football teams, don't you," usually is the comment of some new acquaintance.

I like that. But, I will admit, I would be equally proud if our community were just as much a basketball, track, baseball, soccer, band, debate, choir, whathaveyou, success.

A town that has no rallying point is an unhappy population.

It just so happens, Iowa Park and football are synonymous.

And that's a fact.

food service manager, had "...put in a tremendous amount of work..." to prepare the bid sheets.

Palmer also noted it required several hours to go over the bids received and make recommendations which firms had provided the best bids.

The same procedure will be necessary for the spring semester, he noted.

Trustees voted approval of teacher appraisers, who are Mitchell and Palmer, as well as Weldon Bates, retired superintendent from Bryson.

Also approved were: hiring of Deborah Green as a special education aide for Bradford; accepting a student transfer from City View; additions costing $9,000 to the new agriculture barns; athletic concession stand contracts, and teacher appraisal periods.

Prior to the start of the business session, a 30-minute social period was observed during which board members met new faculty members.

Also, the board recognized a student, Erica Knight, for having participated on the state UIL level. Though a freshman, she placed third in two events at the state track meet.

Prank backfires for foursome

What was intended as a prank has apparently backfired on four young men.

The four, who are not residents of Iowa Park, reportedly picked up a clothes basket full of bars of soap Friday night at Hawk Stadium. The soap had been donated by fans as admission to the Hawks' scrimmage with Olney.

Someone witnessed the theft and the departing vehicle's scraping of a parked vehicle, and reported it to the police.

About an hour later, a vehicle matching the suspects' was involved in a one-car accident on Missile Road, and Wichita Falls police notified the Iowa Park department.

Investigator Ray Smock said yesterday he had interviewed one of the four young men, who had gone to the police station along with his father.

The young man told Smock the basket of soap had been dumped in the residential area before they left the city limits. He volunteered to replace the soap, if it had not been reclaimed, pay for whatever damages that were inflicted on the parked vehicle, and, if necessary, make a public apology.

Officer Smock said he feels the theft was in fact a prank and was not premeditated. He had not, however, interviewed the other three suspects in the case.

Another incident involving the local football program was reported Sunday morning.

Police were told that someone in a vehicle had driven onto the practice fields by the fieldhouse and damaged the surface by spinning tires while turning circles.

Police arrested Roy Rubalcado, 33, in the 500 block of West Highway at 7:14 p.m. Thursday after his vehicle had allegedly scraped another vehicle at Victoria.

Rubalcado was charged with public intoxication and failure to stop and render aid, although there were no injuries in the incident.

He was released at 12:34 a.m. after posting a $265.50 bond, according to the police blotter.

Police continue investigating a reported burglary of a Mini-Con Self-Storage unit on West Highway.

The department was notified Monday morning that the lock on the unit had been broken off and property taken.

The report was filed by the owner's brother, however, and information as to what was taken had not reached the department as of Wednesday.

Worth Quoting

At a noon luncheon over in Midland Tuesday, we heard a discussion that should be more than passing interest to graduates whether they plan to enter a four-year search for a college degree or simply enter the economic work force in this area.

We listened to some people who are intimately involved at the national level in trying to develop a realistic energy policy for the U.S. for the nineties and beyond.

We won't identify the speakers, for obvious reasons, but the scenario goes like this:

The Mid-east has enjoyed a relatively uneasy truce for the past six or seven years -- for the most part, Arabs and the Israelis have not launched major offensives against the other.

And the so-called peace is due largely to the fact that both sides have become much older. Those families who were around when the Israeli state was created have matured, their children have grown up, been educated, and to a large degree, have elected to move to Europe or the United States.

In essence, the two sides of the conflict have "become accustomed to your face!"

But now a new element has been introduced into the boiling pot of the Middle East.

Over 300,000 Russian Jews have immigrated into the Holy Land in the past 18 months under the relaxed policies of the Soviet Union and the pressure for room and land for the new refugees has started anew the chain reaction of violence between Arabs and Jews.

And our speakers were convinced that the violence will get worse, will increase in intensity, will spread to the entire Middle East region, and ultimately, within three to six years, bring about disruption of crude oil to the U.S.

They paint a repeat of the seventies fiasco, with gasoline and fuel oil shortages, price control by the government, and disaster in the marketplace for energy.

As a result, the price of domestic crude will skyrocket.

And $2.00 per gallon gasoline at the pump will be a bargain for most folks.

Couple that scenario with a report out of Austin by a special task force, funded by the Department of Energy, that has been reviewing crude oil reserves of the nation and especially those of the Permian Basin.

And the report, by the Bureau of Economic Geology, has raised the reserves of this region by forty percent.

Raise our reserves by 40 percent, hike the price of crude a few dollars, and the incentive will exist to go after those reserves -- especially in a time of crisis.

The scenario, if it occurs, could bring new life, new emphasis, new technology, and badly needed domestic production to the Permian Basin.

And it could happen just about the time our graduates are receiving those college degrees.

Far-fetched?

Perhaps -- but who would have thought coffee at 60c a cup and earlier this year, tomatoes at $2.59 a pound -- both non-depletable resources.

Anyway, it's a thought! JAMES ROBERTS Andrews County News

I was feeling pretty good about how well we've done in the newspaper business here in Bridgeport until Tuesday afternoon when I picked up a copy of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. I read something in there that said Burt Reynolds and his wife have rented a house in southern California. They will live there while he's working on an upcoming TV series.

They are paying forty thousand dollars a month rent on that house.

That's ten thousand dollars a week!

That's over thirteen hundred and thirty dollars a day!

I couldn't afford to live in a house like that for more than thirty minutes.

And I thought I was doing pretty good.

But I've been trying to tell Rosemary that you don't measure success by the amount of money you have.

I pointed out to her that we have raised four intelligent healthy children and that we have six of the finest grandchildren in the world.

She told me that she knows all that, but that she needs a new pair of shoes.

"I'll bet Burt Reynolds' wife don't have to put cardboard in her shoes to keep the rocks from hurting her feet," she said.

It seems to me like women get their priorities all mixed up.

Now, wouldn't you rather have six grandkids than a new pair of shoes? HARLAN BRIDWELL Bridgeport Index

An Open Letter to the 1980 Graduating Class of Iowa Park High School:

Thank you so very much for the beautiful tribute you paid to the memory of our beloved son, Steve Anderson, when you recently gathered for your 10th Class Reunion.

The words "thank you" are simply inadequate to express the overwhelming joy we felt just knowing that you still carry with you the memory of Steve and the other missing class members (Gerry Boggs, Walter Killingsworth and Randy Rohrbaugh).

The lovely spray of flowers you sent has been placed on Steve's grave as we know this was your wish. We thank you also for sending the brochure celebrating your 10th reunion, which is now occupying a place of "Honor" in our home.

The beautifully written poem entitled "Friends" written by Michael and Debby Smith for these absent class members are among the most meaningful words we have ever read. Thank you for remembering Steve -- this loving memorial would please him so much as it has so deeply touched all of us.

We remember many of you with such fond memories and recall how proud of you we were in 1980 as you graduated. We knew you to be a wonderful group of kids then, and now know you have become quality young men and women who possess deep compassion, lasting love and great Faith in God. What an asset you are to our community!!

As you continue your journey through life, may we wish each of you God's blessings and grace, enabling you to achieve far more than you ever hoped for or dreamed, for you are all so deserving of life's greatest rewards.

Our sincere thanks again, and please know you have our love and best wishes always,

I'm Clement Adams and I'm a lineman with TU Electric. I work with overhead power lines that bring electrical service to our homes. But unfortunately, every year some people come into contact with these high wires and are seriously injured or even killed. Often they may be simply trimming their own trees, installing a TV antenna or just cleaning a pool with a long handled pole.

Electrical safety is a priority.

These types of accidents can be easily avoided. If people would just look up. Keep all objects away from overhead power lines. At TU Electric, we care about your safety. So give yourself a little distance.

IS BAPTISM OPTIONAL?

Many believe that it is. Surely those who hold this view must be startled by some of the language of the apostle Paul. For example, read Romans 6:1-11.

When one is baptized into Christ his former life comes to an end; a new life begins. Is such an ending, and a beginning, optional? I wonder.

Our link to sin has been broken because we were baptized into the death of Christ. The death of Christ became our death. Our relationship to sin has been broken because we were buried with Christ. Suppose for a moment that we have not been united with Christ in His death. What then?

Baptism is "into" Christ Jesus. Paul explains this further in Galatians 3:26, 27...for as many of you as were baptized into Christ have put on Christ." Suppose no baptism has taken place. What then?

Our resurrection is dependent upon our baptism into the death of Christ. "For if we have become united with Him in the likeness of his death, we shall also be in the likeness of His resurrection." (Romans 6:5). Is there any assurance that we will be "with" Christ in a resurrection if we have not been "with" Him in death?

How can one be alive to God in Christ Jesus without having first crucified his old self so that he might no longer be enslaved to sin? Can that be accomplished without baptism?

In looking at the 6th chapter of Romans, F.F. Bruce states: "From this and other references to baptism in Paul's writings, it is certain that he did not regard baptism as an "optional extra" in the Christian life, and that he would not have contemplated the phenomenon of an unbaptized believer."

Don't you tend to agree?

MARK WICKS

Energetic fireman is hard worker at home

By Myrna Smith

You can pretty well get the picture, but not the details, when you pull into the driveway at 800 S. Wall.

You know the mail box is "homemade," you can tell the house of unfinished wood is in some stage of remodeling, and you presume by the half acre of garden that the occupants probably like to live close to nature.

It is the residence of Mark Wicks, a transplanted New York yankee (delete the adjective preceding yankee that Southerners are prone to use). He does have Texas roots and his wife, Suzanne, is a Wichita Falls product.

Energetic, aggressive, and a non-stop worker, Wicks is a 14-year resident of Iowa Park.

A member of the Wichita Falls Fire Department for seven years, he already had "tried out" to see if he liked the job.

Wicks has been assistant fire chief for eight of the 13 years he has served as an Iowa Park volunteer fireman.

He was questioned about that before he was hired in Wichita Falls. Could he take orders when he had been used to giving them? Yes, he could.

"When I got out of high school, I thought I had all the answers. I joined the Air Force and it wasn't long before I knew that wasn't for me," Mark said. He was discharged at Sheppard AFB.

He liked Texas, he liked Iowa Park, and he liked small town living and the slow pace of life. He likes the slow pace around him, but not necessarily for him.

Wicks worked for the Iowa Park Water Department and the Wichita Valley Water Department before becoming a paid fireman. He says, "I guess I just like to play with water."

He is an organic gardening enthusiast. "I first became interested in gardening because my grandmother always planted a lot of flowers. When I was about 12, I bought a 10-speed bike and started going around the neighborhood gathering dead leaves. Then I shoveled them into the ground where I would plant vegetables. He started out with a dozen tomato plants. "My interest progressed from that point." He studied landscaping and horticulture in high school and was put in charge of the greenhouse.

This summer Wicks raised a 46-pound cantaloupe. "I missed the Guinness Book of Records by 10 pounds." He has already decided that he is going to top that record next year.

His 24 hours with the Wichita Falls Fire Department every third day leaves two days between. He must work 40 or more of those hours.

He picks up bags of grass cuttings and leaves over town and makes his compost to rototill into the garden area. He used 5,000 bags of grass clippings in his garden this year.

In winter after the first frost, Wicks uses his lawn mower and cuts up the leaves and grass. "I can't sleep at night a lot of times, so I don't want to waste time." That is one reason he had a street light installed in the garden spot, so he could work at night. If he isn't working in the garden he is building something.

Next year he plans to expand his garden area to a full acre. He made a pledge to himself he would not plant anything that wouldn't produce a harvest. He has grapes, and apple, pear, peach, apricot, pecan and English walnut trees.

However, this year he relented some on his pledge by planting flowers in the yard and in his vegetable garden. He decided they would add some color.

Also one of his daughters wanted a redbud tree, so he has planted that in the front yard. "These are the first things I have planted in 10 years that I didn't get produce from," said Wicks.

He drilled a 31-foot water well by hand auger at night so he could water his garden. This year he said, "There's got to be an easier way." He laid plastic pipe around the garden plot and installed a faucet every 40 feet so he could get better coverage and expedite the process.

"I learn as I go, by trial and error," Wicks said. Adding, "I talk to people who know about the things I want to do, or I read about how others have done. Also, I've talked to many of the older generation and have learned from them a lot about gardening."

"You know," he continued, "they used organic gardening methods whether that was what they called it then or not. They used barnyard manure for fertilizer and put wood ashes on squash to keep the squash bugs off. That really works, I've tried it."

It is pretty much a family project whatever is done around the Wicks household.

When their two girls were babies, Suzanne and Mark made their baby food. And when Vallerie, 8, and Chelsea, 6, got big enough they began helping in the preparation of the garden plot, as well as in the harvest, and preparation thereafter.

Suzanne, with Mark's help most of the time, cans the vegetables and fruits, makes apple sauce and apple pies. Most of the vegetables are canned, but they do freeze onions, green peppers and squash.

"Raising and preserving our own food this way we know there are no harmful preservatives or chemicals to worry about," Mark said.

By the girls helping in the garden, they are getting a good foundation in entomology from their dad. "I explain to them about the different insects, which ones are good and which are bad, and about the good and bad birds."

Each year the Wicks give away garden produce to their neighbors and to older people who need it. "That gives me double enjoyment," said Wicks.

When Mark and the girls get through in the garden they take a plunge in "the old swimming hole," the above ground pool in their back yard.

The Wicks have been married 12 years. Perhaps one reason the couple is compatible is because of their hobbies. Hers is cooking and his is producing what she cooks. In fact, his main hobby is WORK. Suzanne is an "old-fashioned" cook. She makes everything from scratch.

"Learning as you go" is the way Mark has built their living room where their greenhouse used to be. "Suzanne wanted a bay window," said Mark. He started it and with a little help from a friend with a carpenter's square, Suzanne now has a bay window where she will keep her flowers.

Another greenhouse is in Mark's future planning.

He built a fireplace in the living room from rock and will use seasoned mesquite wood to complete it and add to the rustic look of the house. On some of the work he did in the living room, Suzanne read to him instructions while he worked. The room is not yet completed.

They are building on two bedrooms and a large bath, mostly in self defense. They both know when the girls get a little bigger how much time they are going to be spending in their bedrooms and bath.

His next project is the kitchen. He plans to redo the entire kitchen and cabinets, continuing the rustic look.

The Wicks heat their house with wood and keep plenty warm. Early in the morning one of them gets up to "throw another log on the fire" to increase the heat for the start of a new day.

Another "family" member is a beautiful 145-pound Great Dane "puppy" they have had since he was 12 weeks old. It came as no surprise that its name is Pyro, alluding to his master's career as a fire fighter.

Pyro eats with the rest of the family. While Suzanne is preparing the girls' lunches, he has to have a peanut butter sandwich. He eats cheese, pecans, carrots and almost any kind of vegetable. He loves cantaloupe, but won't touch watermelon.

You might call Wicks "Mr. Mom." Suzanne has worked at Wal-Mart for several years. He has kept the children and takes them with him on Iowa Park fire calls. He has been doing that since they were in their carriers.

"I really enjoy keeping the girls," said Wicks. "I wanted children so I could enjoy them and that is what I'm doing."

This is the first year both daughters have been in school. "I'm so lonesome I don't know what to do with myself until they get home," he added.

When he makes fire calls the girls stay in the truck, but they know exactly what is going on. They have seen sadness and tragedy and accept it as a part of life.

"I enjoy helping people," Wicks commented. It gives him satisfaction if he is able to rescue people from burning houses or a car accident.

But he has been on the scene when there are fatalities and there was nothing he could do. He has come home from that kind of situation, got his daughters and just sat and held them close for a long time, thinking how terrible it would be to lose one.

He doesn't have to tell them anything. They don't ask questions, they know something bad has happened to upset their dad.

"Maybe I got some building and gardening instincts from my ancestors," Wicks reasoned.

His ancestors were one of the first 10 families to settle Long Island. The earlier ones were ship builders and in more recent years they have had potato farms.

Wicks can trace his genealogy on his father's side back to the Mayflower, but that's another story. There is a road in the area of Long Island, 45 miles from New York, where his parents still live that is named Wicks Road. His father has been named town historian because of the many years the family has lived there.

Wicks' mother, who was raised in Tyler, met his father during World War II. After the war they moved to Long Island.

Wicks conducts Texas A&M fire fighter training and teaching classes in the area.

"The fire department here has been fortunate to have the cooperation of the city. We have a good working relationship and their support.

Deja vu? Part of this family's life style sounds like a scenario set in the early decades of the 20th century.

Those were the days when more people lived on farms, grew their own food and did not have to have some of the things we think of now as necessities.

It was when children thought nothing of shouldering some of the responsibility of the home, or being expected to do their chores rather than spending the hours in front of a television set.

The Wicks seem to have combined the "pioneering spirit" with the advantages of today and come up with a close knit family.

The well is in a lease about 2.5 miles southwest of Electra.

It was taken to total depth of 1,125 feet and will produce from a perforated interval, 774 to 782 feet into the wellbore.

First production data have been posted to the No. 59 L.K. Johnson in the Choate Field, Foard County, about 15 miles southwest of Crowell.

It flowed 14 barrels of 44-gravity oil plus 67,000 CF gas and nine barrels of salt water per day on flow pressure of 70 PSI. Bottomed at 3,850 feet, it will produce from a set of perforations in the Canyon Reef pay structure, 3,736 to 3,740 feet into the hole.

Kuehne Oil Co., is the operator.

Two 1,300-ft developmental wells are scheduled to be drilled in the Wichita Regular Field, about three miles south of Iowa Park. The wells will be known as the No. 47 and No. 58 T.J. Cole. They potentiated at 25, 70, 22, one and 20 barrels of oil per day, respectively.

Production intervals will range from 1,347 to 1,622 feet for all wells except the No. 109 "A," which was perforated to produce at only 484 to 488 feet.

ABB Oil of Wichita Falls has staked location for the No. 8 Lydia Daume in the Wichita Regular Field, 1.5 miles north of Holliday. It carries authority for 1,900 feet of hole and is situated in the SPRR Survey A-266, 480 feet from the east line and 970 feet from the north line of the survey.

WALLS GOING UP - Workmen are shown lifting pre-cast concrete walls of the gymnasium at Kidwell Elementary this week. The structure will serve two primary purposes: for physical education classes and a storm shelter, both during bad weather.

Cook of the Week

Between raising three active young sons, pursuing her own interests and sharing those interests of her husband, this week's featured cook, Donna (Mrs. Curtis) Williams, gives a true picture of a "mom on the go."

The couple's three sons are Dustin, six years old, Jeremy, four years old and Troy Don, 15 months old.

Besides taking the two older boys to their combined activities of T-Ball, soccer and gymnastics, Donna also enjoys playing volleyball in the city's Sand Action Volleyball League, and is a "very active" member of the Quicksteppers Cloggers. She is also a member of Kidwell P-TA, and the family attend First United Methodist Church.

Donna credits her husband, Curtis, with enabling her to juggle all these activities by helping out so much with the kids.

Curtis, employed by Howmet, enjoys hunting and fishing and is sometimes joined by Donna and the kids.

In gathering recipes for the column, Donna chose several "game" recipes the family uses, since hunting season has just begun. They include recipes for cooking venison, dove, and quail.

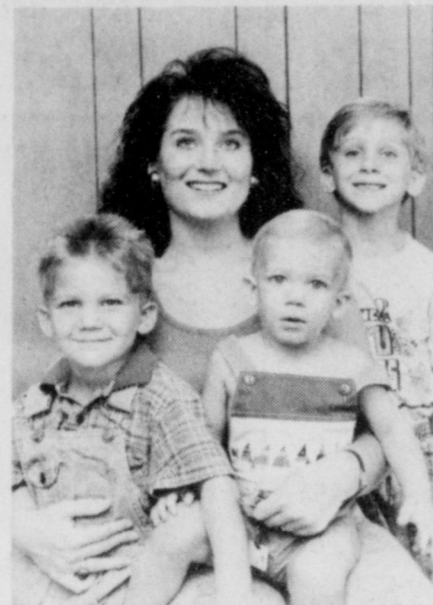

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cook, formerly of Iowa Park and now in Houston, Donna was raised and schooled in Iowa Park. She has worked as a cosmetologist and as a substitute teacher, but now stays home with her children.

City, school meetings set

When the city council and school board meet in their respective sessions next week, aldermen will consider repealing the curfew ordinance and trustees will hear reports by their principals.

The city meeting is set for 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers, and the board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the administration building.

Besides considering the curfew ordinance, which has been used by the city to curb unescorted youngsters from getting out late at night, a contract and four projects also are on the agenda.

Aldermen are to act on contracts received to purchase labor and materi-

Season opener

Two players who will be wearing casts to protect broken thumbs are senior back Don McIlroy and senior tackle Frank Banks.

Banks suffered his fracture during workouts two weeks ago, while McIlroy broke his making a touchdown-saving tackle in the Olney scrimmage.

Both, however, will be playing in Friday's game.

The shoulder injuries of Perry and Denton almost desimated the Hawks' linebacker corps.

Senior Brian Luney, who had been moved from the safety position he played last year to linebacker, was pressed into service as the starting quarterback.

"It would be stupid to ask your quarterback to double up on defense as a linebacker," commented Williams.

Junior varsity quarterback Jason

Miller, a sophomore, was pulled up to the varsity as Luney's backup at quarterback.

The loss of Luney and Perry leaves only Gary Green on the original starting linebacker corps. Green was moved from his 1989 position as defensive end because of his quickness and the move has proven to be extremely effective.

Likely to start offensively with Luney in the backfield would be Greg Steger and Jason Young who will shuttle plays, Mark de la Rosa and Johnny Duggins.

Linemen will be center Lewis Skinner, guards Green and J'Bill Merrick, tackles Banks and Cargal or possibly Scott McNeely or Mike Leeper, and tight ends Chad Witherspoon, Clint Beavers or Chad Reis.

Possible down linemen on defense will be Charles Jolly, Jeremy Pruitt, Cory Bridwell and McNeely or Banks. It was still undecided who would be the linebackers with Green, but starters in the secondary were expected to be Todd Pulley, D. McIlroy, Steger, de la Rosa and Young.

Green will be handling the kickoff chores, Pulley doing the extra point and field goal kicking, and Luney punting.

HELP FOR EXHAUSTED - High school girls' basketball coaches Jimmy Cain and John Hoeller help one of their players that participated in a 'show me your conditioning' test Thursday morning. Cain asked the players to run a mile so he could determine if they were in condition for the start of practice.

COMPETITION CONCENTRATION - Local youth participated in the Optimist Club's annual Tri-Star Football contest Saturday at Griffith Field. Results of the event were not made available for publication.

Cheerleaders' Point of View

The Hawk Cheerleaders excitedly await the first games of our Iowa Park football teams. Not only have the football boys been preparing but the cheerleaders have spent the summer learning cheers, attending camps, meeting with the spirit team and organizing their spirit activities. Friday will be a "Write On Me Day" for the High School. All students and faculty will wear T-shirts to be signed by others. Friday afternoon will be the first pep rally. The spirit will be "high" and our teams will be victorious.

The Harris Rating System feels Iowa Park is a four-point favorite for Friday's season-opener against Burkburnett. Harris has the Hawks with 164 power points and the Bulldogs 160.

ss ss ss ss ss

Other teams rated by the system include Vernon, 191; Breckenridge, 167; Graham, 162; Bowie, 160, and Bridgeport, 155. Other non-conference opponents besides Burk are: Childress, 158; Clyde and Abilene Wylie, both at 152.

Iowa Park doesn't have a player on the Texas Tech football team, now that Charles Perry has completed his eligibility. But Electra freshman Stephen Gaines is called "One of the biggest surprises of the fall has been his quick emergence. The 6-2, 290-pounder is only 17 years old, but has shown unusual maturity." "He has as much potential as anybody we've had here since Gabriel Rivera," says defensive line coach Dean Slayton.

ss ss ss ss ss

"Especially where blocking on offense and tackling on defense were concerned, the Decatur Eagles looked sharp Thursday as they hand-led Wylie, 3-0, in a controlled scrimmage at Wylie," reported the Wise County Messenger.
