Convenient response

When you have a problem, a quick response is best to solve it. That's what happened this week. Monday afternoon a man drove up to the front door of the fire station with the rear of his pickup blazing. It was quickly extinguished. The next day, water began bubbling out of the pavement, when a water line broke, directly in front of City Hall. It was fixed.

Plenty of interest shown in city, coach positions

Who will be the next city administrator and head football coach?

Neither the city council nor school board are ready to answer that question, but indications are both will have a lot of applications from which to choose.

Both positions were vacated when their occupants resigned. Administrator James Barrington's last day with the city was Jan. 3, and Coach Len Williams' resignation is effective at the end of the school year.

Mayor Wayne House said Wednesday the city has already received 45 applications, and even more are expected before the council sets a cutoff date.

The school has had contact with 56 applicants, according to Supt. Glen Mitchell. "And we are still getting calls every day from people interested in it," he said yesterday.

Officially, the school trustees have never said whether they would look outside the personnel already on staff, nor has any sort of advertisement been sent out. All the contacts have apparently been in response to word-of-mouth reports of Williams' resignation.

Advertisements for the city administrator post will have appeared in four different publications, when the Texas Municipal League's magazine appears Jan. 15, House said.

The mayor said he expects council members will want to cut off other applications at the end of this month.

Because the TML publication has yet to appear, it appears more applications have been received from other states than Texas, thus far.

Barrington had estimated at least 75 applications would be received for the council's consideration.

Iowa Parkan manages grocery store in Cuba

By J01 Gregg L. Snaza

It's easy to take grocery shopping for granted in the United States. Every city has stores that range from the corner grocery store to the large chain supermarkets. There's a store for everyone in America.

Not so, however, for Navy people stationed in places like Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Mess Management Specialist Second Class Donald Duerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duerson of Iowa Park, is a manager for the navy commissary at Naval Station Guantanamo Bay.

"The commissary is the only place to shop on base," says the 29-year-old Duerson. "While people stationed in Cuba don't have the variety available Stateside, our commissary does do a good job of having a little bit of everything."

As a manager at the commissary, Duerson is responsible for the job assignments of all shelf stockers and cashiers. He also orders the stock and tries to make sure the customers have the very best selection to choose from.

Duerson says being stationed in Cuba is not at all glamorous. The naval base is separated from the rest of the island by rigid security and is a visible reminder of cold war politics.

"You can't leave the base," said Duerson. "It's often tough finding things to do. I'm glad that I love to golf and swim, because there's not too much more to do other than that."

While Duerson is busy managing the commissary, his wife Dori serves the people stationed at Cuba in another way.

"Dori is the editorial assistant for the Guantanamo Gazette, the base

City council, school board meetings have highlights

Bids and the superintendent's contract highlight the agenda for next week's meeting of the school board, while the city council will be considering three financial matters.

The city is to meet at 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers, while the trustees are to meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the administration building.

January is traditionally the month in which the school board goes into executive session to review the previous year's work of the superintendent, and then go into open session to act on either extending his contract, or to not extend it.

All other administrators and key personnel contracts are considered in February, if the schedule set in previous years is followed.

Bids to be considered are for the sale of a tract of unused land, and for the purchase of library books, cafeteria items, and maintenance and custodial supplies.

Another bid trustees will consider is for the moving of two portable classroom buildings from the Bradford Elementary campus to the Junior High campus.

The buildings, it is planned, are to be joined once relocated, and used for the special education functional living center.

Board members are also expected to set a time and procedures to follow in employing a new head coach and athletic director, to fill the vacated position left by the resignation of Len Williams.

Resignations of a second grade teacher and special education teacher will be received, and employment of replacements considered.

Supt. Glen Mitchell is to report on

Man facing charge for drug possession

Iowa Park police arrested a 30-year-old man early Wednesday morning on a charge of drug possession.

When officers stopped a vehicle at 3:53 a.m. in the 200 block of West Highway, a standard computer check of the driver was made and he was found to have outstanding warrants against him by the Wichita County sheriff's office.

Terry Lee Harnsberger was transported to county jail on those warrants.

But when officers were inventorying the vehicle for impoundment, a plastic bag containing an off-white substance was found under the driver's seat. A field test identified the sub-

Chamber banquet tickets available at business sites

Tickets for the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet went on sale this week at five different locations, according to Susan Dillard, secretary.

Besides the Chamber office, tickets can be purchased at Hughes Pharmacy, K&K Food, Parkway and the Iowa Park Leader.

Purchases made before the Jan. 26 event will be sold for $8. However, those purchased at the door will be $9.

The banquet, which has long been the major social event annually in the city, will be held at the Iowa Park High School cafeteria.

As in the past, the meal will be catered by the Iowa Park MuleSkinners, who will be serving their popular beef brisket with all the trimmings.

Entertainment will be provided by the North Texas Men's Choir, many of whom are Iowa Park residents.

Guest speaker will be Ron Mertens of the Wichita Falls Board of Commerce and Industry.

Theme of the decorations this year will be U.S. Air Force, in honor of the 50th anniversary of Sheppard Air Force Base.

The highlight of every annual banquet is the presentation of awards to residents, including Outstanding Citizen of the Year, Outstanding Educator, Outstanding Agriculturist and Outstanding Senior Citizen.

Commodities to be distributed

Distribution of U.S.D.A. food commodities will be held from 12-noon until 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 17, at the First Christian Church, according to Marian Andersen, coordinator.

To be distributed this month will be rice, flour, peanut butter, honey and butter.

All recipients must be recertified for the new year by identifying the family's gross monthly income, showing proof of residency and having some official form of identification.

is a civil service worker, so if she stays with it, she'll be able to get a higher-paying job when we do transfer."

A 1980 graduate of Iowa Park High School, Duerson knew about groceries before he joined the navy. He worked for H&S Food Store in Iowa Park, and also Eddy's Garage in Wichita Falls, before enlisting in the Navy.

"When I went to see the Navy recruiter, the only thing I knew for sure was that I wanted to join right now," says Duerson. "I really would have preferred to come in the navy as a data processing technician, but there weren't any jobs available at that time. I'd always enjoyed cooking, so I figured why not give that a shot."

"The reason I joined the navy was to get some on-the-job training and save some money for college," he said. "While I probably haven't saved as much money as I would have liked, I've enjoyed my time in the navy."

Following recruit training (boot camp) at San Diego, Calif., Duerson checked aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Saipan (LHA-2) homeported in Norfolk, Va. for his first tour of duty.

"My job aboard the Saipan was to cook for the chief petty officers," says Duerson. "In the three and a half years I was stationed aboard her, I received excellent training and got to be quite a good cook."

Duerson's second assignment was to the naval Support Activity, New Orleans, La. There, he managed the Bachelor Officer's Quarters.

"Being stationed in New Orleans was great," says Duerson. "The command was small enough for everyone to know each other, and managing the

Quadrennial experiences told by CWF members

At the Monday meeting of Christian Women's Fellowship in First Christian Church Fellowship Hall, four members told of their experiences at the Quadrennial they attended in June.

Presenting the program were Coleta Grubbs, Kristi Lane, Majil Pittman and Helen Roberts. It included a slide presentation and each of the members related memories of the meeting of the International Christian Women's Fellowship.

Every four years the Quadrennial is held at Purdue University in West Lafayette, Ind., where more than 4,000 women attended in June 1990.

Memories ranged from fellowship, to being "recharged" with fellow Christians, to experiencing the power of a group united, to turning to a neighbor and seeing "the face of God."

The worship was taken from a Quadrennial worship service at Purdue University. Members sang "I Come with Joy" prior to serving communion, and "In Your Body, Lord," following communion.

To conclude the worship, each one was presented a mantle from the Quadrennial which were cloths from around the world, representing different countries present. As each member received her mantle she was commissioned "to go and do what you are able to do." The program closed with the group repeating the CWF benediction in unison.

President Carrie Turner presided over the business meeting. The service co-chairman presented the idea of a bakeless bake sale and a dish towel shower for the church kitchen.

CWF members are saving Betty Crocker points to acquire silverware for the parlor in the Clark Memorial Wing.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Carey Roberts, and members looked at the display of mememos brought back by Quadrennial participants

The next meeting will be Feb. 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the Church Fellowship Hall with Dr. Patsy Stutte as guest speaker. The topic will be Health Care Issues.

UMW circles meet

Mrs. S.B. Keeter was program leader for the Tuesday morning meeting of Bertha McDonald Fellowship of United Methodist Women in the home of Mrs. Gene Owens.

For the program on Seasons of a Woman's Life, Mrs. Keeter used the story of Ruth and Naomi.

Through the story of Ruth and Naomi as related in the Scriptures, the speaker introduced the image of seasons and new life at any age.

Members of the Fellowship decided to become more active as Friends of the Nursing Home.

Refreshments were served to nine members.

Jo Gilbert, president of United Methodist Women, presented the program on the chosen study topic for the meeting of Jessie Mae Owens Circle.

The meeting was held Tuesday morning in the home of Mary Mixon. Leader Carlene Bennett conducted the business meeting, when new year books were distributed to members.

Chamber president speaks to Evening Lions Club

Joe Hughes, newly elected president of Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, spoke to the Evening Lions Tuesday.

Introduced by Lee Pelz, Hughes discussed some of the accomplishments of the chamber during 1990 and told of plans for the new year.

Hughes said the chamber, like any other organization, is as strong as its members and that limited membership means limited funds. He stressed the need of businesses and individuals becoming members of the chamber, saying that it works only with volunteers.

Reviewing activities of 1990, he said the chamber sponsored the Whoop-T-Do, as it has for several years, and also brought in three play-off football games.

Currently, the chamber is working closely with Sheppard Air Force Base to celebrate its 50th anniversary, Hughes stated. He said the secretary sends out literature to other communities and to people who are considering moving to the city.

According to Hughes, the organization will continue doing the same things during this year and will concentrate on promoting more activities in the downtown area.

He explained to the Lions that they can support the Chamber of Commerce by becoming individual members and sharing their ideas about possible projects or improvements that would be conducive for people to want to move and live in Iowa Park. He also advised to "Shop in Iowa Park First" if at all possible.

Jerry Pruett was in charge of the business session and C.L. Thompson, zone chairman, reminded members of the mid-winter conference which was held Saturday and Sunday at the Wilbarger Auditorium in Vernon.

Epsilon Eta chapter meets

Epsilon Eta Chapter members met in the home of Connie Morris with Essie Johnson as co-hostess. Dee Dee Forney conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. Forney reported that all items of door prizes, raffles and goodie bag items need to be taken to the District VI meeting to be held Jan. 20 in Arlington.

There will be a meeting in the home of Lela Mercer to work on State Convention favors and decorations Jan. 15.

Mrs. Morris introduced the program which was given by Cyndy Dickerson on St. Jude's Research Hospital. She stated that new medical knowledge results from any research program is freely shared with other researchers and doctors throughout the world.

Many physicians and medical institutions are now using the treatment techniques (or protocols) that were developed at St. Jude on their own patients.

Mrs. Dickerson said that St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was a dream of Danny Thomas, which became a reality and brought forth another dream that at one time would have been considered impossible: a dream that someday no child will be lost because of catastrophic illness.

She also showed a film "Right Time" and "For the Life of a Child."

The next meeting will be Jan. 22 in the home of Mrs. Mercer.

Aimee Trantham

An eighth grader with culinary instincts elected to be our Cook of the Week this week.

When asked by a relative what she wanted for Christmas, Aimee Trantham, 14, quickly answered, "I want to be Cook of the Week for the Leader."

Though a little late, she had her wish granted and because she did, recipe collectors and those who just like to try new recipes will benefit.

Aimee especially likes to prepare desserts, however, she "just likes to cook" and would like to get other young people interested in the art of cooking instead of "just eating."

The personable teenager who seems to be sure of what she wants, has had an interest in cooking since she was five years old. She had a stove she could bake cakes in and that's when it all began.

Her aunt, Shirley Lowrey, helped her learn to cook, and another aunt, Barb (Mrs. Ron) Lowrey, a dietician in California, has encouraged her bent. She sent Aimee a recipe book when she found out she was interested in cooking. And, she sends her recipes that she thinks she would like.

Another thing the honor student ("I make As in everything except Science") is sure of at this point is that she wants to attend the University of Texas and play with the Lady Longhorns. Aimee is a member of the Junior High Girls Basketball Team, is on the newspaper staff and on the Junior High School annual staff.

What she isn't decided about is whether she wants to become a sociologist like her sister, Dana, in California, or a dietician like her Aunt Barb.

The past summer Aimee went on a school sponsored trip to Washington, D.C. where her favorite places she got to visit were the White House and the Washington Monument.

She also made a trip to California with her mom to visit relatives and she brought back one of her sister's recipes that she shares with you today.

The energetic young cook is a daughter of Buddy Trantham and Carolyn Trantham, both of Iowa Park. Her dad is an employe of PPG and her mother is secretary to O.N. Newman. She also has another sister, Wendy, who lives in Wichita Falls.

PORK MARSALA

This recipe was sent to Aimee by her Aunt Barb. It serves four.

- 1 pound pork tenderloin
- 1 T. butter or margarine
- 1 T. vegetable oil
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- one-half cup dry red wine
- 1 t. garlic salt
- 1 t. tomato paste
- one-half pint fresh mushroom caps
- 1 T. chopped fresh parsley
- hot cooked noodles or rice

Cut tenderloin into four equal pieces. Place each piece between two sheets of wax paper; flatten to one-fourth inch thickness, using meat mallet or rolling pin.

Heat butter and oil in large skillet over medium heat. Add pork, cook three to four minutes on each side or until browned. Remove pork from skillet; keep warm. Sauté garlic in pan drippings in skillet. Add wine, tomato paste and garlic salt, stirring until blended, add mushroom caps and simmer three to five minutes. Return pork to skillet and cook until thoroughly heated. Sprinkle with parsley and serve over hot noodles or rice.

COFFEE CRUNCH CAKE

This is the recipe Aimee got from her sister in California.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Have eggs at room temperature. Sift flour before measuring. Use level measurements.

Measure and sift together into a bowl:
1 and one-fourth C. flour
three-fourth C. sugar

Make a well in center and add the following mixture:

- one-half C. egg yolks (6) or substitute Egg Beaters, well thawed, or Second Nature (egg product that is not frozen but stays fresh in refrigerator for a long time.

one-fourth C. cold water

1 T. lemon juice

1 t. vanilla

Beat until a smooth, moderately thick batter is formed.

Measure into a very large bowl:

1 C. egg whites (seven or eight)

1 t. cream of tartar

1 t. salt

Whip until a very fine foam forms. Add three-fourths cup sugar gradually. Continue beating until meringue is firm and holds up in straight peaks.

Four batter slowly over meringue while gently folding in with spoon or rubber scraper. Fold just until blended. DO NOT STIR. Gently push batter into ungreased tube pan, 10x4 inches. Lift last portion lightly from bowl to pan. Carefully cut through batter, going around tube five or six times with a silver knife to break large air bubbles. Be sure batter is level in pan.

Bake 50 minutes or until top springs back when lightly touched. Immediately turn pan over, placing tube part over neck of funnel or bottle. Let cake hang until cold. Loosen cake from sides and tube with knife. Turn pan over and hit edge sharply to loosen.

COFFEE CRISP TOPPING

Measure in sauce pan (at least five inches deep):

1 and one-half C. sugar

one-fourth C. coffee beverage

one-fourth C. white corn syrup

Stir to combine ingredients. Bring to boil and cook to hard crack stage, 310 degrees (or when a small amount is dropped into cold water it will break with a brittle snap). Remove from heat and immediately add three t. soda, free from all lumps. Press soda through fine sieve, measure lightly). Stir vigorously, just until mixture thickens and pulls away from sides of pan. Mixture foams rapidly when soda is added. DO NOT DESTROY FOAM BY EXCESSIVE BEATING. Immediately pour foamy mass into ungreased shallow metal pan (about 9x9x1 and one-half inches). DO NOT SPREAD OR STIR. Let stand without moving until cool. When ready to garnish cake, knock out of pan and crush between sheets of waxed paper with rolling pin to form coarse crumbs. Split cake into four equal layers. Have ready:

CRUSHED COFFEE CRISP TOPPING

Place in chilled bowl:

2 C. whipping cream (1 pint)

3 T. sugar

2 t. vanilla

Whip until cream holds its shape. Spread about half of the whipped cream between layers and the remainder over top and sides. Cover cake very generously and thoroughly with crushed Coffee Crisp topping. Whipped cream should be entirely covered. Keep in refrigerator until served.

SWEET STICKY ROLLS

This is one of Aimee's favorite recipes from the California Lowreys. The recipe will serve eight.

- 1 pkg. frozen rolls or bread
- 1 box butterscotch pudding (not instant)
- one-half c. sugar
- 1 cube margarine
- 2 T. cinnamon
- 1 c. chopped nuts
- one-half c. raisins

Slice frozen bread and cut into one inch cubes or cut frozen rolls into four pieces. Place in bottom of greased bundt pan. Pour dry pudding mix over rolls. Melt margarine, sugar and cinnamon together. Spoon over top of pudding and rolls. Sprinkle with nuts and raisins.

Let rise overnight out of the refrigerator, but cover it with foil. Next morning, remove foil and bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Let set a few minutes, then turn out onto a plate.

The Flu and You

- The flu is a mild infection of the nose, throat and lungs which spreads quickly from person to person. It strikes millions every year, especially in the winter months.
- The usual symptoms of the flu are: weakness, cough, headache, fever, chills, muscle aches and watery eyes.
- For most people a few days of bedrest, plenty of fluids, and a pain reliever will be the best treatment.
- Due to the possibility of developing Reye Syndrome, children and teens should be given a non-aspirin pain medication to relieve flu symptoms.
- In most otherwise healthy people, flu is usually a mild disease. But in the elderly, or in those suffering from chronic illness such as heart disease, emphysema, asthma, kidney disease, diabetes or AIDS, the flu can be life-threatening.
- The risk of fatality in the chronically ill or elderly is from developing secondary infections, the most severe of these being pneumonia.
- Because the elderly are prone to develop pneumonia along with the flu, many doctors recommend that their older patients get a flu shot.
- Flu shots are not recommended for people who are allergic to eggs, or for women in their first three months of pregnancy.
- If fever persists for more than five or six days, your doctor should be called since this could indicate that a more serious infection is present.

For more information about the flu- Ask your pharmacist.

As I See It . . . By Bob Hamilton

Reading and watching some of the news reports coming out this week from Washington, D.C. have turned my stomach.

I'm not sure there is any way anyone could convince me that all this talk by the Democratic leadership, concerning the Middle East situation, is not a concerted attempt to embarrass Pres. George Bush.

Where were all these congressmen and their comments while the United Nations was taking up the issue of the invasion by Iraq?

The Democratic leadership is saying the economic boycott should be left in place, and forget the Jan. 15 deadline, which was set by the United Nations, after which armed force might be used.

Those patsies apparently were never faced by a bluffing bully.

When we were kids, and a bully started giving us a hard time because he knew he was larger and stronger than us, it was natural to pick up the biggest stick we could find and tell him to back off.

If the bully knew full well we weren't about to use that stick, what kind of reaction do you think we would have gotten?

You're right. Absolutely nothing, as far as his backing off. But you're also right, if you figured we would also get a very bloody nose.

It's time for the Democratic leadership to give the world an indication of a unified United States, just like the world knows the United Nations is unified in this situation.

This is no time for the Democrats to roll up their sleeves in a political move. This current fiscal year's elections are already over.

much more at stake here than ethics reform.

Redistricting, Income Tax

Although he's a Democrat, party purists do not consider Lewis one of them because he has always given Republicans their share of leadership roles in the House.

And in this redistricting year, the liberals still remember all too well how ten years ago Lewis' predecessor, then-Democrat Bill Clayton, helped draw district lines which gave the GOP over one-third of the House seats.

Remember, Clayton was indicted during the 80s redistricting wars in the Brilab sting, then acquitted, and his supporters, Gib Lewis among them, thought the indictment was a deliberate set-up.

Though not as conservative as House Republicans would like, Lewis is still regarded as a closed-door to such liberal programs as a state income tax, increased education funding, and expanded membership on numerous state boards to provide for minority appointments.

Yes, Texas politics is a contact sport.

Officials Sworn In

Easterners who think Texas is dragging its heels through history might take a look at the "firsts" among the officials sworn into office last week.

Prominent among them are Dan Morales, first Hispanic to become attorney general; Texas Court of Criminal Appeals Justice Morris Overstreet, first black elected statewide; State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison, first woman Republican elected statewide; and Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry, the first Republican elected to that office.

Term Limits Proposed

Supporters of a nationwide campaign to limit lawmakers' terms in office launched a campaign to let Texas voters decide the issue.

The effort, headed by unsuccessful lieutenant governor candidate Rob Mosbacher Jr., will seek a constitutional amendment limiting all statewide elected officials and senators — both state and federal — to two terms.

Gov.-elect Ann Richards has said she supports term limitations and Lt. Gov.-elect Bob Bullock has indicated he would favor a limit.

Speaker Lewis apparently does not. "Recent experience is that about 20 percent of the House members turn over every two years, and that's already an effective term limitation," said John Bender, his press secretary.

In recent months, voters in Oklahoma, Colorado and California have passed term-limitation laws.

Arco Fined $3.48 Million

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration announced that Arco Chemical Co. has agreed to pay a fine of $3.48 million for safety violations related to the explosion that killed 17 workers at the company's plant in Channelview, a Houston suburb.

The company also agreed to put in place worker-safety programs at its four plants across the country in what agency officials said could be a model for the petrochemical industry.

Despite its decision to pay the fine, Arco stopped short of accepting blame for the accident. "In our agreeing to pay, we have not agreed with all the citations, but feel it is in the interest of everyone concerned," said the company's president, John G. Johnson Jr.

Other Highlights

■ Thus far, Texas companies have led the way in contracts related to the supercollider project — $35.2 million, or 28.3 percent of the budget.

■ Texas is one of 22 states which will have a budget deficit this year. Other states in red ink blame the recession and federal mandated spending.

■ Major Texas lenders cut their prime lending rate by half a point to 9.5 percent, the first drop in almost a year.

■ Henry Cisneros, former mayor of San Antonio, is considered a leading candidate for appointment to the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas.

barracks gave me a chance to learn another aspect of my job that will help me with advancement."

In August of 1988, Duerson was given another opportunity to expand his knowledge of food service programs. He was selected to attend the Navy's butcher school.

"There are only a few butchers in the Navy," said Duerson. "Most of the butchers that cut meat at Navy commissaries are civilians. I feel very fortunate to have been given the opportunity to become one of the few military meat cutters in the Navy."

Stocking shelves was put on hold for Duerson in June when he was selected to leave Cuba to be part of the Navy's annual UNITAS cruise.

"I was selected to be on the staff of Commander South Atlantic Force, for UNITAS 90, as the admiral's cook," he said. "While leaving my wife and son behind was tough, I think they realized how important this assignment could be to my career. It was a very rewarding cruise."

UNITAS 90 is a yearly naval exercise involving the navies of the United States and nine South American countries.

Duerson had the opportunity to visit some of South America's finest liberty ports, such as Manta, Ecuador, Valparaiso, Chile, Montevideo, Uruguay, and Rio De Janerio, Brazil.

He also transited in the Panama Canal, the Straits of Magellan, and crossed the equator in both the Pacific and Atlantic oceans.

While many sailors are undecided about whether or not to stay in the Navy 20 years, Duerson says he is definitely "career bound."

"I'm proud of what I have done in the Navy," says Duerson. "The Navy has given me self respect and a lot of discipline that I wouldn't have had if I'd stayed a civilian. My goal is to retire in 20 years as a master chief petty officer (the highest enlisted rank attainable), and then settle down in the Corpus Christi area.

"I am still undecided about where to go for my next assignment. I'd like to move out to the West Coast and see some of that area, but I also want to make sure that I go to the most challenging job possible," he concluded.

AUSTIN - Embattled House Speaker Gib Lewis, facing two indictments for misdemeanor ethics violations, entered an innocent plea and is expected to be elected to a history-making fifth term this week.

Meanwhile, the district attorney pursuing Lewis said his probe is widening to include other legislators and lobbyists.

Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle also warned reporters that he fears Lewis and his lieutenants will cut state funding for his Public Integrity Unit which investigates state officials.

He can certainly bet that some lawmakers will question his use of state funds to produce two misdemeanor indictments against the speaker in the eleventh hour of his re-election.

Earle has aired some tantalizing accusations, but whether or not Lewis is guilty, Earle's timing smacks of partisan politics, too.

No Opponent in Sight

The prime obstacle to Lewis' re-election never materialized: an opponent who officially filed for the speaker's race with the Texas secretary of state.

Several names have surfaced as successors should Lewis step down, but all are in his inner circle; as of last week, no real threat was in sight and he has the loyalty of much of the House.

Why the hit on Lewis? Certainly ethics restrictions must be drawn tighter. But as to the political motives, many believe there's

Residents urged to care for birds

Winter is a tough time for wild birds to find food, so the Iowa Park Garden Club is encouraging all residents of the community to take part in caring for them.

In fact, since the city has been designated a bird sanctuary, "We all need to take responsibility in caring for our wild bird population," writes Mrs. Bill Gilmore, Garden Club member.

"It has been argued that we should not feed birds, or they will forget to go south in the winter. But regardless of the cause, we have a large number of year-round avian residents, and as the days grow colder, we need to not only feed them, but also provide some weather protections as well. This is mostly accomplished with evergreen trees, shrubs and bushes, but the addition of ledges under sunny-side eaves will provide welcome shelter from the elements.

"The winter diet for birds should contain plenty of suet, which will aid in their growing a fatty insulation, while providing much-needed energy. Although there are commercial suet feeders on the market, a mesh onion bag serves just as well.

"Also, remember to keep the ice cleared in birdbaths, unless you care to invest in one of the heating devices for this purpose.

"In the spring, your enjoyment in watching the nesting process can be increased by placing bits of colored yarn or string on limbs, or on the ground, where birds will pick them up to use in nest construction. The colors will help you spot a nest that otherwise might be camouflaged with earth tones. Also, the lint from your dryer filter might provide the finishing touch to luxury nests!

"Perhaps the most difficult aspect of the sanctuary responsibility is accepting grackles and starlings. Their presence at the feeding stations can be more tolerated by simply supplying cheaper foods, such as cracked corn, tossed on the ground some distance from regular feeders. This seems to be an easier solution than being constantly on the alert to frighten them away. And, after all, they are hungry, too! Under no circumstances are you to resort to air-guns, sling-shots, or other means of destroying any form of birdlife within the city limits," Mrs. Gilmore writes.

FFA Stock shows to be discussed

The FFA Booster Club will hold a meeting and covered dish dinner at 7 p.m. Monday at the vocational agriculture building.

Major stock shows, such as in Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston, will be discussed, and plans for local and county shows will be made.

Any member expecting to enter these shows are urged to attend. Those attending should bring covered dishes.

Firemen honor two members

Two members of the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department were honored and new officers installed, during the organization's annual banquet Saturday night.

Greg Wood was presented the Fireman of the Year Award, while the Special Services Award went to John Virgin.

Service pens were given to Dale Hayley and James McCord.

Mayor Wayne House installed the new officers for 1991, including: Donald Jones, president; Lee Uhren, vice president; Archie Layfield, secretary; Danny Skinner, chief; Mark Wicks, assistant chief; Charles Wright, captain; Doug Albus, chaplain; and Albus, Wood and Bob Evans, trustees.

In his annual report of the year, Chief Skinner said the department answered more calls, 412, in 1990 than any other year. The total included 278 fires and 134 Emergency Medical Service calls.

Sixteen members of the department attended 100 or more fires during the year.

Other highlights of the year included delivery of the new pumper truck, which Skinner says is the best of any volunteer department in this part of the country, installation of a new communications room at the South Station, induction of six new members, and delivery of toys to 43 children for Christmas.

The banquet was held at the First Christian Church and was catered by the MuleSkinners. Bob Hamilton was guest speaker.

Susan Wicks presented favors to members of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Heritage Manor Activities

We hope everyone enjoyed the holidays. Many residents went home to visit family and enjoy a homecooked meal. We had other visitors at the home throughout the day bringing Christmas cheer and sharing the day with us.

We finished up our parties with First Baptist Church from Holliday. At their Christmas party they brought Santa Claus with gifts and refreshments. The group sang carols in the halls for all the residents to enjoy.

Frank Johnson, son of Jessie Johnson, brought the staff cookies, party mix and homemade candy.

Starting this month the Humane Society will visit us with a "Pets on Wheels" program. Our residents are really looking forward to this activity.

Bill Hogan and Eula White are starting off the new year with birthdays this month. Best wishes to them and hope they have many more birthdays.

I would like to apologize for an error in the last news article. Helen Stewart is the daughter of James Porter and Minnie Smith's daughter is Pauline Huff.

Annie Johnson returned from the hospital. We are glad to have her back. She loves everybody and anything done for her. We missed you, Annie.

Our bingo winners for the last two weeks are Bettie Smith, Cora Lewis, Roberta Spears and Annie Clifton. Others include Troy Robinson, Eltha Kirkpatrick, Marion Gray and Leola Dodd.

We would like to thank the volunteer firemen for responding so quickly when we needed their help. It's good to know we can depend on the community when the need arises.

We're anticipating bigger and better things in 1991 and we're inviting you to share them with us.

PATIENCE

She sat there, belligerent, and blurted out, "My parents want us to wait to get married, but we want to get married now." A boy said, "Daddy says I have to wait until next year to start dating. I think that's unfair." A businessman said, "I jumped into the deal and got burned. I wish I had waited." An old man said philosophically, "Rome wasn't built in a day." The plaque on the wall read, "All things come to him who waits."

Don't we need patience? We are always in a hurry, impatiently tapping our foot on the gas pedal, waiting for the light to change. A child would always desire to be older. This burning ambition to get on with it has produced what is called a rootless or tumble weed culture in which people are unsettled, insecure. This produces alcoholism, drug addiction, high divorce rates, mental breakdowns, and a higher and higher consumption of sedatives.

Have you ever stopped to ask, "Is this God's way to live?" We are in a hurry, but is God? Look at the Bible and you will find the word "patient." In Psalm 40:1 "I waited patiently for the Lord." In the New Testament repeated references. It is obvious - God is not in a hurry and never has been. 2 Peter 3:8 says, "one day with the Lord is a thousand years, and a thousand years is a day."

When Jesus came there was an unbroken serenity and patience in his life. Thirty years went by before He ever began His ministry. To his mother who would push Him forward He said, "My time has not yet come." In essence Jesus was saying, I know what my task is. There are twelve hours in a day - long enough to accomplish what I am here to do. My time is in God hands. He never complained. He serenely moved in the will and purposes of God.

Would it not be a wonderful thing if we could have this spirit of Jesus Christ in our lives? Would not a change come into your life if you could be like Jesus? Patient, confident of the will and purposes of God in your life, willing to live everyday as it comes. You say, "I want it. Where can I buy it?" It's not bought and can only be learned on your knees. Patience comes from God and it has to be practiced. It takes prayer and practice to be patient.

FRIDAY AT BRIDGEPORT

Hawks to open district schedule

Coach Earnie Reusch may have scheduled the previous two games to prepare his Hawks for the tough Dist. 5-AAA schedule that starts Friday.

Eventhough they lost both the two final non-conference contests, the Hawks were competitive with the Class AAAA clubs.

Iowa Park travels to Bridgeport tomorrow for an 8 p.m. conference opener, and returns home Tuesday to take on Graham.

In the first of their two final non-conference games, the Hawks had to travel to Wichita Falls to take on the Coyotes, easy 23-point winners of the season-opening game.

The game may have been an indication of the Hawks' improvement, because Old High had to battle to claim a narrow, 69-62 win on their home court. The first game between the two was played here.

The Coyotes jumped out to a 29-20 lead by the end of the first period, but Iowa Park's aggressive defense forced numerous turnovers in the second frame and pulled to within two, 39-37, by halftime.

The hosts managed to hold narrow scoring leads through the third and fourth quarters, 11-8 and 19-17.

Brent Wineinger and Todd Pulley, the tallest and shortest players on the Hawk squad, led in scoring with 18 and 11 points, respectively.

Tuesday's final non-conference game was at Burkburnett, home of the third-ranked AAAA clubs in Texas. It was the only scheduled contest this year between the two clubs.

And the Hawks came back with a score that many felt they would be unable to hold the high-scoring Burk bunch, only 86-54.

Burkburnett, now 17-3, used the third period to build the main point differential, after outscoring the Hawks only 17-10 and 19-18 through the first two quarters for a 36-28 halftime lead.

The 'Dogs hammered the Hawks 24-8 in the third quarter and added a 26-18 fourth period for the win.

Again it was Wineinger who led Iowa Park in scoring, with 20 points. Jon Hankins had 15.

Iowa Park enters district play with a season record of 4-11.

Junior High girls win meet

Iowa Park Junior High's girls basketball teams have been on a roll since the Christmas holidays, winning five out of six games.

The Seventh Grade won its own tournament bracket Saturday. Eighth Grade games were cancelled because of bad road conditions.

Then, Monday night the Junior Lady Hawks won three of four games with Bowie.

The Seventh Grade advanced to the tournament championship by defeating Notre Dame 32-10.

A 27-18 score against City View earned the tourney title. In that game, Dusti Welch scored eight points and Julie Ricks had seven. Both Seventh Grade teams easily defeated Bowie Monday. The "A" score was 28-15 and the "B" was 16-2.

In the "A" game, Welch, Ricks, Amanda Thompson and Lori Spruiell each accounted for six points. Penny Bradberry and Crystal Cavinder also had six in the "B" game.

Kelli Thompson led the Eighth Grade "B" team's 24-15 win over Bowie, scoring 13 points.

Bowie edged the Eighth Grade "A" by a narrow 32-27 margin. Leading local scorers were Mandi LaBrier, eight, and Lori Kasparek, six.

Lady Hawks 2-0 in district play

The Lady Hawks will carry their unblemished district record to Bridgeport Friday night with an eye on returning with a 3-0 conference and 17-6 season record.

Coach Jimmie Cain's crew opened district play here Saturday night, after road conditions delayed the district opener one day, with a 48-39 win over Breckenridge, and Tuesday won 52-43 at Vernon.

The Bridgeport game is to start at 6:30 p.m., according to the schedule. And that's the same starting time for Tuesday's contest here with the Lady Blues of Graham.

Iowa Park's hustling defense forced Breckenridge into numerous turnovers, but the Lady Hawks had trouble making the ball fall through the hoops, sinking only 13 field goals the entire game.

But the frustrated visitors sent the Lady Hawks to the foul line time and again, and that was the major difference in the contest.

Those fouls also confounded Breck's problems, because they started the game with only seven players in uniform. And two starters fouled out in the fourth period.

Despite their inability to sink field goals, the Lady Hawks jumped out to a 23-20 halftime lead, and extended that to 40-31 going into the final period.

Erica Knight led Iowa Park scorers with 19 points, while Kerri Dornier chipped in 13.

Vernon found its home court to its liking when Tuesday's game got underway, as the Lady Lions built a 13-9 lead by the end of the first period.

But the Lady Lions bounced back to knot the score at 26 by halftime, and then almost shut out their hosts in the third quarter, outscoring them 10-3.

Knight again had the hot hand, canning 22 points to lead Iowa Park. Melody Gray followed with 10.

Only one game was played Saturday, so the Junior Varsity had to wait until Tuesday to open their district season.

And they did it in grand style, dumping Vernon 49-29 behind Christie Catlin's 15 points.

The win gave the JV a season record of 18-2, with both those losses to varsity teams.

The Freshmen had a slightly tougher time of it, however, edging out Vernon 37-32.

TIGHT DEFENSIVE PLAY

... Kerri Dornier is 'pressed' by Breckenridge player.

Lady Hawk JV places 2nd

Eventhough they were competing with varsity teams, the Lady Hawk Junior Varsity made it all the way to the finals of the Dec. 27-29 tournament at Olney.

After knocking off Olney 38-26 and Newcastle 54-50, Iowa Park advanced to the championship game, but lost that one to Munday 70-47.

Cristie Catlin and Laura Davis, both of whom were named to the All-Tournament team, led scoring against Olney with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

In the Newcastle game, Michelle Robertson had the hot hand, scoring 14, and Catlin had 12.

Catlin was the only player in double digits against Munday, sinking 10 points.

The loss was only the JV's second in 18 games, according to Coach John Hoelster.

LIBRARY NEWS By JO LYNN COCKRUM

THANK YOU

I would like to offer a note of thanks to everyone who attended our Christmas events and to the wonderful people who volunteered their assistance in so many kind ways.

Thanks first and foremost goes to my husband, Jim, and my children whose unending support makes my job much, much easier. Also the library staff--Sue, Vikki, Kay, and Andrea--who so graciously help me complete whatever I've started! And thank you, Ardis Jensen, for your year round devotion to our story time program.

Special thanks to the marvelous volunteers of Santa's Castle: Rudolph, Shannon Honkomp, Mrs. Claus, Wanna Hunter, and Santa, Jim Cockrum. And to Bruce and Teresa Rohrbach for the beautiful yard decorations.

To all of you who attend our many programs, thank you for your support, you make it all worth while.
