Dumping of oil, filters prohibited in landfill

Final action on amending an ordinance to fully comply with the federal Environmental Protection Agency was delayed Monday until the next regular meeting of the city council.

The city has for several years had an ordinance in place prohibiting the dumping of used motor oil in trash bins to be deposited in the sanitary landfill.

However, in the past, disposing of the used motor oil was left to the expense of the owner. That will no longer be the case.

Effective Monday, the city will provide a drop-off point for residents, at the city vehicle maintenance garage, 104 West Texas.

Besides used oil, transmission fluid, brake fluid and hydraulic oil must be disposed at the city-provided container.

In addition, oil filters cannot be thrown into the trash containers, as prohibited by the EPA. The law affects commercial enterprises, such as service stations and garages, as well as individual residents.

At the same maintenance building, a container will be available for residents to dispose of their used oil filters.

Both containers will be outside the premises which are locked after regular hours, so they will be accessible to the public at any time.

The ordinance was originally written in 1967 and amended in 1978.

Decals are being printed and will be placed on all trash bins in the city to alert residents of the new ordinance.

All 41 residents and businesses in the city not now receiving sewer service will be polled to determine if they want the service or continue using septic tanks.

City staff, in response to a request by the council, has drafted a plan to serve all those now using septic tanks. The project could be spread over a three-to-five year period, at an estimated cost of $337,800.

Aldermen approved the lowest of two bids for concrete alley approaches, submitted by McGrath Brothers. But, because the bid was $900 above the $5,000 that was budgeted, Administrator Gary Jones was instructed to allow the work to be done as far as the budgeted funds lasted.

The council voted to accept the work of the contractor that painted the Johnson Road water tower. The action permits final payment of $19,244 for the work completed.

Billy Reck was recognized as the city's Employee of the Month for February.

Neighborhood has problems

Iowa Park police are becoming sensitive to the continuing number of criminal mischief and theft reports in a particular neighborhood of the city.

Three complaints were filed during the past week from the 1100 block of West Louisa, where at least two complaints were reported the previous week.

The owner of a van parked in that block Friday reported an emblem removed from the vehicle's side, and a tail light having been broken out.

One week earlier, a pickup window was reportedly broken out at the same address.

Thursday evening, a resident three doors away reported a boy's bicycle having been stolen.

And again, in the same block, a resident told police a flag and its six-foot pole had been stolen.

A resident in the 500 block of West Clara reported to police Thursday morning the theft of approximately $5,000 in jewelry. The theft was discovered the previous evening, and no signs of forced entry were detected, police said.

Another theft was reported Friday. Police were told $30 was taken from a teacher's purse at Bradford Elementary. Investigation determined several students and teachers saw an unknown man in the building that day, but his identity is as yet unknown.

Police are investigating a complaint of indecency with a child reported Tuesday.

The mother of the young girl told police she did not want to file a formal complaint, but wanted officers to know that the girl's father was carrying on a series of sexual abuse.

The mother and father do not live in the same house, police said.

An Iowa Park woman was arrested in municipal court on an outstanding local warrant Tuesday, and ordered by the judge to be placed in the county jail.

Arrested was Karen Christine Evans, 39. The charges and fines against her included no rabies tags, $69, and allowing a dog to run at large, $52.50.

Arrested at 7:52 p.m. in the 900 block of West Highway Monday was Albert Larry Halcomb, Jr., 25, on a charge of public intoxication. He was released at 11:56 p.m. after signing a personal recognizance bond, according to the police blotter.

Det. Ray Smock said he charged Kenny Glen Gilmore Jr., 17, Tuesday with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. He then was released from custody.

The charge was made when Gilmore appeared at the police station after having bonded out of jail in Walker County. He and a local juvenile male are accused of having stolen Lucky Gamble's station wagon Feb. 13 from its parking place at the high school.

Two complaints of vandalism caused by BB guns were received during the past week.

The first was reported Monday by a resident in the 300 block of West Poe, who told police a bedroom window had been damaged.

Another home window was said to have been broken in the 300 block of West Park, by a BB shot. That report also was filed Monday.

NEWS BRIEFS

Showers deposit .52 locally

Iowa Park was soaked with slightly more than half an inch of rain Monday, according to Virgil Woodfin.

Woodfin reported measuring .52 at his home, which raises the total for 1992 to 1.95.

City offices to close Monday

All City of Iowa Park offices except the police station will be closed Monday in observance of Texas Independence Day.

Residences normally served that day for trash collection will be rescheduled later in the week, according to Mike Price, public works director.

79-YEAR-OLD RALEIGH SELBY RESTS IN AMBULANCE AFTER BEING FOUND
... Overton resident became lost Saturday afternoon, launching a massive manhunt.

Lost elderly hunter found

By BOB HAMILTON

A pasture between Iowa Park and Electra, thickly covered by mesquite trees was the scene of high drama Saturday night and Sunday morning.

And the climax was one that brought broad smiles to all who participated.

Raleigh Selby of the East Texas community of Overton was a member of a quail hunting party.

But during the hunt, which began Saturday afternoon, Selby's five dogs weren't too happy with the dogs of the other hunters. So they decided to split up, and meet back at the gate they had entered, at 5 p.m.

When the 79-year-old did not appear, his son and the owner of the property, Michael Kangerga of Henderson, looked for him until it became too dark.

That's when they alerted county officials. Iowa Park, Electra and West Wichita volunteer fire departments converged on the area along with deputies from the sheriff's office.

But they were unable to find the hunter, and finally called the hunt off until Sunday morning.

Searching was made even more difficult because of wet conditions. Two different trucks became so seriously stuck a tracked tractor had to be used to free them.

Volunteers began gathering at the intersection of US 287 and FM 2384 at 7 Sunday morning. The mobile command center of the sheriff's department was in place, using its radios for all communications.

Volunteers of the same three fire departments began searching. Right with them were game wardens, Department of Public Safety troopers, additional county deputies and several individuals, either walking or driving various sized four-wheel vehicles.

Adding to the group later were at least 18 horsemen from an Electra riding club.

Also in the search were David Springer, who leases the acreage, his family and several friends.

And about to join all those, late in the hunt, were several young men from Sheppard Air Force Base.

A helicopter from the DPS office in Lubbock had been called to assist in the search. But because of an extremely heavy fog cover, the craft returned to its base.

Members of the hunting party said they did not feel Selby would have gone far from the stock tank where he was last seen, explaining he would be limited not only because of his age, but by the facts he was a diabetic and eight years earlier had undergone triple bypass surgery.

Some searchers speculated that, if the hunter were lying on the ground in his hunting clothes which would blend with grass and trees, seeing the dogs would be their most visible opportunities.

As the morning wore on, many began voicing fears that the elderly East Texan might have been overcome by weather conditions, exhaustion, or heart problems.

But, at 10:14 a.m., a voice rang out over the hand-held radios that a man and five dogs had been spotted. But at a distance.

Five minutes later: "It's him. He's been found."

Selby had been spotted walking along a fence row that surrounded a large wheat field. His dogs casting as they sought game. His shot gun still in hand.

He was approximately three miles from where he was last seen, and four miles north of the gate where he was to have rejoined his hunting party more than 17 hours earlier.

A caravan of vehicles, including the Electra ambulance, dashed away from command headquarters, northward on FM 2384. They turned into the wheat field and drove almost three-quarters of a mile to where Selby, his dogs and the searchers were walking.

He was given a quick once-over by medical personnel, loaded into the ambulance, and returned to the command center. Three of the dogs were returned in a pickup and two rode with him.

He was met there by his son, other members of his family, and Kangerga.

Selby was described only as being slightly dehydrated, but otherwise in good health.

And slightly embarrassed.

He had no food nor water with him when he began his hunt, and did without the entire time.

"I had some quail," he commented. "But I fed them to my dogs."

Virtually everyone in the bird-hunting party expressed amazement, and appreciation, for the extremely large number of people who had participated in the search.

The number easily surpassed 50.

Even those who couldn't participate in the search gave some assistance. Management of Westward Ho Restaurant in Electra provided five gallons of coffee for the volunteers.

No new candidates register

No new candidates for either the city or school elections have filed since last week, according to election judges.

Two candidates have filed for the office of mayor. They are incumbent Wayne House and challenger Mike Grubbs.

Terms of aldermen Charlie Helms and Johnny Crawford expire this spring, as does that of Mayor House.

Two seats on the school board also expire this spring. They are currently held by Jerry Reed and Denny McCarthy.

Thus far, Reed is the only candidate to have filed.

Both the city and school elections will be held May 2.

Final day for filing in either election is Mar. 18.

'Foreign Foods and Customs' topic of 23 Study Club meeting

Febe Garcia of Wichita Falls presented the program for members of 23 Study Club Thursday at a meeting held in the TU Reddy Room.

A native of Mexico, Mrs. Garcia is a well known piano teacher, Spanish teacher, cultural and civic leader of the area. She also proved Thursday that she is a connoisseur in Mexican cooking.

"Foreign Foods and Customs" was theme of the day. Members met at 10 a.m. for the business session, highlighted by election of officers for 1992-94.

Mrs. Jim Medlinger served as leader for the day. Members answered roll call by naming their favorite foods and gave written recipes for them to the leader. They will be duplicated and copies will be presented to each member at a later date.

Mrs. John Rentschler was elected club president for the coming two years. Other officers elected include Mrs. Delbert Todd, vice president; Mrs. Jack Reynolds, secretary; Mrs. C.L. Thompson, treasurer; Mrs. Raymond Cope, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ross Roberts, historian, and Frances Park, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Charles Harrell used "Hill-top Meditations" by D. W. Sinclair for the devotion. Mrs. C.L. Metz contributed the American trivia part of the program on Mexico's neighbor to the north. She discussed "Uncle Sam", America's symbol and how it was created.

The business session was directed by Miss Park. Members voted to give monetary contributions for the outgoing presidents of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and Santa Rosa District. Mrs. Joe Singer announced that planting of the Arbor Day tree had been postponed until March.

The federation counselor's report on "Why Belong to Federation?" was given by Mrs. Rentschler.

Musical selections by Mrs. Ross Roberts set the mood for the introduction of Mrs. Garcia. She played "Cielita Lindo" and "La Curaracha" on the accordion.

Mrs. Garcia discussed and demonstrated the preparation of the "Cocina Mexicana" dishes that she served to club members.

These included her special recipe for tortillas, Bubuelos, Guisalo de Carne de Puerco Con Calabicitas (pork and zucchini stew), Arroz Frito (fried rice), Polo En Salsa de Tomate (chicken in tortilla), and Buttermilk Pralines. Sho also serve a hot sauce and gave her recipes for many other sauces.

Mrs. Medlinger presented Mrs. Garcia a check to apply to the scholarship fund of the Spanish Club to which she belongs.

'Megathon' to benefit 10-year-old cancer victim

Area residents who want to donate to a special fund with the hope of saving the life of a 10-year-old Wichita Falls cancer victim, will have an additional opportunity Saturday.

A telethon, styled "Megathon" will be aired from 6 to 11 Saturday night by both television stations in Wichita Falls, and local telephones will be manned to accept pledges.

The youth, Megan Ledue, is in need of an experimental bone marrow transplant, or doctors say she will die of the disease.

The surgery is to be done at Cook-Fort Worth Children's Medical Center, and will cost $100,000. Her family's insurance does not cover the procedure, because it is experimental.

A special account has already been opened at State National Bank, and donations can be made to the account number 402-1730.

Residents in the Kamay area, where the telephone prefix is 438, can phone in their pledges Saturday night by dialing 438-2418.

Committee members for the meeting were Mmes. Keith Aulds, Jack Reynolds, Riley Thompson, Delbert Todd and Joe Singer.

Tables for the meal were appointed with hand woven cloths from Guatamala, wooden bowls of red and green peppers, a plate and spoon bearing the symbol of the Mexican government, and arrangements of cacti in hard-punched tin baskets.

The square table at the entry of the room held a woven serape, a large sombrero, cacti, corn and gourds.

Iowa Parkans can use the telephone number of 592-4431 for their pledges.

Unlike the better-known telethons, television viewers Saturday night will not be seeing a sustained show connected with the drive for Megan.

Instead, the stations will use short breaks between regular programs, lasting from a few seconds to as many as 10 minutes, to encourage donors to phone in their pledges.

Initiating the drive in the Iowa Park area were Brandy Fox and Melissa Moss. They opened the special bank account, put donation jars out at businesses, and have been making in-person appeals to businesses and individuals.

As of Tuesday, the two ladies had collected $1,256.30 locally, including $413 customers had put in the jars at businesses, they reported.

Megathon pledges made here and to the Kamay phone number will be collected Sunday, and if the number demands, Monday, Mrs. Moss said.

Dwight Parker

Dwight Parker is a man who gains a lot of pleasure from helping others, and whether it be a fresh loaf of bread he has baked, or roses from his garden, he likes to share with his friends.

Parker, who is minister of the Iowa Park Church of Christ, and his family have lived in Iowa Park five years in June. His wife, Annette, is an intermediate librarian for the Vernon ISD. Their 14-year-old son, Geoff, is a student in the special education program, and daughter, Jenny, is six years old and a first grade student at Kidwell.

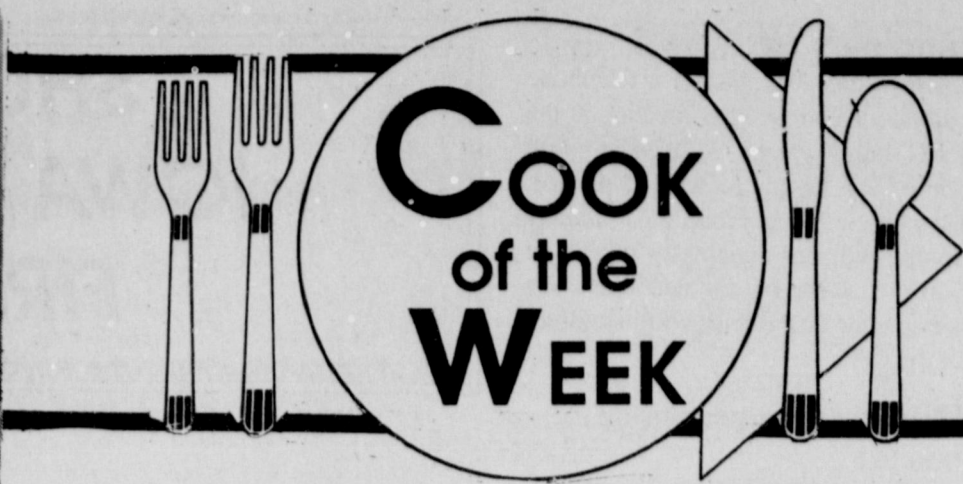

Because his father worked in the oil fields, Dwight said he grew up "all over the state of Oklahoma," and attended schools in Duncan and Ardmore. It was while he was a student at Oklahoma Christian College in Oklahoma City that he met Annette, whom he married in 1970. He said that he has preached all over Oklahoma and worked in the oil fields.

Dwight is a member of the Rotary Club and said that his favorite club activity is helping put American flags out at homes and businesses six times a year. In his spare time, Dwight likes to fish and work with the roses in his garden.

In addition to the many church activities, Dwight and Annette work closely with the Special Olympics and are volunteers with the Red Cross Blood Drive.

For Christmas, members of the church's congregation gave the Parkers a monetary gift, and they used it to buy a bread baking machine. Dwight said that they really enjoy having fresh bread everyday, and sharing it with friends. "We have probably given away more loaves of bread than we have consumed," he said.

Dwight said that his mother taught him how to make "Sniker Doodle" cookies when he was in junior high school, and he has enjoyed cooking ever since. The recipes he submitted are ones that he uses often. His "Almond Vanilla Coffee" is a hit with members of the Ladies Bible Class that meet on Wednesday afternoons, and he likes to serve the "Fryer Leg Quarters" at church fellowships. The "Orange Julius" is Annette's recipe, and a popular family drink.

Sniker Doodles

Mix thoroughly:
1 cup soft shortening
1 1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 3/4 cups flour
2 tsps. cream of tartar
1 tsp. soda
1/4 tsp. salt

Roll into balls the size of small walnuts. Roll balls in mixture of 2 tablespoons sugar and 2 teaspoons cinnamon. Place two inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake until lightly browned but still soft. These cookies puff up at first, then flatten out. Bake at 400 degrees for 8 minutes.

Jalapeno Cornbread

1 cup and 1 Tbsp. yellow corn meal
1 cup buttermilk
2 eggs
3/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 cup bacon drippings
1 - 16 oz. can cream style corn
1 lb. ground beef (optional)
1 large onion, chopped
8 oz. shredded Cheddar cheese
4 jalapeno peppers, finely chopped

Combine cornmeal, buttermilk, eggs, salt, soda, bacon drippings, and corn in a bowl. Mix and set aside. Sauté ground beef until light brown. Drain grease and set aside. Sprinkle one tablespoon of cornmeal in a greased 10-inch skillet, pour half the cornmeal batter into skillet. Sprinkle evenly with ground beef. Top with onions, then cheese. Add peppers evenly on top. Pour remaining batter over top. Bake at 350 degrees 50 minutes or until golden brown.

Fryer Leg Quarters

Cut carefully, separating the chicken leg and quarter. Pull skin off each piece of chicken. Let chicken soak in salt water for four hours. Line cooking pan with heavy duty aluminum foil, and place chicken in container. Pour your favorite brand of barbecue sauce over chicken. Cook 5 pounds of leg quarters 70 minutes at 350 degrees.

Almond Vanilla Coffee

1 pound of your favorite coffee
1 ounce each of vanilla and almond
Add flavorings to dry coffee; shake and let set overnight, letting flavors blend. Fix coffee in your usual manner.

Orange Julius

1/2 cup frozen orange juice concentrate
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup sugar
Vanilla to taste

Put in blender; add five or six ice cubes and blend until slushy (also good with ice cream added). Can also substitute pineapple juice for orange juice if desired.

Chicken Breasts

Marinate desired quantity of chicken breasts with Italian style oil dressing and let set overnight in the refrigerator. Personal preference is to cook outside over a charcoal grill, but can also cook about an hour in 350 degree oven.

White Bread

1 1/8 cup hot water
3 cups bread flour
1 1/2 tsp. salt
3 Tbsps. sugar
1 1/2 Tbsp. butter
1 1/2 Tbsp. powdered milk
1 1/2 tsp. yeast (room temperature)
It is very important to follow sequence as this is to be used in a bread machine. Makes large loaf in four hours and twenty minutes.

Students enrolled in Houston school

Two Iowa Parkans, Michael Johnston and Jason Fudge, are enrolled in classes at Universal Technical Institute in Houston.

The school trains students for careers in automotive, diesel, marine, air conditioning, refrigeration and heating repairs.

Mrs. Kaspar gives program on birds

Peggy Kaspar presented a program on "Birding and Planting for Birds" for members of the Iowa Park Garden Club who met Friday morning in the home of Louise Clapp.

Mrs. Kaspar suggested that a person should invest in a good pair of binoculars and a bird book with colored pictures in it if they are interested in bird watching and identification.

She said that your own backyard is an excellent place to start bird watching. The best way to attract birds to your yard is to provide a food source, water, and shelter for the birds. She showed a wooden birdhouse and explained the importance of the size of the hole opening and vent holes.

Mrs. Kaspar passed out a list of landscaping plants which birds in this area use as a food source, and a list of their cover and nesting habits. She displayed a board with a variety of real bird wings on it, and a turkey tail feather. She stated that when you see a bird, generally you only see it for a split second, and you use the coloring on the wing to identify the bird.

President Louise Clapp conducted the business session in which Frances George, community service chairman, reported that the club's part in the landscaping project at the new RAC building had been completed. A sign reading "Iowa Park Garden Club 1992" has been placed in the flower bed.

Seventeen members answered roll call by naming a plant in their yard that attracts birds.

Kay Cole read "The Magic of Love" and "The Legend of the Valentine" by Helen Steiner Rice for the thought for the day.

Mrs. Clapp and co-hostess Pam James served refreshments from a table decorated in a Valentine theme.

The next meeting will be held Friday at the new RAC building.

Melonic and Buck Cargal of Iowa Park are the parents of a daughter, Leeza Diane, born Feb. 21 at Wichita General Hospital weighing eight pounds and 14 ounces. She is the couple's first child.

The baby's grandparents are Jane Rogers and Marilyn Westbrooks, both of Iowa Park, Buster Cargal of Wichita Falls, and Michael Smith of Anderson, Ind.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Scott, all of Iowa Park, and Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Cargal of Wichita Falls.

As I See It... By Bob Hamilton

"You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong. You cannot help small men by tearing down big men. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich. You cannot help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than your income. You cannot further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatreds. You cannot establish security on borrowed money. You cannot build character and courage by taking away a man's initiative and independence. You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves."

Who wrote those words? At first thought, you likely figure it was some conservative, such as George Bush, or maybe Ronald Reagan. Or, even stretching it even farther to the right, Pat Buchannon.

Everything in that seems to be an exact opposite to all the legislation the national Democratic Party leadership has been backing, and their elected congressmen passing.

"You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich."

That's in contrast to the Democrat plan for cutting middle income taxes and hiking what those in upper incomes pay. Isn't it?

"You cannot help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer."

My first thought on that is the national health insurance plan offered by some Democratic presidential hopefuls who are espousing a program by which all employers would be responsible for paying employee health insurance.

"You cannot establish security on borrowed money."

With our national debt, how can we feel we have any security? And yet we are still hearing of programs that will add to the debt, rather than cutting it.

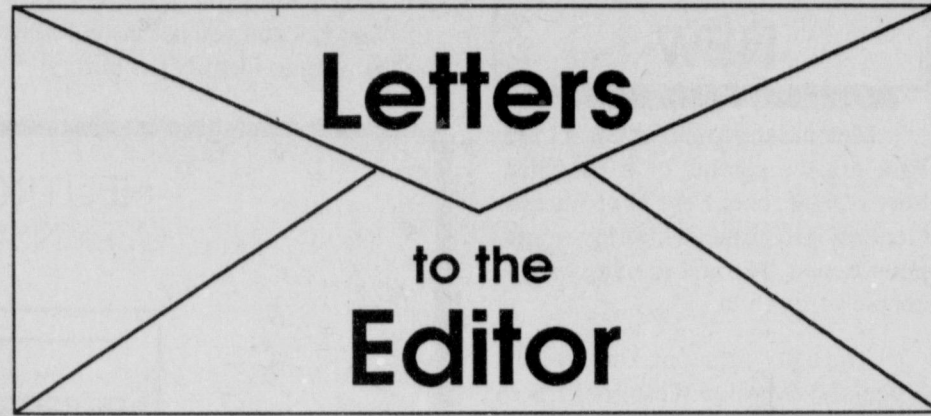

"You cannot build character and courage by taking away a man's initiative and independence."

Social program after social program do exactly what this sentence says not to do. And that includes the suggestion of giving repossessed homes to the homeless.

"You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves." At first glance, this may sound heartless. But take a second, and maybe even a third or more glances. An oversimplified example is a teenager who has a car given to him, and the one who earned it with his own toil. Which one respects his car and takes care of it? Again, I ask your thoughts on who the author might be. Well, folks, he was Republican. But one whose best-known action was, in his time, about as liberal as anything in our nation's history. He was Abraham Lincoln. The writing was reproduced in the February issue of The Scottish Rite Bulletin in Houston.

Dear Sir: Imagine a reporter admitting in print that he was unaware of our important and much publicized meeting to offer evidence that a prison would have negative social and economic effects that would far outweigh any temporary quick fix! And imagine too that we would want to avoid a member of the press when we have spent the last month hurling ourselves at the media, trying to attract attention! No sane and sensible person could.

I find it impossible to follow your imaginative logic when you equate Sheppard Air Force Base, which pumps millions of dollars and magnitudes of cultural wealth into what would otherwise be a very provincial area, with prisons which bring drugs and crime and disease both inside and outside their walls. Imagine how many cars, satellites, expensive homes, and symphony tickets the average prison guard making $22,000 per year will buy. Syllogisms require mutually exclusive categories to be valid. You would have to begin by saying that all tax free facilities are detrimental, thus including state and federal capitols, churches, etc. (One of your pro-prisonites has already included tax free universities with tax free prisons)

You have another faulty syllogism

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Well, try to imagine this. We did get a telephone call about your group's meeting at the RAC, but it was on Wednesday night while I was having the Leader printed. Members of your group have already apologized, but apparently not all of you are aware of our deadlines. We were on the newsstands within minutes of the call.)

Prison issue response
Dear Bob:

One of our members attempted to purchase an ad in your publication a week before our Iowa Park meeting but failed to meet your deadline. This was our mistake. I assumed you received this information. The demonstration at the proposed site was reported in "The Paper" and again I assumed you read that other publication. Yes I remember what my high school English teacher said ASSUME spells. Shame on me!

"Half a dozen homes within 2 miles" shame on you Bob. My count reveals 91 homes within a 2 mile radius, 46 of which are in the Iowa Park School district. I have yet to determine how many of these have children who ride the bus and are home alone after school.

60% of prisoners settling in the area where they were incarcerated was reported by "The Dallas Morning News" January 12, 1992. This is probably due to families moving to be closer to convicts.

As for comparing Sheppard Air Force base to a Prison, come on get real! The cultural enrichment for the Euro-Nato families cannot be compared to the drug traffickers and ex-cons which will flock to our communities should we get a prison.

I also feel that there would be a lot of NIMBA'S if such an undesirable institution were to be proposed on the IDC site north of Iowa Park.

It all boils down to a bunch of non-elected good ol' boys in Wichita Falls deciding what is best for the area. Do you think that the city of Wichita Falls would give water, sewer and fire protection to a taxable industry located in the Iowa Park school district?

There will be another meeting of Concerned Citizens Against The Prison II, on Thursday, February 27, 1992 at the Barwise Jr. High auditorium at 7 p.m.

Obituaries

Mary Catron Walls

Last rites for Mary Catron Walls, 60, were at 2 p.m. Monday at Faith Baptist Church. She died at her home here Friday.

Dr. Greg Ammons, pastor of the church, officiated. Burial was in Highland Cemetery under direction of Dutton Funeral Home.

Born Feb. 12, 1932, in Marlow, Okla., she had been a resident of Iowa Park since 1948. She was a 1950 graduate of Iowa Park High School. She was a homemaker and a member of Faith Baptist Church.

Survivors include one son, Jon Catron of Iowa Park; two daughters, Laura Brookshire, Iowa Park and Brenda Villa of Vernon; her father, Arnold Coleman, Iowa Park; three sisters, Doris Denham of Las Cruces, N. M., Roslinda Searle of Dickinson, and Dani Post of Houston; four brothers, Loyd Coleman of Kelso, Wash., Boyd Coleman of Vado, N.M., Gary Coleman of Brazoria, and Ronnie Ivey of Graham, and six grandchildren.

Memorials may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Minnie Dormier

Services for Minnie Dormier, 92, mother of Johnny Dormier of Iowa Park, were Saturday at 2 p.m. at Seymour Memorial Funeral Home.

Rev. Delmer Brack of St. Luke's Lutheran Church and Deacon Gary Caulkins of Trinity Lutheran Church officiated. Burial was in Riverview Cemetery.

Mrs. Dormier died Thursday in a Seymour hospital.

Born April 20, 1899, in Seymour, she was married to Amel Dormier. He died in August 1931. She was a homemaker, a member of Trinity Lutheran Church and Lutheran Women's Missionary League.

Other survivors include another son, Richard Dormier of Seymour; two sisters, Rosalena McMahon and Margaret Nelson, both of Seymour; two brothers, Clements Wirz of Seymour and Sam Wirz of Redlands, Calif.; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Branson group to perform

"Direct from Branson, Missouri." That's been the theme of country music shows sponsored here each spring by the Iowa Park Lions Club.

And it's no different this year.

One of the longest-running and most-popular shows at Branson, The Foggy River Boys, will appear Friday, Mar. 13, in the auditorium of Iowa Park High School.

Tickets went on sale last week at three locations in Iowa Park: Hughes Pharmacy, Parkway TrueValue and Iowa Park Leader. Prices are $10 for adults and $5 for children when purchased in advance, and $2 higher at the door.

Locations in Wichita Falls where advance tickets can be purchased are the Finishing Touch, BB's Ski Wear and Ace Sewing Center. They also are available in Burkburnett at the Hair-A-Fair in Burk Plaza.

WHAT ABOUT THE FAMILY IN 1992?

Across the United State today these words are being cried out, "Help! My family is in trouble, what can I do?" Sadly as couples reach out for help the answers seem to be too slow in coming, too empty upon arrival, or those giving the answers are too busy with their own problems to help.

Dr. Nick Stinnett, now head of the Human Development and the Family Department at the University of Nebraska, did some research a few years ago in Oklahoma to see what makes strong families. He found these simple conclusions:

1. Develop the art of expressing sincere appreciation to your spouse and children. Concentrate on their individual strengths.
2. Arrange to spend more time with your family. Plan more family activities that all of you find enjoyable. Learn to say "no" to outside demands which aren't really that important to you anyway.
3. Open the communication channels. Take time to talk with each other often and to listen.
4. Explore ways that spiritual strength might be added to your family life. Participating in church activities as a family, reading religious material, and family devotionals are only a few of the ways this might be accomplished.
5. Build high degrees of commitment toward your family. Invest your time and your energy into the relationships with your family and children. The result can be a stronger, more fulfilling family life.

Busy hands, happy heart describes Shirley Banks

BY MYRNA SMITH

"Keep your hands busy if you want to keep your heart happy," is Shirley Banks' philosophy.

It must work, because it would be hard to find a more animated, imaginative, productive, or cheerful person than Shirley.

Don't be fooled by the Spanish facade of the Banks home near the intersection of Bell Road and FM 367. It isn't filled with Spanish appointments or decor.

Inside, one immediately senses this a family oriented home. One where the children and grandchildren, family and friends can come and feel welcome.

Every room is an embodiment of Shirley's ingenuity, her originality and skill. And everything has a story behind it. She has no pieces that do not have a special meaning to her.

She has a special love for antique pieces that have been in the family, or that she finds in antique stores or at estate sales that she can refinish. "I have never been interested in having just 'things', Shirley says.

"Really, I guess my forte is making porcelain dolls and finding bargains in 'priceless' furniture", she tells you as she takes you to the "doll room" where about 75 beautifully crafted dolls recline on shelves, in bassinets, or on doll furniture.

This room was a game room when the Banks' three children were still at home. When they moved out Shirley and the dolls took over. "This way," Shirley says, "everyone who comes to see us doesn't have to like my dolls."

The room makes a perfect workshop for her. She pours the molds for the dolls and takes them through the process of firing (she has her own kiln), paints them, fires them a second time, and mixes her porcelain slip to finish the boy, girl or baby dolls as white, black, or Indian.

And what an adorable array! They are irresistible. You want to smile, or pick them up and love them. Their delicate features are so expressive you think any minute they may start talking or crying. In fact, there are some with their mouths primed and tears rolling down their cheeks.

Each doll wears a costume with meticulous detailing that Shirley has made. For some she has made their shoes, others have feet large enough she can buy their footwear. She also makes their underclothes.

And most of the dolls wear human hair, a lot of them have hair from Shirley's grandchildren.

In addition to little boy, girl and baby dolls there is a "granny" doll.

The "granny" doll, reminiscent of the granny of earlier days, sits primly in a rocking chair, dressed in typical granny attire, complete with shoes, and bonnet, wire-rimmed spectacles, and a gold band on her left ring finger. Her veined hands rest on an open Bible in her lap. When her bonnet is removed, you see the deep lines in her forehead and her gray hair is pulled back into a large bun on the back of her head.

Shirley also makes character dolls. On one shelf in the doll room, Mark Twain sits in a chair dressed in a white suit and overlooks his characters, Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, Jake, Nicodemus, and the nanny who cared for Judge Thacker's family.

To gain inspiration for their authentic looking costumes and their facial expressions, Shirley re-read "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and checked out the video from the library.

Shirley has never sold a doll, or any of her work. "I think that would take the fun out of it for me if I did it for money," she said. However, she has given away a lot of her work.

Shirley always donates a doll to the annual auction to benefit the Rehabilitation Center. This year, since so many are interested in the southwest theme, she will donate one of her Indian dolls.

Also in the "doll room" is an old stoneware churn with dasher and Shirley can remember churning butter in it. She later got a Dazey churn that was turned by hand, and she thought that was great, but finally she got an electric churn. She doesn't use it anymore to make butter, but as with almost everything else, she has found a use for it. She uses it to mix her procelain slip.

She has always said she is not a doll collector. Each doll she makes is special to her in its own way. But, so many people have brought doll heads and arms and legs to her, because they think she can do something useful with them. She says "If I don't watch it, I'm going to have a collection."

She now is in the process of acquiring a Christmas village, which will be a replica of Iowa Park as she remembers it when she was growing up here. She is painting the historic buildings to make them look old and weather-beaten.

She already has the old State National Bank building completed. Others she will have will be Sam Hill's store, the old Tanner Hardware, now the Evening Lions Building and Friendly Door, the Rexall Drug and Berry Drug Stores. Among others, Shirley says she may even make the Hawk's Roost, because she remembers how much she liked to go there when Carl and Jane Hoffman had it across from the school.

The Banks have a beautiful couch, circa 1805, from France. She has before and after pictures of the couch. There was very little to it except the beautiful wood frame with swan back and legs. She refinished the wood and rebuilt the inside of the couch, but became ill before it was finished, so she had someone else do the upholstery.

She has acquired a "fainting" couch which she upholstered in red velvet and keeps in the basement. Every now and then she goes there to reminisce and reclines on the couch.

She keeps prized family pictures and other items in the basement that could not be replaced should something happen to the house. In the basement she also stores vegetables she cansevery year, including 100 jars of sauerkraut, because they have a son-in-law who likes it.

At the foot of the couch is a dress form that has been dressed as a young lady. However, the "lady" doubles at Christmas as Mrs. Santa. Shirley took one of her old sweaters and stuffed it for the upper part of the body and the arms. Now the arms can be turned in any position.

An animated Santa also stays in the basement all year until coming up at the beginning of the Christmas season when he and Mrs. Santa provide an interesting display for the public.

Shirley has priceless pieces of antique furniture, some she bought for as little as five dollars. In the living room is an upright piano she acquired in Seymour. It was in an auditorium that was being remodeled and was stored on the third floor. Shirley was lucky to get help to move it down the two flights of narrow stairs.

The piano had been painted black and looked terrible, she said. But when she stripped all the coats of paint, she uncovered a beautiful mahogany piece. "It was the hardest piece I have done," Shirley commented.

SHIRLEY BANKS
...with Granny doll

When she got her dining room table it was just the pedestal with claw feet. She and Jimmy redid the pedestal and put on the table top.

Shirley's signature is on the walls of each room either in acrylic art she has done, in decorative pieces she has crafted, or in shadow boxes.

Many of the shadow boxes were originally old pieces she found or that someone gave her, such as an old clock that had all of its insides out. It holds an enlarged baby picture of Jimmy and his bowl and knife, fork and spoon he used as a baby.

In the shadow boxes are sentimental family pieces, or those given to her by friends whose family was close to her. Each has significant meaning to her, or to her family.

Obedying doctor's orders, Shirley and Jimmy enclosed a patio area on front of the house, making it a room for a hot tub. Both have had back problems, and they were advised this would be of great help to their particular problems.

When this was done, it enclosed the bedroom the grandchildren considered theirs. They did not like the idea of not having windows.

Their bedroom was changed to the one across the hall and Shirley redecorated it for a child's room. In it are some of her dolls. A short time ago she completed a six-foot carousel horse cut out of wood. She painted it white and added typical colors and floral trappings, that takes one's mind back to childhood days of riding the "merry-go-round." The carousel horse is one of her favorite things.

Shirley and Jimmy were childhood sweethearts. Her dad, W. S. Morgan, worked for the Water Improvement District. Jimmy's parents, the C.B. Banks, moved from Limestone County and settled here in the early 1940s on the Wichita Valley Farms, where Jimmy was born.

After Shirley and Jimmy married, they lived in Iowa Park three years, and then moved to Seymour where they lived 18 years.

He worked for the Water District at Lake Kemp, digging ditches and building bridges. He later was named Lake Kemp superintendent.

One bedroom of the Banks home is completely furnished with sentimental pieces. There is a chest that belonged to Jimmy's mother that was going to be discarded. Shirley said no. She took it, repaired and refurbished it, and it now occupies its place as a beautiful piece of furniture in the room.

There is an antique round side table that Shirley found. It had many coats of black paint. As she was stripping the paint, she began to realize that underneath all that paint was a marble top. It turned out to be a beautiful thick piece of marble, and Shirley was thrilled. "I get really excited when I make a find of that kind," she said.

On the table she has a marble lampstand that turned out to be a "diamond in the rough", and it has a history behind it. Also gracing the table is a pristine guardian angel that Shirley made.

Sparking interest is the historical quilt that now covers the bed in this room after it had hung in Jimmy's office for a long time. It confirms the fact that Shirley has to have her hands busy, or be on the move.

After she injured her back she had to spend some time in the hospital and in bed at home. That is where the quilt was made. It depicts some of the history of Lake Kemp.

In the center of the quilt is an outline of the lake which she painted blue and is complete with the islands. It pictures the lake when the spillway elevation was kept at a level of 1150.50 feet, before completion of the dam in 1974.

Outline of the lake is embroidered in blue and shows how the river runs into Lake Diversion. Blocks of the quilt are silk screen paintings of the lake at different stages of progress.

Shirley has made about 50 quilts, but this is the only one she has pieced the blocks together using the Seminole Indian technique of quilting. She also used this process to make a quilted jacket.

In this bedroom is a baby quilt of Jimmy's. Before he born, it was made by some of his relatives, with each block signed. That was still in the Great Depression years, and the lining of the quilt was made from feed sacks.

Another facet of Shirley's active and interesting life is her fascination for tracing genealogy. She currently is tracing the ancestry of the Morgan and Banks families.

And, as is typical of Shirley, she seems never to do anything for herself that she doesn't become involved with helping someone else.

As she searches for her own and Jimmy's ancestors, she is helping the best friend of one of her cousins to find her biological mother. The person was adopted and has had some trouble getting information and family background.

Shirley became interested in helping this person during the class reunion of the Iowa Park graduating class of 1961 held last year.

She goes to the Lawton, Okla., library where they have access to the genealogy archives of the Mormon library in Salt Lake City. Also when she can she goes to Baylor University Library, or she accompanies her husband when he has to go to Austin on business and spends her time searching for information at the State Library and Archives.

Shirley finds this very exciting and is thrilled each time she finds a name or other information that applies to any of the three families. "I am getting so close to this person's mother that I just want to keep searching," she said.

Her well-equipped home office contains reams of historical information on Lake Kemp, its progress, etc. For 15 years she measured the weather gage at Lake Kemp without missing a day.

In addition to Lake Kemp history she keeps every bit of information about their families, along with pictures and information on the person's family that she is now helping to trace her background.

The Banks live on land that was originally purchased and settled on in 1889 by Mr. and Mrs. Zenis P. Dale.

Portions of the land remained in the Dale family until 1968.

The house burned in 1976. Jimmy and Shirley purchased 80 acres in 1977 and built their home back of where the original house was located. Jimmy did a lot of the building and inside finishing work. They lease out all of the land, except five acres which they have planted in coastal bermuda.

The original brick-lined well is in their front yard. Jimmy said it was 13 feet to water when they moved there and it still is 13 feet to water. It has a pump and they use it to keep their grounds watered.

They have an orchard where they raise several varieties of plums, pears, peaches, apricots and cherries.

"Our trees have always borne lots of fruit, and we give a lot of it away every year," Shirley commented. She added, "People wonder how we always manage to have so much fruit. I tell them God knows what I do with most of the fruit, so He sees we have a good harvest."

Shirley does a lot of volunteer work. If there is a need she is there. She regularly takes a load of clothes to Faith Mission, or to the state hospital. She also goes to Heritage Manor at least once a month and cuts the hair of residents, in addition to other volunteer work as is needed. She is a volunteer worker at the Tom Burnett Memorial Library.

When the couple lived in Seymour she was very active in the Parent-Teacher Association. One year she was selected Outstanding Club Woman, and was active in organizing fund raisers to purchase playground equipment for the school. She also was organizer of the first talent show as a PTA fund raiser in Seymour.

Shirley has been a PTA member for 27 years and received a lifetime membership while living in Seymour. Also while there she taught an upholstery class at one of the churches.

Both Jimmy and Shirley are members of the Iowa Park PTA because of their grandchildren.

After the Banks returned to Iowa Park, Shirley worked at Wichita Falls State Hospital as a physical therapist technician for five years, and as a bookkeeper and accountant for five years.

Jimmy is now general manager of Wichita County Water Improvement District II, with offices in Wichita Falls.

He received the State Soil and Water Conservation Business-Professional Award in 1991.

He became the first civilian to receive the U.S. Corps of Engineers engineering award, because of his reconstruction work on Lake Kemp Dam and his work on the chloride control program at that time.

Banks is a member of the Red River Valley Association board, a four-state organization composed of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Jimmy also is a member of the board of the Texas Irrigation Council, formed last year by irrigation districts in Texas that use surface water for irrigation. Wichita County Irrigation District is the only one that uses surface water for irrigation purposes from the Red River Basin.

The Banks have one son, Jimmy Jr., of Iowa Park who is an electrical engineer for TU Electric and is an ordained Assembly of God minister.

They also have two daughters, Tamela Brown of Wichita Falls who works at Parker Square Bank for a holding company, and attends MSU.

The other daughter is Beverly Crownover of Munday who is an EMT. She and her husband own Crownover Transportation and Dozer Services. The Banks have eight grandchildren, including a set of twins.

WHO IS SIMMONS?

I am Jerry Dean Simmons. I presently work in production at Certaineed, as a hard-working factory worker. I graduated MSU in 1987, with a degree in Political Science and Public Administration. I served in the Navy as a supervisor in engineering on board a nuclear submarine. I was honorably discharged in 1984. I moved back home where my family and relatives live. I have been married to Sandy for 11 years and have 2 sons, Jason and Freddie, ages, 10 and 8.

I worked construction as a laborer, while attending college. I am an open-minded and sincere individual, at age 34. I have been laid off. I know first-hand how people are still suffering from lay off or worried about a lay off. Wichita county needs to generate more jobs (i.e., multi events center, increased tourism, new industries, the prison, and better treatment of small businesses.) No job means no health insurance. The moral and financial responsibility for indigent health care falls on the county. I believe that the county has made it to first base, but still has a long way to home plate. Our children are our future and needs to be protected from the abyss of our present. I would try to improve communications between county government and the people it represents. I would look at new ways to solve old problems (i.e., crime, the environment, and more). I am a working man who is seeking your support come election day.

Thank You.

First girls' golf team makes debut at Bowie

History was made for Iowa Park High School athletics when the Lady Hawks played in the Top-of-Lakes Golf Tournament at Bowie Monday.

According to retired principal Bob Dawson, to his knowledge, this was the first girls' golf team Iowa Park has ever had.

Boys' teams competed in the 1970s, but the program was cut until this year.

The school board responded to numerous requests that golf be once again offered as a competitive sport.

Fifty six students, boys and girls, signed to play. That number has now shrunk to 35, including 19 girls and 16 boys, according to Robert Palmer, who along with Ron Woods and David Furhman, coaches the teams.

Two varsity teams of five girls each and one junior varsity team represented IPHS at Bowie.

The tournament was scheduled for 18 holes, but shortened to 14 because of cold temperatures and rain.

Bridgeport won first and Azle second.

The team of Jodi Young, Kristi

Ring, Randa Falke, Melody Gray and Lisa Wiggins finished fifth, with Young the team medalist.

Young recorded the only birdie in the entire tournament.

The team's score was 288.

Sixth place went to the team of Gina Inman, Marcy McCarthy, Misty Cook, Kerri Bauer and Jennifer Ricks, with a 292 score.

The junior varsity team of Emily Monday, Chrystal Fisch, Aimee

Trantham, Nikke Williams and Sheri Halady finished eight with a 304.

The team's next tournament will be Monday at Bridgeport.

The boys' team will see its first competition Wednesday at Decatur.

Cheerleader rules changed

Several changes are being made in requirements for being a cheerleader at Iowa Park High School next year.

Coordinators emphasize that the most important quality a cheerleader candidate must have is the true desire to be a cheerleader, and to be available for events in order to support all athletics, not just football.

Financial responsibility was reduced considerably this year, as compared with previous years.

Next year, there will be a $200 refundable deposit on uniforms, and approximately $50 for other expenses. The deposit will be refunded when all uniforms are returned, cleaned and undamaged.

There will be 10 openings for cheerleaders next year, increased from seven.

Cheerleaders must attend a summer camp, four to five days, and all summer practices, which have tentatively been set for mornings in June and August.

Students desiring to try out should sign up in Mrs. Dyer's or Ms. Looney's rooms, by Mar. 6. Tryouts will be April 9.

Prospective cheerleaders must be freshmen, sophomores and juniors with a minimum of 70 in all subjects, and must have no citizenship grade lower than a B+.

Weather postpones openers

Weather postponed the season openers for both the Hawk varsity and junior varsity baseball teams.

The JV was to play Monday, but rain prevented that. The field was still wet, plus there was a cold, northerly wind Tuesday, causing the varsity's postponement.

Coach Daryl Frazier said Tuesday he hoped to reschedule that day's opener with Nocona for this afternoon, at Hawk Field.

The varsity is scheduled to travel to Wichita Falls Friday to take on Hirschi at Hoskins Field, starting at 4 p.m., and play Burk Burnett there Monday. The club is entered in a three-day tournament, starting next Thursday, at Wichita Falls.

The JV's schedule calls for hosting Wichita Falls High JV here at 4 Tuesday.

Former Decatur head coach and athletic director Bobby Actkinson won't have to move his home after all. He has accepted a similar position at Chico High, easily commuting distance. The Decatur school board voted to buy out his contract and named Cap Prince his successor. Actkinson takes the place of B.D. Deady at Chico, who will concentrate full time as that district's junior high principal.

Another coaching change in a Wise county school also has been announced. Larry Hargrove has resigned as head coach and AD at Paradise High.

Graham's Steers led Bowie by eight points, going into the final period of their final regular season game at Graham. But lost 51-47, as the Jackrabbit defense allowed the Steers only one point.

Though Bowie and Graham share the Dist. 4-AAA title (Graham won the first half, Bowie the second, and the district executive committee voted to declare both teams champions), they met Saturday to determine which would advance into the playoffs as champion and runner-up. Playing at Weatherford, Graham won, 55-37.

Graham and Bowie will take on Brownfield and Seminole, respectively, in a doubleheader Friday at Abilene. Graham plays Brownfield at 6 p.m., and the Bowie-Seminole game follows at 7:30.

Both Dist. 4 girls' teams lost out in bi-district. Graham was defeated 50-37 by Slaton and Bridgeport was edged 52-49 by Seminole.

Canyon ISD apparently has two boys' varsity basketball coaches with differing opinions when it comes to point spreads. One Friday night, Canyon Randall lost 111-59 to Pampa, and Randall Coach complained. Four nights later, Canyon High whollped Amarillo River Road by a 113-63 margin.

Long-time high school football powerhouse Pittsburg has a new coach. He is Calvin Hill, but not the former Cowboy runningback. Hill has been Pittsburg High's assistant principal, and becomes the first black coach in Pittsburg since the end of segregation.

Three Lady Hawks All-District

Two Lady Hawks were named to the All-District team and a third made Honorable Mention.

Melody Gray and Misty Cook were named to the elite team, and Marcy McCarthy was on the Honorable Mention list.

Gray and McCarthy are seniors, Cook a junior.

Champion Bridgeport dominated the team with three players, Bowie and Vernon had two, and Graham one.

But Graham's Kasie Berend was named Most Valuable Player, Misty Martin the Sophomore of the Year, and Jimmy Hogan the Coach of the Year.

Unanimous votes for All-District were received by Kayce Clifton, Tracy Phillips and Robyn Shawn of Bridgeport, as did Trish Weatherly of Bowie and Kim Altman of Vernon.

Rounding out the other All-District selections with Gray and Cook were Leslie Reed of Graham, Renee Hanebutt of Bowie and Melinda Fullerton of Vernon.

With McCarthy on the Honorable Mention list were Casey Wolfe, Sunny Howard and Rachel Moore of Breckenridge, Wendy Garrison of Bridgeport, Shawn Wise of Vernon, Sherry Blaine of Graham and Kami Wadsworth of Bowie.

Gray scored 69 points in her 10 conference games, hitting 31 percent from the floor and 56 percent at the foul line. She had 15 assists and pulled down 13 rebounds.

In her 10 district games, Cook racked up 91 points by sinking 48 percent of her field goal attempts and 64 percent at the charity line. She was credited with 44 rebounds, 11 blocked shots and six assists.

McCarthy was the leading scorer for the Lady Hawks against district opponents, with 92. She sank 67 percent of her foul shot attempts, and 27 percent of those from the field. She was the team's leading rebounder with 51, and had 17 assists.

Netters third at Vernon

Iowa Park placed third among seven schools entered in a tennis tournament last week at Vernon.

Burkburnett won the event and Vernon was second. Other schools represented were Graham, Hirschi, and two Amarillo schools, Caprock and Palo Duro.

In singles competition, Brandon

Negri was second and Lloyd Delaney 14th, while Chasti Hrnirik was sixth and Dixie Day 11th.

The girls' doubles teams of Desiree Vos and Dani Goin was fifth, and Christal Camp and Karlee Barrington sixth.

Jason Stevens and John Padgett finished fourth in their division, while David Warren and Brad Payton placed 11th.

Tracksters entered in Burk Relays

Iowa Park tracksters are preparing for their first competition of the year, the Burkburnett Relays, on Friday.

Starting at 2:30 p.m. the meet will consist of seven relay events, as well as individual competition in the shot putt and discus.

The following week, Mar. 6-7, the teams will host the annual Iowa Park Lions Club Hawk Relays.

Blue and Gold Banquet

Cub Scouts of Pack Seven held their annual Blue and Gold banquet Saturday evening at the junior high school cafeteria.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Groves, representing the Iowa Park Optimist Club, which sponsors the Pack, and Mr. and Mrs. John Tankersley. Tankersley is one of the District executives from the Northwest Council.

Following a pot luck dinner, Pack sponsor, Pack Scout officials, Pack leaders and assistants and Pack committee members were recognized. Each was given a certificate of appreciation from the Pack.

Richard Hicks, Cubmaster, was presented a framed picture of the Pack. Priscilla Taylor, assistant Webelo leader, was presented a gift for being with a group of boys from Tiger Cubs up to Webelos, and now to the highest rank given to a Cub Scout, Arrow of Light, which was presented to the Scouts Tuesday evening.

Hicks and Danny McGhee, assistant Cubmaster, presented the following boys with their advancements.

Craig Manning and Jeff Duerson, Bobcat; Ricky Ashton, Wolf; Michael Davis, Christopher McGhee, and Colby Rusk, Bear, and Bryan Miller, Webelo.

Following the awards a brief program was given by Hicks relating to the theme, "Scouting Around the World."

Arrow of Light

Nine Iowa Park Cub Scouts earned the highest Cub Scout rank, the Arrow of Light, Tuesday evening.

Honored for this achievement were Dustin Hicks, Bryan Taylor, Dustin Rusk, Joey Gauthier, Chris Sutton, Ryan Howard, Chad Jolly, Bryan Miller and Jason Willingham.

Assisting Cubmaster Richard Hicks and Den Leader Mike Hicks with the ceremony was Bob "Grizzly" Blawhorne of Nocona.

Scoutmaster Tim Hunter inducted the boys into Troop 37.

A woman's cape has been left at the library. It has been here for a little over a week.

Also, we have a child's jean jacket that was left by the computer desk about a week ago.

If you are missing either one of these, please come by the library and identify them.

Library Workshop

Last Tuesday, Ardis attended a Library Workshop in Arlington. She is looking forward to using some of the new ideas she acquired. If you are not a part of a storytime session, please come and join in one of our classes.

SCHOOL SCENE

Information prepared by Iowa Park School Counselors

During the week of February 17-21, sixty Bradford fourth graders participated in NAEP tests in Math and Reading. The National Assessment of Education Progress (NAEP) is a congressionally-mandated national study that has collected data since 1969 about what American students know and can do in a variety of subjects taught in school. Bradford participants were chosen at random to take part in this paper-and-pencil test along with some 7,500 students in 225 public schools in the state of Texas.

Test results will provide not only state-level information, but state-to-state comparisons and state-to-nation comparisons. A key strength of NAEP is that assessment procedures are standardized and ongoing so that the educational achievement of American students can be measured and educational trends in selected subject areas identified. The NAEP assessments are conducted every two years in students ages 9, 13 and 17. NAEP does not provide the school or the individual students with the results of their exams.

Letters to Editor policy explained

The Leader receives numerous letters which cannot, for one reason or another, be published.

Letters will not be printed unless they are signed. A typed name will not do. And, for the sake of verification, the writer's telephone should be included.

Should the writer not wish his/her name printed, it will be omitted upon request. However, the letter will be kept on file to be read upon request.

Letters also must be free of libel. If not, they will not be published, because we will not edit their content.

Corrections will not be made if they change the message in any way, but will be edited to enhance their content.

In letters supporting political candidates or issues, the Leader reserves the right to limit their lengths.

We encourage your Letters to the Editor, and offer the paper as your forum for discussions of ideas and observations.

WORTH QUOTING

Jim Winters of the Tulsa Herald, in a piece about lawyers, says that lawyers are much like ministers: good ones are invaluable and the other kind are unneeded, at best.

He was pointing out that Austin had 4,616 lawyers or one for every 137 people in Travis County. Dallas had one lawyer for every 196 people or a total of 10,565. Harris County has one attorney for each 214 residents for a total of 14,273.

We bring the subject of lawyers up because our soon-to-be state senatorial rep, if the Supreme Court doesn't change the boundary lines again, will be Senator Teel Bivins of Amarillo.

And the senator has been waging a lonely war -- and losing -- because of plaintiff attorneys in the senate. The senator has issued a statement on the subject -- and it deserves your attention. He writes:

"Ten years ago, there were 37,439 personal injury lawsuits filed in Texas courts, not including cases involving auto accidents. Last year, there were an estimated 59,259, an increase of over 58%.

"While this mushrooming of lawsuits is good for some attorneys, it's bad for Texas. It's a symptom of a big problem facing our Texas.

"Simply put, our system of law costs Texas families by inflating the cost of goods and services they buy. It reduces the options available to consumers by driving products off the market. It discourages economic growth and jobs by making it unprofitable for companies to locate in Texas. It presents a danger to the health and well-being of Texans by denying them access to life-saving drugs and safe products.

"These problems stem from defects in our state's laws governing products liability. They have a particularly strong impact on small businesses, wholesalers, retailers, and distributors.

"Take the Lubbock retailer, who sold a ladder to a man who loaned it to another man, who tried to carry a piece of plywood up the ladder. The wind blew him off the ladder and he was hurt. He sued not only the out-of-state company that made the ladder, but also the retailer who sold it to his friend who loaned it to him!

"If a simple ladder is 33% more expensive because of the explosion of lawsuits, you can imagine how much more your family spends for prescription drugs, kitchen appliances, cars, and athletic equipment than you need to.

"For example, the cost of a vaccine may be inflated 10 fold because of liability costs, according to some research.

"Dr. Peter Huber estimates the additional costs to America's economy of liability lawsuits and all that goes with them is $80 billion a year. Texas' share of that could be as much as $4 billion a year. That money is paid by every family, including yours.

"That $80 billion doesn't take into account the cost of our Texas economy because of our reputation as happy hunting grounds for plaintiff lawyers. Nor does it include the price we pay by not having some products that are never brought to market because of concerns about lawsuits.

"Who benefits from the current system? Not most injured parties. For every dollar they receive, as many as two dollars are paid to attorneys and everyone else who plays a role in the courtroom drama.

"Not consumers. For they pay the hidden liability tax on every product they buy.

"Not small business people. It's small business people who wake up in the middle of the night, worrying about insurance bills and where the next lawsuit is coming from.

"Mostly the people who benefit are the lawyers, particularly the personal injury lawyers who profit handsomely from these cases.

"In a bipartisan effort, Democratic State Rep. Curtis Seidits of Sherman and I tried to pass meaningful and reasonable liability reform last year during the regular legislative session. The House approved a reform bill by a wide margin but it was bottled up in the Texas Senate by a handful of personal injury lawyers.

"I tried to negotiate but regardless of the concessions and compromises offered, the plaintiff's attorneys were unwilling to budge an inch and raised objection after objection until the clock ran out on the session.
