Quanah, Valley View meet here Friday in bi-district

Two teams that are veterans of the state's high school football playoffs will clash in Hawk Stadium at 8 p.m. Friday.

Quanah, the Dist. 9-AA champion, will take on Dist. 10-AA runner up Valley View for the bi-district title and opportunity to advance further into the playoffs.

Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce is hosting the event. Admission will be $4 for adults and $3 for students.

Both clubs were in the playoffs last season, but in different classifications.

Valley View's Eagles lost 19-14 to Spur in a game played here last year, to finish with an 8-3 record.

But that was the Class A area championship. The school was moved up to AA in this year's realignment by the UIL, and became the second-smallest in that division with an enrollment of only 139.82 students.

But Coach Mark Davidson's club, with 36 returning lettermen including seven offensive and defensive starters who know Hawk Stadium well, lived up to their pre-season ratings to be the runner-up to Jacksboro.

The green and white Eagles lost two non-conference games, 12-8 to Pottsboro and 26-16 to Era, but defeated Collinsville 16-0, Callisburg 15-7 and Alvord 39-20.

Then, against 10-AA opponents, Valley View shut out its first three victims, Chico 60-0, Nocona 42-0 and Paradise 26-0, before losing to Jacksboro 27-7. In a showdown for the runner-up playoff position last week, the team outscored Henrietta 38-28.

Quanah was a state finalist in 1988, and last year lost 35-14 in bi-district to the conference semifinalist West Texas High to end the season with a 7-4 record.

Coach Jim Wood returns four offensive and five defensive regulars, but is missing three of this season's stars, including the black and gold team's leading rusher of the season, Roney Woodard.

Woodard had averaged over 100 yards per game this season before suffering a leg injury in the seventh game. He had 729 yards and score 12 touchdowns.

Quanah lost three non-conference games, 20-0 to Childress, 14-0 to Wheeler and 63-28 to Spur, but won the other two, 41-13 over Paducah and 28-15 over Shamrock.

The Indians then knocked off district runner-up Olney 26-6, Seymour 14-0 and Electra 35-27, before being upset by Holliday 25-24. They wound up the regular season with a 24-1 victory over Archer City.

The Indians were the pre-season picks to win Dist. 9-AA.

1991 IOWA PARK CHAMBER OF COMMERCE LEADERS

... Gene Jordan, first vice president; Joe Hughes, president; Larry Dutton, second vice president.

Hughes elected Chamber president

Joe Hughes headed a new slate of officers who will lead the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce in 1991, during the organization's annual all-membership meeting Monday.

Hughes was elected president, Gene Jordan first vice president and Larry Dutton second vice president.

Directors elected to serve three-year terms include Dutton, Sheri

Kennedy, Janice Newman, O.N. Newman, Robert Palmer, Bob Hamilton, Kenneth Via and outgoing president Harold Smith.

Entertainment for the catered luncheon, which was held in the Lions Club Building, was provided by the Show Choir of Iowa Park High School.

A report on school construction progress was provided by Glen Mitchell, superintendent of schools.

He said construction was complete at the high school and Bradford Elementary, while work at Kidwell Elementary and the junior high school is expected to be finished prior to the start of the spring semester.

An open house will be observed at the four campuses once all work has been completed, Mitchell said.

Civic club may build gymnasium near RAC

A full-size gymnasium possibly will be built next to the new Recreational Activities Center, but not at the expense of the city.

Louis Sefcik, a member of the Iowa Park Optimist Club, suggested members of his organization would build the facility if the city would provide the land.

Sefcik first asked the council during Monday night's regular meeting if the city would provide the land at the northwest corner of Fourth Street and West Highway for the gym location.

However, Mayor Wayne House pointed out that part of that property has been leased for a used car lot, and council members appeared to agree they would be reluctant to discontinue that leasing agreement, as long as other city-owned property not in use was available.

In the long-range planning of the block where the RAC is located, a gymnasium had been proposed. That prompted the council to ask Sefcik if that location would be agreeable.

Sefcik admitted some members of the club were reluctant to enter into any type of joint-use agreement with the municipal government, but added he did not share that feeling.

The gymnasium, he proposed, would be available to the public when the club's programs for youth were not scheduled.

Besides the land for the structure, which would include a full size gym and a meeting room for the organization, Sefcik asked that the city provide the utilities.

If located near the RAC structure, the parking lot would be available for those using the gym, it was pointed out.

Sefcik said he would report back to his fellow members and discuss the proposal.

Also, concerning the RAC, bids for electrical work and the heating and air conditioning system were approved.

Low bid on the electrical work was submitted by Willen Electric of Wichita Falls, $13,750, while James Lane Air Conditioning of Wichita Falls got the other bid, $23,474.

Scales Concrete Construction of Wichita Falls was the lowest of three bidders on a project to correct flooding problems at Wall and Valley Drive. The bid was $20,917.

Aldermen approved advertising for a one-ton truck to be used by the street department.

A request to abandon portions of Second Street that have never been opened to traffic received no action.

Darrell Jolly, who has purchased a tract of land on the west side of Thompson Tool for his real estate office site, had sought the abandonment.

Because the street has never been opened, Jolly was told, he could use the property for parking until such time as the city decided to open the street.

Mayor House explained he would not want to give away the right of way when it might at some time in the future be needed.

A request that the city provide the light fixtures for the new baseball field behind Sonic and Harvey's, with Little League volunteers to build the towers and erect them, was approved.

Cost of the 30 fixtures was estimated approximately $9,000.

A proposal to purchase a concrete box culvert to be installed on Smith Street, to help the flow of water that has heavily damaged the pavement this year, was approved.

Mike Price, public works director, estimated the cost at $4,626.

Price also discussed a proposal that the city purchase equipment for the application of slurry mix on asphalt streets.

He pointed out the $24,000 paid for a contractor to do 71 blocks this year would pay for the equipment in about three years, providing the same number of blocks were treated.

Price also said work could be scheduled when city employees were available, rather than when a contractor could be here.

He was told to have more information at the next meeting, for possible action.

Police arrest wanted man

When a motorist saw hands waving from beneath a tarp covering the bed of a pickup on US 287 Friday, he became suspicious and alerted lawmen.

The tip led to the arrest of a man from Idaho, after Iowa Park police stopped his vehicle as it passed through the city.

Thomas Lee Smith, 45, was arrested on a charge of "child custody interference," but also likely faces additional charges of transporting juvenile females across state lines.

Smith reportedly left the state with two of his children, a boy and a girl, in a custody battle and was wanted by the sheriff's office at Boundry County, Idaho.

He reportedly picked up two juvenile female runaways along the route, and it was they who were playfully waving from beneath the tarp at other vehicles near Electra. Smith and his two children were all in the pickup cab.

Smith was transported to Wichita County jail, and the four juveniles to the juvenile detention center in Wichita Falls.

Two other arrests were listed on this week's police blotter, as well as two burglaries, three thefts, one case of criminal mischief and a hit and run accident.

Christine Crumpton, 27, was taken into custody in the 500 block of West Highway Friday evening on a warrant issued by Wichita County. She was released to a sheriff's deputy.

Leonard Backman, 34, was arrested Sunday afternoon in the 1200 block of North Jackson on a charge of public intoxication. He was later released on a personal recognizance bond.

Two different complaints were filed with police concerning attempted burglary of a soft drink machine at Quail Run Apartments.

The first was Friday morning, and the second was Tuesday afternoon, after the tip of a broken screwdriver used in the attempt was discovered.

A resident in the 800 block of North Yosemite told police someone had taken a microwave oven from the home

School trustees approve 'freeport' tax exemption

Iowa Park school trustees Tuesday night approved the "freeport tax exemption," benefiting present and any future manufacturing industries in the school district.

The "freeport tax exemption" was passed by the state legislature during its last regular session, but left its adoption to local taxing entities.

Under the legislation provided that taxing entities were not required to adopt the exemption, but once it was adopted, it could not be repealed in the future.

All manufactured products that are to be moved onto the interstate market is exempted from being taxed by the entities adopting the policy.

According to the district's tax collector, Allen Shewmake, the exemption would have cost the school district $52,586 in revenues this school year, just on Cryovac's inventories alone.

However, in an earlier meeting with the board, Sam Laird, manager of the Cryovac plant, told trustees his firm's policy would be to reduce inventories of products in the future, whether the "freeport" exemption were adopted or not.

No estimate was available on what tax savings the firm would incur once the firm's inventories were reduced.

The $52,586 on inventories Cryovac will pay this year amounts to approximately two cents of the school district's tax rate.

Trustees did not vote unanimously in favor of the exemption. Voting for the exemption were Keith Fisher, Randy Catlin, Sheri Kennedy and Wendall House. Denny McCarthy voted against the proposal, John Sibley was absent and board chairman Jerry Reed abstained.

The exemption will go into effect for the 1991-92 school year's taxes.

Another highlight of the meeting, which was held following a tour of the new construction and remodeling work at the high school and Bradford Elementary, was the approval of a policy which provides for a district-wide educational improvement council, and discussion on a proposal to purchase several computers for classrooms.

Implementation of the improvement council is required by the state, and calls for "campus-based professional staff to advise the board or its designee in establishing and reviewing the district's educational goals, objectives, and major district-wide classroom instructional programs..."

Its membership will be elected for staggered two-year terms, with four representatives from each campus except the high school, which will have five, according to the policy.

The council is to meet at least twice annually, with meetings outside the regular school day.

Supt. Glen Mitchell said the nomination process would begin immediately, with the council to be in place early in 1991.

After recommending the board set aside $30,000 this year to purchase computers for the elementary schools, some board members felt they should look at a major acquisition of computers and software to bring equipment up to the level of several area schools, including Electra and Burkburnett.

Trustee Fisher suggested the school might look at a three-year lease-purchase of the equipment.

Mitchell said he would have more information available, both in terms of needs, costs and financing options, at the next meeting.

A goal-setting meeting, at which possible plans are discussed for the district and no official actions taken, was tentatively scheduled to be held Dec. 6.

Three bids to replace the roof of the junior high gymnasium porch and foyer were received, but action was delayed for further study. The bids ranged from $3,469 to $6,253.

Trustees approved a request to advertise for bids for additional electrical work at the school's agriculture project buildings, including the show barn and ording to Virgil Woodfin. Added to the 1.28 measured Nov. 3, the month's total is 2.28 inches.

Hallenbeck, Robertson wed Saturday evening in western ceremony

Honeymooning in Ruidoso, N.M. this week are Mr. and Mrs. Rowdy Randolph Robertson who were married Saturday evening in a ceremony performed at First Baptist Church.

Officiant for the double-ring exchange of nuptial vows by Miss Amy Sue Hallenbeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Hallenbeck of Chico and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Robertson of Iowa Park, was Rev. Howell Farnsworth, pastor of First Baptist Church in Floydada.

A western ranch theme was carried out in church and altar decorations and the attendants' attire. Wedding tradition was dominant in the bridal gown, the bride's cake at the reception, the ceremony and musical program.

First glimpse of the "way out west" decor was noted in bandana bows on the doors to the entry of the church.

Cody Yarbrough and Bodie Yarbrough, cousins of the groom, were doormen and ushered guests into the foyer where the ranch-style life motif began to unfold with a large black wrought iron table and two matching chairs.

The table held a black wrought iron buggy highlighted with a "getting hitched" sign on the back. A bouquet of red roses, bandana ribbon and denim roping trimmed the inside of the buggy.

Other appointments on the table were a horseshoe frame holding pictures of the bride and groom, a twin-branched black wrought iron candle holder with red votive candles, the guest book and a gold Florentine pen.

Mrs. Wayne Gaston and Mrs. Eddie Richardson secured signatures of guests.

Church pews were marked with bandana bows and black wrought iron candlesticks decorated with ivy and holding burning red tapers.

The altar was centered with a black wrought iron arch traced with English ivy and marked with identifying ranch features. "Rowdy's" lariat was on one side and an old horseshoe tied with a bandana and free flowing stems of wheat at the other. In flanking positions were votive seven-branched iron candelabra enhanced with arch-shaped candelabra. A spiral candelabra in the choir loft further illuminated the setting.

The chosen altar decor was continued with an old saddle belonging to Odell Blackwell that was placed on the floor back of the center arch. Two large wagon wheels trimmed with ivy, bandana ribbon and wheat were on a lower level of the altar.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Cindy Harper, pianist and vocalist, and Miss Cheyenne Patterson, niece of the groom, vocalist.

Prelude selections played by Miss Harper included "O Perfect Love," "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us," "Joyful, Joyful We Adore Thee," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Always," "As for Me and My House," "Household of Faith," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Miss Harper sang "Vows Go Unbroken" for a solo during the ceremony and "Wedding Song" for a duet with Miss Patterson. She also played the traditional wedding marches.

Miss Patterson was attired in a blue and ivory cotton dress featuring a "home on the prairie" look, and wore a headpiece and earrings to match those worn by the bridal attendants.

The bride's father escorted her to the altar and presented her in marriage. Her exquisite white satin gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice that dipped in the front. A sweetheart neckline extended in the back to a fringe-trimmed satin bow that marked the center back waistline. Full sleeves were puffed to the elbows where they formed slender pearl button-trimmed fitted sleeves that terminated in a taper over the hands.

Her full skirt flowed into a chapel train. A peplum, bordered with fringe, extended from the waistline in front to fingertip length in the back.

The bride's double-tiered waist length illusion veil cascaded from a white satin headpiece bordered with net. The headpiece was accented with a miniature heart, star, horseshoe, cowboy boot, Longhorn head and a gun of silver.

She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of red roses enhanced with blue hearts, white net background, and red and white satin streamers.

Bridal traditions were observed with the bride's late grandmother's pearl necklace for "something old" her wedding dress for "something new", pearl earrings belonging to the groom's mother for "something borrowed," and a blue garter.

Cindy Patterson of Watonga, Okla., sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Teresa Moss and Miss Holli Younger, both of Chico, Mrs. Mark Patterson, sister of the groom, Mrs. Russell Yarbrough and Mrs. Randell Yarbrough, cousins of the groom, all of Iowa Park. Heather Clines of Wichita Falls was flower girl.

Feminine attendants wore tea length blue denim dresses complimented with pleated fronts and backs, Peter Pan collars and long cuffed sleeves. They wore red shoes, heart conchos looped with red satin rope attached to clamps in their hair and matching silver earrings. Each carried a long stemmed red rose.

The flower girl wore a long red cotton dress with an old fashioned flair and carried a white straw basket filled with red petals for her to scatter in the path of the bride as she approached the altar.

Mrs. Rowdy Robertson (Amy Sue Hallenbeck)

Dakota Patterson, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer and carried the rings in a western antique hat. He was dressed like the groom's attendants.

The groom's best man was his father. Ushers were Steve Bounds of Bellvue, Derrick Crumpton of Lubbock, A.D. Hambright, Todd Duncan, Shawn Chambers and Kevin Menser, all of Iowa Park.

Groomsmen were Russell and Randell Yarbrough, cousins of the groom, Mark Patterson, the groom's brother-in-law, Wes Todd, the groom's cousin, all of Iowa Park, and Johnny Lowrance of Chico, also a cousin of the groom.

They wore blue denim Wrangler dress pants, white pleated shirts, red bow ties and black Spencer jackets. Their boutonnieres were red roses.

The groom wore a white Spencer coat with his blue denim Wrangler dress pants, white pleated shirt, red bow tie and red rose boutonniere.

Mother of the bride wore a tea length black knit princess style dress and white accessories. Mrs. Robertson was attired in a red cotton dress designed tea length with a western type collar front and back yoke and a black western belt. The yoke featured a black braided cactus and coyote with stars on the back.

The bride's parents were hosts for the nuptial reception held in Fellowship Hall where the ranch and farm theme again was used at vantage points.

The bride's table was draped to the floor with white Chantilly lace overlaid with red silk and centered with six-branched silver candelabra holding glowing tall red candles. Table extremities were marked with a crystal punch service and red napkins and the four-tiered all white confection cake with two sets of Grecian posts.

The cake was embellished with curving sprays of lily-of-the-valley encircling each tier. Mounds of white roses touched with bits of red ribbon topped each of the divided layers. The top ornament was a Precious Moments bride and groom in western attire surrounded by flowers, ribbons and roping with a good luck horseshoe serving as a background.

A red bandana cloth overlaid in the center with blue denim covered the groom's table. An antique lamp was the nostalgic centerpiece. Other appointments were the silver coffee service, red napkins and a double horseshoe cake baked and decorated by Mrs. Mark Patterson, sister of the groom. The decorative pattern featured cactus sculpting, the letter "R" where the horseshoes interlocked and "A" and "R" on the horseshoes.

Mrs. John Hallenbeck, Wayne Gaston, Eddie Richardson and Miss Jennifer Patterson served at the bride's table.

Mrs. Johnny Lowrance and Mrs. Patsy Lowrance presided at the groom's table. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Singer and Mr. and Mrs. James Yarbrough were members of the houseparty.

The gift table was covered with a wedding ring quilt and featured colorful potted plants.

Another small table was draped with white lace and was used to display the bridal bouquet and the attendants' long stemmed roses. A tall wrought iron candlestick holding a red candle under the large crystal globe stood at one end of the table.

Bandana rice bags were distributed from a straw basket in a double-layer black iron cart which also held a matching bird cage, the home of a red bird.

Special wedding guests included Mrs. Lois Robertson, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Toler, grandparents of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Robertson were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Mule Skinner's barn Friday evening. The betrothed couple presented their attendants with gifts.

The bride graduated from Chico High School and worked in the office at Bridgeport Pre-release Center. The groom is a graduate of Iowa Park High School and is a self-employed welder. They will make their home in Iowa Park.

Linda Ayres presents Garden Club program

Linda Ayres presented the program for Iowa Park Garden Club members on "Christmas Ideas," at their meeting Friday morning in TU Electric Reddy Room.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. John Clapp, president, roll call was answer by showing a Christmas idea.

Mrs. Gene Young gave her thought for the day entitled, "A Thanksgiving Day Prayer."

Mrs. Gladys James announced the Yard of the Month for November is that of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Wilkins, 1012 Foley.

Yards receiving honorable mention were Iowa Park Junior High School, First United Methodist Church and First Presbyterian Church.

Nominating Committee members named were Mrs. Billy C. Gilmore, Mrs. W.A. George and Mrs. Lib Cabe. The will nominate officers for the 1991-1992 club year.

Mrs. George reminded members that they will decorate the Christmas trees at Burnett Memorial Library Monday, Nov. 26, starting at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Jim Gilmore reported that 10 members of the club attended the District II Texas Garden Clubs Fall Convention held Nov. 7 at Fort Worth Botanic Garden Center.

Those attending from Iowa Park were Mmes. Clapp, Jo Gilbert, Deryl James, Gladys James, Gene Young, Dewey Conley, Oscar Wells, Billy C. Gilmore, Kay Cole and Jim Gilmore.

Theme of the convention was "Blossoms, Balloons, and Bears." The design program was presented by Mrs. Jimmie Courtney, a Master Flower Show Judge of National Council of Garden Clubs.

Mrs. Ray Copening displayed a horticulture exhibit that she had gathered from the yard of her grandmother in East Texas combined with some items that had been gathered in the woods of East Texas.

The basket was filled with fall wildflowers and branches from the Red Haw and crape myrtle tree. It also contained bitter weed, Grandpa's Whiskers, water grass and Bachelor Buttons.

Mrs. Jim Gilmore gave the convention report. She used a pamphlet distributed by Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., entitled "You Can Make A Big Difference."

She encouraged members to recycle as many products used around the home as possible. She stated that for every aluminum can that is recycled represents enough energy to light a 100-watt light bulb for three and one-half hours.

Miss Ayres told the story of the Yule Log and said that different items placed on the log represents events in Christ's life. She said that many families have a tradition of burning a Yule Log each year on Christmas Eve.

She showed several inexpensive gifts that can be made at home. Some of these were earrings made from Christmas stamps, necklaces from wooden ornaments and door stops decorated like a Christmas package.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. George and Jo Gilbert who served refreshments from a table decorated in fall colors.

BAZZAAR

As I See It . . . By Bob Hamilton

I can't let this week's activity pass by without answering a question often asked by prospective members of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce. "What does the Chamber do?" Well, how about bringing two or three thousand people into our city for an evening, plus getting the city's name in every major newspaper in the state? We've got another state playoff football game here Friday night. I must point out, however, that it is made possible because our school's leaders permit the use of the stadium, and Athletic Director Len Williams has handled a huge amount of contacting with officials from the visiting schools.

Okay, you don't sell hamburgers, soda pop, gasoline or anything having to do with those folks who will be here, primarily from Valley View and Quanah.

The same is true for those folks at Graham, yet all Grahamites benefit each time someone from here goes down to Possum Kingdom Lake.

Iowa Park doesn't have a major tourist attraction, shy of our two small but good fishing lakes, or possibly the Tom Burnett Memorial Library. There's really not much else to being folks here, much less top.

So, what does the Chamber have to do with a football game between two high schools?

Well, for one thing, before it's all over there will have been approximately 40 volunteer manhours expended that directly relate to more than $5,000 (not including the price of the tickets) being spent in our community.

That's money that would not have been here had it not been for the efforts of our school and Chamber people.

It's been proven that every dollar spent in a community changes hands seven times before it leaves there. The chances are, a lot of Iowa Parkans will have handled one of those dollars in one way or another.

I guess, really, I don't beat the drum for the Chamber often enough, if people ask the question, "What does the Chamber do?"

I'll see if I can't do better in the future.

Sales tax report improves

The City of Iowa Park this month received a sales tax rebate check for $15,366.68, down only .30 of one percent from the $15,411.34 received in November 1989, according to the state comptroller's office. For the year, sales tax rebates are exactly one half of one percent above receipts this time last year, the report stated.

The city's receipts have amounted to $150,225.77. At the same period last year, Iowa Park had received $149,473.

Electra is a plus 5.91 percent above the same time last year, but Burkburnett is a minus 1.56 percent and Wichita Falls minus 0.45.

Holiday's $8,491.65 was 35.72 greater than the check received in November of last year, but thus far that city is still a minus 11.26 for the year.

This month's checks reflect taxes collected on September sales and reported in late October by businesses filing monthly returns.

Also included in this month's payments are sales taxes reported by quarterly filers whose collections reflect sales made in July, August and September.

sometime Wednesday of last week. The registration sticker of a car parked in the 1000 block of Mary Drive was reported as stolen Saturday.

Sometime Sunday night, gasoline was reportedly stolen from a vehicle parked in the 400 block of West Texas.

A patrolling officer Saturday found where someone had used red paint to disfigure the time capsule monument in the front lawn of the Tom Burnett Memorial Library.

Sometime during Wednesday night of last week, someone driving an apparent white vehicle struck a parked car in the 800 block of Park Plaza, and left without notifying the owner.

School authorities notified police Monday morning that a student was interfering with a school bus driver. The student has been instructed to appear in municipal court, according to the blotter.

Worth Quoting

I was appalled by the lack of politeness displayed by many of the little spooks and goblins making their rounds Halloween night.

Back in my day we were taught to approach a house by chanting "Trick or Treat!" and depart with an enthusiastic "Thank You!"

Most of the children I observed last Halloween night pranced up to the door, held out their bags, collected their goodies and departed without so much as a rude grunt, much less a police "Thank you."

If parents aren't teaching their children the rudimentary skills of politeness, it's no wonder our society is suffering from moral decay.

LEWIS SIMMONS
Clay County Leader

The gracious, charming, vibrant actress immediately wanted to know the towns the Texans were from. When we mentioned "Andrews," she surprised us by knowing where it was.

"A friend of mine in Fort Worth is trying to get me to invest in some oil wells in Andrews," she said. "I haven't made up my mind yet, but evidently it's a real hot spot in Texas."

We never did find out if she invested in oil wells in Andrews but a few months later out at El Paso, in William Beaumont army hospital, we were in a private room following surgery. Our room was off a corridor leading to the largest ward in the hospital.

Movie star Alan Ladd, his wife who was also his business manager, and several Hollywood types were touring the hospital.

Ladd slipped into our room, shut the door, and asked permission to smoke a cigarette. "My wife frowns on my smoking," he said.

As we both enjoyed his cigarettes, the conversation shifted to home towns.

When we told him about Andrews he said: "I know where that is. My agent has been trying to get us to invest in some oil wells out there but my wife is against it."

Like Martin, we never did find out whether the star of "Shane" ever invested in the wild drilling program underway in Andrews in the late forties.

But Martin and Ladd convinced us that a lot of people in this country know where Andrews is located.
JAMES ROBERTS
Andrews County News

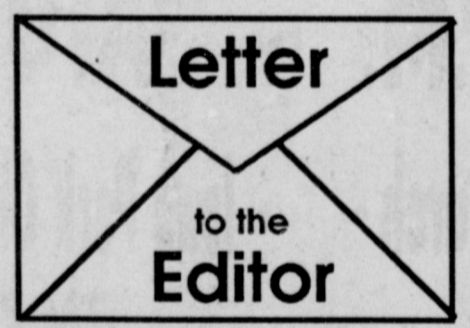

The death this week of Mary Martin reminded us that no matter where you go, you can't really get away from Andrews.

Forty-five years ago, a group of repatriates from POW camps in Germany arrived at Staten Island aboard the Swedish luxury liner, Gripsholm.

As the ship passed beneath the Statue of Liberty, with welcoming bands playing, harbor tug boats and other ships in the harbor tooting and whistling, the excitement proved too great for one of the returning veterans and he suffered a heart attack and died.

Following a short memorial service in the chapel of an Army hospital on Staten Island, the returnees were given 48-hours leave and free tickets to Broadway shows, restaurants, the works.

Four of us, including two from Texas, took in a Broadway show. We don't remember the name but it starred Mary Martin from Weatherford, Texas. Someone told her about the four ex-POWs in the audience and after the show, we were escorted back to her dressing room.

Glad election is over

I too as well as you and others are glad all the mud slinging and idle promises are over. Some promises often get broken. Everyone is entitled to their opinion regardless of the party. I got a few votes and lost a few votes, but didn't cry or lose sleep. I look at this wonderful state as a huge boat and we are all in it together and we better paddle together hard and long and make the best of what we have to do with and wear a smile everyday. Be happy and thank God for just being here.

Mrs. Jackie Britt

Diana (Mrs. Jackie) Britt has lived in Iowa Park 19 years. The daughter of Gertrude and the late George Krajcik, Diana was born in Germany and moved here with her family in 1971 when her father retired from the service.

After graduating from Iowa Park High School, Diana worked as a legal secretary, executive secretary, and for five years, was a secretary at First Baptist Church in Wichita Falls.

She and her husband, Jackie, who is employed by Ameron, have been married 12 years. They have a 17-month-old son, Sean.

Diana lists her hobbies as cooking, playing the piano, and counted cross stitch. The family are members of First Baptist Church where she is a teacher and plays the piano for the five-year-old's Sunday School class. Also, she is a member of the church's adult choir and works with the children's choir.

Diana said that she began cooking when she was in the fifth grade, and it is something she has always enjoyed. She said that she especially likes to make cheesecake and pound cake, and the recipe for "Ranchero Supper Stew" is the favorite of her husband.

1 cup water
2 t. chili powder
2 carrots, sliced
1 green pepper, chopped
1/2 cup celery, sliced
2 potatoes, diced

In Dutch oven, brown beef in oil. Add carrots, soup mix blended with tomatoes, water and chili powder. Simmer, stirring occasionally, 30 minutes. Add remaining vegetables and simmer covered 45 minutes, or until vegetables are tender and gravy is slightly thickened.

Peel, quarter, and cook potatoes in salted water until done.

Meanwhile, melt margarine or butter in medium saucepan over low heat. Add flour, salt and dill, stirring constantly. When smooth, cook for a few seconds. Add cream and milk gradually to butter mixture, stirring constantly until sauce thickens.

Drain potatoes when done and transfer to serving bowl. Cover with sauce.

Add to the following:
1 2/3 cup crab meat (or 2 cans) washed and drained

UMW meets Tuesday

Jessie Mae Owens Fellowship of First United Methodist Women met Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Carlene Bennett.

Mrs. Mary Mixon presented the program entitled, "Wednesday's Child."

This was a study about the various categories of persons described as the homeless, with particular emphasis on children.

Seven members and U.M.W. President, Betty Dyer, were present.

Bertha McDonald Circle of United Methodist Women met Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Gerry Thurlo.

Mrs. Miles Thompson presented the program on "He Touched Me." She told how lives are changed by the "touch of Jesus."

Refreshments were served to seven members.

Tiger Cubs have meeting

Tiger Cub Timothy Shanks and his adult friend Sandy Shanks were in charge of activities when Pack #7 had its monthly meeting Monday night.

Each member painted a Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle pin.

Upcoming events were discussed, and included the pickup, Saturday, of bags for the food drive, and a Derby Race in December.

Heritage Manor Activities

With the holiday season just around the corner, residents and employees of Heritage Manor are enjoying the excitement and bustle so common this time of year.

Plans are underway for several special events during the holidays that we hope will make this time memorable for all.

Volunteer help will be needed, and anyone who is interested in assisting as a volunteer should contact Cindy Edwards, activity director.

Two of our residents, Beulah Stewart and Floyd Bloodworth, remain in the hospital, and we wish them both a speedy recovery.

Events at Heritage Manor the past week included our regular bingo game. Winners included Roberta Spears, Leola Dodd, Lauree Dunegan and Cecil Chowning. Other winners were Margie Lewis and Irma Stone.

We express our appreciation to members of First Presbyterian Church, who provided services for our residents last Sunday. This Sunday, Pacific Avenue Baptist Church will be here.

Rita Henderson, food service supervisor, has begun the new fall/winter menus and the residents are enjoying the new food.

Jina Miller, R.N. is our new director of nursing. She assumed duties of director in mid-September. She received her Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree from Angelo State University in San Angelo. She brings 15 years of nursing experience with her.

Mrs. Miller and her husband, Jerry, have lived in Iowa Park a year. She was raised in Wichita Falls, and states "It is good to be back home again."

We are planning an open house in early December so we can share the many changes in our facility with our community.

Theme for the open house will be, "Looking Toward the Future." Watch for more information on this special event.

We hope you will plan to visit with us and share our excitement.

Discover the Joy

"HAZE OVER OUR CITIES"

Many cities, even the smaller ones with populations under 100,000 have smog problems. From the air one is able to look at a city like Wichita Falls and see a dim haze of impurities we breathe everyday. The largest cities of course have much more of this green, gray and yellow poison.

The haze seems to me to be symbol of something more important: morals have degenerated - standards have slipped. We have resurrected an old immorality and called it the new morality. Chastity before marriage is no longer required or highly desired. Drugs, the most dangerous of which is alcohol, are used by ever younger people in our society. Disrespect and a "who cares" attitude are overcoming nation's children. Homes are breaking up that were formed decades ago. Television drama, book and journalism are full of convincing compelling doctrines designed to make us sneer at the home, our nation, parents, God, the Bible, and religion. All of these factors make the larger cities and our country hard or impossible to govern.

There are no eternal civilizations. Civilizations begin with hard work and strength of character. They top out in ease and luxury and die from sin within. Gibbons declared that Rome died because of the decadence of the people.

The most deadly poison is not in our air, but in our characters. Only Jesus Christ is able to give a complete cure for the poison of sin. Come on over and let us introduce you to the Savior.

Top-ranked Vernon beats Hawks in finale

By most standards, allowing one's opponent 399 yards offense and being shut out by a 28-0 margin, would be considered humiliating to a high school football team.

But that was not the case in Hawk Stadium Friday night, when Iowa Park hosted Vernon in the regular-season finale.

The state's top-ranked AAA team, from the early predictions until now, was figured to be several more points stronger than the Hawks, who finished the season 2-7.

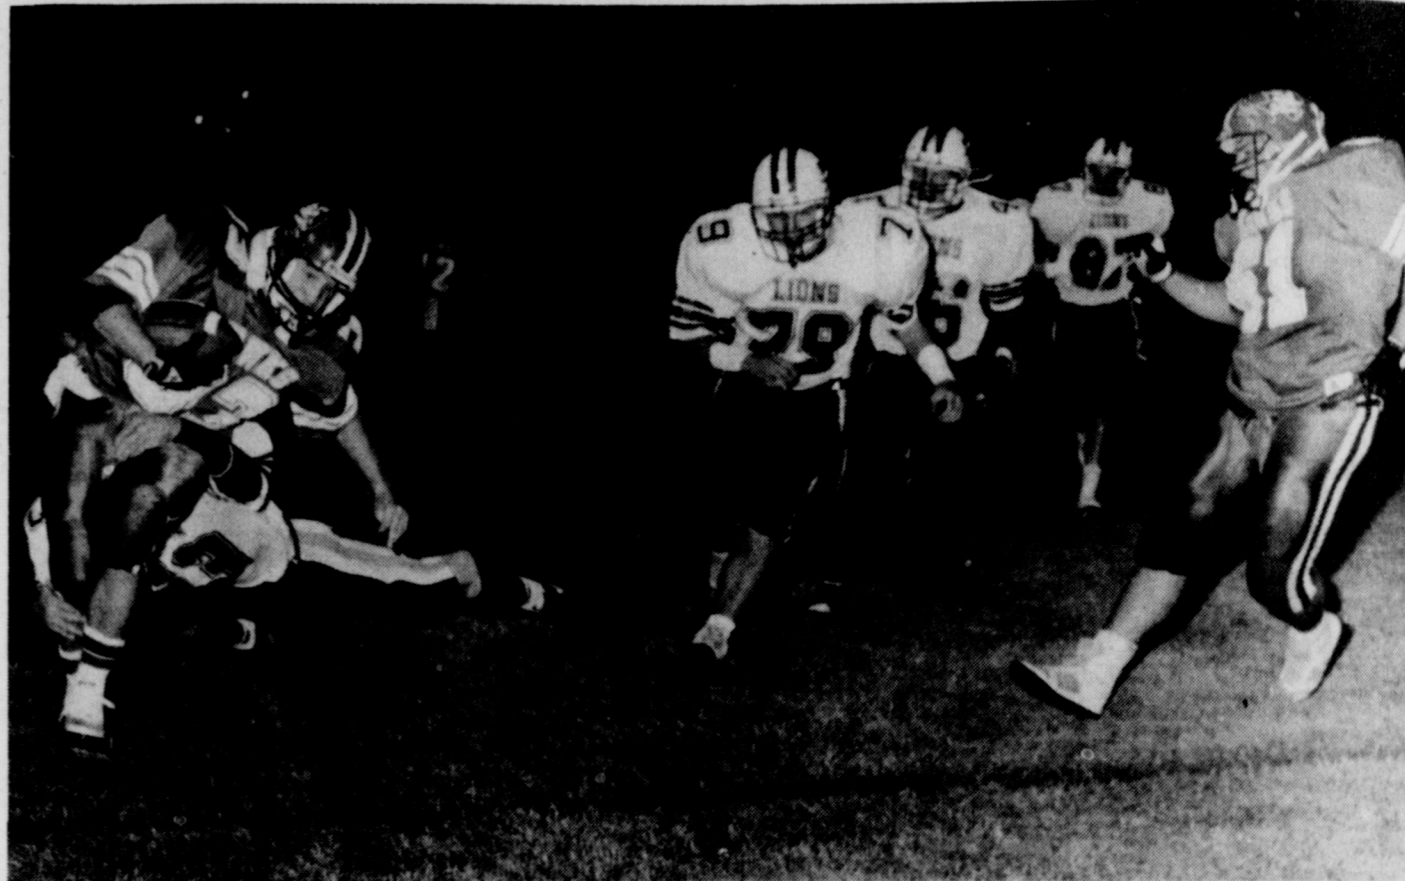

Actually, Iowa Park's defense played an outstanding game, limiting the vaunted Lion rushers to only 211 yards and forcing the visitors to the airways.

Playing without all-stater Eric Dickerson, only five of Vernon's 37 rushing plays were for more than seven yards, and but one of those was for a touchdown.

After being held to a mere 39 yards rushing in the first quarter, Coach Leo Brittain called for his team to take to the airways. Eventhough Vernon completed only one of six attempted passes in the first period, for 13 yards, and losing one when Greg Steger intercepted, the Lions found success.

The visitors completed their first three pass attempts, and all three were for scores on plays of 66, 54 and 12 yard distances.

That third TD was made easy. Johnny Duggins caught a six-yard pass and was hit so hard he not only fumbled the ball, which was covered on the Hawk 27, but was lost for the rest of the evening with a mild concussion.

On the first play, the officials ruled Todd Pulley had interfered with a receiver -- a call that was hotly disputed by Hawk coaches -- that penalized Iowa Park to the 12. And the Lions scored on the next play.

Vernon registered its only rushing score in the third quarter, a 60-yarder, making the score 28-0 with 6:25 remaining in the period, and the balance of the evening was all defense.

The Lions' defensive line and linebackers controlled the game, forcing the Hawks to pass. Duggins, who led Iowa Park in rushing, gained all 22 of his yards on his first four carries. Chris Williams, who replaced Duggins, carried only twice and gained a net four yards.

Hawk quarterback Robert Denton, despite having his first pass attempt of the evening intercepted, still finished the game with 12 of 27 attempts for 87 yards. He had one other pass stolen, and Patrick Kennedy's only pass attempt also was intercepted.

Williams caught four passes for 31 yards and Jason Young had two receptions for 37. Steger's three catches netted only seven yards. One pass each was caught by Duggins, Chad Reis and Pulley.

The Lions lost two fumbles. One was covered by Jason Dudley. No one was credited with having covered the other ball.

JV drops last game

The Iowa Park Hawk Junior Varsity dropped its final game of the season Thursday, 21-6, to Vernon.

Iowa Park wound up second in district standings, losing only to the Lions' JV, and ended the season with a 7-3 record.

The other Frosh losses were early in the season, to Hirschi and Burkburnett.

Vernon, playing 14 sophomores all on defense, had to come from behind, after Don Ellis scored on a nine-yard run in the first quarter.

Iowa Park actually had another touchdown, a 75-yard kickoff return by Clint Witherspoon. But it was called back on a penalty.

Lady Hawks' power shows in first games

All three Lady Hawk basketball teams had easy victories in their season-opener Tuesday night.

In fact, their combined scores were 154-57.

The varsity knocked off Electra 73-29, after jumping out to a 40-10 halftime lead. At the end of the first period Iowa Park led 20-2.

Four players finished in double digits: Kerri Dorner 17, Melody Gray 14, Misty Cook 12 and Leslie Miller 10.

It was much the same for the junior varsity game, where defense played a big part in the team's 47-18 win over Electra.

Lisa Wiggins led scoring with 12 points, Christie Catlin had 11 points and 10 rebounds and Dee Ann Warren scored 10 points and had seven rebounds.

The freshmen played Wichita Falls Rider, and won that contest 34-0 behind Jennifer Ricks' 12 points.

Monday, the Lady Hawk freshman "B" team played Archer city, but lost that contest 38-31. Christal Goad had 10 points for Iowa Park.

The Lady Hawks' varsity, JV and freshmen will play their next two games on the road. They travel to Burkburnett Friday and Wichita Falls High Tuesday. Freshman games will lead off both evenings at 4:30.

All three Hawk teams will open their seasons at home Tuesday, against Wichita Falls High.

The freshmen will play the first game of the tripleheader, starting at 5 p.m.

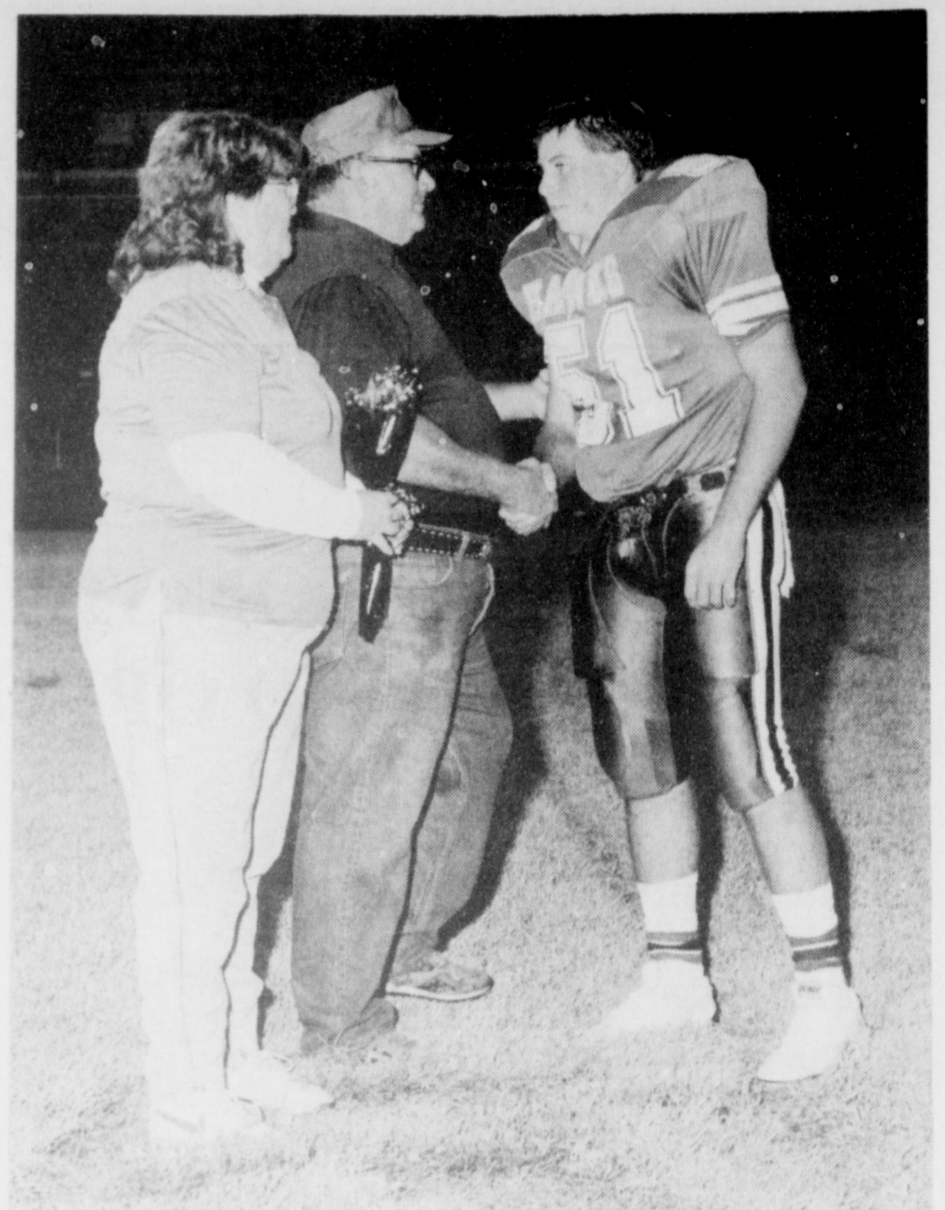

Both the Lady Hawks and Hawks are entered in the Nov. 23-24 Fantasy of Lights tournament in Wichita Falls.

Winter driving requires caution on driver's part

There's nothing more beautiful than a fresh blanket of new-fallen snow. Unless, of course, you're driving in it.

Winter snow and ice pose special problems for even the most experienced driver, and is more hazardous than most people realize.

Major Vernon Cawthon, Commander of the Department of Public Safety's Region Five, said, "Safe winter driving, when it's all said and done, is largely the application of common sense to some basic driving facts."

The Department of Public Safety offers the following winter driving precautions.

The mistake that breeds the most trouble is too much speed on slippery roads. We must adjust our driving habits to fit the weather and road conditions. Trips on icy roads are going to take longer, so we need to face the facts, don't be in a hurry.

If the road is covered with ice or snow, start your vehicle moving slowly and gently. When stopping, apply the brakes lightly and much earlier than usual. When turning, slow your speed and turn as smoothly as possible.

If your car begins to skid, take your foot completely off the gas pedal and don't touch your brakes at all. Then, steer in the direction you want the front of the car to go. Try to use small turns of the steering wheel for skid correction. After you recover from the skid, resume a safe, reduced speed.

When the temperature drops to near freezing, roads may hold only water, but ice can quickly form on bridges and overpasses. With no soil as insulation, a bridge is five to six degrees colder than the road and freezes faster. Try not to accelerate, change lanes, or brake while crossing a bridge or overpass under these conditions.

Icy roads, also, call for more driving preparation. Before you drive, completely clean your windows--front, rear and side. Don't peephole drive!

Bags of sand or kitty litter can be helpful, if stuck on snow or ice. Throw handfuls of either under the tires to get the traction you need to pull away from an icy patch.

In an added caution, don't use cruise control, if your car has that option. Reason being, if you hit ice with your cruise engaged, your speed and the danger will increase.

Avoid any travel during icy weather, unless absolutely necessary. But, if you must drive, prepare for possible emergencies. Keep a shovel, blankets, flares, a flashlight, ice scraper, and gloves stored in your car.

If you do become stranded, stay in your car. Run your motor for only 10 minutes out of each hour. Make sure your exhaust is clear of snow and keep a window cracked open while running your engine to avoid carbon monoxide poisoning.

Winter driving is treacherous because it's so unpredictable. But when you're prepared for these unique driving conditions and emergencies, you'll be able to say, "Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow"--and mean it!

LOCAL MAN'S FATHER -

When he uses famous names, he's not just 'name dropping'

By MYRNA SMITH

When Jameson Brewer mentions famous names and important persons, he isn't trying to impress anyone. He has been associated with these people for more than 50 years.

Iowa Park has had a "behind the scenes celebrity" in its midst for the past week while Brewer was visiting his son-in-law and daughter, Jim and Frances Krause and family.

Although a celebrity in his own field, his name probably has never been in marquee lights.

But, his work has been responsible for a number of Hollywood stars and productions that have been heralded on movie theatre and television screens, and on Broadway.

Brewer is president, executive producer and head writer for his company, Jambre Productions, (a combination of the first three letters of each name) in Thousand Oaks, Calif.

His company produces animation series, TV features and specials, and live action theatrical features.

The autodidactic animator also has written newspaper columns, comic strips and books, a Broadway show and night club acts.

Brewer has written more than 2,000 TV scripts, more than 700 radio shows, more than 60 feature pictures, approximately 350 animation pictures and about the same number of theatrical short subjects, specials, and has had numerous short stories published.

Some of the ruggedness of the land and life of the small town in North Dakota near the Montana border, where Brewer was born, is inherent in his character.

When the highway was built around the town of 350 population it began to die, following the pattern of so many small towns in America.

"I can remember when I could look out across main street after rains or snows and it was nothing but a quagmire," Brewer said. He went on to say that there was nothing green to speak of when he lived there. "No grass or trees. Now everything is grassy," he added.

Brewer was always interested in drawing and he put that and his mind to work when he was young and operated the projector at a small theatre. He began paying very close attention and scrutinized the film frame by frame. He studied the animation and discovered how to draw the progressive changes in movement.

His mother, Maudie, who never went further in school than the sixth grade recognized Jameson's talent. She knew he should be somewhere that he could have more advantages than in their little home town.

So she did something about that. She moved with him to California, which proved to be the best thing that could have happened for her son's future.

Some time after moving to California Brewer began working in the art department of Universal Studios. From the art department, he moved into animation and then into writing exclusively.

His first feature screen play became "Fantasia" for Walt Disney, a project to which he devoted almost two years. Brewer suggested to Disney that he do an entire feature of classical music.

"Walt didn't know anything about music," Brewer said, "about the only song he knew was 'My Buddy'." But he gave Brewer the "go ahead" and "Fantasia" later won a special Oscar.

Since "Fantasia" Brewer has done at least one or two features a year, mostly live-action, but now and then an animation feature and several times a combination of the two mediums.

Brewer says he possibly is about the only one left in Hollywood who works in both mediums. He has 10 features now re-running regularly on TV.

Many of Brewer's features have been nominated for Oscars and Emmys over the years. Several of his theatrical short subjects, such as those he did for Pete Smith and Robert Benchley, have won Oscars.

In addition, Jameson (known to many of his friends as Jerry--and he doesn't know why) has won numerous other awards, very often a Box Office Blue Ribbon Award, which is given for "Best Picture for the Whole Family."

One of these was "The Incredible Mr. Limpet" for Warner Brothers, which was a combination of live-action and animation, starring Don Knotts in his first feature role and it still is haunting the tube almost monthly.

This was rerun only a few weeks ago on two consecutive days, something almost unheard of for a film which has had so much exposure.

Brewer wrote "The Over The Hill Gang" for Aaron Spelling and ABC-MOW, which garnered top of the National Nielsen ratings, won many awards and recently has played for its 11th prime time network rerun. It also won an Emmy nomination.

Hanna-Barbera recently released Brewer's theatrical screen play of "Heidi's Song," a lavish animated musical production of the beloved classic.

Two seasons ago Brewer won an Emmy for "The Last of the Curlews," an ABC special produced by Hanna-Barbera. The picture also won an Emmy for the producers. This past season Brewer won the Information Film Producers of America Award for his documentary, "A Storm of Strangers."

All of Fred Astaire's dramatic television fare was written by Brewer and he was story editor and head writer of Astaire's TV series, "Alcoa Premier" at Universal.

He has written many things for Jimmy Stewart, including the award winning "Cindy's Fella" special on Ford Startime and the Emmy nominated baseball feature, "Flashing Spikes," directed by John Ford, also for Universal.

For four years, Brewer wrote for Bette Davis pictures, TV and her Broadway revue, "Two's Company."

He scripted for Jane Wyman five years and Greer Garson eight years. His daughter at this point in the interview injected an interesting sidelight when she said, "He used to date Greer Garson."

Working six years on GE Theater, Brewer wrote 30 scripts. He has done many shows on Shlitz-Lux Playhouse, Heinz Studio 57, Alcoa Premier, Studio One, Wyman Fireside Theater, Playhouse 90, Ford Startime, Philco Playhouse, Alcoa-Goodyear Theater and many other anthology series.

The one hour special, "Eye for an Eye" which Brewer wrote for Universal became the spin-off for the successful private eye series, "Markham" starring Ray Milland.

A fantasy that Brewer wrote for Greer Garson, "The Glorious Gift of Molly Malloy," won numerous awards, drew critical acclaim and has been employed in most universities as an instructional guide.

In addition, Brewer has done dramatic pictures for Tallulah Bankhead, Charles Laughton and Alan Ladd.

Other TV credits Brewer has received include "Guns of Will Sonnett," "Ironside," "Name of the Game," "Mod Squad," "The Virginian," "Alfred Hitchcock," "Wagon Train," "Wide Country," "Suspicion," "Kings Row," "Ray Bolger," "Walt Disney Presents," "Mr. Lucky," "Cimarron City," "Third Man," "Checkmate," "The Investigators," "Glynis Johns," "Dr. Kildare," "Burke's Law," "The Addams Family," "Daniel Boone," "The Girl From U.N.C.L.E.," "Mission Impossible," "Mannix," "Baretta," "Police Woman," "Little House on the Prairie," "Eight Is Enough," "Buck Rogers," and many others.

Brewer was story editor and head writer on such series as "Alcoa Premier," "GE Theater," "Branded," "Hondo," "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," and others for Universal, Paramount, MGM, Screen Gems, Hanna-Barbera and others.

For the past several seasons, Brewer has been focusing attention on the writing and production of three animation series for TV, "The Little Prince," "Voltron," and "Battle of the Planets," which have rated 1-2-3 in their time slots.

He has just completed writing and producing an animated feature, "Through the Looking Glass," as the co-production with Burbank Studios in Australia and currently is in preparation on another animation feature, "The Happy Place."

In addition to an Oscar and Emmy, Brewer has received the Golden Halo from the Motion Picture Council, Blue Ribbon from Boxoffice, Silver Star, Information Film Producers and Writer's Award from Writers Guild.

Most recent honors were the following pictures that have been accepted into the permanent collection of the Museum of Broadcasting in New York City, "Mister Lucky," starring Fred Astaire, "Flashing Spikes," starring James Stewart, and "The Golden Shanty," starring Errol Flynn.

Brewer occasionally goes back to the town of his childhood. He has a special fondness in his heart for small towns. The few people who are left around that area, or when his school has a reunion, former classmates and acquaintances ask just what it is that he does.

"When I tell them I write pictures, they look at me like I'm crazy, because they do not understand. I've quit telling them that. I just say I'm in the lumber business. That they understand."

Brewer has recently completed a manuscript for a book entitled "Maudie." The story line is based on his mother's life from 1912 in the bad lands of North Dakota. It is the story of her desires and accomplishments, with some fiction about the latter years.

Both Putnam and Random House Publishers are interested in the book.

He got the idea for the story when he returned for a school reunion. The old schoolhouse is about the only good building left standing and it may be demolished soon. The life of the school and how it might be preserved and used is interwoven into Brewer's book.

His daughter said, "He prepared the 346-page, eight and one-half by 11 inch manuscript using four fingers on his old typewriter." He has never gone the computer or word processor route for his writing, "but he is very fast and accurate," Frances revealed.

This is Brewer's first effort at writing a book. "It is a very laborious effort when you don't know if a publisher will accept it," he commented.

Possibly in December he will go to Russia, first to Moscow and then to Poland. He has parts of his animated pictures produced in foreign countries, because of the cost. He has had work done in Manila, Hong Kong, and Tokyo.

Brewer said Russia is very interested now in doing business with the United States. It was hard to get the work done there while the government was taking American money and changing it into rubles. Now that they can use the money to purchase some of the equipment they need from the United States, it will be much easier to work with them, Brewer explained.

He says they have excellent artists and he can get work done in the foreign countries for approximately $25,000 that would cost from $1 to $1 and a half million in the U.S. The artists have been used to taking their work very leisurely, but he believes now they will come up to U.S. standards.

Brewer spends some time at his ranch in Sequoia National Park. He also spends time lecturing at universities throughout the United States.

He has really enjoyed the time he has spent here with his daughter and family. He had been in Dallas many times but had never visited this area.

Another reason he enjoyed being here so much was because he could get chicken fried steak and gravy. "You don't get food like that in California, and I've never got away from liking that kind of food," he said before returning to California Tuesday.

Pelz gives program for Evening Lions

Lee Pelz gave the program for the Evening Lions Tuesday on how to save money on car and life insurance, the type insurance to buy and on annuities. He suggested any type term insurance and recommended Annual Renewal Term as one of the best. He said that annuities were really safer than a bank and paid a higher rate of return. However, he advised to never annuitize.

As vice president, Pelz presided during the business and presented Gordon Griffith with a goat award. Ray Lightfoot and Walt Cummins were welcomed as new members.

Members voted to entertain their wives, members of the Evening Lioness Club and their spouses, several prospective members and their wives at a catered dinner Dec. 11.
