Two games to gold!

Iowa Park vs. Bellville in Austin tonight

Iowa Park will make its first appearance in the state baseball tournament in 18 years, when the Hawks take on Bellville tonight at 8 at Austin's Nelson Field.

The never-say-die Hawks earned their ticket to Austin by defeating Graham 5-2 Saturday for the Region One championship.

Bellville won the Region Three title by blasting Hallettsville 9-4.

Iowa Park has been the underdog throughout the state playoffs, having emerged as the Dist. 4-AAA runner-up to Graham.

Nelson Field is about five blocks East of I-35, and North of State Highway 290, which leads to Houston, on the campus of Reagan High School.

The Iowa Park-Bellville contest will follow the other AAA game between Region Four representative Falfurrias (28-2) and Hooks (19-12) of Region Two, which is to get underway at 5 p.m.

Bellville, with a 21-6-1 record, is located about 60 miles West of Houston, midway between Brenham and Sealey. It is a member of Dist. 22.

Enroute to the state tournament, the Hawks defeated Denver City 7-6, top-ranked Canyon 7-6, and Abilene Wylie, 9-7.

IOWA PARK 5, GRAHAM 2

After losing three times to the district champion Graham Steers during the regular season, the Hawks captured the regional crown Saturday at Fort Worth.

The victory was earned with solid defensive play, out-hitting the Steers 7-6, and some timely Graham errors.

Senior pitcher Ralph Dillard went the distance, limiting Graham to only six hits, all singles. Those seven innings on the mound raised his total to 27 in the playoffs.

Dillard helped his cause by hitting the game's only double, a liner down the third base line that drove in David Hollis in the fourth inning. Dillard reached base again in the sixth, when he was hit on the helmet by a pitched ball, but was unhurt.

Seniors Chad Thompson and Jason Miller both had two hits. In fact, both of Thompson's were his initial

Seven teachers resign

Seven resignations were accepted and 13 teachers were elevated on the career ladder during a lengthy meeting of the Iowa Park School Board Monday night.

Following a one and a half hour executive session, trustees voted to accept the resignations of seven school employees, including Suzanne Ashlock, Darlene Barrington, Jimmie Cain, Daryl Frazier, Bill Thomas, Mary Pike and Ron Woods. No action was taken to employ new personnel.

Nine teachers were elevated from career ladder level two to level three, and four were placed on level two. Teachers placed on career ladder level three include Tim Clark, Gayle Cleghorn, Leslie Crumb, Ray Dillard, Alice Dyer, Karen Lamberth, George Martin, Mozelle Sullivan and Tandra Williams.

Those placed on Level Two include Vicki Dillard, Vickie Jordan, Sharon Pepiton and Linda Wickersham.

Campus committee reports consumed the lengthiest portion of the open meeting. Each campus principal and staff gave reports on campus goals and priorities, as well as future needs.

Kidwell Elementary Principal Ron Woods told trustees the most pressing need at the Kidwell campus was additional classroom space. He said three kindergarten classes are currently housed in temporary buildings, and kindergarten enrollment is already some 20 percent above last year's initial enrollment. Also he said, the gifted and talented HAWK class is held in the coach's office.

Woods also cited additional personnel as a need at Kidwell, including another kindergarten teacher, a full-time computer teacher, full-time counselor, and an additional physical education teacher.

He also said the building was in need of a paint job, new floor tile, and the classrooms need lockers.

Bradford Elementary Principal Pat Cravens said her campus committee set goals for reading, writing, and computer literacy. The committee also agreed to continue the sustained reading time for students and teachers the first 15 minutes of each school day. Cravens said a full-time counselor is also needed at her school.

Randy Lovelady, junior high principal, gave the report for the junior high campus. Lovelady stated a need for an additional math teacher, English teacher, reading teacher, band director and an aide for the counselor.

Lovelady said some of the goals for the campus include increasing the attendance to 98 percent, and increasing the percentage of those students mastering all areas of the TAAS test.

A summer computer literacy course has been implemented at the junior high this year, with 16 students already enrolled. Lovelady said students passing all classes during their seventh grade year will be permitted to enroll in the class. Tuition is being charged to offset school expense, Lovelady said. Those completing the course will be allowed to take two electives during their eighth grade year.

Lovelady told board members that consideration is being given to ending the tradition of eighth grade graduation due to expense to parents, loss of classroom time in preparation for the event, and a lack of meaning to the students. He said that in place of graduation, the eighth grade teachers would be interested in taking the students to Six Flags, with students earning the trip on a point system.

Richard Davis, high school principal cited the goals of the high school in his campus report. He was assisted by members of his committee in his presentation.

LaRae Collins, high school counselor, told trustees that emphasis would be placed on preparation for ACT and SAT college entrance exams, with possible after-school seminars and workshops being planned. She also said the campus plans to look into a work program for the high school level, have a career day in the spring, and encourage extra-curricular activities.

Jean Johnson and Diana Collins gave reports on the math and science departments, respectively.

Each cited needs for additional equipment and learning tools in their departments.

Mrs. Johnson announced to the board that some of her algebra students took the standardized state final in Algebra, and placed first in our district and 13th among all 3A schools in Texas.

In other business, Assistant Superintendent Robert Palmer gave a report on the results of the 1992-93 TAAS test taken by Iowa Park students, noting that although tests scores in some areas were down from the previous year, Iowa Park still exceeded the state level in all areas and grade levels.

Palmer told board members the standards on the tests in 1991-92 and 1992-93 had changed, and said comparing the students' scores from year to year was like "comparing apples and oranges." He said the same kids were tested but the tests standards varied.

Tests scores for fourth graders improved seven percent in writing, but were down 17 and 19 percent, respectively in reading and math.

Eighth grade tests scores were up five percent in writing and three percent in reading, but down 11 percent in math.

Tenth graders upped their writing scores by six percent, but fell eight percent in both reading and math.

Trustees tabled any action calling for an Interlocal Agreement for Education of City View ISD students or considering requests for first-time transfer students from City View pending further discussion with that school district.

During the superintendent's report, Glen Mitchell gave the final enrollment report for the school year, with 1,987 enrolled at the end of May, as compared with 1,938 for the same period in 1992.

Newly re-elected board members, Randy Catlin and Keith Fisher were administered the oath of office. During the election of board officers, Fisher was elected board president, Sheri Kennedy will serve as vice president, and Martha Dudley as secretary.

In other business, board members *approved calling for bids for the construction of a special education fa-

Hutchinson beats Krueger in local, county, state boxes

Voters in the Iowa Park area were solid supporters, as was the majority of Texans around the state, in electing Republican Kay Bailey Hutchinson U.S. Senator in Saturday's special runoff election.

Seventy four percent of the votes cast in the four area boxes went for Hutchinson, who became the state's first female to serve in that position.

She drew 749 votes to interim Senator Bob Krueger's 252 in the local boxes.

Of the 13,219 votes cast in the county's 52 boxes, Hutchinson held a commanding 68 percent with 8,999 to Krueger's 4,178.

Council to meet Monday

The city council will consider adopting three ordinances and begin a search for a new public works director, according to the tentative agenda released this week.

The agenda is for the council's meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers.

Two of the ordinances concern abandoning 37.5 feet of city right of way, north and south sides, in the 700 block of West Aldine.

The third ordinance concerns a proposed replat of a block and half, where a housing addition is to be built.

Aldermen will be asked to establish a date and times to interview candidates for the public works director position.

The position has remained open since David Collins resigned last month, with former director, Mike Price, now city administrator, doing both the jobs.

Price had asked the council recently to fill the vacancy.

Aldermen will be asked to permit the administrator to reimburse travel expenses for a consultant who is proposing to build a golf course here.

The consultant's expenses were discussed at a meeting of a committee Tuesday night. Members of that group were appointed by Mayor Wayne House at the council's last meeting.

Two other items on the agenda include the mayor appointing individuals to serve on the electrical board, and consider approving the annual Nortex 9-1-1 Communications District budget for 1993-94.

Council members held a work session Monday night on the city's budget for next year. The council usually meets three or four times before finalizing the budget, which will be presented at a regular meeting for the public.

Gilmore-Elms exchange wedding vows in afternoon ceremony

Matrimonial vows were exchanged Saturday at 5 o'clock by Helen Evonne Gilmore and James Thomas Elms at the First Assembly of God in Wichita Falls.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Gilmore of Wichita Falls and Pearl Elms of Iowa Park and the late Randle D. Elms, Sr.

T.L. Wilborn, pastor of the church, directed the couple in the recitation of double ring vows.

Doug Parish, organist, presented the program of musical selections including the "Wedding March". He also accompanied the soloist Keri Shelley, niece of the groom, as she sang "Here and Now" and "Save The Best For Last".

Illumination for the nuptial area was provided by a 15-branch arched candelabra, with twin seven-branch candelabras in flanking position. They were garlanded with English ivy and stephanotis and held burning white crystal votives.

Two large floral arrangements of white gladioli, white and red roses and white lilies, mixed with emerald greenery stood on brass stands at the outer extremities of the altar.

The unity candelabra was placed on the lower level of the altar and was decorated in similar fashion as the other candelabras.

Mothers of the couple were ushered to the unity candelabra upon entering the sanctuary where they each lit a candle. Later the bride and groom used the candles to light the unity candle, representative of the coming together of the two families.

White satin bows on the pews completed the sanctuary decorations.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Carl Gilmore and presented her to her father who gave the bride in marriage for her and the bride's mother.

The bride's white satin gown over taffeta featured an exquisitely beaded bodice fashioned with a high illusion neckline intricately beaded with simulated pearl clusters, and long tapered sleeves puffed at the shoulders. The keyhole back of the bodice was enhanced with strands of lustrous simulated pearls.

Her cathedral-length train was lavishly beaded and featured lace trimmed cut-outs. Her finger-tip veil fell from a lace crown sprinkled with simulated pearls and sequins and was accented with a back pouf.

The bride's arm bouquet of long stemmed red roses, miniature English ivy and baby's breath was tied with a white moire taffeta bow.

The bride presented her mother and the groom's mother a long-stemmed red rose with baby's breath tied with white satin ribbon.

For something old the bride wore her Grandmother Gilmore's wedding ring. Something new was her gown

Mrs. James Thomas Elms

and something borrowed was a blue garter that her groom had caught at a wedding of a friend.

The groom's wedding band had belonged to his father, the late Randle D. Elms.

Ann Smith of Waurika, Okla., served as matron of honor. She wore a flame red jacquard tea-length dress designed with an A-line bodice.

Bridal attendants were Mary Hoeffner of Tulsa, and Jean Hopkins of Iowa Park, both sisters of the bride.

They wore dresses styled identical to the honor matrons. They and the matron of honor each carried round nosegays of white roses, pixie carnations, white sweetheart rosebuds and baby's breath, with black and red satin ribbon bows and streamers.

Mindy Burns of Iowa Park, great-niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a white tea-length dress with a lace yoke, three-quarter length sleeves and a rounding neckline trimmed in pearls.

She carried a white princess basket filled with red and white sweetheart rosebuds, baby's breath and English ivy. Red and black satin ribbon bows with streamers were tied to either side of the basket handle.

Zachary Burns, great-nephew of the bride, served as ringbearer. He wore a black tuxedo with red cummerbund and tie, and a red rosebud and baby's breath boutonniere.

The ringbearer's pillow was made by the groom's mother. She also made the bride's garter.

Best man for the groom was his nephew, Robert Halady, Jr., of Wichita Falls.

Groomsmen were Jerry Burns, Iowa Park, nephew of the bride, and Kevin Parks of Iowa Park. Jack Gilmore of Wichita Falls and Bill Gilmore of Arlington, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

All male attendants wore boutonnieres of red rosebuds and baby's breath.

Valley View classes 1950-55 reunion set

A "Nifty 50s" reunion for the 1950-55 classes of Valley View High School will be June 19 at Tom Burnett Memorial Library in Iowa Park.

The reunion will be from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

For information or reservations, please call Anna Dowell, 592-4359, or Nora Hall, 767-2760.

The mothers' corsages were fashioned of white carnations accented with white sweetheart rosebuds, baby's breath and pearl sprays tied with a bow of white satin ribbon.

The bride's sister, Ann Gilmore of Fort Worth, presided at the bride's book. A white plume pen was used to secure signatures of guests.

Draped with white lace over white linen, the table held a large globe and white pillar candle surrounded by English ivy, red and white roses and baby's breath.

The bride's parents and the wedding couple hosted the reception held in Fellowship Hall.

As guests entered the reception area they placed their gifts on a white lace-covered table centered with a bouquet of red gladioli, red and white roses and white carnations.

The bride's throw-away bouquet and bird seed bags were also featured on this table.

The bride and groom's tables were covered with white lace over white linen.

Serving the cake, punch and coffee at the tables were Joan Stutsman, sister of the bride from Omaha, Nebr., Ann Gilmore of Fort Worth, also the bride's sister, and Mary Halady of Iowa Park, Mae Shelley and Martha Haney, both of Wichita Falls, all sisters of the groom.

Guests were seated at tables covered with white linen and centered with hurricane globes and red candles.

Large floral arrangements of white gladioli, red and white roses and white lilies with emerald greenery on brass stands also decorated the room.

The rehearsal dinner was prepared by the groom's mother at the First Assembly of God on Friday night.

The mother of the bride also was recognized with a birthday cake at the rehearsal dinner. Her birthday is June 5.

The wedding was video taped by Barry Hoeffner of Tulsa, brother-in-law of the bride.

A graduate of Iowa Park High School, the bride also is a graduate of Midwestern State University with a Bachelor of Science degree. She is working toward her Masters of Education at MSU. Currently she is assistant director of the Therapeutic Recreation Department at Wichita Falls State Hospital.

Elms also is an Iowa Park High School graduate and attended Midwestern State University. He is employed as a press operator at Cryovac.

For travel the bride chose a dark pink sundress. When the newlyweds return from a cruise to the Bahamas, they will make their home in Wichita Falls.

Among out-of-town guests for the wedding were Loyd, Joan and David Stutsman, sister of the bride and her family from Omaha, Nebr.; Ann Gilmore and fiancé Dee Jenkins of Fort Worth; Mary and Barry Hoeffner, sister and brother-in-law of the bride from Tulsa, and the bride's brother, Bill Gilmore of Arlington.

Centerpiece on the bride's table was a bouquet of long-stemmed red roses and white sweetheart roses arranged in a crystal and silver vase, that was a wedding gift of the bride's grandmother, Mary Irwin and borrowed from the bride's mother.

Other appointments were a silver punch bowl, crystal toasting glasses used by the bride and groom, and other silver and crystal serving pieces. Red votive candles in crystal cups completed the decor for the bride's table.

The groom's table held a large wicker basket filled with wild flowers and a football. Black marbles were strewn around the basket.

A silver coffee service and a large compote containing M&M's and red votives completed the decor.

The groom's chocolate cake was accented with Dallas Cowboy colors of blue and gray and a confection football helmet.

White napkins with a red rose and the inscription, "Helen and James, June 5, 1993" were used on the tables.

MSU lists local honor students

Midwestern State Univ. had 564 honor students listed for the spring semester, including 209 on the Dean's List and 355 on the University Honor Roll.

To make the Dean's List, a student must complete a semester schedule of at least 12 hours with no grade lower than an "A." The University Honor Roll requires 12 hours with a minimum grade point average of 3.5 and no grade lower than a "C."

The 12-hour course requirement does not include courses in physical education, developmental courses in English and math, freshman seminar or marching band.

University Honor Roll students from Iowa Park included Angela

Dyanne Barker, Francisco Chacon, Mark Bryan Cooke, Julie Jean Dietrichson, Kerri Ina Dorner, Kathy Lily O'Rear Fields and Jonie Nadine Johnson Freeman.

Also on the list were Kimberly Ann Fulfer, Angela Kay Fullerton Hambright, Laura Dawn Helwig, Deborah Ann Bunney Hembree, Jerri Sue Pachall Joplin, Bradley Don Lewis, Jo Ed Parkey, Emily Gena Short, Eric Glenn Smith and Shay Lee Witherspoon.

Two Iowa Parkans honored for grades

Two graduates of Iowa Park High School were among honor students named for the spring semester at Texas A&M Univ.

Gregory Lynn Huff, senior electrical engineering major, was named to the Dean's Honor Roll, and Marcy Anne McCarthy, a sophomore kinesiology major, was on the Distinguished Students List.

The Dean's Honor Roll recognizes students who have maintained at least a 3.75 grade point ratio out of a possible 4.0 during the most recent grading period.

A second designation, "Distinguished Student," recognizes students who earned a 3.25 to 3.74 GPA.

Permits balloon

All of a sudden, Iowa Park's total building permits for the year has risen to just under $1 million.

That's because there were $295,240 worth of permits issued during April, and a review of the books determined an additional $12,800 had not been reported.

That raised the year's total to $920,349, according to city hall.

The bulk of the month's total was from construction of three new homes and numerous re-roofing projects.

May's total was greater than the year-to-date the first of June in 1992, when the permit total was $289,755, according to the records.

As I See It

By Bob Hamilton

After an 18-year absence, Iowa Park's Hawk baseball team is returning to Austin and the state tournament.

In reviewing the season and looking back to our 1975 issue about that first game, there are so many similarities between the two games it's almost scary.

Just for starters, the team Iowa Park meets in the first game tonight is Bellville. It's just a few miles down the road from Brenham, the team that knocked the Hawks out 9-6 in the first round in '75.

Another comparison is the record of the Hawks and their back then.

You'll remember that Iowa Park lost both its conference games to district champion Graham, and suffered a tie with Vernon this season. And so, the Hawks have been the underdogs, considering the state rankings of teams like Canyon, Graham, Abilene Wylie and Denver City, in the playoffs.

They enter the game tonight with a record of 18-8-1, and that's the fewest wins of the other conference teams in the tournament.

Well, that 1975 club at one time was 3-9, and then won 10 straight to wind up with a 13-10 record.

Brenham had made it to the state meet as many times as Iowa Park had fielded a school baseball team -- four years.

Then-coach Greg Clary had an outstanding team of athletes, such as the late David "Red Hoss" Ross, Mark Carter, Wayne Schroeder, Kent Alsup, Ken Scheffe, Tony Singer, Barry Spruiell, Lynn Fonville and Dale Pittman, to name a few off the top of my head.

And the team's key player was the guy who coached IPHS teams the past several seasons, until this year, Daryl Frazier.

That guy was an athlete. For instance, in the regional championship game against Pecos that got Iowa Park to Austin, Frazier not only pitched, but hit a grand slam home run.

Iowa Park won, 4-2.

He was pitching that game against Brenham, also, when a mistake in judgment on fielding a fly ball in the outfield allowed a Brenham player the first-ever inside-the-park home run of the state tournament.

A couple of innings later, Frazier smashed a shot between two outfielders who ran together. The ball bounced all the way out to the fence, and Frazier had the second-ever inside-the-park homer.

That game was played on an extremely hot day, and it was the first year the University of Texas' Disch-Falk Field had been built.

The entire field, infield and outfield, is covered with man-made carpet. As you know, that type of surface holds the sun's heat, and our players all complained that their feet were being blistered, despite using three different styles of shoes.

Carter and Scheffe both allowed fly balls to bounce high over their heads, not wanting to attempt to catch them for fear they would miss.

But, after a couple of such cases, Clary told them to go ahead and charge the balls, and that problem was over. But the damage was too much to overcome.

If the Hawks win their game tonight, they'll be playing at Disch-Falk Friday for the title.

But the situation shouldn't be quite so tough on them as it was 18 years ago.

For one thing, the final game is scheduled to begin later in the day than the other one, at 5 p.m.

Secondly, the infield gained some valuable experience in playing Canyon at Lubbock, where the infield also was man-made carpet.

Let's just wish the Hawks the very best, and hope they can bring home what that great club 18 years earlier was unable to do.

Win or lose, it's been a great season for the team.

And, you know what, I'd trade that district championship they didn't get for the regional and state titles, anytime!

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter is a copy of one mailed to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.)

Cover the Hawks!

Dear Editor:

My family started a love affair with the Fort Worth Star in about 1880. My granddad, Lewis N. Lochridge, read it every day until he died in July of 1936. The Star Telegram had a major impact in our lives when he read a want ad in 1906 regarding some property in Wichita County TX. He bought the property from the original homesteader in early 1907 and our family moved to a farm about 4 miles south of Iowa Park, TX. We have claimed Iowa Park as our home ever since. Somewhere back in time the Star Telegram, and especially the Sports section decided to quit giving any ink to Iowa Park. I don't know why, I just know that they did. In the last few days this condition has been blatant. Iowa Park's baseball team finished 2nd in District 4-3A to a good Graham team. In fact, Graham beat them three times in district play. However Iowa Park Hawks had a good enough record that they got into the playoffs. I personally suffer when this happens. Why? Because I never get any news about them from the Star Telegram. Having lived in Tarrant County since 1956 and North Richland Hills since 1961, you might define that as long-suffering.

Iowa Park quietly slipped by Denver City by one run, then slipped by the No. 1 team in the state in 3A, Canyon, by one run. Then came last Tuesday June 1. I was barely able to determine from the Star Telegram that Iowa Park would be playing the No. 5 team in the state, Abilene Wylie at Goldstein Field in South Fort Worth. My closest friend, Elzie Parks, who lives around the corner from me, and I, both graduates of Iowa Park High, class of 1942, decided that we would go to the game. The coverage by the Star Telegram assured us that Carroll High would quickly dispense of the Graham Steers and thus become the first school in UIL history to win 3 state championships in one year. I was scared to death. Apparently Graham wasn't. We went to the Iowa Park-Abilene Wylie game and saw the greatest baseball game that it has been my privilege to witness in my lifetime. The game was tied in the bottom of the last inning, no outs, 3-0 count on the batter, bases loaded with Abilene Wylie runners, and I got to see the first triple play that I have ever personally witnessed. Iowa Park won 2 innings later 9-7. Make no mistake about it, Abilene Wylie had a great team, in fact better than Carroll ever was, and obviously better than Graham. Great writeup the next day about Graham-Carroll game, no mention of the Iowa Park triple play, not even a mention of the score of the Iowa Park-Abilene Wylie game, just a simple statement that Graham would meet Iowa Park on Saturday at 1 pm again at Goldstein Field. Friday's or Saturday's Star Telegram had minor mention of Iowa Park. It was mostly about Graham and a statement by the starting pitcher to the effect that "there is no way we are going to lose to Iowa Park. We only have to win the next three games and we are the champions." I was scared to death, apparently Iowa Park wasn't. The score was 5-2 Iowa Park. Sunday morning the Star Telegram went into great detail explaining that Graham lost the game. No mention was made that Iowa Park won the game. Two things I want to point out to you here:

1. If Iowa Park scores more points than the opponent in the next two games, they will, according to the way the Star Telegram thinks, have won the State Championship without winning a game.
 2. If you ever stop running the obituaries in the Star Telegram, you will lose all the remainder of the customers like me.
- H.O. Lochridge

Salan to continue studies in England

By LINDA CARR

After completing an exemplary undergraduate career, Jenny Salan will have a unique opportunity for further study as a graduate student at the University of Exeter in England.

The Iowa Park High School graduate will be attending Exeter on a Rotary International Scholarship and will work on a Master's in Middle East Studies in a one-year thesis program that will include eight hours of Arabic language.

As a part of the Rotary program, she will exchange cultural information with the host country and will give a series of presentations on collegiate life in the U.S.

Being an ambassador for U.S. collegians is not new to Jenny. In May of 1993, she was one of eight university students selected by the National Council on United States-Arab Relations to spend 10 days in Kuwait.

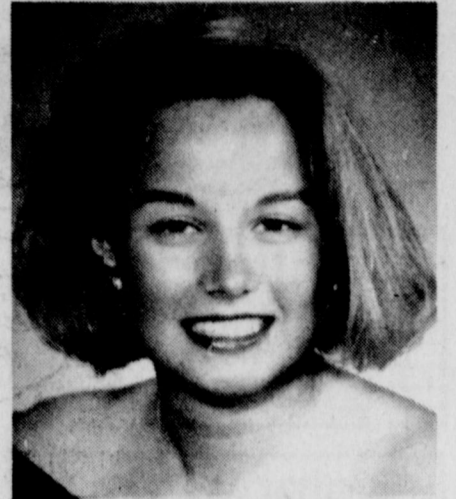

The students met with top officials in government and private sectors and were housed during their stay in the dormitories at Kuwait University.

At Midwestern State, Jenny amassed an impressive list of honors, culminating in her selection as Hardin Scholar, the highest academic honor at Midwestern.

This scholarship is given to a student entering the senior year and is awarded on the basis of scholarship and campus and community activities.

She held several offices in her sorority, Sigma Kappa, including president, and was Student Government vice president, Outstanding Woman of the year, Junior and Senior Class Beauty, Student Ambassador, Greek Goddess, Order of Omega, Alpha Chi, Dean's Honor Roll, Mortar Board, and a summa cum laude graduate.

Mrs. Wes Idell

When newlyweds Cindy and Wes Idell were married three weeks ago, the bride already had several years of cooking experience.

Cindy has been cooking since she was 11 years old, and her mother, Agnes McDonald, says that she is a great cook.

Cindy credits her mother with teaching her how to cook, and says most of the recipes she is sharing this week are ones she got from her mother. The "Lemon-Pepper Chicken," however, is one of Cindy's creations and a family favorite.

The former Cindy Sargent grew up in Iowa Park and is a 1992 graduate of Iowa Park High School. She has been employed at Pioneer Restaurant #3 in Wichita Falls almost four years.

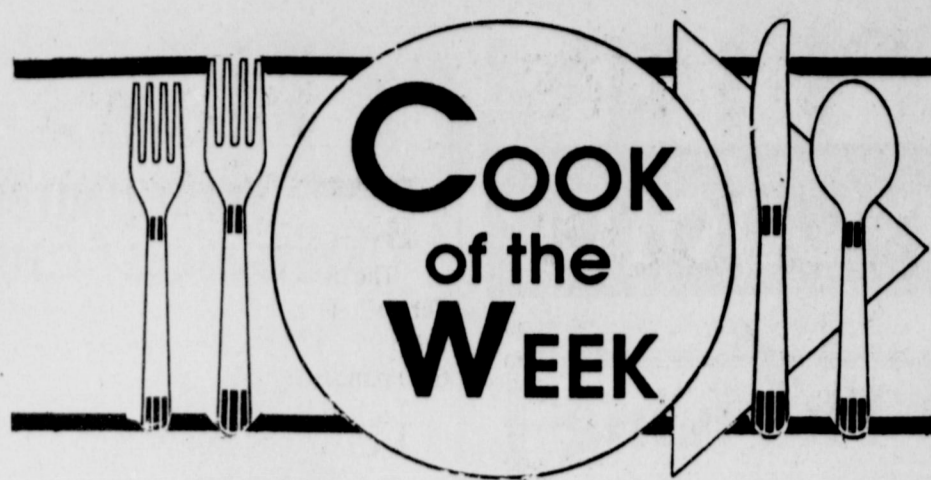

Wes is a native of Oklaunion and went to school in Harrold. He works as a rod wrencher for Reliable Well Service in Wichita Falls.

Cindy likes to sing country and western music and has been performing before audiences since she was in the fourth grade. Two years ago she won the True Value Country Showdown in Wichita Falls and went to San Antonio to sing in state competition.

She performs regularly on the opey circuit in the Dallas/Fort Worth area and in Oklahoma City. This has given her the opportunity to meet and sing with entertainment stars from Nashville, Tenn. Cindy also writes her own songs and hopes to record some of them this summer. She says that her mother and husband are her managers, and she has the support of her brothers and sisters.

For relaxation, Cindy and Wes like to go fishing, and they enjoy having her mother over for dinner and a game of cards.

They attend services at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Wichita Falls.

If using fresh strawberries, wash and slice into medium bowl and top with 1/2 to 1 cup sugar, depending on number of strawberries, and chill.

When jello is starting to set up, add Cool Whip and strawberries and mix well. Add cake and toss. Spread mixture in large oblong cake pan and chill until firm.

Makes a light, cool dessert for summer.

Pistachio Dessert

1 large pkg. lime jello
1 - 6 oz. ctn. Cool Whip
1 small can crushed pineapple
1 pkg. pistachio pudding
Use 2 cups boiling water for jello and 1 cup cold water. Chill until starting to jell.

Make pudding according to directions.

When jello is ready, add and mix all other ingredients. Top off with cherries.

Another easy and cool summer dessert.

Lemon Pepper Chicken

Fast and easy, and oh so good!

Wash and skin chicken (1 use breasts). Place chicken in skillet with tightly fitting lid, or electric skillet. Sprinkle liberally with lemon pepper.

Cover to top of chicken with water; set temperature between 350 - 375 degrees and cook about 45 minutes. Turn once or twice during cooking, until done and water is cooked out. Uncover last 5 minutes so chicken will brown on both sides. Enjoy!

Meatballs

2 lbs. lean hamburger meat
1 med. onion (1 prefer red)
Salt, pepper, garlic powder to taste
3 to 4 dashes Worcestershire sauce
Dash tabasco sauce
1 tsp. Italian seasoning
2 eggs

Mix all ingredients and add flour until mixture is the right consistency to make balls.

In a large pot, combine:
2 large cans whole tomatoes
1 can water

Bring to a rolling boil and drop in meatballs. When the mixture returns to a boil, lower fire and cook about 1 hour. After juice boils down, add 1 can tomato sauce, salt, and pepper. Cook until done.

Serve with garlic toast and mashed potatoes and salad. The juice makes a wonderful potato topping.

Potato Soup

5 or 6 med. to large potatoes, peeled and cubed (small)
1 med. onion
Salt & pepper to taste
Dab of butter
1 egg
1 handfull oatmeal

Cover potatoes with water in medium saucepan and add next 3 ingredients. When mixture starts to boil, add beaten egg, stirring constantly. Then add oatmeal in same manner. Cover and simmer 30 to 45 minutes.

'THE PRICELESS DIAMOND - PART TWO'
How do you know when someone is the "love of your life?" There is no way to know that at first. That is why you should save yourself for the right person and the right time.
Perhaps you are thinking "most of my friends are doing it." Even if all your friends are doing it, does this make it right? Does it make sense to throw your diamond into the trash can simply because others do not value their own gems? If you gave away a priceless diamond casually, wouldn't you feel guilty or "used"? This is exactly how one feels to give it to the wrong person. Once you have given yourself to someone, it is done and you can never take it back.
Many so called "macho men" and "modern women" tease others because they have never "slept" with others. Any time a person so desires, he can become like one of these folks, but none of those other folks can every become like one who has saved themselves for that special person. There is a wedding gift to give that special person that others can never regain. It is in one's own best interest to keep their virginity, regardless of what others are doing. Considering the way people live today, can you think of a more valuable diamond to give your future mate? This is the most precious and meaningful gift one can give, whether male or female.
The greatest gift a man or woman can give on their wedding night is physical purity. That gift states you are special and I have kept myself for you, even though others have criticized me for doing so.
In summary: Your virginity is like a precious diamond. You can give it to only one person and you can give it only one time. It is in your own best interest to keep it for the right person and the right time. The one you marry is the right person and your wedding night is the right time. Peace of mind free from worry and guilt of sin plus knowing one does not have sexually transmitted diseases are two side benefits that come from saving "THE PRICELESS DIAMOND."

ROWENA MILLER AND TWO OF HER EMUS

IOWA PARKAN'S PHILOSOPHY

Money not necessary to know happiness

By MYRNA SMITH

She likes the simple, busy life. "I've told my sons I don't have to have a million dollars to be happy. I've seen the time many years ago that I had to count my pennies to see if I had enough to buy a loaf of bread. I was happy then, and I was happy when I didn't have to count pennies any more."

Rowena Miller is much more interested in doing things rather than accumulating "things".

The love of Texas began for the Michigan born Rowena in 1943-44 when she served her country in the WACs and was stationed at Hondo at the Navigation Training Station.

When she was discharged and returned to Michigan she told her dad that she was going to move back to Texas and raise cattle.

"I married a Texan to get back here, but that worked out well," she said. In 1979 is when her love for the geographic location of Iowa Park began. However, she isn't raising cattle, she's raising emus.

Her husband Paul, who was reared in San Angelo, was an electrician for General Motors. He retired in 1979 and they moved to Texas from Auburn, Mich., that year.

They came to Burk Burnett and began looking around. They found Iowa Park to be an exceptionally friendly place and decided they would like to live here. They drove around and found a "for sale" sign on the 10-acre hillside on the south side of 287 where they settled. There was an old house and out buildings on the place and the rest was mesquite.

"Don't let anybody ever tell you 'it can't be done'," Rowena said.

They tore down the house and some of the outbuildings, and soon started to build their rock house, using some of the wood for frame work and the ceilings.

"The land was covered with mesquites. We grubbed a lot of them up and Paul built the pond", Rowena said.

A lot of the rock used in building the house was dug from the hillside on which it sits.

"Some of the rock came from Fred Dwyer's place on Bacon Switch Road, and we tore down a house and an old filling station in town where the new agricultural building is being built. We also got some from some other people in Iowa Park," Rowena remembered.

The house has concrete floors and both the outside and inside walls are of rock.

During construction of the house, the Millers had to have help placing some of the rocks. She said it took four people to lift some of them in place.

"The ones we found and wanted in the house that were too large, I was designated to split them," Rowena explained while discussing the construction. One special rock is Wyoming jade, that the Millers picked up on a trip there.

Shortly before his death in September 1992, Miller started enclosing their front porch to make a sun room for Rowena's plants and a room for an office and their ham radio equipment. He didn't get it completed, so she is planning to have it finished soon.

When they were in the process of clearing the land and building their house from "scratch" it is quite possible Rowena had some "flash backs" to the stories she heard when she was growing up about how her grandfather settled in Michigan in 1863 and lived in a tent among the Indians while he cleared land to build a house in Beaver Township in Bay County, Mich. The house is still being lived in and has been designated for a historical marker.

Rowena's grit was tested early in life. When she was six years old she had polio. The doctors were not sure she would live, then they weren't sure she would walk again. It affected her left side.

"Back then they didn't know some of the things to do that they do now, or didn't have the equipment to work with that they do now. We didn't have the money for me to be taken somewhere they might could treat me," Rowena said.

"But, my dad was pretty wise and he had me milking cows, chopping cotton and walking two miles to school every day and doing other chores to keep me exercising the muscles that I needed to," she added.

"I always thought I wanted to be a missionary and I checked into that before I joined the WACs, but they didn't think I was strong enough to handle that. Then I tried the WACs and they said there would be something I could do." By that time she had overcome a lot of the handicap she suffered from polio.

While in the WACs she married. That marriage didn't work out, but she did have two sons.

Being a single mother, she began sewing for the public to make a living for her two small sons. But, at 32 she was tested again. This time she contracted encephalitis.

Again it was thought she would not get well and that if she lived she would never be able to work. The weakness from that illness brought back some of the polio problems that she had almost overcome. But the affects lasted so long and at that time she couldn't start sewing again or working.

She became desperate enough that time, because of her boys, she finally called the Baptist minister where she lived and told him her plight and asked him if he could get the boys in the Baptist Home for Children.

The preacher advised her to "Let's wait just a little while for that and see what else we can do."

"At that time I didn't see how anything could be done. I hurt so bad all of the time and I couldn't sleep at night, but I told him alright," Rowena said.

"I did not know what he planned to do. He got a group together and they began praying for me, but I didn't know it. About bedtime that night I got sleepy and went to sleep without any medication for the first time in a long time.

"The next morning a friend called and asked how I was feeling. I told her what had happened the night before and that I felt better that morning than I usually did. That was when I learned they had had a prayer vigil for me.

"Of course, I was not alright overnight, but I did begin to improve and from then on it was uphill and I did not have to give up my boys. I learned then to never give up hoping and that God does answer prayer.

"It is my advice to anyone to not give up. I definitely believe in prayer and if my experiences can help anyone, I don't mind relating them," Rowena said.

Rowena has been a ham operator since 1958. She married Paul in 1956 and he wanted to become a ham operator. She began helping him study and with his tests and when he got his license he asked her why she didn't try for hers. She decided she would and she passed. So they shared that hobby for more than 30 years.

They have talked to people all over the world and have heard some of the most fascinating stories about people's lives.

"We have talked to so many interesting people. We've talked to some of the SPACE engineers, to doctors, nurses, the blind, and we used to talk to Barry Goldwater a lot," Rowena said.

One time Paul and his brother who lives in Baltimore, also a ham operator, went to visit ham operators in Pretoria and Port Elizabeth, South Africa and got the royal treatment there. Rowena talks to her brother-in-law now twice a week.

Rowena has "dabbled" a little with electricity and is fascinated by it. She built her and her husband an amplifier one time, "and they worked". Her husband taught her some things about mechanics and she has done a little of that. One time she rewired about 95 percent of a house.

She said after she couldn't fulfill her desire to be a missionary, she really would have given anything to have been in construction or an industrial electrician.

Rowena has two sons, John and Kenneth Kalenak, who both live in Saginaw, Mich. One of them is responsible for her becoming interested in raising emus. He raises birds and winters birds from a zoo there. She thought she fell in love with the ostrich, but when she told him she wanted to raise them, he quickly changed her mind.

She said he told her, "Mom, you do not want to raise ostriches. The male could kill you."

For her next birthday, four years ago, he sent her a pair of emus, the long-legged cousin of the ostrich.

The emu grows five to six feet tall, while the ostrich grows taller and is very strong, particularly the male, Rowena explained.

She has two electronically controlled incubators and this year she hatched out four pair of emus and sold two pair. She keeps a breeding pair.

She has a pair of rheas now. They are a similar bird, but are smaller than emus.

Currently she has a dozen eggs in the incubators. It takes 35 days for the rhea eggs and 60 days for the emu eggs to hatch.

Story Patch Players

The Story Patch Players will be performing "Pecos Bill" at the RAC today at 2:30. The show is open to all ages, but reservations are requested. Admission is $1.50 per person. This is a great chance to introduce your children (and possibly yourself) to participatory theater, so please don't miss out on the fun!

Special Olympics Tournament

There will be a volleyball tournament next Saturday, June 19 at the sand courts to benefit the Special Olympics. Persons interested should contact Dale Perry at 592-4063 for further information.

Upcoming Events

Special events this month at the RAC will include Mother's Day Out on Friday June 18 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. This program is for children ages 1-6. Cost is $1.50 per hour or $5.00 for the full day. Reservations are requested, and can be made by calling 592-4471. Current immunization records are required and each child should bring their own lunch. Morning snacks will be provided as well as structured activities and entertainment and lots of TLC!

Friday June 25 we will host a Teddy Bear Picnic for kids and their bears. Children should bring their favorite teddy and a sack lunch. There will be contests for best dressed bear, smallest bear, largest bear, and most original bears. Children will also have an opportunity to participate in a teddy bear coloring sheet contest. Prizes will be awarded to one winner in each bear category and one winner from three age groups in the coloring contest. Age groups will be 3 and under, 4-7, and 8 and over.

Student Outreach Program

The student outreach program at the RAC will continue through the summer on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 to 3 p.m. The program is designed to assist students with peer relations as well as provide a form of continuing academic reinforcement. For further information or for an application, please stop by the RAC office at 806 N. Third between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Memberships

Summer memberships are available at the RAC for $2.00 per person or $6.00 for family/day care memberships. Persons attending activities on a regular basis should have a current membership. If you have not paid your dues, please stop in at the office and take care of this as soon as possible. Membership dues are used to assist in providing new programs and supplies at the RAC, so please don't overlook this small contribution.

Rowena is interested in raising emus for the breeder market. She says virtually all of the emu is marketable, from meat to the feathers. It also has a layer of fat surrounding its body. The oil is almost totally absorbed by the skin and can be used in cosmetic and pharmaceutical products, and a relatively new oil is out now that is sold for use by those who have arthritis.

A member of First United Methodist Church, Rowena teaches the Christian Workers Sunday School class. She took it four years ago until another teacher could be found.

She is a member of the Post Polio Group in Wichita Falls, and of the American and Texas Emu Associations and she meets every three months with the Archer, Clay and Wichita Area Emu Association.

She returned two weeks ago from a 50-year reunion with the WACs in Hondo. Members have continued through the 50 years to keep in touch with each other.

Rowena raises a garden and freezes her harvest and she has several fruit trees and grape vines.

She doesn't sew much anymore, but she likes to quilt and wants to make each of her grandchildren a quilt before she quits. She also likes to re-upholster furniture, but she says she can't do much of that now.

In addition to her two sons in Saginaw, she has three other sons, Paul Earl Miller, Jr., of Saint Clair, Mich., Gene Miller of Burk Burnett and Raymond Miller of Wichita Falls. She also has two step-daughters. She has 18 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

A reminder from this newspaper and the Troopers of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Lions focus on positive thinking

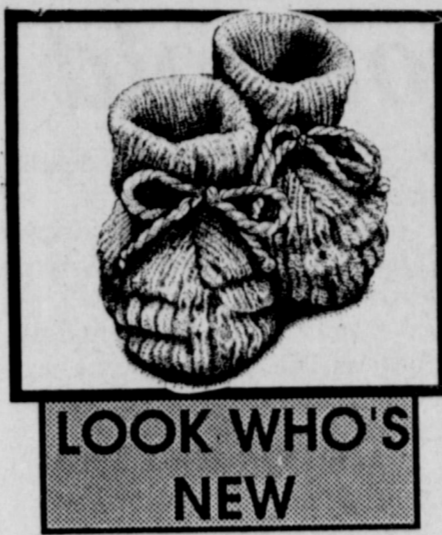

Capt. Joe Callister of the 396th medical group at Sheppard Air Force Base spoke Tuesday at the regular meeting of the Evening Lions. He was introduced by Harvey Troutman, who later presided during the business meeting.

The topic of the program was "Positive Thinking" and the speaker presented it in such a way as to interact with the club members.

He used a picture for a brief time as an object lesson, then asked each one to tell what he liked and disliked about it and the lesson learned from it. He said that each one could have perceived what was in the picture to help him do positive thinking.

Capt. Callister said that the mind is a powerful tool, thinking is complicated, and that it is important for people to control the thoughts that go through their minds. On two occasions, he had his listeners to become completely relaxed in all parts of their bodies, close their eyes, clear their minds, observe the thoughts that crossed their minds, then share the thoughts with others.

New officers of the club will be installed at the next meeting on June 22.

A son, Ethan Forrest, was born May 29, at 12:54 p.m. to Rodney and Lori Parker of Iowa Park. He weighed eight pounds, 15 ounces. The new baby has a sister, Jessica Lauren.

His grandparents are Larry and Norma Dutton of Iowa Park and Robert and Wilma Parker of Wichita Falls.

Essie Dutton of Electra and Olethan Lance of Jacksonville, Ark. are great-grandmothers.

Police arrest two men

Two men were arrested and four juveniles were taken into custody by Iowa Park police during the past week, according to the police blotter.

Officers took Richard M. Kimball, 45, into custody at 10:17 Sunday evening at a business on West Highway, on a charge of public intoxication.

He was released the following morning after posting a personal recognizance bond.

Terry Lee Bowen, 47, was taken to county jail Monday evening on a charge of resisting arrest.

Police had responded at 10:42 p.m. to an address at 607 N. Texowa, where the arrest took place, according to the blotter entry.

Four pre-teen male juveniles were apprehended at 401 West Park Wednesday afternoon and charged with shoplifting. One was 11 and the other three 12.

One of the 12 year olds was referred to juvenile probation, and the other three were released to their parents.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - One day following adjournment of the Texas Legislature, State District Judge Scott McCown said public schools will remain open — at least for the coming year — under a new plan aimed at equalizing wealth between property-rich and property-poor school districts.

But Gov. Ann Richard's signature on the multiple-choice plan was barely dry before its legality was thrown into doubt when lawyers for property-poor districts announced they would challenge its constitutionality.

"There are still inequities in the system," said Al Kauffman, an attorney for the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund that represents the plaintiffs in the long-running school finance lawsuit.

Three Reasons Plan Unfair
Kauffman listed three reasons the current system is unfair and should be declared unconstitutional:

- It doesn't provide property-poor school districts equal access to school revenue at similar tax rates.
- It doesn't address inequities in classrooms and facilities.

■ It leaves a gap of $600 to $1,000 in per-student funding between property-poor and property-rich school districts.

Since 1989, the Texas Supreme Court has struck down the state's school finance system three times. The court's last order said school funds would be halted June 1 unless lawmakers had devised a constitutional plan.

Without judging the new plan, Judge McCown declined to strike down the funding measure.

"The court presumes that an act of the Legislature signed into law by the governor is constitutionally sufficient," said McCown.

Even if challenges are filed, McCown indicated that schools likely would remain open through the coming year.

Utilities Lose Tax Break

In the final hours of the session, the House and Senate discarded the 86-page Public Utility Commission sunset bill and passed a one-page measure extending the life of the agency for two more years.

Disagreements over allowing telephone and electric utilities to keep $800 million in "phantom taxes" prompted lawmakers to merely leave the PUC unchanged while a study is done.

In the eyes of newspaper publishers and consumers across the state, the issue was favorably resolved.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said he would authorize a study of Texas' telecommunications industry to be conducted during the legislative interim. A $400,000 appropriation already has been set aside for the study.

House Speaker Pete Laney, D-Hale Center said a thorough study could help any future utility bill that includes regulatory changes by preventing such a measure from becoming bogged down by special-interest groups.

Leaders Praise Session

Lt. Gov. Bullock and House Speaker Laney said they were pleased with the accomplishments of the 73rd legislative session.

Bullock said he had set out to have "one of the most productive sessions in the history of the Texas

Senate. I think we did."

Laney said he considered the school finance bill the "biggest success" of the session, his first as speaker.

Session highlights include:

■ A $70.1 billion two-year budget that holds the line on taxes and makes no major cuts in services.

■ Lawmakers voted to create a system of 22,000 "state jail" beds for non-violent criminals.

■ Overhaul of the state's penal code, doubling the prison time for violent criminals.

■ The governor has already signed bills revamping products liability laws and making it harder for foreigners to sue in Texas courts.

■ Passed legislation to make health insurance more available and affordable for small businesses employing three to 50 people.

■ Passed a bill to immunize children against preventable diseases.

■ Voted to build 10,000 prison beds and fund 7,000 prison beds for substance abuse treatment.

Hunters, Speeders Aided

Lawmakers sent Gov. Richards two bills about two things Texans are known for — hunting and speeding. Under the legislation:

— Motorists ticketed for driving 70 mph in a 65-mile zone on interstate highways would not see the ticket reflected in their auto insurance rates.

— People who interfere with or harass hunters would face up to six months in jail and a $1,500 fine.

Other Highlights

■ In less than three months, the Governor's Fugitive Squad has captured eight of Texas' most wanted parole violators. "We have sent a message to the parolees in this state that they had better not mess up, or they'll be going back to prison," Gov. Richards said.

■ Senators elected John Whitmire, D-Houston, as president pro tempore. Members praised the Houston Democrat for directing the overhaul of the state penal code.

Storm lashes area to west

Most of Iowa Park escaped damage from Monday night's storm, which had spotters alerted to watch the clouds for a potential tornado.

No tornado materialized in this area, but hail did considerable damage in the northwestern part of the city and wiped out at least two unharvested fields of wheat, according to reports.

Denny McCarthy said he was combining in one of two wheat fields farmed by Robert Wilcox and Lowell Short, when the storm struck.

One field was completely wiped out, McCarthy said, and the other appeared to be 80 percent damaged.

Residents of Quail Valley and Shiloh Estates said the large hail knocked enough leaves out of their trees to completely cover the grassed yards.

No reports have been received as yet as to damage to home roofs.

Hail reportedly was smaller to the east, and no residents reported any east of Pacific Ave.

Virgil Woodfin said he measured only .14 of an inch of precipitation.

Bennett wins again

Earl Bennett didn't match his 71 of last year, but his 72 strokes still were fewer than anyone else, and he won Friday's All-Iowa Park Golf Tournament.

Low net handicap score was turned in by Jeff Brookshire, who had a gross 86 and net 68.

Bennett fired a 35 on the front and 37 on the back for his winning score. Brookshire settled down on the back nine after suffering a 46 on the front, to shoot a 40 on the back nine holes.

Handicaps are figured by the Callaway System.

Second place low gross was Arlen Shook's 73, and Jack Phillips turned in a 74 for third place.

Second-low handicap was Doug Johnson's 68, and Bob Hamilton had a 69 for third. Johnson had a scratch 95 and Hamilton turned in an 81.

Low scratch by a female was a 95, posted by Connie Patterson. Patti Hughes had a net 72 after her handicap was figured from a scratch 126.

Scoring prizes were script which can be redeemed at most all Iowa Park businesses. Those businesses will in turn cash in the script at the Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the tournament.

A total of 49 players, including 43 males and six females, entered this year's event, which was played at LaVista Golf Club in Wichita Falls.

Williams' team wins national

The Texas Masters volleyball team won the 60 division US Open Volleyball Championship during national competition May 29 through June 5 in Memphis, Tenn.

Norman Williams of Iowa Park is a member of the Texas-based team, which consists of players from all over the state. The team played in the 60-plus age division.

The team played volleyball teams from Washington State, Michigan, Colorado, and finally, Oklahoma to win the championship.

Another team Williams played with won the 1992 US Open tournament in Reno, Nev.

This was the 17th national tournament Williams attended.

"When the ball left Michael Gains bat Saturday afternoon it looked like it would take a miracle for Iowa Park right fielder Chad Thompson to make the catch and end the season for No. 1 ranked Canyon Eagles," stated the Canyon News sports story.

"Unfortunately for Canyon, Thompson made the diving catch to end the Eagles quest for the perfect season, as Iowa Park shocked Canyon with a come from behind 7-6 victory.

"It was a heck of a catch," said Canyon coach Gary Hix.

"I may never see 28 wins again the rest of my life. To do that I would have to schedule 50 games."

Small world: Waco Connally, where former Head Hawk Len Williams is now Athletic Director, was eliminated in the area baseball playoffs a couple of weeks ago. Connally, like Iowa Park, lost its first game of the state tournament in 1975.

Connally's loss last week just happened to be to Bellville, Iowa Park's opponent tonight in Austin.

Bellville is only 18 miles southeast of Brenham, the team that edged out the Hawks in the 1975 state tournament.

Student earns recognition

The United States Achievement Academy recently announced that Dusty Farr has been named a national award winner in English.

The award recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Farr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Farr, was nominated by Sharon Pepitone, Iowa Park Junior High School English teacher.

The student's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Robinson, all of Iowa Park.

CELEBRATION TIME - The playing field in Fort Worth became the scene of happy players and their fans after the Hawks knocked off Graham, 5-2, and earned the first ticket to the state baseball tournament since 1975.

two at-bats. He also reached base after being hit by a pitch.

The other two hits were by seniors Patric Kennedy and Scott McNeely.

The big inning for Iowa Park was the third, when the Hawks scored four runs, but had only one hit. Graham assisted with two errors.

After Hollis led off grounding out in the infield, Dillard walked, and Miller slammed a shot so hard it glanced off the shortstop's glove and he reached first base safely.

Thompson's single into right field scored Jeff Fortner, who was running for Dillard.

He was followed by Tony Lozipone, who lofted a fly deep into left center field. The fielder stumbled slightly, then began backing up, but not fast enough and the ball bounded off his glove.

Miller and Thompson both scored before the ball could reach the infield. Lozipone reacted second base on the hit, and then stole third.

Kennedy grounded out to the shortstop, but Lozipone alertly went home for the fourth score of the inning.

Hollis scored the insurance run in the fourth. He reached first base safely when the shortstop's throw pulled the first baseman off the bag, and scored on Dillard's double.

Graham starting pitcher Justin Burgess was relieved in the sixth inning, after he threw two consecutive balls and then hit Dillard, sending him to first.

Much-publicized player Toby Dollar then took the mound in relief. Miller singled his second pitch.

After that, Dollar got Thompson to ground out and then struck out the final four batters of the game.

After a three-up, three-down sixth inning, Graham attempted a seventh-inning rally, when the leadoff batter singled into left field. And the second was issued a base on balls.

But Dillard then got the next batter to fly out to Brent Brown in left field.

And then the Hawk infield put an end of the game with its second double of the contest.

The Hawks had at least one double play, and once a triple, in every playoff game.
