Students visit D.C. on educational trip

By MYRNA SMITH

Thirty-six Iowa Park seventh and eighth grade students, accompanied by eight adults from Iowa Park returned the early part of June from a trip to Washington, D.C.

They were joined in Dallas by Karen Watson and daughter, Lindsey of DeSoto. Mrs. Watson is the daughter of Dutch and Frances George of Iowa Park.

Iowa Park adults making the trip were Shelia Gholson, eighth grade teacher of American History, her husband Jackie, and Debbie Brandt, second grade teacher of social studies. The teachers acted as chaperones.

Other adults making the trip were Ronnie McShan, Toni McMurtry, Frank and Mary Hardin, and Glenda Arredondo.

The trip was especially profitable academically for the seventh graders who study American History up to the year 1865, and for those who will be in high school and will be studying American History from the year 1865 until the present time.

Also Richard McCann, Melissa Johnson, Hali Myers, Dana Boyd, Theresa Stone, Lori Manes, Katy Williamson, Kim Scobee, Ponch Garcia, Ky Hunter, James Segler, Chris Shelton, Staci Griffin, Misty Beavers, Misty Gibson, Casey McShan, Michael Blair, Doug Dreher, Ben Carr and Nic Thornton.

One of the unusual "first" experiences for one group of the students was getting to ride the metrorail.

After meeting the other group at the National Archives, their first stop was the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, where the group had a mission--and a touching place to be on Memorial Day.

The visit to the Memorial was an emotional time of the trip. The group bore mementos to be placed at the memorial for Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Adams of Iowa Park in tribute to their son, Ronnie.

Ronnie was killed at age 24 when he and five others crossed a land mine in Vietnam Feb. 13, 1968. At the time of his death he had an 11-month-old daughter, Kimberly, now a 26-year-old school teacher; his wife, Judy; two brothers, Gene and Roy and a sister, Sharon.

This information was shared with the students prior their approach to the Vietnam Memorial and them

School clock theft solved

The case of the missing hallway clocks at Iowa Park High School was solved Saturday, when police executed a search warrant that led to the arrest of an 18-year-old male.

Police went to homes in the 300 block of West Crystal, 400 block of East Texowa, 1100 block of Louisa and 700 block of Manes Saturday.

The result was the arrest of Michael Ray Blevins, who was charged with theft over $200 and under $750, a Class A misdemeanor, and taken to county jail.

School personnel reported May 27 the theft of three hallway clocks and a fire extinguisher, according to the police blotter.

A similar report was filed May of 1992, but the clocks were returned and no arrests resulted.

Two other arrests also were included on the police blotter for the past week.

An apartment resident in the 1000 block of Mary called police at 9:13 p.m. Friday and told a man was apparently asleep in a car parked in the area.

When the officer checked out the report, it was determined the occupant, Roger Lynn Wood, 39, was wanted on a warrant issued by the county sheriff's office. He was taken into custody and turned over to a deputy.

Sunday evening, an officer on patrol stopped to give assistance to a car parked on US 287 near Bell Road.

When the license number was checked, it was determined the vehicle had been reported earlier as having been stolen in Electra.

The driver, Ernestine Monroe, 31, was taken into custody on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. It also was determined the suspect had two outstanding warrants issued by the Department of Public Safety, for speeding and failure to appear in court.

The suspect was held in the local jail until being picked up by an officer from Electra, and the vehicle was impounded, according to the blotter entry.

A resident in the 1600 block of Karen told police Sunday that someone had forced entry the previous night into a pickup and taken a mobile telephone from it.

A delivery man from Wichita Falls, David Brock, told police Friday morning he had lost a billfold containing $1,500 in cash.

Part of council meeting to be behind closed doors

The city council is to meet behind closed doors on two different topics, during Monday night's regularly-scheduled meeting.

To be taken up in executive session will be the possible selection of a public works director, and consideration of purchasing property.

The council possibly will take action on both issues, once it returns to open session.

Monday's meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

Iowa Park city administrator Mike Price has not sought a replacement to fill the public works director position since David Collins resigned a month ago. Price held the position prior to being named administrator.

The council also will consider a proposed resolution to authorize the mayor to enter into a contract with Golf West/Natchez Financial Corporation for a feasibility study which possibly could lead to construction of an 18-hole golf course.

A committee appointed by the mayor to work on the golf course project met Friday with Terry Swalm, and a recommendation to proceed with the feasibility study was made.

The city's leaders will consider an ordinance which would affect the existing franchise agreement with TU Electric.

The ordinance, according to the tentative meeting agenda, would if approved "... provide for a different franchise fee; extending the term of said existing franchise; provide an effective date; providing for a different consideration for reimbursement for said studies."

Besides an additional mayor's appointment to the electrical board, the agenda calls for the administrator to report on the status of the city's landfill, progress on current projects, and propose a date for the next budget workshop for the council.

POPULAR PLACE -- With hot temperatures and plenty of time on their hands, now that school is out for the summer, one of the most popular places in town for youngsters is the Iowa Park Bicentennial Swimming Pool.

ABOUT LANDFILLS

Nortex planning series to explain regulations

Nortex Regional Planning Commission is planning a series of public meetings at varied locations in the 11-county area to review the impact of the Environmental Protection Agency's "Subtitle D" regulations on cost of household rubbish disposal.

The regulations become effective Oct. 9 and the accompanying requirements will materially impact the price residents pay to dispose of their household solid wastes.

Residents could find their garbage bills doubling and tripling over the next several months, and into future years.

The primary cause is the regulations as they apply to landfills and the various actions that must be taken to insure that no contamination occurs to ground, surface waters or the environment due to leakage of wastes or runoff water from the landfill.

The lining of the landfill will have to be a composite liner of soil and plastic or a carefully analyzed, non-porous clay, meeting stringent requirements.

The landfill will have to be monitored for the presence of methane gas and any accumulations safely disposed of. A daily cover of soil must be applied to the active portion of the landfill.

After the landfill is closed, the owner/operator must continue monitoring activities and provide a vegetation cover for a period of 30 years.

Financial assurance must also be provided that the maintenance will be performed and that in the event of contamination, the necessary corrections will be provided.

On average, the cost of cleaning up a superfund site has run $50,000. The costly requirements make it prohibitive for smaller cities and landfills to remain open. Iowa Park's city council has already announced its landfill would be closed Aug. 1, but as yet has not decided where household garbage would be taken.

In the Nortex region, which covers 9,461 square miles, very likely there will only be one to three landfills remaining, depending upon permitting by the Texas Water Commission.

As a consequence, household rubbish will have to be hauled greater distances with commensurate added costs.

The public meetings to be held are intended to present ways citizens can help lessen the impact of the added costs on their monthly garbage bills.

Topics will include source reduction, waste reduction, composting, reuse, and recycling.

The average Texas citizen disposes of about 1,800 pounds of rubbish per

School business office to close

Iowa Park school administration building will be closed June 28 until July 9, according to Supt. Glen Mitchell.

The administrator said those days will be used for staff vacation, as the reason for the closing.

Smock joins Aikman on table

Dallas Cowboy quarterback Troy Aikman isn't the only Texan to undergo back surgery recently.

Iowa Park Police Chief Ray Smock underwent surgery two weeks ago at a

Wichita Falls hospital to repair a disc. Though he is yet unable to report to work regularly, Smock is able to do his administrative duties with short visits to the police station, and over the telephone.

Leader printed early this week

This issue of the Iowa Park Leader went to press a day early this week, which is the reason subscribers are receiving their copies Wednesday instead of Thursday.

The early publication was necessary in order for some members of the staff to attend the summer convention of the Texas Press Association in San Antonio.

"We hope the day-early deadlines have not caused too many problems for our readers, and especially our advertisers," said Bob Hamilton, publisher.

The paper will resume its normal publication date next week.

Newlywed feted with shower

taining pink rosebuds and greenery, flanked by ceramic cupids. An assortment of cookies, nuts and pink napkins completed the setting.

The registry and gift tables, covered with white floor-length lace cloths, held ceramic cupids surrounded by pink candles, greenery and pink rosebuds.

Special guest for the event was Mrs. Robert O. Harper of Iowa Park, mother of the groom.

The hostesses presented corsages of pink roses to the honoree and her mother-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper exchanged wedding vows June 12 at Faith Baptist Church in Iowa Park.

They have been members of the Methodist Church and have lived in Holliday since 1947.

Ford retired from the Commissary of Sheppard Air Force Base in 1978. She worked for the U.S. Postal Service in Holliday until her retirement in 1986.

Friends and relatives are invited to join in their celebration of life. The couple requests no gifts.

Natural gas safety stressed

School's out for the summer, and kids cannot forget about studying for a few months. But they shouldn't forget to do their homework on natural gas safety.

During summer vacation many latch-key kids and others are responsible for looking after their own welfare. That's why Lone Star Gas Co. believes it's important for school-age children to know what to do when they smell gas in their home or community.

"If children smell gas, there are certain things they absolutely have to know," said Howard Matson, director of communications for Lone Star. "A few simple tips can make a big difference in ensuring safety and saving lives."

According to Lone Star Gas:

* When gas is first noticed, do not strike a match or anything that may cause a spark, and do not turn anything on or off that uses electricity.

* Since telephones use small amounts of electricity, do not use your own phone to call Lone Star Gas.

* Evacuate the house as quickly as possible, leaving doors and windows as they are, and go to the nearest telephone to make the call.

* Do not go back to the house until you have been told it's safe to return.

Also, Matson said the summer's high temperatures may call for extra attention to flammability and fire hazards. Lone Star Gas recommends the following general safety tips to decrease the potential of fires:

* Never store or use gasoline or any flammable liquids (such as paint, paint thinner, cleaning fluids, etc.) in the same room with any gas appliance.

* Never store rags, paper or other combustibles near any appliance with a pilot light or open flame.

* Use a gas appliance only for its intended purpose. An oven, for example, should not be used to dry wet rags.

"You can enjoy the benefits of natural gas without having to worry about its dangers when you follow the safety guidelines," Matson said. "Any energy source can be harmful, but if used correctly, natural gas is a safe, cost efficient and environmentally compatible energy source."

Mrs. Randy Billingsley
Clay and Clint

Cindy Billingsley and her husband Randy both grew up in Iowa Park and are graduates of Iowa Park High School. Cindy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pool.

When Randy was employed by Haliburton, the couple lived in Oklahoma near Elmore City. Cindy describes the area as beautiful, and they enjoyed many weekends at Turner Falls and in the Arbuckle Mountains.

A year ago, they moved back to Iowa Park where Randy is safety coordinator for Munday Contract Maintenance at Cryovac.

They have two sons, Clay, who is five years old and looking forward to kindergarten next fall, and two-year-old Clint.

Camping remains a favorite form of entertainment, and the family returns to Turner Falls for outings three or four times a month. Also, Cindy and Randy enjoy going to flea markets and antique auctions. She has several nice pieces of furniture they have purchased and Randy refinished.

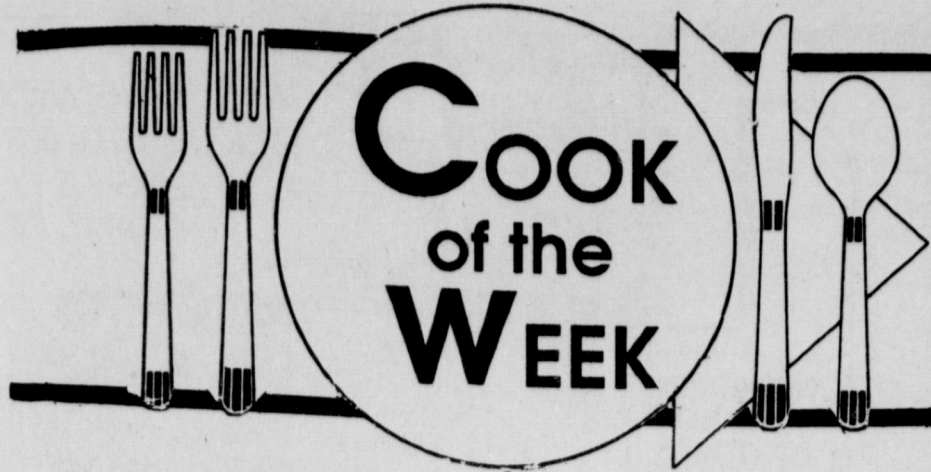

Cindy also likes to paint ceramics and helps her mother, Frances, who has ceramic displays at different shows in the area.

Cindy has been cooking since she was 13 years old, and says she likes to cook a lot. Her recipes come from family members, and the "Neiman's $250 Cookie Recipe" is one that Randy's mother prepares for family gatherings. Cindy says the recipe makes 112 delicious cookies.

Simmer covered 15 minutes or until meat is tender. Add cornstarch blended with remaining water. Bring to a boil then simmer, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened - about 5 minutes. Serve with rice.

At the next meeting Cathy Price will be in charge of the program. Members will learn to make "Snowmen in July".

New members and visitors are welcome to attend. Meetings are held the second Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. at the RAC.

As I See It

By Bob Hamilton

State and federal elected officials, as well as their hired bureaucrats, have an unending appetite for money, and they've found some sure-fire methods of continually getting more and more.

It's a simple formula. If they want something decreased, they simply raise the cost until it's unaffordable. And when that fails to produce enough, they then attack areas of the population with the fewest votes.

A couple of prime examples would be tobacco and alcohol. Taxes on both, which certain areas of the population would like to see wiped from the face of the earth, are now more than the product and seller's profit.

No one has ever answered what the governments will do for those lost revenues, once they are eliminated.

Several years ago, elected officials became alarmed with a temporary world-wide shortage of petroleum. They responded with cutting the speed limit by 15 miles per hour, and then began legislating demands for mileage vehicles would have to attain to become more fuel-efficient.

Congress told state legislators they really didn't have to lower their speed limits, but if they didn't, federal highway funds would be cut off to those states where it wasn't observed. That's why we have beautiful, divided four-lane state highways that are better than most federal highways, and still must observe 55 MPH.

The fact that most automobiles are now considerably more fuel efficient, because of smaller sizes, weigh less and improved engineering, hasn't satisfied those in control to allow speeds to be increased. Now they're using the worn out excuse that slower speeds have reduced highway fatalities.

But the fact remains, fine state highways that are as good or better than federal, still require 55 MPH, while worn-out federal highways are 65 MPH limits. Makes lots of sense, doesn't it?

About as much sense as the Environmental Protection Agency's aim to reduce sanitary landfills by increasing the cost to make them prohibitive.

The EPA requirements on what we've always called trash dumps will eventually raise the cost to everyone in the United States by as much as $100 per person per year, and that's just the beginning.

There are a lot of other examples, but now let's discuss how governments go after the fewest groups of voters in order to raise revenue.

The first groups the feds go after when they want more money is businesses, rural populations, and the wealthy.

Think about it. When they began looking at ways to fund a national health care program, the first means of financing it was to have those who hire people pay for it.

It's not enough that businesses are already matching the employee's Social Security, paying their unemployment benefits, limiting working hours and providing working conditions that are government-mandated, but now businesses should pay for health care, even if they already provide similar plans for their workers.

When the Democratic Party leadership was looking for a way to increase taxes, increasing vehicle fuel taxes were among the first areas to be considered. That would affect those who don't have public transportation the most, hence, rural area residents. There are more votes in the big cities.

And to increase federal revenues, hiking taxes on big corporations' profits and high-income people is always the safest targets. Why? Easy, there aren't as many voters in those groups who could affect re-elections.

The examples go on and on. Just like elected officials want their returns to office. And while they're at it, increasing revenues to make the majority of voters happy.

Selective Service volunteers due recognition

Were you, or was someone you know, involved with drafting men into military service during World War II?

Perhaps you were a volunteer draft board member or an employee of the Selective Service System. Maybe you worked for a local draft board in the early 1940s?

If so, Uncle Sam wants you back.

... but this time it's not to serve; it's to say "Thank you."

That's right, the Selective Service System wants to recognize you as part of the events commemorating the 50th anniversary of the agency's role in World War II.

In connection with scores of official observances of the 50th Anniversary of World War II, Selective Service will honor those who served on the home front during those crucial years.

This small federal agency which ran the World War II draft from October 1940 through the war's end is now searching for men and women who had any official connection with the Selective Service System during that period of time, but not the draftees themselves.

"Our search does not include the 10 million men who were drafted during the war, because their distinguished service is being commemorated by the military and veterans groups. Instead, we're limiting our search to identify anybody still alive who worked for the Selective Service System itself, either as a volunteer or employee," explained Harold Doyle, state director of Selective Service for Texas.

"These individuals may include volunteer board members, office workers, state directors, or reserve officers who served the agency in any official capacity. They worked for the draft system in virtually every city and town throughout America."

When identified, the agency's World War II volunteers and employees will receive letters of appreciation, commemorative posters, and distinguished Selective Service lapel pins. They also will have the opportunity to share memories and contribute artifacts to the agency's growing historical collection.

If you think you qualify, contact Andree Hager, by calling (214) 266-6713, or writing to Selective Service System, Region IV, Building 1239, Naval Air Station, Dallas TX 75211-9506. The agency would like to hear from you before July 31, 1993.

Although the last man to be drafted in the U.S. entered service 20 years ago, in June 1973, the Selective Service System is still charged with registering all young men once they turn 18 in case of a national emergency, and to ensure a fair and equitable draft if one is ever again needed.

Letters

to the Editor

Asks billfold's return

To the person who has my wallet, I hope it brings you happiness, because its loss has caused much stress and hardship for my family. On Friday June 18, I was in Iowa Park at the Food Depot (Kings) when my wallet came up missing. I was parked on the end of the building at 4:00 p.m. when the large brown wallet came up missing. If you have my wallet or know who does or saw anything please call me at 322-7170 or contact the store.

Let me tell you what losing more than a month's salary means to my family. You see the large amount of money was not ours but I must pay it back just the same.

It means it will be a struggle to pay our bills this summer. It will be hard to meet our obligations and provide the necessities for a long time. There will be no money for anything else.

I know a lot of families have a hard time making it, and we have never had much money. But I work hard to provide for my family and all this just seems so unfair and unnecessary.

For my daughters it will be a long hot summer. There will be no trip to the swimming pool, no snowcones or ice cream, and there won't be any other extras at all this summer.

We never take a vacation, but we had planned to go to Virginia next month to pick up my stepson. It has been over three years since my wife has seen her son. But that is all on hold now, because we can't afford the trip.

Also my wife has been very sick lately and her prescription was in that wallet so I could get it filled. She will just have to do without the medicine now, not because I can't afford it but because we can't afford another trip to the doctor to get it rewritten.

So you see you may see that money as a windfall or as an answer to your hard times, but the loss is just the beginning of pain and hardship for my family. I ask of you to find it in your heart to return it to me or drop it by the Food Depot office. Or if you know who has it or saw anything Friday afternoon, June 18, please let me know.

year. The charge to dispose of rubbish at a landfill, called a "tipping" fee, is based on the weight being disposed.

The state has recommended a 40-percent reduction in waste going to landfills. That equates directly to the cost of landfill disposal, therefore a 40-percent reduction in cost, which can mean a related reduction in a household's garbage bill.

The imposition of Subtitle D and the related costs are expected to provide an economic stimulus toward achieving the waste reduction goal.

Another area that will be increasing costs to the taxpayers is illegal dumping.

With the reduction in the number of accessible landfills, coupled with increased fees at the remaining landfills, the amount of waste being disposed of illegally is expected to increase.

Methods available to enforce the imposition of fines for illegal dumpers also will be discussed at the proposed meetings.

The meetings will be held during July and August at locations throughout the Nortex region. Dates, times and locations had not been established as of Monday of this week, but will be announced as they are set.

Anyone having questions or desire for further information concerning landfills, the cost of their operations and solutions, should contact Clare E. Holt, Nortex Regional Planning Commission, at 322-5281.

Brethren, it ain't gonna fly!

That's our prediction on the current school finance compromise belched forth by our distinguished legislature and signed by our illustrious governor.

The new law doesn't solve anything... not financing, not equity, not fairness, not improvement. It's a dumbing-down rehash of Robin Hood that will survive one year, and only that because Judge McCown said so.

The law requires the 109 presumed wealthy school districts to share with either poorer school districts or the state by reducing their tax base valuation down to $280,000 per student. So you might think that means that each student in public schools in Texas could levy upon a tax base of $280,000.

Think again. In Austin Monday, it was revealed to education officials that even though the rich school districts dumb down to $280,000 valuation per student, the tax base of the poorer school districts would only raise to $205,000. That spells a $75,000 discrepancy per student in the tax base available to the poor school district. And you wonder why Brother Kauffman and the poorer school districts went to the courthouse yesterday!

We gotta sneakin' hunch that the masterminds in Austin have doomed this law for failure -- on purpose. They've got something else planned for us in 1994-95 -- something easier to enact into law after all the hullabaloo, frustration, and anger at the grassroots level.

As the liberals have screamed time and again, the only way to equalize between the rich and poor is to divvy up the wealth -- every Saturday night!

We're not the only one that takes a dim view of the latest method of financing public schools in Texas.

Gregory Curtis, writing in his "Behind the Lines" in Texas Monthly, penned this fable about the state's handling of school financing:

"Once there was a land with one hundred students. Each student had one book of hundred pages, except for one student, who lived near an oil well and had two books. Most of the students didn't care, but some students went to court.

"With two books, that student will learn twice as much as we do," they said. The court decided for one student to have two books when every other student had only one was unfair. The court told the Legislature to do something to make things fair.

Worth Quoting

"The Legislature thought about buying 99 more books, so every student would have 2 books, but that was much too expensive. There wasn't enough money in the state treasury for that.

"Then the Legislature decided to take the second book that belonged to the student who lived near the oil well and give 1 of the pages of the book to each of the students. That way every student in the land would have 1 book and 1 page.

"But what good would that do? No one would learn anything more by having just 1 page of a book, and in the whole land that would leave only 100 books when before there had been 101. So the Legislature didn't do anything.

"Then the courts got angry. It confiscated all the books and kept them in the courthouse basement, where they soon rotted and became useless. When the people complained, the court said, 'We are only being fair. Since it can't be fair for someone to have more than anyone else, it must be fair for everyone to have nothing.'"

One day there was couple of guys who were trying to earn a little extra spending money by doing yard work.

A woman, hosting her bridge club, wanted the two workers prior to the party, but their schedule only allowed them to work on the day of the gathering.

The woman decided the appropriate thing to do would be to close the drapes to block the view of the back yard as the two men worked.

Once the party was underway, however, one guest said she wanted more light, and she went over and pulled the drawstring on the drapes.

That's when everybody noticed one man raking and the other performing majestic leaps and spirals into the air, followed by a complete back flip.

The women were impressed. All rushed over to see what was going on and were all amazed as the man's agile performance.

"He must be a gymnast," said one. "I would love for him to work with my grandson. I'd pay $50 for a couple of lessons."

The homeowner went to the door and called out to his helper, asking if his co-worker might like to give tumbling lessons.

He said he'd check.
"Hey, Bubba," the co-worker said.

"Do you think that for 50 bucks you could stand to step on that rake one more time?"

We had a picnic after church a couple of weeks ago, and it was announced in advance that it would be okay to dress casually for Sunday School and morning worship service. There were a few neckties and dresses in the crowd, but a lot of us wore shorts, T-shirts and tennis shoes.

The next Monday was Memorial Day and only a few of us folks were working downtown, so I decided to dress similarly for the office. I didn't figure we'd have too much business, and I spent most of the day in my cubby hole pecking on my keyboard.

It got me to thinking. Where did we come up with these silly rules about how we should dress? In this part of the land with its scorching summers, we ought to be able to bend the rules some for the sake of comfort. Those of us who are lucky enough to live and work in little country towns could get by with that, couldn't we?

I may get bold and start wearing shorts and tennis shoes to work occasionally this summer. It just might start a whole new fashion trend in Henrietta's downtown business district. What do you think?

WARNING

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF OPERATION I.D.

Operation I.D. is a citizens' burglary prevention program. Operation I.D. involves the marking of property with an identifying number as a means of discouraging burglary and theft. Marked property is difficult for a burglar to dispose of or re-sell. It can be traced to the rightful owner with relative ease. If a burglar is caught with marked property, it is solid evidence of possession of stolen goods.

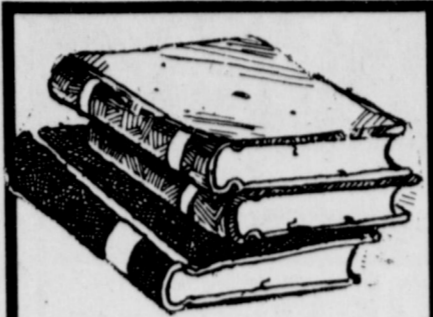

For more information, contact the Iowa Park Police Department Crime Prevention Unit at 592-2181.

Over a year in the planning, the Crusade is a combined effort of five area churches and is sponsored by several Iowa Park businesses.

Jack Stevens, local western artist, will give his testimonial Friday night and Iowa Park School Superintendent Glen Mitchell will give his Saturday night.

Services for the hearing impaired will be offered and a nursery will be provided each night.

Solutions for gardening problems

By MARK E. TERNING
Rains and high humidity have created some problems for area landscapes and gardens. The following disease identification and control update will help keep you alerted to some of the situations at hand.

Disease Identification and Control:
* Black spot is prevalent on roses. Circular black spots appear on leaves and infected leaves fall prematurely. Apply a fungicide such as Funginex or Daconil on regular intervals to control. Avoid overhead irrigation.

* Powdery mildew on crape myrtle appears as a white to grayish area on the leaves. Leaves and shoots can also become distorted. Apply fungicides such as Topsin-M or Funginex to control.

* Periwinkles dying at a rapid pace? The problem is very likely a soil-borne fungus called Phytophthora. Plants which are over-watered and exposed to heavy amounts of rainfall will be almost certain to go down with this disease. Controls for this problem are very limited. Your best defense is to replant with resistant color plants such as lantana or firebush. Research has shown that, Aliette, a systemic fungicide, will reduce the disease, but it is not a total cure. This product is available only to commercial applicators.

* Cultural practices to protect periwinkles: they should be planted later in the season (mid to late June) to avoid heavy spring rains. Use a layer of mulch beneath plantings to reduce splashing onto leaves. Avoid planting periwinkles in the same bed area each year. Over-watering and repeated planting of periwinkles in the same area is a death sentence for this plant.

* Photinia leaf spot appears as brown lesions on leaves. Apply a fungicide such as Daconil for control.

* Pecan leaves are showing signs of scab. This disease appears as an olive to brown spot on the leaf which later turns black. Treat with fruit and nut tree sprays containing fungicide. Pecan growers can use Orbit or Topsin-M on regular labeled intervals.

* Tomato fruit with sunken black areas on the bottom of the fruit have blossom end rot. Maintaining uniform soil moisture by using mulches will help prevent the problem. Also use a fertilizer which contains calcium as part of its nutrient contents.

I BELIEVE IN THE CHURCH OF THE NEW TESTAMENT - PART 2

I believe in the church of the New Testament because the Bible says salvation is found in the church. The church is the Lord's redeemed people, purchased with His blood (Ephesians 5:25; Acts 20:28). If I am not a member of the church, then I have not been cleansed of my sins or bought with the precious blood of Christ. Since the church is the bride of Christ, if I do not happen to be a part of the bride, I will not be presented unto Christ when He comes for His church (Ephesians 5:23-26). The church is the holy place with Christ as High Priest over it (Hebrews 10:19-22; 1 Timothy 3:15; 1 Peter 2:5). If I am not in the church, then I am without that High Priest.

I believe in the church of the New Testament because it is composed of men and women who have renounced sin and religious error in their lives and have turned toward the truth. They have expressed an unwavering faith in Christ Jesus (John 3:36). They have renounced their former master, Satan, and his manner of life entirely (Acts 17:30). They have been born into this new life of service by submitting to the "new birth" (John 3:5). They have been buried with Christ in baptism (Romans 6:3, 4). This has made people Christians - members of the church of Christ. The church is composed of people who have turned from darkness to light and from the power of Satan unto God. These people have come to know the love of God and His magnificent grace (Ephesians 2:5-8).

When I say I believe in the church of the New Testament, I am saying I believe in the church that is written about in the Bible in the same sense that I believe about giving, prayer, or a godly life. I believe in what the Bible teaches about the church and are ready to give a reasoned defense of it (1 Peter 3:15). Why not come and be a part of us in the service of Jesus our Lord? Many are dying daily without the forgiveness of sins and the grace of our Lord. Christ died for all to save sinful man.

Will you believe in the church of the New Testament and be added to it to worship God in 1993 just as you could have in Jerusalem in 30 A.D.? I believe in the church of the New Testament. Do you?

BIGGER AND BETTER - A new bridge was put in place on Bell Road Wednesday of last week, by County Commissioner Gordon Griffith and his crew. The larger concrete culverts are expected to allow water to flow faster, and the crossing is considerably wider than the original. A similar crossing is planned for North Victoria this fall.

How's that again?

Today's increasingly noisy world is more deafening than you think!

Time was when early hearing loss caused by noise was limited to workers in some industries and war veterans, say researchers at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas. Not any more.

Now specialists at both UT Southwestern and the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston report that they're seeing an increasing amount of hearing loss among people in their 20s.

The causes are many. They include the big sound at live concerts, the whir of a motor on a boat, the convenience of a stereo headset and more. Hearing loss develops so gradually that by the time it's noticed it's usually too late to treat it.

IOWA PARK is represented by three contestants in this year's Texas-Oklahoma Junior Golf Tournament, which got underway Monday. They are Skip Drissel and Scott McNeely, both 18, and Waylon Steward, 13.

Henrietta is the only Dist. 4-AAA member without anyone playing in the T-O. Graham has 20 entered, Vernon seven, Breckenridge six and Bowie one. In all, this year's T-O drew 920 entries.

Philip Dawson, son of former Hawk quarterback Robert Dawson, kicked two extra points and a 26-yard field goal in Saturday's Oil Bowl for Texas. He also handled the punting chores, averaging 36.4 on five kicks. Texas won 23-14.

Former Hawk assistant coach Robert Needham was in the stands Saturday. He joined his former head coach Tommy Watkins at Garland Lakeview Centennial this past school year, after coaching in the Del Rio area since leaving Iowa Park.

Midwestern State Univ. will play one of its 1993 home games in Hawk Stadium. The Indians will take on conference rival McMurry Univ. at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 30. The game was originally scheduled to be played in Memorial Stadium, but conflicted with a regional band contest. "The Iowa Park School District was gracious enough to allow us to play the game at Hawk Stadium. It's a great football facility, and we're looking at it as an opportunity to show the people of Iowa Park that we play some pretty good football," said MSU athletic director Steve Holland.

hunting for the name of Ronnie Adams. The group left a montage depicting highpoints of Ronnie's short life. Mrs. Gholson made rubbings of his name, that is inscribed among the 58,182 on the polished black granite walls, and brought them back to his family.

Their next stop was the Washington Monument where the waiting line was one to two hours long, but they waited, part of the time in the rain.

The elevator ride up the 50 stories took a total of 74 seconds, and 60 seconds to come back down.

Of special interest at the Monument was the inside walls that were adorned with various ornate bricks that were donated to Washington by fellow Masons.

Also of interest was the group getting to see artists refurbishing the painting in the dome of the Monument. The painting is of George Washington sitting at desk and some of the women who had great influence on his life arranged in a circle around him.

Changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier was an impressive experience for the group and required a great deal of reverence from onlookers.

Later the Iowa Park group got to visit Fort Meyers, the base where the the guards for the Tomb stay.

Mrs. Gholson said there is an extensive amount of refurbishing being done, especially of very minute detailed art work on the ceiling of the Capitol Building. The Statue of Freedom on top of the building was being redone at that time. Scaffolding was up in several areas where artists were working.

Among other interesting places visited was the National Air and Space Museum, the National Cathedral, National Zoo, Peterson House, Ford Theatre, National Geographic, Smithsonian, the National Zoo and Mount Vernon.

At the Air and Space Museum, they took a tour of the inside of a space shuttle. Here the group could purchase samples of freeze dried food like that the astronauts eat in space.

They were impressed with the beauty of the National Cathedral and the many stained glass windows. They were especially impressed with the one in which a rock from the moon, given to the church by one of the astronauts, was mounted in a glass depicting the solar system.

They spent approximately an hour at each of the museums at the Smithsonian, which Mrs. Gholson said was not nearly enough time. It is said if one toured the Smithsonian and spent three minutes at each exhibit from 8-5 Monday through Friday, it would take 65 years to see it all.

The most impressive thing they saw at the Peterson House was the bed where Abraham Lincoln was placed after being shot at the Ford Theatre and the glass-encased pillow on which his head rested when he died April 15, 1865.

Another emotional part of the trip was their visit to the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum that presents the history of the persecution and murder of six million Jews and millions of their victims of Nazi tyranny from 1933 to 1945.

The Museum's primary mission is to inform Americans about the unprecedented tragedy, to remember those who suffered, and to inspire visitors to contemplate the moral implications of their choices and responsibilities as citizens in an interdependent world.

"Daniel's Story" was most impressive. It is designed specifically for younger visitors and presents the Holocaust from the perspective of a Jewish child growing up in Nazi Germany.

Although fictional, the story of Daniel and his family is based on experiences of actual Jewish families. The exhibition uses authentic photographs, film footage, recreated environments, and interactive activities.

The students agreed that Mt. Vernon was the most beautiful place they visited. It was as beautiful as the pictures they have seen.

Other places visited was the Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, Kennedy Center, Arlington National Cemetery and the Two Jima Memo-

THE CLIPPERS earned the girls' softball Minor League championship, and were treated to an end-of-the-year picnic Friday at Lake Gordon.

After flouring chicken, chill for an hour to help the coating stick.

For a fresher flavor, thaw frozen fish in milk.

Phillies Minor League champs

The Phillies, Eastern Division champions, defeated the Pirates of the Western Division 18-7 Monday night to earn the Minor League title.

Michael Davis was the winning pitcher, while Aaron McDaniel got the loss.

Davis, Deon Turner, Andy Simpson and Billy Price each collected two hits for the Phillies. The Pirates were led by hitters Jared Davis, McDaniel, Jason Willingham and Jason Peters.

The Phillies defeated the Expos and Rangers to gain a berth in the finals, while the Pirates shot down the Cardinals and White Sox to advance into Monday's showdown.

The Phillies ended the season with a 14-2-0 record.

HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Facing allegations that she promised a job to a former campaign opponent in exchange for a political endorsement, newly sworn-in U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison went to Washington, D.C., with more than the nation's business on her mind.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram received a tip last week that Houston businessman Mike Graham provided Travis County prosecutors with testimony he negotiated the job-for-endorsement swap in telephone visits with Hutchison and her husband, Dallas bond lawyer Ray Hutchison; and former San Saba County judge, Tom Bowden, who lost a bid for the office of state treasurer in the 1990 Democratic primary.

Bowden endorsed Hutchison in her successful election race against Democrat Nikki Van Hightower. Soon after the election, Bowden accepted a $31,000 a-year job in the treasurer's office.

Graham Under Indictment

Graham is under felony indictment, having been charged with violating competitive bidding requirements on a private prison project in Pecos County.

According to a report in the Austin American-Statesman, Ray Hutchison worked with Graham on the financing of six private prisons before the deal Graham says he brokered between the Hutchisons and Bowden. One of the six prisons was in San Saba.

Bowden has denied allegations for a job-for-endorsement agreement, but the investigation is under way, and the Travis County District Attorney's Office is reviewing Graham's written testimony and poring through treasury department tapes, computer logs and employee records.

"Potty Parity" Bill Signed

It was bill signing time in the governor's office last week. And one bill Gov. Ann Richards inked was the "potty parity" measure, which requires new public and private facilities where the public congregates to have a 2 to 1 ratio of women's-to-men's restrooms.

Attending the bill-signing ceremony was Denise Wells, the woman who inspired the legislation. Wells was arrested at a concert at The Summit in Houston in 1990 for using a men's restroom to avoid long lines for the women's rooms.

Richards called a sponsor of the bill, Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, "my hero."

"I thank you, and my two daughters thank you, and my three granddaughters thank you," she said.
