

Saturday best night for Halloween

There may be some confusion as to when the ghosts and goblins will be out this year to celebrate Halloween.

According to the calendar, Sunday is Halloween. But several organizations, businesses and residents are planning to host the trick or treaters on Saturday night.

The school board did not mention any recommendation at its meeting earlier this month. And though the subject was brought up during Monday's meeting of the city council, again no recommendation as to which night should be observed was reached.

However, Supt. Glen Mitchell has strongly recommended that trick or treaters observe Saturday night for their activities.

He said there had been considerable confusion among parents of youngsters, who had been calling his office and school principals wanting to know whether Saturday or Sunday night should be observed.

Because students must attend classes Monday, the superintendent said he strongly encouraged Saturday night, rather than Sunday night, be the night for youngsters to make their "trick or treat" rounds.

Ken's Pizza will be handing out candy from 5 p.m. until they close on Saturday.

The First Baptist Church will be sponsoring a "Children's Fun Festival" from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Saturday, between Parkway TrueValue and G.M. Via Insurance.

Heritage Manor has been advertising it was encouraging children to visit that location on Third Street Saturday night, and refreshments and candy would be served between 6 and 8 p.m.

Also Saturday night, the Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary and Police Department will be handing out treats at the pavilion on City Hall Park.

Harvey's is advertising a treaters' special for Saturday night only: com dogs for 25 cents each.

At the Sonic Drive-In, their advertisement was for treats to be handed out on Halloween Night.

The Lakeview Church of God held its alternative activity for Halloween on Wednesday night.

So, apparently, residents can have their choice of hosting youngsters on either or both Saturday and Sunday nights.

The best way of signaling is to leave your porch light on, whichever nights you are available.

Parents are encouraged by the Department of Public Safety to dress their children in light-reflecting clothes, and equip them with flashlights.

Motorists should drive slowly through residential areas while youths are celebrating Halloween, and be prepared to make emergency stops.

"A few extra precautions on the part of motorists, parents and children could prevent tragedies this Halloween," said Trooper Joe Clement.

MORE THAN 100 Iowa Parkans were in Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon to cheer the Mean Green Marching Machine on to a Division One rating in the Regional Marching Contest of the University Interscholastic League. Graham and Gainesville also received Division One ratings, but this is the alternating year Class AAA bands do not advance further in state competition.

City buys tower site

The city council voted Monday night to purchase a tract of land off the Northwest Access Road to locate a new water tower, and also initiated action leading toward financing of the construction.

Additionally, a public hearing on the annexation of almost nine acres was held, and a tract of land was leased to the Friendly Door for a new senior citizen center.

The city has been planning to build a new water tower North of US 287, to improve water pressure in that part of the city. However, no location had been determined.

Monday's action was to purchase a 3.62-acre tract on the East side of Park Tank Truck Service, at the cost of $25,000. The site was recommended by the city's engineer and administrator.

The vote on the purchase took place following a brief executive session of the council.

The tower is the major part of a million-dollar bond issue the council has been planning on. The other ex-

Hawks still have hopes for shot at the playoffs

"It ain't over until the fat lady sings," goes the saying.

And that's the theme song of Iowa Park's Hawk football team, as they prepare to host the Graham Steers at 7:30 Friday night in Hawk Stadium.

Despite not being among the four Dist. 4-AAA teams tied for the conference lead with 2-1 records, the Hawks could still parlay their current 1-2 into a 3-2 and still make the playoffs.

But to do that, they will have to win their final two regular-season games, and count on a little help from the other clubs.

Graham comes to Iowa Park with an impressive 6-2 season record, having outscored its opponents 231-84 thus far. And one of those conference wins was a 34-0 thumping of Breckenridge, the team that slipped by the Hawks last week 32-19.

But the Hawks, even limping with several players injured, don't seem to be intimidated. Not after having knocked off perennial powerhouse Vernon 17-14 in their conference opener.

That game told the sports world that this year's edition of the Mean Green was for real.

The Steers flexed their offensive muscles in that Breckenridge game, amassing 327 yards rushing and adding on 108.

Meanwhile, the Graham defense held the Bucks to only 81 yards rushing.

But, against Vernon, Graham gave up 181 yards rushing and 55 more passing, and was held most of the game offensively, as indicated by only having gained six first downs.

After having played the entire season virtually without injury, last week's game at Breckenridge was rough on the Hawks.

They lost Jimmy Fallon for the season, when his leg was broken on the final play of the Buckaroos. He underwent surgery Monday to repair the damage.

Defensive standout Clint Scobee had to leave the field with 6:30 remaining in the first quarter with an ankle injury, and reportedly will not be able to take the field against the Steers.

In addition, Brent Brown suffered a broken finger on his left hand. He continued play, however.

Also, linebacker Jason Maxwell had to leave the field for a brief time with an ankle injury, but returned and finished the contest.

This will be the 22nd meeting between Iowa Park and Graham. And though the Hawks haven't defeated the Steers since their 12-7 decision in 1989, Iowa Park still holds a 10-10-1 edge in the series.

News Briefs

It's time to change the clocks

It's time to change all those clocks and watches again, this Saturday night.

Time pieces should be set back one hour -- "Fall Back" -- Saturday night, because the nation's time officially changes shortly after midnight.

Residents are also reminded that batteries in smoke detectors should be changed out with new replacements.

The National Safety Council recommends changing smoke detector batteries both in the spring and fall, and suggests that the time change date is the easiest date to remember to do that chore.

Texans to vote on amendments

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday for voters to cast their ballots on 16 proposed amendments to the state's constitution.

Absentee voting, which began Oct. 13, will conclude Friday.

Voting Tuesday will be at the County Agriculture Building, 400 N. Wall, for residents of voting Precinct 32; Faith Baptist Church, 411 S. Wall, for Precinct 33; West Wichita Coop Building at Valley View for Precinct 34, and Chaparral Baptist Assembly at 3784 Church Camp Road, for Precinct 35.

Early voting ballots can be marked at the County Agriculture Building, or at the county courthouse. Those polls will close at 5 p.m. Friday.

An analysis of the amendments can be found on page 12 of this issue.

City makes containers available

For those individuals who change their own motor oil, the City has plastic used-oil recycling containers available, at no cost.

The containers are part of a grant received from the Texas Water Commission, which allowed the city to construct a drop-off center for used oil at the maintenance garage, 102 West Texas.

To obtain a container, residents can obtain a receipt at city hall which can be given to the garage attendant in exchange for a container.

Environmental Protection Agency mandates prohibit the pouring of used oil onto the ground, as well as throwing containers of used oil into trash which is buried in the landfill.

Free meal for senior citizens

The Iowa Park MuleSkinners will hold one of their free feeds for senior citizens Saturday, Nov. 13, at the Mule Barn.

Only those senior citizens who reside in the Iowa Park school district are eligible for the "brisket with all the trimmings" meal, served at no cost.

Police investigating sexual assault case

Police are investigating the report of an aggravated sexual assault that reportedly took place during the early morning hours in a home in the south part of the city Tuesday.

The victim told police she was awakened from sleep by a sound, and had gotten out of bed to investigate. When she entered the livingroom, she said she was grabbed from behind and forced to the floor, and assaulted.

The assailant's face was covered by a stocking cap, ski mask or something similar, police were told. The only description was the assailant was about average height and weight.

No weapon was seen or used in the assault, but the attacker did verbally threaten the victim to not scream or struggle.

It is not known how the assailant got into the house, but investigators said none of the windows were locked.

The victim was taken to a Wichita Falls hospital for examination by a physician.

Police were reluctant to give many details, in order to protect the victim's identity, and would only say the woman was married, in her mid 20s, and the home was in Garden Valley Addition.

An Iowa Park man was arrested and charged with possession of four pounds of marijuana.

Monte Joe Castro, 23, was stopped at 7:55 p.m. Friday near the intersection of Mary and Johnson on a traffic check.

The officer reportedly became suspicious, and asked permission to search the vehicle. Permission reportedly was granted.

In the back seat, among "piles of clothes" the officer found a single plastic bag which it was determined contained marijuana.

Castro was charged with possession and taken to county jail under a $10,000 bond, according to the report.

A resident in the 300 block of West Pecan told police someone had stolen blank checks from the home sometime Friday.

41 businesses to give away free turkeys

A lot of Iowa Park shoppers will be eating free turkey for Thanksgiving, courtesy of a promotion coordinated by the Chamber of Commerce.

Forty one businesses will hold drawings Nov. 16 for winners of the turkeys they will be giving away. Some actually are offering more than one.

Winners' names will be published in the Nov. 18 issue of the Iowa Park Leader, and the winners can pick up their turkeys in plenty of time for them to thaw and be cooked for Thanksgiving.

Each of the businesses is encouraging the public to register only once per visit.

Study Club begins year with luncheon

Cottage Tea and Antique Shop in Archer City was setting Thursday for the first meeting of 23 Study Club for the new 1993-94 club year.

Activities began at a luncheon with a sumptuous home cooked meal in a room set off with nostalgic furniture and dishes. Olive Blalock offered the invocation before the meal.

Patsy Todd, chairman of the program committee, served as leader and distributed new yearbooks. Eye-catching covers were marked with the challenge, "A Past to Remember-A Future to Mold" and the theme, "Conserve-Preserve A Better World", written in bold lettering.

Mrs. Todd reminded members that the club will be observing its 70th anniversary this year and reflected upon the beautiful friendship that must have existed between members during the years.

To inspire members to treasure friendships of others and to be better friends, she read quotes and poems from notable poets and people in the past and present about the value of friendship.

Members answered roll call by telling what year they became members and the name of the club president at that time.

The General Federation Womens Club trivia, which will be a part of each program this year, was presented by Ruth Thompson and Flossie Thompson.

Keeping in mind the 70th anniversary of the club, Joe Belle McKinnon took members down memory lane to 1923 when it was organized by Travel Club in Wichita Falls.

She said the late Mrs. John Murphree, who was a member of the organizing club, was a charter member of 23 Study Club. The late Mrs. Carroll Duke was its first president.

Joyce Rentschler, president, was in charge of the business meeting. It was highlighted by the installation of Kay Cole in a candlelight setting, symbolizing the light of the 23 Study Club.

A nominating committee composed of Ruth Thompson, Margaret Soell and Helen Dale Roberts was elected. They are to have a new slate of officers to present at the first meeting in January.

Colleen Roberts played, "The More We Get Together" as an accordion solo, then invited members to sing it with her.

To climax activities for the day, the group left the Cottage for a tour of the Spur Motel. The motel was built in 1928 and was originally called Andrews Motel after its owner. The name was later changed to Spur Motel which closed in 1966.

The original structure has been preserved by W.C. Abernathy Jr., and Vivian Green.

Its unforgettable distinction begins at the front doors where stained glass spurs are the welcoming design. A mixture of Mexican, Indian and Western decor set the mood for the wild frontier which makes the motel a show place and attracts visitors from many far away places.

As I See It

By Bob Hamilton

If we had sold a classified ad each time our telephone has rung this week at the office, we'd likely need four or more pages to run them all.

No, the vast majority of the calls weren't concerning advertisements, but rather wanting to know what night Halloween would be observed.

The problem: Halloween falls on Sunday this year.

While the city council took no action when the subject was taken up, and it wasn't mentioned at the school board's meeting, the fact of the matter is, neither has the standing to change the date of such an event.

They can, however, make a recommendation.

And though the city made no such recommendation, our school superintendent, Glen Mitchell, is strongly encouraging everyone to observe Saturday night, rather than Sunday night, for their tricking or treating.

This same kind of situation arose about a decade ago. The mayor did, in fact, issue a statement that Halloween would be observed on Saturday, as I recall.

Everyone was apparently happy with the situation. Except a couple of irates who were upset that any group or individual would dare mess with their calendars.

Especially when it has to do with a Sunday!

I can understand Glen Mitchell's reason for asking that the youngsters do their things on Saturday night, rather than Sunday. Monday is a school day, after all, and the kids need their rest.

A youngster who stays out, however late, filling bag after bag with candy and other goodies is hardly in any frame of mind to go to bed when he/she gets home.

Thus, a sleepy student Monday morning in class.

But there's also more to that situation.

There are more people involved in this trick or treat fun than just the kids. How about those they call on?

A lot of folks like their quiet on Sundays. In fact, I would guess the vast majority of people feel that way. And it's their door bells that are rung by the hordes of costumed ghosts and goblins looking for a handout.

So, I suggest that it's up to each resident individually whether they want to receive youngsters on either night. And your indicator is your porch light.

Turn your light on if you're receiving trickers or treaters on either Saturday or Sunday night. That, after all, is your personal decision, if you want any callers whatsoever.

Thinking about Halloween made me recall a situation during my youth. No, I had absolutely nothing to do with it, believe me.

You will either recall stories about outhouses being tipped over by youthful vandals, in their quest to celebrate All Hallow's Eve.

Well, a group of guys older than I went a bit further.

They copped somebody's outhouse and somehow got it atop the high school building.

That was a three-story structure, by the way, and it apparently took an awful lot of effort to accomplish.

But, the next morning, there it was, those old unpainted boards just gleaming in the bright sunrise.

It was quite a sight.

And there was quite a sound that drifted down the hallways later in the day. The principal found out who did the deed, and wore out a stout wooden paddle on some rear ends, each of whom promised never to repeat the trick pense is a main sewer line enlargement.

A general obligation bond issue has been decided as the means to pay for those projects.

It was decided to contract with an attorney, Ed Esquivel, to assist the city with the required paper work, and also the law firm of Fulbright and Jaworski as bond counsel.

Yet to be decided is whether the council will seek bids on the sale of the bond, or accept an offer from Parker Square Bank to purchase the bond, at a yet-to-be determined interest rate.

Doug James, manager of the local branch of Parker Square Bank, was at the meeting and said his organization was ready to make an offer whenever the city decides which route the council wants to take.

The first of two required public hearings on an annexation request was held.

The annexation request involved a portion of the Park Place Addition, and included 27 lots.

Some discussion was held on why such a small portion of the major tract was being petitioned, and one alderman asked that all of the planned addition be brought into the city at one time.

Tommy Key, one of the two principals in the project, asked council to proceed, and if his partner decided to enlarge the request, a new series of hearings could begin at the next meeting.

No formal objections were lodged on the annexation request, however, and the second hearing is to be held Nov. 8.

Responding to a request from the board of directors of the Friendly Door, the council approved a 99-year lease of property on the North side of the Recreational Activities Center, for a new senior citizen center.

With the long-term lease, center leaders said they felt confident they could obtain one or more grants that would cover the cost of new construction.

They had explained that the present location, at Wall and Cash, would be too expensive to make changes that would meet Americans with Disabilities Act mandates.

In other action, the council approved authorizing the mayor to invest city money in long-term securities, discussed hours of operation at the city's new convenience center at the landfill, and awarded a television set to the Employee of the Year.

The monies to be invested are held in case of a major catastrophe.

With the changeover of ownership and operation of the city's landfill by Bell Trucking approved by the state, which became effective Monday, city workers have been erecting a convenience center on that land where residents can take their large items for disposal.

The center's initial hours it will be open to the public were set for 1 to 7 p.m. Mondays and Fridays, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays and 1-5 p.m. Sundays, Administrator Mike Price proposed.

Price also said city crews will soon begin running a brush pickup service at homes on Wednesdays. A chipper will be used in that operation, he explained.

The names of 10 currently-employed city personnel who were named Employee of the Month during the past fiscal year were placed in a drawing for a grand prize.

The name of Sue Maness, director of the Tom Burnett Memorial Library, was drawn. She received a television set, and when announced, it was mentioned she also was the winner the first year the program began.

Others who were recognized during the year were Karla Hopper, Sue Hatcher, David Bolin, Robert Snyder, Calvin Fowler, Brandon Greene, Mike Brewer, Eddie Brown and Archie Layfield.

Worth Quoting

I know you're getting tired of hearing about Hillary Clinton's plan for health care reform. But, tired or not, we had better be paying close attention, and analyzing every facet of the plan, or we may wind up letting the government get things in a bigger mess than they're in now.

It is almost laughable when you think about it, but here we have the government trying to solve the problems in our health care system, when, if fact, it was the government that created most of the problems in the first place.

I can remember a time, and it wasn't all that many years ago, when you could get a private room in the Bowie hospital for five dollars a day. But then the politicians stepped in. They started requiring hospitals to take the illegal aliens, do all kinds of unnecessary tests, fill out reams of reports on every patient, and doctors started living in mortal fear of being sued for malpractice every time a woman patient had a bow-legged baby.

All the government restrictions, requirements, and stupidity, have contributed to more and more expenses for hospitals and doctors, and, as a consequence, higher health care costs for their patients.

I think that most small town doctors I know are making a smaller percentage of profit today than they did a few years ago. And, as you know, many hospitals have gone broke.

It seems to me that the problem with our health care system is not with the health care providers. It is to a great extent the fault of the many government agencies staffed by political appointees, that are attempting to regulate a business they do not understand.

One of life's little ironies!

We noticed a peculiar fact in the auditor's report on the Edgewood school district this past week.

Edgewood, you will recall, is the school district whose lawsuit has kept public school financing in an uproar for the past decade.

Among the items in the school district's budget is the fact that the school spends $66 per student (15,000 students) for its police department. The school district has 34 authorized positions and 15 vehicles.

And last year, the school paid $675 in telephone charges for calls to psychic hotlines -- probably trying to find out how the Supreme Court was going to rule on its case against the state of Texas.

Ain't that something?

AUSTIN — U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison's lawyers last week subpoenaed all 12 grand jurors who indicted her in September on felony charges of directing state treasury employees to do personal and political business and attempting to cover up an investigation by destroying state records.

The subpoena instructs grand jurors to appear at an Oct. 24 hearing with their voter registration cards for the past 10 years and any documents linking them with the Democratic Party. Defense attorneys want information to support claims that the indictments are political an invalid because the grand jury was "stacked" with Democrats who might have been biased against the Republican senator.

Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle filed a motion in state District Court to quash the subpoena, arguing that Texas law provides for a secret ballot. He said the subpoena was an act of harassment that would "chill possible action of any future grand jury."

The defense has requested that the court seat a special grand jury of six Democrats and six Republicans if the case against Hutchison is to be reconsidered.

Already, some 463 indictments handed up by the panel — including those of Hutchison — are in danger of being dismissed. Earlier this month it was discovered that grand juror Melvin Wrenn had been charged with writing hot checks in 1990-91. Texas law forbids convicted felons or anyone accused of theft or a felony of serving on a grand jury.

A recent Texas Poll shows that Hutchison's approval rating has decreased from 59 percent favorable three months ago to 34 percent favorable.

Hutchison, 50, served as state treasurer for more than two years before her election to the Senate in June.

Texas has world's largest garden

Rebecca Boyd, Travel Director for the Texas Department of Transportation, presented a program on wildflowers during a meeting Friday morning of the Iowa Park Garden Club. The meeting was held at the Recreational Activities Center.

Boyd said "Since the Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has planted native flowers for over half of a century, along one-million acres of highway right-of-ways, this makes them the world's largest gardens."

She stated that there are 5,000 species of wildflowers native to Texas, and after 60 years of planting and caring for over one-million acres of highway right-of-ways, the Department of Transportation has discovered that you can't fool Mother Nature.

"It is best to plant native plants along roadsides because not only do they conserve water, but they also help stop erosion of the soil and require less care," she said.

After her talk, Boyd showed a video on "Wildflowers of Texas" and gave each member a wildflower pamphlet.

Norma Fortner, president, conducted the business session, and Nell Copening gave the thought for the day entitled "Simple Things." Pam James displayed pink and yellow Lantana for the horticulture specimen.

Stormy Mikkelson, community service chairman, made arrangements for members to meet for a work session to clean and rearrange plants in the flower bed at the RAC.

Mikkelson and Copening were hostesses for the meeting. They dressed in costumes and served from a table decorated in a Halloween theme.

Mrs. Joe Beason

Karen (Mrs. Joe) Beason has lived on Haws Road, southeast of Iowa Park, for 15 years. For those who haven't met her, it's highly likely that you have seen a product of her work.

For seven years, she has been the owner/operator of a monogramming shop, Monograms by Karen. She does a lot of work for the sporting goods stores in Wichita Falls, and locally, she monogrammed the travel shirts worn by the Hawk varsity football team and, last spring, did the caps for the Hawk Relays.

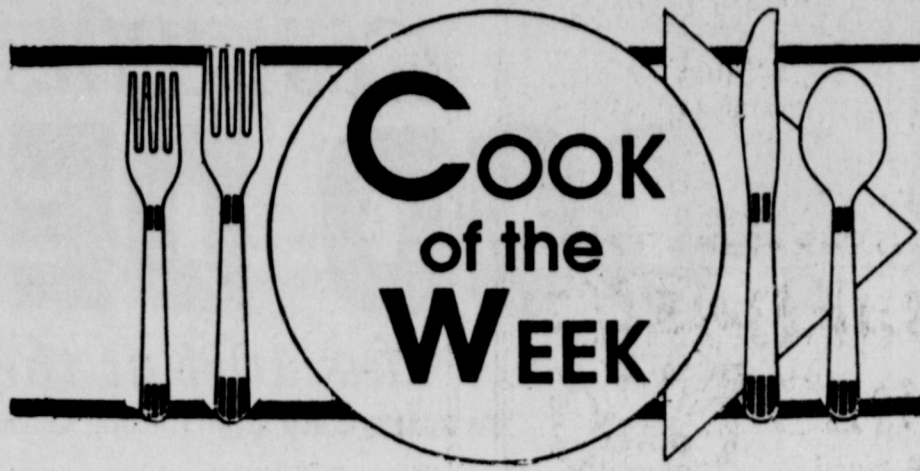

Karen was born and grew up in Wichita Falls. She is a graduate of Wichita Falls High School and attended Midwestern State Univ. Her husband Joe is also a native of Wichita Falls and is employed by Empire Paper Co.

They have three children. Amber is 14 and a freshman at Iowa Park High School; Jodi, 11, is a student and member of the student council at the junior high, and Toby is their four-year-old son.

The girls are involved in basketball, track and softball, and Joe is the coach for Jodi's basketball team.

Karen's work and family activities fill most of her time, but she does like to get away to the family's retreat at Possum Kingdom Lake.

Karen said her favorite way to cook is on the grill, and they cook out often, even during the cooler months. She likes to wrap vegetables such as potatoes, onions and corn on the cob together, with lots of butter, in foil and place them on the grill. She said by the time the meat has finished cooking, the vegetables are done.

Among her recipes is one for "Corn Casserole," which she says is good to take to Thanksgiving dinners.

The pie recipe came from her mother, who Karen says is a great cook. When asked if her mother taught her to cook, Karen laughed and said, "Yes - on the telephone after I got married."

DOG TO HURCH

Corless, Hilbers wed Oct. 16 in Scotland

Miss Jodi Lynn Corless and Dennis Lee Hilbers were united in marriage Oct. 16 at St. Boniface Catholic Church in Scotland. Father Chris Davis conducted the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Phillip and Judy Corless of Iowa Park and the groom is the son of Albert and Kathie Hilbers of Scotland.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Miss Corless wore an exquisite formal gown of satin and tulle. The fitted satin bodice was accented with beaded pearls and sequins and featured a sweetheart neckline and candy box bow at the back of the waist. The short puffed sleeves were satin and delicately beaded in pearls. The tulle skirt was beaded in pearls and swept into a cathedral-length train.

Her fingertip tulle veil was gathered at the top with ruffled tulle edged in satin, and she carried a cascading bouquet of flowers in shades of rose with lace and pearl accents to complete her bridal attire.

In keeping with bridal traditions, Miss Corless wore her mother's pearl and diamond earrings for "something old" and "something borrowed," her wedding dress for "something new," and the "something blue" garter.

Susan Purdie of Fort Worth and Dawn Malloy of Longview served the bride as maid and matron of honor, respectively. Bridesmaids were Stacy Vickers and Nancy Gould, both of Wichita Falls.

The bridal attendants wore identical black floral print tea-length dresses with short puffed sleeves, and carried sprays of roses.

Donnie Hilbers of Scotland, brother of the groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were Lance Boren of Wichita Falls, Mark Hilbers, cousin of the groom, of Wichita Falls, and Will Stallcup, cousin of the groom, of Scotland.

Brian Baugh of Iowa Park, brother-in-law of the bride, and Grady Schenk Jr. of Scotland, cousin of the groom, were ushers.

Members of the male wedding party were attired in black tuxedos with black bow ties and cummerbunds.

Following the ceremony, the couple and their parents were hosts of a dinner, reception and dance at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Scotland.

Guests ate a catered barbecue meal at tables covered with white cloths, caught up in swags with black and rose bows and streamers.

The bride's table featured a four-tiered cake, iced in white and decorated with scalloped edging and floral accents. A delicate blown-glass heart on a dias intertwined with lace and pearls topped the cake.

The groom's table held a chocolate cake sprinkled with almond slivers and encircled by chocolate-dipped strawberries.

Special guests were Hamilton and LaRue Tanner of Beaver, Pa., and Ethel Corless of Iowa Park, grandparents of the bride, and Frances Hilbers of Scotland, grandmother of the groom.

Betsy Hendrickson, Tyler and Emily of Beaver, Pa., aunt and cousins of the bride, were out of town guests.

The bride is a graduate of Iowa Park High School and Midwestern State Univ. She is employed by Wichita County as an adult probation officer. The bridegroom is a graduate of Archer City High School and is self-employed at Hilbers and Sons Dairy in Scotland.

When the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Lake Murray Resort and Oklahoma City, the bride wore a long skirt and vest in a southwestern design.

The couple are now living in Scotland.

Mrs. Dennis Lee Hilbers (Jodi Lynn Corless)

TAX TIPS

by Lori M. Shierry, CPA

IS RETIREMENT JUST AROUND THE CORNER? If so, you should start planning now. If you have been fortunate enough to participate in a retirement plan provided by your employer, you will most likely be faced with some very important decision when that illusive retirement day finally comes. One example will be to decide whether to take a lump-sum distribution of your entire interest from your retirement plan. In making this decision you will need to determine if you qualify for special tax treatment options (i.e., 5 or 10 year averaging) or do you intend to rollover your lump-sum distribution tax free to an IRA or another qualified plan.

CAUTION! Should you decide to take a lump-sum distribution and roll that distribution over to an IRA or another qualified plan then consider making a direct transfer to avoid having 20% withheld for the IRS and the possibility of limiting your taxfree rollover options. Careful planning in this area is essential before any distributions are received.

Hawks drop second district game

Breckenridge's offense controlled possession of the ball while the Buckaroo defense stymied the Hawks during the second half Friday night, and the end result was a 32-19 win over Iowa Park.

The Hawks had held a 17-7 lead when the two teams went to the dressing rooms at halftime, and trailed by only a single point after two plays of the fourth and final period.

Iowa Park lit up the scoreboard first, when Brent Brown dashed around left end 25 yards to climax a 73-yard drive that was set up when Brown intercepted a Buckaroo pass. Don Ellis split the uprights with the extra point, giving Iowa Park a 7-0 lead with 2:43 remaining in the first quarter.

Breckenridge evened the score midway in the second, on a seven-yard play to end a 55-yard drive.

On the first play following the next kickoff, Jason Young's pass was intercepted. But the play was nullified and the Bucks penalized for roughing the passer. Two plays later, Tony Lozipone raced around his right end and scored from the Bucks' 51. On his longest run of the season, Lozipone faked a lateral and shook off a tackler, en route to the end zone. Ellis again kicked the extra point, making the score 14-7 with 2:55 remaining in the half.

On the following kickoff, Ellis lofted a floating kick that Scott Byrd caught over his shoulder, similar to a pass reception, at the Breckenridge 41 yard line. On that series of plays, which reached the four yard line, Ellis had his longest run of the game, 18 yards. With time running out -- 11 seconds showed on the clock -- Ellis booted his seventh field goal, 26 yards, of the season to make the score 17-7.

Except for two pass plays and a pass interception by Jimmy Fallon, there was little for Iowa Park fans to cheer about during the second half, however.

Breckenridge narrowed the score to 17-14 on its first possession of the third period, capping a 55-yard drive.

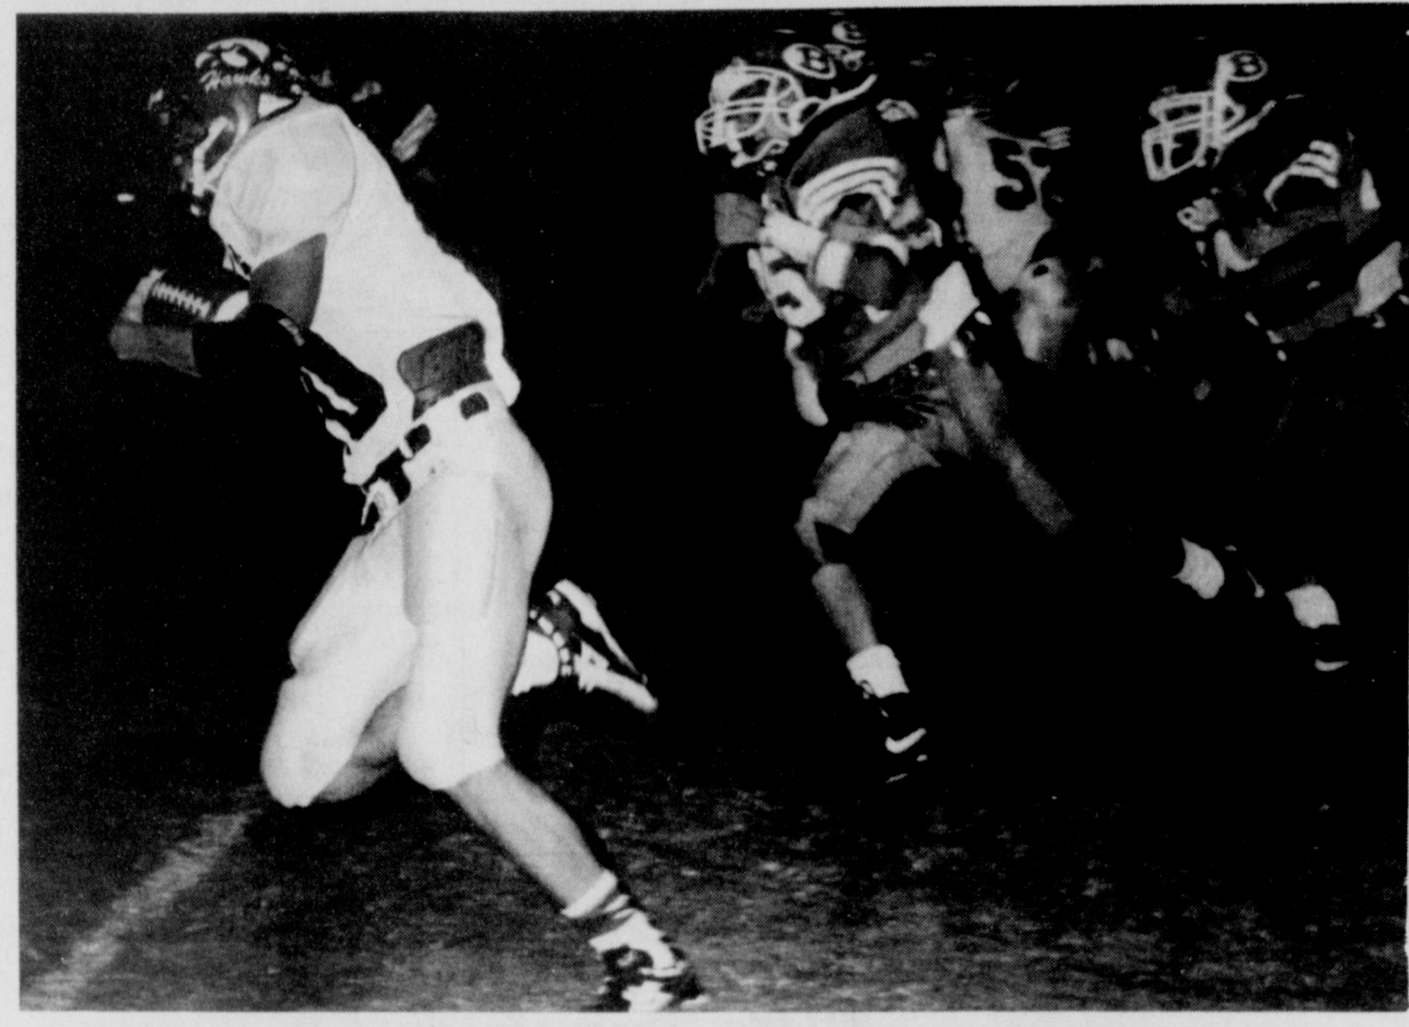

The Bucks' next touchdown again was on a drive that began on their 45, on the next possession. That touchdown was scored on the second play of the final period, and Breckenridge led 20-17.

But on the extra point kick attempt, the ball was snapped over the holder's head. A Buck picked up the ball and attempted to pass into the end zone, but Fallon stepped in front of the receiver, and raced 94 yards, behind good blocking, for the two additional Iowa Park points.

Iowa Park drove to the Breckenridge nine yard line, thanks to a 43-yard pass and run play by Jayson Houston. But after two plays resulted in the loss of four yards, Ellis attempted to put the Hawks ahead with a 31-yard field goal. But the ball sailed to the right of the goal posts.

From that point on, Breckenridge controlled the ball. The Bucks scored their next touchdown with 1:46 left on the clock. And then, after the Hawks stalled on their own 20 unable to pick up a first down, Breckenridge scored the final TD on the next play, with 32 seconds remaining.

A 45-yard screen pass to Byrd after the following kickoff took the ball to the Bucks' 16, but time ran out after two incomplete passes.

So dominating was Breckenridge on defense in the second half, Iowa Park got off only 20 offensive plays, nine rushing and 11 passing. Those two pass completions, to Byrd and Houston, accounted for 88 of Iowa Park's total 104 yards gained in that 24-minute period.

Meanwhile, the Buckaroos ran 34 offensive plays. Houston's 65 yards on three catches led the Hawks offensively. Lozipone had a net 59 yards on six carries, but 51 of those was on his touchdown.

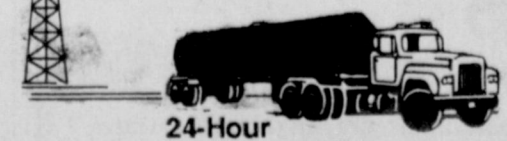

The Bucks' Adam Bowen was the major thorn in the Hawk defense's side. Besides scoring all five touchdowns for the host club, the senior running back picked up 249 yards in the game.

CANCELLATION

Due to a conflict in scheduling with the American Red Cross, the standard first aid was cancelled. We will re-schedule the course as soon as possible. We apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused.

THANK YOU

We would like to thank the Garden Club, especially Stormie Mikkelsen and her family for their beautification efforts at the RAC.

This has made a very noticeable improvement in the appearance of our entry and we are very appreciative of their work.

The club has agreed to move shrubbery from the Garden Club plot to around the porch and entry.

HAPPY HALLOWEEN

We have hosted several Halloween parties for students of all ages at the RAC this week. Our final party will be for the Mother's Day Out children Friday morning.

Children are asked to bring a simple costume to put on at party time. We will be offering special treats, playing some fun games, and decorating trick or treat bags.

If your child will be attending and was not here last week, please call the RAC office, 592-4471, so we can plan for the correct number of children.

DONATIONS

We would like to express a special thanks to Cryovac for the new chairs in our hallway and office. Seven chairs were donated to our facility last week and have been very much appreciated by waiting parents and visitors. Thanks so much!

PAY PHONE NUMBER

Persons having private parties or reunions at the RAC should make a note of the pay phone number in the hallway.

Often times on weekends, messages are left on the office phone for family members and of course are not received by the proper person.

If you are at the RAC on weekends or after hours and will need to be contacted, the correct number to give out is 592-9106.

REMINDER

The monthly Board of Directors meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 1 at 6:30 p.m. in Room 3 at the RAC. Board members who cannot attend, please notify the office prior to meeting time.

BRIDGE

Two tables were in play Monday. Frank Mayfield garnered the greatest number of points for a score of 3730. Bea Mayfield placed second with a score of 3570.

Heart Disease program topic

Michael G. Dehan, a registered nurse and clinical manager of the cardiac care unit at Wichita General Hospital, was the speaker for the Evening Lions program Tuesday. His subject was "Hypertension and Heart Disease." He was introduced by Harvey Troutman who later conducted the business meeting.

Dehan said that high blood pressure is one of the leading risk factors for heart attacks and strokes, the reason being that heart and blood vessels together form the cardiovascular system and a defect in either one is bound to affect the other.

He said that, yearly, over 1.5 million Americans suffer heart attacks - a sudden blocking of the arteries that provide oxygen-rich blood to the heart. He also said that approximately one-third of the attacks are fatal, and he stressed the importance of recognizing the symptoms of a heart attack and getting to the hospital to get medical help as quickly as possible.

The symptoms mentioned were: pain in the jaw, neck, or arms, lasting at least two minutes, and does not improve with rest; squeezing sensation or pressure in the chest lasting for at least two minutes; paleness, shortness of breath; dizziness, fainting, numbness; sweating and nausea.

He said that high blood pressure is almost always controllable, and he advised checking blood pressure regularly, following the doctor's advice regarding diet, exercise, medication, and risk factor reduction to keep it under control for better health.

In closing, Dehan said that heart attacks are always serious, but fortunately now, with the new medication and equipment, most people who get to the hospital on time do recover and lead full, productive, and often healthier lives.

Helpful Hints

The running or roaming at large of any dog, cat or other animal within the city has been declared a nuisance and positively prohibited, and it has been made unlawful and deemed a Class C misdemeanor for the owner or keeper of any dog, cat or other animal to allow the same to run or roam at large within the city.

Second graders "Digging for Dinosaurs"

KIDWELL

Teacher of the Week

Ann Norris has been selected as Kidwell Elementary's Teacher of the Week.

A native of Abilene, Mrs. Norris received her degree from North Texas State Univ.

She has taught a total of 20 years, eight of those at Kidwell.

She and her husband, Jerry, have two sons, Matt, an 18-year-old Midwestern State Univ. freshman, and Keith, 16 years old.

In her spare time, Mrs. Norris enjoys painting, crocheting and cooking.

Digging For Dinosaurs

Second grade students of Mrs. Bauer, Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Padgett walked to the Iowa Park RAC last Wednesday for an eventful "Dinosaur Dig."

The junior paleontologists dug in the sand pit to locate "fossils" and "dinosaur remains."

After making their discoveries, the students had a snack of "dinoburgers."

After returning to school, the classes watched a play presented by Mrs. Robertson's HAWK class entitled "The Dinosaur's Dinner."

Mrs. Bauer said the kids had a "dino-mite day."

BRADFORD

Third grade to present Bradford PTA program

The November meeting of Bradford PTA will be Tuesday, Nov. 2 at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The program, "Sounds A Little Fishy To Me" will be presented by the combined third grade classes. Mrs. Karen Lamberth, music teacher will direct the presentation.

Theme of this year's play is Ocean Life. The children will be dressed in costumes to represent either a day on the beach, or a type of sea creature.

The sucker sales at school are going great. Two picnic tables have been ordered, using proceeds from the sales. The tables should be in around Thanksgiving.

Teresa Fulfer, Pat Pelz and Donna Williams will be Bradford PTA representatives at the annual State PTA Convention in November.

T-shirts are still available at Bradford store or from Mr. Bean, third grade teacher.

Students design crests

At the beginning of the year, students in each homeroom designed a crest for their room.

The crest is formed with four parts. All of the students worked on the designs, and the entire class decided on which four parts to use.

On days when individual homerooms have perfect attendance, they hang the crest outside their door.

Class has tea party

Mrs. Cribb's fifth grade class had a tea party in keeping with the British theme of a story in their reading class entitled, "Pippi Long Stocking."

The girls brought their tea sets to school and the class enjoyed hot tea and muffins. Bradford principal Pat Cravens attended the party as a special guest.

Crazy hat contest

Bradford students participated in a Crazy Hat Contest Wednesday as part of their Red Ribbon Week celebration.

Winners were chosen in each homeroom, and the boy and girl in each grade who had the weirdest hat received a prize.

Letter exchange

In an effort to improve their writing skills, students in the fourth and fifth grades have begun a pen pal program.

Students in each grade write letters and then they are exchanged between the two grades.

Proposed constitutional amendments analyzed

Texas voters who have not cast their early ballots on the 16 proposed amendments to the state's constitution have until Friday to do so. The regular day for the election is Tuesday, Nov. 2.

The following is an analysis of the amendments, provided by the Texas Research League.

Proposition 1

Authorizing the issuance of $50 million in G.O. (general obligation) bonds for state financing of the start-up costs of historically underutilized businesses.

Article III, section 50 of the Texas Constitution states that "the Legislature shall have no power to give or to lend credit of the State . . . to any person, association, or corporation." A number of amendments have been approved over the years granting exemptions for various purposes.

Proposition 1 would allow the legislature to issue $50 million in G.O. bonds in order to establish a Texas Historically Underutilized Business Capital Growth and Start-Up Fund. The implementing legislation passed the Senate but failed in the House during the 1993 regular session. A historically underutilized business (HUB) is defined as being either a minority-owned or a female-owned business. The most recent figures from the U.S. Department of Commerce show that Texas has roughly 65,000 HUBs employing over 200,000 people. Upon creation of the HUB Start-Up Fund, the legislature would allow the money in the fund to be used without further appropriation.

Proposition 2

Authorizing the exemption from ad valorem taxation of real and personal property used in pollution control.

Proposition 2 would allow the legislature to exempt from ad valorem all or part of property used to control pollution. This exemption would apply to property that would be subject to taxation on or after January 1, 1994. Specifically, the intent of the amendment is to act as an incentive for Texas businesses to comply with government regulations that mandate the control of air, water, and land pollution.

Similar tax code incentives are offered in 33 other states. The tax abatement agreements already in place between many businesses and local taxing districts would not be affected. Essentially, this means that an exemption will not be granted for property already receiving a tax break under an abatement agreement.

If the amendment passes, it is likely to have its most profound effect in the most heavily industrialized areas of the state -- namely Houston/Beaumont, Dallas/Fort Worth, Corpus Christi, and El Paso. Estimates of the exemption's impact vary. Some argue that the total value of property exempted would be but a small fraction of the tax base, while others claim that approximately $2.8 billion in property value would be exempted from the tax rolls.

The implementing legislation requires that submission of an application for exemption to the newly created Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission (TNRCC). The application would be submitted to the TNRCC executive director and would contain the following information about pollution control: the anticipated environmental benefits, the estimated cost, and the purpose. The TNRCC executive director would then make a ruling on the status of the property and would notify the chief appraiser of the county in which the property is located. TNRCC may charge a fee in order to cover the administrative costs of processing the application.

Proposition 3

Providing for the clearing of land titles for the owners of certain property in Fort Bend and Austin counties.

Voters may feel the need to get out their old history textbooks to vote on Proposition 3, and with good reason. The amendment would serve to relinquish the state's claim to 144 acres of land held in Fort Bend and Austin counties dating back some 160 years. The state currently holds a one-third interest in the lands and minerals of what was originally the Shelby, Frazier, and McCormick League (an old Texas unit equal to 4,428.4 acres). The tract is overseen by the General Land Office and is part of the Permanent School Fund. The land and minerals at stake in this dispute are owned by 146 families who have paid taxes on, and made improvements to, the entirety of the land. The state leased its interest in a 600-acre tract of the league in 1992 to a Houston-based oil firm. In the past, similar land title disputes have been settled with a constitutional amendment.

Proposition 4

Prohibiting a personal income tax without voter approval and dedicating the revenue to education and to the reduction of local school property taxes.

Amendment 4 stands out as the one likely to garner the most attention. For some time, conventional wisdom has been that, before the voters will find any sort of a personal income tax palatable, three conditions must be met. First, there must be some limitation on the legislature's ability to increase the rate of the income tax once it is imposed. Second, some of the revenue must go towards reducing property taxes. Third and finally, the remaining revenue must be dedicated to a popular end, such as education. This amendment, at least on the surface, seems to satisfy all three criteria.

The nuts and bolts of the amendment are as follows: the initial implementation of a state personal income tax, as well as any future rate increases, must be approved in a statewide referendum; at least two-thirds of the revenue will go towards the reduction of property taxes; and, the remaining revenue will be dedicated to education. Voters should realize that the dedication of additional revenue to education could free up money for the legislature to spend on other programs.

In recent years serious consideration of a state income tax has developed as lawmakers and citizens alike have felt the effects of revenue shortfalls and increasing tax burdens. Public opinion polls continue to show the unpopularity of levying such a tax. However, the legislature seems to have found a way, in the form of Proposition 4, to get this issue out on the table, while at the same time limiting the potential political fallout that could occur were an income tax simply imposed otherwise.

Proposition 5

Allowing the legislature to prescribe the qualifications of sheriffs.

The Texas Constitution authorizes the legislature, in Article V, section 23, to prescribe "the duties and perquisites and fees of office," for county sheriffs. Proposition 5 would expand the role of the legislature, allowing that body to prescribe county sheriffs' qualifications.

A sheriff is elected to a four-year term in each of Texas' 254 counties. Currently, no minimum age, education, or training requirements exist for the post. Deputy sheriffs, on the other hand, are required to be licensed by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education (TCLEOSE). Implementing legislation would require county sheriffs to be licensed by TCLEOSE, but this requirement would not apply to those in office before January 1, 1994.

Propositions 6 and 8

Abolishing the office of county surveyor in Jackson and McLennan counties.

The detailed and sometimes archaic nature of the Texas Constitution is once again in evidence for the voters, courtesy of Propositions 6 and 8. Both seek to abolish the constitutionally established office of county surveyor -- Proposition 6 applies to Jackson County and proposition 8 to McLennan County. The county surveyor examines, certifies, and records all survey field notes made in the county for the purpose of obtaining a patent.

The office already has been abolished in 13 Texas counties. The Secretary of State reports that 90 of the state's 254 counties have an elected county surveyor. The surveyor for Jackson County retired in 1988 and has not been replaced; similarly, McLennan County has been without a surveyor for the past four years.

Proposition 6 would, upon approval, abolish the office of Jackson County surveyor outright. No. 8 would require local voter ratification in an election called by the McLennan County commissioners court.

Proposition 7

Repealing certain restrictions on the ability of corporations to raise capital.

Article 12, section 6 of the Texas Constitution states that "no corporation shall issue stock or bonds except for money paid, labor done, or property actually received, and all fictitious increase in stock shall be void." The men who framed Texas' constitution in 1875 were extremely sensitive to the practice of "stock watering." Several years earlier, in 1868, the Credit Mobilier construction company issued $3,500 in stock for every $1,000 invested in the company. The resulting scandal and ensuing Panic of 1873 left a strong impression on the men who gathered to write the Texas Constitution.

Currently, the constitution prohibits stock from being offered as an employment consideration or hiring incentive. Approval of this proposition would make this practice constitutional. In addition, some would argue that the constitutional prohibition on "stock watering" is no longer necessary. Statutory provisions on the practice are presently contained in the Texas Business Corporation Act, the Insurance Code, and the Banking Code.

Proposition 9

Modifying the provision for the redemption of real property sold at a tax sale.

Proposition 9 looks to limit the "right of redemption" for property sold at a tax sale. Currently, Texas is one of only three states that guarantees the right of redemption for property lost at a tax sale. Former owners have up to two years to redeem their lost property, with certain penalties. The implementing legislation that accompanies this amendment would limit the two-year right of redemption to former owners of a residence homestead or land designated for agricultural use. Other types of property would have to be redeemed within six months, and would require payment of the purchase price and costs, plus 25% of the total.

Proposition 10

Authorizing the issuance of $750 million in G.O. bonds to augment the Veterans' Land Fund and the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund.

The state of Texas has a history stretching back some 47 years to helping veterans obtain land and housing. The Veterans' Land Board and Veterans' Land Fund were created just after WWII to purchase land for resale to returning veterans. The state funded these purchases by borrowing money through the issuance of G.O. bonds. In addition to the land program, a Veterans' Housing Assistance Program was established in 1983 to provide veterans with low-interest housing loans. The current bond authorization for the land program is $1.25 billion, while the housing program is authorized $1 billion. Since the inception of these programs, over 125,000 loans have been made to veterans. Approximately 1.8 million veterans now call Texas home.

Proposition 11

Requiring trustees of a local public pension system to administer it for the benefit of participants and beneficiaries.

The legislature is authorized by the constitution to enact general laws establishing public pension systems. The Employees Retirement System, the Teachers Retirement System, and the Judicial Retirement System cover state employees. At the local level, the legislature has created two statewide systems: the Texas Municipal Retirement System and the Texas County and District Retirement System. Approximately 250 local public pension systems around the state are not members of either statewide system.

Proposition 11 is, in essence, about who controls the assets of local public pension systems. Local government entities currently have a say in how the unaffiliated public pension systems are administered and funded. This amendment would place fiduciary responsibility for a system's assets firmly in the hands of the board of trustees.

Proposition 12

Permitting the denial of bail to persons charged with certain violent or sexual offenses committed while under the supervision of a state or local criminal justice agency.

This amendment of Article I, section 11a of the Texas Constitution would allow judges to deny bail to violent and/or sexual offenders who committed their crimes while on probation or parole.

The terms "violent offense" and "sexual offense" include murder, aggravated assault (use of a deadly weapon), aggravated kidnapping, aggravated robbery, aggravated sexual assault, sexual assault, and indecency with a child. Currently, bail can be denied to a person accused of a non-capital felony if certain conditions are met. For example, bail can be denied if the accused already has two successive felony convictions. In order to deny bail, evidence which substantially shows the guilt of the accused must be presented at a hearing.

Proposition 13

Relating to the amount and expenditure of certain constitutionally dedicated funding for public institutions of higher education.

This amendment would place the four campuses of the Texas State Technical College system (TSTC) on the constitution's list of institutions that receive money from the Higher Education Assistance Fund (HEAF). The HEAF was created in 1984 to serve as a source of funding for those public universities in Texas outside the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems. Much like the Permanent University Fund, the HEAF is designed to provide for the capital needs of all other state universities. The annual appropriation of the HEAF is $100 million, and will be raised to $175 million beginning in FY 1996. Currently, there are 26 institutions eligible to receive money from the HEAF.

The idea for a state technical college system began in 1965 with the creation of the James Connally Technical Institute in Waco. TSTC became independent in 1969, offering technical and vocational education to Texas students. At present there are four TSTC campuses located in Amarillo, Harlingen, Sweetwater, and Waco. Also, four extension centers are located in Abilene, Brownwood, Marshall, and McAllen, but these centers would not be eligible to receive HEAF funds. The allocation to TSTC would be capped at 2.2% of the annual appropriation for the HEAF. TSTC is currently the only higher education institution in the state (excluding junior colleges) without a dedicated fund for capital expendi-

Proposition 14

Authorizing the issuance of up to $1 billion in G.O. bonds for projects relating to facilities of corrections and mental health and mental retardation (MHMR) institutions.

Proposition 14 is the largest bond authorization on the ballot. Once again, Texas voters are called upon to approve the issuance of G.O. bonds to fund MHMR and correctional facilities.

Since 1987, Texans have approved $2 billion in G.O. bonds for this purpose. The result is a current state prison capacity of about 60,000 beds, with that number growing to over 116,000 beds when all authorized construction is complete at the end of FY 1996.

Proposition 14 resembles similar amendments seen by voters in the last six years, but there is a slight twist. The legislature appropriated, contingent upon approval of this amendment, $319.5 million of the $1 billion. Of this total, $258.8 million goes for the construction of new state jail facilities, $39.2 million for corrections facilities, and $21.5 million for youth corrections facilities.

The new corrections strategy involves the creation of state jails. The concept behind these new facilities is relatively simple: state jails are designed to house non-violent offenders in a setting cheaper than prison, thereby freeing up prison space for violent offenders and alleviating the county-jail backlog of state prisoners. Some 22,000 state jail beds are scheduled for completion by 1995, with the total cost estimated at $428 million. Approximately $169.2 million will be financed from the $1.1 billion bond authorization approved by the voters in 1991.

Proposition 16

Increasing from $25 million to $100 million the amount of G.O. bonds that may be issued for the Texas Agricultural Fund to provide financial assistance to agricultural businesses.

Much like Proposition 1, No. 16 is a result of the numerous amendments over the years allowing the legislature to create programs and loan public money for various purposes, such as economic development. The Texas Agricultural Finance Authority (TAFE), whose funding is currently limited to $25 million in G.O. bonds, is charged with making or guaranteeing certain types of loans to agricultural businesses. The TAFE loans are targeted to provide financing for the purchase of land, the construction of buildings, the installation of machinery, and the performance of research and development. About 8% of the agricultural goods grown in Texas are processed within the state; this fund is designed to move Texas closer to the 20% national average. In addition, about 20% of all Texas jobs are in agriculture.

This last proposition on the ballot calls for an additional $75 million in G.O. bonds for TAFE, thus raising its funding limit to $100 million. Currently, TAFE has less than $3 million available, and over $300 million in loan requests. The $22 million in loan guarantees made by TAFE have gone to 32 projects around the state in such diverse areas as meat processing, aquaculture, and the raising of ostrich, llama, and elk.

DISTRICT 4-AAA CROSS COUNTRY CHAMPION LADY HAWKS

Lady Hawks are champions

The Lady Hawks earned the Dist. 4-AAA cross country championship in the conference meet held Monday at Breckenridge.

Iowa Park was the easy winner, with only 46 points (the lower the points the better the finish), while Breckenridge followed with 72, Bowie 76, Henrietta 79, Vernon 98 and Graham 136.

Leading the Lady Hawks was Christi Welch, who placed third. This is her third consecutive year to qualify for the regional meet, which will be held Nov. 6 at Lubbock.

Her sister Dusti finished right behind her, and the two were declared "medalists," which indicates they were among the top five individual finishers.

Brandi Catlin was 11th, Randi Tigrett 12th, Alora Foster 16th, Lori Spruiell 22nd, and Briana Stalker 28th.

Those seven, plus Amanda Thompson, who finished first in the junior varsity division, all qualified to compete in the regional.

Tim Estrada was the earliest finisher among the Hawk competitors. He placed eighth, while David Waterbury was 21st and Shawn Phillips 28th.

Junior Varsity blasts Buckaroos

The Hawk Junior Varsity blasted Breckenridge here Thursday night by a 33-8 margin.

Iowa Park held a 25-0 lead before the Buckaroos got on the board in the third period, and tacked on the additional eight points in the fourth.

The JV travels tonight to Graham.

SPORTS

Shorts

When Vernon defeated Graham 24-8 last week, it became the first time in recent memory that every team in the district had lost a conference game. Going into the next-to-last week, four teams, Vernon, Graham, Breckenridge and Bowie, are tied for the lead with 2-1 records.

ss ss ss ss ss

Predictions offered by Pigskin Prep on Friday's Dist. 4-AAA games are: Vernon by 29 at Bowie; Breckenridge to host Henrietta as a 43-point favorite, and Graham by 15 here.

ss ss ss ss ss

Basketball season gets underway in two weeks for the Hawks and Lady Hawks, and regular practice sessions began this week, as permitted by the UIL. The Lady Hawks are to scrimmage Electra Nov. 9 and Childress Nov. 13, with first regular season game Nov. 16 at Wichita Falls High. The Hawks will scrimmage Hirschi Nov. 13, and open season schedule Nov. 16 against Burkburnett.

Netters win dual meet

For the first time in several years, Iowa Park High's tennis team defeated Burkburnett in a dual match.

Playing Tuesday, the score was actually tied at 9-9, but Coach Dick Wineinger explained the win was declared because Iowa Park won the most sets, 19-18.

Posting wins in girls' singles were Dani Goin, Lisa Green, Dixie Day, Aimee Trantham and Jennifer Spruiell.

Goin is seeded number one on the team, Green third, Day fourth, Trantham fifth and Spruiell sixth.

Lisa Green and Dixie Day won their doubles match, as did D'Lane Dowdy and Dani Goin. Those two teams are seeded first and second, respectively.

David Warren, top seed Hawk singles player, won his match, and then joined with Charles Bradberry to win the top seed boys' doubles.

Junior Hawks sweep Bucks

Both Iowa Park Junior High football teams defeated Breckenridge last week. The games were played Thursday, after bad weather conditions Tuesday forced postponement.

The Eighth grade trailed 12-8 in the first quarter, and 18-14 going into the final period, but came roaring back to post a 20-18 victory on the scoreboard.

It was all Iowa Park in the Seventh Grade game, which led 8-6 at the end of the first quarter and 16-6 at the half to eventually record a 28-12 decision.
