Christmas light ceremony set Dec. 2

The traditional ceremony to turn on the city's Christmas lights will be held Thursday, Dec. 2, according to Ruth Welch, coordinator.

The switch to turn on the lights will be activated at 7 p.m., from the steps of the Tom Burnett Memorial Library.

The library's open house will be from 6 to 8 that evening:

A prelude to the turning on of the lights will be a brief performance of students at Steps Dancing and Tumbling.

And immediately after the lights are switched on, Santa Claus is to make his entrance. He is planning on allowing enough time to visit with each of the children in the audience.

Iowa Park residents over the past few years have voluntarily included a small donation on their city utility bills, which is used to purchase and maintain the community's Christmas light project.

This year's new decorations were purchased especially for the gas light poles on West Park, Mrs. Welch said.

Decorations which had been on the West Park electric polls will be used in areas previously undecorated.

Monies from the donations also are used to purchase bulb and bracket replacements.

Couple arrested on sex charge

An Iowa Park couple was arrested by local police Thursday on a warrant issued in Wichita Falls, on a charge of "sexual performance by a child."

They were released Monday after posting $10,000 bond each.

Iowa Park police were notified by Child Protective Services last month, that their office had obtained what they determined to be pornographic photos of adults and children.

The agency determined there was a need to remove the children from the home, which is in the northeastern part of the city, and at the same time, obtained a search warrant.

A team of Wichita Falls Police tactical squad, with the cooperation of Iowa Park police, executed the search warrant Oct. 10. Other items reportedly were obtained during the search.

Child Protective Services was successful in having a warrant for the couple's arrest on the charge. Iowa Park, according to Chief Ray Smock, was notified of the warrant Nov. 17.

The couple was observed by an officer driving their car near the intersection of Seneca and Pasadena, at 3:34 p.m. Friday, at which time they were taken into custody.

The couple -- the husband is 41 and the wife 23 -- was booked in at the local police station and later transported to the county jail by sheriff's deputies.

Their names are not being publicized, in order to protect the children, who include a small baby and a three-year-old daughter.

In unrelated cases, four other arrests were made by Iowa Park officers during the past week, according to the police blotter.

A resident told police Friday that someone had stolen a tool box and tools valued at more than $200 from his pickup.

Slightly longer than an hour later, because one of the officers remembered the item's description, officers made an arrest and recovered the missing box and tools.

Charged with theft over $200 was John Edd Henson, 40, who was also found to have an outstanding warrant for his arrest by the sheriff's office for driving while license was suspended.

Henson was turned over to a deputy to be transported to the county jail.

Early Saturday evening, police were informed that an adult appeared to be intoxicated and allowing an underage person to drive a pickup.

Officers arrested Chet Whitehead, 31, into custody in the 200 block of West Highway. He was charged both for public intoxication and allowing an unauthorized driver to drive.

Whitehead later posted bond on the public intoxication charge and released, police said.

A vehicle with two male occupants was stopped on a traffic check in the 700 block of West Magnolia at 12:24 a.m. Monday.

While running a computer check on the occupants, it was determined one of them, Jamie James Hibler, 23, had an outstanding warrant against him

Hams for Christmas

Several families will be having ham for their Christmas meal, compliments of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce and participating members.

Thirty three local businesses will begin accepting registrations for free hams, and the winners will be named Dec. 14.

This comes right on the heels of numerous members giving away free turkeys for Thanksgiving.

Chamber members felt it was a good way to express their appreciation to the public. No purchases are necessary.

Participating members where the public is invited to register each time they are in the places of business include:

Let's Count Our Blessings Today

for family and friends, bountiful food on the table, love and laughter in our hearts, we are truly thankful. Let's cherish our good fortune in life all the year through, as we express our thoughts of Thanksgiving Day.

Have A
Happy Thanksgiving

SIGN OF THE TIMES -- As part of the city's on-going project to beautify the business district, new and distinctive traffic signs have been built and erected by city workmen on West Park. The new standards, which are being painted black to match the gaslight fixtures, have instructions for both lanes of traffic to follow.

City to purchase two trucks

The city council Monday night made quick work of an unusually short agenda, and then called an even shorter special called meeting for next Monday.

Aldermen quickly approved proposals to advertise for the purchase of two trucks, took action on a "house-keeping" resolution, and approved a suggestion to meet only once in December, instead of twice.

Their called meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in council chambers. At that time they are expected to adopt an ordinance for the issuance of certificates of obligation, to fund construction of a new water tower and some major sewer line improvements.

The bond, which will be purchased by Parker Square Bank, is in the amount of $1 million. Aldermen, at their Nov. 8 meeting, accepted a proposal from the bank to charge 4.98 percent interest on the bond.

The two trucks the council plans to purchase are to replace vehicles used by the water department and fighting grassfires by the fire department.

Aldermen approved a resolution which permits the transfer of $25,000 from the city's short term self insurance account and re-investing it in the long term self insurance account.

During the general discussion period, City Administrator Mike Price informed the council of the following situations:

* a portion of the fence along

Johnson Road has been removed, in advance of construction of Park Place Addition, a new housing addition:

* Engineers are completing plans for the construction of a new water tower, which will be located on property recently purchased along Access Road next to Park Tank Truck Service;

* The contractor is not expected to lay asphalt on Washington Street until next spring, but work to complete driveway replacements continues;

Bandsmen earn honors

Fifteen members of the Hawk Band made outstanding showings Saturday in auditions held at Abilene Wylie High School.

Eight not only earned a place in the All Region Band, but also placed high enough to qualify for the Area auditions Jan. 8 in Bridgeport.

The other seven earned places on the Small School All Region Band.

Those who advance to the tryouts at Bridgeport include: Suzanne Zeigermann, first chair flute; James Kaspar, first chair contra-bass clarinet; Erin hefti, first chair baritone sax; Dianna Orender, first chair tenor sax; Darin Cash, first chair trombone; Charles Bradberry, first chair snare drum; Sylvia Gonzales, second chair tenor sax, and Jennifer Heickman, third chair french horn.

Named to the Small School All-Region Band were: Casey Hunter, fifth chair bass clarinet; Penny Bradberry, fifth chair trumpet; Heather Goodwin, sixth chair french horn; Ashli Thomas, eighth chair trombone; Heather Love-lady, ninth chair french horn; Robin

Lane, 14th chair clarinet, and Jennifer Eiben, 19th chair clarinet.

News Briefs

No classes until next Monday

Students of Iowa Park schools were dismissed Tuesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving holidays.

They, as well as faculty and staff, will not be required to return to their campuses until Monday, Nov. 29.

Their next holidays will be for Christmas, which will begin the afternoon of the 17th, and resume Jan. 3, according to the school calendar.

Leader prints early this week

This week's issue of the Iowa Park Leader was printed one day earlier, because of Thursday being a holiday. Next week, the paper will resume its regular deadlines, of Tuesday for display advertising and noon Wednesday for classifieds.

Letters to Santa Claus sought

The Leader is now accepting Letters to Santa Claus. Letters will be printed through December, and especially in the Dec. 23 Christmas issue.

After the hours spent on preparing a delicious Thanksgiving dinner, most of us just want to make sandwiches out of the leftover turkey.

But for those who still have the desire to create other tasty and interesting dishes from the remains of the turkey, ham, vegetables, etc., the following recipes will provide you with a few new ideas.

Turkey Casserole

- 1 - 10 oz. pkg. frozen green beans
2 cups chopped cooked turkey
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
1 can cream of chicken soup
1/8 tsp. ground nutmeg
1 cup biscuit mix
1 egg, beaten
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
2 Tbsps. milk
1 Tbsp. chopped parsley

Cook green beans according to package directions, omitting seasonings. Drain. Add turkey, cheese, soup, and nutmeg and stir well. Spoon mixture into a greased 1 1/2 qt. casserole.

Place biscuit mix in a medium bowl. Combine egg, butter and milk. Add to biscuit mix, stirring just until blended. Spoon biscuit mixture around edge of casserole, leaving center open. Sprinkle parsley in center of casserole. Bake 25 to 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

Sweet Potato Pie

- 2 1/2 cups cooked, mashed sweet potatoes
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. allspice
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1 Tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
3 eggs
3/4 cup milk
2/3 cup maple-flavored syrup
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
Whipped cream (optional)

Combine first 7 ingredients in a large mixing bowl; stir well and set aside. Beat eggs; gradually add milk, syrup and vanilla, stirring until blended. Gradually stir egg mixture into sweet potato mixture and pour filling into pastry shell.

Bake 10 minutes at 425 degrees; reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake 1 hour and 5 to 10 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Let cool and serve with whipped cream.

Turkey-Carrot Salad

- 1 3/4 cups chopped cooked turkey
2/3 cup chopped celery
1 medium carrot, scraped and grated
3 Tbsps. chopped onion
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1 Tbsp. prepared mustard
1 1/2 tps. sugar

Combine all ingredients in a medium bowl and toss gently. Chill at least 1 hour.

Easy Potato Rolls

- 2/3 cup shortening
2/3 cup sugar
2 1/2 tps. salt
1 cup cooked, mashed potatoes
2 eggs
2 pkgs. dry yeast
1 1/3 cups warm water (105 to 115 degrees) divided
6 to 6 1/2 cups all-purpose flour

Cream shortening and gradually add sugar, beating until fluffy. Add salt, potatoes and eggs; beat until smooth.

Dissolve yeast in 2/3 cup warm water. Add yeast mixture and remaining 2/3 cup warm water to creamed mixture and beat until smooth. Gradually stir in enough flour to make a soft dough. Cover and let rise in a warm place, free from drafts, 1 1/2 hour or until dough is doubled in bulk.

Punch dough down; turn out onto a floured surface. Knead lightly 3 or 4 times. Divide dough into thirds. Shape one portion into 15 balls, and place in a well-greased 9-inch round cakepan.

Repeat procedure with remaining portions. Cover and let rise in a warm place, free from drafts, 1 hour or until doubled in size. Bake at 375 degrees 20 to 25 minutes or until browned.

Creamed Turkey

- 2 Tbsps. butter
4 Tbsps. flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup broth from turkey
1 small jar chopped pimientos, drained
1 tsp. lemon juice
Salt to taste
4 cups cooked, chopped turkey

In a saucepan melt butter and blend in the flour. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thick.

Add the broth, pimiento, lemon juice, salt and turkey and heat thoroughly. When ready to serve, sprinkle with paprika. Serve warm. If too thick, add more milk.

Leftover Turkey Casserole

- 1 - 6 oz. pkg. long grain wild rice
1 can cream of chicken soup
3 cups cooked turkey, cubed
1 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 - 5 oz. can sliced water chestnuts, drained
3 Tbsps. soy sauce
1 cup water
1 1/2 cups buttered soft bread crumbs

Cook rice according to package directions. Stir in soup, then add remaining ingredients except bread crumbs. Pour into a 3-quart casserole or two 1 1/2 -quart casseroles. Top with bread crumbs and bake at 350 degrees 1 hour. This freezes well.

Turkey Supreme

- 4 Tbsps. butter
6 Tbsps. flour
2/3 cup half and half
2 cups chicken or turkey broth
1/2 tsp. salt
2 egg yolks, beaten
Dash of lemon juice
Dash of nutmeg
3 cups cooked turkey, cut in small pieces
1 cup mushrooms, sauteed
1 cup water chestnuts, sliced
1/4 to 1/2 cup sliced almonds

Melt butter in a saucepan; add flour and stir until smooth. Add half and half stirring until well blended. Add broth and salt cooking slowly until thickened. Remove from heat and add egg yolks, lemon juice and nutmeg; blend well.

In a shallow baking dish layer 2 cups of turkey, then mushrooms, then remaining turkey, then water chestnuts and cover all with cream sauce. Sprinkle almonds over the top and bake at 350 degrees until bubbly. This freezes well.

Oriental Turkey

- 1/2 cup fresh mushrooms, halved
1/3 cup diced green pepper
1 green onion, diced
1 small jalapeno pepper, diced
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 Tbsps. orange juice
2 Tbsps. soy sauce
1 tsp. butter or margarine
2 cups chopped cooked turkey
2 cups cooked rice
2 oranges, peeled and sectioned

Combine mushrooms, green pepper, onion, jalapeno pepper, garlic juice, soy sauce and butter in a skillet. Cover and cook over medium heat 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in remaining ingredients; cover and cook 5 minutes or until thoroughly heated, stirring occasionally.

Ham & Pepper Quiche

- 3 - 9 inch deep-dish pie shell, unbaked
2 cups chopped ham, more if desired
6 ozs. Monterey Jack cheese
18 ozs. Cheddar cheese
1 1/2 cups cottage cheese
6 yellow banana peppers, seeded
3 jalapeno peppers, seeded
3 fresh tomatoes
3 green onions
1 green pepper
1 can green chilies
9 eggs
1 1/2 cups milk
1 tsp. salt

Bake pie shells in a 475 degree oven 5 minutes. Let cool. Chop ham, cheese and vegetables in a food processor. Mix all ingredients well and pour into cooled pie shells. Bake at 350 degrees 45 minutes to 1 hour or until set. These freeze well and are delicious.

Turkey-Asparagus Casserole

- 2 1/2 cups chopped cooked turkey
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can cream of celery soup
1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons slivered almonds, toasted
1 - 10 oz. pkg. frozen asparagus, thawed, drained, and cut into 1-inch pieces

1/4 cup chopped pimiento, drained
1 - 2.8 oz. can French-fried onion rings
Combine first 4 ingredients in a bowl and stir well. Spoon half of mixture into a greased 8-inch square baking dish.

Combine asparagus and pimiento and stir gently. Sprinkle over mixture in baking dish. Spoon remaining turkey mixture on top. Cover and bake 35 minutes at 350 degrees. Sprinkle with onion rings and bake, uncovered, an additional 10 minutes.

Sour Cream Turkey Enchiladas

- 1 can cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup sour cream
2 Tbsps. flour
1/4 cup green onions, sliced
2 cups diced cooked turkey
1 cup Mexican style corn, drained
12 (6-inch) corn tortillas or 10 (8-inch) flour tortillas
1 cup (4 oz.) American cheese, cubed
2 Tbsps. milk
1/4 cup sliced Spanish olives
1 Tbsp. chopped fresh cilantro or parsley

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly grease a 9x13 baking dish.

In a medium saucepan, combine 1/2 can soup, sour cream, flour and green onions and blend well. Cook over medium heat until mixture is bubbly, stirring constantly. Stir in turkey and Mexican corn and mix well. Cook over medium heat until thoroughly heated, stirring occasionally.

Warm tortillas as directed on package. Spoon about 1/4 cup filling on each tortilla and roll up. Place in baking dish.

In same saucepan, combine remaining 1/2 can soup, cheese and milk. Cook over medium heat until cheese is melted, stirring frequently. Pour evenly over enchiladas. Cover baking dish tightly with foil and bake ab 350 degrees 30 to 40 minutes or until bubbly. Top with olives and cilantro. Serve with salsa, if desired.

Bread Pudding

- 1 loaf thin-sliced white bread, each slice cut into thirds
1 lb. butter, melted
2 to 3 cups raisins
8 eggs
3 cups sugar
1 qt. half and half cream
2 Tbsps. cinnamon

Dip strips of bread in melted butter and layer in a 9x13 inch pan, alternating with raisins. Combine remaining ingredients and slowly pour over the layers. Bake at 350 degrees about 45 minutes or until brown on top.

Miller, Collinsworth nuptials recited here November 12

John Phillip Corbett Collinsworth and his bride, the former Brenda Kay Miller, are making their home in Iowa Park following their marriage Nov. 12 and a brief honeymoon.

The bride is the daughter of Ronnie and Linda Miller of Iowa Park and parents of the groom are Gary Collinsworth and the late Deborah Flesner of Wichita Falls.

The bride's uncle, Danny Miller of the First Baptist Church of Gunter directed the recitation of vows.

Scene of the wedding was the Tom Burnett Memorial Library ballroom.

A round registry table, draped in white lace over linen was placed at the ballroom entrance. A floral wreath of English ivy and fuchsia flowers surrounded a crystal globe and pink pillar candle. A white plume pen was used to register guests.

An improvised altar featured an English ivy and stephanotis covered archway with the unity candelabra centered underneath.

A pair of seven-light votive candelabra, decorated with English ivy and stephanotis, were placed on either side of the archway. Large floral arrangements of white gladioli, roses, carnations, fuchsia parfait roses and emerald greenery were placed on brass stands at the outer extremities of the altar.

Selected wedding music was provided by Phyllis Carter, pianist.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She was attired in a gown of silk taffeta styled with portrait neckline and long lace sleeves accented with large puffs at the shoulders. The bodice was overlaid in floral designed lace that was traced with pearls.

Her sheer illusion veil with pearl trim was attached to a headpiece that came to a V over the bride's forehead.

The bride's bouquet was a cascading arrangement of traditional wedding flowers in her chosen colors of fuchsia and white.

White tea roses, stephanotis, fuchsia rosebuds and tea roses, fuchsia tiger lilies and baby's breath made up the bouquet. Ribbon bows and streamers of white lace and satin cascaded from the flowers to complete the floral creation.

For "something old", the bride had a penny in her shoe. Her shoes were "something borrowed" and her garter served as "something new and blue".

Carrie Lewis of Iowa Park was the bride's maid of honor. She wore a white city shorts suit and carried a small cascade of fuchsia tiger lilies, white tea roses, stephanotis and baby's breath with fuchsia satin ribbon loops interspersed throughout.

Perry Walls of Wichita Falls was best man and the bride's brother, Jackie Miller served as usher.

The groom, best man, usher and fathers of the bride and groom wore boutonnieres of fuchsia rosebuds, English ivy and baby's breath.

Corsages of the mothers were fashioned of white rosebuds, baby's breath and pearl sprays with white satin ribbon.

The reception was held in the ballroom. White lace over white linen draped the bride's and groom's table. A pink tulle swag was draped across the front of the table with each point holding fuchsia flowers and English ivy.

A contemporary centerpiece with votive candles was placed on an oval mirror. English ivy and fuchsia parfait roses and tiger lilies were used in the candelabra and on the mirror.

A crystal bowl contained mixed nuts. Crystal toasting glasses and pink napkins also decorated the table. A large silver punch bowl on a silver tray rested at one end of the table. The bride and groom's wedding cake graced the opposite extremity.

The three-tiered wedding cake was iced in white and decorated with fuchsia flowets.

A large all-white floral arrangement made of white fuji mums, Casablanca lilies, stock, delphiniums and ivy graced the antique piano in the ballroom.

The bride is a graduate of Iowa Park High School. The groom attended Iowa Park High School and is employed at Autocraft Collision Repair.

Relatives of the couple came from Abilene, Brownwood, Gunter, Sandy Creek and Oklahoma to attend the wedding.

As I See It... ■ By Bob Hamilton

Quite obviously, Thanksgiving is a time for giving thanks, and there's one topic I seldom mention, but one in which I'm most sincere.

Hardly a day goes by that I don't think about how thankful I am that we decided to come to Iowa Park.

This community has been good to the Hamilton family, and to our newspaper.

Oh, that's not to say that the same thing wouldn't have happened wherever we had decided to live and raise our family.

But I'm not sure it would have been the same.

First and foremost, the friendships we've developed here over almost 25 years have made life most enjoyable.

The schools and community couldn't have been better for our five children.

And the readership and advertising support of this newspaper, frankly, is an envy to many of my publisher friends across the state.

I don't know if you realize it or not, but Iowa Park is an outstanding town in which to do business. The reasons are many, and valid.

I'm not aware of any new business to start here that, if it were adequately financed while establishing itself, if it offered goods and services of quality and competitively priced, that did not succeed.

One of the reasons Iowa Park is such a good business community is its economic foundation, which has to do with the mix of people and incomes.

We had always lived in towns that had one primary source of income, and that was agriculture.

I recognized when I made my first visit here that Iowa Park was not a single income community. Residents are of a broad mix, which insulates the economics of the community from major financial swings.

How many other communities can you identify that is made up of people whose livelihood was business, manufacturing, military, government, agriculture, oil, and education -- and all pretty well equal in numbers.

A good example of what this means can be realized when one considers the effect of the oil slump that came about in the 1980s.

Oh, there were those who were hurt, and badly. There was a slowdown in business. But I can show you single source income communities that have virtually dried up and blown away.

Not Iowa Park.

And don't go looking for a boom of any sort, either, caused by an upswing of some business activity. There might be a small surge, realized by a few, but for the overall community, such a situation results in only a small swell in Iowa Park.

I guess my point is, Iowa Park is not a boom-or-bust gambling community. You're just not going to become rich over night here.

But, if you are willing to work, be honest with your customers, and give a well-informed effort, you can do well in Iowa Park. That means earning a living, raising a family, and enjoying good, true friends.

What more could you ask?

Okay. I guess there's one more thing I could ask.

Worth Quoting

Our government officials are coming up with so many new ideas for me to be opposed to here lately that I'm about to develop a complex.

It seems that almost everything they propose is something that is not needed, or something that will not work, or something that shouldn't be allowed to work.

We keep hearing more recommendations on controlling the sale of handguns. All this would do is make it more difficult for law-abiding citizens to buy guns to keep in their homes for the protection of themselves and their families.

Crooks don't care if it's legal to buy guns or not. They didn't get to be crooks by doing only things that were legal.

Just passing more laws is not going to do very much to control crime. We have plenty of laws now. What we need to do is enforce the ones we have.

Banning gun sales to prevent crime is like abolishing banks to prevent bank robbers.

There's nothing wrong with having guns in the hands of responsible citizens. In my opinion it is an equalizing force that benefits all members of an honorable society.

You can pass all the gun control laws you want to, and it will have very little effect on the crime rate.

What the courts will have to do is concentrate on punishing the person who used the gun to commit a crime.

The decision to commit a crime was not made by the gun.

Another thing the state government did, that I couldn't hardly believe, was propose an amendment to the constitution that would authorize the spending of fifty million dollars of your tax money to finance start-up costs of "historically underutilized businesses."

What the ballot didn't tell you was that these businesses were to be owned by women and minorities.

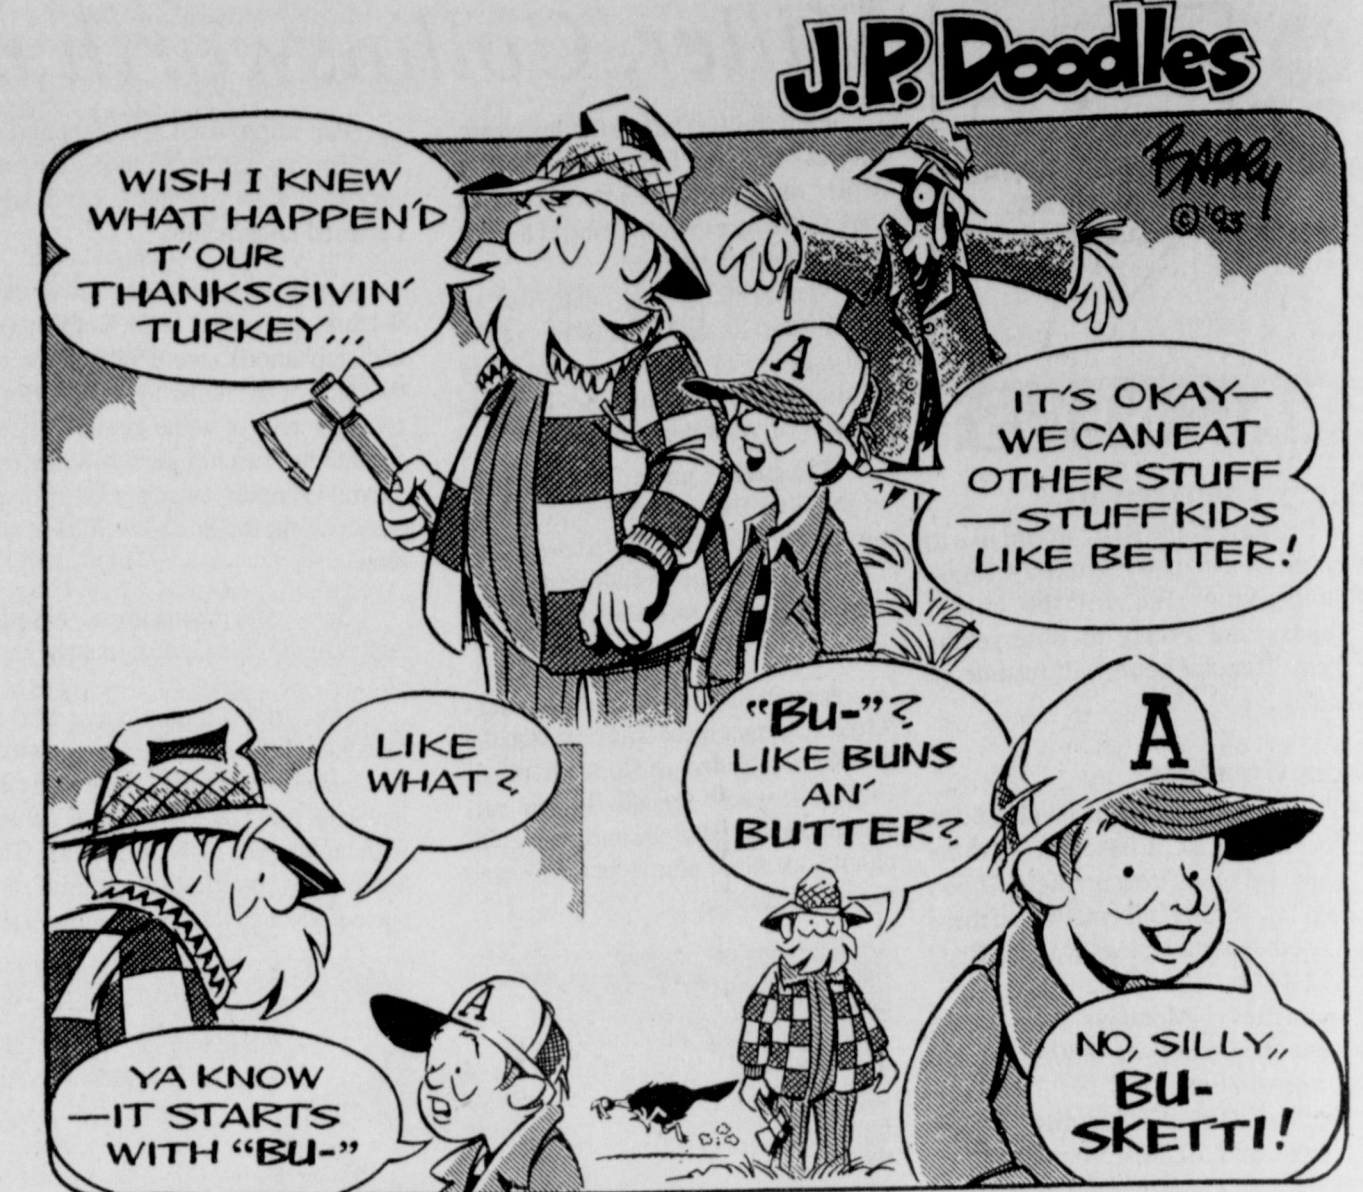

The Texas Research league tells us that a historically underutilized business is defined as being either a minority-owned or a female-owned business.

So that explains that.

It is my understanding that discrimination based on race or sex is a direct violation of the law, yet that is what this proposed amendment asked us to do. Fortunately it was resoundingly defeated in last week's election.

What it really amounted to, of course, was an effort by liberal politicians to buy minority votes with your money.

from the sheriff's office for violation of probation, after having been charged with burglary of a building.

Hibler was booked in at the police station and later transported to county jail. The other occupant was released.

Saturday afternoon, police were notified that a residence in the 300 block of West Pecan had been burglarized. A relative of the resident told police he had found the home's front door open.

Upon investigation, officers determined the front door had been forced open, apparently with a screwdriver. Further investigation, however, indicated nothing had been stolen.

Police asked Bennett Brookshire, 30, to go to the police station for an interview Monday night. It was then that Brookshire was charged and booked with burglary of a habitation.

His bond was set by a justice of the peace Tuesday at $3,500.

Police continue investigating a forgery complaint at a local store, and reportedly have a good starting place for that investigation.

The department was informed Thursday evening of a suspected forgery at Wal-Mart.

The two white female suspects reportedly left the area in such a rush, one of them had left her handbag atop the car, and it fell off onto the parking lot.

A day care center in the 200 block of North Jackson filed a theft over $200 complaint Friday, when it was determined some items were missing from the playground fence.

Described in the police blotter as missing were "two baby Mickeys and a baby Donald."

Three criminal mischief cases were reported during the past week: several windows broken out at a service station at US 287 and Pacific; a garage door of a home in the 1100 block of Louisa, and various acts Saturday evening in the 600 block of Coleman.

Juveniles involved in the Coleman Street acts were reportedly located, taken to the police station, and later released to their parents.

Johnson gets GRI designation

Thomas M. Johnson, of Texoma Realty, recently received the nationally recognized GRI (Graduate, Realtors Institute) designation, after completing Texas Realtors Institute courses.

"The GRI designation is the mark of excellence that means a graduate is a cut above," said TAR President

Wayne Shibley. "It represents the knowledge and professionalism needed to operate successfully in today's complex real estate field."

The Texas Association of Realtors is one of the largest trade associations in Texas, with approximately 43,000 members.

Sales to benefit Friendly Door

The Iowa Park Wal-Mart store will make a special holiday contribution to The Friendly Door.

The amount of the contribution will be based on a percentage of store sales from 7 to 10 a.m. Friday.

The center, chosen by associates at store level, will also receive funds raised through fund raising events at the store during this week.

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams and Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — State Treasurer Martha Whitehead shocked more than a few political observers last week when she recommended the abolishment of her office.

Whitehead, who was appointed in July by Gov. Ann Richards after then-Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison was elected to the U.S. Senate, said she believes the duties of the State Treasury Department can be merged into the office of the state comptroller.

The former Longview mayor said she will ask voters to approve a constitutional amendment to abolish the Treasury Department.

The department, with about 250 employees and an $11 million annual budget, manages the state's investments, administers unclaimed property laws and enforces tobacco taxes.

The comptroller's office, which has about 2,900 employees and a $120 million annual budget, serves as the state's revenue collection agency, enforces tax laws and issues economic forecasts.

Shortly after Whitehead's announcement, Comptroller John Sharp issued a statement calling it a "historic day in Texas state government."

Merging the treasury with the comptroller's office has been suggested many times. Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock once said, "You could fold that office into the comptroller's office, change the phones and you'd never know the difference."

But Republicans were critical of Whitehead's suggestion. "It's basic Accounting 101," said Karen Hughes, executive director of the Republican Party of Texas. "The same person who receives the money should not spend the money."

Gibson to Texas Chamber
Bruce Gibson, executive assistant to Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, will become president and chief executive officer of the Texas Chamber of Commerce in January.

Succeeding Gibson will be Charles Bailey, 45, who has been serving as Bullock's chief of staff and general counsel.

Gibson, 40, will succeed Larry Milner, who will become president of the Texas Chamber Service Corp., a non-profit organization that offers consulting services to local chambers.

Gibson said he will work with the 400 local chambers to develop a legislative agenda. Obvious issues, he said, include tort reform, workers' compensation insurance, health care, education and taxes.

Officials Want Tuition Hike
The presidents of the University of Texas and Southwest Texas State University said last week it is time for lawmakers to increase college tuition.

"I remain an advocate of higher tuition," UT President Robert Berdahl told the University Council, a legislative body at the school, last week.

"When students complain about tuition here, I urge them to find a day-care center in the city of Austin that is as inexpensive as the university," Berdahl said.

"I believe the time is right for us to consider an increase in tuition," Jerome Supple, president of Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, told a higher education summit in Corpus Christi.

But Texas Higher Education Commissioner Kenneth Ashworth told the UT University Council, "legislators do not want to raise tuition," he said.

Texas is one of the few states where the legislature sets tuition levels. "Most states delegate that to presidents and the boards of regents so they can take the heat," Ashworth said.

Abortion Clause Questioned

The Texas Department of Insurance has proposed guidelines for a new health insurance plan for small businesses that would cover the expenses from an abortion if the life of the mother is endangered, the fetus is diagnosed as nonviable or the pregnancy resulted from rape or incest.

But Bill Price, president of Texans United for Life, said the guidelines should be clarified. If the guidelines are adopted, he said, small businesses would be forced to pay for abortions because "an unborn baby at three weeks is clearly nonviable."

Jim Davis, spokesman for the state Department of Insurance, said the proposed guidelines are based on common insurance practices and do not require any employer to buy health care.

United Telephone Overearned?
United Telephone is earning profits greater than authorized, based on the past year's figures, according to a staff analysis by the Public Utility Commission.

United Telephone disputes the PUC's findings, which show the company overearned at least $3 million in 1992.

The PUC and United Telephone are negotiating for a settlement to avoid a possible lengthy and costly hearing in which the company would have to prove it is not overearning.

The Killeen-based company serves 118,000 customers in North Central and East Texas.

Other Highlights

Gov. Richards has appointed Lukin T. Gilliland Jr., 42, a San Antonio businessman and restaurateur to the Texas Racing Commission. He replaces Hugh Fitzsimons Jr. of Carrizo Springs, whose term expired.

Public Utility Commission examiners have recommended that TU Electric get less than the 15.3 percent rate increase it began charging customers in August. Examiners recommended a 10.6 percent rate increase, which would generate about $530 million in additional revenue.

NEWS FROM THE HALLS OF THE HAWKS

Teacher of the Week

Keven Robertson, teacher of Kidwell's Gifted and Talented (HAWK) program, was named Teacher of the Week.

A native of Lawton, Okla., she received her bachelor of science degree from Cameron Univ., and her master degree from Texas Women's Univ.

She has taught 12 years, two of those at Kidwell.

Mrs. Robertson's husband, Mickey, teaches in Burkburnett. The couple have a daughter, Meredith, a second grader.

In her spare time, Mrs. Robertson enjoys aerobics, reading and singing.

Kindergarten classes spell party with a "P"

Kidwell's kindergarten classes have been studying the letter "P" this week, with several activities for reinforcement.

The children had a "Pilgrim's Progress Party" Monday. They dressed in pretend Pilgrim attire and ate cornbread, Friendship Stew, fruit and apple juice.

In the attitude of sharing and giving at Thanksgiving, each student gave something they had made to another child.

Tuesday, the kindergartners had a pajama party, in which all the students and teachers wore pajamas to school.

Mrs. Schell's First graders celebrate Thanksgiving

Mrs. Schell's first grade class celebrated Thanksgiving Monday and Tuesday with a pancake feast and storytime.

Monday Mrs. Schell's class read Thanksgiving stories that they had written to Mrs. Costello's kindergarten class.

Tuesday the class had a pancake feast with Mary Hatfield, a resident of Heritage Manor, as their special guest.

LIBRARY NEWS

By Ardis Jensen

Christmas Open House

Thursday, Dec. 2, from 6 to 8 p.m., you are invited to participate in our annual Christmas Open House.

Santa will be in the gazebo, weather permitting. If we're not able to be outside we will keep him and his visitors warm upstairs in the library. Make plans to come visit with Santa between 7 and 8 p.m.

Polaroid pictures with Santa will be available for $1.50.

Santa's Castle

On Dec. 15 from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. we invite all the area children to come visit with Santa, Mrs. Santa and our Christmas Mouse.

Reservations will be taken from Dec. 2 through Dec. 11. There will be 15 children per each 15 minute time slot. Make plans to spend approximately one hour to participate in our Santa's Castle.

LOOK WHO'S NEW

Thaman

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Thaman are parents of a son, Michael Ross, born Nov. 15, at Wichita General Hospital. He weighed eight pounds, 15 ounces and was 20 inches long.

Grandparents are Judy and Bobby Bohannon and Patti Tubbs, all of Iowa Park.

Great-grandparents are Mary Judd of Iowa Park and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Thaman of Caldwell.

Beavers

David and Kellye Beavers of Irving announce the arrival of a son, Austin Kyle, born Nov. 17 in Grapevine. He weighed seven pounds, four ounces and was 20 3/4 inches long. This is their first child.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Beavers and Mr. and Mrs. Garland Lehman of Iowa Park.

Great-grandparents are Ida Lehman and Lonnie Beavers of Iowa Park, Gladys Balthrop of Rosston, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Corgill of Comanche, Okla.

Great-great-grandmother is Pearl Cox of Wilson, Okla.

We will once again be accepting a donation of a storybook or canned goods for participation in this activity. The storybooks will be donated to the Iowa Park Fire Department for their Toys for Tots program, and the canned goods will be given to the Iowa Park Ministerial Alliance for the Food Bank. It is not required that you give either of these items to participate, just a suggestion.

Please call 592-4981 to make your reservation.

Thank You's

If you were not able to participate in our special storyteller program this past Friday, you missed a terrific show. Mr. Jim McNeely of the Laughing Fish Enterprises from Denton, Texas did our show. He had children and adults alike participating in his stories. If you would ever need a special storyteller, we would highly recommend him.

A special Thank You to those who took time to come share in this special program

Happy Thanksgiving

Reminder, the library will be closed Thursday, but will be open during regular hours on Friday.

Texas beef industry promotes food safety

The Texas beef industry from the "gate to the plate" took a positive stance on food safety recently in Fort Worth by emphasizing its commitment to producing a safe and wholesome beef supply. It further committed itself to educating consumers on how to handle, store and prepare food safely in every Texas kitchen.

Twenty representatives of all segments of the beef industry participated in the "United for Food Safety" press conference at the Fort Worth Livestock Exchange Building.

Following the media conference, industry representatives had their photograph taken with a typical beef steer. The historic shot will be the centerpiece of a year-long emphasis on food safety.

"The different groups and individuals committed themselves to working together in this special event several months ago," says Anne I. Anderson, executive director of the Texas Beef Council.

"Coincidentally, nine isolated cases of foodborne illnesses associated with raw or undercooked beef were reported to Texas health authorities just days before we met."

Anderson said the illnesses reinforced the need for the Texas beef industry to remind consumers that beef comes to them as a safe and wholesome product, but it also must be handled, prepared and stored properly by the consumer. That was one goal of the conference.

Conference speakers emphasized that the Centers for Disease Control say just over two percent of foodborne illnesses is a result of problems in the production and processing stage.

These figures indicate that growth of illness-causing bacteria may occur during the handling, storage and cooking of meat products at foodservice and by the consumer.

One speaker was Vickie Detwiler of Bellingham, Wash. She is the mother of a 17-month-old son who was killed by secondary infection from E. Coli 0157:H7 bacterial in February 1993.

He had contracted the bacteria in day school from another child who had eaten an undercooked hamburger. Detwiler told the group that her son's death could have been avoided through proper cooking of the meat. That same caution was reinforced by medical and government speakers throughout the media conference.

Industry spokesmen said they would face the challenge of getting this message to consumers through an intensive campaign through the Texas Beef Council.

Texas consumers can receive information through brochures available at many foodservice and retail companies.

Easy-to-understand food safety messages in Spanish and English in more than 6,000 restaurants across the state will reach food-handling employees.

In January 1994, more than 1.2 million refrigerator magnets carrying food safety tips will be provided to Texas consumers through direct mail, pediatricians, and schools.

"The most visible reminder of this year's food safety information and education campaign will be the group photo of the different segments taken after the conference," Anderson said. "It includes production, feeding, marketing, packing/processing, research distribution, foodservice and retail representatives."

The photo will run in a two-page advertisement in Texas Monthly in January 1994. The ad's copy will emphasize the industry's commitment to food safety. The photo also will appear at consumer events and food shows across the nation.

"This photo and the food safety program it represents are proactive gestures by the beef industry to address a dangerous problem," Anderson said.

"Fortunately, it is a problem that experts believe can be solved easily. We hope to do just that by educating an entire new generation of Texans about how to handle, store and prepare food so they and their families can consume beef with confidence," Anderson added.

DISTRICT FOOD SHOW

Wichita County 4-H Club members are making final preparation for the Rolling Plains District 4-H Food Show. It will be held Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Wilbarger Memorial Auditorium in Vernon.

In the Food Projects, members learn the importance of including foods from each of the basic food groups in the daily diet. Twelve members from Wichita County will compete in the show.

Among them are Bo Vernon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Vernon of Valley View, and Jenny Chitwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Chitwood of Iowa Park. Special beef awards will be given by the Wichita Area Cattlewomen. The dishes will be on display from 1 to 1:30 p.m., and the public is invited to view them. Ribbons and awards will be presented at 2 p.m. Cookbooks containing all the recipes prepared in the District Show will be on sale at the competition.

Hawks, Lady Hawks in Fantasy tourney

After having posted big wins over Class AAAA clubs, both the Hawk and Lady Hawk varsities appear ready to make good showings in this weekend's annual Fantasy of Lights Tournament in Wichita Falls.

The Lady Hawks posted their win over a larger school when they opened their season at Wichita Falls High last week.

And then, here Monday night, the Hawks got on the winning side of the ledger with an overtime victory over the Weatherford Kangaroos.

First game in the tourney for the Lady Hawks, who won two of their three contests in that event last year, will be at 3 p.m. Friday. They will meet Arlington Martin, in the Wichita Falls High gymnasium.

The winner of that game will play at 8 that evening at Hirschi High against the winner of the Palo Duro vs. Hirschi contest. But their first-game loser will have only a short time to travel to Kirby Junior High, for a 4:30 contest.

The Hawks' opening game will be at 10 a.m. in the Rider High gym. Their first opponent will be Houston Bellaire Episcopal, where former Hawk Mark Klinkerman is the team's trainer.

The winner of that game will meet Archer City at 4:30 p.m. at Rider High, while the loser plays the loser of the Charleston (Ark.) vs. Electra game, at 6:30 p.m. in Midwestern State's 101 gymnasium.

Next Tuesday, the Hawk and Lady Hawk varsities and junior varsities will travel to Jacksboro.

LADY HAWK VARSITY

After trailing 17-8 at the end of the first quarter Friday night here against Nocona, the Lady Hawks outscored their visitors in each of the following periods to win 60-46, and chalk up their second win of the season.

Iowa Park narrowed Nocona's lead to 24-21 by halftime, and a strong, 21-10 third period gave them a lead they never relinquished.

Dusti Welch was dominating, racking up 27 points for Iowa Park.

Both the varsity and junior varsity were scheduled to travel Tuesday night (after the Leader's printing deadline) to Archer City. The Lady Hawks went into that contest with a 2-0 season record.

HAWK VARSITY

After suffering a disappointing season opener here Friday night against the Nocona Indians, when the Hawks lost 65-51, Iowa Park rebounded three nights later to defeat Weatherford by a one-point margin, 76-75.

The Hawks led the Indians through the first half, taking a 13-11 first-quarter lead and a healthy 31-24 by halftime.

But Iowa Park turnovers spelled defeat, according to Coach Tim Clark. Nocona took advantage of the situation and jumped out to a 43-38 lead during the third period, and outscored their hosts 22-13 in the final frame.

Brandon Ashlock led Hawk scorers with 12 points, while Rudy Hawkins and Michael Stanford contributed 10 apiece.

But Monday night's game was just the opposite of Friday's, for Iowa Park. The Kangaroos looked like world beaters, jumping out to a 24-6 lead in the first quarter and stretching that to 44-21 by halftime.

It was the second half where the Hawks hit their stride. They narrowed the 'Roos' lead to 59-48 during the third quarter, and tied the score at 63-all to send the game into overtime.

Hawkins had the hot hand for Iowa Park, racking up 24 points, while Stanford hit 19 and Michael Fallon chipped in 11.

The big win evened Iowa Park's season record at 1-1.

GIRLS' JUNIOR VARSITY

The Lady Hawk JV also advanced their record to 2-0 Friday, and in outstanding fashion. Especially when they had to come from behind in the final quarter to beat Wichita Falls High in their season opener.

They almost shut out Nocona Friday, in a game Amber Ashley racked up 23 points.

That final score, an unbelievable 68-1.

Nocona's lone point wasn't posted until the fourth quarter.

FRESHMAN GIRLS

Both the A and B girls' freshman teams swept their contests Saturday against Bowie.

Camie Fisher led the B team to a

41-17 victory, while the A team won 52-37 behind Kim Scobee's 19 and 10 more from Lindsey Thompson.

HAWK JUNIOR VARSITY

The Hawk JV won the Seymour tournament last weekend.

Iowa Park eased past Olney 47-45 in the first round, and then took measure of host Seymour 48-34 to advance into the championship final.

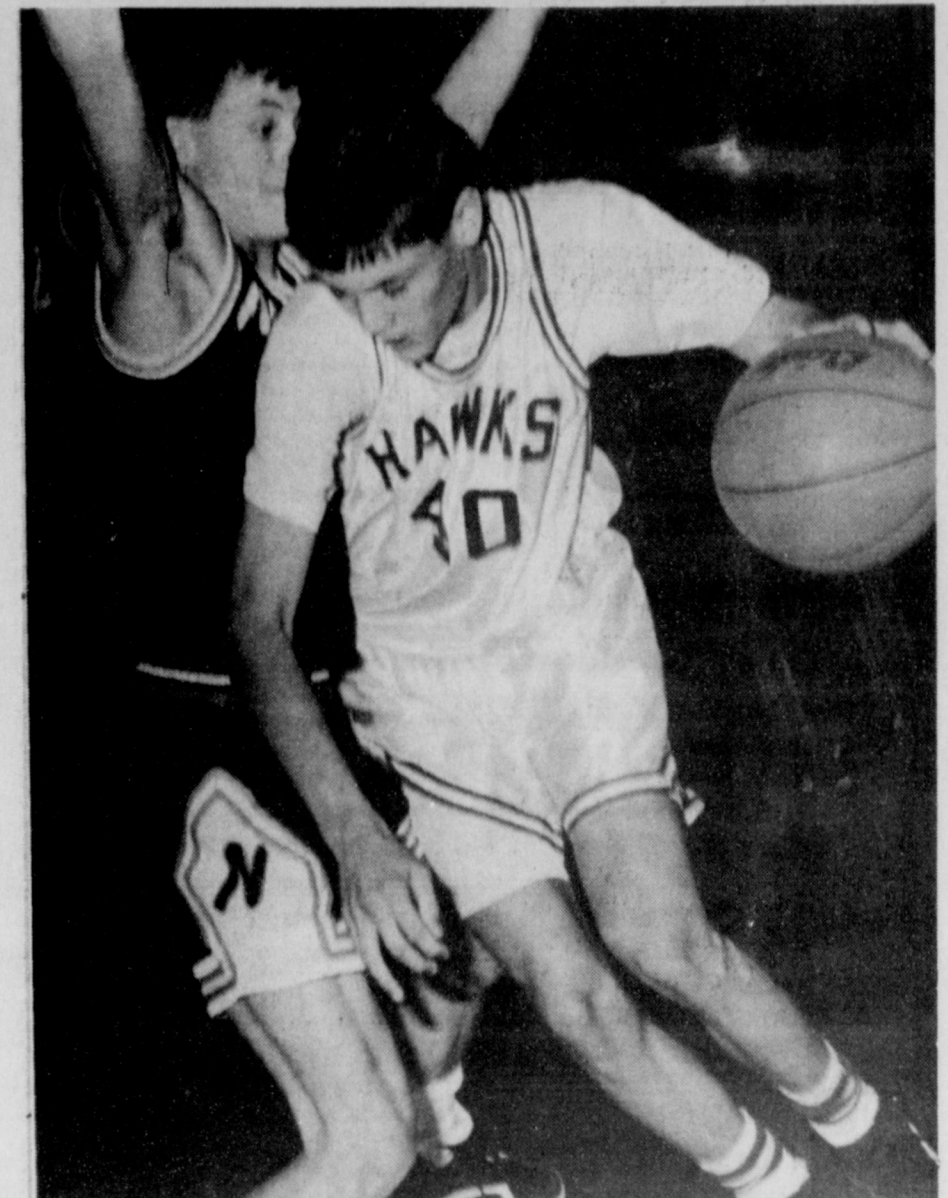

In that contest, Iowa Park dumped Archer City 34-30.

Eventhough only a freshman, Nick Black made his presence known in the tournament. He led Iowa Park in scoring with 12 points against both Olney and Archer City, and tied for scoring honors against Seymour, with 10.

Lathan Dickens had eight in the Olney game, David Waterbury also had 10 against Seymour, and six each were scored against Archer City by Jason Yeager and Dickens.

The Junior Varsity continued its winning ways Monday night, rolling over Weatherford 70-40.

In the Monday night opener, however, Weatherford posted its only win of the trip, defeating the Iowa Park Freshmen 57-49.

RUDY HAWKINS DRIVES ON A NOCONA DEFENDER

Beat City View 3 of 4

Iowa Park Junior High basketball teams won three of four games Monday night against City View.

The scoring margins were wide for both the Eighth Grade clubs.

The Eighth Grade girls swamped City View 32-7, with Amanda Roberts scoring eight points and Trisha Pulley seven.

Not to be out-done, the Eighth Grade boys banged out a 49-19 victory, as Kevin Hoover and Todd Yeager led scoring with nine and eight points, respectively.

Iowa Park's Seventh Grade girls had a closer contest, but won, 21-17. Carrie Evans led with 10 points.

The only loss of the evening was a narrow 36-24 victory by City View in the Seventh Grade boys' game. Jon

Thomas led the locals with six.

The teams will take on Graham in an eight-game series next Monday, as both A and B teams of both grades will see action.

The girls will play here, starting at 5 p.m., while the boys travel to Graham for a 4 p.m. start. Then, the following weekend, Iowa Park is entered in the City View tournament.

GARDENING HINTS

By MARK TERNING, COUNTY AGENT - HORTICULTURE

By MARK TERNING

County Agent - Horticulture

What can be done with the tremendous amount of leaf fall this time of year? Consider composting fall foliage as an alternative to bagging for disposal.

You can practice home composting with a very basic understanding of eighth grade biology.

First, you must realize that soils are full of billions of micro-organisms which decompose organic material. These micro-organisms must be added to your compost heap in order to get any breakdown of yard waste.

Secondly, you should be aware that these micro-organisms require air in order to survive and do their job. Most compost piles fail because they are not turned and thus micro-organisms are destroyed.

Thirdly, you must realize that the compost pile should remain moist like a squeezed-out sponge but never soaked wet or bone dry.

Also, the addition of horse or cow manure up to 25 percent or any nitrogen fertilizer will be necessary nutrition for the micro-organisms. Green grass clippings provide ample nitrogen if manure is not available.

With the basic understanding of the above, you are now ready to build a compost heap.

Compost piles can be free-standing or you can purchase an enclosure such as close-mesh wire or any of a variety of nicer, working compost bins available at local businesses.

A three-foot diameter or larger size is recommended because it provides better heat and moisture retention. Place your compost anywhere convenient, but not where water could run off a roof into it.

To build the compost pile, start adding organic materials in no special order as they become available. Mixing grass clippings with denser organic matter will help prevent compaction. Use larger tree branches in the compost to help provide aeration in the pile.

You must now inoculate the pile with those previously-discussed micro-organisms. To do this, you can mix in several shovels of soil or you can purchase a commercial micro-organism inoculant.

The next step is to add up to 25 percent cow or horse manure; however, grass clippings contain enough nitrogen to feed the micro-organisms.

The compost pile should be kept moist, but never soaking wet. You can moisten a dry pile by spraying it with a fish emulsion or plain water.

You absolutely must turn the pile at least once a month if you have a lighter compost.

Heavier compost material will require more frequent aeration but no more than every three days.

You can accomplish this with a garden fork, but the easiest way is with a compost turning probe. The probe is like an aluminum walking cane with two wings which fold into a streamlined point when pushed into the pile, but spread open when pulled up.

This tool is available at some local nurseries.

A properly managed compost will heat up to 140 degrees-plus, therefore killing unwanted insects, weed seed and disease organisms.

In 90 to 120 days most of the compost materials should have lost their identity and taken on an earthy smell with a brown appearance.

This compost is one of the best soil amendments you can add to the garden or landscape.

Increased pressure on landfills and rising operational costs are making composts a viable alternative to regular disposal.
