Winners named to receive $850 free shopping

Winners who will share in $850 worth of free Christmas shopping, compliments of the Iowa Park Merchants Association, were named during a drawing Wednesday morning.

They are:

1st Place - $500 - O.D. Davenport;
2nd Place - $250 - Mrs. Billy Joe Carter;
3rd Place - $100 - Jack McGuinn.

They will receive script currency, which can be redeemed only at any of the 20 participating merchants' places of business, but that must be completed by Friday, Dec. 24, according to the rules.

Ken Via, who coordinated the event, said following the drawing that he had not counted the number of entries from which the winners' names were drawn, but estimated somewhere between 150 and 200 had registered.

Participating merchants included K&K Foods, Sincerely Yours, Golden Fried Chicken, Harvey's, Hughes Pharmacy, Good & Plenty Restaurant, Iowa Park Air Conditioning and Heating, Southern Gardens, C&S Service Center, Louis Jewelry, Jack's Park Pharmacy, Gail's Collections, Subway, Iowa Park Leader, B&R Thriftway, Scobee's Mini Mart, City Cafe, The Movie Store, Parkway TrueValue and Auto Craft Engine Repair.

Chamber seeks award nominations

Nominations are now being accepted by the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, for persons who will be recognized at the organization's annual banquet.

Nominations for Outstanding Citizen, Outstanding Senior Citizen, Outstanding Educator, Outstanding

Agriculturist, and Recognition of Commerce, should be turned in to the Chamber office as soon as possible for consideration by various selection committees.

Besides the recipients receiving special plaques, their names will be engraved on permanent plaques which are on display at the Chamber office. Nominees for Outstanding Citizen may be of any age; not necessarily a lifetime resident; either sex, married or unmarried, and must have done something to distinguish them from

Christmas Home Tour set Saturday

By MYRNA SMITH

By Saturday the final touches - last lights placed in just the right niche - last ornament changed to a better vantage point, and the last garlands will have been draped inside and outside the six homes to be open for the Christmas Home Tour.

The seventh annual tour of Iowa Park homes, sponsored by the Recreational Activities Center, will get underway at 2 p.m. Saturday and homes will be open until 6 p.m.

It will be easy to catch the spirit of the season as spectators view the six beautifully decorated homes included on the tour this year, each with a fascinating theme.

Adding interest to the tour will be a 70 year old home that was built by prominent early day settlers and has recently been renovated.

Also on tour will be one home that has almost become tradition to be included. This marks the first time all others have been on tour.

Tickets still may be purchased at the RAC office or from any RAC board member. It is preferred that tickets be purchased in advance, however, they may also be purchased at the door of any home on the tour.

If tickets are purchased in lots of 10 or more they are $3 each and senior citizens, those over 60, may also purchase tickets for $3.

Board members will be assisting at each of the homes.

Included on the tour are homes of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Heidrich, 1708 Quail Valley. Theme at this home is "Christmas Sweets and Treats," where refreshments will be served.

Just across the street at 1707 Quail Valley, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dragon will be on view. "An Old Fashioned Victorian Christmas" is the decorative theme at this home.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Singer, 1508 Rita Lane, has been on the tour each year. Theme at the Singer home is "A Virtual Museum of Christmas Spirit".

"Clowning Around Christmas Style" is the theme used at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Toby, 804 E.

Texas. It is the home that was built in 1923 by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. George.

"A Pure Country Christmas," will be viewed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Todd Duncan, 824 S. Bell Road, and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Shook, 514 S. Bond, features "Christmas The Traditional Way."

Homes on tour will be easy to find. In the front yard of each home will be a five-foot wooden Christmas tree, cut out by Mike Price, painted green and trimmed with bright painted ornaments and silver garlands by his wife, Cathy.

Emphasis in the Heidrich home is on refreshments and the kitchen. Decorating and making preparations for the tour has been a family affair. Sheri said Randy had had so many "honey-do" projects that she thinks he hated to come in the house, but it has been fun for them.

Sheri called in all of her aunts and cousins to help before she got through. Her mother, Sarah Brady, has helped her with the refreshments. This is a tradition with Sheri and her mother.

They always make a lot of cookies and candy at Christmas (her mother is known for the goodies she makes). Each Christmas they make cookies and candy, prepare them for delivery and Sheri's father, David Brady, delivers them to friends and family as a "gift of love".

Refreshments will be served in the kitchen. She has garlands of greenery above the kitchen cabinets dotted with red bows, as well as other decor definitive of the Yuletide season.

The tree in the family room is decorated with all red ornaments and

Board tours departments, hears policy change plea

The Iowa Park school board's meeting Monday lasted slightly more than four hours, but included a variety of activities and subjects.

The board's business session lasted less than two hours, and was highlighted by a request that the district's grading policy be reconsidered. The presentation was made by a practicing attorney from Wichita Falls, who represented a local couple.

Trustees began their informal portion of the evening with a sandwich supper, served in the high school's library.

From there, members and administrators toured five departments, where newly-acquired technical equipment was explained by instructors.

The tour included the departments of science, algebra, business, cosmetology and library.

Concluding the informal portion of the evening, the delegation went to the school's auditorium, where choir departments presented their annual Christmas programs before a half-filled room.

Attorney Gene Douglas accompanied Mrs. Tommy Gruber before the board, asking that the district's policy on grading be reconsidered.

Douglas emphasized that the Grubers were not asking for any relief for their student, because he is a graduating senior.

What prompted the appearance, board members were told, was that the Gruber's son submitted a composition to his science teacher which received a 98 grade on the subject.

But, when the teacher reportedly subtracted five points for various misspelled words and other grammarian errors, that portion received a zero, which was averaged into the final grade.

The teacher reportedly informed the student's parents that the school's function is to prepare them for college work, and that same grading method would be applied at any higher institution.

However, Douglas told the board, a copy of the composition was taken to a professor at Midwestern State Univ. and he was asked to grade it. The teacher, board members were told, gave it a "B" grade for science and a "C-" for form.

Douglas said his presentation was definitely not to criticize the teacher, but "... just asking if you are motivating the most you can motivate" with the current grading system.

The attorney quoted various authorities as saying zero grades are the most punitive grades given.

Douglas said the district's own grading policy prevented a teacher from giving bonus points on unrelated subjects, and asked how penalty points on unrelated subjects could subtract a grade to a zero.

Board president Keith Fisher said the board's agenda did not call for any action to be taken at the meeting, so none could be reached that evening.

He said he would ask Supt. Glen Mitchell to meet with the district-wide committee to consider any changes that might be made, and a response would be forthcoming.

Near the end of the meeting, board members met in executive session to consider hiring a new teacher. However, after 35 minutes behind closed doors, the meeting was reconvened, but no action was taken nor any comments made.

In other business, trustees received their annual report on the 1992-93

Man arrested twice over 3-day period

Five arrests were recorded during the past week by Iowa Park police, but two of those were of the same individual in a three-day period.

Jerome Lee Koerth, 19, was booked and jailed early Saturday on a charge of evading arrest. Then, Tuesday afternoon, he was taken into custody again on the same charge as well as on a warrant issued by the county sheriff's department.

Koerth's problems began about 1:30 a.m. Saturday, when a resident in the south part of town called police and told the dispatcher that a small pickup was spinning around in a vacant area across the road from Bradford Elementary, and gave a description of the vehicle.

A short time later, one of the officers on patrol saw the vehicle near Allsups, and attempted to have the driver pull over. The vehicle sped away, however, but soon afterward was stopped at the intersection of Park and Colorado.

Koerth was taken to the police station, booked on a charge of evading arrest, and transported to the county jail.

At 3:15 p.m. Tuesday, police were alerted to the fact that a large number of vehicles containing young people were heading to "middle lake" where a fight was to be witnessed.

When officers arrived, no fight was in progress, but Koerth was seen among the crowd. Only a short time prior to then, police had been informed by county deputies that they had an outstanding warrant for his arrest.

Koerth was taken into custody, to be transported to the police department, when another individual is alleged to have yelled curses at the officers.

That individual, identified as Michael Keith Smith, 19, was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. He was then transported to the county jail.

Koerth was jailed under a $1,500 bond for resisting arrest, and turned over to deputies to be transported to jail.

Two females were taken into custody Monday morning at Wal-Mart, one on an outstanding warrant for forgery and the other for failure to identify to an officer.

Christy Marie Bowen, 19, and Tammy Sanders, 20, reportedly were attempting to return merchandise they said they had purchased earlier, for cash.

An officer recognized Bowen, and knew she had an outstanding warrant for her arrest on a forgery charge.

Bowen had an additional charge levied against her for theft over $20 and under $200. She was booked into the county jail under a $750 bond on that offense, and a $1,500 bond on the forgery charge.

Sanders, who had signed a signature other than her own while attempting to exchange the merchandise, was charged with failure to identify and forgery, and put in jail under a $2,500 bond.

Police are investigating the alleged theft of a flute valued at over $200, from a locker at Iowa Park High School. The report was filed Thursday, according to the police blotter.

Other issues on the week's blotter included two criminal mischief cases concerning a vehicle egged in the 1200 block of South Wall and a pickup's mirror broken off on East Aldine; a charge that a VCR was taken Wednesday from a residence in the 800 block of South Jackson, and a woman who reported that her estranged husband had assaulted her in her home, though no formal charge was filed.

News Briefs

Iowa Park receives 1.25 rainfall

Though some residents reported having received two or more inches of precipitation Thursday night, Virgil Woodfin reported he measured 1.25 in his gauge.

The rainfall was beneficial to virtually everyone except those farmers who have not yet completed harvesting their cotton crop. Most of the stock tanks benefited from runoff.

Healing flowers program topic

"Healing Power of Flowers" was the title of a program presented by Joyce Henry Tuesday night for members of Epsilon Eta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha. The meeting was at the home of Cyndy Dickerson in Wichita Falls.

Henry told the group that "basically, there are two types of herbs - one to cleanse the toxins out of the system, and the other to build strength."

She passed out samples of some of the flowers used for medicine, including chamomile, bee balm, lemon balm, rose hips and rosemary.

During the business session, conducted by Mary Lynn Boyd, an announcement was made by Skeeter Clark, service co-chairman, that the members would take Christmas pictures of children at the Rehabilitation Center on Sunday. Each child will have their picture taken with Santa, and will receive a reindeer for a favor.

The group also voted to help a family who has special needs during the Christmas holidays. They are also collecting warm clothing such as hats, coats and gloves. Anyone wanting to donate these articles of clothing may call 592-4411 or 696-9466.

Members were asked to write down ideas for service projects to aid the community.

The next meeting will be a Christmas social at the home of Mary Lynn

Boyd. Everyone is asked to bring a gift for a "Chinese Christmas gift exchange."

Garden Club names Yard of the Month

The Yard of the Month for December belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Roach who live at 707 S. Yosemite.

The yard, tastefully decorated for the holiday season, was selected by a committee of the Iowa Park Garden Club.

Valley View 4-H to sponsor supper

Valley View 4-H will sponsor a stew and cornbread supper Saturday from 6-8:30 p.m. The supper will be served at Kamay Volunteer Fire Department Building located on Highway 258.

There will be homemade desserts served with the supper. Door prizes will be awarded. Adult tickets are $3.50 and tickets for children under 12 will be $2. Proceeds will be used to support 4-H youth.

Canned food items may be donated to be distributed to area churches and Food Banks by 4-H members.

For additional information call 438-2212.

Mrs. Jim Brown

A new cookbook, compiled by the Ladies' Ministries of Iowa Park Church of God, should be available to purchase around the end of December. The driving force behind the project was Linda (Mrs. Jim) Brown.

When Linda was asked to be the Leader's Cook of the Week and share some of her recipes that will appear in the cookbook, she graciously accepted.

Linda, the seventh of nine children, was born and grew up in Terrell. She remembers that she was five years old the first time she cooked. She opened a can of chicken noodle soup and heated it for her mother who had recently given birth to a new baby. She, her four sisters and four brothers grew up helping with the cooking, cleaning, washing and ironing.

Linda's husband, Jim, is from Washington Courthouse, Ohio. When they met, Jim was driving a truck and Linda was a dispatcher for a trucking company in Wichita Falls. They married in 1984, and moved to Iowa Park in April, 1992.

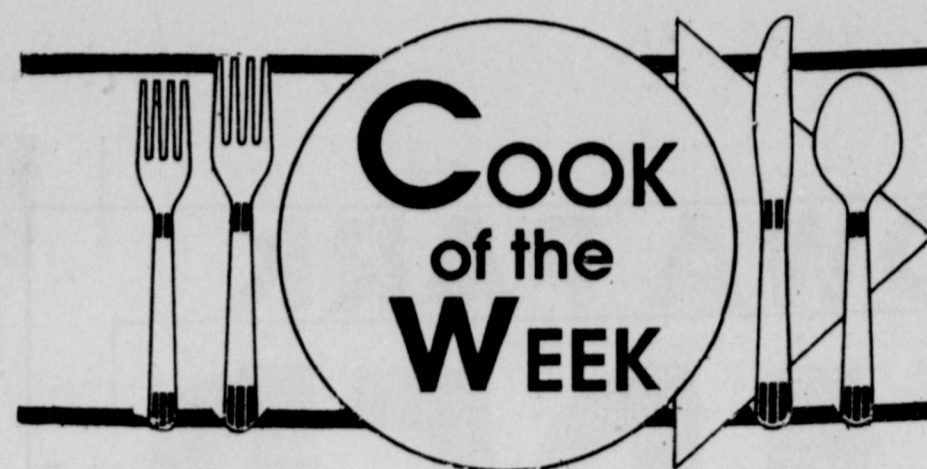

Their combined families include seven children, who are all married, thirteen grandchildren and one on the way.

Jim, who was still driving a truck, wanted to get off the road so he could be at home on weekends and go to church. So recently, the Browns opened J&L Fina and J&L Dispatch located on Johnson Road and Expressway 287.

"We love this town," Linda said. "It's ideal for families, and the people are so friendly."

The Browns attend services at Iowa Park Church of God. In addition to being a member of the Ladies' Ministries, Linda likes to work with the elderly members of the church.

Regarding the recipes she submitted, Linda says the "Hershey Bar

"Cake" and "Italian Cheese Pie" are two of her favorite recipes.

Hershey Bar Cake

1 1/2 cups powdered sugar
1 stick butter, softened
1 Tbsp. vanilla

Blend together and add:
4 egg yolks, one at a time
1 - 8 oz. ctn. Cool Whip
Refrigerate until ready to use - makes it stay on the cake better.

Grate half of Hershey bar with almonds. (Keep candy in freezer - makes it easier to grate.)

Bake an Angel Food cake and slice it in three layers. Add 1/3 of creamed mixture to first layer, and add candy; repeat on other two layers.
NOTE: Can freeze cake for later date.

Skillet Cookies

from Granny Sifford, 1977

1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 1/2 cup nuts
1 tsp. vanilla
1 stick butter
1 lb. chopped dates
4 cups Rice Krispies
1 cup coconut

Mix sugar, eggs, butter and dates in pan and cook over low heat 10 minutes, or until thick. Add Rice Krispies and nuts, then vanilla. Let cool to handle. Roll into balls, then into coconut. Chill.

Pecan Pie

1 3/4 cup sugar
2 Tbsps. flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup dark syrup
2 eggs
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 cup pecans

Mix syrup, sugar, flour and salt. Beat in one egg at a time; mix in milk and vanilla; add pecans. Pour mixture into 9-inch pie shell and bake in pre-heated 375 degree oven.

Italian Cheese Pie

Pastry for 2-crust pie (deep dish)

4 eggs, beaten
1 cup ricotta cheese
4 ozs. Swiss or provolone cheese
4 Tbsps. Parmesan cheese
1 cup browned Italian sausage
1/2 cup bell pepper
1/2 cup mushrooms
1/4 cup sliced black olives
1 Tbsp. parsley
1/2 tsp. oregano
1/2 tsp. sweet basil

Pepper to taste
1 egg white beaten with 1 tsp. water to put on top of crust

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Beat eggs and cheeses. Add rest of ingredients and pour into crust. Seal with top crust and brush with egg white. Slit crust to vent. Bake about 50 to 55 minutes.

Syrup Pie

3 egg
1 cup syrup
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
Pinch salt
1 hunk butter (size of egg)
Nutmeg

Beat eggs, adding sugar and syrup. Add vanilla, salt and butter and mix well. Add nutmeg. Pour mixture into 9-inch pie shell and bake in pre-heated 375 degree oven.

Impossible Brownie Pie

4 eggs
1 bar (4 oz.) sweet chocolate, melted and cooled
1/2 cup Bisquick
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup butter, melted
3/4 cup nuts

Heat oven to 350. Beat together all ingredients except nuts and pour into a greased dish; add nuts. Bake until knife inserted comes out clean - about 30 minutes. Cool 5 minutes.

Chiles Rellenos Squares

4 cups (16 ozs.) shredded cheese
5 eggs
1 - 4 oz. can chopped chiles

Layer cheese and chiles in a greased 12x8x2 dish. Pour eggs over it. Bake 45 minutes at 300 degrees. Cut into 2-inch squares. Makes 2 dozen. To reheat, bake 20 minutes at 300 degrees.

Chicken Mexicana

4 chicken breasts, skinned and boned
1 - 10 3/4 oz. can cream of chicken soup
1 - 11 oz. can Cheddar cheese soup
1 - 10 oz. can tomatoes & green chilies
2 1/2 cups crushed corn chips

Cut chicken into bite-size pieces, cover with wax paper and microwave on high 6 to 8 minutes. Cool and combine soups and tomatoes. Layer half of chips and all of chicken. Microwave on high, 10 to 12 minutes. Turn dish after 5 minutes. Sprinkle rest of chips on top and heat 1 to 1 1/2 minutes.

RAC NEWS

by Jo Lynn Cockrum

Bridge Winners

With two tables in play this week, Louise Helms was the winner at bridge. She reported a score of 4100 points. John Chapman came in second with a score of 3740 points. There are only two tables scheduled so far for next week, so if you would like to play be sure to call in and we'll put your name down.

Tour of Homes

If you haven't gotten your tickets for the 7th Annual Tour of Homes yet, don't despair! Tickets are still available at the RAC office, from any RAC Board member, and at the homes on the tour. There will also be tickets available for purchase at the homes on Saturday. Ticket prices are $4.00 for general public (including children over age 2), $3.00 for senior citizens over age 60, and $3.00 if purchased in lots of 10 or more.

Breakfast with Santa

Saturday, Dec. 18, should be marked on your calendars for Breakfast with Santa at the RAC. This is a really fun event for children of all ages, as we provide breakfast, a visit from St. Nick, pictures with the Jolly Guy, and entertainment by the Story Patch Players. Tickets are on sale now at the RAC office for a cost of $3.00 for children and $1.50 for adults (difference due to picture cost). Children under the age of four must be accompanied by an adult.

Holiday Activities

The RAC will be sponsoring several activities for the children while they are out of school for the Christmas holidays. Planned thus far are T-shirt painting, Christmas crafts, movie day, and craft projects for the new year. Further information will be printed in this column next week, or you may call the RAC office at 592-4471 for more details.

Does your subscription to the Leader expire this month? Check the list on page 4.

SANTA'S CASTLE

REMINDER: Saturday, Dec. 11 will be the last day to register for this event. It is very important that you pre-register, so that we will have enough craft items for all the children. PLEASE CALL 592-4981 by 2 p.m. Saturday.

This event takes nearly an hour to participate, as the children will first visit with Santa Mouse, then a visit with Santa, and proceed upstairs to make their craft and then have a snack with Mrs. Santa and listen to a story.

We have scheduled each new group to begin every 15 minutes. Please enter through the doorway, close to the gazebo, into the children's area of the library.

There are no set fees for participating in the event, but contributions of non-perishable food items or a storybook would be appreciated. The food items will be donated to the Iowa Park Ministerial Alliance and the storybooks will be given to the Iowa Park Fire Department for their Toys for Tots program.

We currently have 128 children registered, so if you would like to become a part of this special event, make your plans soon. Thanks!

THANK YOU

To our patrons and many friends for attending our Annual Christmas Open House, this past Thursday, a special Thank You to our helpers, Kim Long, Christine Stancliff, Diana Hambright, for helping serve our refreshments. You were really a big help in making our evening run so smoothly. Thanks again for your help.

Trichell, Perry nuptials read in double-ring ceremony

Tawlee Elaine Trichell became the bride of Nathan Lee Perry Nov. 13 in an afternoon ceremony performed in Holliday Church of Christ. They are making their home in Iowa Park.

Mrs. Perry is the daughter of Dannie and Maria Trichell of Iowa Park and parents of the groom are Kent and Linda Richardson of Wichita Falls.

The exchange of double ring vows was directed by Gil Peters, minister of the church.

A triptych arrangement of arched white candelabras holding 29 white tapers centered the nuptial area. The unity candle was centered between two seven-light candelabras. Two large vases, filled with blue baby carnations, blue asters, maroon gladiolus and freesias, white phlox, greenery, silver queen tips and eucalyptus were in flanking positions to the arched candelabras.

Pews were marked with white bows centered with blue and maroon baby roses. White bells and ribbon lined the walls of the entryway where guests used a maroon feather pen to register in a satin and lace guest book made by the groom's aunt, Darlene Gardner.

Preceding the ceremony, the groom's sister, Christy Duggins, sang "One Moment In Time", followed by the traditional "Wedding March".

The bride was escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage. She designed her gown of white satin and lace that was made by the groom's grandmother, Janet Perry.

Her gown was knee length, styled with a high banded neck, open front and back, and long sleeves that featured puffs at the shoulders. The open front was draped with 10 V-shaped strands of beads. Four matching beaded strands were draped across the back opening.

The gown and flowing white satin train were accentuated with lace applied motifs and tracery of pearls and teardrop beads.

To observe tradition, the bride wore a 50-year-old silver U.S. Navy bracelet from the groom's grandmother's and grandfather's first year together for "something old", she borrowed a silver and turquoise ring belonging to her mother, added a white and blue garter, and her dress served as "something new."

Mrs. Nathan Lee Perry
(Tawlee Elaine Trichell)

White satin leaves and white baby roses were decorative accents in the bride's hair. She completed her attire with a cascading bouquet of white roses, interspersed with maroon and blue baby roses, white satin ribbon, baby's breath, silver queen and white satin leaves.

The bride's aunt, Margaret Walters of Walters, Okla., was maid of honor. She wore a knee length blue satin rose print dress and carried a bouquet that was a smaller version of the bride's bouquet.

Ashlyn Owensby, Iowa Park, was flower girl. She wore a dress of blue chiffon and white lace and carried a white satin basket.

Michael Womble, Iowa Park, the groom's cousin, was ring bearer. He wore a black tuxedo with blue bow tie and cummerbund. The rings were carried on a white satin pillow.

Best man was Aaron Owensby of Iowa Park. Ushers were Johnny Duggins, Iowa Park, brother-in-law of the bride and Joseph Billen of Walters, Okla., cousin of the bride.

The groom wore a black tux with tails and father of the bride and best man wore black tuxedos. They each wore a blue bow tie and cummerbund.

The reception was held in fellowship hall. Wedding bells and white streamers decorated the walls of the reception room. The bride's and groom's tables and food tables were covered with white and silver cloths and decorative accents throughout were in the bride's chosen colors of maroon and blue.

The bride's tiered cake was decorated with white roses and silver leaves. Nicole Billen and Georgia Matthews presided at the bride's table.

The groom's cake, made by Kim Maness, was three chocolate hearts with names of the bride and groom inscribed. Presiding at the groom's table were Linda Perry and Kalyn Trichell.

After a wedding trip to Oklahoma City, the couple returned to Iowa Park to establish residence.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Iowa Park High School. The bride is employed by Wal-Mart of Wichita Falls in the jewelry department. Perry is employed by Norco Manufacturing.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included the bride's grandmother, Dorothy Billen, and Paris and Vicky Billen and family, all of Walters; Georgene, Donna and Pam Devine of Austin; Melvin and Sharon Copeland and family of Fort Worth; Rick and Shirley Cannedy of Richardson; Diane Reece and family of Keene; Tommy and Candy Grantham and family of Weatherford; Paul and Cora Billen of Lawton, Okla., and Everett and Connie Cranford of Burleson.

As I See It

By Bob Hamilton

Without a doubt, the most common question I've been asked during the past week has been, "Well, are you ready for Christmas?"

My stock answer, as it has been for the past 20-plus years is, "No, not until we get our Christmas edition out."

No, I'm really not ready for Christmas, but I'm warming up to the fact that it's just around the corner.

Helping me warm up to the big holiday's nearing are a great number of things: all the advertising of Christmas gifts and decorations; increasing numbers of Letters to Santa Clause coming into the office; putting up our own Christmas tree and decorations at home; the lights and decorations of the city's around town, and, especially, all the beautiful outside decorations at homes throughout the city.

After TU Electric jumped up its rates for electricity last August, I was afraid that a majority of homeowners might cut back, or even leave off, their outside decorations this season.

But, thankfully, I was wrong. In fact, I don't doubt that there are even more homes with more decorations than our community has ever seen in the Yule season.

Oh, another thing that has helped me begin warming up to Christmas time is the fact that I got our pictures taken during Thanksgiving, for our Christmas issue's front page. It'll be somewhat different from the past number of years, but one I think will be a slight improvement.

You'll see what I mean Dec. 23.

Despite all the "warming up" I'm going through in preparation for Christmas, I've still not done any gift shopping.

That shocks a lot of folks, especially those who began last summer.

But, true to my actions of the past, I don't do my shopping, or even considering what I'm going to buy, until that Christmas issue rolls off the press, each issue is labeled for subscribers and taken to the mail, and the news stands are filled.

Then, and not before, am I ready for Christmas.

Worth Quoting

Anything for a headline department!

An environmental group this week accused the U.S. oil industry of spilling and leaking 1,000 times more oil each year than was spilled by the Exxon Valdez in Alaska four years ago.

Astonishing, isn't it?

Friends of the Earth, in a 234-page report, blasted the oil industry for a pattern of inefficient operations that allows leakage, venting, spilling and evaporation of oil on a daily basis.

The group said that 11 billion gallons a year is lost through such means.

That figure of 11 billion gallons was designed to get headlines -- and it did -- across the country.

Evidently, no one bothered to check out the numbers but on the face of it, it's a ridiculous statement.

Eleven billion gallons -- and those that want to put the oil industry in a bad light always use gallons rather than the traditional barrels -- translates into 262 million barrels.

That 262 million barrels translates into about six months total production for all of Texas and a total of eight years production from all wells in Andrews county.

Can you imagine the oil companies, with all their cost-cutting moves, letting eight years production from this county, go to waste?

Incidentally, 262 million barrels, translates into $5.3 billion in the marketplace.

Any knucklehead that believes that any industry, oil or otherwise, that would forego $5.3 billion has an elevator that doesn't go all the way to the top.

Chamber

the other members of the community.

Senior Citizen nominees must be at least 60 years of age; either sex; should have done something to distinguish themselves from other citizens of the community, and should have contributed to the community in general, neighbors, church, and city in an unselfish manner.

The nominee for Outstanding Agriculturist can be any age or sex, married or unmarried, and must have contributed something outstanding in the field of agriculture.

The Outstanding Educator must have the same good character as the Outstanding Citizen, either sex, married or unmarried, and should be a person that is recognized by other educators as outstanding.

Though a business is not recognized in its category every year, any that is nominated will be considered for significant contributions commercially to the community, based on employment, payroll, tax contribution and general community impact.

Recipients are recognized each year at the Chamber's annual banquet, when new officers are installed.

The guest speaker for this year's banquet, which will be held Jan. 8 in the Iowa Park High School cafeteria, will be Justice of the Peace Janice Sons.

Friends of the Earth president, Jane Perkins, said the group speeded up release of its report in hopes of influencing the debate on the administration's proposed tax on energy. In accelerating the release, the group evidently picked up far too many zeroes.

Her environmental group supports the new tax on energy while the oil industry opposes it.

Evidently, if we're to believe Perkins, lying is all right if it's for a good cause.

JAMES ROBERTS
Andrews County News

The Clay County Leader has revised its policy regarding "ribbon cutting" photographs for businesses. We have ceased publishing them for free in the news columns. Beginning with this issue of the newspaper, all ribbon cutting photos will be taken and published only as paid advertising.

There are several reasons for this change in policy. When the newspaper and the chamber of commerce initiated the ribbon cutting program several years ago, it was envisioned as a tool to help new businesses get started while building the chamber's membership and cultivating new advertisers for the newspaper.

However, a review of the chamber's membership list and an examination of The Leader's cost versus income for providing this service reveals that the ribbon cuttings have failed to produce the anticipated results.

A big percentage of the ribbon cutting promotions have resulted in the businesses getting high profile free publicity with little or no return for the chamber of commerce or the newspaper.

Bill's Dollar Store is a classic example. When it opened, it got the proverbial red carpet treatment by the chamber and newspaper; however, it isn't a member of the chamber, it doesn't advertise in the newspaper and it doesn't support community projects.

There are many other discouraging examples that have occurred over the years which we find irritating beyond description.

Therefore, The Leader has decided to quit giving away advertising which is the most important product we have to sell.

school year audit, approved taking bids to purchase a used van, and also approved the purchase of a computer program for the transportation department.

The board budgeted $7,000 to purchase a used van, which is used for small groups of students on trips outside the district. Two were purchased last year.

At a cost of $1,995, a computer program which will assist in scheduling students who ride buses will save many, many hours of hand work, board members were told.

"Trying to schedule between 1,000 and 1,100 students who ride our buses almost every day can be a very big problem, without such a program," Assistant Supt. Robert Palmer told the board.

Enrollment in the school district, as of Dec. 2, was 2,031, Supt. Mitchell reported. That is down by two, when compared with the same date in 1992.

Three of the four campuses have increased enrollment, but Kidwell Elementary is down 31 pupils, to 473.

Bradford Elementary has 495, up two from last year; junior high, 490, up by nine, and the high school has 573, an increase of 18.

Ira Herman Krottinger

Services for Ira Herman Krottinger, 79, were at 11 a.m. Monday at First Presbyterian Church in Wichita Falls.

Dr. Robert Jeffress, pastor of First Baptist Church and Dr. Isaac Butterworth, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiated. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery under direction of Hampton-Vaughan Funeral Home. Krottinger died Friday in Wichita Falls.

Born March 16, 1914, in Wichita Falls, Krottinger was a lifetime resident there. He was married to Ida Gale Howard July 27, 1941.

He opened his own business at 17 and owned Wichita Feed Store on Indiana Street. He was an oil operator and a partner with Noel Pautsky. He was owner of Wichita Operating Co. Inc., and was involved in ranching.

Krottinger was a former co-owner of Parkway Furniture Store and White's Auto Store in Iowa Park, and was a real estate developer in the Iowa Park area. He also was a former director of Burk Burnett Bank. He was a member of First Baptist Church and the North Texas Oil & Gas Association.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Ira Jr. of Wichita Falls; two daughters, Joy Ann Lewis and Lynda, both of Wichita Falls; one brother, Wilbur of Wichita Falls; two sisters, Helen Bankhead and Virginia Hendricks, both of Wichita Falls, and five grandchildren.

Iowa Park, died Wednesday, Dec. 1 in a Wichita Falls hospital.

Born Feb. 1, 1918, in Charlie. He was a lifetime resident of Wichita County and a Baptist.

His brother is his only survivor.

Bessie Luna

Services for Bessie Luna, 76, of Lake Arrowhead were at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Owens & Brumley Funeral Home.

Rev. Bill Pursley, pastor of Dundee First Baptist Church, officiated. Burial was in Crestview Memorial Park.

Mrs. Luna, mother of Richard Luna of Iowa Park, died Sunday in a Wichita Falls hospital.

She was born June 15, 1917, in Pella. She had been an area resident since 1920. Mrs. Luna was a Baptist and a retiree from Underwood Barbecue.

Additional survivors include another son, Charles Luna of Leesburg, Va.; two daughters, Casey Nitchke of Lake Arrowhead and Linda Kowalick of Wichita Falls; two sisters, Essie White of Wichita Falls and Flossie Caswell of Levelland; 12 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Card of Thanks

Your many expressions of sympathy and concern are greatly appreciated.

A special thanks is due to Hospice of Wichita Falls for the excellent care given us.

We owe a special thank you to Rev. Mark Mitchell and Bro. Charles Terry for their spiritual guidance and inspiration through Jack's illness and death. To Jane Mitchell for the beautiful songs. Anna Phillips and Annella Bixby for the music.

Our time of sorrow was made more bearable by the kindness and concern shown us by Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dutton and their staff at Dutton Funeral Home.

The family of Jack Forbes

Pharm/alert Health Tips

Colds and Flu — Tis the Season

- The cold season lasts from early fall through the spring. The flu typically strikes in epidemics in January or February.
- The common cold and the flu are both caused by viruses.
- The symptoms of colds and flu are similar — nasal congestion, a sore throat, runny eyes and a cough, but flu symptoms are more intense and last longer.
- A high fever may accompany flu symptoms. Fevers are not common with colds, but if they are present they are usually low-grade.
- The viruses that cause cold or flu are transmitted through direct contact or through the air.
- To lessen your chances of catching a cold or the flu, get enough exercise, eat properly and get plenty of rest.
- A flu vaccine is available to prevent or minimize the severity of influenza.
- The vaccine should be administered early in the flu season to people in the high risk group — those over the age of 65, or with lung or heart disease, or with any disease that interferes with the body's ability to fight infection.
- Most people must wait out the symptoms of a cold or flu. But if you are in a high risk group, see a doctor if you have flu symptoms and a high fever.
- The incidence of serious complications, including death, is much higher with the flu than it is with the common cold.

Home Tour Saturday

lights. Above the fireplace in this room is what Sheri calls her pride and joy. It is a gorgeous mirror that is etched with a Christmas tree.

In the living room she has a smaller all white tree with a Christmas scene displayed underneath.

Christmas this year for Anthony and Janice Dragon is special and Janice has tried to make it very special for their two sons, 13 and 15 and their daughter, 21, because she doesn't know what the situation will be by next Christmas.

"Last Christmas we spent Christmas and Christmas Eve at the Sheraton and just gave the kids money and told them to buy what they wanted," Janice said.

Anthony works for Southwestern Bell Telephone and is transferred a lot. They were transferred from New Jersey to Lubbock, which they thought would be permanent, but just as they were ready to move into a new house they built, he was transferred to Iowa Park. Right after Christmas this year they will be moving to Fort Worth.

"We've had a hard time creating a tradition because we have moved so much," she said. She always make her own decorations.

In the entryway she has used a twig tree, garlands, and pine cones she collected while they lived in New Jersey.

She has several individual Christmas trees. One depicts the "Twelve Days of Christmas". Their main tree is located in the living room and features colors of burgundy and gold with a Victorian theme in the decorations.

Janice has made several twig trees and decorated them, and in the family room are trees made out of paper twist and other materials. One of the twig trees is decorated with Santa and Mrs. Claus.

She has made all of her decorations. She bought a kit and made a large snow village in the sun room with a train underneath that circles it.

The Singers have used their Santa Claus and doll collections to good advantage this year. Noted in each of the rooms are Santa Claus figures and dolls.

The living room decor at the home of Joe and Wanda doesn't change from year to year. They have nativity scenes from different countries, including Germany and one made of olive wood in Bethlehem. One nativity set that her sister brought her from Mexico is displayed in a broken flower pot.

Also among these is one they bought when they were first married and another is an alabaster set that Joe remembers his mother buying when he was four years old.

The Singers reason that they leave the nativity sets in the living room so those making the tour will remember at once why Christmas is celebrated. They change decor in some of the other rooms from year to year or bring out different collections they have not shown before.

The dining room table is set with pewter and Blue Willow dishes. The kitchen is decorated with candy canes and Christmas candies in old jars.

The library is appointed with Santa Claus figures and nutcrackers.

A live tree in the sun room has all glass ornaments the couple bought when they were first married. It has red and white checked fabric bows and a train underneath the tree.

She has the "keepsake" tree this year. This tree is laden with treasured mementos of their two children, Teri and Tony. Their baby shoes, rattlers, credit cards and childhood crafts decorate the tree.

In the master bedroom is a cluster of three trees hung with crocheted ornaments representing snowflakes. Each one has a light in the center. Also angels are scattered throughout the rooms and in the trees.

In the front yard at the Singers are carolers, lights around the front porch, and a green painted ladder with one of Teri's dolls in red and white striped pajamas holding a string of lights in her hand as if she is putting lights around the window.

Mark and Connie Toby live in the old W.F. George home on East Texas Street.

Connie thinks the outside of the historic house is the most eye appealing of anything she has done in the way of decorations.

White lights outline the house, columns and tree trunks. The outside yard lights have been decorated to look like candy canes with big red bows.

Inside, the living room tree is decorated with clowns of porcelain and papier-mache. A train on the floor encircles the tree.

Other decorations include a two foot tall solid white Santa holding a Christmas tree ablaze with twinkle lights. A circus carousel sits atop the piano and the living room mantel is decorated with a large Christmas centerpiece. On the coffee table is a large Christmas basket holding an arrangement.

Other rooms in the home are decorated with Christmas arrangements, boughs of greenery poinsettias and candles.

Very few of the decorations in the home of Todd and Cathy Duncan have been purchased.

The rooms serve to showcase the decorative arts of Cathy. The cozy living room and kitchen provide a warm welcome with their purely country theme.

Cathy has started collecting Santas and she has bought a few wooden ones at shows, but most of them she has made, as well as all of the other decorations she has used. She loves to decorate for any holiday.

On the tree in the living room are raffia bows and wreath ornaments mixed with red lights and baby's breath and an old-fashioned Santa.

The tree skirt is an especially sentimental piece. It was made and decorated with sequins and pearls by her grandmother for Cathy's mother and after her death it was handed down to Cathy.

In the kitchen the table has Christmas place settings with Christmas dishes. All around are snowmen baskets and tumbling teddy bears.

She used the special interest of each of her children to decorate their rooms.

Her son, Heath Hodges, loves to fish. On his bedroom wall she had painted a huge blue fish, so his room and bathroom carry out the fish theme.

The tree in his room is decorated with painted fishing lures and blue lights. His bathroom has greenery over the mirror mingled with colorful fish.

Their son Hagen's room is done in teddy bears. His tree is hung with teddy bears and crayolas. The bears have bows at their necks that match the crayons on his tree. He has tumbling teddy bears and a collection of furry teddy bears.

Their daughter Denea's room is done in "honey bunny" rabbits. Her tree is decorated with wooden hearts and bunny ornaments Cathy has made and painted.

Across one wall in her room is a shelf where bunnies are situated among swags of greenery.

Cathy collects cherubs and she has those out in their bedroom placed among groupings of greenery. For the tree she made little hearts and a tree skirt out of an old quilt. The tree has blue bows, baby's breath and silk flowers. Quilt hearts are placed around the tree as are standing wooden country angels.

The home of Randy and Pam Shook celebrates Christmas in the traditional way.

Each of the rooms in the home features a Christmas tree that is different.

In the living room traditional ornaments from the time the couple married in 1976 are used. Some of them are dated. The tree is also lit with traditional Christmas tree lights.

Texoma families are hitting local garden centers, nurseries and tree lots in search of that perfect Christmas tree.

Cut Christmas trees from northern origins and Texas are available at many local garden centers and tree lots. You also have the option of purchasing a living Christmas tree which can be planted outdoors after the holiday season.

Flocked trees, artificial trees and living trees are all available to consumers in the area. Sizes and types of trees and of course prices will vary.

Most families tend to purchase cut trees which are in abundant supply each year. The two main types of cut trees you will find at local nurseries are Pines and Firs.

Douglas and Noble Firs and Scotch Pines are your variety choices. The First will usually cost a little more than the Scotch Pines.

Flocked trees are also available. Flocking can create a beautiful tree by giving it the snow covered effect.

Flocking material will also help the tree retain moisture, however, it can be somewhat messy in the home.

Your decision on which cut tree to select will largely depend on personal preference, your wife, and other family members.

Regardless of what type of tree you select, there are certain after care practices which will keep the tree looking good and safe throughout the holiday period.

Always make a fresh cut on the trunk of your tree and place it in a strong stand capable of holding water. The tree will take up a considerable amount of water, especially the first few days after you have placed the tree in the stand.

Check the water level daily and add enough water to keep the cut area of the trunk submerged. This helps prevent excessive tree drying.

Place your tree in an area in the home which is away from heat sources, fireplaces or other potential fire hazards. Dry trees are extremely flammable, so maintain the water level in the stand and locate the tree in a safe indoor area.

Texoma Christmas tree shoppers can also use living trees for the holidays ahead. These trees are simply containerized evergreens which can be planted outdoors later on.

Local garden centers and nurseries normally sell Afghan Pine, also called Mondell Pine or Eldarica Pine as a living tree. The Afghan Pine is very well adapted for landscape use in the area making it a good selection as a living tree.

Living trees should be placed in a bright indoor area away from excessive heat or fire sources. Place a saucer or solid container under the pot to prevent water from ruining your carpet. Check the soil regularly and add enough water to keep the potting mix moist, but not saturated.

Before planting the tree after Christmas, place the plant in your garage for a few days to help it acclimate to outdoor conditions.

Those of you interested in a small table top or corner tree might also consider the Norfolk Island Pine. This tropical plant is a nice houseplant throughout the year with the advantage of also serving as an attractive small Christmas tree.

Bright light and even moisture are necessary for Norfolk Island Pines.

Artificial trees are available in a wide range of prices depending on size and style. Allergy sufferers among others choose to go the artificial route. Prices are high initially, but years of use can often defray those costs.

The choice can be tough, but remember the whole process of finding the perfect tree is a great start for a wonderful Christmas.

Poinsettias Are For Christmas

Colorful Poinsettias are by far the most popular houseplant for Christmas decoration. Keeping your newly-purchased Poinsettia happy and healthy is easy if you follow these rules of care:

- * Place the plant in a bright indoor area.
- * Keep the temperature around the plant slightly cool, 60 to 70 degrees.
- * Avoid areas with drafts or heat sources such as near fireplaces or heater vents.
- * Keep soil evenly moist, but never water-logged.
- * Punch holes in foil pot wrapping to allow for better drainage.
- * Are Poinsettias poisonous? Recent research from Ohio State Univ. has proven through extensive research that they are not poisonous. There is always a possibility that some individuals may be allergic to certain plants, including the Poinsettia.
- * Have a Merry Christmas.

Brandt

Mr. and Mrs. Bodie Brandt are parents of a daughter, Sierra Elizabeth, born Nov. 17 in Wichita General Hospital. She weighed seven pounds, nine ounces and was 19 1/2 inches long. She has a sister, Savannah, two years old.

Grandparents are Marvin and Ann Brandt of Iowa Park and Lou Davis and Rhoda Allen of Merkel.

Great-grandparents are Jack and Bessie Vestal of Iowa Park, Ozro and Marge Sheppard, and Ted Allen, all of Merkel.

Iowa Parkans attend church land dedication

A large number of Iowa Park residents were present Oct. 23 for the dedication of a tract of land on Southwestern Parkway in Wichita Falls for a new Seventh-day Adventist Church. Several families who reside in the immediate Iowa Park area are members.

Also attending were the mayors of three cities, including Wayne House of Iowa Park, Pat Norris of Burk Burnett and Michael Lam of Wichita Falls.

Chaplain Jim Daniels from Sheppard AFB and leaders of the Southwest Seventh-day Adventist Church were among the guests.

Marlene Bengt, leader of the Southwest church 10 years, was in charge of the event. Texas Conference President Robert Wood, other officers, and several former pastors also attended the special event.

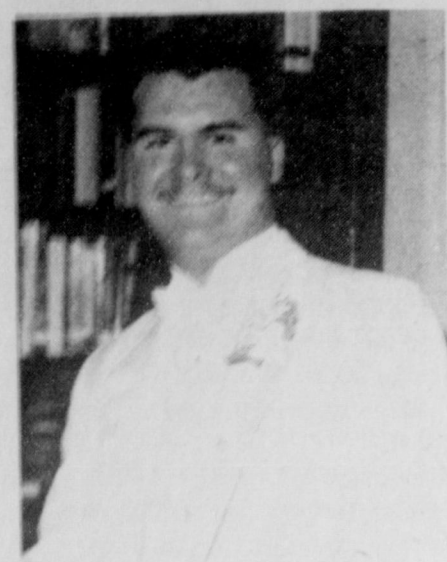

Construction of the new church will begin within a year. The congregation is presently renting from St. Mark's Methodist Church on McNeil Ave.

BRADFORD

Students going to the movies

On Dec. 17, the last day of school before the Christmas holidays, all students at Bradford will be able to go to the movies in Wichita Falls. Title of the movie is "We're Back! A Dinosaur's Story."

Instead of buying gifts to exchange with classmates, students are asked to bring $2.50 to cover the cost of the movie. They may turn the money in to their teacher any time before Dec. 17. After lunch, the students will sing carols in the cafeteria, then return to their classrooms for Christmas parties.

Adopt a Whale

The fourth grade science students of Becky Pedon are participating in a Whale Adoption Project sponsored by the International Wildlife Coalition. The focus of the international group is to make people aware of endangered animals and what can be done about it.

One of the students, Ruth Fitzgerald, wrote to the group and asked for information. The classes are using the material she received to work on this project.

It costs $17 to adopt a whale, and the money goes to fund the scientists who identify and study endangered animals. A sign-up sheet will be available for students who wish to participate.

The whale the students plan to adopt is a male, and his name is Smoke. They will receive a 5x7 photo of him.

Choirs to sing at Bradford

The junior high choir will sing at Bradford next Monday, and on Tuesday, the students will be entertained by the high school show choir.

School gift shop

Kid's Korner Gift Shoppe opened at Bradford last Tuesday, and will be open from 8 a.m. - 3 p.m. through Friday. Located on the stage in the cafeteria, the gift shop is sponsored by Bradford PTA.

Students may bring their money and shop for Christmas gifts which range in price from 25¢ to $9, with most items in the $2, $3 and $3.50 range.

On Thursday night the shop will be open from 6-8, for younger brothers and sisters and parents to shop.

Through this program, students learn how to handle money and are able to select a special gift for members of their family and friends.

End of semester near

Next week will mark the end of the third six weeks grading period, and also of the first semester.

States and Capitals were studied in the fifth grade Social Studies classes this six weeks. They will take their tests on Friday.

In the computer lab, a new program, "Where in the USA is Carmen San Diego?" is creating a lot of interest in states and their capitals.

Thirty-nine fifth graders had a perfect score on the State Placement test.

Math Relay Winners

The Math Relay, a competition between all the fifth grade homerooms using division skills, was won by Mrs. McClure's homeroom.

KIDWELL

Teacher of the Week

Mickie Moody, second grade teacher, is Kidwell's Teacher of the Week.

Raised in Iowa Park, Mrs. Moody graduated IPHS in 1981 and received her bachelor's degree from Midwest State Univ.

She taught four years at Dinsmore Elementary in Electra before coming here four years ago.

She and her husband, Steve, have two daughters, Heather, nine years old, and Mollie, six years old.

In her spare time, Mickie enjoys camping and watersports. As a family, the Moody's enjoy traveling and craft shows.

Second grade class studies Mexican heritage

Mrs. Cleghorn's second grade class has been studying Mexico this week with various activities.

Mrs. Mary Alfert came to the classroom on Wednesday, and taught the students about the Mexican culture, as well as how to do the "Chi Chi Chi."

Members of the class then furnished a variety of Mexican foods for a "fiesta."

Canned Food Christmas Tree

Kidwell students have until Tuesday to bring canned foods for Kidwell's annual "canned food Christmas tree."

All food donated will be given to needy families in Iowa Park during the holidays.

Second graders know "Tis The Season"

The second grade Christmas program, "Tis The Season," will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Iowa Park High School Auditorium.

Since it falls the same night as the monthly PTA meeting, a board meeting will be held at 6 p.m. at the conference room of the high school.

Christmas spirit abounds in Mrs. Costello's Class

Mrs. Margaret Sheets, a member of the Friendly Door, visited with Mrs. Costello's class last Thursday.

She read to the class "Kitty's Special Job," and talked about how we are all special and have a special job to do.

Mrs. Sheets reads to Mrs. Costello's class once a month and always brings them special treats.

The class visited Jim Wagner at Heritage Manor Monday.

They made a reindeer, a giant candy cane and Santa and paper chains to hang in his room for Christmas.

The class read "Santa's New Sled," to Wagner, and told him their favorite colors and what they wanted for Christmas.

Mrs. Sheets and Mr. Wagner plan to attend the Christmas party for Mrs. Costello's class Dec. 17.

The class has been busy writing letters to Santa that will be printed in The Leader during the holidays before being forwarded to the North Pole.

They have also made Christmas decorations, studied the traditions of Christmas and made special Christmas surprises for their families.

Second grade classes exceed Book-It! goals

Mrs. Cash and Mrs. Wright's second grade classes exceeded November's Book-It! reading goals.

The students read a total of 535 books.

Great job, students! The teachers give a special thanks to the parents who are vital to the success of the program.

Kids can shop at Kid's Korner

Friday will be the last day for Kidwell students to shop at Kid's Korner.

Kid's Korner offers gifts at reasonable prices for students to buy for family members.

Mrs. Miller's class feeds the birds

For a science project, Mrs. Miller's first grade class made winter treats for the birds that visit the Kidwell school yard.

The class strung popcorn, and hung it on a tree Thursday along with pinecones spread with peanut butter and bird seed.

Friday, the students made bread to go along with a story they had been reading entitled, "This and That Bread."

According to Mrs. Miller, both projects brought smiles to the faces of the children.

TAX TIPS

by Lori M. Shierry, CPA

The Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is a refundable tax credit available to eligible employees or self-employed taxpayers who earn less than $23,051 for 1993. Earned income consists of wages, salaries, other employee compensation and net self-employment income. The maximum credit for 1993 is $1,434 for taxpayers with one qualifying child and $1,511 for taxpayers with more than one qualifying child.

Starting in 1994, the IRS will make the EITC available to eligible individuals with or without qualifying children. Currently, only eligible individuals with qualifying children can take advantage of the EITC. Probably the most important aspect regarding this credit is that the government will pay the properly computed EITC to the taxpayer in the form of a refund regardless of whether the taxpayer has a current tax liability. This, in effect, creates one of the few so called "Negative Income Taxes."

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — An opinion regarding the conduct of state officeholders rendered by the Texas Ethics Commission last week was hailed by U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison's staff but downplayed by the Travis County District Attorney's Office.

Reacting publicly first, attorney Michael Tigar interpreted the Ethics Commission opinion as favorable to Hutchison, his client, who is under investigation by a Travis County grand jury for the alleged misuse of state employees and equipment for personal and political purposes while serving as state treasurer between 1990 and 1993 and for allegedly destroying state records in an attempted cover-up.

But Steve McCleery, first assistant district attorney, said the allegations "go way beyond the kind of conduct permitted" under the opinion and that the opinion would not damage the grand jury investigation or affect the prosecution's case against the senator. And John Steiner, executive director of the Ethics Commission, said Hutchison's attorneys had misread the opinion.

Hutchison spokesman David Beckwith rejected McCleery's remarks and maintained that the opinion undermines the prosecution's case.

The opinion concludes that in some cases, an elected official may have employees keep track of political and personal appointments as part of a daily schedule, according to a breaking story in the Dallas Morning News. Also, the opinion said that in some cases, employees may work on state time and use state equipment to handle financial contributions to a politician's officeholder account.

Commenting on the opinion, Tigar was quoted as saying, "It means if a state elected official happens to use a state computer to keep their schedule so that they can more effectively perform the job they were elected to do, that's not a crime. And careful record keeping, as between campaign and officeholder funds, insulates you from being charged with even an ethical violation, let alone a crime."

The opinion was issued at the request of an unidentified state legislator. At the request of defense attorneys, prosecutors allowed grand jurors to study the opinion.

Perry to Seek Second Term

Rick Perry, the state's first Republican agriculture commissioner, announced plans last week to seek a second term.

Saying he fulfilled his 1990 campaign promises, Perry said he wants to concentrate in the next four years on processing more Texas commodities in the state.

Perry, who in 1990 defeated two-term incumbent Democrat Jim Hightower, said he is one of the few state officials to trim his agency's budget and staff.

A native of Haskell, Perry, 43, holds an animal science degree from Texas A&M University. The former Democrat served three terms in the Texas House.

Perry said he has cleaned up the agency, trimmed its staff from nearly 620 employees to about 550, and reduced its budget. He said the agency returned $250,000 to the treasury this year.

GOP Judge Seeks AG Post

State District Judge Don Wittig of Houston announced that he will seek the Republican nomination for Texas attorney general.

Wittig, 52, is challenging fellow state District Judges Pat Lykos, also of Houston, and John Marshall of Dallas, in the March 8 GOP primary.

The winner is expected to face incumbent Dan Morales, who announced his re-election bid last week. He is yet unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Hunter Names Top Staff

State insurance Commissioner J. Robert Hunter has hired two members of Attorney General Dan Morales' staff to fill top positions at the Texas Department of Insurance.

Edna Ramon Butts, who served two months as interim commissioner this fall, and Mary Keller were named senior associate commissioners. Butts will handle the department's administrative operations, while Keller will oversee legal operations. The third senior associate commissioner will be named later.

Mattox for Welfare Reform

Democratic U.S. Senate candidate Jim Mattox said last week national welfare reform is needed and should include tougher child support enforcement, a campaign against teen pregnancies and tougher measures to reduce the number of babies born into the welfare system.

"Some of those actions may be controversial, but we cannot continue down our present path of ever-increasing welfare rolls and generations of children born out of wedlock and into welfare," Mattox said.

Mattox predicted he will win the Democratic nomination by defeating U.S. Rep. Mike Andrews of Houston and Dallas financier Richard Fisher.

Other Highlights

■ State Treasurer Martha Whitehead has hired a psychologist to counsel employees who might be upset about her proposal last month to abolish her agency. Whitehead, who was appointed to the post last summer, faces election in November.

■ Elvira Reyna, a Republican, is the new state representative from District 101, which covers part of east Dallas. She will take the seat held by Rep. Bill Blackwood, who died last summer.

Tainted blood victims sought

Sheppard Air Force Base officials are taking steps to locate former and present military members, Department of Defense employees, and associated family members who may have received tainted blood or blood products from German civilian hospitals.

Recent news reports have revealed that several German pharmaceutical firms distributed blood plasma products to civilian hospitals in Germany that were possibly tainted with one or more viruses.

Some of those plasma products may have been infected with a hepatitis virus or the Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome (AIDS) virus.

In light of the fact that there have been instances where recipients of military medical care were hospitalized in German hospitals, Lieutenant General Alexander M. Sloan, Air Force surgeon general, has directed the identification of current and former beneficiaries who might be at risk.

Sheppard Hospital is offering eligible beneficiaries evaluation, testing and counseling.

Anyone stationed in Germany from 1985 to present who may have received blood products in a German civilian facility is encouraged to be tested, said Maj. Betty Ritchley, chief, military public health.

This would include former service members, current and former Department of Defense employees and associated family members.

Former and currently assigned Euro-NATO Joint Jet Pilot Training personnel and their dependents are also welcome to receive evaluation.

Sheppard Hospital patient administration section will be available to answer questions concerning eligibility from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday-Friday at 676-2727 or 676-6195.

Any military health care beneficiary who has had a blood product administered in a civilian German hospital since 1985 and desires testing should call the military public health office at 676-5939 or 676-7359.
