

Tradition continues: Hawks open season with Bulldogs

When Iowa Park takes the field Friday night against long time rival Burkburnett, the Hawks will be looking to avenge a pair of tough losses to the Bulldogs in the last two season openers.

This will mark the ninth consecutive year that the two teams have squared off to start the season with the Bulldogs leading the series 6-2.

The 1994 Hawks, under the direction of first year head coach Weldon Nelms and his staff, have been pleased with what they've seen thus far and are looking forward to a good season.

Offensively the Hawks will line up with senior quarterback Jason Young calling the signals and a platoon of running backs behind him.

Freshmen, Junior Varsity to Burkburnett this evening

Expected to carry the bulk of the load will be Chad Simpson, a senior fullback, with Corky Petty, Shane Bagley, James Armstrong and Troy Radford getting plenty of opportunities.

Defensively, the Hawks will also have a lot of kids sharing playing time. Clint Scobee and Green will start out at the tackle spots with Hoover and Cory Thompson at the ends. Jeff Taylor will also step in and play either of the end spots. Owen, Simpson and Jeremy Erskine will all play the outside linebacker position with Radford, Heath Ward, and David Ohm rotating as the middle linebackers.

Dale Lindgren and Bagley will start out as the cornerbacks with Chad Shook and Moser both playing some at free safety.

"We've got 22 kids that will be getting a lot of playing time Friday night," Nelms said. "Our depth is one of our strong points and we hope it will give us an advantage late in the game when some of the other teams start to get tired."

"We feel real good about our chances going into the Burk game," Nelms added. "The kids are real excited and ready to go and we feel we are prepared."

The Bulldogs are coming off a pair of scrimmages against Altus and Ardmore and have had some success moving the ball both on the ground and through the air.

"They've got a couple of real good tailbacks," Nelms said. "Donnell is a big kid at 220 lbs and McFadden is smaller but has a bit more speed. We've got to contain both of them. And their quarterback (Michael Williams 165-lb senior) has a real strong arm and likes to throw the ball up the field. They're not a patient offense, they like to hit you with the big play. They have seven people that start both ways and if we can stay close, our conditioning and depth should wear them down."

"Defensively, they match up with us pretty well," Nelms added. "They have the same type kids strength and size wise, but we can rest some people on the line and should be fresher and stronger late in the game. They like to run a lot of stunts and move people around to confuse your blocking assignments. We just need to recognize what they're doing and make the proper adjustments."

With the last two games between the two teams being as close as they were, (21-19 in '92 and 18-14 last year) this one could be decided by the special teams.

"I feel real good about our special teams," Nelms said. "We've worked on them from day one and feel that's one of our stronger suites. We treat our punt return and kick return like an offensive play where we can go score."

The JV and the freshmen will see their first real action of the year today when they travel to Burk to play the Bulldogs with the freshman game getting started at 5 pm. and the JV game to follow at 6:30.

Trustees increase taxes to fund student growth

Responding to the needs of their growing district, Iowa Park school trustees Tuesday night approved an $8-million budget that requires a four-cent tax increase.

The new rate is $1.16 per $100 valuation.

For the owner of a home valued at $50,000, the increased tax rate will cost an additional $20.

Supt. Glen Mitchell explained to the board during the required budget hearing that the 1994-95 budget "is a deficit budget of $169,516. However, $109,000 of that is because of the over payment from the state in 1993-94."

The district's enrollment continues to increase since the first day of classes on Aug. 18, from 2,088 to 2,105, trustees were told.

Tuesday's campus-by-campus enrollments figures all showed increases when compared with the start of school: high school from 648 to 656; junior high from 496 to 500; Bradford from 483 to 485, and Kidwell from 461 to 464.

Tuesday's called meeting was climaxed (shortly before midnight) with a motion setting the new tax rate offered by Dennis Yeager and seconded by Larry Dutton.

All seven board members voted in the affirmative.

With revenues anticipated from all sources to be $8,875,825, and estimated expenditures of $8,075,341, the district is expected to finish the year with a carryover of $800,484, with which to start the 1995-96 year.

Supt. Mitchell, explaining cash flow problems of the district, reported,

"State revenue for the additional 1994-95 earned ADA (average daily attendance) will not be received until the 1995-96 school year. This will be between $150,000 and $175,000."

The budget includes: $5,892,185, or 72.97%, for payroll; $635,241, or 7.87%, for contracted services; $714,602, or 8.85%, for supplies and materials; $247,793, or 3.07%, for "other operating expenses; $249,352, or 3.09%, for debt service; $227,668, or 2.81%, for capital outlay, and $108,500, or 1.34%, for "other uses."

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the board approved an amendment to the district-wide grading policy, changes affecting

ONLY MINOR INJURIES resulted from a two-vehicle collision early Wednesday evening of last week at the intersection of West Highway and Colorado, when a van attempted to turn north in front of a west-bound vehicle. Occupants were treated and released for minor abrasions and contusions. No traffic citations were issued by the police.

Police record six arrests

Iowa Park police reported having made six arrests during the past week.

When officers responded to a reported disturbance in the 400 block of Valley Drive late Thursday evening, the result was the arrest of Marcus Anthony Collins, 33.

Collins, who was charged with

Class C assault to prevent family violence, was released seven hours later after signing a promise to appear in municipal court.

Two men were taken into custody on public intoxication charges Friday.

The first was Russell Dean Eaton, 23, at 12:12 a.m. in the area of Bank and Hawthorne. Then, at 5:37 p.m., Larry Keith Loggins, 34, was arrested in the 1000 block of Mary Drive.

Both were later released after signing personal recognizance bonds, according to the police blotter.

When an officer stopped Shawn Lee Wyke, 21, in the 200 block of North Wall Saturday afternoon on a traffic check, it was determined he had an outstanding warrant for his arrest issued locally.

Wyke was later released after paying $30 toward his $104.50 bond for a traffic offense of failure to stop at a stop sign, and was ordered to appear in municipal court.

Two persons were placed under arrest at 9:17 p.m. Sunday, when officers responded to a domestic disturbance in the 600 block of South Park. Both were charged with Class C assault to prevent family violence.

Patti Denise Caldwell, 32, entered a plea, paid a fine of $81.50, and was released. Timothy Jay Rand, 37, was released after signing a promise to appear in municipal court.

Two cases of theft reported during the week are under investigation.

Someone apparently took more than $50 worth of Wichita Falls Sunday edition newspapers from four different vending machines between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Sunday.

A student told police Monday afternoon that someone had stolen stereo equipment from his vehicle while parked at the high school.

At 12:24 a.m. Tuesday, police re-

Married life began aboard wagon

By MYRNA SMITH

It was the winter of 1933.

A young man climbed in a covered wagon, slapped the rumps of the team with the lines and started the wheels rolling.

By his side was Frances, his 17-year-old bride of 12 days. They pulled out of the rustic, rugged area of Estancia, New Mexico, 35 miles east of Albuquerque, headed in an easterly direction toward Loco, Okla.

That was the beginning of the fabric of life woven in bright colors and dark hues by Wayne and Frances Luckett through 59 years of marriage.

On their "honeymoon" they were accompanied by a second covered wagon, Wayne's parents, two brothers, one sister, a cousin, 52 head of horses and several hound dogs.

Before the group got out of New Mexico they experienced rain, sleet, snow and a sandstorm in one day.

But, Wayne told Frances he was taking her to "God's Country". She told him the reason she married him was because she was tired of herding sheep. Whether she realized it or not, she was trading herding sheep for herding cattle.

"I never got so tired of anything as I did hot cakes and salt pork," Frances said, referring to their 30 days of travel to Oklahoma.

"Oh, sometimes when we went through a town we might stop and get some bologna and bread. And sometimes Wayne's mother would fix pinto beans when we stopped for the night. She put the beans in a syrup bucket with holes in the lid. Then she would put the bucket in a hole in the ground with hot coals and the next day the beans would be ready to eat," Frances explained.

"We raised pinto beans in New Mexico. They sold for $1 for a 100 pound bag, and finally just brought 50 cents a bag," Frances added.

The wagons could travel between 15 and 20 miles a day. The drivers alternated their teams with mules or other work horses.

"We had been told how friendly the people in Texas were. The first night after we got to Texas we stopped at a farm house and asked if we could camp there for the night. They said no. I didn't think they were so friendly, but I can understand anyone not wanting to have that many people plus 52 horses around," Frances mused. One day they saw a vacant house a short distance from a town, "I think it was Nazareth in West Texas," she said. The main thing she remembers about it was that it had a lot of windmills.

"We decided to stop over a couple of days at that house. At last, we could take a 'real' bath," she said. They unloaded a No. 2 wash tub and all got to bathe and wash some clothes.

At Dimmitt a little boy questioned where they were going. When they told him to Oklahoma, he begged to go along. That was where his granddaddy lived. He thought if he could just get to Oklahoma his granddaddy would be there for him.

The Lucketts had an orphan colt with them. To pacify the child they told him instead of taking him to Oklahoma they would give the colt to him if he would promise to take care of it. That worked.

They always traveled along the section lines when they could, rather than going on the highway. But when they got to Estelline, "Our entire entourage had to go down the middle of main street in order to get where we needed to cross Red River. You could not cross it just anywhere," Frances said.

Frances recalled another humorous incident involving a child and his many questions. They were probably getting tired of answering them.

Her brother-in-law said to the questioner, "See that boy over there?", pointing to his cousin, "He has fits."

His cousin was getting a drink and laughed when the comment was made. He got strangled and made a terrible noise, accompanied by appropriate actions for the occasion. The little boy ran to his house, the travelers had a big laugh, and that was the end of the questioning.

The hounds on the trip belonged to Wayne's dad. They usually took turn riding on the wagons' running gear. But there was one that refused to ride. About half way to their destination, his feet got so sore he was having trouble walking, so his owner gave him to someone along the way if they would promise to treat his feet and take care of him.

The hound arrived at a neighbor's house back in New Mexico on the same day the Luckett group arrived in Oklahoma in time for Christmas dinner.

"I thought to myself, 'God's Country', where? I was born and raised in the wide open spaces where there was plenty of elbow room. When we got where all those trees were, I thought I would smother," Frances said.

Wayne and his wife were not in Oklahoma long before they got a wire from her daddy informing them the

Monday a holiday for students, workers

After slightly more than two weeks of classes, Iowa Park students and faculty are about to have their first holiday of the school year.

Monday is Labor Day. And right along with those involved in education, several businesses also are planning to close for the day.

Congressman's representative to be here

U.S. Rep. Bill Sarpalius' mobile office will be at the Iowa Park City Hall from 3 to 4 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 8. Guy Brown is community representative.

Homecoming parade plans told

"Hawk Safari" will be the theme of this year's IPHS homecoming parade, which will be held before the Hawks' football game with the Vernon Lions on Friday, Oct. 14.

Individuals, organizations and businesses interested in entering floats should contact Mrs. Carole Venhaus by calling 592-4715 or 592-2144, by Oct. 10.

Trustees set tax rate two bus routes, and a money transfer, and also discussed holding a meeting to review building needs.

The proposed grading policy was contained in a paragraph which stated, "When determining a grade within a subject area, the grading policy will be determined by each individual teacher as long as the teacher's grading criteria is stated beforehand and is within the standards of each campus and the district's grading policy."

A proposal to do away with the twice-daily bus route to Lake Diversion was approved, as was initiation of an "express" route to Wellington for City View District transfer students.

Assistant Supt. Robert Palmer explained that the bus route to Lake Diversion was picking up only four students there, and three more on SH 258.

His suggested change was to hire a driver to make that route each morning. Because only two of the four lake area students use the bus in the afternoons, he said they could ride on Bus 10 in the afternoons, and the three on SH 258 could be returned on Bus 8, and considerable money would be saved.

There are 24 students from the City View district who are picked up at the district's boundary on Wellington Lane each day, and a morning and afternoon route strictly for them was approved.

That route will eliminate an, students on the existing route from having to stand during the trip, Palmer explained.

Interest generated each year by the Student Activity Fund should be transferred into the General Fund, Supt. Mitchell proposed. He said it amounted to approximately $1,250.

Trustee Max Henderson pointed out that the board for the past two years had been discussing plans to build additional classrooms, but nothing such as details of where the additions would be made, their costs and methods of financing had ever been put down in writing.

Henderson's proposal appeared to be acceptable to the rest of the board, and it was suggested a called workshop meeting on a Saturday in the near future be held on the topic.

Card of Thanks

We would like to send many thanks to those who supported and contributed to making it possible for us to be present for our father's memorial service. We want to thank all our Dad's friends for caring and being there for him and we want to send a very big thanks to our Aunt Susie and Uncle Ray for being there for us.

With all our love,
Melanie and Melissa Williamson

Mrs. Kevin Wells
Shala and Andrea

Our featured cook this week is Kim Wells, assistant director at the Recreational Activities Center (RAC).

"I enjoy my job, working with children and getting to know the people in town," she said.

Kim calls herself an "Army brat." While her father was in the service, her family traveled across the United States. They lived in Alaska, Colorado, Illinois, Louisiana, Virginia, and moved to Texas in 1977. She is a 1978 graduate of Holliday High School.

Kim's husband, Kevin, is a graduate of Wichita Falls High School, and is employed by Allsup's Distributing.

They have two daughters, Shala, a freshman in high school, and Andrea, who is in the first grade at Kidwell.

Shala likes to play soccer and is an assistant coach for a soccer team. In high school she plays basketball, and is a member of the National Honor Society. Andrea is active in gymnastics and soccer.

The Wells have lived in Iowa Park three years, and Kim says they plan to stay until the girls are out of school.

Kim's hobbies include working on crafts, reading, and bike riding with her children.

When Shala and Andrea were asked which of the recipes was their favorite, they both replied, "Easy Cherry Pudding."

COOK OF THE WEEK

Baked Yellow Squash

- 8 yellow squash
- 2 Tbsps. butter
- 1 small chopped onion
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 1 cup grated sharp cheese
- Salt & pepper to taste
- Dash Tabasco

Cook squash until tender with chopped onion. Drain, mash squash, add butter, Worcestershire, salt and pepper to taste, dash Tabasco.

Make a cream sauce and add grated cheese. Mix sauce with squash. Put in greased casserole. Top with cracker crumbs and dots of butter. Bake 20 minutes in 350 degree oven.

Stuffed Cabbage Rolls

- 12 large cabbage leaves
- 1 1/4 lb. ground beef
- 2 tsps. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 1 cup cooked rice
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 egg
- 1/2 tsp. poultry seasoning or thyme
- 2 Tbsps. vegetable oil
- 2 - 8 oz. cans tomato sauce
- 1 Tbsp. brown sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 Tbsp. lemon juice or vinegar

Cover cabbage leaves with boiling water and let stand 5 minutes, or until limp; drain.

Combine next 7 ingredients. Place equal portions of meat mixture in center of each leaf. Fold sides of each leaf over meat; roll up and fasten with toothpicks or string. Brown in hot oil in very large skillet. Pour in tomato sauce. Combine sugar, water and lemon juice. Stir into tomato sauce. Simmer covered one hour, basting occasionally. Makes 6 servings.

Easy Cherry Pudding

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup flour
- 2 tsps. baking powder
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 cup red sour cherries
- Dash Tabasco
- 1/2 cup sugar

In 9-inch square pan, melt butter. In bowl combine next 4 ingredients. Mix until well blended. Pour over melted butter; do not stir. Pour undrained cherries over batter; do not stir. Sprinkle 1/2 cup sugar over cherries; do not stir. Bake 1 hour at 325 degrees.

Poppy Seed Chicken

Stew 1 chicken (or 4-6 chicken breasts), add chicken broth to water. Remove meat from bone.

Mix 1 can cream of chicken soup and 1 - 8 oz. carton sour cream. Add poppy seeds (1/4 to 1/2 jar), salt and pepper. Put chicken pieces in bottom of buttered casserole (or you can mix chicken with soup). Pour soup mix over.

Melt 1/4 cup butter and mix with crumbled Ritz crackers. Put on top of casserole. Bake uncovered, 30-45 minutes at 350 degrees.

L.A. TANS

Tan in cool, comfortable surroundings with a greater sense of privacy. Very affordable rates. 30 days - $30; 15 days - $18.50. Open 7 days a week with hours that are convenient to your schedule. For appointment, call 592-4539

Fruit Salad

- 1 can apricot pie filling
 - 1 large can Mandarin oranges, drained
 - 2 or 3 firm bananas
 - 1 large can chunk pineapple (don't drain)
 - 1/2 cup sugar.
- Mix and chill.

Pace is retired

Thomas J. Pace recently retired after 29 years at Southern Illinois Univ. at Carbondale.

He is the son of the late Tom and Perle Pace.

He was honored by the Department of Speech Communication with a symposium of papers and a banquet at which graduate assistant teaching awards were initiated in his name.

The 150 persons attended included previous students and colleagues from many parts of the country.

Pace was director of the department's graduate studies 20 years.

On Dean's honor roll

Tim Bradberry was recently named to the Dean's honor roll, which requires a B or 3.0 grade point average, at Cameron Univ. in Lawton.

Bradberry, an Iowa Park High School graduate, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bradberry.

As I See It

By Bob Hamilton

If any Democrats campaign on the fact that their party got the crime bill passed in Washington, they're blowing a lot of steam.

As information develops on the final bill, it becomes apparent that the bill will do absolutely nothing to curb crime, and at the same time increase the national debt.

The president's famed "Three Strikes and You're Out" is a bunch of bunk. At least on the local level.

Why? It's very simple. The crimes must be committed as federal offenses, and have nothing to do with our types of local crimes. Well, possibly if you do a lot of stealing at the post office.

Federal law does not apply to state and local law. A federal bill requiring imprisonment can only apply to crimes of a federal nature. Check that one out with your lawyers and judges, if you doubt me.

As far as local crimes are concerned, the bill asks states to increase the percentage of violent offenders who serve any time at all in prisons, states Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison.

And those 100,000 additional police officers who will be turned loose on the criminals? That one's a joke, also.

Local governments who hire additional officers under the program will have to pay 80 percent of their salaries.

That is, during the three years the language of the bill addresses. After that, the local government must pick up the other 20 percent of the salaries.

And it's interesting that a federal government, which is running an annual deficit of nearly $200-billion and is over $4-trillion in debt, can afford to spend any more money on anything!

My banker tells me I can't do that kind of spending with that kind of debt.

Of course, the major thrust of the congressmen who supported the bill was about banning semi-automatic weapons.

I have no figures with which to argue the point, but I doubt seriously the percentage of crimes committed with semi-automatic weapons.

But I wouldn't argue that any crime committed with a weapon of any kind should be eliminated.

However, this type of control just plainly doesn't work. For instance, Washington D.C. has a ban on handguns, but that city has the highest crime rates in the entire nation.

My old conservative editor friend Harlan Bridwell, over at Bridgeport, says the ban on semi-automatic weapons is designed "to be an easy way to get a foot in the door, and get the American people accustomed to accepting government mandated gun control."

"They're smart enough to know that a gradual imposition of controls is the easiest way to break down resistance. "Passing another gun control law will do nothing to disarm criminals. Open your eyes and look around you. It's already against the law for criminals to carry guns. Does that stop them," Bridwell says.

I'm afraid this bill was nothing more than an election year ploy meant to pull the wool over the eyes of the voters. It will do absolutely nothing to curb crime.

ceived a call that a woman in the 600 block of East Lafayette had been drinking alcohol and then took a bottle of pills in an apparent attempt to commit suicide.

The woman was transported to a Wichita Falls hospital to be observed the balance of the night, and then was to be evaluated by an MHMR official Wednesday.

The only criminal mischief offense entered in the blotter during the week was a report received Wednesday that someone had spray painted the letters B.R.R. on the blue metal building at the junior high school.

Campaign signs

The Texas Department of Transportation has a booklet and summary materials which clarify rules regarding political signs. In summary, these rules state: 1) Signs must be on private property. 2) Signs may be erected no more than 60 days before the election and removed no more than 10 days after the election. 3) Signs must be no larger than 50 square feet. 4) Signs must not be visible from an Interstate.

Federal aid primary highway or non freeway Federal-aid primary highway. These rules are for signs on rural roads and FM highways.

What these rules suggest is that all political signs which are in place now are illegal, because of the 60 day rule. If you feel as I do, that the rules are good rules, I urge you to contact every candidate with illegal signs and chastise him/her. We do not recommend tearing down anyone's signs, illegal or not. Especially experienced candidates and current office holders should know these rules, however.

No matter what decision my opponent makes, our campaign volunteers have been told that we will not put out signs that we know to be illegal. Thus, our signs will go out on or about September 8. Anyone who spots an illegal Haywood sign is urged to call me at 1-800-866-7330.

HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Proponents of casino gambling got a setback last week when Texas Attorney General Dan Morales ruled that a constitutional amendment is needed to legalize such activity.

For casino gambling to become legal, a two-thirds majority vote of the state Legislature would be required to put the issue before voters, who would have the final say in whether to amend the state constitution.

Had Morales ruled that a constitutional amendment was not necessary, a simple majority vote of the Legislature and the governor's signature would have legalized casino gambling.

Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said Morales' decision was reasonable and that it would save time if casino gambling is addressed in the next legislative session.

100 House Votes Needed

Lloyd Criss of La Marque, who is chairman of the Texas Riverboat Association and a former state representative, noted that Morales' ruling would make it harder to legalize casino gambling because 100 votes would be needed in the House for a clear (two-thirds) majority, rather than 76 votes for a simple majority, had the attorney general decided a constitutional amendment vote was unnecessary.

"Absolutely it makes our job more difficult...I'm really surprised the attorney general would rule in this manner," Criss told the Austin American-Statesman.

Tom Pauken, chairman of the Texas Republican Party, said he feels voters don't want casino gambling, and casino gambling interests will have a hard time getting even a simple majority in the House when it comes to a vote.

Morales' Republican opponent in the Nov. 8 election, state District Judge Don Wittig of Houston, criticized the incumbent for accepting $75,000 in donations from Rob "Mattress Mac" McIngvale of Houston, who had expressed interest in opening a casino gambling establishment.

But Morales said the money was a show of support for other interests as well, such as his anti-crime initiatives. Morales, however, returned $2,500 in donations from a casino gambling political action committee.

Boot for Unruly Students

The 17-member Select Committee of the Texas Education Agency on Aug. 22 adopted a proposal that would allow public school teachers to remove students from the classroom for unruly behavior.

The "zero tolerance" proposal also calls for unruly students to be placed in alternative classes or, if necessary, refer them to juvenile authorities.

According to The Dallas Morning News, the select committee, which is chaired by Sen. Bill Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant, has been working several months on recommendations to revise state education requirements and to revamp the Texas Education Agency. Ratliff also is chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

Haley Leaves State Senate

State Sen. Bill Haley, D-Center, resigned last week to take a position as executive director of the Texas Motor Transportation Association, a group representing more than 1,100 trucking firms in the state.

Haley's departure means the Democratic party must hurry to fill his spot on the Nov. 8 election ballot. In order to be replaced on the ballot, state law requires that Haley first be declared ineligible to serve. That could be accomplished if Haley establishes residence outside his district.

Haley's East Texas district includes the counties of Angelina, Nacogdoches, Cherokee, Hardin, Henderson, Jasper, Newton, Polk, Sabine, San Augustine, San Jacinto and Tyler and parts of Smith and Montgomery counties.

A former school teacher, Haley served 11 years in the House and six years in the Senate. He came to be regarded as the father of House Bill 72, the sweeping education reform package that became law in 1984.

Low-performing Schools

About 100 more public schools would have been ranked low-performing if the state had used last year's rating system, according to figures released last week by the Texas Education Agency.

The apparent reason is a law requiring more grades to be tested on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills.

This year's figure was based on scores from tests in grades three through eight and 10. Last year's figure was based just on grades four, eight and 10.

TEA announced earlier that the number of schools ranked low-performing had dropped from 336 last year to 55.

Other Highlights

■ Texas led the nation in total jobs created during June, according to Blue Chip Job Growth Update, published by Arizona State University's Economic Outlook Center. Texas added 223,500 new jobs, up 2.98 percent, which ranked the state ninth in percentage gain since June 1993.

■ Texas high school seniors average math scores rose two points, to 474, on the Scholastic Assessment Test this year, while verbal scores slipped one point, falling to 412. The national average for math was 479 and the average for verbal was 423.

Weaver retires

Richard A. Weaver, son of Harry and Irene Weaver Sr. of Iowa Park, retired Aug. 31 from the United States Army after 20 years active duty.

He took basic training at Fort Polk, La., and was stationed seven years at Fort Sill in the artillery. He then cross trained for E.O.D. Weaver has been stationed in Virginia, Germany, Washington state, Johnson Island, Wash., then back to Germany where he retired.

Weaver will return to the states in April of 1995, where his wife Maria, who is also in the Army, will be stationed in New Jersey.

Sinuses can cause sufferer real misery

If you're the victim of a throbbing headache, nasal congestion, aching teeth or difficulty breathing through your nose, you'd probably like to send your sinuses to the slammer.

But could you prove beyond a reasonable doubt that your sinuses were the sole perpetrators of your misery?

Probably not. Dr. Fred Bressler of The Methodist Hospital in Houston says he often sees patients who are convinced their sinuses are to blame for their discomfort simply because they have no way of identifying several other possible suspects.

However, further investigation usually turns up enough evidence to take appropriate action against the offender.

"You can't cure what you can't see," says Dr. Bressler. "The only way to find the source of a patient's discomfort or irritation is to literally look up their nose."

Dr. Bressler says a sophisticated exam using an endoscope, a thin, lighted tube, helps pinpoint the problem. If surgery will be necessary, a cat scan of the sinuses should be done to provide the physician with a blueprint of how the nose is constructed.

"Sinus has become the catch word for a host of symptoms," says Dr. Bressler, "but in reality, there are other culprits which may produce similar symptoms."

Allergies are the most common along the Texas Gulf Coast, and other nose problems, like swelling or a deviated septum, are also frequently the source of discomfort or difficulty breathing."

If your nasal breathing function is not restored completely once those problems have been treated or ruled out, surgery may be the next logical step.

*Don't be sad and don't you cry that 30 years have passed you by.
Right now your eyes still have some twinkles;
but soon you'll smell musty,
have craters and wrinkles.
So get up and cheer and let's celebrate before you're too old and it's too late.*

Yet to all who received him, to those who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God—John 1:12
Dr. Derrell Monday, Pastor

Married life began aboard wagon

doctor didn't think her mother would live. Her sixth child had been born and she had developed complications from childbirth. They returned to New Mexico in March.

Frances was the oldest of the now six children, so she felt she really needed to stay and help with the baby and the other children. However, in about two months her father decided he would feel better if his sister, the late Mrs. Lee Thompson of Iowa Park, would take the baby to raise, which she did.

Frances said, "We probably never would have come back here, but Wayne thought so much of my mother, and he felt we should return so we could watch the baby, Wilma Lee, grow up and help what we could, and I agreed." "The baby" is now Mrs. Walter Spruiell.

They returned to Iowa Park in June 1934 with a trucker they knew who was hauling pinto beans. The two younger children, a brother and a sister, came later and the Lucketts helped raise them.

Frances lost one brother in 1937 when a horse fell on him, and another one in 1938. He was accidentally shot when a 22-rifle got hung on a horse's reins and discharged.

She said, "It was so dry here and the water was so awful tasting that I could hardly drink it. They were in the process of building Lake Iowa Park when we came."

Luckett learned to weld after he went to work at Thompson Bit Shop, later known as Thompson Tool Co. "Of course that was in the depression years and he was paid $9 a week," Frances remembered.

"We rented half of a furnished house on what is now Washington Street for $6 a month. We had a living room and bedroom, shared the bath with the owner, and paid half the utilities. The cotton mattress with the old fashioned springs sloped to the middle and was most uncomfortable.

"The minimum light bill was $1.25 a month. All of our lights were drop lights (hung down from the ceiling to a height they could be reached to turn them on and off). If we didn't turn them off when the landlady thought we should, she turned them off for us. She didn't want that bill to run over the minimum. The water bill was $3 a month," Frances related.

She added, "We never bought furniture on credit. We saved our money and paid cash for everything."

"I didn't know how to light a gas stove when we moved here," she laughed, "because all I had ever done was chop wood for the stove in New Mexico."

"Wayne got a little raise and we spent $6 a week on groceries and would come home with three or four big sacks full. After we bought groceries we had $7 left. One week he lost the $7 and we didn't know what we were going to do.

"I wasted more food than we ate. I had been used to cooking for a lot of people and it was hard to cook for two. I got so tired of macaroni and tomatoes, but that was the cheapest food you could prepare then. I still don't like that today.

"Once in a while we would go to the movies. Tickets were 10 cents.

"When we moved here, there was no pavement and the streets were not named. If you wanted to know where someone lived, you asked a person who had lived here awhile and they could direct you."

Frances said they lived in the south and north parts of town and at one time they lived where the junior high school football field is now.

She recalled how Tom Burnett always saw that every child had a good Christmas. She remembered one year he gave every church in town a cash gift.

"Times were real hard then and there were several widows in town who could hardly get by. Claude Reaves had the Red and White Grocery Store. Mr. Reaves would put their account on the books. If they could ever pay him that was alright, but if they couldn't that was alright too, he just marked it off the books and considered it paid. He was so good about things like that," Frances said.

Two stories that pretty well prove the old proverb that "What a man does for himself dies with him; what he does for others lives on and on."

The Lucketts' first child, Leonard, was born in 1935. Before his birth was the first time she had ever been to a doctor. Dr. Gordon Clark's office then was located above the old Rexall Drug Store on Cash Street. She remembers how hard it was for her to climb the stairs for her appointments.

Their second child, a boy, was born about three years later. Another sad time in the Lucketts' lives was marked when they lost their second son when he was a little more than a year old.

Luckett served during World War II in the Pacific. Frances moved to California for two years and bought a house there. She said she bought cheaper than she could rent. Although they owned some property in New Mexico, they returned to Iowa Park when he got out of service.

They owned about 20 acres of land where the old Dairy Queen was located. They shared a love of horses and had both horses and cows there. She remembers a tornado in 1951. They had some calves penned in the barn. The tornado blew the barn away, but the calves were not hurt.

Leonard started to school in Iowa Park and graduated here in 1954. He played football and in his senior year was the first Iowa Park player in 25 years to receive honorable mention by the Texas Sports Writers.

He later saw service during the Korean Conflict, but was stationed in Germany. During his tour of duty he played Army football with some of the boys who later played pro-football. He died at the age of 43 the day after Thanksgiving in 1978.

When business in Iowa Park began to slow down, in the early 1960s, the Lucketts moved to Perryton where he opened his own welding shop. She worked with him in the office.

Frances was amused as she related that Wayne had found an old wash board in Mexico and brought it back and gave it to her for Christmas. She hung it in the office in Perryton and many people who came in would ask what it was. She thought it rather amusing that people did not know what it was used for.

The Lucketts returned again to Iowa Park in 1981 and stayed. But they still had horses and cows in Oklahoma. And were still inseparable in their working cattle, horses, or whatever Wayne chose to do.

The 20 years they were in Perryton, they both were active in the Baptist Church. She taught Sunday School, Vacation Bible School and kept the nursery and was active in the women's organization of the church.

She said, "I was raised by a Bible-believing mother. We read the Bible and had prayer every day. When anything came up we didn't know what to do about, she would always say, 'Let's go pray about it.' I am a great believer in prayer and what it can do, I've seen the results of prayer in my life and the lives of others too many times not to believe.

"My mother always told me, 'There will be no divorces in my family. You're going to pick out your husband and you're going to stay with him.' I'd ask her if he beat me wouldn't she let me come home? She'd say no, but I know she would have."

"When I was little we had a community church. One Sunday the Baptists would preach, one the Methodists, and one the Nazarenes. There was always a lay preacher the fourth Sunday. I was baptized in a horse tank when I was eight years old."

Continuing, Frances said, "My husband was a typical western individual, and loved his horses and cattle. He also was a staunch Christian.

"Before his death he spent four years in Texoma Christian Care Center. Many times nurses, patients, or employees would come to his room and bring him their problems. He could always quote them Scripture, and talk to them and help them with whatever problem they had."

Frances stayed by his side there as she had through their 59 years together.

An avid reader, she does not care to watch anything on television except the news. She has a scanner and likes to listen to it, or play solitaire. She is a member of Faith Baptist Church.

Frances said, "We had ups and downs in our lives, a lot of sad times, but as long as there is love and caring and understanding, with a lot of prayer, you can withstand these times."

Mean Green undergo a 'Plains' learning experience

You can often come out ahead even when you lose a football game. You learn from your mistakes, you move some people from one position to another to find just the right mix and you move on to the next opponent.

That's exactly what the Iowa Park Hawks plan to do after a frustrating 3-2 loss in the teams' final scrimmage against Plains High School last Thursday in Crosbyton.

The Hawks, after traveling for 3 1/2 hours, fell behind early as the Cowboys scored on their fourth play from scrimmage on a 46-yard touchdown pass. Ten plays later Plains made it 2-0 on a 1-yard quarterback sneak before the Hawks had even touched the ball.

"I felt we started out a bit slow after the long bus ride," head coach Weldon Nelms said. "Also we didn't work on anything Plains was going to be running. We concentrated on what we need to do to get ready for Burk and the lack of mental preparation hurt us a bit. They came out excited about playing a 3A school and took it as a real challenge, and our kids didn't think much about playing a 1A school after playing the Coyotes last week. That might have helped us get focused and made us realize we're not good enough to take anybody for granted."

Trailing 2-0, the Hawks sputtered offensively before moving the ball to the Cowboy 4-yard line on the 19th play of their first series of downs. Facing fourth-and-goal from the 4, Jason Young's pass fell incomplete to end the drive with Plains still with a 2-0 advantage.

Iowa Park's defense turned it up a notch on their second series allowing the Cowboys only 54 total yards with 21 of that coming on one play and gave their offense another chance to cut into the lead.

It took only two plays for the Hawks' to narrow the score to 2-1 when Robert Klinkerman hooked up with Corky Petty on a 75-yard TD pass. Iowa Park tied the contest at 2-2 on its final play of the series when Brandon Campbell scored on an option play from 2 yards out.

After both teams had run two series of plays, the teams played a quarter of football in a game-type situation with the coaches on the sidelines and the plays being sent in from the benches.

Starting on their own 30 yard line, the Cowboys went up top on the first play and connected on a 43-yard bomb to the Iowa Park 27. But two plays later a fumble turned the ball over to the Hawks at the 20.

Iowa Park took over and controlled the ball for 13 plays moving the ball from their own 20 to the Plains 15 before fumbling it back to the Cowboys. Two plays later, Plains had covered the 85 yards and were up 3-2 following a 21-yard pass and a 63-yard TD bomb. The Hawks were only able to get off one more play before the quarter had expired.

"They really didn't move the ball that well against us," Nelms said. "A couple of big pass plays hurt us, but other than that, we played pretty well. We had a couple of plays offensively we could have run all night long, but we wanted to work on the whole package. We also tried some different people in the backfield still trying to find the right eleven people to go with."

"Overall we're real pleased to be where we are at this point," Nelms added. "We've accomplished a lot from the start of the year to where we are now, but we still have a long way to go to get ready for the real season."

Leading the way for the Hawks against the Cowboys were senior fullback Chad Simpson who picked up 80 yards on 12 carries and Troy Radford, a senior tailback who added 47 yards on only six attempts. In the passing department, Young completed 4-of-7 for 36 yards to go along with Klinkerman's touchdown pass.

Iowa Park rushed the ball 39 times for 217 yards compared to the Cowboys 21 tries for only 128 yards. Plains out passed the Hawks completing 11-of-15 for 280 to Iowa Park's 6-of-13 for 118 yards. Casey Moser led the Hawks in receptions with three for 35 yards.

GARDENING HINTS

By MARK TERNING, COUNTY AGENT - HORTICULTURE

Lawns need special care now to ensure weed-free, healthy turf this winter and next spring.

Home and commercial property owners should begin applying pre-emergent herbicides now to prevent cool-season annuals such as henbit and annual winter grasses from invading lawn areas.

Pre-emergent herbicides properly applied and timed will prevent certain weed seeds from germinating. Existing weeds are not controlled with pre-emergents, however, these herbicides do form a barrier in the upper level of the soil which inhibits weed seed emergence.

Apply pre-emergent herbicides by Sept. 15 in the Texoma area for best results.

Certain precautions must be kept in mind to safely utilize pre-emergents:

1. Only well-established lawns which are included on the product label should receive a pre-emergent treatment;

2. If you are planning on overseeding with rye grass or establishing a new fescue lawn from seed this fall, do not use any pre-emergent. The herbicide will halt rye grass and fescue seed from germinating;

3. Apply pre-emergent herbicides according to label rates. Most people tend to over-apply pre-emergent and lawn damage results;

4. Apply pre-emergent uniformly over the lawn area and water the granular material into the soil if natural rainfall is not expected in the near future.

Most commonly you will find pre-emergent herbicides in a granular form. These products are easily applied with a common broadcast type fertilizer spreader.

These products are easily applied with a common broadcast type fertilizer spreader. Commercial lawn care companies and pest control operators also offer custom applications of pre-emergents if you are unable to make the application yourself.

Pre-emergent herbicides are available at local garden centers, pest control outlets and feed stores.

Products such as Balan, E.C. Grow Pre-Plus (surflan plus a 15-5-10 fertilizer), and Betasan, and Balan XL are readily available pre-emergents for homeowner usage.

Remember to strictly follow all label rates and recommendations when using pre-emergent products. Texas certified nursery professionals are on hand and ready to help you with a pre-emergent selection.

Property Rights Coalition meeting slated in Austin

The first meeting of the House Private Property Rights Coalition will be held Wednesday at the Texas Capitol Extension, room E 2.010, Rep. Charles Finnell, a founding member, announced.

Finnell, dean of the Northwest Texas legislative delegation, was first to sound the call to defend private property rights from efforts of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to declare 33 central Texas counties as a "protected critical habitat" of the golden-cheeked warbler.

"It's the Texas rural private property owner who is the real endangered species," said the legislator from Holliday.

NEWS FROM THE HALLS OF THE HAWKS

JUNIOR HIGH

Choir officers elected

Officers for the junior high Honor Choir and Sixth Grade Choir were elected recently.

Chad Davis is president of the Honor Choir. Other officers include: Johnny Boseley, vice president; Stacey Hester, secretary; Alisha Clements, historian; Carrie Evans, eighth grade librarian; Ashley Shook, seventh grade librarian, and Aubrey Ehling, time.

Sixth Grade Choir officers are: Heath Hodges, president; Stephen Gray, vice president; Brittany Taylor, secretary; Brandon Lane, historian, and Michael Horton, time.

New Choir Director

Donna (Gibson) Brinlee has returned to her alma mater as choir director at the junior high.

Last Friday, there was a breakfast for the Honor Choir and their parents in the choir hall. This Friday, the Sixth Grade Choir members and their parents are invited to a donut bash. These events give Mrs. Brinlee a chance to get acquainted with parents of her students.

Mrs. Brinlee has great plans for the junior high choirs, and they should find this to be a fun and productive year. She attended several workshops this summer, and on Oct. 8, she will take two of her most outstanding Honor Choir members to a workshop in Dallas, where they will learn new choreography with John Jacobsen.

BRADFORD

Lesson in Savings

Fourth grade Bradford students will begin their savings accounts next week.

An annual project, the students bring money earned from chores at home to school to be deposited. The lesson teaches children to save, and shows them how money can grow when saved.

At Christmas time, the savings are withdrawn.

An account has been set up with State National Bank, and Gene Jordan, president, will speak to the classes next week.

Fourth graders busy

Fourth graders have stayed busy during the first couple of weeks of school in core subjects.

The students are learning about "peer relations" in science class. This values-oriented unit stresses getting along, working together and problem solving among peers.

In English class, the children are working on descriptive writing, beginning with their biographies.

Continents and oceans are being taught in history-geography.

Third graders learning to make the world beautiful

Third graders have been learning about making the world more beautiful.

The classes read Mrs. Rumphius, about a woman who planted Loopins, a kind of flower. Following the book, the students made pictures of Loopins using their fingerprints.

This week they read Johnny Appleseed, about a man who plants apple trees. The students have planted bean seeds in science class, with plans to watch them grow.

Open House scheduled

Bradford's Open House will be Monday, September 12.

Third grade is scheduled 6 - 7 p.m., and fourth and fifth grades, 7 - 8 p.m.

KIDWELL

Good behavior earns students' shopping trip

Kidwell Corner, a store operated by Kidwell PTA, is now open.

Students who behave well on a day to day basis are rewarded with tickets which can be used each Monday to shop.

Items can be purchased for five tickets (the most that can be earned each week) and up.

Seniors helping in classrooms

Iowa Park High School seniors are helping in Kidwell classrooms again this year.

Called cooperative learning, the seniors work one on one with students on basic skills.

Something New

Kidwell students celebrating birthdays are now being recognized each day during announcements made by Principal Steve Moody.

Summer birthdays were announced the first week of school and weekend birthdays are announced on Fridays.

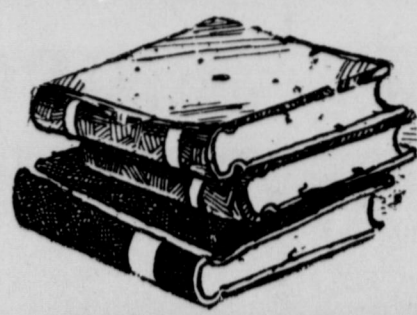

CUB SCOUT NEWS

Cub Scout Roundup - Time for new boys, school grades 1-5, to join Cub Scouting.

IOWA PARK LEADER

Obituaries

Bryan A. Farris Jr.

Services for Bryan A. Farris Jr., 68, former Iowa Park resident and high school vocational agriculture teacher here, were Saturday at 2 p.m. in First Baptist Church of Bridgeport. Rev. Joey Vick officiated. Burial was in Thomas Cemetery under direction of Hawkins Funeral Home.

Mr. Farris, recently elected Wise County commissioner for a second term, died Thursday in Decatur.

He was born May 29, 1926, west of Iowa Park to Mr. and Mrs. B.A. Farris. He and Tommie Wilcox were married in Wichita Falls. He was preceded in death by a sister, B.E. Lehman, in 1987.

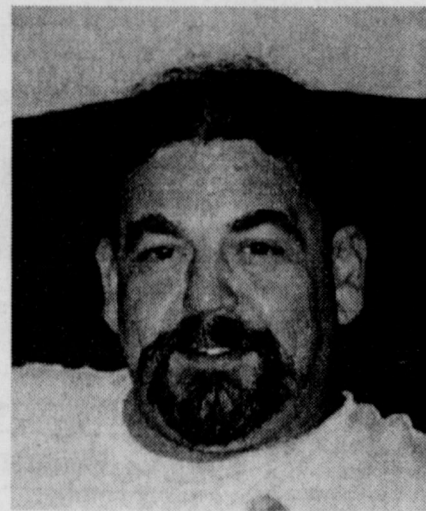

Farris was a graduate of Iowa Park High School and received his degree from Texas Tech. He taught vocational agriculture several years in Iowa Park and Burkburnett High Schools. He also taught in the Bridgeport schools and at Tarrant County Junior College in Fort Worth. After he retired from teaching he owned a welding business in Bridgeport. He had lived in Bridgeport since 1970.

Farris was a veteran of World War II. He served in the 136th Battalion in the European Theater. He was a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars in Chico.

A member of the Bridgeport volunteer fire department, Farris had served as fire chief and assistant fire marshal in Wise County. He was director of the Wise County 4-H.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Allen D. of Bedford and Billy Stevens of Wichita Falls; three daughters, Marie Owen of Hurst, Carolyn Morrow of Burkburnett and Brenda McComis of Bridgeport; two brothers, J.C. of Houston and John of Addington, Okla.; two sisters, Mary Styles of Wichita Falls and Evalene Reed of Iowa Park, and 12 grandchildren.

Michael D. Williamson

Memorial graveside services for Michael D. Williamson, 42, were at 1 p.m. Monday in the Wichita County Cemetery, with Brother Adair, a Baptist minister, officiating.

Mr. Williamson, brother of Susan Carroll of Iowa Park, died Aug. 21 in Wichita Falls.

Born August 28, 1951, he was a Vietnam veteran, serving in the Army from 1968 to 1971. He was a self-employed carpenter and craftsman, and had lived in Wichita Falls eight years.

Survivors include two daughters, Melissa and Melanie, both of Miamisburg, Ohio, and one other sister, Mary of San Antonio.

Memorials may be made to the Vietnam Veterans Association.

Syble Mae Stegall

Services for Syble Mae "Babe" Stegall, 81, a 60-year resident of Iowa Park, were at 1 p.m. Saturday at Iowa Park Church of God.

Rev. F.M. Small, pastor, and Dennis Herder officiated. Burial was in Highland Cemetery under direction of Dutton Funeral Home.

Mrs. Stegall died Thursday in her home.

Born Jan. 21, 1913, in Dallas, she was married to Roy Lee Stegall Oct. 6, 1934. He died Nov. 18, 1977.

Mrs. Stegall was a private duty nurse 35 years. She moved to Iowa Park from Vernon. She was a member of the Iowa Park Church of God.

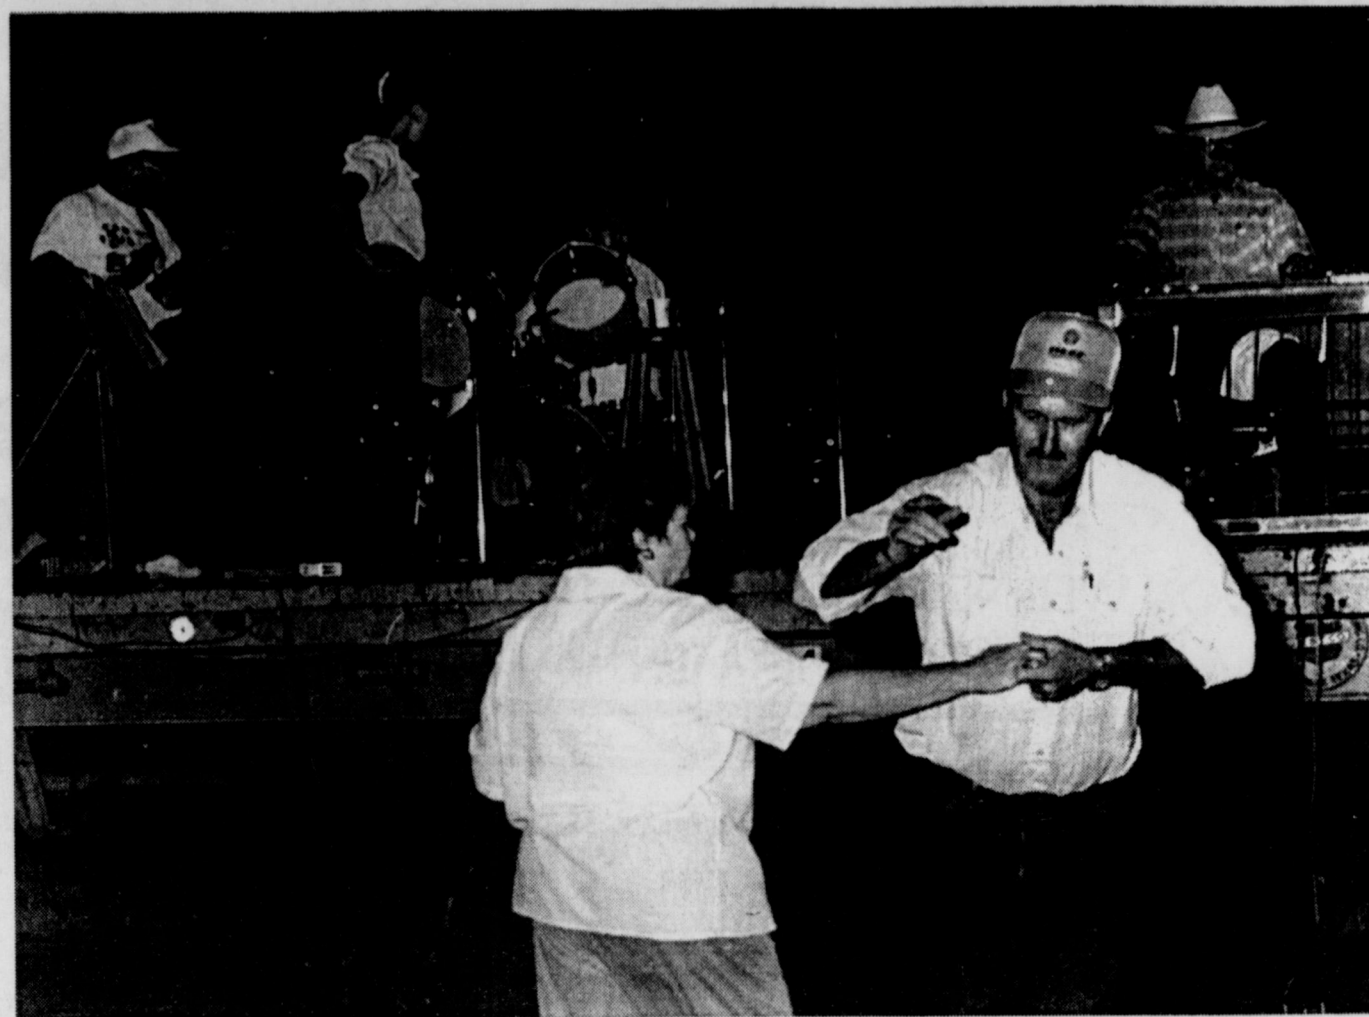

Survivors include a son, Jerry McCord of Wichita Falls; one daughter, Ola Mae Cook of Iowa Park; one brother, J. G. Edgemon of Bowie; two sisters, Juanita Stapp of Olney and Addie Lee Holden of Westfield, Ill.; five grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

Memorials may be made to Hospice of Wichita Falls.

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank all of our friends and family for the food and cards in our time of sorrow. Thanks to Iowa Park Florist, All Occasions, Sincerely Yours and Wal-Mart.

Thank you again,

Experts advise: 'keep moving'

Ready to retire? Two experts on aging at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston offer some advice: "keep moving" and find something you like to do.

"It is almost as if retirement catches some people by surprise," said Susan Shekelle, senior social worker in Baylor's Geriatric Clinic. "You cannot just walk up to the door on retirement day and say 'so what now?'"

As a first step, Shekelle suggests finding some enjoyable physical activity.

"A real contributor to aging well is to literally keep moving, physically as well as mentally," she said. "Find an activity that keeps the muscles in good working order—like walking at the mall or in your neighborhood."

Careful thought as to what will replace work is another essential, says Dr. Naomi Nelson, a psychologist in Baylor's Department of Neurology.

She advises people to look for activities that fill their needs for achievement and accomplishment, not just for something that fills time.

"What works for your friends may not be right for you," Nelson said. "Be creative, and look within yourself to find what is best for you."

Activities and hobbies pursued at earlier times in life, Nelson says, may be good ones to pick up again in retirement.

"Be flexible, give yourself permission to try different things and to fail at some things," Nelson said. "You will find out quickly what you like and dislike."

Acceptance of change also plays a role in positive aging.

"Perhaps you can not move as fast, but accept that and then work to do the maximum of what you can," Shekelle said. "Admitting that you need a little help is far different than giving up."

"Talking about the changes in life is helpful," Shekelle said. "And for couples there may be additional relationship changes brought about by having more time together."

Therapy also opens healthy discussions of issues families frequently avoid.

"Most people will at some time have to modify their living situation. Early discussions about housing and medical care issues will alleviate misunderstandings in later years," Shekelle said.

RAC NEWS

by Jo Lynn Cockrum

Dance

It's dance night again at the RAC! The regular monthly country & western dance will be held from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. tonight. Entertainment will be provided by the "Over the Hill Gang," and refreshments will be available. Admission is $3.00 per person and the public is invited to attend.

Bridge Club

This week's winner at bridge was Dorothy Ward with a score of 4240. Louise Helms earned second high with 3620 points. There were three tables in play.

Bridge Tournament

Today is the final day to enter the bridge tournament to be held on Saturday, Sept. 3, at the RAC. Entry fee is $5.00 and may be paid in cash at the RAC office in advance or at the door prior to the start of play. For further information, please contact John Chapman at 592-4952 (leave message if unavailable), Dolores Hamilton at 592-4431, or Jo Lynn at the RAC (592-4471).

Labor Day

The RAC will be closed on Monday in observance of the Labor Day holiday. We will begin our fall hours on Sept. 6. The office will then be open from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Friday.

Tap, Jazz, Ballet

Dance lessons will begin again on Tuesday, Sept. 6, with Michelle Church returning as instructor. New pre-school students will have class from 4:00 to 5:00; beginners will meet from 5:00 to 6:00, and intermediate class will be held from 6:00 to 7:00. If you would like to register call the RAC at 592-4471.
