Trustees approve plan to assist staff in need

Iowa Park school trustees approved a proposal which will allow employees to donate leave days to another employee who has a catastrophic illness or disability.

The policy received unanimous approval from board members when they met in a regular session Thursday at Kidwell Elementary.

Also approved were one-year contract extensions for all key personnel, including the assistant superintendent, principals, assistant principals, counselors, athletic director and tax collector.

Employees will be permitted to make voluntary donations of one to five annual leave days a year to another employee who requires time from work and has used all state sick leave and annual leave days.

The sick leave pool policy can be used only by another employee who has a catastrophic illness or disability, according to the policy.

Two extracurricular activities for female students will be added next year.

At the request of Athletic Director

Kidwell conducting pre-school census

To aid in planning the total school program for coming years, Kidwell Elementary has sent out a census of pre-school children.

Parents of all pre-school children between the ages of three and five years old on or before Sept. 1, 1995, are asked to fill out the census and return it by March 10.

Since these census' were sent out with students, not everyone with children in the pre-school age group received one. Those who have not received a census may pick one up at Kidwell Elementary's office, 1200 North Third St.

Weidon Nelms, the board approved addition of softball and volleyball for girls for the 1995-96 school year.

This will be the first time softball has been offered in the local high school. Volleyball was in the district program a few years ago, but was discontinued due to a lack of participation.

The board officially called for the district's annual trustee election for May 6. Terms of Max Henderson and Dennis Yeager expire this spring.

February 20 will be the first day for candidates to file.

Board training hours during the past year were reported, as required by state legislation. The hours included: Keith Fisher, 115.25; Randy Catlin, 62.75; Martha Dudley, 48; Max Henderson, 37.50; Dennis Yeager, 23; Larry Dutton, 14.25, and Bert Williamson, 6.

Twenty hours are required by the legislation.

The board accepted the resignation of Marsha Duffie, junior high T.L.C. teacher, effective Feb. 28. Mrs. Duffie is moving from the district.

Trustees approved the emergency purchase of a refrigerator for the Bradford Elementary cafeteria. Low bid of $2,699 was submitted by Wichita Restaurant Supply.

There are 90 more students enrolled in the district's four campus than a year earlier, Supt. Glen Mitchell reported.

December sales good here

December was a good month for sales in Iowa Park, according to the state comptroller's sales tax report.

The City of Iowa Park this month received a check for $33,384.45, which includes taxes collected during December by businesses filing monthly returns in January, and quarterly filers for the fourth quarter of 1994.

The $33,384.45 was a 14.21-percent increase over the $29,230.47 the city received in February of last year.

So, for the first two months this year, Iowa Park has received 14.28 percent more than at this same time last year: $50,051.15 as compared to $43,794.77, according to the report.

Wichita Falls is the only other city in Wichita County on the plus side besides Iowa Park, having increased 1.12 percent over 1994.

Burkburnett is a minus 9.39 percent and Electra minus 5.20 percent.

Council closing streets for housing addition

The city council Monday night approved ordinances to close portions of five different streets, allowing the final platting of Indian Springs Addition, which is located in the extreme eastern part of the city.

Property owner David Parkey explained the closing of Saratoga, Seneca, Hawthorne, Penn and Alcott portions that extend into the new housing development area would provide for designing of the addition.

Aldermen accepted a proposal to allow a paved parking area on the west side of Colorado, across from Park Clinic, but declined a request that city equipment and personnel be used to do the work.

Dr. Erwin Soell explained that the parking area would allow off-street parking in the area where clinic patients already parallel park on the pavement shoulder.

He said another physician is expected to join the clinic staff, which will likely increase the number of patients, and all available parking area on clinic property is already paved and being utilized.

Dr. Soell added that the additional parking area could benefit the library parking space.

Mayor Wayne House said the city crews already have as much or more work than they can accomplish during the year, and offered the city's seeking bids for the project, suggesting a lower bid might be received by that manner, which would cost the clinic less.

In another of the three public appearances by individuals before the council, Mrs. Essie Johnson discussed the Clean and Green Committee conducting a survey of residents to determine if a walking track around Lake Gordon was desired.

It was decided that, instead of the Committee members contacting residents, the city could do the same thing by having the survey question printed on the backs of monthly utility bills.

A 90-day waiver from the city's solicitation permit requirement was granted to Bo Watson, but on a 4-1 vote by the council.

Watson, an employee of Edward D. Jones & Co., sought the waiver so he could visit residents at their homes to introduce himself, and not be required to pay the city's solicitation permit fee.

This was Watson's fourth appearance before the council on the subject, and all aldermen except Bob Hamilton have consistently voiced approval of his requests.

TWO-CAR COLLISION - Local emergency medical technicians were called at 9:31 p.m. Sunday to a wreck on South Texowa, to assist two teenage drivers, Jason Loyd, 16, and Brandon Weatherred, 18, whose addresses were in Holliday. Both were traveling South when Weatherred stopped in the road and Loyd rear-ended his vehicle. Hydraulic equipment had to be used to extract Weatherred. Both were transported to a Wichita Falls hospital with broken bones.

Nancy Moede

Nancy (Mrs. Michael) Moede enjoys working with people. This is evident through her choice of employment, and participation in several organizations.

Nancy is assistant manager of Midtown Manor, a retirement center for elderly people in Wichita Falls. She works closely with the Department of Human Services so she can coordinate and inform the people of the benefits available to them. She also serves as a volunteer with VITA, which provides help for elderly people in filling out their income tax forms.

Nancy is active in the Wichita County Republican Women's Club, and has served as president during the past year. Because of her office, Nancy said she has been kept busy attending the many political functions around Wichita Falls.

Nancy grew up in an area located between Baltimore, Maryland and Washington D.C. When she was a junior in high school, her family moved to Lima, Ohio, where she graduated. She is also a graduate of Urbana College, located in Urbana, Ohio. She has lived in Iowa Park 18 years.

Her husband Michael is employed at Certain-Teed, and her son Mike, a 1989 graduate of Iowa Park High School, now lives in Plano. Another important "member of the family" is Ben, their three and a half-year old Rottweiler.

In her spare time, Nancy likes to bake and try different recipes, and work in the yard. She also confided that she loves to shoot pool. She said that she has always been fascinated with the buildings that come with model trains, so she has accumulated a collection of them - but not the trains.

Her recipe for "Vegetable Salad" came from a cookbook that her grandmother gave her 30 years ago, and the recipe for "Creole Cake" belonged to a great-aunt.

A special Thanks to Carol Lunney and Dina Priviters for providing the refreshments for the Tuesday Storytime Class Valentine Party.

STORYTIME CLASSES

This Friday the theme will be dental health. Come join us at 9 a.m. for a half hour of sharing.

The next two weeks we will be sharing information on Spaceships and making pancakes. Programs are geared around national holidays, special times of the year, etc.

We invite all pre-schoolers to come join us for a storytime class: Tuesday, 9:30-10, or Friday 9-9:30. A class will be held Thursday from 1-1:30 for 4-6-year-olds if enough interest is shown. Please contact Ardis at 592-4981, if your child is of this age group and would like to participate.

TAX FORMS

Come check out the supply of forms available if the one you need was not included in your IRS booklet. If the form you need is not on the rack, ask the librarian on duty if there is a master copy of the one you need. A copy can be made for 15 cents.

REMINDERS

The children's department is still closed. We were in high hopes last week, as the ceiling tile was being put in place. That had to come to a stop because the lights had not arrived and they need to go in first. They are supposed to arrive by the end of the month, and then be put in place. Perhaps we will be back in operation by the end of March. Watch for a reopening celebration, when the project is finished.

Dr. Stutte guest speaker at Garden Club meeting

Dr. Larry Stutte gave a slide presentation at the Friday meeting of the Iowa Park Garden Club at the RAC. He was introduced by Francis George.

Dr. Stutte's presentation was of his trip to Israel last fall with a group from Faith Baptist Church of Iowa Park.

The tour group landed in Tel Aviv, an industrial center of Israel. Dr. Stutte said in spite of the cloudy, cold, rainy weather, they saw many interesting sights, both biblical and modern.

From Tel Aviv they traveled to Haifa, the main port of Israel. Dr. Stutte explained that the Jordan River is made up of fresh water springs which flow out of the slopes of the mountains.

He said the water flows into the Sea of Galilee and that the Jordan River flows south from the Sea of Galilee to empty into the Dead Sea. "The water in the Dead Sea is 10 times saltier than regular water and the beach of the Dead Sea is sandy, dry and salty," Dr. Stutte said.

The group visited Capernaum, the town where Jesus entered the ministry. Jesus preached his Sermon on the Mount on the hillside near Capernaum. There they saw the remains of a synagogue.

The speaker commented that much of Israel is arid desert region. Bedouin shepherds tend sheep and goats in this pastoral country. He said the Israeli use collective settlements (kibbitzin) system of farming. Acres of plastic cover the crops. This helps to preserve water and protect the crops from the weather.

The group visited the city of Jerusalem, the Old City within the walls, and the New City.

In the Old City they went to the Dome of the Rock standing on the summit of Mount Moriah. Under the Dome lies the rock where Abraham was prepared to sacrifice his son Isaac.

Also, in the Old City is the wall of the old Temple, now the wailing wall where Jews go to pray.

Other points of interest visited were Bethlehem, the birthplace of Jesus; Bethany, where Mary and Martha offered hospitality to Jesus and where He raised Lazarus from the dead, and the Bethesda pool where Jesus healed a crippled man who was unable to enter the pool.

The meeting was opened by Norma Fortner, president. Bonnie Illingsworth read the minutes of the last meeting, Marie Wooten gave a treasurer's report and Reba Snow gave a conservation report. Thought for the Day was given by Joyce Short.

Guests at the meeting in addition to Dr. Stutte were Polly Spruiell and Gerry Thurlo.

Hostesses were Denise Gilmore, Carolyn McCullough, Francis George, Norma Fortner and Rete Spruiell.

Pain Relievers: What's the difference?

How do you really know which pain reliever is best for what ails you? There are three types of pain relievers to choose from:

- Aspirin
- Acetaminophen (Tylenol, Anacin-3, Panadol)
- Ibuprofen (Aleve, Advil, Nuprin)

Here are a few tips to help you decide which type of pain reliever to use ...

- ✓ For pain, fever, or inflammation either aspirin or ibuprofen have proved to be more effective than acetaminophen products.
- ✓ Acetaminophen may be used to reduce pain and fever in people who react badly to aspirin. It is safe for children under the age of 16 suffering from chicken pox or the flu. It is also recommended for use after oral surgery.
- ✓ Aspirin and ibuprofen may be used for relief of joint pain, fever, stiffness, toothaches, headaches and backaches, and sprains.
- ✓ The use of aspirin may help prevent heart attacks.

There are instances when you should NOT take any of these pain relievers ...

- ✓ Pregnant women should not use any of these products.
- ✓ Aspirin and ibuprofen products should not be taken by those with sensitive stomachs or by children under the age of 14.
- ✓ Acetaminophen should not be taken by anyone suffering from liver or kidney ailments.

There are other restrictions concerning the use of pain relievers, so be sure to consult your physician should you have any questions. And remember that different pain relievers should not be taken at the same time.

For more information about pain relievers—ask your pharmacist.

As I See It

By Bob Hamilton

I got a letter from an old friend recently. He kinda took me to task on two points, and frankly I deserved it.

Let me mention at the outset that my friend stated emphatically that he didn't want his name used, and that his letter was not one to the editor, but to me personally. I'll respect that.

One of the points was that we never had a story during the past fall about 1994 being the 25th anniversary of Iowa Park High's winning of the state Class AA football championship.

Frankly, it never occurred to me.

I'll give the Wichita Falls paper credit for that one. The team was deserving and the paper is due the credit.

But I wasn't the only one to fail. Neither was it mentioned at the homecoming football game, which my friend pointed out.

The other point of criticism had to do with my recent column following Jim Clapp's speaking at the annual football banquet.

"As I read your article, I began to feel like Jim won that title all by himself," my friend pointed out. And well he should have, because he was one of the players in '69.

Looking back over the column, I can see that I failed to quote Jim on all the different times he mentioned that winning the title was a team effort.

But, friend, Jim did, and often.

The point I was attempting to make was to those young men on the varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams who were in the audience.

Those youngsters had seen Jim with their own eyes, and I wanted to make the point that to be on a state championship team, one doesn't have to be six feet five inches tall and weigh 250 pounds.

No, there were no monster players on the '69 Hawk team. In fact, only two of them, as I recall, went on to play college football. So that should tell you about their size.

"Jim was a respected leader of the team and contributed as much as anyone else to the success we enjoyed in '69," said my friend. "That success was the result of a team effort. It took each and every player contributing to achieve the 15-0 record.

"Part of that team concept began to disappear as I read your article. I wonder if any of the other players from that team experienced the same feeling," he continued.

Another part of the letter has got to come out in print. My friend said:

"Many times over the years while I would be watching a Hawk football game, I wondered what it would be like to not win district or have a losing season. We never experienced that in the late 60's. I also wish every football player could enjoy the feeling of winning a State Championship, there's nothing like it!"

So, once more I'll repeat myself. Not because of having my hand called, but because of the 1969 Hawks, all this year's players and all those yet to come.

Football is a team sport. It takes every player on the field, and on the sideline, to make a team.

Oh, friend, thanks. I needed that!

An elderly widower moved into a retirement home. At his first meal in the dining room, he noticed a lady across the table staring constantly at him.

"Did I do something wrong," he asked the woman.

"No," she replied. "You just look like my third husband."

"Oh?" the widower said. "Your third husband? How many times were you married?"

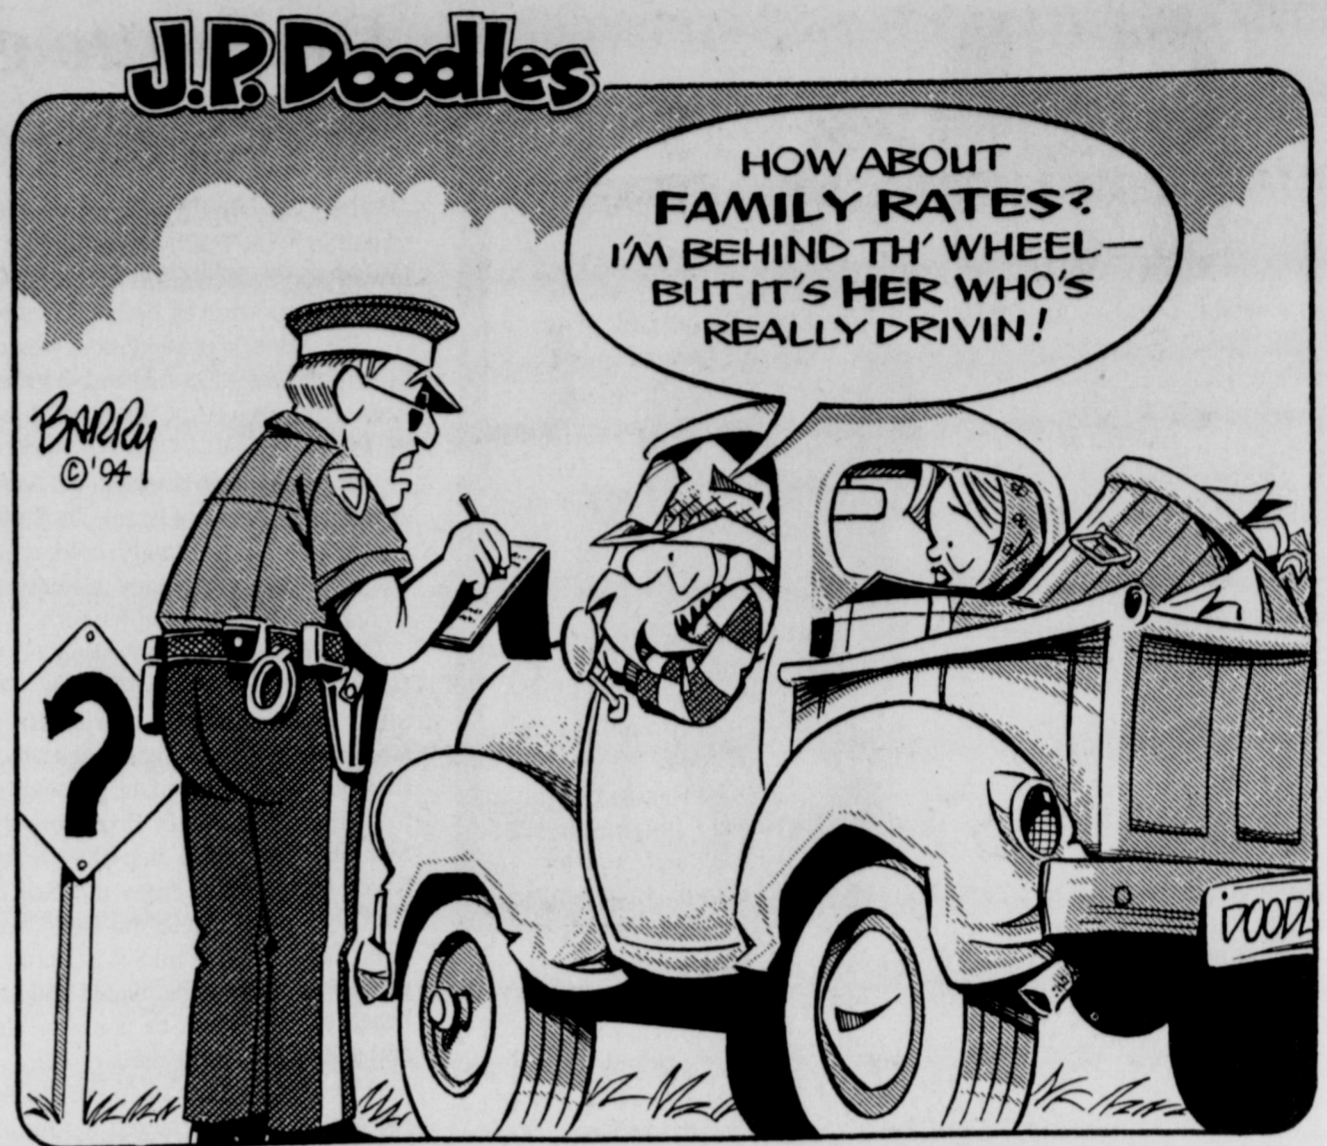

"Twice," she replied.

Worth Quoting

A lot of people drill water wells near their homes, and equip them with nozzles and hoses, and things like that, that they keep stored in a convenient place in their well house. This could come in real handy in case you should have a fire in your home, or a grass fire should threaten your home.

Angie Chilton built a nice new two-story house two or three miles south of Bridgeport a couple of years ago.

She took all the necessary precautions. She had a well dug and equipped, built a good well house, and stored all the hoses and things in it. She had everything real convenient, where she could rush out and grab it and spray water on her house if she ever needed to. Then the well house caught on fire and burned up.

Next time Angie's going to keep the hoses in her home so she can be ready to protect the well house.

Everybody knows that the Bible is the best selling book, if not the best read. Book retailers confirm that the Bible continues to be the world's best seller with some 2.5 billion in circulation.

But there's something strange about the Bible's appeal. The Good Book is also the most commonly shoplifted book in America.

Support is appreciated

Dear Mr. Hamilton:

On behalf of the members of the Iowa Park Genealogical and Historical Society I wish to offer our sincere thanks to you for your support and very kind assistance with our efforts.

The various opportunities which you have made available to the society through your widely read publication has been inspirational to us all.

Through the articles found in the Leader, citizens of the area communities have been able to keep up with the development of the society from its very beginning. There are few community societies, such as ours, who can say they have the honor of submitting material for a genealogy column in their local newspaper.

In closing I would like to say thank-you once again. Enclosed you will find a directory of our officers and chair persons of our committees. If there is anything I can do or the Society can do for you, please let me know.

You are always welcome to attend one of our meetings. They are held the second Saturday of each month. Our next meeting will be Saturday, February 11th at 2:00, at the Tom Burnett Memorial Library.

Respectfully,
Mila Capes-Altom

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Reform was the operative word in Gov. George W. Bush's first "State of the State" address which he delivered in 30 minutes during a joint session of the Legislature last week.

Bush outlined his administration's goals of welfare reform, tort reform, education reform and criminal and juvenile justice reform, and pledged to be a team player with legislators to make sure those goals are met.

Welfare benefits should be limited to two years for able-bodied parents with young children, Bush said, and warned that taxpayers would not continue to provide benefits to those who choose to have additional children while on welfare.

Regarding tort reform, Bush urged lawmakers to:

- Cap punitive damages;
- Exempt public employees and civic volunteers from being sued for good faith actions;
- Stop court and judge "shopping"; and
- Discourage frivolous lawsuits.

Bush continued to hammer on his campaign theme of returning local control to Texas public schools. Doing so, he said, would "free our teachers and parents and administrators to design the schools which best fit their communities' needs."

Speaking on criminal and juvenile justice reform, Bush said Texas must lower to 14 the age at which the most violent juveniles could be tried as adults and called for an end to mandatory early-release programs. He also called for speeding up appeals by death row inmates.

In comments to the Austin American-Statesman, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock and House Speaker James E. "Pete" Laney lauded Bush and said the teamwork already has begun.

Domestic Violence Bills

The Senate last week unanimously approved six domestic violence bills, the latest in a wave of legislative attempts to "break the cycle of violence" and offer better protection for victims.

Still being considered, however, by the Senate Criminal Justice Committee, is a bill by Sen. Mike Moncrief, D-Fort Worth, that would require battered spouses who file charges against their abusers to testify against them in court.

Domestic violence bills that have passed the Senate and now move on to the House would:

- Allow magistrates to issue temporary emergency orders without a court hearing;
- Increase punishment for those who repeatedly violate protective orders; and
- Allow authorities to hold suspects charged with stalking for 48 hours after bond has been posted.

"Texas is trying to adopt an attitude of zero-tolerance to violence in any shape, form or fashion. That's our mission," Moncrief told the Houston Chronicle.

Caucus Finance Disclosure

Rep. Layton Black, D-Goldthwaite, has filed a bill that would require legislative caucuses to report their finances and expenditures.

Rep. Warren Chisum, D-Pampa, who is chairman of the Texas Conservative Coalition, said he will fight the bill, and that the coalition will never disclose the names of past contributors.

In early January, before the Legislature convened, the Texas Conservative Coalition held a $500 to $10,000 a plate fund-raiser.

After the fund-raiser, legislators adopted rules requiring future disclosure and banning caucuses from raising funds 30 days before and after a legislative session, or during a session.

Bush Nominates UT Regents

Gov. Bush nominated Donald L. Evans of Midland and Linnet F. Deily of Houston to the University of Texas System Board of Regents last week. He also named former congressman Tom Loeffler of San Antonio to a second six-year term.

Evans, who chaired Bush's inaugural committee, is chairman and chief executive of Tom Brown Inc., a Midland energy company. Deily is chairman and president of First Interstate Bank of Texas.

If confirmed, Evans and Deily will replace Mario Ramirez and Robert Cruikshank.

Other Highlights

■ Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, has introduced a bill requiring all candidates for public office to submit to drug testing. State law allows drug testing of employees by both the government and the private sector. "Why should we be exempt? We are not a privileged class," Wilson said.

■ Housing and Urban Development Secretary Henry Cisneros has lost his bid to have his former mistress' lawsuit dismissed. In the ruling denying Cisneros' request for a summary judgement, State District Judge Blair Cherry of Lubbock said the suit must continue because, "...there are disputed fact issues that must be resolved."

■ A group of property-rich school districts plans to ask the Texas Supreme Court for a rehearing on its decision last week that upheld the state's tax-sharing school finance law. The districts involved include Borden County, Glasscock County and the Seminole district, all in West Texas, and Barbers Hill near Houston. Lawyer Earl Luna said other districts are contemplating joining the action.

HAND-TURNED AMERICAN STONWARE FROM ELLIS PRODUCTION POTTERY IN MARSHALL, TEXAS

Each piece is entirely made by hand, turned on a wheel by master potters and hand painted by experienced artists. A strong and durable clay body and a high fired, lead free glaze produces a product that is functional and food safe.

Use it in your dishwasher, microwave or conventional oven; however, we recommend that you use a cold oven and never place the vessel over a direct flame. Protect your wooden surfaces because of the natural abrasive nature of stoneware.

Slight inconsistencies are an unpredictable by-product of the clay and firing process. Tiny black specks, bumps, variations in color or even an occasional fingerprint contribute to the distinctive character of a product made entirely by hand.

Our goal is to produce the finest and most innovative stoneware available. It is important to our artisans that you, the customer, understand and appreciate the uniqueness and individuality of our products.

BRADFORD

G/T students to take field trip to Oklahoma

Bradford Gifted and Talented Classes will take a field trip to the Museum of the Great Plains in Lawton today.

The students will also see the play "Cinderella," performed by the American Theater Arts for Youth, Inc.

At the Museum of the Great Plains, students will see over 40 individual interpretive exhibits emphasizing human habitation and interaction in the Great Plains region from prehistoric times to the present.

Exhibits portray regional archaeological discoveries, Plains Indian cultures, European and Anglo-American exploration, settlement and technological development. Outdoor exhibits include a variety of agricultural machinery, the 1902 Elgin, Oklahoma Depot with steam locomotive, and the fortified Red River Trading Post with a stockade.

They will also attend the program, "Prairie Dog Tales," where they will learn about the animals of the plains, and handle objects and items derived from animals. They will also see inside a prairie dog home and observe live prairie dogs in the park habitat.

All Write!

Fourth graders have been working on writing styles recently. The students will take the TAAS writing test March 7.

Memory work

For memory work this six weeks, fifth graders were required to memorize the Preamble to the Constitution, and the "New Colossus," which is the wording on the Statue of Liberty.

Students recited the works this week in class.

Everybody say 'cheese'

Group pictures of all Bradford classes will be taken next Wednesday.

KIDWELL

Learning to deal with stress

Mrs. Janet Bowling, Kidwell counselor, gave programs on dealing with stress to Kidwell's second graders in January.

Using the book, "Don't Pop Your Cork on Mondays!", Mrs. Bowling explained to the students what stress is, and what they can do to deal with stressful situations.

NEWS OF THE IOWA PARK GENEALOGICAL & HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Iowa Park Genealogical and Historical Society had the pleasure, at our meeting Saturday, to have as our guest speaker, Oscar Lochridge. He spoke on his growing up years in this area and entertained us with stories about the traveling he does to meet family members throughout the United States and even as far away as Scotland, where he is planning to visit this May.

He also explained the work he is presently doing with the Tarrant County Historical Commission on the plotting of cemeteries in that area. He shared with us folders and pictures of some of the cemeteries he has completed.

Mr. Lochridge, who is a member of our Society, has been very generous in the donations he has given to the Society in the past. Once again we need to give him a "thank you", as he donated a number of articles to the Society on this visit.

An Easter Raffle and Bake Sale are being planned. Tickets for the raffle will be sold during March and there are plans for two bake sales. A sign up sheet can be found at the Tom Burnett Memorial Library circulation desk.

Please go by and sign up to donate baked goods or your time. If you have any questions or would like more information, contact the Easter Raffle/Bake Sale committee chair person, Loyce Roberson at 592-5653.

Arrests, thefts reported

Three arrests and two theft cases were listed on the police blotter during the past week.

Eldron Andrew Loyd, 24, was taken into custody Wednesday afternoon of last week in the 100 block of North Wall, on an outstanding warrant for speeding.

He was released after signing a personal recognizance bond.

When officers responded to a residence in the 700 block of South Colorado on a disturbance call later that day, they arrested Timothy John Young, 34, on a Class C assault charge.

Young was released five hours later after signing a promise to appear in municipal court.

Tuesday evening, police took Thomas Cecil Sims, 28, into custody on an outstanding warrant issued by the Wichita County sheriff's office.

Sims, who was wanted on a charge of credit card abuse, was turned over to county deputies to be transported to the county jail, according to the blotter entry.

A resident in the 900 block of West Louisa told police Thursday afternoon that a girl's 10-speed bicycle had been taken from the driveway, where it was last seen.

Monday morning, police received a report of a burglary of a vehicle, which was parked in the 100 block of Wood Circle.

According to the report, a cigarette lighter, package of cigarettes and two tapes had been taken during the previous evening.

Hawks heading for the diamond

Play Ball!!!
Even though the Rangers and Astros will be on strike along with all the other Major League teams, there will be baseball this season.

The 1995 Hawks will take the field Feb. 24, against Wichita Falls High School in the season opener and will look to improve on a fine season last year that saw the team advance to the Regional Tournament in San Angelo before falling to Alpine.

Iowa Park returns four starters from last year's 18-10 district runner-up squad including two second team All District players in Clint Scobee and Jason Young and honorable mention Rudy Hawkins. Robert Klinkerman also returns as a starter from last year.

"I think pitching is going to be our biggest strength this year," said head coach David Fuhrman. "We've got some live arms that can throw the ball hard if we can just get it over the plate. I think another strength will be our winning tradition over the past years. Our kids go out and expect to win ball games."

"Right now we still have some of our starters playing basketball and that's good in a couple of ways," Fuhrman added. "It gives me a chance to look at a lot of kids in some different positions and the fact that the basketball team is doing so well can definitely carry over into baseball. Winning breeds winning."

The Hawks return three pitchers from last year including Young who posted a pair of playoff wins one being a shutout over Sanford Fritch. Jeff Taylor (5-2 last year) and Chris Norris (2-1) both throw the ball well and will give Iowa Park some depth at the position.

Other returning lettermen from last year are Cory Thompson, Chad Simpson and Casey Moser.

Players that will be looking to make an impact this year will be Dusty Owen, David Waterbury, Corky Petty and Clancy Lalumia.

"We're not a young team, but inexperienced," Fuhrman said. "That's the big question mark on what type season we'll have. We've got some real good JV kids coming up and some varsity players that didn't get a lot of playing time last year."

The Hawks finished behind

Vernon in last year's district race and Fuhrman looks for the race to be a tough one again this year.

"I think it will come down to the traditional big three, us, Graham and Vernon with Bridgeport being the sleeper team," Fuhrman added.

The team will be having a fund raiser Feb. 25, at the High School Field. The Hawks will be playing a 100 inning baseball game with the players trying to get sponsors for each inning they play to raise money to purchase travel bags and other equipment. The game will get started at 9 a.m..

Bringing Texas History home

More students of Texas history may soon be looking to the nearest historic structure or local landmark for their next lesson.

In keeping with an educational trend toward providing students with hands-on learning experiences, the Texas Historical Commission (THC) has launched a series of lesson plans to help students see that history happened not in textbooks, but all around them.

Titled "Lessons in Texas History," the easy-to-use plans are published as regular features of The Medallion, a bimonthly publication of the THC, and are intended as curriculum supplements to help teachers better utilize the community's cultural resources to teach Texas history.

By discovering the stories of events and people associated with local landmarks, students learn that history is something they can relate to.

The lessons, which encourage students to care about their heritage, are coordinated with the state's essential learning elements for middle school and junior high students and include a multicultural component.

The first lesson in the series appears in the January/February issue of The Medallion and focuses on some of the state's most treasured landmarks--historic Texas county courthouses.

Designed by prominent architects, many of Texas' county courthouses from the late 19th and early 20th centuries are revered landmarks that are considered the crown jewel in each of the communities where they stand.

The lesson leads students to discover the role of their own courthouse and community in the context of a developing frontier state.

In coming issues, "Lessons in Texas History" will feature other local history topics, including a lesson on the multicultural heritage of the lower Rio Grande.

A lesson on the monuments to Texas' leaders and heroes whose remains are interred in the State Cemetery in Austin also includes suggestions that apply to local cemeteries. Most communities have an old burial ground, and like the State Cemetery, these are open books of Texas history waiting for students to read them.

Alternately with "Lessons in Texas History," The Medallion will present a parallel series of information briefs. Titled "Preservation Matters," this series is designed to assist preservationists with activities ranging from fund-raising to developing historic walking tours.

The Medallion, which also offers news and feature articles on preservation issues and events around the state, is available for $7 per year.

Contact the THC, Publications Dept. P.O. Box 12276, Austin, Tx. 78711-2276, or call 512-475-4960. The Texas Historical Commission is the state agency for historic preservation.

Bowie's Lady Rabbits lost 61-59 to 4-A Granbury in a warm-up game Friday night. But the Dist. 3-3A champs made it close, after trailing 36-18 at the half. Then, Granbury lost its bi-district game Monday 39-38 to Levelland.

Basketball Hawks return to playoffs

For the first time in 10 years, there is life after district for the Iowa Park Hawk basketball team.

The last boys team to reach the playoffs was the 1985 team that lost to Seminole in the Regional Tournament in Lubbock.

This year's Hawk squad advances as the runner-up in District 3-3A after splitting a pair of games during the past week. Iowa Park clinched a playoff spot with a 71-53 romp over Bowie on Friday before losing to the No. 1 ranked Graham Steers 91-64 on Tuesday.

Iowa Park (25-5 and 8-2 overall in district), will play Lake Worth, the District 4-3A winner either Friday the 24th or Saturday the 25th at Denton Ryan High School. The date depends on a possible playoff game that Krum has scheduled for Friday.

The Hawks will play a warm-up game against Quanah, the District 9-2A runner-up, in the nightcap of a double header Monday night at D.L. Ligon Coliseum at 8:30 p.m. with the early game starting at 7:00 matching Graham and Archer City, the District 9-2A winner.

In Friday night's game against Bowie, the Hawks used a balanced scoring attack as four players finished in double figures and a tough zone defense in the second half to rip the Rabbits 71-53.

John Lucas led the team in scoring with 17, followed by David Waterbury's 15 and Rudy Hawkins' 12. Nick Black added 11 points for the Hawks who put the game away in the second half holding Bowie to only 20 points in the final 16 minutes.

Iowa Park found the range from long distance as the Hawks drained 7 three-pointers on the night with Waterbury leading the way with 3 followed by Michael Fallon and Hawkins who each had a pair.

The Hawks led 38-33 at the half and saw their lead trimmed to 1 at 38-37 early in the third quarter before outscoring the Rabbits 15-6 over the final 7:03 of the quarter.

Bowie pulled to within 8 at 57-49 with 5:39 remaining in the game but once again, the Hawks went on a big run as they outscored the Rabbits 14-4 to end the game.

Following the contest the Hawk players and coaches each took a turn at cutting down the net ending a 10-year playoff drought.

In the re-match with top-ranked Graham, the Hawks came out flat and shot a season low 29 percent (20-66 from the floor) as they fell 91-64.

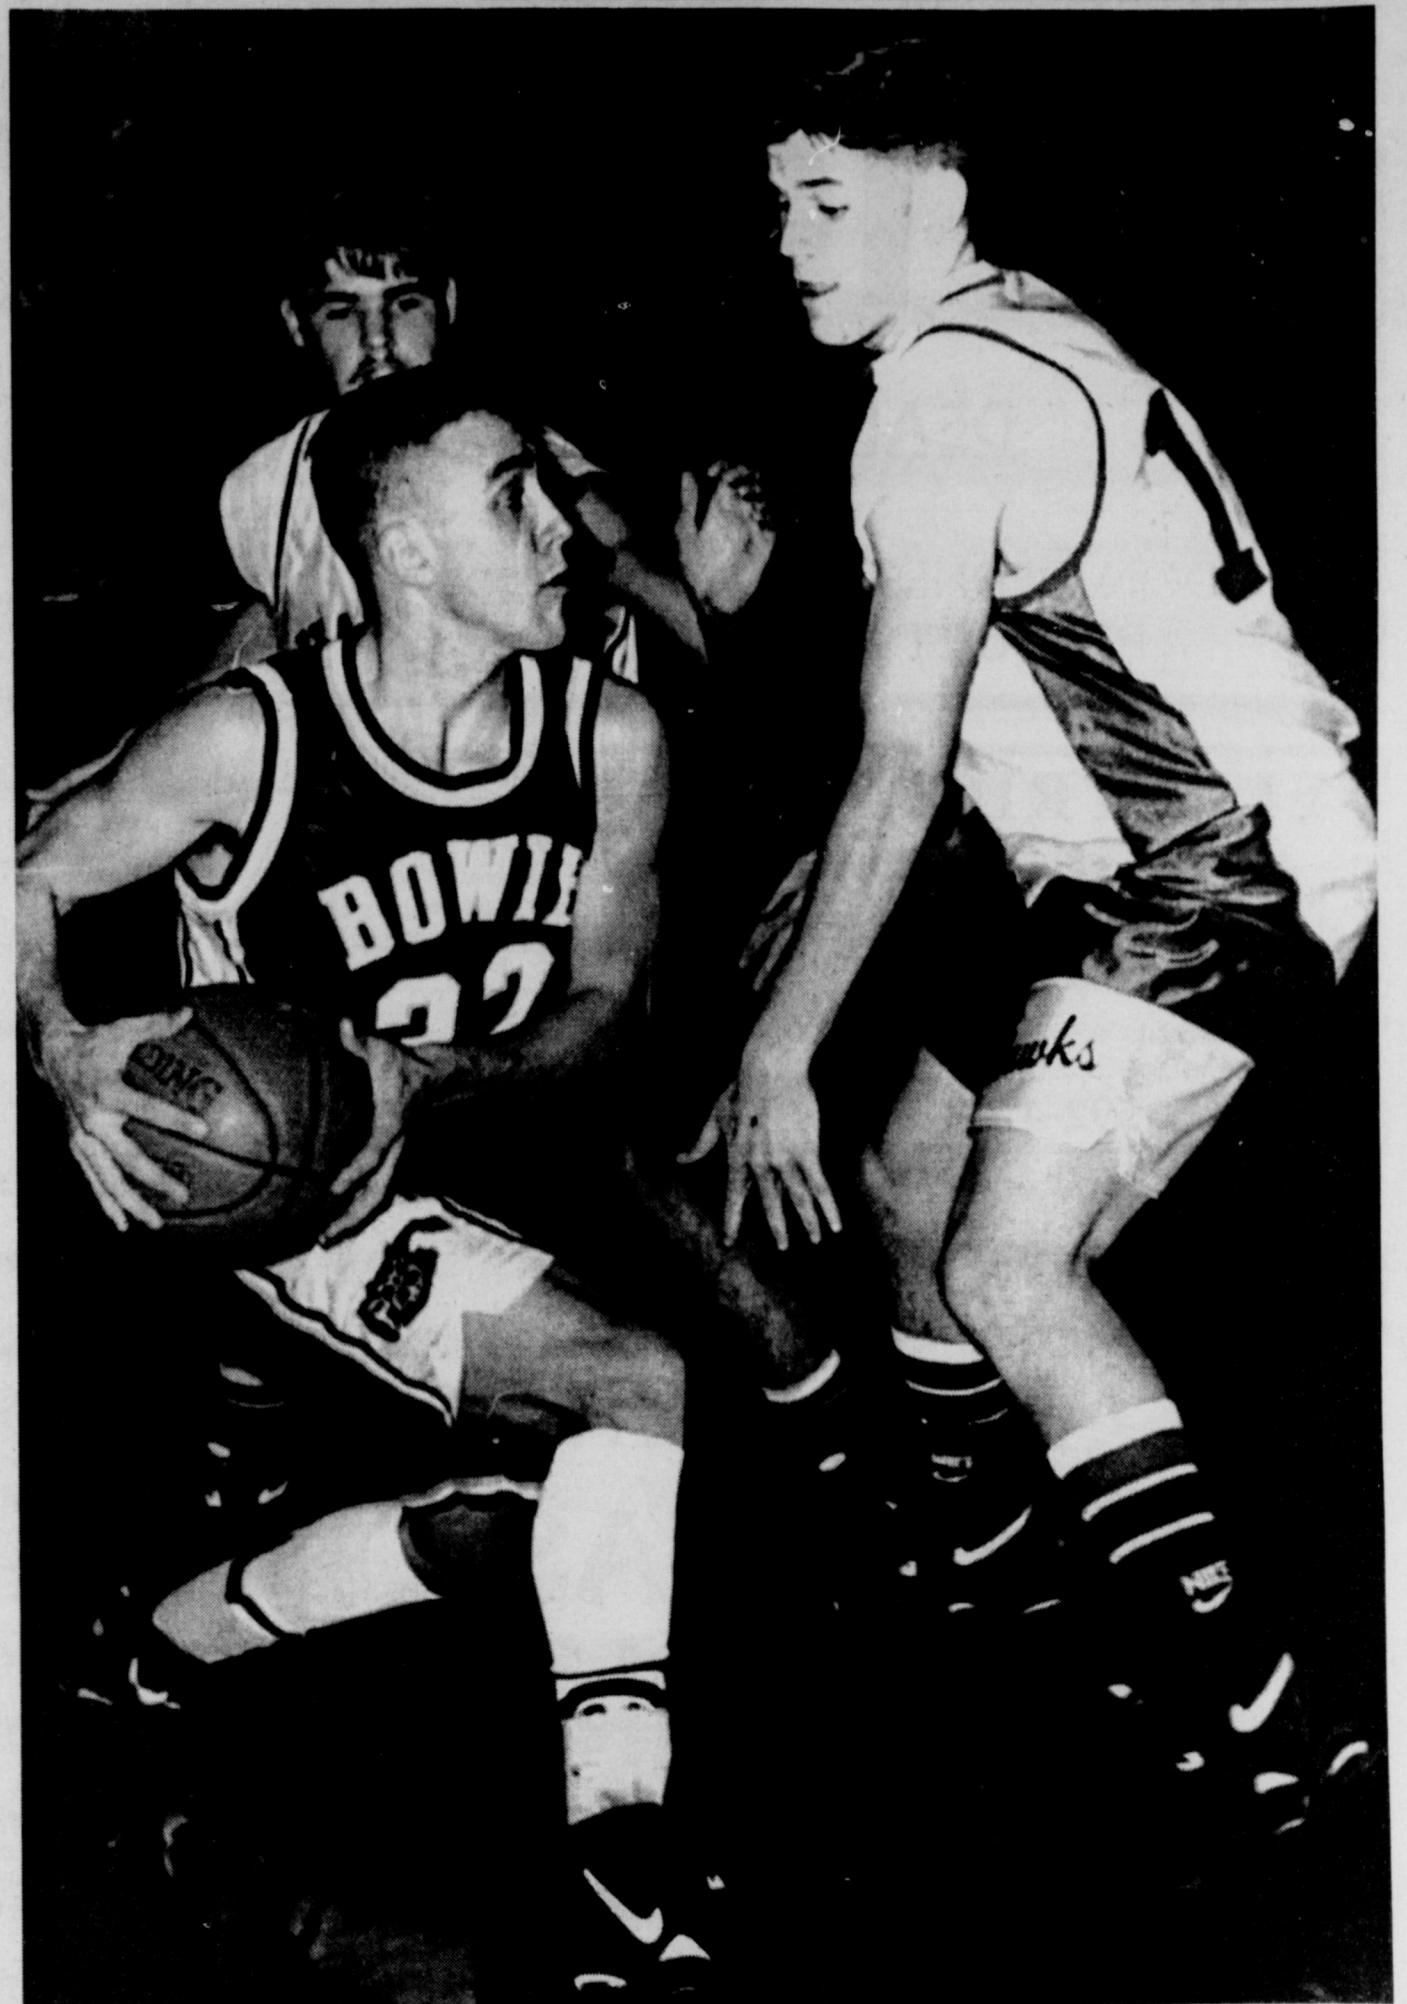

Iowa Park managed to score only 27 points in second half while the Steers scored 46 to blow the game open.

Rylan McNeil and Hawkins each finished with 17 points for Iowa Park which made only two of 13 from three-point land while Graham was shooting lights out from the field in the final quarter hitting on 16-of-18 shots.

"We play better when we have pressure and since we knew we were in the playoffs, we didn't feel any pressure tonight," said head coach Tim Clark. "I'm not taking anything away from Graham. They played real well and hurt us on the inside."

In the first game between the two teams Kolin Weaver, a 6-8 sophomore post, killed the Hawks with 37 points but in the rematch, Iowa Park held him to only 15, but four other Steers also reached double figures.

"If we were going to have a night like this, I'm glad it happened tonight," Clark added. "We missed a lot of close range shots and that's not us, we usually knock those down."

DAVID WATERBURY AND JOHN LUCAS ON DEFENSE

Little League sign-up set

Registration for Little League Baseball and Softball will begin Saturday, Feb. 18, for Iowa Park youth.

Sign-up will be from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Boys and girls ages five to 15 years are eligible to participate. Any first-year or new players need to take their birth certificate with them to the sign-up.

One of the changes this year in the Minor Leagues will be the way the boys are divided. This year there will be two separate divisions of play.

Division II will consist of all eight and nine year olds and Division I will be all 10-11-12 year olds not drafted to the Major Leagues.

The purpose of the split divisions is to give some of the younger kids more playing time.

Membership fees needed to use gym

Membership sign-ups will be taken from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. for persons wishing to use the new Optimist Club's gymnasium.

Memberships will be required after March 1, according to Carla Hopper.

Annual fees will be: $12 for students; $20 for non-students, and $45 for a family of four or more.

Vernon head football coach Leo Brittain announced last week he was retiring. Brittain's team records against Iowa Park were 14-7-1, including 1-2 while at Graham and 13-5-1 with the Lions.
