3 local men arrested for credit card abuse

Three Iowa Park men were arrested after a Feb. 22 search warrant served at one of the men's automotive shop turned up property charged on stolen credit cards.

Willie Thomas Sims, 24, Tommy Cecil Sims, 28, and Jerome Koerth, 21, were arrested by Wichita County deputies and charged with credit card abuse.

David Duke of the Wichita County Sheriff's Dept. said the charges stem from a Wichita Falls man accidentally leaving his wallet on top of a newspaper stand at J&C Komer Feb. 1. When the man returned to get his wallet, it had already been taken.

According to Duke, the wallet was obtained by the Sims' and Koerth, who within the span of four hours, charged $3,000 on credit cards found in the wallet, all at Wichita Falls businesses.

Deputies, later aided by representatives of the Iowa Park Police Dept., Wichita Falls Police Dept., and the Wichita County D.A.'s officer, ran the search warrant at 1578 Hwy 287 East, which houses Tommy Cecil Sims' automotive shop.

Duke says that during the search, about 90 per cent of the items charged on the stolen credit cards were recovered.

A list of the recovered items include Craftsman twin-cylinder air compressor and air hoses and a Craftsman tool set, Pioneer CD in-dash auto stereo system, two six-ton jack stands, one-2 1/4 ton floor jack, Campbell Housed impact wrench, air ratchet, air drill and four-piece air chisel set, triple gauge kit, two sets of Night

Blaster quartz halogen lights, two portable halogen worklights, two gallons gear oil, two Bayco fluorescent worklights, two 25-foot extension cords, Grant steering wheel, super funnel, and two gasket sets.

Willie Thomas Sims has been charged with two counts of credit card abuse, and is still in Wichita County Jail under two $10,000 bonds.

Tommy Cecil Sims was charged with three counts of credit card abuse, and is out of Wichita County Jail on three $10,000 bonds.

Koerth was charged with one count of credit card abuse and is out on a $5,000 bond.

Duke said other charges are pending against the three men, and arrests of other individuals related to this case are expected.

TEXAS INDEPENDENCE DAY, being observed today, was made more meaningful for these Fourth Grade students at Bradford Elementary when they constructed a replica of the Alamo, using sugar cubes, as part of their social studies. They are, from left, Meagan Miller, Joni Love, Heidi Little and Tori Fowler. Each point of interest, such as buildings, fences and water wells, were identified by small flags.

Council approves plat for housing addition

The city council Monday night approved the first phase of a new housing development's plat for the east side of town.

The first phase of Indian Springs Subdivision, to be built between Victoria and Bell, with Texas on the north, would provide lots for some 100 new homes.

Because the design of the new development proposed by David Parkey and Kenneth Beatt conflicted with the original townsite plan, city officials had to abandon portions of streets and alleyways that had been dedicated since Iowa Park was incorporated.

A discussion developed after the new plat was viewed by aldermen. Bob Hamilton questioned the length of one street, saying he was concerned over a quarter-mile length of street without an intersection.

However, when the vote was called on accepting the proposed plat, all four aldermen (Johnny Crawford was not present) expressed their approval.

Aldermen also approved a proposal to authorize Administrator Mike Price to advertise for bids to construct a sewer line that will extend from Park Tank Truck Service westward to Wigley Road.

The new line would provide sewer service to all homes along the Access Road, as well as to homes on Quail Valley that are inside the city limits.

Estimated cost of the project is between $85,000 and $100,000. Bids are to be opened on Mar. 23.

Price also was authorized to advertise for bids to purchase a new four-wheel loader/tractor to be used as the waste water treatment plant.

Aldermen approved a proposal for the administrator to enter into a contractual agreement with David Brock, to demolish the old water treatment plant, which has not been used for a number of years.

Cost of that project will be $4,000, aldermen were told.

The council confirmed Mayor Wayne House's re-appointments of Jim Medlinger and David Padgett to the city's Planning and Zoning Commission.

A resolution was approved for the city to accept a water line construction project and final payment of $5,616 to the contractor, Potter Bowles Const.

Another resolution approved expressed the council's concern of legislation being considered in Austin which would, according to the city, cause undue expense of tax dollars. The bill deals with any type construction when dirt is dug having to be inspected by utility companies.

Though an executive session was included on the meeting's agenda, none was held.

Topics mentioned during the council's general discussion period, on which no decisions were reached, included rate increases by TCI Cablevision, requesting asphalt being removed from US 287 for surfacing the north entrance to Lake Gordon, revenue from alarm permits in excess of budget, and signs believed to be required by the Americans with Disabilities Act at city hall.

News Briefs

City employees have holiday

All Iowa Park city offices except the police station will be closed today, in observance of Texas Independence Day, according to the city council.

Light week for local police

The past week was unusually light for the Iowa Park Police Dept., with only one criminal mischief complaint and one family disturbance recorded on the police blotter.

A resident in the 1100 block of Louisa told police someone had damaged the finish of a car parked there

Saturday night by hitting it with eggs, but no estimate on the amount of damage was reported.

Police responded Monday afternoon to a family disturbance in the 600 block of South Park. They found a father and his 16-year-old son were arguing, and the boy was taken to a friend's home to stay that night.

Both trustee positions contested for election

Competition in the May 6 school board election developed during the past week, when both incumbents filed for re-election.

Incumbent Max Henderson filed to be returned to place four. Jeff Watts has also filed for that position.

Dennis Yeager also filed during the past week, seeking return to place five. He will be contested by Pat Pelz.

Alderman Mark Raby filed for re-election to the city council. Incumbent Bob Hamilton filed for re-election last week.

Long-time alderman Virgil Woodfin has not indicated as yet whether he will seek re-election.

The city election also will be held May 6.

Candidates for both city and school elections must file by Mar. 22. Candidates for the school board race must file at the administration building, while the city hall is where city council candidates will file.

Early voting dates for the elections will be April 17 through May 2.

Chamber considers printing new maps

A new city map which can be distributed to new residents is being considered by the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce.

During Monday's monthly meeting of the Chamber's board of directors, Glenna Via said she had contacted two different businesses that produce such maps, but had received a response from only one.

The firm that produced a directory for the community a couple of years ago said it would print 3,000 maps, and sell advertisements on it for a minimum of $98.

Mrs. Via suggested waiting on making a decision in order to hear an offer from the other firm, as well as waiting until the city's new housing addition plats were ready for printing.

Action on two project proposals was postponed until the March meeting. One concerned the Chamber's possible sponsorship of a Christmas in Spring project, while the other related to a proposed resolution involving electric utilities legislation to be considered in Austin.

Building permits nearing million $

Three new homes and two major roof repair projects helped boost February's building permit total to $550,314.

When added to the $312,411 in permits issued during January by city hall, the year's total thus far is $862,725.

Mrs. Chuck Carnohan
Lucas and Shane

For Lisa (Mrs. Chuck) Carnohan, her husband, two sons, and taking care of their home, occupies most of her time.

She loves to cook, especially baking, and also likes to knit.

Lisa grew up in Ohio, then attended Morehead State University in Kentucky, where she received a degree in clothing and textiles. She moved to Sweetwater, Texas in 1985, to start a Fashion Merchandising course at TSTC. It was there she met and married Chuck, a native of Abilene, and graduate of the University of Texas.

The Carnohans moved to Iowa Park almost a year ago. Chuck is Environment Services Manager with the Red River Authority. Their sons are six-year-old Lucas, a kindergarten student at Kidwell, and Shane who will be five years old soon.

IRISH RESEARCH: The Irish have been coming to America since its earliest days of settlement. Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey and South Carolina were the colonies to which many of the early Irish immigrants came.

Later, many others settled in the large urban areas of New York City, Philadelphia and Boston. By 1790, at the time of the first U.S. census, it is estimated that about 400,000 people of Irish birth or descent lived in America.

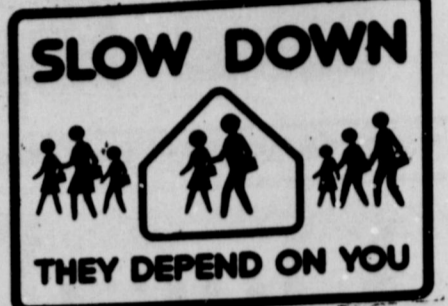

From 1820 to 1920, about 4.7 million Irish crossed the Atlantic to the U.S. and it is among these numbers that so many Americans find their immigrant Irish ancestors.

To trace an Irish ancestor successfully in the old country, one must determine the exact origin of that individual. That information usually will be found in American records. Also, a knowledge of geography is extremely important to successful research in Ireland.

These are two books that you might find very helpful in your Irish research. They are "Tracing Your Irish Ancestors", by John Grenham and "A New Genealogical Atlas of Ireland", by Brian Mitchell.

The next meeting of the Iowa Park Genealogical and Historical Society will be March 11 at 2 p.m. at the Tom Burnett Memorial Library. The scheduled guest speaker is Nikki Reed, who will give a program on finding, reading, and understanding Old Land Records.

Yard, garden care is topic of Garden Club program

Jeff Nolen, owner of Southern Gardens, was the authoritative speaker Friday for Iowa Park Garden Club. His topic was "Spring Yard and Garden Care".

Nolen was introduced by Freddie Skinner, vice president.

He told club members, "It is never too late to use pre-emergent. It needs to be kept in the ground continuously as seeds from the weeds germinate at different seasons". Nolen said pre-emergent should be applied four times a year.

"We have a clay soil here, therefore, the landscape beds need to be kept loose to allow the soil to breathe," Nolen stated. He also stressed the importance of sending a soil sample to be tested and explained that helps the gardener to know what nutrients the soil needs.

Nolen continued his informative discussion by saying that one mistake people make is putting their water hose away for the winter, the roots are growing during the winter and need moisture. He added that it is especially important to water trees, shrubs and ground cover before a freeze.

He also gave tips about planting caladiums. He said, "If you scoop out the central bud it will cause the tuber to produce many small shoots and leaves". He suggested planting petunias after the spring rains are over as the rain drowns petunias.

A business meeting was conducted by Norma Fortner, president. Joyce Short gave the Thought for the Day. Bonnie Illingsworth read minutes for the last meeting and gave the treasurer's report.

Club members voted to place a brick at the RAC in memory of Lavena Harlin who was a long time member. As an Arbor Day project members voted to buy four crepe myrtles to be placed at the junior high school.

A Ruby Begonia was brought by Louise Clapp for the horticulture display. Kay Cole announced the Yard of the Month was given to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Herchman, 104 W. Garden.

Jeff Radliff was a guest along with the speaker. Polly Spruiell was voted in as a new member. Hostesses were Mrs. Short and Mrs. Clapp.

Pharm/alert Health Tips

You and Your Medicines

- As a healthcare consumer, you have a right to information — in language you can understand — about your prescription drugs and over-the-counter medications.
- Being instructed on how to properly use your medications is a basic part of good healthcare provided by your pharmacist.
- Many people hate to bother their doctor or pharmacist with "dumb" questions; but there are no "dumb" questions when it comes to understanding your medications.
- Your pharmacist and doctor want you to get well, and answering questions is a part of their job.
- Before you take a drug (or any type of treatment) you should know its pros and cons, and what will happen if you don't take it.
- Your doctor or pharmacist wants to know if you like tablets better than liquids, or if you prefer one large tablet rather than four smaller ones.
- You must communicate fully with your healthcare professionals. Tell your pharmacist or physician if you experience side effects while taking a medicine, or if it makes you feel worse.
- Tell them exactly how you feel, when side effects occur, and for how long.
- Be completely honest. If you have not been following instructions exactly, say so. This could have a bearing on how you feel.
- Know exactly how to follow the directions on the label; the name of the medicine and what it is supposed to do; what foods, drinks and other medicines or activities to avoid while taking it.
- You must do your part too. How well your medication works is not just up to your pharmacist or doctor, it's up to you too.

For more information about taking your medicines — Ask your pharmacist.

Worth Quoting

One of the promises of the new electronic world is that everything will get easier to accomplish. Somehow, the thought of being handled by impersonal digital chips did not sound like an improvement to me.

A few days ago I had my first major encounter with a new feature of modern life -- the electronic receptionist. As you read those words, you will probably envision a robot, sitting behind a desk, answering the phone.

Could be. I have never seen an electronic receptionist, but I do know that they have a heart of steel.

This adventure into electronic never-never land began simply enough. I was thumbing through some of the exchange newspapers we receive from other papers around the state.

An article caught my eye about the amount of state spending in that particular county. I thought that same information about Ochiltree County could be of interest. Looking closely, I determined that the spending list was compiled by the comptroller's office in Austin.

Taking my handy state government guide in hand, I dialed the number of the comptroller's office. On the second ring, a disembodied electronic voice answered.

"Texas Comptroller's Office. If you are dialing from a touch tone phone, please press one for sales tax information, press two for motor fuels information, press three for franchise tax information, press . . ."

The thing went on through all the numbers on the telephone. At the very end was something called statistical information. I pressed that number and then another electronic voice gave me more choices.

After pushing buttons for a while, I finally got to talk to a human. She asked me what I wanted, then promptly said that I had got hold of the wrong extension. Her tone made it sound like it was my fault.

Then I said that I worked at a newspaper. It was as if I had said the magic words. She immediately became very friendly and said she would transfer me to the press relations office.

Once I electronically arrived there, I was through pushing buttons and off the electronic highway. The woman in that office knew exactly what I was looking for and promised to fax the spending numbers to me within the hour. Sure enough, less than an hour later, our fax machine was spitting out pages filled with spending statistics.

Since that experience, I have run into a few more electronic receptionist systems. As near as I can figure, they are programmed by people that know what they want you to ask for, rather than what you want to ask for.

The bigger the company, the worse the problem. I called one looking for an answer about photo paper. Dumb me, I didn't know that I had a problem that could be answered by the "Industrial Division, Transfer and Imaging Department."

After wandering around the new electronic maze for a while, I came up with an idea for a new product. It would attach to your telephone and your computer. Just type out a question and it would dial all the other electronic receptionists until you had an answer. We could call it the electronic assistant.

Kind of reminds you of the days when real assistants talked to real receptionists. But, those were the bad, old, inefficient days.

As I See It... By Bob Hamilton

Poor Nick Gipson. Our county judge wants a salary of a district judge, and is having a hard time getting support for his proposed legislation.

Seems the Wichita Bar Association turned him down on his request to support the legislation.

How much more than the $55,860 annual salary is Ole Nick wanting? Just a paltry $29,000! That would take him just under what the district judges draw.

Why does he deserve it? Why, by golly, he is an attorney!

Of course, he was an attorney when he first sought to be elected to the office, and each time thereafter. If he didn't find the salary to his liking then, why is he so insistent it should be higher now?

Maybe Gipson should follow my example.

When I was working for a salary, I moved my family four times to jobs that paid more than what I was getting.

If the judge wants, I'd be happy to send him the U-Haul telephone number.

A few weeks ago, I took a mild job at the Postal Department -- making an emphasis that the service of our local office folks were not responsible -- for not making timely delivery of newspapers outside Wichita County.

Well, I've gotta give our local people a pat on the back, because they deserve it.

They were able to find me with a notice for a license renewal out of Austin -- apparently addressed by one of those "equal opportunity" employees -- with the envelope addressed:

ROBERT HAMILTON
904 W. CIRBEKUA
IOWA PARL TX 76367

That employee in Austin likely just had problems seeing what was being typed because of tears in the eyes, caused by disappointment of the low salary being paid.

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

By Sen. Tom Haywood
While the Senate Economic Development Committee I serve on did not vote on the next major piece of lawsuit reform this week, another senate committee did report favorably a major piece of legislation I have wholeheartedly supported for years.

Since this legislation is on the fast-track in the Senate, I will shift my focus on lawsuit reform of the last few columns to this issue.

Many legislators fear the prospect of this legislation. Most voters strongly support the idea.

In fact, the most recent Texas Poll conducted for Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. and released publicly February 24th, shows that 77% of Texans favor it for state and federal legislators.

By contrast, a Dallas Morning News questionnaire of elected officials found that only 54% of state legislators support it.

Yet, trying to get our legislators to allow you, the citizen, the opportunity to vote on such a straightforward law as term limits has been difficult to say the least.

Although it could be stronger, Senate Joint Resolution 4 (SJR 4) by Senator Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo, is a major piece of legislation.

If it passes, and I believe it will, voters will be given the opportunity to vote on it next November. This constitutional amendment limits offices to 12 years for any senate, state representative or statewide elected office, other than a judicial office.

For a member of the state senate or state house of representatives to be ineligible, the member must have served six full or partial legislative sessions. A statewide elected official would be ineligible once the official has served 12 calendar years or more.

You might wonder how, after years of not being able to get through all the legislative hurdles placed in front of it by career politicians and special interests, this amendment to the constitution has such an excellent chance of passing. There are several important factors. First, SJR 4 would not start the term limits clock until January 1, 1997 and it excludes any legislative service prior to 1997.

Second, Texas voters sent a clear message last November when a small but select number of state legislators who opposed term limits were ousted from office.

Third, the grassroots efforts of groups like Texans for Term Limitations, with thousands of members all across Texas, have had a clear impact on a number of legislators who had previously been keeping a low profile on the issue.

Finally, and most importantly, we have had strong leadership from elected officials like Governor Bush, Lt. Governor Bullock and Senator Bivins.

As presiding officer over the Senate, Bob Bullock, in his extraordinary consensus-building style, has been especially instrumental in putting this legislation on fast-track. Along with Senator Bivins, there are now 19 co-authors, including myself, signed on to SJR 4.

During my campaign for this seat, I signed the Texans for Term Limitations pledge without hesitation and promised to fight for term limits. I also went a step further by making a personal pledge to obey the term limits bill, regardless of whether or not it passed.

I strongly believe in term limitations as a way to take back our government from career politicians.

It is not the only answer to reforming government and restoring the people's faith in our elected officials, but it is a great place to start.

Term limits finally appears ready to clear all the hurdles in the legislative obstacle course.

There will still be attempts by a handful of career politicians and special interests to work every back door routine possible to kill this legislation, but they will be defeated as long as the people continue to demand change.

At 16, this cowboy can finally fit into his hat and boots!

Fifth Grade students following the stars

Fifth graders are studying constellations in science, and as a result are turning fifth grade hall into a star chamber.

The students are using black trash bags with small holes punched in them, that when put over the lights, will resemble the constellations.

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Sen. Bill Ratliff's ambitious 1,088-page school reform bill would strip much of the Texas Education Agency's authority over local schools and shorten the school year from 180 days to 175.

Ratliff's bill would place local school districts under an operating charter and cede more control of education to parents, teachers and school boards.

The bill has already drawn opposition over proposals it contains that would allow private school vouchers, charter schools, textbook selection by school boards and recall elections of school board members.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, who has endorsed Ratliff's bill and wields considerable power in presiding over the Senate, has acknowledged that special interest groups are working against the bill.

Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, has been described by Bullock as "the most knowledgeable person about education in the Senate" and "the best appointment I have ever made."

House Approach Cautious

In contrast to Ratliff's sweeping package of education reforms, Rep. Paul Sadler, chairman of the House Education Committee, is leading a more cautious effort that allows limited experimentation with innovative methods of education.

Last week, Sadler, D-Henderson, said his committee was working on a bill that would limit charter schools to a few pilot projects and may not propose the implementation of private-school vouchers.

"I think we will structure a school system that looks very traditional," Sadler told the Houston Chronicle, adding that he anticipates "great reluctance" among lawmakers to alter the school finance system recently approved after bouncing in and out of state district court for years.

Sadler also pointed out that Ratliff's proposal to cut supplemental funding to the smallest school districts could force many of them (400 to 500) to consolidate.

Regarding Ratliff's proposal to reduce the minimum number of days children must attend school, Sadler said, "We need to add days to our school year, as many as money will allow us."

Lawsuit Liability Compromise
The House and Senate sponsors of lawsuit liability reform bills announced last week that they had reached a compromise that would free companies that aren't responsible for most of the blame in a lawsuit from being forced to pay all of the damages.

"Joint and several liability" is one of many tort reform measures under consideration in the Legislature, though business lawyers and trial lawyers on opposite sides of the debate agree that the liability issue is the corner stone of tort reform.

Rep. Rob Junell, D-San Angelo, and Sen. David Sibley, R-Waco, jointly announced that in most cases, companies would only be liable for 100 percent of the damages if they are found at least 51 percent responsible for the injuries.

Under current law, companies could be forced to pay 100 percent of damages if they are found as little as 11 percent responsible.

Sex Education Poll

Most Texans say the state should require grade schools to educate children about sex, sexually transmitted diseases and the use of condoms, according to the winter Texas Poll.

The telephone survey of 1,011 adults, conducted Feb. 2-11 by the University of Texas for Harte-Hanks Communications Inc., showed that 56 percent of Texans favor mandatory sex education in schools.

However, 32 percent of respondents said sex education in schools has done more harm than good, the poll indicated.

Support for condom education was higher among respondents under age 30 (73 percent) and Democrats (69 percent) than Independents (68 percent) and Republicans (52 percent). Fifty percent of respondents 60 and older favored condom education.

Kids' Lotto Temptation

Rep. Dan Kubiak, R-Rockdale, says he is skeptical about the new vending machines that will be dispensing scratch-off tickets from the Texas Lottery.

"I don't want them near schools. It makes it too easy for youngsters to play," he told the Houston Chronicle.

Texas Lottery Commission Director Nora Linares said store personnel will be able to turn off the vending machines by remote control if children attempt to use them — but only 10 percent of the machines have the remote control feature.

Other Highlights

■ In response to the announcement by Kelly Air Force Base that 258 employees will be terminated, Gov. Bush last week dispatched the state Rapid Response Team to San Antonio and instructed the Texas Department of Commerce to assist the impacted workers.

■ The 15-member State Board of Education would no longer be selected under a bill being considered by the House Committee on Public Education. The measure by Rep. Curtis Seidits, D-Sherman, would reduce the panel to a seven-member board appointed by the governor.

GARDENING HINTS

By MARK TERNING, COUNTY AGENT - HORTICULTURE

Unusually warm weather has brought out the gardener in almost everyone.

The following garden check list will certainly keep you on track and busy during March.

Remember that our average last frost date is March 25. Tender, warm-season flowers and vegetable plants such as tomatoes will have to be planted after that date unless you are a real gambler.

Planting:

* Plant containerized trees, shrubs, fruits, berries and pecans. Watch for special plant sales from local nurseries.

* Cool-season vegetable crops such as onions, potatoes, broccoli, cabbage, and brussels sprouts can be planted. Also asparagus roots can be installed now. Use Extension Service recommended varieties for best performance. Lists available at your local county extension office.

* Colorful cool-season annual flowers such as pansies can be planted for early spring color.

* Prepare garden soils now and build raised bed gardens for spring plantings.

* Test garden soils to determine fertilizer needs and potential problems. Your local county extension office has complete soil testing instructions available.

* Transplant existing landscape plants which are in the wrong spot or have overgrown certain areas.

* Establish or overseed fescue lawns.

Fertilizers:

* Apply a 3-1-2 or 4-1-2 ratio lawn food to fescue lawns in early March.

* Warm-season lawns (bermuda, St. Augustine) should not be fertilized until mid-April.

* Fertilize pecan trees with 21-0-0 fertilizer in late February to early March. Apply one pound for each inch of trunk diameter. Broadcast the fertilizer at the dripline of the tree.

Weed and Pest Control:

* Apply a pre-emergent to established lawns for control of warm-season annual weeds.

* Apply dormant oil to scale and gall prone plants such as fruit trees and pecans before leafing out. Apply when temperatures are moderate for several days (40-70 degrees).

* Watch out for aphids on tender growth of bedding plants. Apply controls as needed. Follow all label rates and directions when using pesticides and fertilizers.

Pruning:

* Prune bush-type roses to an open center form. Reduce height of roses by about 50%. Important note: Do not prune climbing roses until after they have flowered. Pruning now would eliminate all flowering wood.

* Prune peaches, plums and apricots to an open center form.

* Complete shade tree pruning as soon as possible. Never top a shade tree.

* Spring flowering vines and shrubs such as quince, forsythia, and wisteria should not be pruned until after they bloom.

Bullfrogs end Hawks' season at 25-7

The Iowa Park Hawks knew going into last Friday night's bi-district playoff game against Lake Worth in Mineral Wells that they were going to have to shoot the ball better than they had in the two previous games to advance in the playoffs.

But it was the Bullfrogs who had the hot hand and once again, the Hawks shot less than 33 percent from the floor and fell 76-65.

Lake Worth, 24-8 overall, hit 31 of 49 shots (63 percent) to advance to the Area playoffs next week. Iowa Park finishes with a fine 25-7 mark for the season.

The Bullfrogs' Colandon Hughes scored 10 of his game high 28 points in the opening quarter as Lake Worth hit on 9 of 12 from the floor to build a 21-11 lead late in the period. But Rudy Hawkins hit the second of his three-pointers from just inside the half court line to pull Iowa Park to within 7 at 21-14 after one period.

Hawkins buzzer-beater sparked the Hawks who scored the first 8 points of the second period to take their first lead in the ballgame at 22-21 with 5:57 remaining in the half. Rylan McNeil, who finished with 18 points for Iowa Park, had a pair of buckets in the run and David Waterbury, who finished with 8, added a three-pointer.

But Lake Worth answered with a run of its own as the Bullfrogs outscored the Hawks 9-2 to take a 30-24 lead with 4:05 left. Waterbury's second three-pointer cut the lead to 30-27 and the teams traded buckets the rest of the way with Lake Worth clinging to a 36-34 halftime lead.

The third quarter was the difference in the ballgame as the Bullfrogs came out of the locker room and again hit 9 of 12 shots for 75 percent while Iowa Park made only 6 of 22 for 27 percent. Lake Worth's lead grew from 2 points at halftime to 9 at the end of the third at 56-47. McNeil kept Iowa Park in the game scoring 7 points in the third quarter.

The Hawks pulled to within 4 at 60-56 with 5:14 left in the game after baskets by McNeil and John Lucas and a pair of free throws by Michael Fallon.

Lake Worth quickly built its lead back to 9 at 69-60 with 1:57 remaining and Iowa Park never got closer than that the rest of the game.

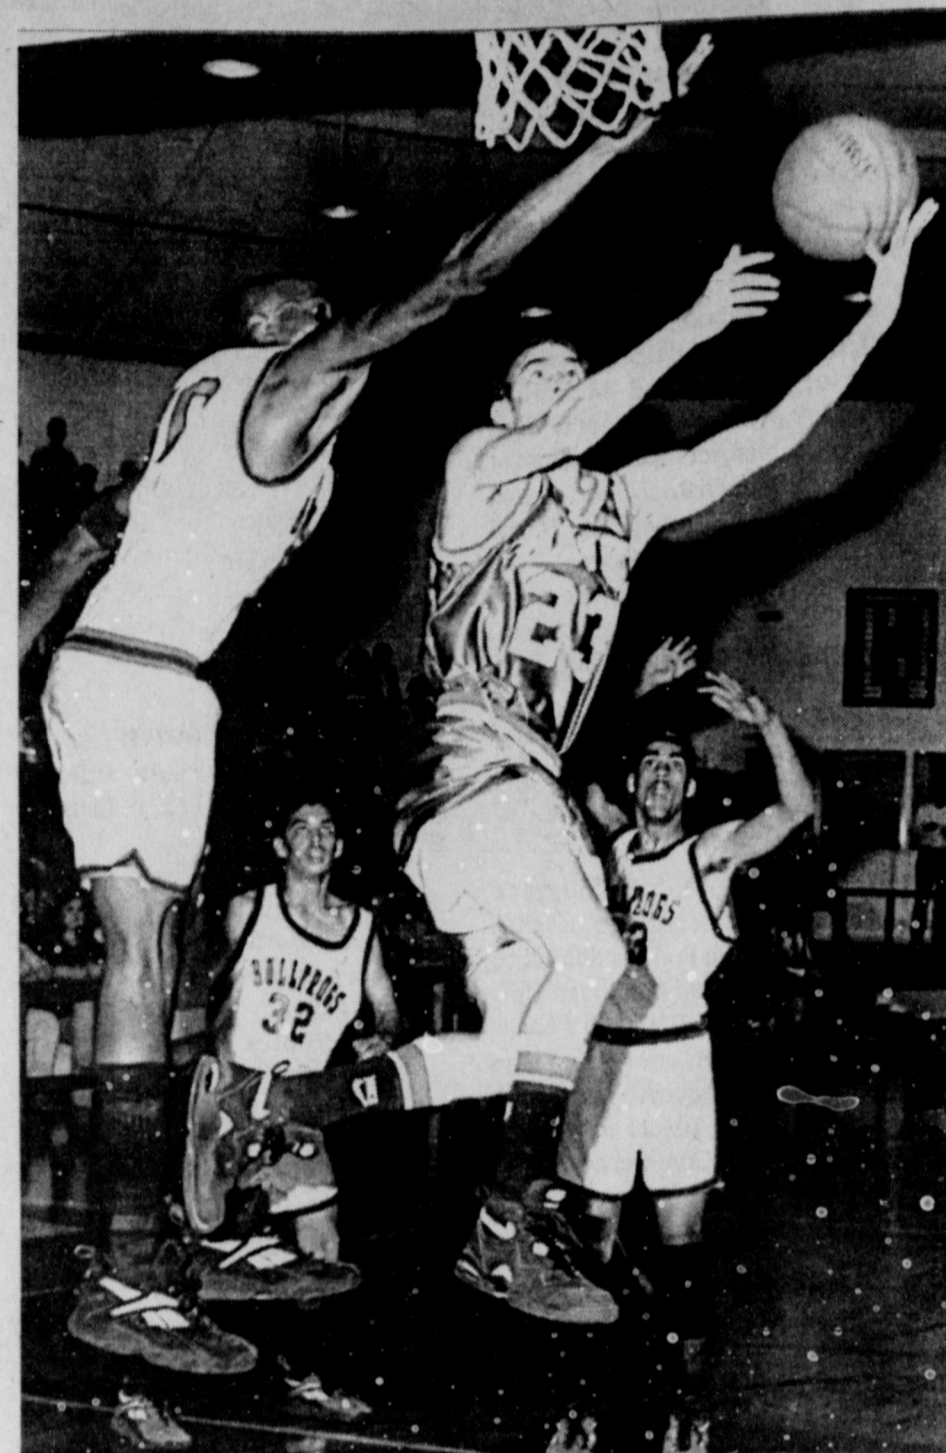

"This was definitely one of our best shooting performances of the year," said Bullfrogs head coach Joey Froman. "I thought we did a real good job defensively. We played their guards real tough and that's where they had been beating teams."

Joining Hughes in double figures for Lake Worth was Adam Littlepage who finished the game with 18 points while the Bullfrogs 6-6 post Jesse Cinton finished with 9 points before fouling out with 5:28 left in the game.

Lucas joined McNeil in double figures with 14 points while Nick Black, Hawkins and Waterbury all finished with 8.

"We just missed way too many easy shots tonight," said Iowa Park head coach Tim Clark. "When you're in the playoffs, you can't miss those type shots and expect to win the ballgame. You've got to give them credit, they came out hot and we didn't but I'm real proud of the effort the kids gave out there tonight."

"They hustled and gave it their all. This was the first time for these kids to be in the playoffs. We'll be back." In the other bi-district game involving 3-A teams, previously unbeaten and top ranked Graham was shocked by Springtown 47-45 eliminating the Steers from the playoffs.

Graham finished the season with a 31-1 mark. Ironically it was the Porcupines who eliminated the Steers from the football playoffs this year as Springtown advanced after the two teams tied at 28-28.

After losing three times earlier this season to Graham, Springtown knocked off the previously undefeated Steers 47-45, ending Graham's season at 30-1. The Porkys had lost 92-51, 55-48 and 77-62 in these earlier meetings before that all-important Area clash.

Weeks Park in Wichita Falls has been dropped from the state's top 25 municipal golf courses in the state by the Dallas Morning News. It was ranked 15th last year. Graham and Vernon are rated fifth and sixth respectively among the state's best 25 nine-hole courses.

Clark, Hawkins, Black receive district honors

Iowa Park's head basketball coach Tim Clark grabbed the top honor on Tuesday as the Coach Of The Year in District 3-3A as All-District teams were announced.

Joining Clark on the first team from Iowa Park were 6-3 senior point guard Rudy Hawkins and 6-0 sophomore guard Nick Black.

The Hawks placed four more players on the Honorable Mention Team including Michael Fallon, David Waterbury, Rylan McNeil and John Lucas.

Kolin Weaver, a 6-7 sophomore post from Graham, picked up the MVP award while teammate Tubby Coleman, a 5-10 senior guard, was named as the defensive player of the year. Brent Gaylor also from Graham was named sophomore of the year.

Other First Team selections include: Cody Wadsworth 6-3 Jr. from Bowie; Russell Best 6-2 Sr. from Jacksboro; Brandon Favors 6-3 Sr. from Vernon; Jeremy Cox 6-0 Sr. from Vernon; Ryan Dollar 6-2 Jr. from Graham; Chase Oswald 6-5 Sr. from Graham; Julian Taylor 6-0 Sr. from Graham; Mark Murry 6-1 Sr. from Bowie and Derek Worlow 6-2 Jr. from Bridgeport.

Other players named as Honorable Mention include: Clayton Henry from Vernon; Casey Fry from Graham; Stewart Chalmers from Jacksboro and Rodney Ross from Bridgeport.

SATURDAY'S MARATHON intersquad baseball game of the Hawks' had to go an extra inning to break a tie. So after 101 innings, the A squad beat the B 41-39, according to Coach David Fuhrman. Shown at bat in the first inning is senior Clint Scobee, who doubled into center field.

Weather hampers baseball's opening

The weather isn't cooperating at all for Hawk baseball, coach David Fuhrman said yesterday.

His team's game at Holliday Tuesday was postponed until 4:30 this afternoon, but if the wind chill factor is too low, it may be rescheduled again.

"We've got to get in a lot of games in a hurry," said Fuhrman. He explained that he has a large turnout of players, and he needs to see them in action so he can formulate his lineup.

He had intended to use a different pitcher in each inning, had the teams been able to play Tuesday.

The varsity and junior varsity are scheduled to play in the Childress tournament this week, also. But weather again could be a problem.

The varsity is to meet Childress at 3 p.m. Friday in its first game, but the junior varsity, which also is entered, is scheduled to play two games today.

The JV did get to play Monday, but lost 10-2 to Hirschi.

Fuhrman said he now has his varsity scheduled to play two games on Monday, Mar. 13. The Hawks are to play their make-up game with the WFHS Coyotes at 12:30 at Hoskins Field, and then go to Burkburnett for a 4 p.m. start.

The make-up game was to have been played last Friday, which was to be the Hawks' season-opener, but rescheduled due to the basketball team's bi-district game at Mineral Wells.

Tuesday, Iowa Park is to host Holliday at 4 p.m., and then the club is entered in a Wichita Falls tournament Mar. 9-11.

Fund-raising game here tonight

A fund-raising basketball game will be played tonight to help financing the finishing of the Optimists Club's Boulware Gymnasium.

Local youth basketball coaches will take on the Channel 3 Hoopsters, starting at 7:30, in the gymnasium located next to the Recreational Activities Center on Fourth Street.

Admission will be $3 for adults, $2 for students, and children six and younger free.

Hawk Relays Saturday; 35 teams to compete

Possibly the largest turnout of athletes in the history of the Iowa Park Lions Club Hawk Relays will be on hand Saturday in Hawk Stadium.

Thirty five teams of boys and girls will be competing in five divisions, representing schools of A through AAAAA size.

One of the highlights will be the induction of the late Bobby Gilbreath into the Hawk Track Hall of Fame. The Hall's initial inductee, Coach Bill Carter, was named last year.

The induction ceremony is to begin at 1:45 p.m. Announcing the event will be former IPHS principal Bob Dawson. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. T.E. Gilbreath, Bobby's parents who now live in Dublin, and several members of the 1960 state championship team are expected to be on hand.

Action is to get underway at 8:30 a.m. with the preliminaries of all field events and the running of the 3200-meter races.

Finals of all running events are to start at 2 p.m.

According to Dr. Derrell Monday, meet coordinator, there will be 13 teams competing in Division One, which will be for A through AAA girls varsities and AAAAA and AAAAAA junior varsities.

Division Two is for girls teams from the two larger divisions, and seven teams are to compete.

Divisions Three and Four each will have 10 teams competing. Three is for class A varsities and junior varsities from AA and AAA. Four is for AA and AAAAA schools and larger school junior varsities.

The large school division, Five, will have five teams competing.

Special t-shirts commemorating this year's meet, complete with the names of all schools represented, will be available for sale by the Lions Club.

Gilbreath recalled as team-minded individual

Prior to the start of the running finals of the annual Iowa Park Lions Club Hawk Relays Saturday afternoon in Hawk Stadium, the late Bobby Gilbreath will be inducted into the Hawk Track Hall of Fame.

The following article was written by Dawson for the Iowa Park Leader's Centennial Edition in 1988.

All who follow his school athletics and who remember individual and team efforts often have different opinions about who was the best.

During this centennial year it is fitting that one former member of the Hawk track teams of 1958-61 be mentioned for the benefit of those fans with short memories or for those who never had the opportunity to witness any of his performances.

Most long-time track and field fans will tell you, without hesitation, that Bobby Gilbreath had an unequalled track career and that his overall achievements have not been matched by anyone who has worn the green and white.

A "team player," who did not concentrate his efforts, but instead he chose to compete in a number of events, in order to gain points for the team. During Gilbreath's final three years of competition, he earned and won in six different events.

School records were set by him in the long jump, 880-yard dash, 180-yard low hurdles and the 440-yard dash. The 440-yard relay and the mile relay teams on which Bobby was a member also established school records. He also set state records in the low hurdles, tied the state record in the 440, and was a member of the 440 and mile relay teams that set state records.

Gilbreath scored 60 points and brought home eight first-place medals from the state meet for the three years he qualified to participate at the state level.

His first places in the state meet were:

1959 - 880-yard dash
1960 - Long jump, 440-yard dash, 440-yard relay, mile relay

1961 - Long jump, 180-yard low hurdles, mile relay.

Highly recruited by many colleges and universities, he chose to enter Texas A&M University. During his freshman year at A&M, the NCAA listed his time in the freshman 440-yard hurdles as the fastest in the nation.

No single athlete has brought as much recognition to Iowa Park High School as Bobby Gilbreath. His funeral service was held in Iowa Park's First Baptist Church, with the coaches and track team of Texas A&M serving as honorary pallbearers.

Through the years the track records established by him and the relay teams have one by one gradually fallen, but no one individual has ever set records in as many events or won the number of first places at the Texas State University Interscholastic League Track and Field Meet, as Bobby Gilbreath.

BOBBY GILBREATH

Coach remembers his talented athlete

By Bill Carter

My first recognition that Bobby Gilbreath even existed was in the spring of 1958 when he was a freshman competing for Iowa Park High School and I was the coach at Holliday.

I noticed very quickly that he wasn't an ordinary freshman.

We had a dual practice meet with Iowa Park and he ran the low hurdles, high hurdles and long jump (broad jump then).

The thing that was most impressive to me was the smooth manner that he ran the hurdles. Here was a freshman who was taking 7 steps between the lows, and 3 steps between the highs without having to reach or cut his stride.

The next year I moved to Iowa Park.

The thing that set Bobby Gilbreath apart from anyone else was his quiet, confident competitive spirit. He hardly ever said anything, but his presence was always obvious.

Whether it was in football or track he never complained or boasted.

I saw him play hurt in football and I saw him compete in track with great discomfort, but I never saw him or heard him offer any excuse or a complaint.

He never tried to blame anyone else on the few times that he didn't win first. On these rare occasions he didn't win he took it much better than I did.

When he was a sophomore he got the flu the week of the Regional meet. He got 3rd in the 180 lows and 3rd in the broad jump, but he was really hurting.

He had a jump of 22+ which would have won but he was called for a scratch. I believe to this day that it wasn't a scratch, but Bobby did not even change his expression.

Then he came back and ran the 380. He won it, but he was as white as this paper when he finished.

He went on to win the State in the 880 two weeks later.

In 1960 and 1961 he won a total of 7 more gold medals at the State meet.

In 1962 he had the best time in the nation for freshmen in the 440 hurdles, while competing for Texas A&M.

In October 1962 he came home for our homecoming. He said that A&M had a cross country that morning, but that he didn't compete.

He said that he was too sleepy. I knew that something was wrong, and the next Monday we learned that he had encephalitis.

He died 5 days later.

I have had many disappointments in my life, but besides learning that my mother had passed away in 1961, nothing was more devastating to me than when Farris Nowell told me that they had just been informed that Bobby Gilbreath had died.

To me, Bobby Gilbreath was more than a great athlete. He was a truly good friend, and every time that I want to use someone as an example of a real champion I refer to Bobby Gilbreath, because he was a champion in every respect.

Seets assists in humanitarian effort

In June 1994 Chuck Seets returned from a missionary and humanitarian trip to Russia, which took him to Minsk, Belarus, located south-east of Moscow.

The trip was coordinated by the Common Wealth Independent States, a church-development foundation with headquarters in Amarillo.

Seets, a retired education administrator, had made other trips to the area with CWIS and had become well acquainted with a Russian family in Minsk.

Participants who make the trips, pay their own way, which costs $2,100 round trip from Amarillo.

Seets always feels the cost is well worth it to be able to help people who yearn to hear and discuss religion. He believes his trip last summer was especially significant and that in addition to discussing religion with the Russian people, he also was instrumental in helping in a humanitarian way.

When he returned in June, Seets related that medically the Russians have nothing, and told of requests from physicians there for such simple things as thermometers.

Through the wife of the Russian family he knew, who was secretary to Dr. Alexander S. Vladyko, Seets met the physician.

Dr. Vladyko is chief of the Viral Diagnosis Laboratory, Department of Special Pathogens with the Ministry of Belarus Republic Health, Byelorussian Research Institute for Epidemiology and Microbiology in Minsk.

Seets learned that in their collection of arenaviruses at Minsk Institute Laboratory Dr. Vladyko lacked two prototype strains of lymphocytic choriomeningitis virus (LCM): a) WE and b) ARMstrong to use with his base for identification of diseases. If there was an outbreak of an unknown illness, he would not have what he needed to identify it.

Seets told the physician that he was going to Atlanta when he returned to the States and that he would see if he could arrange for the two viruses to be sent to him.

Seets went to the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta and spoke with Dr. C.J. Peters, explaining the need in Minsk.

The latter part of December the two needed strains were sent to Dr. Vladyko with Dr. I.S. Lukashevich, who was working in the laboratory of Dr. M.S. Salvato at the University of Wisconsin Medical School's department of pathology at Madison.

Seets was elated when he received word the last of December from Dr. Vladyko that he had received the viruses and thanked him for his "strong intention to fulfill his request".
