Hawks to open season Friday

Three opening season losses by a total of seven points over the past three years is hard to take and when you go back even farther and find out that the last win came in 1989, it's not hard to get a football team ready to play.

That will be Iowa Park head football coach Weldon Nelms' job this week as his Hawks will try and snap a 5-game losing streak when they travel to Burkburnett to take on the Bulldogs in the traditional season opener for both teams Friday night at 7:30.

Friday's contest will mark the tenth consecutive season opener against Burk and the previous 26 years the two rivals have met on the field with the Bulldogs holding a 16-10 advantage over Iowa Park.

The most recent meeting was a heartbreaking 25-24 loss last year in a game Hawk fans felt should have gone the other way.

"Last year, we felt like we should have won the game," Nelms said. "We played well in the first half and had a couple of scoring opportunities that we didn't convert and then Burk scored on the last play of the first half on a long pass that gave them some momentum, but we fought back in the third quarter and outplayed them to take the lead. We made some mistakes down the stretch that let them get back in the game and those are some of the things that we are going to have to overcome this week if we are going to be successful.

"Our kids know that they can play with them," Nelms added. "I think it's been since '89 since we've beaten them. Burk got a lot of ink in the Wichita Falls paper this week and that will add some fuel to the fire this week in our preparation. The kids are fired up and ready to play."

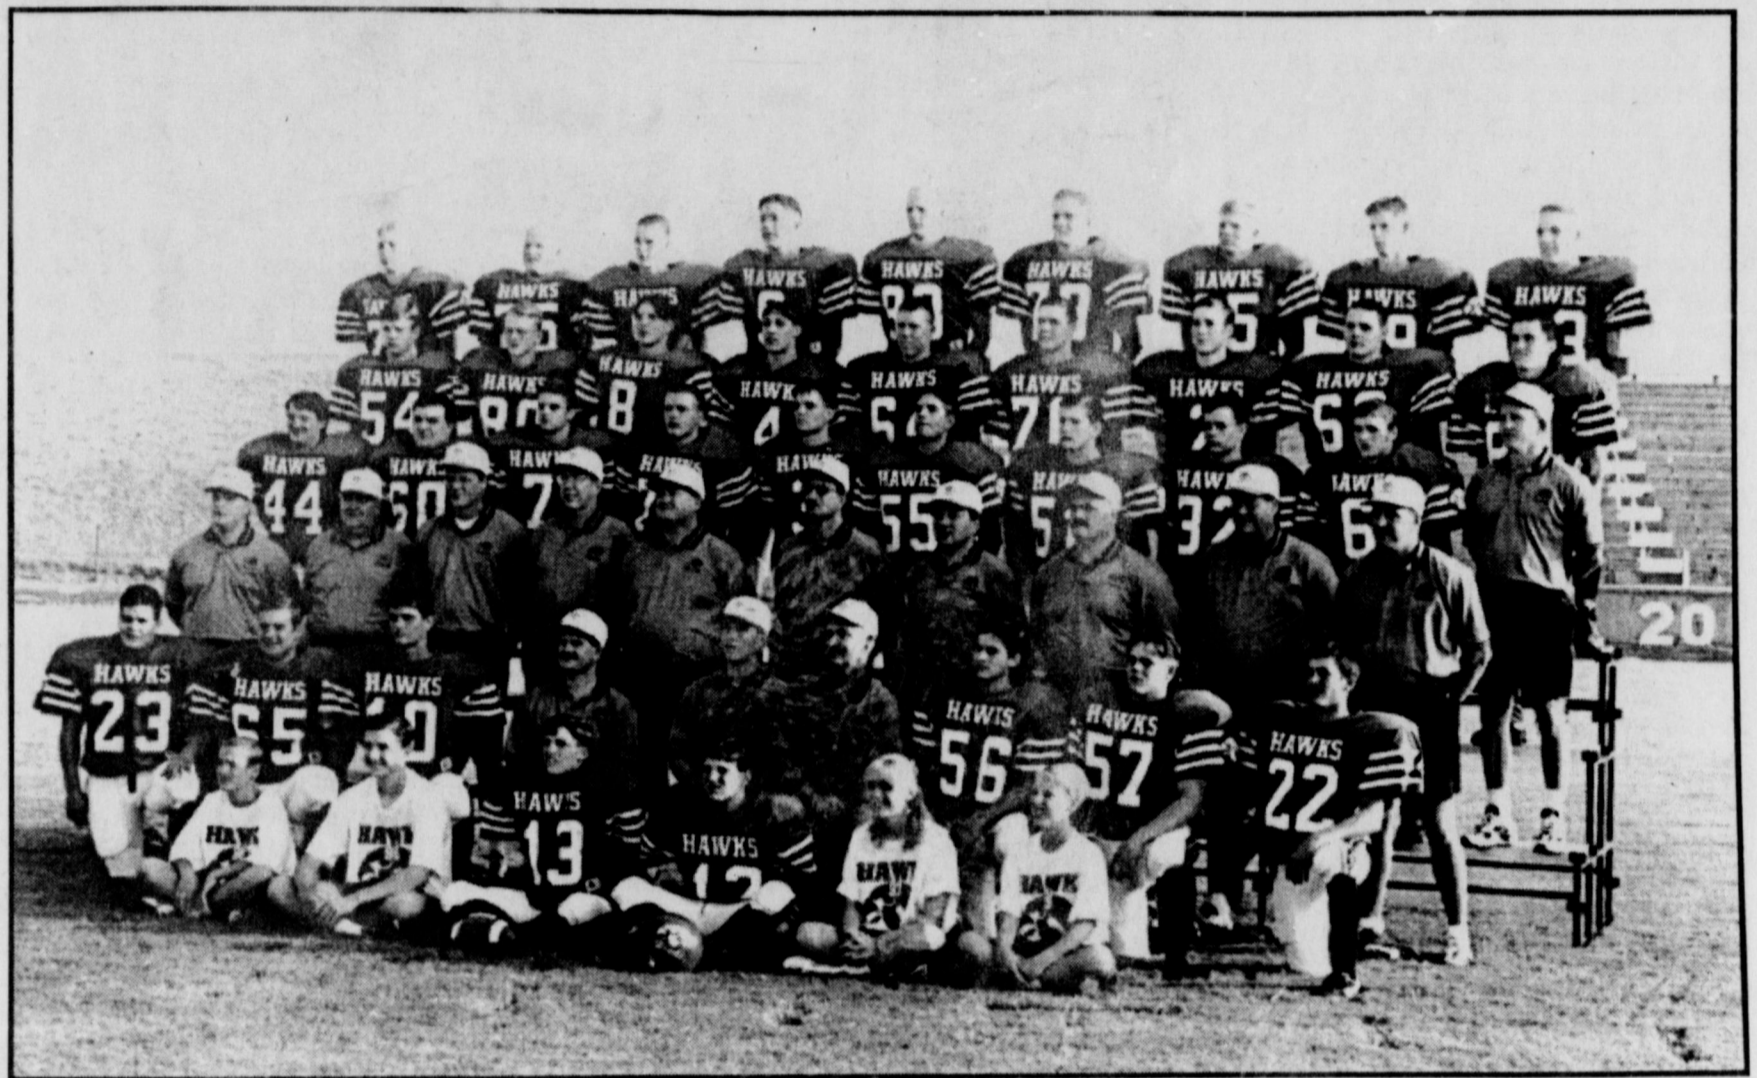

Part of the ink Nelms was referring to was the feature on the Morgan brothers that was on the cover of the High School Football tab that ran in Sunday's paper. Tyrone and "Pumpkin" were pictured on the front yet only Pumpkin will see action in Friday's game with Tyrone missing the game due to disciplinary reasons.

The Hawks are coming into the game with a pair of scrimmage wins over Hirschi and Electra and have high hopes of returning to the playoffs for a second consecutive year under Nelms.

"The kids are coming back out for football," Nelms stated. "Winning makes a lot of people want to be a part of something. The kids are expecting to win and be in the playoffs again, and that's a real plus. If you expect to win, you try harder."

Iowa Park got a taste of what to expect against Burk in its scrimmage against the Tigers last Friday. Electra had a trio of big backs that ran the ball extremely well. Nelms is expecting

Trustees adopt tax rate, postpone bussing cutoff

In a good example of how government is intended to work, a large group of parents, concerned with the elimination of two bus routes, met with Iowa Park school trustees last Thursday night and the two sides began working together to find a solution.

At the called meeting, in which trustees were to adopt a new budget and set the tax rate at $1.14 per $100 in property value, there was a standing room only crowd in the junior high school library.

The controversy began when parents learned on the first day of school that bus routes carrying mostly junior high students who live within the two-mile limit would be discontinued. The decision was made during an Aug. 15 board meeting when further cuts to the budget were necessary because of the state funding formula and Iowa Park's low tax rate.

Supt. Mike Caplinger was the first to speak, explaining the budget process, and how a $30-million increase in the district's tax base (one-half from expansion at Cryovac) had created a problem.

The Texas Education Agency computes its payments to school districts on a two-year sliding scale with penalties for wealthier districts that, in their estimation, don't have a high enough tax rate. The more a district taxes, the more state aid it receives.

Because TEA funding is determined every two years, this sets a benchmark that will be in effect through 1998-99. "We have a very lean year ahead of us, and it's apt to get leaner in the next two years," Caplinger said.

Caplinger showed a cash flow chart and said the district might have to borrow money to finish the year.

Robert Palmer, assistant superintendent and director of transportation, spoke next saying he hoped to clarify some misconceptions.

Palmer said the state provides

Permits top $2-million

Building permits issued at city hall in August put the year's total over the $2-million mark.

Bolstered by permits for two new homes, August's total was $234,285, which brought the year's sum to $2,200,661, according to this month's report.

Permits issued during August included:

- Kevin Ketchersid, 1300 Westridge, carport, $500;
- James Cates, 604 E. Pasadena, storage building, $2,800;
- Brian Beasley, 7 Park Place, new home, $90,000;
- Paul Duffey, 1310 Sunset, storage building, $5,000;
- Barbour Insurance, 900 W. Highway, roofing, $1,100;
- Regency One, 123 E. Valley, new home, $79,000;
- Faye Brott, 308 E. Aldine, patio, $3,000;
- AutoCraft, 411 S. Yosemite, new building, $40,000;
- Larry Wakefield, 407 N. Penn, siding, $3,800;
- Carl Pool, 830 N. Park, roofing, $2,400;
- Billy Gibson, 307 W. Lafayette, carport, $500;
- Ray Smock, 1318 N. Fourth, siding, $4,985;
- R.E. Cummings, 328 E. Cash, demolition, nc;
- Bobby Vernon, 110 W. Pecan, alteration, $1,200.

funds for transporting vocational, handicapped, hazardous routes, and two-mile eligibility students. He said they were working to determine which students qualify as two-mile eligible riders, those who live two miles or more from school.

"Every student who lives across the expressway will be eligible to ride a bus," he said, "because no road you can travel on is less than two miles."

Although six people were listed on the agenda to appear before the board, one of them, Josh Depremo, said that the group had designated three people to speak for them.

Laura Ensor was first and read a prepared statement. She said that many parents have not had time to find other ways, or, aren't equipped to get their children to school. She asked the trustees to revoke their decision and come to a compromise.

The next speaker, Derek Pollard, said the parents are willing to work to resolve the issue and reach a compromise. He gave several reasons for keeping the busses, the first being safety.

"Society has changed," he said. "and kids would be going to Bradford and Kidwell without older kids with them at bus stops." He also cited:

- * crossing railroad tracks
- * increase in absenteeism
- * traffic around the schools would get worse.

He suggested setting up a com-

Four arrests reported

Iowa Park police made four arrests during the past week, but two of those were of the same person.

Officers picked up Floyd Van Yarbrough, 69, Friday afternoon in the 100 block of South Wall, because he had two outstanding warrants issued against him locally.

The warrants were for disorderly conduct, which carries a fine of $118.50, and public intoxication, a $152 fine.

He was released from custody after signing a promise to appear next Tuesday in municipal court.

The following afternoon, the same man was arrested in the 400 block of East Jefferson, on a charge of public intoxication.

He was released six hours later after again signing a promise to appear next week in court, according to the police blotter.

Leland Bruce Wood, 40, was taken into custody Thursday morning at Louisa and Access Road, on a locally-issued warrant, and then it was determined two outstanding warrants for his arrest also had been issued by the Wichita County Sheriff's Dept.

The local warrant was for driving while his license was suspended. The county's warrants were for driving while intoxicated, a $732 bond, and driving while license was suspending, which carries a bond of $452.

Wood was transported that afternoon by a county deputy to jail.

When Stephen Mark Campbell, 22, was stopped by a city officer Friday morning in the 100 block of North Wall, a computer check determined two outstanding warrants had been issued against him by the Department of Public Safety.

The warrants were for speeding, a $103 fine, and failure to appear in court, a $235 fine. Campbell purchased money orders in the amount of $338, which were turned over to Justice of the Peace Bill Robinson.

A 14-year-old female was taken into custody Tuesday morning at a residence on East Ruby, after being reported as missing, and was later transported to the juvenile detention center in Wichita Falls.

She was with a 13-year-old girl at that location, who was transported to the junior high school, according to the blotter entry.

Four reports of criminal mischief were filed during the past week with police.

A resident in the 1100 block of Louisa told police someone had caused damage to his neighbor's car, which he was supposed to be caring for. Officers found tar, rocks and

Suit filed in '94 shooting death

The City of Iowa Park, its police department and a former officer of the department are being sued as result of a shooting death that occurred Sept. 2, 1994, according to Mike Price, city administrator.

Price said he was served with legal papers at city hall shortly after lunch Wednesday.

The case involves the death of Mark Allen Swanson, 34, at a residence in the 300 block of East Lafayette.

The suit seeks an unspecified amount for "losses and damages" resulting from the death, and was filed by Harold Swanson, the man's father, and the deceased's common-law wife, Cheryl Cook.

According to records, former officer Jack McGuinn responded at 10:20 p.m. to a called-in domestic disturbance at the residence on Lafayette.

McGuinn reportedly was confronted by Swanson, who was said to have been "highly intoxicated," in the back yard.

Swanson was alleged to have a long wooden object, possibly a table leg, and McGuinn initially used his service club to defend himself.

The officer said his club was of no use against the larger weapon, and he reportedly drew his pistol, issued verbal warnings, and then fired a single shot that felled Swanson.

Price said the matter will be turned over to the Texas Municipal League, which provides insurance for the city and employees in such cases.

Burke, Anaya vows exchanged

Miss Karen Lynn Burke and Ronald Eric Anaya exchanged matrimonial vows in a nuptial mass Aug. 17 at Christ The King Catholic Church.

Rev. Mr. Patrick J. Burke, father of the bride, and Rev. Emil Fardellone of Boston, Mass., conducted the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Patrick and Linda Burke of Iowa Park, and Anaya is the son of Diana Anderson of Castro Valley, Ca.

Given in marriage by both parents, Miss Burke was radiant in a formal shantung gown with pearl-detailed Venice lace. The bodice featured a sculptured sweetheart neckline, a basque waist and short illusion lace sleeves. The semi-cathedral length train was adorned with scattered lace appliques and a Venice lace hemline.

A two-tiered fingertip veil of bridal illusion was trimmed with imported flower, pearls and rhinestones to complete her ensemble.

She carried a cascade bouquet formed of pink and white pixie carnations and alstroemeria lilies.

Attending the bride were Erin Anderson of Castro Valley, Ca., sister of the groom, as maid of honor, and Eleanor Rubiano of Wichita Falls and Erin Hefli of Iowa Park as bridesmaids.

Each were identically attired in tea length gowns of wine-colored satin sheen, and carried a single pink carnation, accented with alstroemeria lilies, baby's breath and pink ribbon streamers.

Edward Arnold of Sunrise, Fla., served the groom as best man. Chris Burke, brother of the bride, of Dallas, and Jeff Peterson were groomsmen. Paul Anderson, of Castro Valley, Ca., nephew of the groom was ring bearer.

Mike Mobley and George Amador ushered guests.

All male members of the wedding party were attired in black tuxedos with black bow ties and cummerbunds.

The couple exchanged their vows before an altar decorated with burning brass candelabras accented with red and white roses, garland and white tulle and satin bows.

Seating for the guests was marked with white satin bows.

Damian Olivieri, soloist, and James Quashnock, pianist and organist, offered the nuptial musical selections.

Prior to mass, Olivieri sang "The Wedding Song" and "Panis Angelicus."

Quashnock offered "Prelude from Te Deum" for the processional. The congregation joined in singing "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling" for the entrance of the bride, "We Have Been Told" for communion, and the closing hymn, "Joyful, Joyful We Adore There."

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Eric Anaya
(Karen Lynn Burke)

Postlude selection on organ was "Toccata in F Major."

Immediately following the Nuptial Mass, the reception was held in the Parish Hall of the church.

Welcoming guests, a large St. Francis of Assisi fountain with flowing water was placed among green plants and flowers in the foyer area of the Hall. Guests registered at a table covered in Victorian rose with a white lace overskirt, which held the white satin and lace bridal book.

Brass-framed pictures of the bride and groom and special poetic verses were displayed on the registration table alongside burgundy and Victorian rose flowers. Susie Putthoff secured the signatures of the guests.

The bride and groom's table was the focal point of the hall, draped in white and white lace overlay, and festooned with burgundy satin bows.

The wedding cake was presented on five towers in a spiral arrangement. The white and chocolate cakes featured a basketweave design topped with star-gazer lilies, freesia, stephanotis and ivy, all hand-crafted of sugar.

Silk flowers in the bride's chosen colors arranged in a brass footed urn completed the table setting.

Deann McWhorter, Becky Daymude and Katy Schenk presided at the table.

The couple toasted one another with monogrammed crystal glasses, standing before a brass archway intertwined with silk pink and white roses, white tulle and burgundy bows.

Punch was served from heirloom glass punch bowls by Gloria Galvan and Dana Amador. The punch tables were draped in white with Victorian rose lace overlays, accented with burgundy satin bows.

Floral arrangements in the bride's chosen colors graced each of the tables.

Special guests at the wedding were the bride's grandparents, William Vogt of Thomson, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. John Hansen of Clinton, Iowa, and the groom's mother, Diana Anderson of Castro Valley, Cal.

Over 30 family and friends from Iowa, Illinois, Louisiana, Arizona, California, Florida and Oklahoma were guests at the wedding, reception, and wedding dinner, as well as the rehearsal dinner Friday evening.

The bride is a graduate of Notre Dame High School and is currently a senior at Midwestern State Univ.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Castro Valley High School, and is in the Army, stationed at Fort Sill, Ok.

Following a honeymoon trip to Dallas, the couple are now at home in Wichita Falls.

Youngs honored on 50th anniversary

The Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church was beautifully decorated with accents of burgundy, white and gold for a reception honoring Gene and Ginger Young on their 50th wedding anniversary.

The event, which took place on Saturday, Aug. 24, was hosted by a sister, Dorothy Warren, and nieces, Waynette and Tracy Faye Lyons and Karen Rogers, all of the Houston area, and a brother, Ronald Guffey, of Wichita Falls. Assisting were Jean Caudle, Janis Latimer, Sylvia Ritchie, Mary Troutman, Patsy Lane and Faye Anderson.

Highlighting the refreshment table was a three-tiered white cake, decorated with burgundy roses and topped with the traditional ceramic couple signifying 50 years. Burgundy candles flanked a floral arrangement of American beauty roses, pink carnations and lilies. Other appointments in burgundy completed the setting. During the afternoon, a great-niece, Tracy Faye Lyons, read a poem she had composed in honor of the couple.

The couple were married Aug. 15, 1946, in their hometown of Borger. They have lived in Iowa Park since 1973.

Gene is a veteran of World War II and served six years in Europe in the first and 29th Infantry Divisions. He later served in the first Signal Corp. and 16th Infantry Regiment. He was awarded three battle stars.

He is a 32nd degree Mason, a charter member of the Waco Consistory, a member of the McGregor Lodge No. 376, and Iowa Park Lodge No. 713, where he was recently honored as an instructor. He is a Past Patron of Iowa Park Chapter No. 42, Order of the Eastern Star. He retired from Lone Star Gas Company in 1987 as a Certified Pipeline Welder.

Ginger retired in 1987 as a Certified Medical Transcriptionist with Wichita General Hospital. Before moving to Iowa Park, she was an assistant teacher in a satellite program for special children.

She worked on a number of fundraising campaigns, and was awarded a special citation for work on the cancer crusade. She is a Past Matron of Iowa Park Chapter No. 42, Order of the Eastern Star.

The couple are members of the First Baptist Church and active in the Adult 6 Sunday School Department.

More than 100 guests attended the celebration, and came from McGregor, Houston, Elk City, Okla., Wynnewood, Okla., Waurika, Okla., and Coalgate, Okla.

Following the reception, the couple was honored with a family dinner at Davenport in Wichita Falls.

As I See It... By Bob Hamilton

Did anybody but me notice that the city of Wichita Falls never mentioned interest in annexing the prison area until after the county and state had completely rebuilt FM 369 from US 287 to Reilly Road, and then put a nice asphalt covering over Reilly? Interesting how much money a city government can save when it continually relies on the taxpayers of the county.

Right on the heels of Iowa Park and Wichita Falls schools having to cut expenses by eliminating in-city bussing of junior high and high school students, the Decatur district is launching a survey to determine interest in initiating such a service. That district contracts for its bussing service with a commercial company, and apparently could pass the cost on to the parents. Results of the survey is to be reported at the board's Sept. 17 meeting.

However, a middle school principal there told the Wichita County Messenger, "I've been involved with the school district and with school transportation for many years and I don't believe there will be much interest in providing this service."

He said he knows of only two students who walk to school. All the other in-townners are either driven by their parents or are in car pools, according to the article.

And speaking of schools and finances, I thought I'd let you know what several other districts have adopted for their 1996-97 tax rates: Decatur, $1.50; Alvord, $1.50; Graham, $1.32; Henrietta, $1.24; Granbury, $1.43; Nocona, $1.46; Pittsburg, $1.44; Perryton, $1.45; Pilot Point, $1.34; McGregor, $1.31; Crawford, $1.33; Breckenridge, $1.46; Boerne, $1.31; Frisco, $1.59, and Coppell, $1.60.

I'm looking forward with anticipation to the season-opener tomorrow night against Burkburnett.

This will be my 27th consecutive year to cover the annual battle between the Hawks and Bulldogs.

That first game I saw, in 1969, was a rousing 44-7 win for the Hawks, who went on to capture the state crown that year.

WORTH QUOTING

The federal government is finding out what most of us have known for years. A penny is basically worthless.

Yes, that is the conclusion of a study done by the General Accounting Office (GAO). The lowly cent costs the government money, is a bother to consumers and a pain to the banking system. The GAO could have saved thousands of study dollars just by spot-checking a few American homes and counting the thousands of pennies which are stacked in dresser drawers, piled in jars or languishing on the top of the "take-a-penny, get-a-penny" dishes on retail counters.

What the study found was that it does cost the Treasury Department less than a cent to manufacture a penny, but the government loses between $8 to $9 million a year distributing the coins to banks. Once the pennies leave the loading docks of the Federal Reserve, they do not freely circulate in the economy.

In the GAO study the circulation rate of pennies is in a steep decline. In 1991, about half of the coins paid out by the Federal Reserve returned for more circulation. In 1994, that rate had dropped to about a third. In other words, about two out of three pennies minted drop out of circulation.

By contrast, the quarter has a circulation rate which is near 90 percent. Other coins have comparable high circulation rates.

Respect for the penny has dropped so low that during one recent trip I saw a machine which took perfectly good pennies and then mashed them into a souvenir medalion. Of course it cost 50 cents for the conversion.

The conclusion of the GAO study is that the time of the penny may have passed. The coin does not circulate now and will circulate less in the future. It is a money loser for the government now and will be more so in times to come.

If the penny is removed from circulation, the nickel will fill the low spot on the coin totem pole. Merchants, when accepting cash will have to round the total up to the nearest nickel to make correct change.

It would not be the first time that the United States has eliminated a class of coinage. Over the years the two-cent piece, the half-cent, the three-cent nickel and the twenty-cent coin have all been dropped from circulation and into the collectable market.

Just as everything else seems to accelerate in today's world, how long would the nickel stay in circulation? I predict that in a few years, after the penny meets its demise, nickels will begin to fill all the niches which were former penny hoards.

Why not get ahead of the game now and eliminate the nickel along with the penny? When is the last time you purchased anything for a nickel? Then merchants could uniformly price items in tenths of a dollar, rather than in the hundredths. An item which used to sell for 77 cents would then be marked 0.8 dollars.

Dimes are much easier to carry than either pennies or nickels. Most people would only need a few quarters to round out their change supply.

If the penny is scheduled for elimination, the bright side is that every home in America will be hundreds of pounds lighter once all those cents are sent back to the Mint.

The other three cases apparently involved someone shooting a BB gun.

The back window of a vehicle parked in the 800 block of South Bond was reported Saturday as having been shattered, and another vehicle parked in the 500 block of Rebecca was found to have been shattered early Tuesday.

The fourth criminal mischief was reported by a person who was driving Saturday evening on West Highway and heard an unusual noise.

The driver later checked and found damage to the rear of the vehicle which appeared to be caused by a BB pellet. He gave a description of a vehicle that was following, and police are investigating.

Parents Night Set

Bradford's annual Parent's Night will be Monday.

Parents may come to the school that night and meet teachers and look over school facilities.

Parents of third graders should come to the school between 6 and 7 p.m.; and parents of fourth and fifth graders should come 7 to 8 p.m.

D.A.R.E. to say no

D.A.R.E. (Drug and Alcohol Resistance Education) classes have begun in Bradford's fifth grade classes.

Each fifth grader received a D.A.R.E. t-shirt, which will be worn each Tuesday, the D.A.R.E. class days.

Students will take several weeks of D.A.R.E. classes, conducted by Dee Dee Alderman, D.A.R.E. officer with the Iowa Park Police Dept. The studies will culminate with a "graduation."

Oh, Say Can You See?

This six week's fifth grade memory work will be memorizing the first two verses of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Fifth graders should have the verses memorized by Sept. 20.

Everything is coming up Apples!

Third graders have read "Johnny Appleseed." The students made apple trees and completed other activities relating to the story.

Bradford STARS!

Bradford's accelerated reading program, S.T.A.R. (Super Talented Accelerated Readers) has begun.

In the program, students read "accelerated readers," then take computer tests to determine comprehension. Students can earn points for grades in the testing, which can be redeemed for various prizes.

English made easier

All Bradford classes have begun the "Shurley Method" of teaching English.

Similar to "Saxon Math" in method, the program has been piloted with successful results. Bradford Principal Pat Cravens said she is optimistic about the results Bradford students will see.

The Red Cross is coming!

The Red Cross will visit all Bradford P.E. classes the week of Sept. 16 to give a program on "What to do until help arrives."

Health lessons have been implemented in the physical education program, and will be given every two weeks.

It's HOT

Bradford fifth graders have started enjoying the rewards of returning their homework on time.

H.O.T. (Homework On Time) Time began last week, in which fifth graders who have turned in their homework all week are rewarded with 30 minutes "visiting time" on Friday afternoon.

KIDWELL

All parents and others interested in FFA are invited to come to the meeting.

College financing explored

An overwhelming majority of parents of college-bound high school students believe that a college education is critical to their children's financial security and quality of life, yet most parents say they have saved only a quarter to less of college costs, with one in five having put away nothing at all.

But parents may find some unexpected help from their offspring: a vast majority of college-bound students think paying for college today is a responsibility they share with their folks.

According to the results of a national survey conducted by Gallup & Robinson and sponsored and released recently by Sallie Mae, the nation's largest source of education funds for student borrowers and their families, more than 80% of parents surveyed think college is either "indispensable" or "very valuable" to their child's economic and personal well-being.

Still, despite the high value placed on a college degree, a total of 70% of parents surveyed say they have saved half or less of anticipated tuition and fees. While 7% indicated they have saved all expected costs, more than three times as many (22%) admit to having no college savings.

"Despite higher education's escalating costs, this survey reveals an immutable attitude among parents: that college is a vital ingredient to their child's success," said Lydia Marshall, executive vice president, Sallie Mae. "Even with those bedrock sentiments, however, the value parents place on college far exceeds the value placed in college savings accounts."

The survey of 800 parents of high school students suggests that most mothers and fathers have at least a general sense of college costs: 60% knew that the actual total cost of attending four years at a public university is more than $35,400 (which is the lower end of the projected average cost range for attending a public college for the academic years 1995-96 through 1998-99); and a parallel 50% currently gauged a private college's costs to be more than $73,800 over four years (which is the lower end of the projected average cost range for attending a private college for the same academic period).

Although most parents may not be able to precisely pinpoint education costs, they are nonetheless concerned about them. Nearly one in three (31%) parents surveyed said that their first financial priority was their children's college education, trailing only the family's everyday budget (38%) on the list of chief monetary concerns, and polling almost twice as many as retirement, which ranked third (17%).

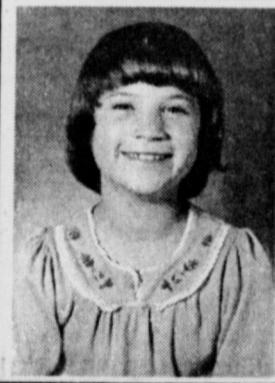

While most parents have saved only modestly for their children's education, a majority of them (51%) indicate that they plan to use those savings to help pay for college. Forty seven percent are counting on grants and scholarships and 42% are eyeing student loans.

Many attitudes of the students themselves mirrored their parents': more than 80% of the 300 college-bound students surveyed called a college education "indispensable" or "very valuable" to their financial well-being.

However, students tending to underestimate the cost of attending a public and private college by about 33%. Additionally, while 68% of parents agreed that paying for college was a shared responsibility, 83% of students thought as much.

"Families today look at financing a college education as a patchwork, gathering pieces from a variety of funding sources," observes Marshall. "This survey also shows a widespread sentiment among students that they have an obligation to be one of those sources."

"College Bound: Americans' Attitudes About Paying for College" was based on telephone interviews with a national sample of 800 parents of college-bound high school students (with a sampling error of 3.5 percentage points) and 300 college-bound high school juniors and seniors (with a sampling error of 5.8 percentage points). The surveys were conducted by Gallup & Robinson of Princeton, New Jersey.

Cook of the Week

Connie Garcia, Andy and Kristen

This week's featured cook, Connie (Mrs. Johnny) Garcia, is a working mother who is also very dedicated to her family, and it shows.

Connie and her husband Johnny, have two children, Kristen, a sixth grader at Iowa Park Junior High, and Andy, a second grader at Kidwell.

Kristen plays soccer for the "Shamrocks", and also plays in the fall basketball league. Andy plays soccer for "Da Boyz," which is coached by his dad, and also plays baseball in the spring.

Connie lists her number one hobby as doing things with her family, and watching the kids play sports. She is team mother for Andy's soccer team. Among her other hobbies are fishing and working out at the gym.

During the summer, Connie said, the family spends a lot of time at the lake.

Connie was born in Wisconsin and moved to Wichita Falls in 1976. She and Johnny are graduates of Hirschi High School.

Connie is employed at U.S. Long Distance in Wichita Falls, and Johnny works with his father at Garcia Metal Buildings and concrete Construction.

Even with a busy schedule year-round, the family doesn't do without healthy, home-cooked meals.

Andy and Kristen said their favorite dishes their mother prepares are Chicken Pot Pie and Rice Dish, respectively. Connie is sharing these recipes, and others which are sure to be a hit this fall.

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Drunken teen-agers could call the police for a free ride rather than risk making the drive home themselves, under a proposal adopted last week by a state Senate interim committee.

The proposal — to be considered during the 1997 Texas Legislature — is part of a list of law-toughening recommendations passed by the Senate Interim Committee on Juvenile Drinking While Intoxicated Laws.

The committee also voted to establish a zero-tolerance policy for minors, in which drivers under age 21 caught with any alcohol in their system would face a first-offense fine of up to $500, suspension of their license for up to 120 days, community service and alcohol-abuse awareness courses.

"Juvenile drinking is wrong, period. We all know 21 is the legal age to drink and nothing below. Juvenile drinking and driving is absolutely unacceptable behavior. It is a serious and deadly action and we in the Legislature mean business when we say it will no longer be tolerated," said committee member Sen. Florence Shapiro, R-Plano.

Other recommendations by the committee include:

■ Increased punishment for those who buy or provide alcohol to a minor; and

■ New rules restricting late-night driving for younger teen-agers.

Committee chairman Sen. Royce West, D-Dallas, predicted a "tremendous reduction" in underage drinking if the recommendations become law.

Department of Public Safety records show that in 1995, 158 Texans between ages 16 and 20 died in drunken driving accidents. Also in 1995, 3,045 teen-agers were involved in traffic accidents in which the drivers were drunk.

Bush Opposes Welfare Cuts

Gov. George W. Bush said last week that some Texans will "fall through the cracks" if the federal welfare bill signed into law by President Clinton cuts payments to older and disabled Americans.

Federal welfare cuts totaling about $55 billion are planned over the next six years.

Bush also voiced concern for legal immigrants, whose benefits face big cuts or elimination under the legislation. He said he hopes Congress will revisit the welfare law, regardless of who wins the elections in November.

About 13,000 disabled children and 61,000 legal immigrants who are elderly or disabled could lose Social Security benefits. Thousands of legal immigrants also could lose food stamps.

What course Texas takes will depend on the final shape of the new welfare law. Requirements the new welfare law places on states could hurt Texas' welfare reform plans which aim to move Texans off assistance and into jobs and job-training programs.

"Unless we're able to construct the system in a Texas fashion, it will hamstring our ability to get the job done properly," Bush said.

AG Offers Enrollment Guides

Racial and ethnic student enrollment need not erode if Texas colleges and universities follow race-neutral guidelines recommended last week by Texas Attorney General Dan Morales.

Morales said state colleges and universities could boost minority enrollment, although a March federal court ruling put limits on affirmative action.

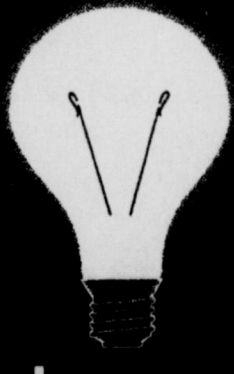

In a letter to state higher education officials, Morales said that in addition to applicants' test scores and grades, schools should consider age, gender, talents, military service, leadership, public service, hometown, employment history, extracurricular activities, financial status and family socio-economic history.

"Our young, minority children must know that with hard work, sacrifice, commitment and perseverance, educational and professional opportunities await them," Morales said.

Many Texas universities including the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems have already instituted some of the admission and scholarship criteria Morales recommended.

Other Capital Highlights

■ The Texas Insurance Checking Office, an affiliate of the Texas Insurance Advisory Association, has been hired by the state to collect and analyze information about auto insurance rates set by the insurance companies. The Texas Department of Insurance will use the data when the state sets its insurance rates each year. State law allows insurers to set their rates up to 30 percent above or 30 percent below the state's benchmark rates.

Hawks chalk up 2nd victory in scrimmage

Iowa Park, coming off an impressive showing in it's first scrimmage against Hirschi last Friday, made it 2-0 for those of you keeping score, with a 14-13 win over the Tigers Friday evening at the Junior High Field.

The scrimmage was originally scheduled for Electra but had to be moved due to all the rain received in Electra.

The Hawks didn't look as sharp as in the previous week, making several mental mistakes that cost them three touchdowns that were called back due to penalties.

"I thought we came out with a lot of nervous energy," said head coach Weldon Nelms. "We made some mental mistakes like ball handling, wrong pass routes, missed blocking assignments, and when you do all those things, it made us look out of sync a bit. We had two or three scores called back on penalties and that seemed to affect the kids a bit. Those kinds of things will affect a young team more than a veteran club. We just need to overcome the mental mistakes and we'll be all right."

The Tigers scored first on a 55-yard trap play that gave Electra a 1-0 lead. The point after made it 7-0, but the lead was short lived as on Iowa Park's first possession, quarterback Todd Yeager hooked up with his tight end Jed Taylor on a 65-yard scoring pass to tie the game following Keith Trammell's point after kick.

Electra came back to retake the lead on a long pass play but the point-after sailed wide left leaving the score 13-7. Iowa Park answered with it's best drive of the scrimmage that culminated with Shawn Fulfer's short run to tie the game. Trammell's point after broke the tie giving the Hawks a 14-13 win.

"Offensively, we moved the ball all night on them," Nelms said. "We had three called back and moved the ball deep in their territory three or four other times. We did a lot of good things, we just need to cut down on the mental miscues in the red zone."

Defensively, Iowa Park did a good job of containing the running game of the Tigers, which, according to Nelms, have possibly the best trio of backs the Hawks would see all season.

"I thought we played well defensively," Nelms added. "Electra used a balanced attack of inside and outside which gave us a good workout heading into the Burk game. They broke a trap play where we had a mental breakdown, then again on a long pass play, but other than that, we held them in check and they didn't move the ball much against us. We're getting better defensively each time out."

TODD YEAGER PITCHES OUT ON OPTION PLAY

"I thought our offensive line played well again," Nelms said. "They're starting to come together as a unit and playing with a lot more confidence. Josh Arrington has really stepped up and shown that he can play at this level while Brandon Holley and Brandon McLemore are playing well at the guards. Brian Casey and Mike Noel are also playing well. We are two-deep at tight end with Jed Taylor and Shawn Campbell as well as wide receiver with Chad Wright and Nick Black."

Black made a nice catch to set up the tying score when he outjumped a Tiger defender to pull down a pass from Shawn Fulfer late in the scrimmage.

The Hawks came out of the scrimmage in good shape health-wise heading into the season opener against Burk this Friday. Yeager, who missed much of the scrimmage due to dizziness, has returned to practice with no problems.

In-city bussing cutoff delayed

mittee to study bus routes, possibly eliminating some of the stops, and having designated areas for students to board the busses. "With a spirit of compromise, we can work this out," he concluded.

Lisa Ezell said she realized that there is no law to force bussing (inside the two-mile limit), but what seems to be a privilege has become a dire necessity.

She said car pooling denotes a shared responsibility. She can't car pool because she and most of the mothers she knows work in Wichita Falls. She said she doesn't know four stay-at-home parents.

"We live in the 90's and things are not like they were when we were growing up," she said. "A walk of more than two blocks is too dangerous. The newsworthiness of this has advertised to any sick individual that we are providing a smorgasbord of victims for anyone willing to stand on the corner for just a few minutes." In conclusion she said, "Bus rides need to be available today, tomorrow, and six months from now."

One parent asked if there weren't many areas that could be cut in the budget instead of all in one place.

Caplinger explained the many cuts that had been made including $132,990 at the high school, $3,400 from athletics, and $39,200 from the amount budgeted for the high school band.

In response to criticism for the short notice given about cancelling the bus routes, trustees said they didn't realize until the last minute, mid-July, that more cuts were going to be necessary.

Another parent asked if a bond issue couldn't be passed to pay for a bus, and was told that bond issues are only for technology and facilities. Others offered to have fundraisers, or pay the district for their children to ride the bus. However, neither of these would be legal they were told.

When someone asked why the tax rate couldn't be raised high enough to cover the needs, Allen Shewmake, city and school tax accessor/collector, responded.

He explained that the effective tax and rollback tax rates had been calculated and established. When the board proposed a tax rate of $1.14318, which was the same as the rollback rate, they complied with the truth in taxation laws by publishing notices and holding public hearings.

At this time, even if the board wanted to go to a higher tax rate, they would have to go through the same procedure all over again. And the higher rate would force an automatic election because the amount would exceed the rollback rate.

Almost all of the parents who spoke during the meeting said they were willing to work with the board to find a solution.

They also apologized to the trustees for comments made during a meeting of the parents on the previous Tuesday, saying they were pretty emotional at the time.

Supt. Caplinger said he is looking into contract bussing. He is checking with a non-profit company that he understands sometimes contracts with parents concerning needed bussing. He also mentioned two other school districts in the area that he believes uses this type of bussing.

Caplinger said he would like to back off (cutting the bus routes) and give the parents time for the transition to be made.

A motion was made to extend the transition period, scheduled to end the next day, until Sept. 30, the end of the first six weeks. Transportation will be furnished until then.

The motion passed, 6-1, with Larry Dutton voting against the measure.

Board president Keith Fisher told the parents, "This will give us time to work toward a solution, but you will need to be prepared that busses will not run after Sept. 30. I don't want you leaving here thinking it's all worked out."

Fisher complimented Caplinger for his "diligent work and searching for other avenues." He said they would have some information by the next meeting on Sept. 12.

He also complimented the speakers saying, "We better understand where you're coming from and appreciate the manner in which you conducted yourself."

A parent responded, "We're all here for the same reason - our children. We haven't been at meetings before, because you all are doing such a good job!"

Following a short break, the board reconvened and adopted the amended budget for 1995-96; adopted the official school budget for 1996-97; and set the tax rate at $1.14 for 1996.

Hawks to open '96 season Friday at Burkburnett

much of the same from the Bulldogs this week.

"They're mysterious with their new head coach," Nelms said. "They've been real basic in their two scrimmages, it scares you as to what they might be saving for you. Any time you have a coaching change it sets you back. Burk is a tailback oriented team and they will split time back there. Their fullback is a big strong kid but more of a blocker. Their quarterback is small, only 5-6, and they will try and get him outside in their passing game to give him a chance to see his receivers." "Defensively, they've changed to a 5-0 look," Nelms added. "They do a lot of reading and they have two defensive ends that make a lot of plays for them. They move their strong safety around a lot. That will be a key for us. We feel like we need to control where they play their strong safety. We have to keep him honest and off balance."

The Hawks will come into the game with a new offensive line after graduating all five starters from last year's squad. Josh Arrington, a 225-lb. sophomore, and Brian Casey, a 235-lb. senior, will start at tackles for Iowa Park while Brandon Holley and Brandon McLemore, both 175-lb. juniors, will get the call at the guard spots. Mike Noel, a 185-lb. junior will be the center. Jed Taylor, a 205-lb. senior, and Shawn Campbell, a 210-lb. senior, will both see time at tight end for the Hawks.

The backfield will be one of the bright spots for the Hawks this season as coach Nelms is blessed with more depth than most teams.

Kevin Braziel, a 160-lb. senior, Shawn Fulfer, a 170-lb. senior, and Brandon Brown, a 170-lb. junior, will all see plenty of playing time at the tailback spot for Iowa Park. Todd Yeager, a junior 165-lb. quarterback, returns from last season as the team's leading passer and will also get some help from Fulfer as the signal caller this season. Toby Catlin and Calvin Galliton will see time at the fullback position. Chad Wright and Nick Black will share time at wide out with Michael Swenson seeing action at the wingback spot.

Defensively, Iowa Park will be a quick unit that will swarm to the ball with some big hitters in the secondary and at linebacker.

"Early in the season, I feel like the team that can win the kicking game and control its turnovers and mistakes is going to have a big advantage," Nelms said. "Teams are going to make some mistakes, but it's going to be the team that can overcome those mistakes that will come out on top.

"We feel like our passing and option game will stretch their defense," Nelms added. "We have to have a balanced attack to keep them playing honest against us. Defensively, they are a run oriented team that doesn't throw the ball much. We're going to have to try to shut down their running game and force them to throw."

Iowa Park will be looking to get the season started on the right foot as things don't get any easier next week as the Hawks play host to another 4A school. The Wichita Falls High School Coyotes will come calling next Friday at 7:30 p.m..

Heartburn remedies, treatments examined

Too much of an over-the-counter antacid or heartburn medication can wreak havoc on your stomach, warns a gastroenterologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Several medications that used to be available by prescription only are now sold in the drug-store aisles and can be very effective at preventing stomach acid and heartburn," said Dr. Fred M. Sutton Jr., associate professor of medicine.

"But if you're having to rely on them all the time for food-related pain relief, you may be creating other health problems and covering up a more serious condition. Indigestion, for example, can be a warning sign of a heart attack."

Antacid medications are taken after a meal to neutralize acids already secreted by the stomach. They usually provide immediate relief from stomach acid caused by something you just ate or drank. Because antacids contain magnesium, abusing them could cause diarrhea. Some antacids contain aluminum, which in large amounts can cause constipation.

Medications known as H2-blockers are taken 30 minutes before a meal. They prevent or reduce acid secretion in the stomach.

If you have been taking antacids or H2-blockers regularly for more than two weeks, Sutton recommends seeing a physician to determine the source of your problem.

Chronic stomach discomfort, indigestion and heartburn could result from an ulcer, stomach or colon cancer or heart problems, he said. If the problem is heart-related, the sodium contained in some antacids could make the body retain fluid and worsen heart disease.

By identifying the cause, the physician can select the appropriate medications and treatment. Because most over-the-counter remedies contain only half the dose of prescription medications, the physician might prescribe a stronger antacid or H2-blocker. If the patient has an ulcer, the physician should prescribe antibiotics as well as H2-blockers, Sutton said.

He also recommends that people on other medications and dialysis patients consult their physicians before taking over-the-counter antacids and H2-blockers to avoid problems with drug interactions and excessive build-up of aluminum or magnesium.

"Of course, most people would not have to worry about stomach acid and heartburn medicines if they just stopped eating the foods that they know from experience are likely to cause an upset stomach," Sutton said.

Approximate Two Mile Line

Determining 2-Mile Eligible Riders

State Rule Sec. 42.155

(1) "Regular eligible student" means a student who resides two or more miles from the student's campus of regular attendance, measured along the shortest route that may be traveled on public roads.

The district's map shows the approximate 2-mile line. These are based on a single measurement. Parents will need to use their own vehicle to find the exact distance from their home to the school. The "shortest route . . . on public roads" may not necessarily be the one the parent normally travels, but must be the one used to determine 2-mile eligibility.

If there is a question, school officials will help you measure the distance. For assistance, call Robert Palmer, Assistant Superintendent, at 592-4193.

Grace announces reorganization

J. Gary Kaenzig, president of Grace Packaging and senior vice president of W.R. Grace & Co., announced a newly created Office of the President.

He will be joined by two executive vice presidents: William Sturgis, former president of Cryovac North America, and Fred Lempereur, former president of Grace Container Products.

Concurrently, Al Weinberg was named vice president, global research, development and engineering for Grace Packaging.

As part of the reorganization, Len Byrne was appointed president of Cryovac North America. He has announced a newly restructured, market-focused Cryovac North America management team developed to more efficiently serve its growing customer base.

it includes sector vice presidents with responsibility for specific market segments, including marketing, pricing and key account responsibility.

These include: Karl Deily, vice president, red meat sector; Larry Young, vice president, good products sector; Ruth Roper, vice president, industrial and consumer goods sector; John Beckroge, vice president and general manager, laminants, and Ken Costanzo, vice president, ventures and new operations sector.

Also appointed to key positions in the new organization were former Iowa Park plant manager Sam Laird, vice president, manufacturing and customer service; Paul Haskett, vice president and general manager, Canada; John Larkin, vice president and general manager, Formpac; Bob Quattlebam, vice president, sales;

Bruce Hagins, vice president, finance and administration, and Van Vander Ploeg, vice president, marketing administration.

It's A Fact . . .

The permit is good for 12 full months. Days and hours the center is open include: 12-6 p.m. Fridays; 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturdays; 1-5 p.m. Sundays, and 12-6 p.m. Mondays.
