PICKIN' AND GRINNIN' - Members of the Valley View 4-H Club picked up trash along their designated stretch of highway on FM 1206 Sunday. The group undertakes this each year as one of its community service project. Brady Tyler earned the "hustler" award for his efforts.

It's all for sale!

City-Wide Garage Sale to cap off Clean-Up Week

Though the weather is "dampening" some spirits for this year's annual Clean-Up Week, anticipation is running high for Saturday's City-Wide Garage Sale.

The annual big sale of the spring season, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will include sales at 70 homes and five non-profit organizations, according to Susan Dillard, Chamber secretary.

A listing of all addresses where the sales will be held is published on

Additionally, lists and maps will be made available Saturday morning at the Chamber office.

Clean-Up Week began Monday and will continue through Sunday, though some organizations have indicated they may do their volunteer work possibly into next week.

The delay was caused by wet weather which, according to members of one organization, makes picking up trash in deep, wet weeds undesirable.

The city's convenience center, located south of the railroad tracks on Johnson Road, is allowing dumping free of charge to all residents of the city during this week's observance.

Residents and businesses are encouraged by Clean-Up Week co-sponsors, the Chamber and City of Iowa Park, to clean up around their premises in an effort to help beautify the community.

Absentee voting to begin Monday

Absentee voting in the May 3 city and school elections will commence Monday and continue on April 29.

The absentee poll for city council voting is at the city hall, which will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. on weekdays.

Those casting absentee votes in the school trustee election will mark their ballots at the school tax office, 1303 North Fourth, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., also on weekdays.

Only one of the three positions on both the city and school elections drew competition. And in both races, former office holders are seeking return to posts.

In the city election, incumbent Mark Raby is being challenged in his bid for re-election by former city alderman Bud Mercer.

Mercer decided last spring to not seek re-election to his long-held alderman post, and instead ran unsuccessfully against Tim Hunter for mayor.

Former school trustee Wendell House has filed against newcomer Jeff Nolen for the seat on the school board currently held by Bert Williamson.

Incumbents have filed to be returned on the other places on the city and school ballots, and none drew challengers.

Aldermen Tracy Fears and Bob Hamilton have both filed in the city election, while Martha Dudley and Larry Dutton filed for re-election on the school board.

ON THE MOVE, AGAIN -- A section of grandstand was moved Wednesday from the junior high school football field to a new, and more useful location, the girls' softball field at the high school. It is shown passing through the intersection of West Highway and Yosemite, on a Barbour Trucking rig. The section was moved into town some 25 years ago from its original location, the Valley View School field, by the late C.E. Myers. The stand was unused and in need of repairs at the junior high, and its relocation was suggested by students of the Eighth Grade Challenge History Class.

Trustees to consider after-school care, swim pool proposals

Consideration of a proposal to provide after-school child care, and control of the local swimming pool are just two of the topics on the agenda for tonight's school board meeting.

Iowa Park school officials have been contacted by the YMCA in Wichita Falls proposing a program for after school child care at the schools here. It would provide a sliding scale fee for low-income/single parent families.

At a called meeting on March 24, Iowa Park Mayor Tim Hunter asked school trustees if they were interested in the city taking over control of the swimming pool. A committee of four, two from the school and two from the city, was named to meet and discuss the matter. The representatives would then take the matter back to their respective governing bodies to make a decision.

Other items on the agenda in addition to regular business items include:

- * Recognizing state powerlifting students;
- * Begin review of Task Force

Committee recommendations;

* Implementation of new District Plan.

Trustees will go into executive session to consider personnel matters, and a disciplinary complaint.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 this evening in the junior high school library.

Grand jury indicts elderly Iowa Parkan

A 71-year-old Iowa Parkan was taken into custody Wednesday of last week on a sealed indictment handed down by the grand jury.

Aubrey M. Lee Cross was arrested in the 900 block of South Wall at 3:52 p.m., and turned over to a county deputy at 4:53 p.m. to be transported to jail, according to the police blotter.

The indictment was for indecency with child. No additional information was available, however.

Two other arrests were included in the week's blotter entries, both for public intoxication.

William Brian Robinson, 26, was arrested at 10:26 p.m. Saturday at Lake Iowa Park, and released at 3:52 a.m. Sunday after signing a promise to appear in municipal court.

Garry Keith Brown, 52, was arrested at 8:40 p.m. Monday in the 1600 block of Karen, and released at 2:07 a.m. Tuesday, after signing a promise to appear in court.

Tuesday afternoon, police received a telephone call from a resident in the 200 block of West Clara, reporting a criminal mischief claim.

Moments later, an officer took the caller, Bobby Sims, 32, into custody on two outstanding warrants that had been issued for his arrest earlier: no drivers license, and no motor vehicle inspection.

Less than half an hour after being taken into custody, Sims was released after his fines, which amounted to $206, were paid, according to the blotter entry.

Five members of a magazine sales force were issued citations Tuesday morning, for soliciting in the city without a required permit.

The sales group was working in the northern part of the city when police were notified.

Their black leather sales books were confiscated for evidence, and will be returned when, and if, they report to the municipal court hearing on April 22.

The five included: William Osborne Miffan, 19; James M.

Local fire chief named 'Firefighter of the Year'

Danny Skinner, Chief of the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department, was named "Firefighter of the Year" at the West Texas District Firemen and Fire Marshalls Assn. convention held Sunday in Wichita Falls.

He will be in competition for "Texas Firefighter of the Year" at the state convention, which will be held at Galveston in June.

Skinner was elected vice president of the District Association, and his son, Lewis, who is captain of the Iowa Park Fire Department, was elected president.

Mary Messer was named president of the Ladies Auxiliary for the West Texas District, and Frances Skinner of Iowa Park will serve as vice president.

Eleven members of the Iowa Park Fire Dept. and their families attended the meeting in Wichita Falls.

They brought back trophies for competition in pump races and water polo. These include, 1st place - 6-man pumper race; 2nd place, 3-man pumper race; 1st and 2nd place, men's water polo; 1st place, 6-woman pumper race; 2nd and 3rd place, 3-woman pumper race; and 1st place, woman's water polo.

Plans are being made for June, 1998, when the State Firemen and Fire Marshalls Assn. will hold its annual convention in Wichita Falls.

Recent rains spell welcomed relief

Three days of showers during the past week produced 10 times more precipitation than Iowa Park received in all of March, according to Virgil Woodfin's measurements.

The long-time local weather observer reported .53 Wednesday of last week, .20 Thursday, and .12 Tuesday, for a total of .85 of an inch. That compares with .08 for all the month of March.

Weather forecasters were predicting continued precipitation cells to pass over the area, possibly as long as Saturday.

Local farmers praised the moisture, but admitted it still was far shy of what is needed for this spring's wheat crop.

Some say they estimate already having lost as much as 10 bushels of production per acre, due to the dry conditions.

Accompanying the needed moisture this week was the traditional "Easter cold spell," which dropped nighttime temperatures into the 30s.

The cold spell normally arrives in the area within 10 days of Easter.

Helwig, Brookins nuptial vows exchanged

Christopher Lance Brookins and his bride, the former Laura Dawn Helwig are making their home in Oklahoma City following their wedding in Iowa Park First United Methodist Church at four o'clock in the afternoon March 8.

The bride is the daughter of CMSGT (Ret.) and Mrs. Larry Helwig of Iowa Park. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brookins of Wichita Falls and Ms. Alice Brookins of Flint, Mich.

Rev. Glenn Blackmon, pastor of First United Methodist Church of Celina, and former pastor of the Iowa Park church, directed the recitation of double ring vows.

The altar table was decorated with twin arrangements of stargazer lillies and white roses, two single candles, and the unity candle. The altar railing featured grape leaves intertwined with white silk roses and burgundy bows. Pews were marked with hunter green bows.

Music for the wedding was provided by Carolyn Richter of Iowa Park who sang "When You Say Nothing at All" and "There Is Love".

The bride was presented for marriage by her parents, Larry and Karen Helwig.

She wore a gown of bridal satin styled on the simple lines of a sheath gown with shoulder straps. Over her gown she wore a separate detachable piece that formed an off-the-shoulder sweetheart neckline. This was heavily beaded at the neckline and down the front, and was closed with a double bow at the waistline. The piece was attached to the full train that was completely edged with a deep border of beaded lace.

Her waist-length veil of bridal illusion was attached in puffs to a beaded tiara. She carried a bouquet of orchids, roses, and baby's breath.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Kelly Spikes of Wichita Falls.

Bridesmaids were Maranee Peterson of Oklahoma City, Courtney Draker of Houston and Joann Erenhouse of Oklahoma City.

The groom's best man was Pat Beahan of Flint, Mich. Groomsmen were Kurt Helwig of Iowa Park, Justin Brookins of Flint, and Damon Brookins of Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Lance Brookins
(Laura Dawn Helwig)

Ushers were Jesse Corrosko and Jimmy Spikes, both of Wichita Falls.

Bev Mensing of McGrath, Minn., was the bride's personal attendant.

The reception was held at the Eagles Club of Wichita Falls.

The bride's table was covered with a burgundy cloth and lace overlay. The cake formed the centerpiece. Aunts of the bride, Agnes Youngdahl of Duluth, Minn., and Dorothy Rostberg of Hinckley, Minn., presided.

The coffee and punch tables were laid with hunter green cloths and lace overlay. Carolyn Seigler served at the coffee table.

Securing names of the guests for the bride's book was Sherry Hanold.

The groom's table was covered with a pleated hunter green cloth.

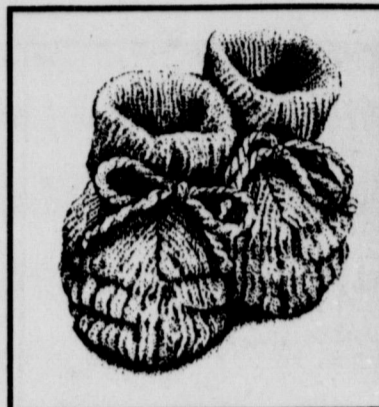

Guests were seated at tables covered with hunter green cloths and centered with two votive cups and burgundy and hunter green balloons.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Cliff Anderson of Sandstone, Minn., Dorothy Rostberg, Hinckley, Minn., Agnes Youngdahl, Duluth, Minn. Alice Brookins, Flint, Mich., Shirley and Seldon Robinson, Madison, Wis.

The bride is a graduate of Iowa Park High School and Midwestern State University. She will receive her Juris Doctorate in May from the Oklahoma City University School of Law.

Brookins graduated Flint Central High School and will be attending Oklahoma State University in the fall.

Sunday, March 9, the bride's parents served dinner to the bride and groom, the groom's parents, and out-of-town guests. Following the meal the bride and groom opened their wedding gifts.

Health Notes

Drug-Food Interactions

by Joe Hughes, R.P.H.

Food can interact with medications, reducing or increasing the rate or extent of absorption of the medication. This can cause a significant difference in the intended effect, as well as increase the risk of side effects. Unless otherwise directed by your doctor or pharmacist, don't stir medications into food. Acids in some foods may alter the drug. Vitamins or minerals can bind with medications, reducing their absorption or speeding up their elimination. Many of our patients tell us that they always take medication with food, others say always on an empty stomach. But, actually, neither of these approaches is always appropriate. Each time that we fill a new prescription, we provide the information that you need to receive the maximum benefit from each of your medications.

Art group votes to join Chamber

During their monthly meeting Tuesday night at the RAC, members of Iowa Park Arts and Crafts Association voted to join the Chamber of Commerce and pay a monthly fee for use of the meeting room. In other business, directed by Sheri Kennedy, president, the group also approved making a donation to Project Graduation. Shirley Hicks was in charge of the program in which she taught members how to make padded picture frames. Martha Dudley won the door prize, a ceramic planter with a strawberry bush and raffia ribbon.

Bobbie Coburn and Oddus Merrifield

Engagement announced

The engagement and forthcoming wedding of Bobbie Coburn and Oddus Merrifield has been announced by parents of the bride-elect, Paul and Kitty Hubner of Iowa Park. Parents of the groom-to-be are Glenn and Beth Merrifield of Bangs, and Janice Ybarra of Las Vegas, Nev. He is the grandson of Helen Henderson of Iowa Park. The couple will exchange vows April 26 at the home of Bryan and Barbara Davis of Iowa Park. Both the bride-to-be and groom-elect are graduates of Iowa Park High School. She is employed as a desk clerk at Sheppard Air Force Base. He is supervisor at Telequest In Wichita Falls.

Garden ponds is subject of Garden Club program

"Beautifying Your Landscape With Garden Ponds" was the subject of Jan Noel Smith when she spoke to Iowa Park Garden Club members at their recent meeting. Mrs. Smith gave a demonstration showing a very small pond equipped with a small pump. This could be used inside the home, as well as outside in the garden. She had literature showing different types of water gardens, but stated she is working on one at the present time, using bamboo in various lengths to attain a musical sound. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have a business in their home where they sell supplies for water gardens.

During the business meeting led by Bonnie Illingworth, president, Marie Wooten presented a check from WalMart. This is a percentage from the sale of their canned drinks in the machine in front of their store. The Iowa Park Garden Club will join other clubs of the city in the city-wide cleanup. Members will meet today at 10 a.m. to clean the grounds at Tom Burnett Memorial Library. Reba Snow brought a spider plant for display and explained how to take the "babies" and start new plants. One of the highlights of the meeting was the exchange of bedding plants. Thirteen members and the guest speaker were served refreshments from a table decorated in a spring motif. Hostesses were Marie Seets and Norma Fortner. Card of Thanks Thanks to everyone for their kindness, phone calls, flowers, cards, visits and help given me while I was in the hospital and since returning home. Thanks to Dr. Soell, Dr. Dean, and staff at Wichita General Hospital, to all my friends and neighbors and especially my family. God bless you, Comelia Todd

GARDENING HINTS

By MARK TERNING, COUNTY AGENT - HORTICULTURE

Q. I live in Wichita Falls. It may sound simple, but, when should I plant my warm-season flowers such as Begonias?

A. Early to mid-April are normally prime times to begin setting out warm-season annuals such as your Begonias. The weather service tells me that the latest freeze we have had in Wichita Falls is about April 15, so you should always be prepared to protect plants from an unexpected late freeze.

Q. We have noticed unusual bumps on the limbs of our Oak tree in Burk Burnett. They are soft and sticky. What is this problem? What should we do to help our tree?

A. The unusual bumps you refer to are actually a scale insect. These sucking insects can place stress on your tree. To take care of the insect problem you should apply a labeled insecticide product such as Malathion, Orthene, or Diazinon, among others. Two to three treatments at seven to 10-day intervals may be necessary for adequate control.

Q. Our Live Oaks in Electra are dropping leaves now. The leaf drop seems to be rather heavy. Is there something going on that we are not aware of? The leaf drop seems heavier this year than normal.

A. Live Oaks, being an evergreen, will drop leaves in Spring as new growth is initiated. The leaf drop does seem to be a little more noticeable this year than in the past. If you look closely you should see quite a bit of new growth coming out as the older leaves fall.

Q. When should we begin fertilizing our Bermuda lawn in Wichita Falls? What fertilizer should we use?

A. April 15 is the first application date for fertilizer on warm-season lawns in Texoma. Unless a soil test has indicated otherwise, you should use a 3-1-2 or 4-1-2 ratio lawn food. Look for fertilizer with numbers on the front of the bag like 21-7-14, 16-4-8, 20-5-10, 15-5-10. These are commonly available at local garden centers and do-it-yourself pest control outlets. Use a lawn fertilizer which contains slow-release nitrogen for best results.

Q. We have a tremendous amount of weeds in our lawn this Spring. Can we use a weed and feed material to kill weeds and fertilize at the same time? It would certainly be the easiest way for use to get rid of all of these weeds!

A. Weed and feed products are certainly appealing because you can kill two birds with one stone. Eliminate weeds and feed your lawn all at one time. The problem is that when you broadcast a herbicide all over your lawn and landscape while fertilizing you run the risk of damaging landscape plants and other non-target desirable plants in your landscape. It is far safer to apply a herbicide separate from your fertilizer application. Use a pump-up tank sprayer to apply liquid weed killers safely and accurately.

Make it a perfect wedding beginning with your invitation!

As I See It... By Bob Hamilton

When you're too close to the woods, you can't see the woods. Apparently the editorial writers at the Wichita Falls newspaper don't know that the business of Wichita County is already being dictated by Wichita Falls.

An editorial which appeared in the neighboring city's newspaper Wednesday of last week lauds a piece of legislation being considered in Austin which would permit consolidation of a city and county management.

A paragraph in the editorial stated, "One that deserves to get more than passing attention from the Legislature would form a study committee to examine the consolidation of county and city governments, a proposal that, given the highly urban nature of Texas today, makes sense in certain jurisdictions (Wichita County and the city of Wichita Falls come readily to mind as possible candidates for such a new type of government)."

The writers apparently are unaware that our county government is already dominated by Wichita Falls, by the fact that three of the five members reside in that city.

And that majority's actions over past years have proven that fact.

Virtually everything the judge and two commissioners who live there do is guided by what's best for the city, and to heck with what those living in the majority of square miles which make up the county want, or need.

Just go to some event in Wichita Falls where that city's elected politicians are, and you will find the trio who have the majority of votes on the commissioners court.

And that trio isn't yet satisfied with the power they have. Each year a commissioner's term is up for election, if they don't have a candidate who lives in Wichita Falls, that group is out recruiting someone to run against the minority officials.

As of yet, there is not a single county in our great state which is entirely within a city's limits.

And until that happens, no such legislation deserves as much ink as this particular piece has received.

City's size to increase

The city's size will increase about four blocks Monday night, when the city council approves an ordinance annexing land in the Park Place Addition.

The required number of public hearings concerning the annexation have been held, without comment, leading up to the final action of ordinance adoption.

Council members will consider executing a contract for construction of a six-inch water main on Coleman Park Road.

Though the area to be served is not inside the city, the main would replace a smaller line that is owned by the city, and extend service to an area that has been subdivided.

The developer has agreed to pay the additional cost for the line beyond that which the city owns.

Also to be considered will be to authorize the city administrator to advertise the sale of six lots of land which are next to the city's southern-most water tower.

Other topics on the meeting agenda include, discussion of correspondence policy on issues affecting the city; consider setting a date for dedication of an historical marker, and consideration of a resolution opposing a bill which has been introduced in the state legislature.

The council's meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. in the council chamber.

WORTH QUOTING

Just think, a little over 60 days ago we were worrying about Fourth of July fireworks setting off grass fires. The word "drought" seemed to be on everyone's tongue and dire predictions were being made about a return to the dry conditions of the 1950s.

Much has changed in that short period of time. Just the other day I actually heard a wheat farmer say, "I wish it would stop raining! I have wheat to plant!"

When a farmer calls for a stop to the rain, you know that too much has fallen from the sky. Little did we know a few months ago that you could have planted dry land rice this year and made a crop.

This week the rains again returned to Ochiltree County. Normally a very sound sleeper, the constant thunder and lightning woke me up early in the morning Wednesday. At first light I checked my rain gauge and found that nearly two and one-half inches had hit the ground during the night.

Still unaware of the problems the rain would cause, I set off to work. After checking in, I went to the post office.

I was amazed by the running river of water which covered South Main. The U.S. government was now the owner of some beautiful river front property.

Using the reflector posts as guides, I drove my truck through the water and into the post office parking lot. Water bounced up against the floor boards, but I managed to push through. The driver of a car behind me, after seeing the flood waters cover the wheels of my truck, decided his mail just wasn't that important and by-passed the waterlogged turn in.

Steering my way back to the office, I soon found out about the problems at Wolf Creek Park. Our reporter, Scott Slemmons, tried to find a way to get to the creek, but he couldn't locate a clear road.

After lunch, my wife, Lina Kay and I decided to try the back roads to the park. Negotiating a few mud holes and slick roads we finally arrived.

The water pouring over the dam was just incredible. Pieces and parts from travel trailers were scattered downstream and broken tree limbs littered the water.

Park manager Larry Money said earlier that morning that water, uprooted trees and other debris were hurling over the dam nearly eight feet high. The force was so strong that the ground shook around the dam.

Immediately, my thoughts turned to the history books. A huge rain in 1947 washed out the original dam on Wolf Creek. It wasn't until 1957 the present dam was built. If the water had risen another foot and a half, we would have had a repeat of the 1947 disaster.

While I was contemplating that thought, I heard a soft "plop" from the water nearby. Then I saw one very waterlogged, bedraggled and confused beaver climb out of the water. He had been swept over the spillway after his long ride down the creek from his destroyed lodge upstream.

Watching that beaver wander around, trying to get his bearings, I couldn't help but think things could have been much worse. Though some property was damaged, not one human lost their life in the storm.

For now we can just count out blessings and enjoy living in the new "Land of a Thousand Lakes."

JIM HUDSON
Perryton Herald

Ray Tackel came by the office Friday morning and was telling us a story about a man who had an unusually good coon dog he wanted to sell. He was asking a thousand dollars for the dog, and a man in a neighboring town was trying to buy it. He wanted to take the dog and try him out for a few days, and if he turned out all right, he's pay the thousand dollars.

The dog owner was a little hesitant since he didn't know the man. The man assured him that he'd take care of the dog, and said he was a steward in the Methodist church and could be relied on to keep his word.

The dog owner decided to let him try the dog for a few days.

The next day he was talking to a banker that he knew was a member of the Methodist church.

"What is a steward in the Methodist church?" he asked the banker.

"Oh, it's about the same thing as a deacon in the Baptist church," the banker told him.

"Oh, hell," the man said. "I've lost my dog."

In between a couple of games of basketball, we caught a few minutes of the Academy Awards Monday night.

But after awhile, we were forced to go back to basketball on our TV--we were developing an inferiority complex.

We never heard of the movies nominated nor recognized but a few of the presenters and none of the recipients.

Bragle, 18; Harriet Jaye Stubbs, 28; Bobby Joe Bourassa, 21, and Christopher Dale Erhart, 20, according to the police blotter.

Police received two theft reports during the past week.

A spokesperson for IHS told police that numerous "small" thefts, including a few dollars and a carton of cigarettes, had been taken during the past several weeks from rooms of patients.

Monday, the burglary of a bag telephone, valued at $250, from a vehicle while it was parked overnight in the 600 block of West Cornelia, was reported.

Letters to Editor policy explained

The Leader receives numerous letters which cannot, for one reason or another, be published.

Letters will not be printed unless they are signed. A typed name will not do. And, for the sake of verification, the writer's telephone should be included.

Should the writer not wish his/her name printed, it will be omitted upon request. However, the letter will be kept on file to be read upon request.

Letters also must be free of libel. If not, they will not be published, because we will not edit the content of any letter.

In letters supporting political candidates or issues, the Leader reserves the right to limit their lengths.

We encourage your Letters to the Editor, and offer the paper space as your forum for discussions of ideas and observations.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

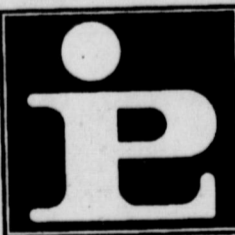

SOCIAL SECURITY TESTING NEW DISABILITY PROCESS

The Social Security Administration is testing a new method of processing disability claims based on the results of a year-long study of alternatives for streamlining the present system and alleviating a backlog of cases.

Testing of a model that combines eight key disability redesign initiatives will take place at eight sites around the country, and will have a universe of 30,000 cases randomly selected over a nine-month period.

When testing is complete, it is expected that the new design will result in a significant reduction in the overall processing time it takes to make decisions in disability claims, currently a four to five month time frame.

The goal of SSA is to reduce that time frame to 30 to 60 days from initial claims, and similar reductions in the appeals process.

Cars are not buses!

What part of "buses only" do you not understand?

Webster's New World Dictionary defines a bus as: Bus (bus) n. pl. buses, a large motor coach for carrying passengers, usually along a regular route. NOTE: In Iowa Park they are big, bright yellow, and say SCHOOL BUS on the sides.

Car (Kar) n. 1. Any vehicle on wheels; 2. a chariot; 3. A vehicle that moves on rails as a streetcar; 4. An automobile.

I know this really doesn't need to be explained, and sounds ridiculous. It seems that a lot of people in Iowa Park don't know the difference between the two.

All four schools have clearly visible signs at the drive entrance on each campus that say "buses only." All but Jr. High have an alternate drop point for students that are covered.

Ironically, the school I have the least amount of trouble at, is Jr. High. This is the only campus that does not have a covered drop point! Kidwell and high school are the worst. Some parents are downright rude about it. The handicapped, even more so than the other buses, has to be able to pull up at the curb, because of the lift. The drive is not a raceway! Some people believe they become the "magic school bus." Invariably, when they park in front of the bus, they forget their lunch money, books, coat, to put on makeup, comb their hair and any number of trivial things. They have no regard for others that are waiting, and are usually very defensive about being expected to move, even though they aren't supposed to be there!

It is dangerous at the lower levels for cars to pull through the circle drives. Kids don't look! Parents should!

There is no covered parking for any employee of the school district. Some schools don't even have completely paved parking.

You've probably guessed, I do drive a bus for the IPCISD, and have for 12 years. All of the drivers do the best job possible. Sometimes under really trying circumstances. Give us a break! We're doing our job. Why don't you try to do yours?

Sincerely,
D. Phillips

Card of Thanks

The family of Nancy Dressler wishes to express their appreciation for all the wonderful and thoughtful condolences that were received during our time of sorrow. The time taken to prepare and bring over the great-tasting food; the expressions of comfort and support given with the beautiful flowers, plants, and cards. Thank you for the considerate calls of concern and offers of help wherever we may have needed it. A special thank you to our mysterious delivery person for the donuts left on the front porch. All your many actions helped the family deal easier with our sorrow, knowing so many friends were there to help with our pain.

Thank you,
The Dressler Family

NEWS OF THE IOWA PARK GENEALOGICAL & HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The information found on tombstones is of great value in the search for family data, compared with records found in family Bibles and in vital statistics.

The inscriptions usually include the name, dates of birth and death, or age. Occasionally the family name of the spouse or widow is shown. In the case of children the name or initials of the parents are often shown.

Numerous burial plots exist throughout the land, some of them located on farms or in groves, while others have disappeared from sight, being located in what are now cultivated fields.

A number of cemeteries, small and large, are now unowned and uncared for and are fast disappearing due to action of vandals and the forces of nature.

Iowa Park Genealogical and Historical Society members have visited, taken photo's, and accumulated data on all known gravesites in Wichita County. This information is stored in the Tom Burnett Memorial Library genealogy section.

The more progressive churches and cemetery associations provide care of burial plots, especially where perpetual care is arranged for. These organizations preserve records of the plot owners as well as a record of the burials therein, and occasionally such records including the tombstones and their inscriptions are published in book form.

The present condition of the tombstones and their inscriptions depend on the type of stone used and the age of the stone. Many native stones were used in the early days and if inscribed they no longer can be read.

Occasionally inscriptions are incorrect due to the engraver's mistakes or due to incorrect data being furnished. The latter is especially true when the stones were erected at subsequent dates. Many stones have sunk into the ground, some partially, while others, entirely.

The inscriptions found on all tombstones in family plots should be copied in full as stones will often show the names of children of whom there are no other records. The initials or full names of the parents are generally given and are valuable in securing data on the previous generation and indicates residence of the parents at the time of the child's death.
