NO FATALITIES occurred when a van loaded with members of a Grand Prairie church rolled over on its side in the median of US 287 just west of Harmony Road Sunday morning, during the heavy rain storm. Iowa Park firemen and medical personnel attended to the victims, three of whom were transported to a hospital in Wichita Falls for treatment. Iowa Park police officers assisted Department of Public Safety troopers in controlling the heavy traffic in the area.

But for the volunteer firemen, it was a day late.

Measurements in town and around the area varied between 2.5 and 4.5 inches, according to reports.

It was the first measurable precipitation here since June 10, and actually was more than all three showers that fell on the city during the entire month of June.

There was a brief, pre-dawn shower originally. Then, around 6:30 a.m., the rain began falling and continued until mid-afternoon.

Through a 25-hour period leading up to the rainfall, however, members of the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire

An informational session will be routing the proposed transmission line held today at the high school in which representatives of TU Electric will present plans for a new transmission line to be built between here and Pleasant Valley.

> Larry Clapp, who lives just south of FM 367 on Bell Road, reported the most precipitation: 4.5 inches. Just north, on West Garden, 3.3 inches was reported.

Iowa Park police responded to an uncommon rash of domestic disturbances during a three-day holiday period.

The first occurred at 2:07 p.m. Friday in the 700 block of North Wall. Terry Wayne Morris, 69, was taken into custody on a Class C family violance charge.

Then, at 8:18 a.m. Saturday, Darla Martinez McCarthy, 35, was arrested in the 500 block of West Smith, on a similar charge.

The third occasion was reported at 8:23 p.m. Sunday, at a residence in the 100 block of South Seneca. Jack Lee Monroe Jr., 18, was arrested.

In all three instances, the subjects were transported to the police station, booked on the charges, and later released after signing promises to appear in municipal court, according to the police blotter.

A 20-year-old man turned himself in at the police station Thursday, on a warrant for indecency with a child.

Robert Alan Tucker was alleged to have exposed himself to a juvenile female two days earlier, in the 1400 block of Mary Drive.

Tucker was transported to the county jail.

During a traffic stop at 12:04 a.m. Thursday in the 600 block of South Bond, an officer arrested Earl Lynn Ellis, 17, on a minor in possession charge. He was released an hour later, after paying a $100 fine.

Michelle Lynn Talbert, 18, was taken into custody shortly before midnight Thursday on a charge of possession of a controlled substance. She was transported to the county jail by a sheriff's deputy, according to the police blotter.

Sylvia Boyland, 41, was arrested Tuesday evening on a warrant issued by the Wichita County sheriff's office for selling alcohol to a minor.

A deputy transported Boyland to the county jail, where she was held under a $500 bond.

Police received two complaints in a two-day period, both relating to situations in the 100 block of West Garden.

The first report, filed Monday, concerned criminal mischief, $500-$1,500. An unknown substance had been poured onto the front fenders of a pickup, destroying the paint.

Tuesday, a woman reported her purse was taken from a vehicle parked in that neighborhood.

Friendly Door provides vital service for elderly

By SHERRIE WILLIAMS

The Iowa Park Friendly Door Senior Citizens Center is perhaps best known for the 40 to 45 Meals on Wheels delivered by volunteers, and the 45 to 50 lunches served at the center each weekday.

But there are many other invaluable services provided by the center to Iowa Park citizens 60 years of age or older.

At 9 a.m. each weekday a bus leaves Friendly Door and brings back to the center about a dozen citizens. During the trips there are often stops at the post office and banks.

Transportation services are also provided by the center for trips to doctors offices in Iowa Park and Wichita Falls, to grocery stores, pharmacies, Wal-Mart, and other places as needed.

Some members use the bus service, but not the center, for all their travel needs because they have no other means of transportation.

This reporter rode the center's bus one morning and found it was a very pleasant experience to see everyone all smiles and happy to see and visit with one another when boarding the bus.

The center also offers blood pressure checks twice weekly, exercise programs, companionship, games, telephone reassurance contact, and nail clipping, as well as other support services.

Nail clipping has been done many years by Etoy Chapman, a volunteer, who goes to the center each Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 12noon.

Each month several special events are scheduled at the center according to the director, Myrna Robinson. A birthday party the second Thursday to honor those having a birthday that month with a cake and flowers provided Special Nurses and Iowa Park Florist, respectively.

Every other Wednesday, bingo is played at 10 a.m., and he fourth Friday of each month is deemed "night out." "Night Out" is a trip to a Wichita Falls cafeteria or a covered dish dinner at the center with games afterward.

There are no fees to be a member for Iowa Park residents 60 years and older. However some make donations for meals and other services to help fund activities, and some even make yearly donations.

The center raises operating funds by several means included memorials, selling gift certificates, donation cans in local businesses, and an annual "Kidnapped For Kash" event.

The April Fool Run each year has become the largest avenue for raising funds for the Friendly Door.

In April 1988, the Red River Harley Davidson H.O.G. motorcycle club started an April Fun Run that includes bike games, drawings, and door prizes. Each year at the event a drawing is heldfrom tickets sold for a quilt and lunch is offered for sale, with all proceeds going to the senior citizens of Iowa Park.

In addition to the fund raisers, the center also receives some funding from the United Way.

Laura Weede said," There are a lot of us who would not have a place to go five days a week if it wasn't for the Friendly Door." She added, "Myrna takes good care of us, like a mother, and takes a lot of responsibility off us." To which Myrna replied, "that is what I am supposed to do." She added that she and Linda Perry feel that the Friendly Door is their calling.

Raymond Good, the oldest member of Friendly Door at 101 years young, can be found almost any day playing forty-two or canasta with several other members.

During my visit to the Friendly Door, Henry Brown and his nineyear-old great-grandson Ryan Brown were enjoying a game of dominoes after lunch. Brown laughingly said his great-grandson plays a tough game of dominoes.

member of the organization, and Joe Laird, the youngest at the time, according to the Iowa Park Leader. The first home of the Friendly Door was First United Methodist Church, where they leased an area to have the meetings.

The charter board members were Bill Steger, chairman, Ethyle Kidwell, Margaret Soell, Clarice Lee, Don Flowers and Michael Hubbard.

In 1980, the Friendly Door leased the Lions Club Building on West Cash, where they met until moving into their newly-constructed building at 810 N. Third in July, 1996.

Current board members are: Bennie Horton, chairman, Norma Dutton, Loyd Holms, Richard L. Broyles, Leverne Owens, Tommy Key, Doris Broyles, Rollin Roberts, Patricia Costello and Pat Cravens.

Myrna Robinson was hired as the first director of Friendly Door in 1977. She retired from 1993-97, and Sherri Wood took over the position. When Mrs. Wood left, Myrna decided that she no longer liked being retired and was rehired as director.

Myrna has the help of one full time employee, Linda Perry, and one part time position as well as an employed from Wichita Falls that brings over the main meal and helps serve lunch and clean the kitchen. The meat and some of the other menu items are prepared in Wichita Falls. The vegetables and desserts are prepared here.

With all that the Iowa Park Friendly Door has to offer, each and every citizen should look forward to turning 60 years young.

"Go West Young Man" is often attributed to Horace Greely, however this actually first appeared in an editorial by John L. Soule in the Tarra Haute Express in 1851.

There was a great rush of men to the frontiers of the new land searching for adventure and fortune.

A largely overlooked group, however, were the women who also accepted the challenge of leaving homes and going into the West.

Wives followed their husband's great dreams of a better life, brides spent their honeymoons on the trail walking and in covered wagons.

Heroines of the great migration, who endured the many hardships, many tales have been preserved through family and church records. There are diaries and letters also many histories include the names of many of the early women pioneers.

Another important group were the young, single women who were teachers. Did you have a relative who taught in a one or two room school out West?

Early in the 19th century, "Out West" might have been Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana or Missouri.

In the ten years after 1846, about 600 single women from northern New England and upper New York State, were trained and sponsored by the National Board of Popular Education and participated in the westward migration, all in all it is estimated that close to 1000 single women teachers journeyed from the East to teach in the West and South before the Civil War.

Even earlier in the 1830's, 88 teachers from Zilpak Grant's Female Seminary in Ipswich, Mass. answered the call to start schools in the West and South. Although these young women had little education by todays standards, Grant established an association in the 1830's and teachers were trained and were given financial aid with placement in the West with the pledge to teach for two years. Records reveal many of these young women did not return to the East.

Many married and made homes on the growing frontier from Indiana west to Nebraska Territory and a few became pioneer settlers of Oregon, Washington and California territories Settlements with a shortage of young marriagable women, advertised and recruited women from the east with promises of marriage and the adventure of helping to build and be an influence on the new frontiers.

One such contingency was a group called "The Mercer Girls", who were recruited by Mr. Mercer, a prominent Seattle founder.

Some documents, letters, and reminiscences of these women still exist.

Polly Welts Kaufman, wrote of some 200 such women in a book called "Women Teachers on the Frontier" and was published by Yale University Press in 1984.

Don't forget to include your women ancestors in your family history.

I've read news reports that the state will finally begin enforcing a law that has been on the books about a year.

It's the one relating to drivers who persist on traveling exclusively in the left hand lane on four-lane highways.

Why those people persist on traveling in the left lane has long been a mystery to me. The only thing I could figure was that they had an easier time seeing the grass than the center stripe.

If that's the case, they likely don't need to be behind the wheel in the first place.

I regularly drive at the posted speed limit, and I've never felt comfortable passing someone by using the right lane, because I'm never sure they won't swerve all of a sudden into the lane I'm using to get around them.

But the way I understand the new (old) law is, you use the left lane to pass a slower vehicle only. And it's an offense to stay there longer than it is required to overtake a slowermoving vehicle.

Speaking of slower moving traffic -- I still can't understand why the Old Iowa Park Highway, SH 370 or Business 287 J, whatever you may use for that four-lane route between here and Wichita Falls -- continues to be posted at 55 MPH.

It's very confusing to turn off FM 369, a two-lane route that is posted at 60 MPH, and have to slow down coming into town on a wider driving surface. And most folks don't pay any attention, or even know, to what the speed limit is.

And speaking of posted speed limits --

Someone put out warning signs on FM 369, complete with red warning flags, in the area of the rodeo arena last month, when the rodeo was being held, warning of slower-moving traffic and setting the Council may adopt budget

The city council will hold a regularly-scheduled business meeting Monday, and could possibly act on adopting the 1998-99 budget.

The meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

Council members have held three work sessions concerning the budget and there is a possibility of adopting one that would allow a lowering of last year's tax rate.

Also concerning the topic of budget, the council possibly will adopt a resolution approving the Wichita Appraisal District's budget for fiscal limit in that area at 35 MPH.

During the rodeo dates, that was fine and wise. I didn't mind it at all. But the signs are still up, and we are breaking the posted speed limit when passing the area.

Either the signs were forgotten by those responsible, or they are being left out with the Ranch Roundup approaching.

Seems to me that they could be covered up in between times, allowing us to continue at the regular speed without breaking the law.

Actually there are other posted speed limit signs on I-44, where they are working on that major, six-lane highway.

It is wise and reasonable to observe the speed limit in that area, both because of the crews that are working and also because of the warning signs which state that exceeding the posted limits in construction areas will be double the regular fines.

Problem is: those signs need to be covered over during the days when the crews are not working there. Surely that won't take long. It would allow drivers to travel at reasonable speeds, avoiding congestion, and not lull travelers while passing the area.

WORTH QUOTING

I was eating a bowl of rice one morning last week and thinking about how have changed over the years.

What got me to thinking about it was a few dark grains I found in my bowl.

I can't keep from dipping those things out.

Fortunately, these all turned out to be dark grains of rice. But you can't be too sure there wasn't a mouse running around in the warehouse.

When I was a kid you never saw a dark grain of any kind in rice. You also never found a rock in a can of beans.

And when your mother bought a new dress that fit her it was ready to wear. She didn't have to go over all the seams and clip all those loose threads. And the buttons were sewed on well enough that they didn't fall off the first time she wore the garment. They took care of things like that before it left the factory.

You also didn't find cucumber stems on canned pickles.

These days you're very likely to find pepper stems sliced off with the end of the pepper and put right in the jar with the sliced jalapenos.

I don't suppose anyone ever eats one of those stems. And a few years ago a cannery would never have let one get in the jar.

I can remember when bananas

TU ELECTRIC PUBLIC PARTICIPATION SESSION FOR PROPOSED TRANSMISSION LINE

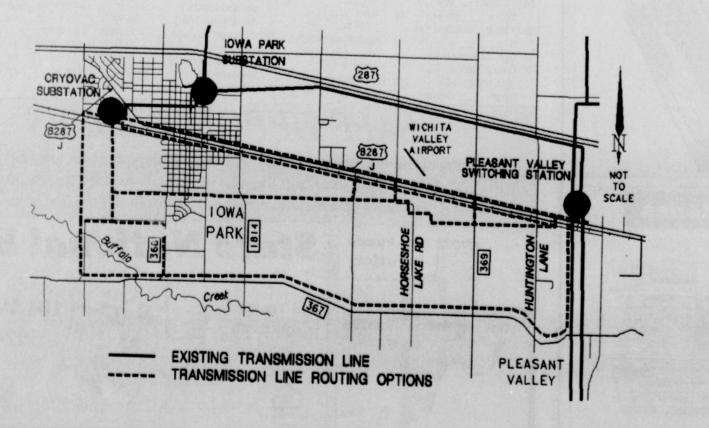

In order for TU Electric to continue to provide reliable electric service to our customers in the area, a new 69 kV transmission line must be constructed northwest of Wichita Falls between Pleasant Valley and Iowa Park. This line will be constructed between the Pleasant Valley Switching Station and the Cryovac Substation by the year 2000.

TU Electric is committed to routing the proposed transmission line in a manner consistent with the values of the local community and the need to provide additional service to the area. In order to accomplish this, TU Electric wants to solicit input for use in determining the preferred route for the proposed transmission line and share information about line routing alternatives. Individuals attending this "come and go" session will have an opportunity to ask questions and make comments to representatives and technical experts from TU Electric regarding the routing of the proposed transmission line. Power Engineers, Inc., a consulting firm retained by TU Electric, has identified alternate transmission line routes for consideration which are shown as dashed lines on the map below.

"When I bring out my recipes, I'm bringing out memories," said this week's featured cook, Pat Duerson. She said that all of her recipes were given to her by friends, and many times they would work together on the preparation.

Pat said her recipe for chocolate pie is a "no fail recipe," and is good for young cooks just starting to learn.

Three of her recipes are for preserving pickles and peaches. When preparing the "Lime Pickles," she said you have to plan three days ahead of time. Pat likes to eat them with cheese and crackers.

Pat, who was born and grew up in Wichita Falls, has lived in Iowa Park 36 years.

She retired in March from Bethania Regional Health Care Center, where she worked 25 years in the administrative office.

Pat's husband, Don, is a native of Virginia. Since his retirement from Whites Stores a year and a half ago, he stays busy working in the yard and fishing.

Since her retirement, Pat has been busy catching up on work she has wanted to do around her house. She use to crochet and plans to take it up again in the future. Right now, she said her grandchildren have top priority.

The Duerson's have two sons, Mike of Iowa Park, and Ronnie of Pensacola, Fla., four grandsons, and one granddaughter.

AUSTIN - Texas lawmakers learned at a public hearing last week that state agencies have been awarding contracts to out-of-state woman- and minority-owned businesses.

Some lawmakers — members of a committee examining state affirmative action programs in education, employment and contracting expressed surprise.

"We decided if we were going to have a program, Texas companies would be the beneficiaries," said Sen. David Sibley, R-Waco.

Sibley and others had tried to soften anti-affirmative action decisions by federal courts and the state attorney general.

A year ago, they directed state agencies to limit contracting programs that assist women- and minority-owned businesses to Texas companies.

Authority to contract was enabled through a budget rider for the "historically under-utilized business program" attached to the 1998-99 budget bill.

The practice of attaching riders to budget bills is a controversial way to pass legislation that may not be able to muster enough votes in the House and Senate.

To mark the reduction of tobacco marketing aimed at children, the Texas Department of Health unveiled in Austiin the first anti-tobacco billboard in its "Tobacco Is a Dead End" campaign to reduce tobacco use by youth.

The billboard, donated by Outdoor Network, has the state Capitol as a backdrop. It is in the neighborhood of Travis High School students who helped shape the message of TDH's anti-tobacco campaign.

"For the upcoming meeting," wrote Bradley, "I guess you've decided just to skip town altogether." Moses was to be in Portland, Ore., for the Education Commission of the States' national conference on the same date as the SBOE meeting.

In his letter, Bradley also blasted Moses over the recent rewrite of the state's school curriculum, a schoolto-work initiative, investments in the Texas Permanent University Fund, and the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills, a test all students must pass to graduate.

In a written reply to Bradley, Moses said, "I do regret your harsh and demeaning tone. It is obvious you wish to portray me as a villain in what clearly needs to be a working partnership. For my part, I will continue to respect your role as an elected official."

Board Chairman Jack Christie of Houston and four other board members contacted the Associated Press to defend Moses and support his decision to attend the national conference.

Little League All-Star tournaments underway

- Senior League

Stars opened the District Tournament in Burkburnett on Monday and will continue to play throughout the week, with the final game scheduled for Friday.

Iowa Park opened against Burkburnett, falling 9-4 on Monday night.

Burkburnett grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first inning and extended it's lead to 4-0, after two innings of play, before Iowa Park rallied to tie the game at 4-4 in the third inning.

The game remained tied until the bottom of the fifth when Burk scored five times to make the score 9-4, which turned out to be the final.

Jeremy Wilson pitched the first 4 1/3 innings, giving up four hits with four walks and

> The Iowa Park defense didn't play well in the field as the team, committed eight costly errors in the loss.

> Leading hitters for the Iowa Park All-Stars included Tim Denny, 1x1 with a pair of RBIs and Zac Miller 1x3 with an RBI.

> In game two on Tuesday night, the Iowa Park All-Stars remained alive by beating the Sheppard All-Stars 6-1.

Michael Yoder pitched all seven innings, giving up only one run and only five hits. Yoder struck out nine and didn't allow a walk in his seven innings of work.

The Sheppard All-Stars scored their single run in the bottom of the fourth inning. Iowa Park added three insurance runs in the top of the seventh to make the final 6-1.

Leading hitters for Iowa Park included, Andy Simpson who went 2x3 with a pair of doubles which drove home three runners, Brandon Lane, 2x2 with an RBI, Miller 1x4, and Mitch Singleton 1x4. Both Miller and Singleton each finished with an RBI.

Unlike their first game against Burk, against Sheppard, the Iowa Park All-Stars made only one error.

Iowa Park will play tonight at 7:00 in Burkburnett against the loser of the Burk-Nocona game, which was being played late Tuesday night.

- Junior

The Junior League All-Stars opened the District Tournament at home hosting Burkburnett.

Since there were only two teams in the district, the two teams had to play the best-ofthree series to determine the team that would advance to the second round of the playoffs.

Iowa Park trailed for most of the game before rallying in the sixth inning to take the lead for the first time, then had to hold on as the Burkburnett All-Stars fought back and had the tying runner at third when the game ended with Iowa Park winning 13-12.

Iowa Park scored a pair of runs in the top of the first inning, but trailed after one as Burk rallied to score five times in the bottom half of the first to lead 5-2. Burk extended it's lead to 6-2 in the second inning.

In the third inning, both teams scored three times to make the score 9-5.

Iowa Park trimmed the advantage to 9-8 with three runs in the top of the fifth inning, then took it's first lead of the game in the top of the sixth inning with four big runs to lead 12-9. The big hit of the inning came off the bat of Jack Scholl, who singled to drive home a pair of runners. Scholl finished 3x4 with 4 RBIs. Iowa Park added what turned out to be the game winner in the top of the seventh inning when Zac Marston crossed the plate after drawing a leadoff walk.

Burkburnett made things interesting in the bottom of the seventh as the first three batters reached safely and scored to make it 13-12. David Clubb, who came on in relief of Scholl in the first inning, struck out the next batter, then got the following batter to ground out to second, then, with a runner at third, struck out the final batter of the game to preserve the win.

In game two, the Iowa Park defense didn't play up to the level it needed to be, as the Burk All-Stars took advantage of three errors and a pair of balk calls that allowed runners to score from third to grab a 5-0 lead after two innings. Burk went on to win 5-1, forcing the third and final game on Wednesday night at 7:30.

Iowa Park scored it's only run in the top of the fourth inning when Scholl scored on Daniel Bess' RBI single. Ronnie Bracket finished with a pair of singles for Iowa Park.

"What Tree Is That?," a pocket guide for identifying trees, is available from the National Arbor Day Foundation.

The 72-page guide will help identify 135 different trees found in the eastern and central U.S.

Well-known trees are included: oaks, maples, spruces, and pines. Also species such as horsechestnut and mockernut hickory, sassafras and shadbush, persimmon and pawpaw and pagodatree and pecan.

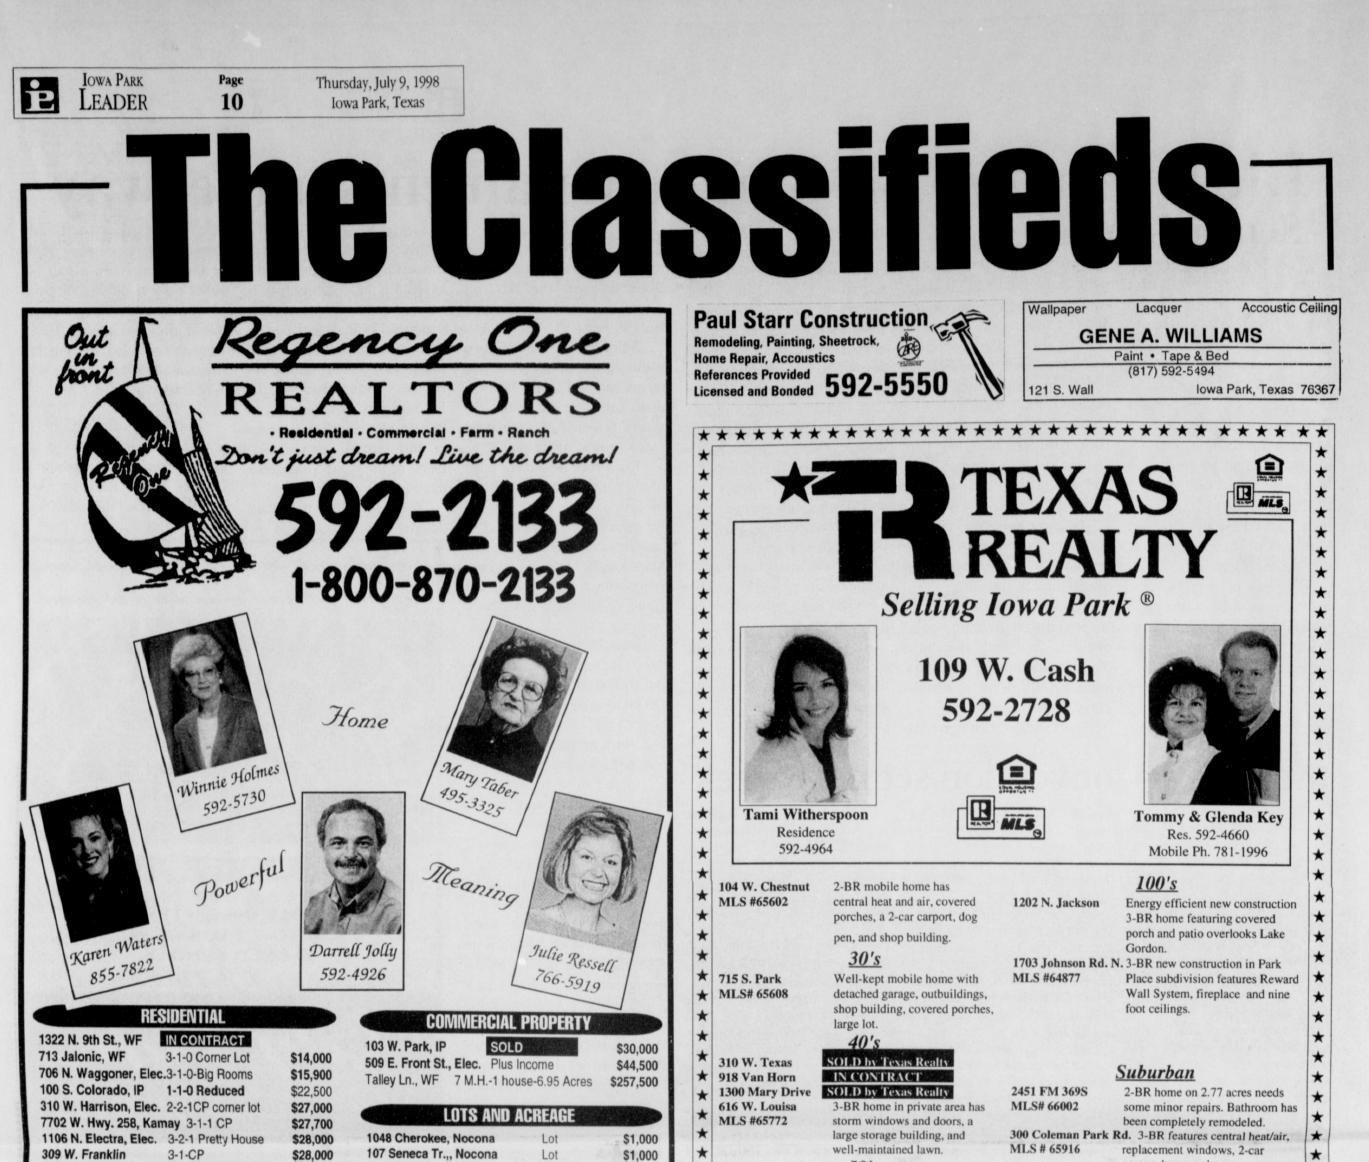

Dozens of drawings illustrate the trees' leaves or needles and their acorns, berries, seed pods, cones, etc.

"Helping people enjoy and appreciate trees is central to the educational mission of the Arbor Day Foundation," John Rosenow, president, said. "Being able to identify trees is important to knowing how to care for them and how to plant the right tree in the right place."
